OFFERS TO LET VOTERS SETTLE IT

"Man Who Sits in Judgment Should Be Secure in Authority."

Wants to End All Litigation and Wrangling Over Office.

Windom Holds Bench Following Order From District Court.

"Let the people decide" is the suggestion offered to W. L. Windom in an open letter by Judge W. H. Smallwood, made public today.

Seeking a quick solution of the municipal court problem which has resulted in half a dozen suits, two appeals to the supreme court, almost open warfare in the court rooms and chambers, and four months' delay, the man appointed judge by Governor W. S. Hammond Monday night agrees to waive his claim and put the matter to a vote of the people of Duluth.

"The voters are the ones who rule in the matter finally," declared Judge Smallwood, "and the decision they would render at the polls would settle this litigation and endless controversy once and for all.

"Although I really am judge, I do not intend to figure in any sensational squabbles which certainly would reflect upon the standing of the court," declared Judge Smallwood.

"If a special election is called, the matter can be settled by those who should decide. It seems to me that that is the best way out of the whole affair."

Judge Windom is not considering such a move, and believes that the best way out of the difficulty is to allow the supreme court to rule on a quo warranto writ which would be issued to Judge Smallwood.

'This writ now may be issued by the

SAYS ALL CIVILIANS SHOULD QUIT LONDON

German Writer Says Air Attacks on Fortress Are Perfectly Legal.

Berlin, Sept. 15, via London.—Count von Reventlow, the naval writer, replies in the Tageszeitung today to British criticisms of German airship raids over London. He states that London is a fortress and that Sir Percy Scott, the newly appointed defender of the city from aerial attacks, should order the civil population of London to depart.

The count asserts it is not Germany's responsibility that the fortress of London, attacked many times, has not been evacuated and states that the failure of the British government to order the people to abandon it shows "disdainful disregard of the principles of humanity, civilization and international law."

Attacks Legal.

The airship attacks, Count von Reventlow insists, are legal and of a purely military character, aimed at the destruction of vessels, wharves, magazines and other property serving war purposes directly or indirectly. Asserting that against such operations not one syllable can be spoken, he concludes:

"We hope confidently that the saying: 'Throwing bombs on London' will soon be as trite as the phrase: 'Carrying coals to Newcastle,' with the notable difference, however, that in Newcastle there are coals enough while in London by far too few German bombs have thus far exploded."

DULUTH'S ONLY LABOR DISPUTE IS EXPECTED TO END IN COMPROMISE

Long Standing War on Rex and Lyric Theaters May Be Dropped.

Prospects for a speedy settlement of Duluth's only labor trouble seemed bright today when officials of the Minnesota State Federation of Labor opened a conference with Thomas Furniss of the Brunswick Amusement company relative to adjusting the chronic differences between the labor unions and the Rex and Lyric theaters.

Among the officials of the state federation of labor are President E. G. Hall, and Secretary G. W. Lawson. Otto Raths, president of the Raths-Seavolt Film company, St. Paul and postmaster of that city, is also here relative to the putting on of a contest to be staged at the Lyric. William Dutcher of the Duluth Trades Assembly is representing the local unions.

So long has been the strife between the unions and the Brunswick Amusement company and so many attempts at settlement have been made, that it is expected that two or three days may be consumed in threshing out the differences of the opposing factions and bringing about a peaceful settlement. However, the differences between the two factions have been so slight for a long time that it is now becoming generally believed that it is only a matter of "pride" that is keeping them apart.

Tried to Stop Contest.

According to general belief the matter that brought the trouble to a crisis this week is the proposed action of the Duluth Trades assembly to pre-

VAN HORNE BURIED IN JOLIET CEMETERY

Joliet, Ill., Sept. 15.—The body of Sir William Van Horne, Canadian railway magnate, arrived here today on a special funeral train from Montreal. Burial ceremonies here were simple, the principal funeral services having been held in the Canadian metropolis. Sir William's body was placed beside those of his father and mother in a local cemetery.

AMBASSADOR AWAITS WORD FROM BERLIN

Von Bernstorff Retires to Summer Embassy on Long Island.

Response From Germany Not Expected for Week or Ten Days.

Washington, Sept. 15.—Diplomatic negotiations in the Arabic case were in apparent lull today and Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, had returned to the summer embassy at Cedarhurst, L. I., to await word from his government regarding the evidence in possession of the United States concering the sinking of the vessel. It probably will be a week or ten days before there is any response from Germany. Some officials believe that examination of this evidence will cause the German government to modify its views on the subject.

No word has come from Ambassador Penfield at Vienna, in regard to the case of Ambassador Dumba. The fact that only one letter mentioned in the list of communication transmitted to the state department by Ambassador Page at London as having been found on correspondent James F. J. Archibald, is in possession of the state department, officials explained by the delay in the transmission of mail. It is expected that within a day of two the remainder of the letters will reach here.

Hesperian Case.

State department officials commenting today on the disclaimer of the Berlin government that the Canadian liner Hesperian was torpedoed said that insufficient evidence had been received upon which to base representations to Germany at this time. From the facts at hand, it was said, no opinion could be formed as to whether the Hesperian was torpedoed or struck a mine.

"Official reports have made no reference to statements of passengers on the liner that the large pieces of metal were found on the deck of the vessel which might furnish evidence to determine whether the ship was the victim of a mine or a torpedo. If it should be determined that the Hesperian struck a mine, officials say there would be no means of fixing responsibility for placing the mine.

TEACHERS LOSE IN FIRST SKIRMISH

Chicago, Sept. 15.—The first brush in the legal fight of the Chicago Teachers' federation against the board of education was won by the defendants today when Judge O'Connor declined to issue the temporary injunction sought by the teachers without a full hearing.

The teachers seek to enjoin enforcement of the order of the board against membership in the federation.

U. S. Controls Haitian Ports.

Washington, Sept. 15.—All open customs ports in Haiti now are under United States control. Rear Admiral Caperton telegraphed today that this was accomplished when the cruiser Sacramento, with the Fourth and Seventeenth companies of marines, occupied Jacmel and Le Cayes yesterday.

Heavy Cavalry and Infantry Patrols Rushed to the Texas City.

Organization of Revolutionists Plans Attack on Border Towns.

San Benito, Tex., Sept. 15.—Heavy cavalry and infantry patrols, which were rushed to this city of 5,000 persons during last night, kept off a threatened attack by Mexican bandits. Evidence of a plot to terrorize the city last night were strengthened by reports to army patrols during the night of activities of Mexicans outside of town.

Just before dawn, the time which the commanding officers here suspected was chosen for the attack, infantry details were sent out along the roads for some distance from town to be ready to meet the attack. The Mexicans failed to carry out whatever plans they had. Soon after sunrise San Benito resumed its normal aspect, and ranch-owners who had come into town for the night started back to the country to resume work.

SOUTH CAROLINA TO BE "DRY" JAN. 1, 1916

Statewide Prohibition Is Adopted at Election Held on Tuesday.

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 15.—South Carolina adopted state wide prohibition yesterday to take effect Jan. 1, according to unofficial returns. The returns, with complete returns of forty-four counties gave 33,042 for prohibition to 14,572 against.

Thirty counties which were dry under the local option system appeared to have voted for prohibition. Only one of the dispensary operating counties was known to have declared for the state-wide restriction.

GERMANS TO OPPOSE LOAN

Teuton Agents Said to Be Active Against Billion Dollar Proposal.

Unofficial Protests Made to Washington But None From Germany.

New York, Sept. 15.—The Anglo-French financial commission heard today that German agents, alarmed at the momentum gained in the past few days by the movement to lend Great Britain and France a billion dollars to be spent for supplies here, had instituted a country-wide campaign against the flotation of the proposed credit loan.

Some of these agents, the commission was informed, were known as men who had furthered the spread of the German propaganda during the presence in this country of Dr. Bernhard Dernburg.

No Official Protests.

Washington, Sept. 15. — Protests against the Anglo-French credit loan being negotiated in this country were received at the White House today in telegrams from various parts of the country. One man in Michigan wired that runs would be started on banks

ANOTHER NEUTRAL VESSEL TORPEDOED

Motor Schooner Norte of Christiania Blown Up in North Sea.

London, Sept. 15.—The destruction of another neutral vessel by a German submarine is reported by Reuter's correspondent at Copenhagen. According to his dispatch the motor schooner Norte of Christiania was blown up near The Naze, off the Norwegian coast in the North sea. The crew was saved.

The only vessel named Norte and owned in Christiania which is given in maritime records is a small steamer flying the Brazilian flag. Her port of registry was Para, Brazil.

ADVANCE IN COURLAND IS DANGEROUS

Germans Make Large Captures of Guns and Prisoners There.

London, Sept. 15.—While Field Marshal von Hindenburg's cavalry is astride the Petrograd railroad and the Germans have made large captures of prisoners and guns in Courland, the Russians are again countering these efforts, not only by checking the attempt of the Austrians to resume the offensive in Galicia, but by inflicting another reverse on the Austro-German forces in the same vicinity. Svientsiany, where the German cavalry cut the railroad, is half way between Vilna and Dvinsk and about 400 miles from Petrograd.

Forms Dangerous Salient.

The Russians assert this raid by the Germans has formed a dangerous salient in their line, of which their opponents are likely to take advantage. It is clear, whatever strategic move may be involved in this advance, that recent events indicate the near approach of the important engagement in the Vilna region which was predicted a fortnight ago by Gen. Polivanoff, the minister of war.

Further along the line, the German armies operating on both banks of the Niemen have not yet formed a junction and Russian rear guards are still withdrawing eastward.

Russian military writers are warning the people not to expect too great developments from the Galician offensive movement.

Discussion in the house of commons today is to be turned from the absorbing topic of conscription to the voting of another huge war credit.

Petrograd, Sept. 15, via London.—A communication issued by the war office last night says:

"The German pressure in the regions of Lake Pliastern and Sanken and the village of Rakiszki, west of the line of Jacobstadt-Dvinsk, continued.

OVER 2,300 TRAWLERS HUNTING SUBMARINES

Telltale Wake of Submersibles Gives Enemy Clew to Their Whereabouts.

London, Sept. 15.—The telltale wake they leave behind, is responsible for the losses of German submarines, according to the Daily News, which adds:

"The losses have been more than formidable; they are irretrievable."

The submarine leaves a peculiar trail on the surface, marked by air bubbles. Auxiliary boats follow this curious wave which seamen soon learn to recognize, although it is not easy to distinguish in rough weather.

More than 2,300 trawlers now are engaged in the submarine hunt, constantly patrolling the waters around the British isles. The writer in the Daily News describes standing on the seacoast watching through his glasses three destroyers which were steaming at half speed, two abreast and one behind.

"Suddenly" he writes, "the rear destroyer spurted forward and gathered speed, foam dashing over her bows, while the others zigzagged and guns crackled. Soon the firing ceased and the destroyers steamed on again as before. When the next tide came in the water was coated with oil."

STRIKE CLOSES BIG CARTRIDGE FACTORY

Lowell, Mass., Sept. 15.—As a result of a strike of employes of the United States Cartridge company here, the plants with the exception of two minor departments, closed last night and company officials announced that the night shift would be abolished until further notice. The 800 strikers out Monday were doubled in number yesterday, their leaders claimed.

PRAISE FOR PRESIDENT

Berlin Paper Says He Is Justified in His Cool Self-Containment.

Explanation in Regard to Hesperian Makes Matters Clearer.

Berlin, Sept. 15, via London.—In the German government's explanation of the Hesperian case Germania sees the way made clear for "President Wilson's ultimate position regarding the German note concerning justification for the sinking of the Arabic."

The newspaper declares that the British press must give up its hopes of serious differences between Berlin and Washington. It praises President Wilson for having refused to be influenced by British reports of a new menace to German-American relations which had just been guided into a more peaceful channel and adds:

"The president's cool self-containment is now justified. The British tissue of lies is at last torn to pieces and if anything remains of the entire question of responsibility for the misfortune it probably will rest imme-

GETTING TIRESOME.

BRITISH PREMIER ASKS FOR $1,250,000,000 CREDIT LOAN

Brings Total Amount Since Beginning of War to $6,310,000,000.

London, Sept. 15.—The seventh vote of credit since the outbreak of the war bringing up the total to £1,262,000,000 ($6,310,000,000) was moved in the house of commons this afternoon by Premier Asquith. The amount asked for today was £250,000,000 ($1,250,000,000).

The premier also announced that nearly 3,000,00 men had enlisted. He made this statement in reviewing the financial and military situations so far as military exigencies permitted, but this requirement necessitated in many instances only vague references to the trend of events.

Expenditures Growing.

Average Daily Cost of War to Great Britain $13,500,000.

He said the average daily cost from April 1 to the end of June was £2,700,000 ($13,500,000); from July 1 to 17, £3,000,000, from July 18 to Sept. 11, £3,500,000. Thus the total for this period in round figures is £500,000,000. There has been repaid £50,000,000 to the bank of England, £30,000,000 has been lent to foreign governments, and £28,000,000 lent to the dominions.

Comparing actual expenditures since the last vote of credit with estimates, Mr. Asquith said there had been some abnormal items to disclose which would not be in the public interest, but the house might take it that these were expenditures incurred for the purpose of financing necessary operations. Part of this amount was to be repaid in a few months and the remainder represented advances for future expenditures.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

It was announced in London that Premier Asquith has asked the house of commons to vote a credit of $1,250,000,000.

Copenhagen reports the blowing up by a German submarine of the motor schooner Norte, owned in Christiania, Norway. The crew was saved.

Count von Reventlow, the German naval writer, declares in the Berlin Tageszeitung that the Zeppelin attacks on London are legal and of a military character, as London is a fortress. He argues that the British government has been remiss in not ordering the evacuation of the city. The attacks are aimed at the destruction of property serving military purposes, he asserts.

Developments in the vicinity of Vilna lead foreign military observers to expect a decisive battle there soon to determine whether the strategic railway lines of the region shall be controlled by the Germans or the Russians.

NEWS FROM THE MUNICIPAL COURT TRENCHES

SAVED HIM FROM ARREST

Temporary Injunction Prevented Police Taking Hand in Court Row.

Threatening to arrest Judge W. L. Windom for trespass if he did not vacate the municipal courtrooms yesterday, Commissioner Silberstein was halted by a temporary injunction from the district court, just as he was about to issue orders to police to use force, if needed, in putting Judge W. H. Smallwood into office.

The writ was granted to M. S. Lloyd, Judge Windom's clerk of court, by Judge Dancer after Mr. Lloyd had filed a complaint that Judge Smallwood's clerks threatened to take possession of the records and office by violence. By it Judge Smallwood's clerks are restrained from seeking to get the records or interfering with Lloyd in the performance of his duties.

E. A. Thompson, Edward Furni and G. H. Hallada are directed to appear in district court Sept. 25, or at any time prior on twenty-four hours' notice to the plaintiff to show why they should not be so restrained, and the injunction is made binding against them in the meantime.

By reason of the writ, Judge Windom and his clerks continued in charge as before the governor's appointment of Judge Smallwood was announced.

"I am sure the governor intended the appointment merely as a means of expediting a settlement of the case," said Judge Windom. "It will give Mr. Smallwood an opportunity to institute quo warranto proceedings, and such action will be welcomed by me. In the meantime I am going to stick to the ship."

Angered by Judge Windom's refusal to give up his seat, although the city council had recognized Smallwood as judge, Commissioner Silberstein and Mayor Prince went to police headquarters late in the afternoon upon returning from the funeral of the late F. E. Granzow, former assistant fire chief.

They were met by Police Chief McKercher and informed of the injunction writ.

"The situation is disgusting," said the safety commissioner. "It is creating contempt for the court and making a joke out of Duluth. Judge Windom should withdraw and take his furniture. Except for the injunction, I would have ordered him out of the building and seen to it that records were delivered to Mr. Thompson without further jangling."

WAR REVIEW BY THE HERALD STRATEGIST

Attacks and counter-attacks along the entire front, yesterday, left conditions but little changed.

After several days of absolute quiet in the municipal court trenches, the order of Field Marshal Hammond suddenly precipitated a violent artillery duel. The Smallwood forces stormed the Windom trenches under cover of the heavy fire of proclamations. The first Windom army corps, under command of Col. Lloyd, bore the brunt of the attack. Gen. Smallwood himself led his forces.

Col. Lloyd showed great personal bravery by holding the inner breastworks, slamming shut the iron door that guarded the Windom stores of ammunition. Despite all attacks, the inner trenches held, and there was a lull in the fighting while the Smallwood forces planned to bring up their heavier siege guns and blow open the door. Col. Lloyd has been decorated with the order of Knight of the Subpoena, by Gen. Windom.

Meanwhile the Windom forces were planning a severe counter-attack. Under gruelling artillery fire from the district court, the Windom forces charged. The Smallwood line wavered, and, fighting every foot of the way, withdrew from the trenches captured in the morning. Losses were terrific on both sides, and when night fell conditions were just as they had been in the morning.

This morning both sides contented themselves with sporadic artillery fire, but no engagements took place. The troops were busy fortifying the positions held.

Meanwhile negotiations with the allies of the city hall are going forward more or less favorably to the Smallwood forces. Premier Silberstein of Policelania was reported to have favored the cause of the Smallwood allies, and yesterday it was rumored in an uncensored dispatch from City Hall that he was about to throw his forces into the battle on the side of General Smallwood. He has a well trained army of some seventy men, and had he entered the engagement yesterday, might have turned the tide of battle and completely broken the Windom line. The display of artillery fire from the district court, however, deterred him.

The fighting now seems to have become a question of ammunition and artillery. This will be a war of big guns. General Smallwood has re-established his line of communications with the treasurer's office, and supplies are expected to come forward more freely. Decisive engagements are looked for this month, and will probably center on the district court front. Winter weather is rapidly approaching, and the terrors of campaigning in this northern climate are well known. Expenditures for supplies and ammunition have been enormous, and it is believed the decision will rest with the side having the last funds available for legal shells. If the Windom enveloping movement this month on the district court front falls it will be a war to exhaustion.

General Cutting maintains strict neutrality, and has not even mobilized his small but efficient army.

BATTLE OVER CHILD.

Unique Contest Staged in North Dakota Supreme Court.

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 15.—The legal battle for the possession of 8-year-old Herbert Clark will be opened in the supreme court next Tuesday.

The fight between Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Clark of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Sidle of Flasher has attracted great attention throughout the state and is the first case of the kind to be heard by the supreme court. The interesting part of the case opened last May, when Mr. and Mrs. Sidle got out a writ of habeas corpus to secure possession of the child while Mr. and Mrs. Clark were temporarily in this city. The writ was quashed by District Judge Nuessle, however, and the case was taken to the supreme court. The Sidles, in applying for the writ, alleged that they are the true parents of the child. A second writ issued by the supreme court was quashed by Chief Justice Fisk, and the Clarks ordered to put up bond bond of $10,000 to guarantee the appearance of the child here on the day set for the trial. The bond was furnished.

The hearing of the case will in all likelihood take at least a week. For the past several months the attorneys on both sides have been busy gathering evidence. Depositions have been taken in all parts of the country and any number of witnesses have been subpenaed to appear at the trial. Depositions were taken in Massachusetts, Kansas, Iowa, Minnesota and North Dakota, and also in Washington.

SCENE HAS NO PARALLEL

Two "Judges" Attempt to Preside Over Municipal Court.

One Would Dismiss Jury; Other Would Conduct Trial.

More than 100 jurors, lawyers and curious citizens saw a spectacle in the municipal courtrooms yesterday afternoon which probably never will be repeated in the city's history.

Promptly at 3 o'clock, when Judge W. L. Windom rapped with his gavel, calling the court to order, Judge W. H. Smallwood, standing at a table in the center of the room used by attorneys, pounded on the floor with a crutch, and called upon the jurors to recognize him.

Both men started speaking at the same time, giving conflicting orders to the jurymen.

"Court will come to order," said Judge Windom, and

"I declare this court adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning," said Judge Smallwood.

"I hold this office by reason of the fact that the governor has appointed me, and the city council has indorsed me. This court is adjourned, and anyone who questions it will be liable to a charge of contempt of court.

"My clerk and his deputies are in possession, and will issue no checks for jurors' fees."

While he was talking, Judge Windom continued to rap for order, the conflicting noises making it impossible to hear either claimant to the bench.

Half of the jurymen obeyed the Smallwood order and walked out of the room, while others chose to follow Judge Windom's instructions, and remained within call.

After some delay, Clerk M. S. Lloyd, deposed by Clerk Thompson, who is Judge Smallwood's appointee, called a jury in a civil action.

By the time the jury was seated, Judge Smallwood, who had left the room, again entered, and advancing to a position directly in front of Judge Windom, repeated his warning to them, and declared that they would be considered in contempt of court if they did not follow his directions.

Frightened by this, two jurymen addressed Judge Windom, and asked that they be allowed to call in the city attorney to tell them what they should do.

"We are all up in the air," said the first man, "and don't want to get in bad. One judge tells us to stay, and the other one says we are adjourned."

"No ruling from Mr. Greene is necessary," responded Judge Windom. "We will go on with the consideration of this case."

The action took but a few moments, and Judge Windom then dismissed them rather than attempt to conduct any further business of the court.

"I will adjourn court until 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning," he said.

Judge Smallwood previously had adjourned court until 10 o'clock, the usual time.

In the clerk's office it was quiet after the controversy which marked the closing hours of the morning court session, for when Clerk Lloyd, Judge Windom's appointee, returned from lunch, he found Clerk Thompson, with Deputies Hallada and Edward Furni, in charge.

The safe containing court records still was locked, and Clerk Lloyd continued firm in his determination not to release the books.

Clerk Thompson did not carry out his threat to have the safe blown, but stated that "business as usual" would be the order of things in the morning.

SMALLWOOD WOULD SUBMIT DIFFERENCES

state attorney general, calling upon Judge Windom to show cause why he has not acceded to the governor's appointment, and surrendered the bench, and court records, to Judge Smallwood and his deputies.

Judge Windom on Bench.

Further complications in the squabble arose today, when Judge Windom continued work on the September civil calendar and disposed of two jury cases.

City commissioners, at their special meeting yesterday morning, instructed the police to recognize W. H. Smallwood as judge in view of his appointment, and no one else.

Court Officer's Dilemma.

Court officers were practically compelled to act in defiance of the council ruling in order to carry out the work in connection with the juries which heard evidence in the case which Judge Windom tried today.

"Do you recognize Judge Windom?" was asked of Court Officer A. V. Youngberg, and "I do not know whom to recognize," was his answer.

Officer Peter McDonald also said that he was rather "up in the air" because of the complex state of affairs.

Scores of curious citizens who invaded the court rooms and halls today in the hope of seeing a repetition of yesterday's scenes, when the two factions almost came to blows, were disappointed.

Judge Smallwood did not put in an appearance, nor did Clerk E. A. Thompson and Deputy Clerk Edward Furni. Deputy Clerk G. H. Hallada visited the court early in the morning for a moment, but refused to comment on the latest developments in the case.

"They're ahead now for a little while," he said, "but it won't be for long. Of course we will recognize the district court injunction, preventing Mr. Thompson from taking over the court records, but that will be disposed of in a hurry."

Judge Smallwood's letter follows:

"An open letter to W. L. Windom:

"W. L. Windom—Sir: The governor has appointed me judge of the municipal court. I shall, of course, at once qualify and enter upon the duties of the office. I understand that you dispute the right of the governor to make an appointment and claim that you are the legal incumbent of the office. If you persist in this claim it will necessitate further litigation. It is expensive and annoying to litigate and during such litigation the status of the municipal court will be left in doubt, both as to the presiding judge and the clerk and court attendants. There ought not to be any question as to the status of a court. He who sits in judgment of the liberties and property rights of his fellow men ought to be under no suspicion of his authority to so act.

"The people of Duluth primarily have the right to say who shall be judge of the municipal court. The supreme court has said that in the April election the machinery used was wrong and that therefore no legal election was held. If this is so then the people ought to have another chance to express their wishes.

"I propose, therefore, that we go before the council and ask that a special election be called to elect a judge of the municipal court. If such an election is held I will abide by the result whatever it may be. Such a course will be speedier and less expensive than court proceedings and I believe more satisfactory to everybody.

"Awaiting your answer, I am, sir, very sincerely,

"W. H. SMALLWOOD."

vent the Raths-Seavolt Film company of St. Paul from putting on the "Who Will Be Lou?" contest at the Lyric theater. Current rumor for several days has been to the effect that the labor unions have been planning to take action against the newspaper that is conducting a contest at the Lyric, which has been under boycott for about a year by the Duluth locals. There was some talk of switching the contest to another theater, but nothing definite was done in the matter.

The strife between the unions and the Brunswick Amusement company began more than a year ago, and the Rex and Lyric have been under boycott for about a year, each side sacrificing a great deal in time and money. The trouble is said to have been started when Thomas Furniss refused to "fire" a non-union machine operator. The unions, on the other hand, claimed that this operator was ineligible for membership in a union because of his conduct previous to his employment by Mr. Furniss.

For months the unions kept pickets at the door of both the Rex and Lyric theaters, who declared to all patrons as they entered the theaters that the "Rex and Lyric are unfair to union labor."

This picketing was continued with grim persistence by the locals and fought with equal persistence by Mr. Furniss for many months. Some time in May certain business men of the city made objections to picketing, and the matter was taken before the city council. Nothing of an official nature was done. The pickets were taken off later and men were employed to carry signs up and down the streets afternoon and evening declaring the attitude of the unions. Within the theaters the battle was also waged with vigor.

Told Story on Screen.

Mr. Furniss found a formidable ally in the "screen." Between pictures he had his operator flash on the canvas his most telling arguments. Among these was that he had paid employes more than the union scale since the Rex and Lyric theaters were opened, and he offered to show the check stubs to prove his point.

Up to about a year ago the labor unions had some difficulty with various other theaters regarding the employment of non-union labor. One or two houses were picketed, but in a short time all of the theater managers came to an understanding with the local labor leaders and adjusted their differences and put out the union sign.

Except for the strike at these theaters the labor situation in Duluth has been peculiarly free from dissension during the last year. In all lines of work the employers and employes have worked in harmony and wherever any trouble has occurred the two factions have settled their differences through their representatives without a strike.

Labor men throughout the city today felt certain that the unions and Mr. Furniss would come to an amicable understanding within a few days.

diately as we suspected, on one of Britain's anchored mines."

Denies Sinking Hesperian.

Berlin, Sept. 15.—The German government in a note from the foreign office to Ambassador Gerard delivered yesterday made a qualified disclaimer of responsibility for the sinking of the steamship Hesperian. On the face of the evidence thus far at hand, the government is satisfied that the Hesperian was not sunk by a German submarine.

The German position, as semi-officially stated, follows:

"As we are informed from a competent source, the news already received, taken in connection with facts officially known, seems to exclude almost absolutely the possibility that a German submarine could have been concerned in sinking the British passenger steamer Hesperian.

No Submarine There.

"First, according to the pre-arranged distribution, no German submarine could have been, on Sept. 4, in that part of the ocean in which the Hesperian sank.

"Furthermore, the explosion, according to descriptions received from British sources, was of such a nature as to indicate from its effects that it was rather that of a mine than of a torpedo.

"The circumstances that, according to these dispatches, the vessel was struck near the bow and that the bow compartments filled with water, goes to confirm this assumption."

The note contains, in addition to the statements thus made, semi-officially, a paragraph to the effect that all the submarines that were at sea on Sept. 4, have not returned, but that there is no reason to expect that the reports which they will supply will change the situation.

The note is a simple recital of the facts as the German government sees them, without any expression of sentiment or comment on the German submarine policy.

Not Sunk by Submarine.

Berlin, Sept. 15, by wireless to Sayville.—The Overseas News agency says it is virtually certain that the steamship Hesperian was not sunk by a German submarine and adds:

"If, as is said by a London newspaper, one member of the Hesperian's crew pretends to have seen a German submarine, this means nothing, as the explosion occurred at about 8:45 p. m., when it was dark. Moreover, it has invariably been the case recently that when an explosion has been shown to have been due to a mine several so-called eyewitnesses pretended to have seen the periscope of a submarine."

HELD UP EIGHT TIMES BY FOREIGN WARSHIPS

American Steamer Portland Has Varied Experience on Her Trip.

New York, Sept. 15.—The American steamer Portland arrived here today from Swedish and British ports after having been held up by eight war vessels on her eastward and westward trips. The freighter sailed from San Francisco several months ago with a cargo of barley, beans and dried fruits consigned to Stockholm, and carrying a British consular certificate providing against interference.

On June 14 the Portland was held up by a British cruiser, taken to Kirkwall, and four days later discharged a part of her cargo at Blyth. She then started for Stockholm, but was held up twice by German submarines, which took part of the cargo. From Stockholm the Portland sailed for England and was held up by two more German submarines. After leaving Gravesend, three British destroyers held up the Portland before she was clear of the war zone.

TO DRIVE GUNMEN AND SLUGGERS FROM CITY

State's Attorney Hayne to Begin Crusade in Chicago.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—A crusade to drive labor gunmen and sluggers out of Chicago was started today by State's Attorney Maclay Hoyne.

Startling disclosures in the labor situation have been revealed as a result of an investigation conducted by the state's attorney's office. The inquiry revealed, it is alleged, an organized gang of gunmen in several unions, who have carried on a wrecking and murdering campaign for years. They have been working without the cognizance of the majority of the union members, it was said.

Extortion, graft and vengeance on contractors, as well as revenge on other union members make up the greater part of the work of these gunmen, the inquiry is said to have disclosed.

DULUTH BOOSTERS VISIT AITKIN FAIR

Winners in Several of the Contests Are Announced.

Aitkin, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Duluth Commercial club boosters are guests of the local county fair today the last day of the fair. State Auditor Preus will speak today. A. B. Hostetter of Duluth is judge of agricultural products and Mr. McLeran is livestock judge. The weather is much better and the fair is developing into a success. The track is in good shape after the rain and the various races for today will be given.

Women Win Prizes.

Mrs. Joe Enberg won the title as champion bread maker. The silver cup given for dairy herd by the State Dairymen's association was won by Mrs. J. L. Kimberly, owner of a Guernsey herd. The silver cup given by the Northern Pacific railroad was won by J. E. Stonebraker's herd.

A. J. Sypher won first on farm exhibit and D. C. Hazelton second; District No. 2, the Butt school, won first on school exhibit; Kimberly second. The main attraction at the county fair yesterday was the ball game between Hill City and Aitkin. Posten pitched for Aitkin and the visitors were shut out with six scores against them. Another game will be played today.

HOSPITAL FOR DRUG HABITUES

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Sends Check of $18,000 to Commission.

New York, Sept. 15.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., through the Rockefeller Bureau of Social Hygiene, sent an $18,000 check today to Miss Katherine D. Davis, commissioner of corrections, toward the cost of erecting a hospital for drug habitues on Riker's island. This, in addition to a donation of $10,000 by Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, and other contributions, will enable the commissioners to go ahead with construction work at once.

The new hospital, which will accommodate 132 patients, is wanted by Commissioner Davis to care for the influx of drug users to city institutions as the result of the enforcement of the new laws prohibiting the sale of habit-forming drugs.

IOWA TO KEEP OUT ILLINOIS CATTLE

Would Protect Livestock From the Foot and Mouth Disease.

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 15.—The state executive council early today was expected to approve orders issued by the Iowa commission of animal health absolutely prohibiting the shipment into Iowa from Illinois of cattle, sheep, swine, goats, hay, straw, cholera serum, raw milk or cream. This step was taken by the commission late yesterday afternoon to protect Iowa livestock from the foot and mouth disease, reported to have broken out in Illinois again.

Breeders Losing Money.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—Stock breeders of Illinois lose money every day the foot and mouth disease exists in the state because outside buyers refuse to purchase local stock, according to the state board of livestock commissioners. The situation was considered so serious that a signed appeal to the public to co-operate in stamping out the plague was issued by the board.

"If we could slaughter without delay all infected cattle it would be only a few weeks until we could eradicate the disease from the state," said Dr. O. E. Dyson, state veterinarian, today.

New York, Sept. 15.—The two glass containers found beside a hatch of the White Star liner Lapland, lying at her pier here, were today learned to have contained liquid for refilling fire extinguishers, and not acids calculated to set fire to the ship, as police and private detectives believed last night. Chemists found the liquid could not possibly cause an explosion or fire. The ship's officers were then consulted. They recognized the carboys at once. Five hundred similar ones were loaded late yesterday and it is supposed the two found by a detective were accidentally placed by the hatch.

STEAMER ONOKO SINKS IN MID-LAKE; CAUSE UNKNOWN

Believed Plate Gave Way; Loss About $200,000; Oil Tanker to Rescue.

The steamer Onoko, owned by the Steinbrenner Interests of Cleveland, Ohio, loaded with 110,000 bushels of wheat consigned from the Capitol Elevator company of Duluth to the J. Rosenbaum Grain company of Toledo, Ohio, sprang a leak suddenly in Lake Superior yesterday afternoon, and with only a few minutes warning, sank, a total loss, in about 500 feet of water, nine miles off Knife island, and about sixteen miles out of Duluth. The crew of seventeen men, was saved, losing only their personal effects.

The monetary loss amounts to between $160,000 and $200,000, the cargo being worth more than $110,000 and the value of the vessel being reckoned at at least $50,000. The purchase price of the wheat was more than $1 a bushel, the broker handling it declining to say further than that.

Disaster Unusual.

The disaster was a most unusual one. The Onoko left the Duluth harbor at 10:30 yesterday morning, as related in The Herald extra, issued last evening as soon as the crew arrived in Duluth, and everything seemed well. The boat had been extensively repaired during the winter and spring and was looked upon to be in good shape. All went well and the sea was smooth, when, while on the regular course, about nine miles off Knife Island, the engineer, J. J. Higgins, reported to the master, Capt. W. R. Dunn, that the vessel had sprung a leak under the engines and that the water was coming in fast. When Capt. Dunn went back to investigate, the water was spurting in and in a few minutes drowned out the fire. The captain saw that the situation was hopeless and ordered out the boats. All of the crew, including the one woman on board, Mrs. C. R. Cranbee, wife of the steward, and the lone passenger, Antone Rehor, a cement contractor of Cleveland, had no trouble reaching the boats and safety, and in a few minutes the steamer, her stern having filled rapidly, tossed her nose in the air and plunged stern first to the bottom.

Tanker to Rescue.

The boats were at a safe distance and the members of the crew were not worried for, before they left the ship, they saw the steamer Renown, a tanker belonging to the Standard Oil company, which had left Duluth shortly after the Onoko, coming on full speed, the master of the tanker having noticed that the Onoko was settling. In a few minutes the Renown, with barge C in tow, came up and picked up the occupants of the lifeboats. The Renown put about and took the crew back to Duluth, being met just outside the Duluth canal by a tug, which took the Onoko crew off, the Renown and her tow resuming their journey down the lakes.

The only explanation offered for the disaster, and, seemingly the only plausible one, is that a plate of the hull, just under the engine suddenly gave way and let the water in so fast that there was no hope of the pumps acting against it. There was no sea, very little wind, and the progress of the ship was excellent. The sinking came without warning as there had been nothing to indicate a flaw in the hull and nothing had happened which can be construed as a cause of the accident.

Steamer Sinks Quickly.

Capt. Dunn reported to G. A. Tomlinson, agent for the vessel at this point, that the engineer reported the leak to him at 12:20 and that within ten minutes the ship had taken her plunge. The crew was landed in Duluth at 3:40 yesterday afternoon and the report was made to Mr. Tomlinson within half an hour. In making his report, the captain said:

"We have no way of knowing what happened. The lake was smooth and we had no indication of anything being wrong until off Knife Island. We were about nine miles out, in the regular course, when the engineer came forward and reported to me that the ship was leaking under the engine. By the time I got back there the water was spurting in and in a few minutes stopped the engines. There was no question that the ship was doomed, and I ordered out the boats. In a very few minutes after we left her the Onoko went down. The crew was in no danger, but the arrival of the oil steamer was timely and welcome at that."

Engineer Higgins reported to John Monaghan, government inspector of vessels here, that while he was standing near the crank shaft in the engine room, suddenly there came a rush of water from under the engine, and that by the time he had started the pumps, the water was up to his waist. As there was evidently no hope of the pumps being able to combat the inflow of water, and Higgins was being drowned out of the engine room, he climbed the ladder to safety, and with the rest of the crew took to the boats.

The crew, as a whole, testified that despite the suddenness of the affair, there was no panic, the boats were lowered in an orderly way and nobody had any difficulty in putting off from the doomed vessel. The approach of the Renown was comforting, but the crew felt that they were in no danger as the sea was fairly calm and the shore was in sight. Had the Renown not come along, it would simply have put the men to the inconvenience and labor of a long row to land.

The officers of the ship were: Master, W. R. Dunn, Cleveland; first mate, John McNamara, Cleveland; second mate, Patrick McCarty, Toledo; chief engineer, J. J. Higgins, Cleveland, and second engineer, Michael Elchner, Milwaukee. The others members of the crew were: John Collins, wheelsman, Cleveland; Vernon Bloomstrom, Oshkosh, Wis.; M. J. Collins, Cleveland; William Palmer, Toledo; Hans Sorenson, Buffalo; William Reynolds, Buffalo; Richard Weichert, Milwaukee; Gus Engstrom, Port Arthur, Texas; Robert McAdoo, Pittsburgh; James Joyce, Erie, Pa., and Arno Rose, Grafton, Wis.

Was Pride of Lakes.

The Onoko was launched in 1882, and was the first of the large iron—not steel—steamers on the Great Lakes. She was 286 feet long, had a beam of 39 feet; her capacity was 3,600 tons and her gross tonnage was 2,164. In her day she was the pride of the lakes and when launched was the largest steamer on the lakes.

PENSIONS FOR U. S. EMPLOYES

National Association of Letter Carriers Takes Stand at Omaha.

Advocacy of pensions for all superannuated employes in the civil service, the raising of the weekly sick benefit for letter carriers, and the fixing of a retirement system for employes, were some of the most important things enacted by the delegates at Omaha, who convened for the convention of the National Association of Letter Carriers.

Julius Nelson of Duluth, who attended the meetings with Thomas G. Thompson, Joseph Wilde and Nels Wilner, has just returned ahead of his companion delegates, and summed up the work of the convention as stated. The other Duluth delegates are taking their vacation and will not return for several days. Mr. Thompson is now in Chicago, Mr. Wilde in Yankton, S. D., and Mr. Wilner in Minneapolis.

"At first there was talk of advocating a measure favoring pensions for mail carriers after retirement, but it was decided to expand this plan to include all Federal employes under civil service ruling. The measure has been urged by virtually all state conventions of mail carriers and Federal employes, and there was little new in the resolutions passed. It was urged that the next congress pass the measure."

There was considerable discussion as to raising the weekly sick benefit, which up to this time has been $9. It was finally decided to raise it to $10 weekly, said Mr. Nelson.

Raising the rates of the M. B. A. caused more discussion, Mr. Nelson said, but the convention finally favored the report of a majority of a committee of thirty. Twenty-four of this number favored raising the rates and six of them wanted the association to maintain the same rate.

Dallas, Tex., was chosen as the next convention city. Minnesota has never before been represented on the national executive board. The Gopher delegates succeeded in electing Fred Truax of St. Paul to this position.

Mr. Wilner, a Duluth delegate, was elected vice president from Minnesota, and will represent this state at all meetings of state representatives at national gatherings.

Many noted speakers gave addresses, said Mr. Nelson, but "Billy" Sunday, the baseball evangelist, was given the greatest ovation of them all. He explained the system by which his expenses were paid at evangelistic meetings.

CLAY COUNTY FAIR TO OPEN THURSDAY

Will Be Held at Barnesville and Looks Like Winner.

Barnesville, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual Clay county fair will open here tomorrow morning with the prospects of one of the largest exhibits in the history of the county. The displays of grains and vegetables will constitute one of the principal attractions of the exhibit, while the livestock showing will be large and excellent.

County Agent P. E. Clement has completed a thorough tour of the county gathering grain, vegetable and grass exhibits and the results of his work have been most gratifying.

The fair will close Saturday night.

FARGO SEMINARY IS TO OPEN ON SEPT. 28

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Oak Grove Ladies' Lutheran seminary will begin the 1915-16 term on Sept. 28, with the largest enrollment in its history, according to present indications, inquiries from all parts of the Northwest being numerous. The institution has already grown to such an extent that another year will find it necessary to provide additional facilities, especially in the way of dormitories. The school is one that requires that the students, who are all young women, must board at the institution unless their homes are in Fargo and for this reason dormitory facilities are taxed to the limit. The management of the institution is at this time considering ways and means of building before the beginning of the 1916-17 school year.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS BETTER THAN ARMORED CRUISERS, SAYS LAWRANCE

"War on the Liquor Traffic and the Sunday Schools' Part in the Temperance Activities Now Going on in the Country" will be one of the subjects that Marion Lawrance, general secretary of the International Sunday School association, will discuss when he addresses the St Louis county Sunday school convention here on Oct. 13.

According to a recent statement by Mr. Lawrance the fight against the liquor traffic will be carried to a finish and the Sunday schools of the country, he says, will be a big factor in making the country "dry."

According to Mr. Lawrance, the Sunday school is one of the greatest institutions in America for the upbuilding of good citizenship. "Properly trained citizens are better guarantees for peace than armored cruisers," Mr. Lawrance says, "and the training received in the Sunday school is destined to make strong and efficient citizens."

Mr. Lawrance and a party of Sunday school specialists will make a Sunday school tour through Minnesota and North Dakota. Mr. Lawrance heads the party which includes Dr. Joseph Clark, general secretary of the New York Sunday School association; Prof. A. M. Locker of St. Paul, general secretary of the Minnesota Sunday School association, and Dr. George H. Lau of Detroit, Mich., a well known leader of church and Sunday school music. Mr. Lawrance and the other members of the party are considered by Sunday school workers of the country to be authorities in their respective lines of work.

Associated with Mr. Lawrance in the International Sunday School association are a number of men and women who are considered to be experts in elementary, adolescent and adult Bible class work, temperance and missionary activities, social, purity, evangelism, teacher training, home visitation and other branches of the Sunday school endeavor.

The international association, of which he is the general secretary, through its subsidary state, provincial and county organizations, conducts annually 20,000 conventions. It has about 200 paid workers who devote all of their time to the Sunday school organization work, besides about 1,800,000 volunteer workers who serve as superintendents, officers and teachers in 175,685 Sunday schools with an aggregate membership of more than 18,400,000 persons.

DULUTHIANS AT FARM FAIR

Many Go to Fall Festival of Jackson Farmers' Club.

Exhibits Are Exceptionally Good—Work Farm Showing Is Excellent.

Many professional and business men of Duluth motored to the Jackson school on the Pike Lake road during the morning and early afternoon hours today, where they attended the third and last day of the Jackson Farmers' club second annual fair, which opened there Monday. Rain that fell yesterday and on the day previous tended to keep people away, but yesterday many braved the showers and took in the show.

The city and county work farm and the Jackson school children have the largest and best displays, which are made up of all kinds of small grains, garden truck and real tobacco that was grown at the work farm.

The Rural New Yorker potatoes shown by the children, who participated in a summer contest, are excellent and the oats and wheat on exhibit are the first ever raised by the farmers of this district and are fine.

Work Farm Booth.

The work farm booth is arranged in a very neat manner, all of the various kinds of vegetables, small grains and timothy exhibits being shown to the best possible advantage. Attention is called to this booth by a large sign, which is made out of carrots and carrot leaves. The rutabaga crop this year is unusually large and many nice specimens are on exhibit.

In the women's department are some fine exhibits of bread, cakes and pastry and some especially fine needle work, quilts, spreads, lace, embroidery, etc.

At the close of the fair this afternoon the children who were most successful in the potato-growing contest will be awarded prizes. This evening there will be a basket social at the Jackson school, followed by two hours of dancing.

Duluth Exhibits.

Among the Duluth merchants who had exhibits at the fair were: The Big Duluth, Columbia Clothing company, Kelley Hardware company and the Daugherty hardware store. Souvenirs of various kinds were given away by these merchants, including whistles and squealers, which greatly pleased the children.

"We hope to have an exhibition building next year," said President O. Larson of the Jackson club. "We own four acres of a site and will probably be able to see our way clear to put up a suitable structure next summer. The farmers of this district have shown that as good wheat and oats can be grown here as anywhere else and that the crops generally are just as good."

The other officers of the club are: C Ugstad, vice president; Dave Johnson, secretary, and Emil Johnson, treasurer.

LEASES MAY BE CANCELED

Preus Asks Attorney General's Opinion Regarding Hibbing Leases.

Companies Could Avoid Auditor's Action By Paying Taxes.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 15.—J. A. O. Preus, state auditor, has not said a word as to what action he would take on the latest letter received from Mayor Power of Hibbing, who apparently is trying to force the auditor to compel payment of $750,000 by mining companies at Hibbing.

But Mr. Preus has been doing a whole lot of thinking, as a fact which leaked out yesterday showed.

Mayor Power suggested to the auditor that he cancel the leases of the ore companies because of failure to pay their taxes. A provision in the leases allows this, as pointed out by Mayor Power.

Preus Considers This Move.

That Mr. Preus, despite his reticence on the subject, has been considering canceling the leases became evident when it was learned that he has asked and received an opinion from Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith as to whether the mining companies could pay their taxes within the twenty-day limit and thereby defeat any action by the state looking to cancellation of its contracts with them.

The state is compelled to give twenty days' notice that it intends to cancel a lease.

Attorney General Advises.

Mr. Smith told the auditor that the mining companies could pay their taxes before the expiration of the twenty days of grace. With this information in his possession, Mr. Preus will be able to tell the mining companies that he will cancel the leases and give them opportunity to pay up without the ore being seized or a fight in the courts started.

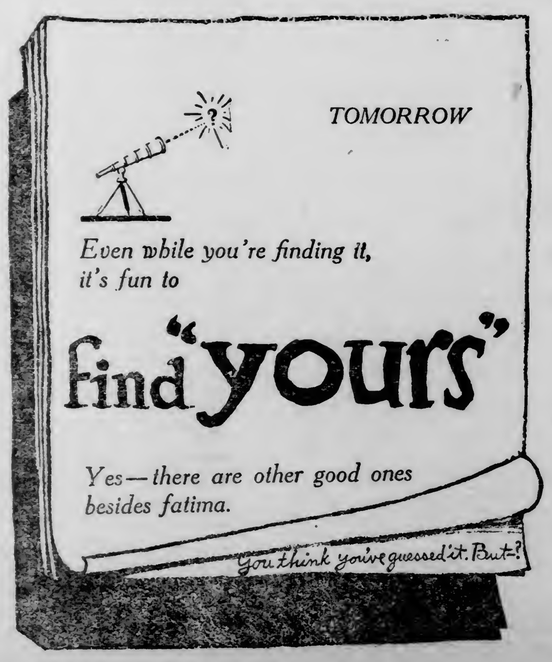

Mr. Preus also showed the trend of his thoughts when he asked the attorney general if he could cancel the leases without the twenty days' notice. He was informed that he could not do so.

To Censor Canadian Mail.

St. John, N. B., Sept. 15.—A censorship on all mail matter from the United States and other foreign countries, addressed to newspapers in the dominion, or to members of their staffs, has been imposed by the post-office department, it was learned yesterday. The order is understood to have been issued as a result of attempts to send pro-German writings to papers in the western part of Canada.

CONDITIONS MUCH BETTER

Pinch of Penury Less Keen Now, Says Charity Head.

More Work and Higher Wages Improve Lot of Needy.

Conditions among the poor of Duluth, who at times have had to call upon various Duluth societies for aid, are said by Miss Edna Meeker of the Associated Charities to be showing a general improvement.

"Last winter and spring the poor were in extremely cramped circumstances, caused, I suppose by a shortage of employment on account of the war in Europe," said Miss Meeker. "But as the summer begins to fade into early fall, work is more plentiful and many men, who were seeking positions, have secured them. The greatest trouble we have right now with the men who call on us for help, is to find places for their horse teams to work. There is one old man, in particular, who would like to place his team. Feeding horses now, when oats and hay are away up in price, is very expensive.

"I understand from certain local manufacturers that conditions in the local business world this fall will be excellent and that every man, woman and child in Duluth will be able to secure employment. One leading manufacturer told me that he was working his plant to capacity right along and that big orders for his wares were constantly pouring in.

"Many idle men who were in Duluth during the early summer months, have gone to the Dakota harvest fields and to the various towns in the Mesaba range district. Of course, some of these may return and if they do, we shall be able to find employment of some kind for them."

DULUTHIAN HAS PLAN TO MAKE CITY BIG CENTER FOR MANUFACTURING

Would Organize Promoting Company With Capital of $1,000,000.

Interest on Sum to Be Used as Advertising Fund.

Principal Would Be Invested in Any Promising Industry.

How Duluth can add from forty to fifty factories to its present number, increasing its population about 20,000 and bringing approximately $1,500,000 for investment to this city, is outlined in a plan suggested to The Herald by S. I. Levin, owner of the Holland hotel and pioneer real estate owner of this city.

Mr. Levine would have 2,000 Duluthians contribute $500 each to a $1,000,000 fund to be used in inducing factories to locate in Duluth. The interest on the money the first year would be used in an extensive national advertising campaign, placing Duluth's novel plan before the manufacturers of the country.

The $1,000,000 subscribed would be placed in Duluth banks and committees appointed to investigate carefully all the concerns accepting the local proposition. If a company is bona fide, manufactures marketable articles and employs skilled labor, then an investment will be made to the extent of two-fifths of the capital. This means that the company accepting would invest three-fifths of the money needed.

One Laborer to Each $1,000.

For every $1,000 invested the company must agree to employ one skilled laborer, making a total of 2,500 skilled laborers or mechanics to be employed by the various factories. With an average salary of $20 a week, this makes a weekly payroll of $50,000 or $2,500,000 a year, to be spent solely in Duluth. As each skilled laborer is generally a married man, it means that the coming of 2,500 men here would increase the population by at least 15,000. With the officers and clerical help, the population would be increased 20,000.

The money invested in the various companies would entitle the Duluthians to places on the boards of directors and all profits would be combined and divided among the 2,000 persons, who contributed $500 each. In this way, the investment might be considered a safe one, in view of the fact that a majority of the factories are bound to be successful with careful scrutiny.

"This plan appeals to me very much," said Mr. Levin yesterday in explaining it to The Herald. "Duluth has not grown as rapidly as cities like Minneapolis, Detroit or Buffalo and all because there has never been a cooperative movement here to bring factories to this city. By getting together in this way, local business men will advertise Duluth better than any other way and if the money is raised and the plan started, factories will continue to come here for years and years.

"Once the plan gets under way, it is bound to be successful. Not only will each of the 2,000 persons make money, but the department stores, butchers, grocers, landlords, coal men and theater owners will all benefit by the increased population and the distribution of a $2,500,000 payroll each year."

Mr. Levin would have a subscription list started, without the collection of money, and the plan abandoned unless 2,000 persons come in with $500 each. Anyone wanting to invest more than $500 could do so and thus share more when the dividends are paid from the profits of the factories. The contributors could then organize, incorporate, elect officers and start out on a business-like basis.

"I would like to hear what others think of this plan," suggested Mr. Levin, "and would favor a consideration of the proposition by local newspapers, civic societies, organizations and business men. I am certain it can be carried out to a great success."

Momentous Future In Woman's Mind

The expectant mother revolves in her mind all we understand by destiny. And it is of the utmost importance that her physical comfort be our first thought. There is a most splendid remedy for this purpose, known as "Mother's Friend." It is applied over the muscles of the stomach, gently rubbed in, and at once penetrates to relieve all strain on nerves, cords, ligaments and all parts involved. It makes the muscles so pliant that they expand naturally. And at the same time they are invigorated by the absence of harassing pains so apt to distress the mind. Whatever will add to the comfort of the expectant mother is a great and helpful influence since a calm and peaceful period must have a wonderfully beneficial impress upon the coming child. Get a bottle of "Mother's Friend" of any druggist and you will realize why so many women declare it to be the most helpful remedy they know of. Write today to Bradfield Regulator Co., 402 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a splendid book of great interest and value to every expectant mother.

WIFE SEEKS DIVORCE; WHISKY BLAMED

Superior Woman Declares Liquor Made Husband "Beastlike."

Mrs. Minnie Cameron, 34 years, of Superior and the mother of five children, filed a suit for divorce in district court here yesterday in which she alleges that her husband, John Cameron, 57 years, is an habitual drunkard and that he has abused and mistreated her for years.

The unhappy wife states in her complaint, that she was married in Superior in 1898 and that the first few years of their wedded life were happy ones. Then, she declares, Cameron began to use whisky, and as a result became "beast-like and lost all of his self-respect." Under the influence of strong drink, she says, he would abuse her shamefully and that one time, when she was ill, he threw a rocking chair at her.

As the husband continued to drink, the family was forced to move into poorer quarters and, the petition alleges, eventually had to accept public charity, which the husband encouraged his wife to seek.

Matters reached a climax in 1912, when Cameron came home intoxicated and abused his wife, she says, while she was sick in bed. She is suing for an absolute divorce and the custody of the children.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS WILL PUBLISH SCHOOL NEWSPAPER

JACOB GARON.

WILLARD THORP.

Preliminary plans for the publication of a school paper at Central high school were completed yesterday, when a staff, consisting of twenty-one persons, was selected. The three chief editors met with Principal Young and L. C. Rasey, head of the school English department, and discussed plans for the perfecting of the publication. There may be a few changes in the editing board, and the complete makeup of the paper has not as yet been decided. The worst difficulties, however, have been met, and the first edition will make its appearance in a few days.

It is planned to have it take the place of the Gazette, the little paper put out by the school agricultural club last year; but it will cover the school more thoroughly and will better satisfy the needs of the student body. It is the realization of a long-felt want at the local school, as similar institutions in other cities have met with success for some years with such publications.

The paper will probably be printed every two weeks and will contain eight pages. The several sections, under their respective editors, will treat all of the school activities in a thorough manner, and the students will undoubtedly be kept well informed as to the progress of the school. About five editions during the year will be feature issues, to be taken up principally with some unusually important phase of the school activities, such as football and commencement numbers. Subscriptions will be taken among the students, as well as the alumnae and business men, for 50 cents a year. This includes both the regular and special editions. The feature issue will be sold for 10 cents to non-subscribers. There will probably be no advertising in either publication.

There has been a large staff selected to have complete charge of the paper. There will be an editor-in-chief, and under him a news editor for the regular bi-weekly paper, and a magazine editor for the special issues. There will be a business and assistant business manager, and then the force of departmental editors. They have been systematically arranged, so there will be no confliction. No expense will be spared to keep the papers and magazines attractive artistically, and only the newest and best cuts will be used.

Although there may be a few changes, the board of editors as decided at the meeting yesterday will be as follows: Editor-in-chief, Lawrence Moore; news editor, Jacob Garon; magazine editor, Willard Thorp; business manager, Edward Pearson; assistant business manager, Galen Pearsons; class reporters, Allace Cowen, senior; Evelyn Ahlen, junior; Earl Hanson, sophomore; athletic editor, Lawrence Moore; exchange editor, Sam Goffn; society editress, Mildred Wall; clubs and departments editor, John Ahlen; humorous editors, Sarah Weinberg and Irving Auld; alumnae editor, Vina Walz; debate editor, Max Goldberg; art and photo editors, Grace Russell, John Miller and Clinton Brooks; literary editors, Katherine Birch, Grace Russell and Juanita Small.

NEW IDEA TO AID MAIL CARRIERS

Postmaster McEwen Starts Exchange City Directory List.

A new idea for improving the mail delivery service in Minnesota and other nearby cities was put into vogue today by Postmaster William E. McEwen.

Owing to the difficulty often experienced in determining the correct names and addresses of persons in other cities to whom mail is addressed, the city directories of such places are an excellent aid. Today Mr. McEwen mailed several directories, old and new, to postmasters of other cities. Because of the many matters of detail pertaining to a person in the city directory, the postmaster may be able to forward letters to their proper destination that would otherwise have to be held or forwarded to the dead letter office for identification.

Mr. McEwen has established an exchange directory list with several postmasters so the Duluth office will receive the same assistance.

DEATH ENDS LONG ILLNESS OF WILLIAM E. MORROW

WILLIAM E. MORROW,
From a Photograph Taken Several Years Ago.

William E. Morrow, prominent in Duluth's business and club life for the last fifteen years, died at 10 o'clock this morning at his home, 1728 East First street, where he had been confined for the last six months. Death was due to a nervous breakdown about a year ago, when he was compelled to give up active work.

Mr. Morrow had been connected with the auditing department of the Oliver Iron Mining company ever since he came here fifteen years ago from Pittsburgh, Pa. He was a native of Memphis, Tenn.

During his residence in Duluth Mr. Morrow became well known in the business life of the city. He was a member of the Masonic order and the Northland Country club. Besides his widow, he is survived by two daughters, Miss Marjorie Morrow and Mrs. J. N. Peyton, and one brother, Charles Morrow of Memphis, Tenn. Mr. Morrow was 56 years old.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed, but services will probably be held from the residence Friday afternoon. Interment will be at the Forest Hill cemetery.

DONALD GRANT, AGED 92 HAPPY DESPITE ILLNESS AND POVERTY, BUT NEEDS COOK

Aged Tar Was Getting Along Well in His Bachelor's Quarters Until Rheumatism Came.

Donald Grant, 92 years of age, residing at 112½ East Fourth street, is smiling and jovial despite his defective hearing and some rheumatism; but he needs a cook. If some man or woman will go to his home every day and cook two meals for him he will be completely happy.

The aged Scot is a veteran of the early sailing vessels and has been in nearly every quarter of the globe. He came to Duluth a number of years ago and settled here. Being overtaken by rheumatism and consequently unable to work, he was sent to the county poor farm, where he remained a short time, leaving the institution because he did not like it. Clan Stewart lodge of this city came to the rescue and has for the last five or six years, provided a home for him at his present address.

Until recently the aged tar got along swimmingly; but of late his hands have become so crippled from the tortures of rheumatism that he is unable to cook his meals. The county provides him with food and the city firemen, who live in a nearby hall, sweep out his house, kindle his fires, make his bed, carry in wood and supply all necessary water; but the fire fighters can not cook.

Humane Agent John G. Ross and Simon Clark of the Marine Supply company visited Grant yesterday when he said he wanted a woman. The visitors, believing that Grant wanted to get married, began twitting him. But the grand old man just laughed and said he wanted a cook and did not care whether it was a man or a woman.

Mr. Ross said this morning that the matter would be taken up with the King's Daughters of this city and that they might secure a chef for the Grant home.

Theater Gossip.

Lyman H. Howe's travel festival, is now at the Lyceum theater. Mr. Howe is showing a trip to both California expositions, through the Panama canal, a ride on a submarine, a pictorial excursion to Bruges, Belgium, to Holland, etc., and a return engagement of that delightful, thrice-blessed, never-to-be-forgotten baby, which appeared here once before and is having the time of his year-old life, breaking, tearing and eating lots of things and then finding bliss supreme by sitting in the very happiest middle of a nice, big, soft puddle of black mud. It is a picture of child life, which prompted Douglas Gordon of the Richmond Times-Dispatch, to address him thus. "Baby, happier than any piggy that ever squealed, you'll never be so exalted in all-glorious ecstasy again. So sit there, dabble in it, lie down in it and roll; many a man who watches you has wished in his life for just such a beautiful puddle as you've got."

Besides "Our Baby" there will also be, freely interspersed throughout the program, those uproarious absurdities—the Howesque animated cartoons—that can always be depended upon to convulse the most sedate audience with laughter. They are evolved by the sprightly fancies of artists in Howe's studios who devote week after week, month after month and year after year solely to create these lively imaginative figures for the delectation of "Howe travelers."

LAST DAY FOR NEW GRAND SHOW. The bill is one of much interest, headed by Norris' Baboons in a pantomimic playlet, "A Monkey Romance." The Three Van Staats in an "Old Dutch Musicale;" Joe Daniels, monologist and impersonator, and Fern and Zell in a comedy singing and talking diversion are other acts on the bill.

The sixteenth chapter of the "Diamond From the Sky," "The City Tigress," a three-reel Vitagraph feature with Julia Swane Gordon, and two comedies complete the program.

Tomorrow the new bill is an exceptional one, replete with a variety of good things in a vaudeville way.

Leffingwell and Gale in a comedy skit, "The Sleep Walker;" the Four Harmony Kings, instrumentalists and singers; Mac O'Neil, the boy in kilts, offering songs and stories in Scotch characterizations, and Ralpli and company, comedy jugglers and heavy weight lifters, are among the vaudeville offerings.

"The Offending Kiss," a Vitagraph Broadway star feature, heads the photoplay bill. Charlie Chaplin in one reel of unadulterated fun and many other photoplays, including the Heart-Selig News of events, make up the remainder of the bill.

Much care has been exercised by the Strand theater company in selecting the programs for the Orpheum-Strand. With unlimited GENEROUS OUTLAY OF MONEY AT ORPHEUM-STRAND. Strand company has been lavish in its outlay as to the appointment of the playhouse, and as to the attractions that will be presented there.

An orchestra of twelve pieces, under the direction of Professor Michaud, will be one of the special attractions at the Orpheum-Strand. The organization will be known as the Orpheum-Strand Symphony orchestra. It is by far the most proficient and largest coterie of musicians engaged in playing in a theater devoted to the cinema in this city.

Courtesy is the watchword of the Strand theater company, which bears the distinction of providing the most efficient and courteous staff of employes of any theatrical organization in the world. Uniform attendants will be in evidence at all times.

"Helene of the North" with the adorable Marguerite Clark is at the Rex today and tomorrow. The MARGUERITE CLARK AT THE REX. story opens in Ireland, at the home of Mrs. O'Neil, a member of the best Irish society. For the amusement of her guests she suggests a faggot party in which each person present shall place a faggot in the fire and tell a story during the time it burns. When it comes to Helene's (Marguerite Clark) turn, she tells a thrilling story of her former life in the Canadian woods, of the man she met and loved, whom since she has never seen, of the half-breed, Pierre, who came between them and threatened to kill the other, Ralph, if she ever married him; of the cure who wed her to Ralph, while Pierre thought she was being married to him. At the termination of Helene's story, Lord Traverse, the guest of honor, is announced.

Fay Tincher attired in P.J.'s is just as noisy a dresser as Fay of the black and white picadilly fashion sheet, and she does more than her share to make "A Chase by Moonlight" twenty minutes of fun and merry-making. Clarence Barr, Elmer Booth and Max Davidson and Louise Aichel—all look and act as if they had no other ambition on earth than to be Fay's pa, Maloney her lover policeman, Mr. Fliver and Shifty Sadie.

ANN MURDOCK AT THE ZELDA. will be seen at the Zelda for the first time in pictures in the dramatic play, "A Royal Family," today and tomorrow. Miss Murdock made many friends while in Duluth, and to see her in pictures will be like renewing old acquaintance. She has an excellent part in "A Royal Family," and she takes every advantage in acting the role. Not only is her acting a treat, but she is well supplied with numerous dresses of the latest style and the kind that is sure to catch the feminine eye. The photography of this feature picture is above standard with many odd and interesting scenes. Miss Murdock is supported by a very able company, all of whom do justice to their parts. This picture will be seen today from 10 a. m. to 11 p. m. and repeated again tomorrow.

E. G. Hudson's Statement.

E. G. Hudson, Chamblee, Ga., writes: "Last year I bought and tried Foley Cathartic Tablets. I have tried many cathartics, but for a thorough cleansing movement of the bowels without the slightest inconvenience or sickening, I believe the Foley Cathartic Tablet the best on earth. It's a perfect cathartic, with no bad effects." Everybody suffers occasionally from indigestion or constipation, so Mr. Hudson's experience is worth remembering. Stout persons say these tablets relieve that "heavy" feeling. Sold everywhere.

Society · Women's Clubs · Music · Drama

THE DRAMA LEAGUE season opened this afternoon with an informal reception at the home of Mrs. F. A. Patrick, 2306 East Superior street. Between the hours of 3 and 5 members of the Drama league called to renew their memberships and a number of other women to become members. Mrs. M. B. Cullum was in charge of the membership tickets for the adults and Miss Wilhelmina Fitger of those for the junior branch which was organized this afternoon.

Receiving with Mrs. Patrick were: Mrs. S. R. Holden, Mrs. T. D. Merrill, Mrs. Whitney Wall, Mrs. George Morgan, Mrs. James E. Rockwell, Mrs. C. E. Lonegren, Mrs. John Sinclair, and Mrs. M. R. Baldwin.

The rooms were decorated with garden flowers.

Mrs. Jeanne Lanctot Brackinreed, who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. A. L. Agatin, told of the work of the Medford, Or., center of the Drama League of America of which she is the president.

Federation Sessions Will Be Open to All Women

The general committee on arrangements for the convention of the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs which will be held here next week has made the following announcements regarding the attendance at business sessions and luncheons:

"Any interested woman may attend any of the sessions of the federated clubs meetings or participate in discussions' but only accredited delegates are entitled to voting privileges. The evening sessions are open to both men and women, and it is hoped that all interested persons will avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing the brilliant speakers who will appear on the federation programs.

"Any woman who wishes may attend the federation luncheon to be held at the Spalding hotel on Thursday, Sept. 23, but as only a limited number can be accommodated, reservations should be made in advance, by telephoning the chairman of the luncheon committee, Mrs. F. J. O'Donnell.

"Only delegates will be given complimentary tickets to the luncheon at which Commercial club members will be hosts on Friday, Sept. 24, but anyone wishing to attend may obtain tickets from Mrs. R. N. Marble, chairman of the Friday luncheon committee."

Y. W. C. A. Secretary Assumes Duties

Miss L. Louise Shephard assumed her duties as general secretary of the Y. W. C. A. at the meeting of the board of directors which was held yesterday morning. Miss Shephard is a grsduate of Hillsdale college, Michigan, and took association training in Detroit. She was one of the first girls' secretaries in the country and has had charge of this branch of association work in Indianapolis, Ind. She has been acting general secretary at Saginaw, Mich., and general secretary at Battle Creek, Mich., and Wheeling, W. Va.

The reports of the secretaries which were read at the board meeting yesterday showed an increased interest in the association.

Dr. Hurd Will Not Attend Federation Meeting

Dr. Ethel Egerton Hurd of Minneapolis, chairman of the committee on social hygiene, who was to have given her report at the federation meeting next week, will be unable to attend the convention on account of the death of her brother-in-law, Sir William Van Horne of Montreal which occurred Saturday. Dr. Hurd has been in attendance at the bedside of her brother-in-law and will remain some weeks with his family. All Canada is in mourning for Sir William, whose modesty is said to have equalled his achievements.

Mrs. Mary A. Dennis, department president of the Ladies of the G. A. R., was hostess at a basket picnic which was held yesterday on her lawn, 3719 Minnesota avenue, by Garfield circle.

A flag which was presented to Mrs. Dennis last June at St. Paul by the convention of the Ladies of the G. A. R. in recognition of her work as department president, was raised on a staff as the members sang "Guard the Flag." Mrs. Dennis and Mrs. Mary Cooley, department secretary, were in charge of the flag raising. Mrs. Jesse Spence gave a musical program.

Romance Begun in Duluth Theater Culminates in New York Wedding

A letter was received this morning by Miss Margaret Doig of 501 North Fifty-eighth avenue west, announcing the marriage of her sister, Miss Nellie Doig, to Frank Beamish. The wedding took place in New York last week.

Miss Doig, who was treasurer of the Lyceum theater two and a half years, has been in New York several weeks. Mr. Beamish was stage manager and director of the Baldwin Players last fall. After leaving Duluth he was a member of Rose Stahl's company.

Rehearsals for Greek Pageant.

The biggest rehearsals yet held for the Greek pageant took place Monday at the Curling club, and yesterday at the Spalding hotel ball room, when each set completed its own particular dance.

The largest and one of the most popular "units," as the parts of the pageant will be called, is the "Dance of the Naiads," or "Water Sprites." This unit will number nearly fifty, and will dance out the Greek idea of spirits of the water, as daughters of Neptune, frolicking in the ocean depths and inhabiting rivulets and brooks.

The other symbolic dances will include:

a. The Dance of the Nymph or worshippers of Diana .....
b. The Dance of Ceres, Goddess of the Grains .....
c. The Dance of the Shepherdesses of Juno .....
d. The Dance of the Horae, or Votaries of Minerva .....
e. The Dance of the Graces, or Daughters of Venus .....
f. The Procession of the Vestal Virgins, worshippers of Vesta.....

Will Interpret Song.

Interpreting the "Springtime of Arditi," a wonderful song written for Mme. Melba, will be the Dance of the Naiads. For this the selections are the following:

Mary Wall, leader,

The club box parties, which will display their insignia and colors in the box-decorations, are growing in numbers daily. The Twentieth Century club, the Saturday club, the Lester Park Literary club, and the West Duluth Study class will have boxes or blocks of seats. The Woman's Suffrage organization has taken a box, in "Box-row," and will display its colors. The state president, Mrs. Ueland, and officers will occupy this box. The Norrocna club will occupy a whole section, in honor of Miss Alice Sjoselius, the soloist of the pageant.

The matinee and night performances of the pageant are both on Friday, Sept. 24. The matinee curtain will rise at 3:30 o'clock. The Boy Scouts and all children's organizations in the city will have blocks of reserved seats.

Eastlund-Severance Wedding.

Miss Clara Eastlund of Radisson, Wis., and James Alexander Severance were married last evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Howell, 5436 Tioga street. Rev. J. H. Frarey of Blackduck, Minn., performed the ceremony in the presence of the family and intimate friends.

Miss Eva Howell, sister of the bridegroom, was the bridesmaid; Miss Lucille McNally was the flower girl; Leslie Edwards was the best man, and John Howell Thompson was the ringbearer. Miss Pauline Woods of Superior, Wis., played the nuptial music. Miss Ellen Davies sang "Hearts and Flowers" during the ceremony, followed by "I Love You Truly."

The bride was gowned in a white embroidered marquisette gown over white silk. Her tulle veil was fastened with lilies of the valley and her flowers were a shower bouquet of Bride roses and lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaid wore pink crepe de chine with cream lace overdress and carried an arm bouquet of Killarney roses. The flower girl was dressed in white net and carried a basket of roses from which she scattered petals. The ring-bearer wore white.

Asters and sweet peas were the decorations in the living room and dining room and baskets of golden glow were used in the reception hall and sun parlor. The bridal party stood under a canopy of ferns and pink and white sweet peas.

Assisting in the dining room were Miss Mary McCrea, Miss Ellen Johnson, Miss Helen Lind and Miss Helen Wharton at the punch bowl.

The out-of-town guests were: Rev. J. H. Frarey and Mrs. Frarey of Blackduck, Minn.; Miss Ida Eastlund, sister of the bride, Radisson, Wis., and Miss Frances Wahl of Baldwin, Wis., cousin of the bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Severance have gone to the southern part of the state for a trip and will be at home after Oct. 1 at 1117 East Ninth street.

Head of State Suffragists Speaks to Duluth Women

MRS. ANDREAS UELAND.

Mrs. Andreas Ueland, president of the Minnesota Woman Suffrage association, spoke yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the local suffrage association, which was held in the library club room. She spoke of the state suffrage convention which will be held in St. Paul, Oct. 7, 8 and 9, told of how the Minnesota suffragists are helping in the campaign states and sketched the plans for the suffrage meetings, which will be held in Duluth next week by the Minnesota Suffrage association and the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage.

State Convention.

The state convention will last three days this year instead of two days as previously. Mrs. Albion Fellows Bacon of Evansville, Ind., the Indiana housing expert, will be the principal speaker and Mrs. Jessie Benton MacKaye will represent the Congressional union.

"Several years ago when Mrs. Bacon spoke in Minneapolis she was not exactly sure of suffrage, she relied somewhat on indirect influences," Mrs. Ueland said yesterday. "Mrs. Bacon got her housing bill through the Indiana legislature, but she came out an ardent suffragist, as she thought it was not worth while to work under such disadvantages as she was under to get the bill through."

Mrs. Bacon, who was the author and leading advocate of the tenement law which was enacted in 1909, has written booklets on "What Bad Housing Means to the Community," and "The Awakening of a State." She is a sister of Annie Fellows Johnson, the author of the "Little Colonel" books.

In addition to the business session of the convention there will be an automobile trip Thursday, Oct. 7, a mass meeting that night at which Mrs. Bacon will be the principal speaker, and a banquet Friday evening, Oct. 8. The St. Paul hotel will be the headquarters but St. Paul suffragists will entertain all delegates. The address of welcome will be given by Mrs. Charles P. Noyes and the response will be made by Mrs. W. W. Lawrence, president of the Duluth suffrage organization.

Thirteen Delegates.

The local association is entitled to thirteen delegates. Those who can attend the convention as delegates are asked to notify Mrs. Lawrence.

"Suffrage is bound to come," Mrs. Ueland said yesterday. "In practically half the territory of this country women are politically free. There are eleven states in which women have full franchise, one state with presidential and municipal suffrage, one territory with full suffrage and twenty states with full suffrage.

"Suffrage will be voted on in four Eastern states in a few weeks. The New York women are very hopeful. It is an indignity that American-born women of New York have to ask foreigners and ignorant persons, 'Are you willing that we should vote?'

"The antis say that equal suffrage does not help child labor problems, yet Owen Lovejoy, secretary of the child labor commission, is giving six weeks of his time lecturing for it because he thinks strongly that women can help child labor laws.

Minnesota's Share.

"The Minnesota suffrage organization is paying the salary and expenses of the state organizer, Mrs. James McMahon, who is helping the New York women in their campaign, Miss Josephine Schain of Minneapolis is devoting September and October to the cause in New York and Mrs. David F. Simpson, president of the Minneapolis Suffrage association, will speak during October in that state. We sent $400 to New Jersey as the result of our melting pot party. Suffrage will be voted on in New Jersey, Oct. 19.

"In the East ministers of various denominations are preaching for suffrage.

"Women must get ready for larger participation in public life. Woman's duty is not done when she keeps her home well and looks after her own children. In this complex modern life no one lives to himself alone, and women must learn to face the responsibilities and duties of citizenship."

Plans were outlined for the suffrage talks which will be given Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoon of next week at the headquarters, 205 West Superior street. Tea will be served each afternoon at 5 o'clock when members of the local association will be hostesses. Mrs. Ueland, Mrs. Gertrude Hunter and Mrs. MacKaye, all of Minneapolis, will speak at the 5 o'clock meetings and at street meetings.

Mrs. Lawrence read a recently published list of reasons why Elihu Root can never be president. "Elihu Root is not the kind of man the suffragists care to have linked with their cause," she said.

Mrs. Lawrence extended to the members of the suffrage association an invitation from Mrs. E. Frank Barker of 2401 Lake avenue south to a tea talk Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Barker will speak on "Famous Women of Japan."

Mrs. Lawrence will assist Mrs. Barker in receiving. Misses Eloise Lawrence, Theresa Fiebiger and Katherine Thwing will act as Japanese maids, and little Edward and Lloyd Hostatter will be the pages.

Dinner Party.

E. P. Alexander entertained at a dinner party at the Spalding hotel last evening in honor of the Misses Cullen. Covers were laid for four.

Meeting at the Bethel.

Miss Jessie E. Mauck, superintendent of the Bethel home, will speak at the women's meeting which will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Bethel. A social half hour will conclude the afternoon. All women are cordially invited to attend.

Musical Program at Country Club.

The musical program which was postponed from last week will be given this evening at the Northland Country club dinner-dance. Miss Perie Reynolds and Edward Scriven, with Miss Jeannette Wellbanks as accompanist, will give solos and with La Brosse's orchestra accompanying will give several duets.

Church Meetings.

The annual harvest home supper of Glen Avon Presbyterian church will be served Friday evening from 6 to 7 o'clock in the church parlors. There will be an outdoor exhibit of flowers and vegetables from the gardens of the community, if the weather permits. Later in the evening the flowers and vegetables will be sold. The community supper has become an important part of the activities of Woodland residents.

HEAVY FROST BACK OF HILL

There was heavy frost in Duluth and vicinity last night, and while it is not believed that very great damage was done, owing to the advanced growth of vegetation, there was some chance of damage to potatoes and sweet corn. However, most of these back of the hill were damaged in the frost of a few weeks ago and practically ruined; and it is believed that not much was left for the frost of last night. The growth of produce on the face of the hill was not believed to be much damaged as the lake winds modified it enough and the temperature dropped to only 36 deg. in Duluth.

Back of the hill it got much lower, for at the Jean Duluth farm, for instance, ice formed on water left out of doors.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Effects of Petty Larceny.

Whenever I see one carelessly help himself to a bit of candy or fruit, a cracker or other tempting morsel lying about promiscuously in a store, I am reminded of the little boy, who, seeing his father pick an apple from the basket at the grocer's concluded that this must be within the right of everyone. On his next visit to the store he helped himself to a box of candy, without being seen, and very innocently and unblushingly informed his father that he took them from the store.

Of course this youngster was punished by the father for what he called thievery. The mother was shocked that a son of hers should thus early display such tendencies and was horrified at his indifference. The child was not defiant; apparently he was not able to apprehend that there was any wrong in so simple a thing as bringing home a box of candy from the store without so much as "by your leave."

The youth appealed in this light to his parents who were perturbed by a sense that there was something they had not brought to light that accounted for their little son's indifference. The explanation all came out in time for these parents were interested enough to dig for the truth, but might not the thieving habits of many young offenders be directly traceable to seeing older persons purloin small odds and ends in stores where food supplies are sold?

For many people count themselves strictly honest and the superiors in integrity of the people with whom they trade but who pilfer continually on a small scale. They are honest but they have a tendency to hold this honesty in reserve for special or great occasions instead of applying it to the affairs of everyday life. Such people are all but incapable of recognizing that the theft of a cracker or an apple is as fundamentally dishonest as the carrying away of a five-pound bag of sugar or a half dozen eggs without first paying or contracting to pay for them.

The child begins by thinking there is no harm in picking up a few cranberries. Later his own experience teaches him that it is wrong. However, it is then but an easy step to steal things when a back is turned and dangerous because the first step has already prepared the way for the greater evil.

THE EXPOSED QUACK NEVER COMES BACK.

The people of the United States desire above all things a constructive government. * * * The Republican party, which was born to this end, * * * became great in accomplishing this purpose.—Chicago Tribune.

And then the Tribune, declaring that an opportunity presents itself to the Republican party to regain its power, bemoans the fact that the party is behaving itself so far from the way it should to realize this chance.

The Republican party was born out of the economic rivalry between the North and the South, an issue tinged with moral elements by the slavery question.

Under its leadership the people crushed the rebellion and abolished slavery. Abandoned to its own resources, the task for which it was created by the people done, the Republican party became guilty of the atrocities of Reconstruction, and then lived for forty glorious years on its tariff panacea.

"Tax the people to build up industries," it said, "and everybody will prosper." So it went on administering the tariff stimulant, and the country, out of its enormous natural resources mainly and only in part because of the tariff stimulant, waxed rich and great and feverishly prosperous, though subject at lessening intervals to sharp setbacks with long, slow and painful convalescences.

Meanwhile tariff-fed industries grew great and powerful. They dominated the Republican party, and so the nation. Then, finally, the people discovered that though the Republican tariff dope was powerfully stimulating, its reaction, like that of any powerful stimulant, was serious, and would be fatal if the habit were not broken. A weakening of civic fiber, illustrated by widespread corruption, went far, but not too far. For in 1912 the people rejected the quack doctor and changed their medicine.

The reason the Republican party shows no signs of coming back is that those who give what life there is left in it have no idea but to advertise again the discredited virtues of the old tariff cure-all.

Not so very long ago a widely advertised patent medicine achieved a vast sale. People took it, and shortly thereafter, feeling a glow of well-being and jubilance, declared: "Why, I feel better already! That's great medicine!" Then, after awhile, they discovered that what made them feel that way was alcohol, that their sensations constituted a mild intoxication, and that deadly injury was being done to their weak spots. So all but those who really wanted alcoholic stimulation quit using this dope.

So it is with the Republican party and its exploded tariff nostrum.

The party has a great history, and thousands of splendid citizens still nominally belong to it. But there is no field, when the country's need of a constructive government is being met by Wilson and the currency law, the new anti-trust laws and the new tariff law, for a party which can only hark back to an exploded, discredited and repudiated quack remedy.

If the Republican party is to come into its own again, even as a respectable minority party, it must bring itself up to date and invent a new nostrum.

Can't some way be found to torpedo that municipal court disgrace, either with or without warning?

RAILROAD STOCK REGULATION.

It is said that President Wilson will present to congress as an administrative measure in December the proposal to enact a law giving the interstate commerce commission power to regulate the issuance of railroad securities.

If this is so—and it comes from credible sources—there should be little or no doubt that the measure will go through. There can, indeed, be little respectable opposition to it.

And when it does go through it will be one of the most effective and far-reaching steps in the gradual process of reducing the great transportation agencies to their proper level as servants of the people.

Indeed, so fundamental is this function of stock regulation that the mystery of it is that it did not become law long ago. It ought to become law now with the support and sanction of every honest railroad official.

If it does become law, every issue of stock or bonds hereafter will be made only for legitimate purposes, and the proceeds of its sale will be used exclusively for the purpose to which it was dedicated. It will be the duty of the interstate commerce commission not only to limit security issues to legitimate purposes, but to see that the money realized from the marketing of these securities is not wasted or stolen.

No step more certain than this to lift from the American railroad system the burden and shame of stock market rigging could be imagined.

It will be in the interest of the public, because hereafter there will be no watered securities to demand dividends upon.

It will be in the interest of investors, because hereafter the market will not be flooded with securities issued by private plunderers who manipulate railroads for personal profit and without regard to public or stockholders.

It will help solve the rate problem, and it will give railroad securities a sounder standing in the world's markets than they have ever had before.

What would a lot of Philadelphia, Chicago and other place inhabitants give for a little of Duluth's coolness?

THE CURTAIN CAN'T DROP TOO SOON.

The farce-comedy of the municipal court judgeship begins to pall, and Duluth is deeply indebted to Governor Hammond for taking a step that opens a way to an early and final settlement of the dispute in court. Moreover, in making his appointment he chose the man that Duluth manifestly wants in the place, and who would be overwhelmingly elected if the issue were put up to the voters today.

The spectacle of a judgeship fought over as street arabs might squabble over a nickel in the gutter isn't pleasant, and the curtain can't be rung down on it too soon.

Presently Duluth may be saying "A plague on both your houses" and that would be grossly unfair to Judge Smallwood.

People occasionally announce their intention of "summering" or "wintering" here or there, but oddly enough they never say they will "fall" or "spring" in any place in particular.

THE WAR ON THIS SIDE.

The billion-dollar loan sought in this country by the allies seems likely to become the occasion for a new rehearsal of the European struggle by partisans in this country; which ought not to be because this is simply a business proposition that should be considered and decided solely on a business basis.

One thing ought to be made clear: it cannot be argued that it will particularly facilitate the purchase of ammunition by the allies in this country, because this they must buy here whatever financial arrangements are made. That is to say, they will buy just as much ammunition here if the loan falls through as they will if it is floated; though its flotation will simplify collection of their bills by ammunition makers.

On the other hand, while there may be a good deal of bluff in the threat not to buy food supplies here unless the loan is floated, men like James J. Hill and others interested in marketing our surplus grain crop seem pretty well convinced that the successful marketing of the crop depends on floating the loan. If they are correct, undoubtedly the loan will be floated.

Does that American aviator who married in one of the belligerent countries think he is observing strict neutrality?

REPELLING FOREIGN TRADE.

From time to time the Consular Reports contain evidences that American business men, despite their abounding success at home, are as yet far from being in a way to gain the foreign trade they covet but do little to gain.

As Special Agent Garrard Harris in a current Consular Report very mildly puts it, "American merchants have yet many little points to learn as to the best way to deal with business houses in Central America." Which, when you hear the story he has to tell, will seem like putting it very mildly indeed. "Personality," he adds, "plays an important part in business in the countries to the south of us, and manifestations of friendly interest often serve to cement the bonds of business relations." Every successful merchant in the United States knows this, and observes it in his home trade; yet somehow he seems to expect to get foreign business without paying any attention to it. Here is the illuminating story Special Agent Harris has to tell.

Last May a fire burned a large area in Colon, Panama, including many business houses. A short time later, when the news had had time to get to America and Europe, a business man of Colon received two letters in the same mail, one from a firm in England, the other from an American concern. Here is what the English firm had to say:

> We have many trading friends in the city of Colon, and we are anxiously awaiting news to hear that none of them have suffered from the fire. We realize full well that business cannot be very brisk on the Isthmus, and that this fire, coming along at this time, must make matters very awkward for people in the city of Panama. We wish to take the opportunity of expressing our sincere regret at the disaster. Of course the burdens of the present situation in Europe are falling heavily on all of us, but we are meeting the situation. Give yourself no occasion for worry at the state of your account. We know how conditions are. Send on your orders and they will be filled as usual and upon the usual credit terms.

And here is the letter that came from the American firm:

> Dear Sir: Owing to war conditions we are compelled to curtail our lines of credit, and the terms in future will be, etc.

What country is going to get that man's trade, and the trade of his friends, hereafter?

These rifle clubs will be all right so long as nobody turns them into debating clubs, with the same equipment.

A Faribault man failed to show up at his own wedding—which proves he knew how to get at least passing mention in accounts of the occasion.

The Green Bay Press-Gazette says the leaves will soon begin to blush to think how green they've been all summer. More likely they'll blush from the knowledge that they've been in shady business.

A Sensible Parent.

"The capacity to endure and the ability to do without will forever remain the essential conditions of achievement."—Rev. Father John A. Ryan.

How to teach children the value of money and its proper use is one of the difficult but important task of the parent.

One father in a Western city has worked out his problem in a satisfactory manner as it relates to his 11-year-old son. He tells of the plan in this way:

"Our home is in the suburbs where we can have a good-sized garden. This summer I made an arrangement whereby he was to have half of all the money received from the sale of whatever vegetables we raised beyond the needs of our own family.

"At first I hesitated about turning the boy loose upon the neighbors to solicit their orders, but when they began to telephone to us of their own accord for fresh peas, beans, etc., I made up my mind that we were really doing the people a favor in supplying them with fresh vegetables at a moderate price.

"From peas alone, we took in about $16 in this way. George got $8 of that. And there is a further understanding between us that he must save half of all he earns. The boy sticks faithfully to this plan, keeping the money in a little metal bank until there is enough to take to the savings bank.

"He can do what he likes with the other half of his share of the money. I am glad to say that he uses it for sensible purposes. He saved enough in this way to buy a bicycle, which in turn he uses to extend the scope of his operations as agent for the Saturday Evening Post and Ladies' Home Journal.

"It is a more difficult proposition for a little girl to earn money. But I give my daughter an allowance and she must save half of that. She also can do anything she wants to do with the other half. But, like her brother, she usually saves it for a definite purpose. She has just bought a little kodak with the accumulations of several months and any expense that will arise in the way of buying films, paying for the developing, printing, mounting, etc., of the photographs will likewise come out of that half of her allowance.

"The result of this is that my children are learning to know the value of money and its earning power when properly used."

Another parent who heard this story agreed that it was a good plan, but thought that care should be taken not to let the children get too mercenary, that it would be a mistake to let them think that they must be paid for every service they render. And this is right. Learning business principles is not incompatible with the development of a kindly and helpful spirit, and the child should be made to realize it.

T. D MacGREGOR.

Take Time to Live

Country Gentleman: When I was a little girl I was always sent to an aunt's home to stay when an epidemic of measles, scarlet fever, mumps or chickenpox broke out in our family. As there were six of us we had frequent attacks of these dreaded diseases, so I was sent often to abide at my relative's home.

Everyone thought I enjoyed those jaunts, but I didn't. I couldn't have told you at that time why I didnt. I wasn't old enough to comprehend the reason why, nor had I lived long enough to understand the joy of living. Aunt Mary had children of her own and a daughter of my age, but in spite of all this I never had a really good time at a visit at Aunt Mary's no matter what length it was.

As I have grown older and watched people more I have been able to put my finger right on Aunt Mary's characteristic trait. She is simply too efficient or too executive to be confined within the four walls of a home.

As a friend just said to me: "Your aunt is certainly a wonderful woman, but instead of a housekeeper she should have been a general in the army or manager of a department store."

That expresses it exactly. Aunt Mary is a veritable general in her home. She manages everything, everybody and everybody's affairs. She is so busy being efficient and executive that she isn't taking time to live and to enjoy the things about her.

When you are visiting in Aunt Mary's home you have a feeling that you mustn't sit down until Aunt Mary sits down, that so long as there is a dish to wash or a spoon to wipe you must stand round with a dish towel in your hand, else you will have a guilty feeling that will prevent you from enjoying your newly arrived, waiting-to-be-read magazine. Relaxation is an unknown thing in Aunt Mary's household.

All for Fifteen Shillings!

Tit-Bits: Recently there appeared in a London newspaper an advertisement for an experienced insurance clerk, wages 15 shillings a week. The advertiser got a lot of sarcastic letters, like the following, and he deserved them, too:

> Dear Sir—I would respectfully apply for the position you offer. I am an expert in insurance in all its branches. In addition, I converse fluently in Gum Arabic, Gorgonzola, Zola and Billingsgate. I write shorthand, long hand, left hand and right hand. I can supply my own typewriter if necessary, and I may mention that I typewrite half an hour in ten minutes—the record for Great Britain. I would be willing also to let you have the services, gratis, of my large family of boys, and, if agreeable to you, my wife would be pleased to clean your office regularly without extra charge. The cost of postage can be deducted from my salary. Please note that if you have a backyard I would make bricks in my spare time.

"As Ye Would."

If I should see
A brother languishing in sore distress,
And I should turn and leave him comfortless,
When I might be
A messenger of hope and happiness—
How could I ask to have what I denied
In my own hour of bitterness supplied?

If I might share
A brother's load along the dusty way,
And I should turn and walk alone that day,
How could I dare,
When in the evening watch I knelt to pray,
To ask for help to bear my pain and loss,
If I heeded not my brother's cross?

If I might sing
A little song to cheer a fainting heart,
And I should seal my lips and sit apart,
When I might bring
A bit of sunshine for life's ache and smart—
How could I hope to have my grief relieved,
If I kept silent when my brother grieved?

And so I know
That day is lost wherein I fail to lend
A helping hand to some wayfaring friend;
But if it show
A burden lightening by the cheer I sent,
Then do I hold the golden hours well spent,
And lay me down to sleep in sweet content.

"I—I've forgot, miss," whispered Tommy, contritely.

Enemies Within the Gates

Editorial in the Chicago Tribune.

It would be a sorry fact if American public judgment could be shaped by the views expressed most conspicuously at the convention of the Friends of Peace, just adjourned. The proceedings of the convention were directed by two influences, that of a characteristically gullible, though sincere, pacifism and that of foreign nationalism.

Of the first influence there is little to be said. The other influence, that of foreign nationalism, is a matter, for the time being at least, more serious and more sinister. For the movement to affect American opinion favorably toward the Germanic allies, apart from some of its methods and expressions, Americans who are not blindly partisan must have a good deal of sympathy. It is entirely legitimate and entirely desirable that the German case should be stated as fully as possible in the United States.

But more than this may be said on behalf of the pro-German propaganda. The suddenness of the war's outbreak, the diplomacy immediately preceding, and the invasion of Belgium raised a tidal wave of hostility against Germany throughout the country. The press was almost unanimous in its violent, sweeping, and conclusive condemnation. For a brief time German-American opinion was stunned, but then came the inevitable protest. Where the judgment was most extreme, most palpably partisan, in New York, there was a desperate attempt to counteract its effect and there, where pro-ally partisanship is still most unbalanced and extreme, an organized counter movement on behalf of the German cause had its rise. That it has been in some of its phases violent, ill conceived, and from a single-minded American point of view extremely offensive, has been pointed out before and has been openly deplored by the more rational and loyal German-Americans. An organization whose purpose it is to force political action restricting free American industry in order to benefit a European power is not merely un-American but anti-American. It is an invasion of American rights. Its members are not acting as Americans. They forfeit the right to be heard as Americans, and they injure their own cause.

But the American public, however it resents and will vigorously oppose all organized efforts to impose European issues upon our politics and our policies, will be careful not to ignore the fact that there is also a powerful current of influence which seeks to shape our policies favorably to Great Britain.

Hyphenated Americanism is as pernicious in the form of Anglomania as in its extreme Teutonic manifestation. Inevitably there is moral judgment among Americans in favor of the allies as there is to a lesser extent in favor of the German side. The ties of language, of common culture; of literature, tradition, social custom, law and institutions, the impalpable but all potent bond which Lord Haldane has described in the German word sittlichkeit, all this makes for a strong pro-English feeling. But this and unbiased moral judgment upon such facts of the European catastrophe as are available to Americans should be sharply distinguished by fair American opinion from pro-Britishism based upon the intermarriage and social intercourse of rich Americans and upon the expediencies of profitable financial relations with the English.

The extremists of both sides are not thinking, feeling, or acting in terms of America. But the effect of turning public wrath upon one class of offenders while condoning or ignoring the attitude and activities of the other must be and has been to alienate many even of the more considerate and loyal Americans of German blood.

It is intolerable that this evil of foreign nationalism, which existed before the war and has been blown into hotter flame by the winds of that great disaster, should burn into our domestic peace and leave deep wounds for years to heal. Petty politicians, exploiters of alienism for money, and economic and social conditions tending to herd newcomers according to race have conspired to retard and in some measure defeat the natural process of fusion. This presents a problem the full gravity of which it took the war to impress upon us. Now let us face it and solve it.

If immigration has far outstripped the assimilative capacity of the republic, it should cease for a time. We have welcomed all peoples to our house, but not to bring discord. The jealousies and distrusts, the ancient rivalries, the allegiances of the world they left have no place here.

What the republic needs at this moment is a rebirth of single-hearted Americanism. We need it now. We shall need it in the trying and critical years that lie before us. The republic never has been confronted by questions of domestic and of international policy more vital to its present welfare and its future progress. Are we to meet them with a divided house? Are we to have our counsels darkened by alien issues? Are we to be a contentious mob or a nation working out loyally and determinedly its own destiny?

How Should We Prepare?

Charles W. Eliot in the North American Review: The limits of preparedness, however broad or narrow, ought to be determined by both of two different needs: first, the need for a limited aggressive strength, and, secondly, the need for a defensive strength, limited, but capable of sudden effective expansion.

Just how much aggressive strength the United States will hereafter need depends on the issue of the present European struggle. If Germany comes out of the war holding Belgium, maintaining her complete military organization, and both free and able to enlarge her navy, the United States, in defense of her own rights and of the rights of all the free nations of the world, will need to join the alliance which has been holding Germany in check, though thus far unable to defeat her. In joining that alliance, the United States will wish to furnish such a quota of vessels, men and munitions as will be suitable for a rich nation 100,000,000 strong, and united in adherence to fixed standards of public and private liberty, truthfulness and justice. If, on the other hand, the entente nations succeed in defeating the German undertakings in the present war, or in bringing the contest to a stalemate, there will probably result an international league for the prevention of war, in which the United States will wish to take part, if requested by the entente belligerents to do so. In that case this country must be prepared to furnish whatever quota the international council or commission, created by treaty for the prevention of war, asks of us. The quota of the United States in the second case would, of course, be smaller than in the first, and might be chiefly naval; but, in either case, the quota should be of the best possible quality in all respects —vessels, artillery, munitions, submarines, aeroplanes, automobiles, hospital equipment, and all kinds of military and naval supplies.

Therefore, the United States should now put itself in condition to produce rapidly all these implements of war, should acquire a considerable stock of them all, and should train some moderate number of men—like 50,000 in the navy and 100,000 in the army—to use them with skill and thorough efficiency.

Encouraging.

Topeka Journal: "Here, my dear," said the husband, producing his purse, "here's $50 I won playing cards in the smoking room last night. You may have it to buy that dress you wanted."

Reluctantly the conscientious wife took the money, then said, with an expression of rigid rectitude:

"I simply shudder at the thought of using money gained in such a way. Henry, promise me that after you have won enough for me to buy the hat to go with the dress you will never again touch those awful cards. I don't want my husband to become a gambler."

Calumet News: The hunting season of 1915, just a few days old, has two accidental deaths to its discredit, indicating that people are just as heedless as ever, notwithstanding countless frightful warnings to be careful.

In Defense of Indiana.

Marquette Mining Journal: At least, Indiana wants to be decent. As much cannot be said of states in which similar corrupt conditions exist, but where there is no apparent disposition to bring the crooks to account. Critics who moralize about "the shame of Indiana" should remember that there is no dishonor in an honest effort to clean the rascals out.

An Ancient Gaelic Bard.

The man was come like a shadow
From the shadow of Druid trees,
Where Usk, with mighty murmurings,
Past Caerleon of the fallen kings,
Goes out to ghostly seas.

Last of a race in ruin—
He spoke the speech of the Gaels;
Her kin were in holy Ireland
Or up in the crags of Wales.

His soul stood with his mother's folk,
That were of the rain wrapt isle
Where Patrick and Brendan westerly
Looked out at last on a landless sea
And the sun's last smile.

His harp was carved and cunning
As the Celtic craftsman makes,
Graven all over with twisting shapes
Like many headless snakes.

His harp was carved and cunning,
His sword prompt and sharp,
And he was gay when he held the sword;
Sad when he held the harp.

For the great Gaels of Ireland
Are the men that God made mad,
For all their wars are merry,
And all their songs are sad.

He kept the Roman order;
He made the Christian sign;
But his eyes grew often blind and bright,
And the sea that rose in the rocks at night,
Rose to his head like wine.

Winning Wealth By Service.

Dr. Scott Nearing: All men must finally learn the immorality and practical inexpediency of seeking to acquire wealth by winning it from another rather than by earning it by some sort of service to one's fellow men.

Twenty Years Ago

From The Herald of this date, 1895.

At the meeting of the Federated Trades assembly last night, Otto C. Sturm of the Plumbers' and Gas Fitters' union and William Anderson of the Bricklayers' union were admitted as members. James Sterick, formerly financial secretary of the assembly, is going to Tennessee to live, and resolutions in appreciation of his work were adopted.

The Great Northern Railway company and James J. Hill, its president, have won the first round in the contest begun by Thomas W. Pearsall in his application for an injunction against the proposed consolidation of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railroads. Judge Sanborn of the United States circuit court yesterday handed down a decision denying Pearsall's motion. The case will now be tried on its merits, but Judge Sanborn indicates in his decision that the consolidation plan may be carried out.

Rev. Oscar C. Helming has arrived from Vermont and will begin work at Plymouth Congregational church, West Duluth, tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. D. McCall and daughter of West Duluth have returned from California.

Mrs. M. A. Logan, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. C. W. Stewart, at West Duluth, left yesterday for her home at Sheiden, Iowa.

Last evening Mrs. William D. Jones gave an informal dancing party in honor of Dr. and Mrs. F. L. Wright, who will leave soon for Calcutta, India.

Charlie Sing Lee, the Chinese merchant, left last night for a visit to his old home in China, where he will remain about eight months.

Miss Wishart, deputy to Clerk Pressnell of the United States court, has gone to St. Paul for a week's visit.

Ex-Senator Dwight M. Sabin arrived in the city yesterday from Stillwater, but will make only a short stay in order to settle some business matters.

Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Rice of Salt Lake City are visiting friends in Duluth.

The Violet.

Thou tellest truths unspoken yet by man,
By this thy lonely home and modest look;
For he has not the eyes such truth to scan,
Nor learns to read from such a lowly book.
With him it is not life firm-fixed to grow
Beneath the outspreading oaks and rising pines,
Content this humble lot of thine to know,
The nearest neighbor of the creeping vines;
Without fixed root he cannot trust like thee
The rain will know the appointed hour to fall,
But fears lest sun or shower may hurtful be,
And would delay or speed them with his call;
Nor trust like thee, when wintry winds blow cold,
Whose shrinking form the withered leaves enfold.

—Jones Very.

Grant, Almighty God, that as we cannot look for temporal or eternal happiness except through Christ alone, and as Thou settest Him forth to us as the only true fountain of all blessings—O grant that we, being content with the favor offered to us through Him, may learn to renounce the whole world, and so strive against all unbelief that we may not doubt that Thou wilt ever be our kind and gracious Father, and fully supply whatever is necessary for our support; and may we at the same time live soberly and temperately so that we may not be under the power of earthly things, but with our hearts raised above, aspire after this heavenly bliss to which Thou invitest us, and to which Thou also guidest us by such helps as are earthly, so that being really united to our Head we may at length reach that glory which has been procured for us by His own blood. Amen.—C. E. Edwards.

Over-Eating.

Omaha World-Herald: Surgeon General Rupert Blue of the United States public health service recently gave out a statement in which he said: "Ten years could be added to the life of every man and woman in the United States if the public health service had the powers of a dictator." When incredulity was expressed he added: "There is nothing extraordinary about that. Already by controlling the infectious diseases of children and by a better knowledge of hygiene, we have increased the average of human life in this country by twelve years, according to some authorities, and if we could secure the proper co-operation, and had the laws and money, we could add another ten years."

The large number of premature deaths after reaching the age of 40 is attributed to over-eating and the lack of fresh air and exercise. That well-to-do people eat enormous quantities of food will be impressed upon the mind of any man who enters any of the fashionable restaurants, and this over-eating hastens the hardening of the arteries, which brings on decrepitude and death. Dr. Blue gives the amount of food a man should eat for each day of one week. If this list is his idea of a reasonable food consumption, what must be the amount consumed by the over-eaters? The following is his prescription for one day:

> Breakfast—One pint of coffee, six ounces of bread, one-half ounce of butter and six ounces of corned beef hash with potatoes.
> Dinner—One pint of beef soup, six ounces of boiled beef, six ounces of fresh fish, eight ounces of vegetables, four ounces of bread and four ounces of fresh fruit.
> Supper—One pint of tea, six ounces of bread, one-half ounce of butter and four ounces of fresh or stewed fruit.

An active man of nearly 80 years was shown this prescription. He declared that he had never eaten half that amount in one day in all his life. A working man of about 40 looked at the list and said: "In my younger days I might have got outside of that amount of food in one day, but I couldn't do it now." How much do the over-eaters eat, if such a bill of fare as that is considered a reduction?

Bohemian Comment on Dumba.

New York Listy: In the name of our many thousand readers, we herein protest against the outrageous insult committed by Austro-Hungarian Ambassador Dr. K. T. Dumba to the Slavonic people in America, saying that Slavonic workmen in steel industries are uneducated. But, what is more outrageous, Ambassador Dumba is trying to disturb peace between American citizens and intended American citizens of foreign birth against the welfare of their beloved adopted country. All of our readers of Bohemian and Slovak nationalities (many thousands of them) think that it is about time to hand Ambassador Dumba his passport, because he has made himself unfit in this country.

MAYOR PRINCE AND THE GRAND JURY'S REPORT

To the Editor of The Herald:

I noticed in The Herald last night that Mayor Prince was quoted as saying that the criticism by the September grand jury of the auditing of the municipal records "is wholly illogical," and also as accusing the jury of a "lack of acquaintance with the provisions of the municipal court act." In as much as the municipal court is included in the division of public affairs of which Mayor Prince is head, no doubt he feels rather peeved at the grand jury for presuming to criticize his administration of that department, but the mayor cannot be permitted to evade responsibility by accusing the jury of being "illogical" and of being unacquainted with the municipal court act.

If Mayor Prince will read section 9 of the municipal court act, as amended by special laws of Minnesota for 1901, chapter 397, he will find it provided that "the city comptroller shall, on or before the tenth day of each month, examine the books and records of said court, and the report of the said clerk for the month next preceding, and, if, on such examination, he shall find the report correct and that the said clerk shall have paid to the city treasurer all moneys belonging to or to go to the city of Duluth, he shall give to the said clerk a certificate of such examination and payment, which certificate shall be a full release on the part of said city, to said clerk for all claims against him by the said city for the month therein stated."

Does not Mayor Prince, in whose division the municipal court is placed, know that the city auditor (referred to above as the city comptroller) has never given a certificate of examination to the clerk of the court and that he has refused to give such a certificate because he was not satisfied with the records furnished him? If Mayor Prince does not know this, why does he not know it? It is a fact, and if Mayor Prince is looking after the affairs of his division he should have known it.

Again, in 1913, Matteson & McGregor, public accountants, made an audit of the city's accounts, and in their report, a copy of which was placed in the hands of Mayor Prince, they reported a discrepancy of about $140 between the records of the police department and the records of the municipal court. What was done by Mayor Prince, in whose division the municipal court is placed, to investigate this discrepancy and discover whether it was a defalcation or a clerical error? Will Mayor Prince answer? Yours,

Country Doctors and Hospital Doctors

JAMES MACKENZIE, the great English heart specialist, won his fame and ascribes his grasp of heart disease to experience obtained in country practice. As he observes in his work on "Diseases of the Heart," "The investigators in hospital wards and laboratories have little idea of the difficulties the general practitioner has to encounter. • • • The little I have been able to do in this respect (that is, interpreting the symptoms of heart disease) has but opened my eyes to the extraordinarily rich field for investigation that lies before the general practitioner." And Mackenzie is one of the world's authorities in his special subject.

Perhaps the country doctor and the private practitioner of a past generation lacked some of the conveniences and instruments of precision that hospitals and dispensaries supplied for the use of physicians working on their staffs. Today, however, the doctor in the small village has everything his big hospital colleague can boast, both in paraphernalia and scientific literature. Indeed, we think the average country doctor today is more abreast of the times than the average city physician or hospital staff physician. And for this reason: The country practitioner is comparatively more able to devote time and money to post-graduate study and special reading, having less "front" and "appearance" to maintain in competition with his medical neighbors.

People sometimes imagine that because a city physician is connected with a hospital he is therefore an abler man than the country doctor or the private practitioner in town. We know, for we have enjoyed the emoluments accruing from such a position. Yet it is true that the majority of hospital staff appointments are filled by patronage, pull or favoritism in America, rather than by professional competition, as abroad.

The fact that a physician is or is not connected with a hospital is of little or no significance in so far as professional competence is concerned. Some signally unqualified practitioners are serving as physicians and surgeons on hospital staffs—serving without compensation, of course, but simply for what prestige they can get out of it. If the truth were known the "hospital specialist" would have a hard row to hoe. Much of the medical treatment perpetrated in hospitals and dispensaries is a sort of ready-made system of charlatanry or treatment by ear, if we may so describe it. The patient gets a little of Formula No. X so many times a day, and if Formula X doesn't quite meet the indications, why, who should worry?

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Plea From Brown-Haired Woman.

Some time ago you delighted your black-haired readers by giving a formula for a safe hair dye, writes a newspaper woman. Won't you, dear, kind, good doctor, give a formula for dyeing brown hair, too?

Answer—Recipe: Cort. Fruct. Juglandis, two ounces; Gallae Contus, one-half ounce; Sodii Chloratis, one-half ounce; Corticis Aurantii, one ounce; Aquae, one quart. Boil to the consistence of an ointment. Pull hair through cloth saturated with the stuff—and live forever.

SAYS MR. FINNEGAN

"I see by th' papers that some av th' billigarints wants Uncle Sam t' shtake thim t' th' tune av wan billyun sphonduliks," said Finnegan. "Will we be doin' ut for thim, Mr. Regan?"

"So far as ut concirns meslif in person, we will not," replied Mr. Regan. "I am not in favor av ut."

"D' ye t'ink if we done ut would our taxes cost us more?" asked Finnegan.

"Not taxes, as ye understhand thim, but phutiver ye ate, drink, wear or otherwise use would cost ye more," replied Mr. Regan.

"Where would that binifit me an' you?" asked Finnegan.

"Ut would be av no binifit t' us, excipt ut be that 'twould inable th' intinte nations t' lick th' inimy, an' they'll be doin' that annyhow, in my opinion, if ye should ask me, but 'tis a mistake if th' finnanceers linds th' money no matter if they gits securithy or not," replied Mr. Regan.

"Th' felly's ye mintion would not be doin' ut out av th' goodness av heart av thim, would they?" asked Finnegan.

"Not 'til th' arrival av th' millinyum, an' thin some," replied Mr. Regan. "In th' first place they ain't got ut, an' in th secind place they cant git ut wit' out th' help av th' common paypul, an' that manes you, Finnegan—an' me—an' all th' rist av us, an' whin ut comes t' askin' phat binifit t'would be t' us I rapate 'twould be a clamity instid av a binifit."

"I dont folly ye," said Finnegan. "Can ye make ut anny plainer?"

"Mebbe," said Mr. Regan, "at laste, I'll try. 'Tis loike this:

"Th' finnanceers be asked t' supply wan billyum dollars, cash or credit, for certain parties whom we wont mintion. Th' unmintionabils tills thim if they dont cough up they'll go ilsewhere t' make their purchases, which is a bluff pure an' simple, fer they'd done ut befoor this if they could. Th' felly's phuts sellin' thim lives a long ways from here an' no wan here be binnifittin' by thim unless ut be th' horse collar facthory, an' that makes plinty av money annyhow, an' th' loan wont help thim—nor us—not th' new steel plant. Th' only wons 'twill help be th' wans makin' th' ammunitions av war, an' if they be wantin' t' extind credit they can do ut, fer all av me, but they dont want t', so they gits th' money'd intherists interisted an' thin we hear av ut. Wan av our wistern multymillyunares goes flyin' t' Noo York t' till thim t' raise th' money. No doubt he'll offer t' help, an' th' help he'll give will be th' help av th' banks an' thrust companies he's a directhor av, an' which he built up av money daposited in thim by me, Finnegan, an' mebbe by you, Finnegan, an' by our friends, Finnegan, an' that's me manin' whin I say th' finnanceers wants our help in th' matter."

"D' ye mane," asked Finnegan, "that they wants t' take th' money from out th' banks here t' make up th' loan?"

"I mane just that," replied Mr. Regan, "an phut wit' th' banks screwtinizin' collaterals so closely now that ut is sildom wan gits by, an' th' hesitation av thim whin I sind a note t' thim for credit wit' me name on th' back av ut (an' me kaplin' a fat balance wit' thim most av th' year, at that), ut would mane that whin they let go av enough t' help out th' billyun none av us could borry a dollar, an' fer that rason, an' fer manny others, I'm ag'in' ut, strong.

"We want th' money that's here now, Finnegan, kep' here, an' not helpin' out th' sthrong box av some rich man, be he banker or otherwise, who already has his box crowded t' overflowin. Can I make ut anny plainer t' ye, Finnegan?"

"Ye can not," answered Finnegan. "'Tis plain as a pike-staff. I ramimber th' ol' man tillin' me whin I was lavin' home, 'Me b'y,' sez he, 'I've just a word av advice t' offer ye', he sez, 'Beware av short haired wimin an' long haired min,' sez he; an' so far, I've paid sthrict attintion t' thim words."

"'Tis a good axim fer t' folly. I'm doin' th' same meslif," said Mr. Regan.

Strong Drink Blamed in Thirty-Nine Cases; 709 Children Aided.

Four hundred and thirty-eight residents of Duluth were directly helped and 1,179 were involved in the activities of the Duluth Humane society during the last year, according to the report of John G. Ross, agent, made public this afternoon during the annual meeting of the society, which is being held in Memorial hall at the county courthouse. Of this number 709 were children.

Of the poverty, want and abuse found in thirty-nine of the families, the direct cause was strong drink. Thirty arrests were made on complaints and sixteen children were found to be living in immoral surroundings. There were seventy-two cases of destitution, twenty-nine men deserted their wives and children, thirty-six families were subjected to abuse by either the father or the mother, and 105 cases required medical attention.

Thirty-eight young girls were involved in the work of the society, while the number of boys' cases was but ten. The boys were easier to handle than the girls, there being only six that were incorrigible, while fifteen girls were declared unruly.

The attention of the agent was directed to the abuse of 659 animals, principally horses.

The report follows:

Relief Work for the Year.

During the last year the society furnished forty-three families with shoes, stockings, underwear and other wearing apparel, these articles being bought out of the relief fund. During the holiday season many other families were supplied with groceries and such necessities by bringing them to the attention of the poor commission, Associated Charities, and charitably inclined persons. In the last year there was paid into the office $1,692.22 for the care and maintenance of children and deserted wives. This money is held in trust by the society, most of it being paid in monthly instalments by order of the court.

EXPLOSIVES FOUND ON THE LAPLAND

Two Bottles Filled With Liquids Discovered on White Star Liner.

New York, Sept. 15.—Two bottles, believed to contain a high explosive, were found late last night on the steamship Lapland, of the White Star line, at her pier in the North river. The Lapland was to sail for Liverpool today. Inspector Owen Egan of the bureau of combustibles, took charge of the bottles.

The Lapland reached New York last Friday from England and had as passengers the commissioners to arrange the Anglo-French loan.

Later Inspector Egan said that from a superficial examination the bottles appeared to contain high explosives. They were of thin glass and resembled dumb bells in shape. There were no corks, and it is believed the bottles were sealed after the liquid had been placed in them. One bottle contained a dark and the other a grayish liquid.

According to Inspector Egan the bottles were so constructed that they would be easily smashed, permitting the liquids to mingle and thus cause an explosion. He added that he thought that even if the bottles did not break in such a manner their contents would cause them to break after several hours.

The alleged explosives were found by a boss stevedore, who was inspecting the cargo at the close of the day's loading operations.

As soon as the police were notified, Capt. Tunney, of the bomb and anarchist squad, with several assistants made an inspection of the ship for possible clues.

NATIONAL GUARD MOUNTED BATTERY

First in United States Being Mustered in at St. Paul.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first mounted battery of the National Guard in the United States, composed of young business men, including members of well-known families in Minneapolis and St. Paul, will be mustered in tonight at the local armory, where equipment valued at $125,000, is assembled for its use.

The maximum strength of the battery, which will be known officially as Battery B, First Field Artillery, M. N. G., and unofficially as the Twin Cities Horse Battery, will be 160. Charles L. Ames of St. Paul is captain, Eugene I. Cowell of Minneapolis and Dr. Wallace Cole of St Paul are first lieutenants, and James K. Edsall of Minneapolis is second lieutenant.

Members of the battery have enlisted for three years, drills will be held at Fort Snelling, and the battery will go to Sparta, Wis., for the annual summer encampment of the National Guard.

Capt. Greene of Fort Snelling, inspector-instructor detailed from the regular army to the Minnesota field artillery, and Sergeant Baird, sergeant-instructor of the First battalion of the Minnesota field artillery, will supervise the instruction of the new battery.

Those directing the organization of the battery said today that when the men have been whipped into shape the battery will take its standing in crack drills with such organizations as the New York Cavalry troop, Battery A of Boston, the Philadelphia City Guard and Troop I of Buffalo.

YOUTH CHARGED WITH DROWNING HIS SISTER

Charleston, Mo., Sept. 15.—Fred Taylor, 19 years old, was arrested at Diehlstadt, Mo., yesterday, charged with drowning his sister, Pearl Taylor, 16 years old. He was placed in jail here to await action of the October grand jury. Pearl Taylor was drowned in Buffalo chute near the Taylor home three weeks ago, and at that time, it was believed her death was accidental.

In jail last night, Taylor told Prosecuting Attorney Hale and Sheriff King that he and his sister were wading in the chute and that the girl tried to catch him. She slipped and fell, he said, and after he had vainly tried to rescue her, he became excited and ran away.

DULUTH MAN IS FOUND DEAD NEAR BUFFALO, MINN.

G. V. Bergman, Former Street Car Conductor, Has Skull Crushed; Feet Tied.

Wright County Authorities Suspect Murder for Revenge or Robbery.

GUSTAVE BERGMAN.

With his skull crushed, feet tied with telephone wire, and his shirt wound around his neck, the body of Gustave Vern Bergman, age 24, former resident of the West end, was found late yesterday near the highway six miles from Buffalo, Minn. The body was found late yesterday according to advices received this morning from A. H. Grant, sheriff of Wright county. It had apparently been lying in the woods for nearly two weeks and was first found by a boy who followed the automobile tracks leading from the highway. The body had been well covered by leaves and brush. The boy immediately notified the authorities and sheriff.

Bergman resided in Duluth for a number of years. He was employed formerly as conductor for the Duluth Street Railway company, leaving its service on Feb. 25, 1914. He also was employed by the Boston Lunch for some time.

It is the opinion of officials of Wright county that the man was murdered. Whether this was done for robbery or revenge the officials are trying to find out. Bergman was operating a jitney bus in Minneapolis but the car has not been located. The sum of $15 in cash, a gold watch, and other valuables were found on the man's clothes.

Bergman left Duluth about six months ago. Early in June he communicated with relatives here saying that he had purchased an automobile and intended operating a jitney bus. According to a story told the police in Minneapolis by W. F. King, Bergman's room mate, the latter had left the city early in August in connection with an advertising proposition.

Postcard From "Mabel."

Among his personal effects found on the body were several letters and postcards bearing the postmark of Cambridge, Minn., and signed "Mabel." It is the opinion of the authorities that Bergman was engaged to this woman. In addition to finding the letters on the body several were found in his room in Minneapolis. The address of the woman is given as Rural Route No. 1, Box 35, Cambridge, Minn.

Bergman made his home while in Duluth at 30 North Eighteenth avenue west. He has five brothers residing in the city, John Eric Bergman, 4032 Halifax street; C. E. Bergman, 3917 West Seventh street; Oscar Bergman, 18 North Twentieth avenue; Otto Bergman, 1606 West Superior street, and Nels Bergman, who is a Midway farmer. He also leaves a sister, Mrs. Edward Kalmady of Chicago, and his parents, residing in Sweden.

His brothers expect to get in touch with the Wright county officials today for the purpose of having the body brought to Duluth for burial. It is expected that the body may reach here either tonight or tomorrow. Funeral arrangements will not be made until after the arrival of the body.

Feared Mysterious Enemy.

According to a dispatch received at 2 o'clock this afternoon from Minneapolis, W. F. King, Bergman's room mate, told the Minneapolis police that Bergman was constantly in fear of some mysterious enemy. The name of this enemy was not divulged by Bergman. King told the police that Bergman had been in fear of this mysterious person while living in Duluth.

Police officials of several counties are now searching for possible clews of the man who committed the murder. Bergman was better known as "Vern" among the drivers of Minneapolis. He left the city on July 15 after obtaining a position traveling through the country.

This noon the police got in communication with Miss Mabel Fredin, 22 years old, Bergman's fiancee, living near Cambridge. She informed the police that she had received a letter from Bergman on Aug. 14 and was very much surprised to hear of his death. They were to have been married within a month.

ATTENDANCE GROWS AT LINCOLN SCHOOL

Enrollment Expected to Set High Record This Year.

A marked increase this year over that of last fall in the enrollment of pupils at the Lincoln school is reported. There were 603 pupils who entered the school on Monday and an additional six pupils entered yesterday. This is within a few of the total enrolled last year.

Miss Franc A. Ensign, principal of the school, says that despite the week's delay in opening the school, every department is running smoothly and the children settled. The school has eighteen rooms well filled with pupils and has a fully equipped manual training department for boys and sewing department for girls.

In anticipation of the opening of the junior high school, a number of pupils of the seventh and eighth grades of other West End school districts have already entered the Lincoln school. The junior high school is to be completed and ready for use by Dec. 1. On the beginning of the second half of the school year, it is expected that more than 300 students of the seventh and eighth grades will enter this institution.

West End Briefs.

Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Morterud, 2626 West Fifth street, returned yesterday from a ten days' visit to the Twin Cities.

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Hanson, 2309 West Third street, will leave tomorrow for a week's visit in the Twin Cities.

Mr. and Mrs. George P. Hanson, 2217 West Third street, will leave the latter part of this week for a visit to points in the southern part of the state.

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Paul's English Lutheran church will hold an outing tomorrow afternoon at Lincoln park.

The ladies of the S. H. & E. F. lodge will entertain this evening at Sloan's hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street. A parcel shower will feature the affair.

The funeral for Russell, the 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. O. Swieh, 318 Devonshire street, who died yesterday, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence with interment in Park Hill cemetery.

GERMANS ADVANCING

In the region west of Klevan, in fights near the village of Oaeszwa, we took over 1,300 prisoners.

"Yesterday, the Russians in the region west of Wyszkewc repulsed the enemy from the adjacent neighborhood. The enemy retreating sustained great losses and was driven out of Postoka village. Up to the present the number of prisoners counted is 20 officers and 2,000 men.

"Our fire checked attempts of the enemy, who, in order to arrest our offensive, made a counter attack in the region of the villages of Gonto and Dykowec, southwest of Wyszkewec. We captured here also about 140 officers and 7,300 men, one heavy and six light guns, four caissons, 26 machine guns and much booty.

"In Galicia we are pursuing the retreating enemy in a westerly direction from the front of the Sereth river.

"In engagements in the region of Juzephowka and Dzwiniacz in the course of Sunday, we captured over 2,700 soldiers and 35 officers and four machine guns.

"From the 30th of August to Sept. 12, the number of Austro-German prisoners taken by us has exceeded 40,000.

"On the Black sea, our torpedo boats cruising in the coal region, have destroyed a big steamer."

Italian Statement.

Rome, Sept. 15, via Paris.—The following statement from the Italian general headquarters dated Sept. 14 was made public last evening:

"Our reconnoitering parties attacked and repulsed strong enemy detachments in positions in the environs of Cimego in the valley of Gudicaria and at Fossernica in the valley of Vanos.

"On the Upper Cordevole the enemy has placed in position a great number of heavy guns with which he has begun to bombard our front from Col Di Toront to Col. Diliana.

"More detailed reports of our offensive on the 11th and 12th in the Piezzo basin show still more the bravery of our troops. Thanks to their determined and unsparing efforts, we were able to wrest several strong positions on the upper ridge of the basin from the enemy who were strongly entrenched, and well provided with every means for defense even most atrocious implements such as asphyxiating bombs and liquid fire.

"Upon the Carso front on the night of the 12th the enemy threw a number of high explosive shells into our line. The rapid intervention of our artillery stopped this bombardment which was not being accompanied by any attempt at attack and was without effect."

French Statement.

Paris, Sept. 15, 2:35 p. m.—The French war office this afternoon gave out a statement on the progress of hostilities which reads:

"In the Artois district, in the sectors of Neuville and Bretoncourt, there has been fighting with hand grenades accompanied by some artillery exchanges. Yesterday saw also engagements with bombs in the vicinity of Lisons, to the west of Chaulnes and in the forest of St. Mard, to the east of Tracy-Le-Val.

"There has been also fairly spirited cannonading to the north of the Camp de Chalons, and fighting with mines is taking place in the western part of the Argonne.

"The night passed without incident on the remainder of the front."

To Dent With Submarines.

The ministry of marine announced today that measures had been taken which would enable the navy to deal with German submarines.

The official statement dealing with this subject was prompted by the activity of submarines off the coast of France, resulting in the sinking of several steamships in the last few days. The ministry states that there is no reason for alarm at the operations of the submarines near the mouths of the Gironde and the Loire.

"All necessary precautions were taken long ago against the aggressions of German submarines," the statement says. "The present naval force near the mouths of the Gironde and Loire will be reinforced if necessary but the measures taken against them in the English channel are so efficacious that they may be expected to be sufficient, and only occasional isolated aggressions are possible."

German Statement.

Berlin, Sept. 15, via London, 3:40 p. m.—The following statement on military operations was issued today by German army headquarters:

"Western theater of war: A French attempt to make an attack on Hartmans-Wellerkopf was prevented by our fire.

"Eastern theater of war: Army group of Field Marshal von Hindenburg: Fighting continues at the bridgehead west of Dvinsk. At Soloki, southwest of Dvinsk, the enemy cavalry was defeated. Enemy counter-attacks on our positions north of the Viliya were repulsed.

"East of Olita and Grodno our attack is making further progress. South of the Niemen we have reached the Szczara river at a few points. About nine hundred prisoners were taken.

"Army group of Prince Leopold of Bavaria: The enemy has been driven back across the Szeczara.

"Army group of Field Marshal von Mackensen: Our pursuit in the direction of Pinsk is continuing. The number of prisoners taken has been increased to more than 700.

"Southeastern theater of war: Enemy attacks have been repulsed with sanguinary losses."

tion at some other place to draw troops away from here and then fire into San Benito. For that reason San Benito will be closely guarded for several days.

Army patrols here or in the immediate neighborhood number three companies of infantry and two troops of cavalry.

The town of Mercedes, about twenty miles from here, has been included in some of the threats against San Benito.

A few days ago a number of strange Mexicans were noticed here. At the same time several old and trusted Mexicans household servants advised their employers to leave because they had heard that the bandits were going to attack.

Yesterday the strange Mexicans disappeared from town. Late in the day many Mexicans with regular employment in the vicinity began to show signs of great uneasiness, some insisting on quitting work. San Benito citizens asked Col. Robert L. Bullard at Harlington for more troops in a hurry call. About dark an army patrol a few miles south of town saw half a dozen Mexicans dash across the road in front of them and hide in the brush. They failed to find the Mexicans. Soon afterward patrols sighted two or three mounted Mexicans in the distance who appeared to be armed. These also disappeared in the brush. Then ranchers began coming into San Benito from nearby farms bringing their families in automobiles. These ranchers reported that the Mexicans in the country were "talking bad" or that they were uneasy about the approach of Mexican independence day, Sept. 16, the celebration of which begins today. Col. Bullard at Harlingen sent the infantry and cavalry to San Benito while Col. A. P. Blocksom at Brownsville ordered out a troop train to bring more infantry here.

Citizens Organized.

San Benito citizens were organized several days ago into a public safety committee and members of this committee were put on guard about town. Capt. Bruno T. Scher of the Twenty-sixth infantry and Maj. David filled ten automobiles with soldiers, stationing them on the main street. The soldiers slept on their arms in the machines, their drivers ready for a dash into the country. Plans were made to commandeer schoolhouses on the outskirts of town and use them as blockhouses. San Benito was kept in a blaze of light. The troop train's headlight threw a glare for miles over the mesquite prairies.

Three Mexican prisoners who were taken on suspicion after the Los Indios fight and who were killed near San Benito Monday night were M. Rincones, A. Bala and Angelo Riviera. They did not escape from jail, as announced last night, but are reported to have tried to escape from the automobile in which they were being taken to Harlingen. The report that they escaped from jail and were shot while in flight was given out by George A. Toolin, secretary of the San Benito Commercial club, who, last week, was chosen by the city commercial bodies as official press representative from San Benito. The fact that Mr. Toolin reported that the Mexicans escaped from jail indicates the characteristic confusion in the reports about the details of Mexican incidents throughout the troubled sections.

The men killed were being transferred to Harlingen because of a demonstration by citizens which caused the placing of a detachment of United States soldiers about the jail to safeguard the prisoners.

Fire on Simon.

Laredo, Tex., Sept. 15.—Mexicans hidden in the brush on the Mexican side last night fired about fifty shots into the little town of Simon, twenty miles up the river from Laredo, and residents deserted the town. Workmen at irrigation pumping plants fled and a hurry call was sent for troops. Cavalry from Dolores was rushed to the scene but no further shots were fired. All cavalry stationed at Fort McIntosh was ordered out to patrol the border in every direction today.

Keep Out of Mexico.

Washington, Sept. 15.—Regarding official advices to Americans to remain out of Mexico, the state department today made the following announcement:

"Owing to disturbed conditions prevailing along the Mexican border the state department repeats the advice heretofore given to American citizens to remain on this side of the international line for the present."

Officials reiterated denials that the announcement had any bearing on the Mexican political situation.

participating in the loan and that panics would be precipitated. No indications of organized opposition, however, have been made apparent here, officials assert.

No protest or communication of any kind regarding the proposed loan has come from the German government, so far as can be learned, and the American government is said to have no present intention of interfering with the efforts of the Anglo-French banking commission.

Not Considered.

Officials in close touch with the administration asserted that the question has not been formally considered, either by President Wilson or Secretary Lansing. They hold the view, that inasmuch as the purpose is to raise the money for purchase of goods in the United States, it is unlikely that the government will interpose objections.

A few communications criticizing the loan reached the state department also, but none was from a representative of any foreign government. The department has taken no action on the communications and indications are that it is unlikely to do so. It was stated on authority that the department has no objection to credit loans.

KOOCHICHING DID WELL.

Northern County Captures Prizes at State Fair.

International Falls, Minn., Sept. 15.—Messrs. Berg and Jewell returned yesterday from St. Paul after having packed this county's state fair exhibit for shipment home. They are jubilant over the fact that despite unfavorable crop conditions Koochiching county won fifth place among northern county exhibits, which is an advance over previous seasons, sixth place being the highest point ever before reached. On the threshed grains and tame grasses Koochiching's standing was second.

Two boys of the county won distinction. In the state school boys' pig contest in the bacon class Oscar Pearson won the first prize, $15 cash, and Oscar Peggar won the second prize of $12 cash. Both boys are residents of the Loman district and their friends and citizens generally are proud of their achievement.

Mrs. Mary Melseter died at her home in Oak Park, aged 71 years. She came here from Germany and had lived in Oak Park fifty years. Her husband died in 1904. She is survived by four daughters.

It Ruins Hair to Wash It With Soap

Soap should be used very sparingly, if at all, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.—Advertisement.

STATE LAND AT AUCTION

Nearly 300 acres of state land lying in the northern part of St. Louis county were sold to seven different people this morning in the county commissioners' room at the courthouse for $2,188.55. The various tracts, which were sold by Oscar Arneson of St. Paul, representative of State Auditor J. A. O. Preus, brought from $5 to $15 an acre.

There were few present at the sale and the buyers present had an easy time picking out the tracts they desired. Mr. Arneson will go from here to Aitkin, where he will conduct a state land sale on Friday and from there will go to Grand Rapids, where he will sell some land on Monday.

The tracts sold this morning, the purchasers and the prices follow:

Margaret Sayer, 3125 Nicollet avenue, Minneapolis, southwest of the northwest, section 16, township 53, range 12. Forty acres at $5 an acre.

Dr. Alfred J. Dean, 206 Andrews building, Minneapolis, lot 4, section 23, township 63, range 13. Fifty-four acres at $15 an acre.

William M. Erickson, 1011 West Fourth street, lot 3, section 6, township 52, range 17. Forty-two acres at $5 an acre.

Many people of the state are waiting for the sale of the 106,000 acres of land in this county which will be sold next year. This land is part of the twenty sections that were involved in the state grant to the Duluth & Iron Range railroad and which was turned back to the state. State cruisers will go onto the land next year and get it in shape to be placed on the market.

BIG SNEEZE CONFERENCE

Colony of Hay Fever Patients Planned for Burntside Lake.

Blear-eyed, red-nosed victims of Col. H. Fever, the mighty crepe-hanger who goes forth scattering gloom each year just when the new mown clover and timothy is basking in the summer sun, will receive with joy the glad tidings that will have a real up-to-date resort where they can annually gather, talk over the history of their respective cases and swap kachoos.

Burntside lake, a beautiful sheet of water that nestles smilingly among the iron ore laden hills in the Ely district, will next summer be the mecca for all hay fever sufferers. This was made known this morning when Dr. Alfred J. Dean, a well known Minnesota physician who has his offices in the Andrews building at Minneapolis, purchased fifty-four acres of land on the shores of Burntside lake, the consideration being $10. The exact description of the land is given as lot 4, section 23, township 63, range 13.

It will be noted by this description that the section carries a skidoo feature and the range is most unlucky. However, hay fever impresarios cannot be over particular as to location figures and they will consequently take a chance.

It is the intention of Dr. Dean to have a real first class resort on the shores of the lake. There will be a main building having spacious porches, a dining hall, general assembly room and the latter will have a large fire place. Lining the shores of the lake on the Dean tract will be private cottages which will be erected at small expense and rented to the patients. These will accommodate from two people up to a large family.

It was known several months ago that a number of Minneapolis physicians were planning on buying state land on the shores of Burntside lake where they intended establishing a hay fever colony each year. It is reported that their intention was to buy the land next year. It may be that Dr. Dean is representing these physicians in his purchase of this morning.

BOX CAR MERCHANTS THING OF THE PAST

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Box car merchants are a thing of the past in Minnesota, according to J. J. Farrell, state dairy and food commissioner. The campaign waged by the department against their activities, Mr. Farrell says, is responsible.

The only nuisance in this line at the present time, he says, is the mail order houses of Chicago, which the department is unable to reach. These concerns take orders, collect the money and then send the goods in by carload lots which are distributed to the purchasers. It is possible that the next legislature will be asked to provide some means of reaching this class of merchandise.

Complaint was made today at the state capitol that the state fair management were encouraging mail order concerns to the extent of permitting the largest of them, located in Chicago, to exhibit at the state fair. The state fair officials say this concern had such an exhibit, but that it was not out of the ordinary.

BARLEY STANDARDS VIOLATE THE LAW

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—F. R. Durand of the Grain Bulletin, published in Minneapolis, was before the state railway and warehouse commission this morning to answer charges that his paper published barley standards which were in violation of the law placing in the hands of the state the fixing of such standards. J. G. McHugh of the chamber of commerce and a number of other grain men were in attendance at the conference.

The meeting was really for the purpose of finding out if such standards were being used and to what extent. Dr. Durand and the grain men, however, denied that such standards were in conflict with the law. They said, because of the absence of dockage, which enters into the fixing of standards for other cereals, the handling of rye was rather difficult, and for the convenience of buyer and seller a method of grading had been established. The commission took the matter under advisement and will probably make a ruling shortly.

Interest in the Duluth style show, which will begin at 2 o'clock next Saturday afternoon and will continue during the first three days of next week, is not confined to Duluth alone. Dealers from outside of the city are looking Duluth-wards and wondering why they cannot have the same sort of thing; for the style show last fall was such a success that they have grown envious.

Today, according to W. B. Brinkman of Gray's, there is a noted American fashion authority in the city, traveling "incog," and who absolutely refuses to talk shop for publication. But, attracted by the notices of the style show, he, this morning, visited several of the large stores that are to take part and inspect them. He was charmed at the idea and delighted with the preparations being made for the window and interior displays. He declares that in view of the progressive spirit of the merchants of the city he does not wonder that Duluth women do not have to go outside of the city to obtain the latest in fashion and material; and on the other hand, he asserted, the fact that Duluth women as a rule are so well groomed and well gowned it is not to be wondered at that the merchants are compelled to be up to the minute to meet the demand. So, he observed, it is a rule that works both ways with benefit to all.

The visitor was told of the preparations for style-show week and he came to the conclusion that he will come back on Saturday and stay for the first part of next week to see "how the thing takes."

Busy Window Trimmers.

It is getting to the time now when the window trimmers will get busy for the opening on Saturday, and it is probable almost all windows on Superior street will be obscured by screens and curtains during Friday, while the trimmers work behind them getting the decorations and materials on display. Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock the telephone centrals will give the signal to start the show, and when that word is received all curtains in windows will be raised and the display revealed to the shopping public. That evening the windows will be brilliantly lighted and everything will be open for the inspection of the new styles. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week the display of new styles will continue but the stores will not be open in the evenings.

Almost every store in Duluth has united in the movement to make style-show week a success, and it is the hope to eclipse the very distinct success of last year's show. The merchants themselves are doing more toward that end and the rest is up to the public.

LIVE WIRE TYPE WILL ATTEND NIGHT SCHOOL

"The young men of the live wire type, who know opportunity when they see it, will surely appreciate your night school courses this year.

Some Real Bass Fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Gordon returned today from George Barlow's resort at Smith lake, near Marcell, Minn. While there, Mr. Gordon and Dr. A. W. Ryan, who is a guest there, enjoyed some remarkable bass fishing. Bass weighing three and four pounds were put back in the water as they could not be carried away, the catch being so large. Mr. Gordon brought home one weighing 6¼ pounds, which is being mounted. Dr. Ryan will pass the remainder of the month at Smith lake.

Typewriter Supplies.

Best quality, very low prices. Phones 114. M. I. Stewart company.

Will Fill Vacancies in Cabinet.

Irving Grover, Charles Dirrs and Victor Eva were last evening appointed on a nominating committee to name candidates for the vacancies on the cabinet of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A., caused by the resignation of several members, who have left the city to attend school. They will report next Tuesday evening.

Mayor to Brainerd.

Mayor Prince left last night for Brainerd and as a result members of the city commission did not take the contemplated trip to the Jackson Farmers' club annual festival, which opened yesterday. The mayor is expected back tonight.

Examiners Finish Work.

O. M. Havill, state examiner, and his assistants, who have been examining all the city books since July 1, last, completed their work Monday and left yesterday for St. Paul. They will make their report to State Examiner Fritz, who in turn will submit a copy to the city council. Mr. Havill and his assistants discovered the seventy-seven alleged discrepancies in the court records of Walter J. Richeson, who has since been indicted on a charge of misappropriating city funds.

Repairing Death Car.

Workmen at the city repair shop on First avenue east and Third street this morning started to repair the automobile of Assistant Fire Chief Granzow, who was killed in an accident last Friday night. An examination of the car by Commissioner Silberstein and Fire Chief Randall this morning disclosed the fact that the front axle was twisted out of shape and one wheel smashed.

For Subnormal Children.

Dr. J. H. Andres, school physician, left last night for the Twin Cities, where he will make a study of the work being done in behalf of subnormal and physically deficient school children. Classes have been organized there and, although an innovation, Dr. Andres hopes to learn much from them in carrying out similar work in Duluth.

Notice!

The charity ball will be given by the Azordelyn society, Monday evening, Sept. 20, 1915, instead of Wednesday evening, Sept. 22, 1915, as formerly arranged.

Railroad Men Here.

Harry Lewis, assistant passenger agent of the Soo, and George Stevens, general freight agent of the Canadian Northern, are visiting railroad officials of importance who are in Duluth today. Mr. Lewis declared that the big crop should shed some of its multifarious benefits upon the passenger departments of the railroads of the country.

Murchison Case On.

Roderick Murchison, former commissioner of public works, is on trial before Municipal Judge F. H. Cutting this afternoon on a charge of assaulting 15-year-old Morris Brown, 517 Eighth avenue east. The alleged assault occurred following the wedding of Mr. Murchison's daughter, Louise, on Sept. 6, when the former commissioner attempted to quiet a noisy charivari party.

Ask Lower Pulpwood Rates.

Evidence was taken today before Examiner Hogarty of the interstate commerce commission to adjust differences in the matter of pulpwood rates. The action was brought by the Bradley Timber & Railway Supply company regarding rates over the Minnesota & International railway, the Soo, and the Northern Pacific. A reduction is being asked in the rate between Big Falls, Minn., and Rothchilds, Wis., and reparation for money paid for freight charges last year.

Sues City for $4,225.

Robert Rasmussen, a resident of Duluth, fell on the sloping pavement that intersects at Seventh avenue west and Superior street last Dec. 26, and is now suing the city for $4,225 damages. Trial of the action was begun this afternoon before a jury in District Judge Ensign's court.

BEMIS BACK AT HIS WORK

Says the First Bottle of Tanlac Did the Trick.

"I was able to go to work after taking the first bottle," is what Jess Bemis, an electrician, told the Tanlac Man the other day.

Mr. Bemis is an electrician who has been a resident of Duluth for a year and a half. He makes his home at the New York hotel and is known as a careful and most efficient workman when rheumatism permits him to follow his trade.

"For thirteen weeks I was not able to get around at all," he told the Tanlac Man. "I suffered from rheumatism and sleepless nights and wasn't able to sleep or eat with any regularity. Working, of course, was out of the question. I saw Tanlac advertised and bought some. I went to work after taking the first bottle, and after taking three bottles I feel as well as I ever have in my life. I now sleep like a child, and my appetite is fine. It has been the most wonderful medicine I ever heard of, and the results are surely astonishing."

Tanlac, which Mr. Bemis recommends so highly, may be purchased in Duluth from the store of William A. Abbett, the careful druggist, at 219 West Superior street, where Claude J. Meredith, "The Tanlac Man," or one of his assistants is constantly in charge to explain its merits.

Certified Public Accountants Examination.

In accordance with the provisions of chapter 439, laws of 1909, the State Board of Accountancy will hold an examination of applicants for the degree of, and certificate as, "Certified Public Accountant," on Oct. 21 and 22, 1915, at the State Capitol, St. Paul, Minnesota. Applications must be filed with the Board on or before Sept. 25, 1915. For forms of application and further information address James S. Matteson, Secretary Minnesota State Board of Accountancy, 701 Alworth building, Duluth, Minnesota.

PLANS TWO NEW BRIDGES

Commissioner Farrell Will Try to Follow Lawson's Ideas.

Two new bridges and the repair of at least seven others are recommended by James G. Lawson, superintendent of maintenance, in his annual report to Commissioner Farrell, head of the public works division.

During the next year Commissioner Farrell proposes to spend about $30,000 for the erection of new bridges and the repair of all those now in bad shape. The bridges throughout the city have not been repaired for several years and a special effort will be made by the department to fix them up in 1916, the commissioner said. Although Commissioner Voss will allow only $15,000 for these improvements, the works head plans to carry out as much of the program outlined by Supt. Lawson as possible.

At Glen Avon and West Duluth.

New bridges are recommended to replace the present structures at Woodland avenue and St. Marie street, and Fifty-seventh avenue west and Polk street. Those needing repairs and the necessary expenditures follow:

Central avenue and Polk street, $2,500.

Oneota street and Forty-third avenue west, $1,440.

Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, $700.

Sixty-fifth and Grand, $800.

Fifty-ninth and Main street, $2,300.

The bridge at Woodland avenue and St. Marie street will cost $1,600, and that at Fifty-seventh avenue west and Polk street, $1,000, according to Mr. Lawson's estimates.

During the coming winter Commissioner Farrell plans to buy a motor truck for the hauling of dirt, so that his crews can fill the large ravines underneath the poorer bridges. In this way he hopes to do away with a large number of bridges after one or two years of this work. If necessary, he said today, he will purchase an additional truck next summer.

STATE BANK AT TOWER.

Merchants and Miners Institution Opens for Business.

With a capitalization of $15,000, the Merchants & Miners State bank has opened for business at Tower. The articles of incorporation were filed this morning with Register of Deeds Charles Calligan. The capital stock consists of 100 shares having a par value of $150. Roy Quimby of Minneapolis is the principal stockholder.

The life of the bank is given as thirty years; the highest amount of indebtedness is placed at $187,500, and the capital stock must at no time exceed $116,000.

Nine directors have been elected as follows: Charles Roland, Anton Gornick, J. R. Cass, O. C. Sovde, Roy Quimby, Jacob Skala, A. H. Lofgren, Albert Weinzierl and A. Wadman.

Traced By Black Eye.

Traced because of a black eye, Joseph Kocab, 30, Cleveland, was arrested on Superior street near Fourth avenue west late this morning, and held at headquarters on a charge of first degree assault.

On the night of Sept. 13, Kocab got into an altercation with Capt. C. Z. Montague of the freighter Harry Coulby, and drawing a revolver, fired at him, according to eye witnesses.

After a struggle with the mate and other members of the crew, Kocab escaped and scrambled ashore. The mate, in giving a description of the man, said that he probably had acquired a bruised eye in the melee, and since that time Duluth and Superior police have been searching for a man with a bruised face and a blackened eye.

Kocab admitted shooting at the captain today in the city jail, but said he merely wanted to scare him.

There's Rare Beauty in the New Hats for Fall

Large shapes with unique brim outlines are very good, as also are smaller shapes in bigh crown sailors and poke effects. Velvets predominate in materials, with hatters' plush also in high favor—sometimes both are used in combination. The trimmings are distinctly new. Metallic effects give touches of brilliance in striking contrast to black—and the deep, rich colored velvets of fall are mightily becoming. Fur trimmings frequently adorned with flowers afford a rich result. The smartest materials, the most picturesque shapes and the trimmest of trimmings are seen to advantage in the many beautiful hats now ready. Come in and try on—you will find pleasure and satisfaction in being first to wear the new Autumn hats.

One of Gray's Smart Suits Will Please Your Friends Quite As Much As Yourself

It is natural for us to want new clothes at the beginning of each season, and what affords a woman greater satisfaction than a smart suit suitable for all occasions, faultless in fashion, fabric and fit.

Possibly you are one of the many women who wants to pay $25.00 to $35.00 for your suit.

If so—you will be more than interested in the charming models we have ready.

We have specialized in suits to sell at $25.00 to $35.00. Of course, we have other models at $16.00 to $75.00, but the suits we offer at $25.00 to $35.00 are, we believe, in a class by themselves.

Certainly we have never given as much style—as much value—as in the models that are ready today.

Come—bring some critical friends with you if you like, then you will know that right here are suits of which you, as well as we, may be proud.

Very Clever Coats $18.00 to $30.00

Because we have specialized in coats at these prices, you get values that need no remarks from us. Your own good judgment will be properly impressed by the way your friends approve of one of these coats.

Your Old Corset Won't Do for Your New Fall Garments

You have read of the "figure changes" of fashion, and it will be mighty interesting to you to see how easily they may be brought about.

JITNEYS BARRED.

Minneapolis Drivers Yield Peaceably to City's Ultimatum.

All jitney drivers were ordered off the streets in Minneapolis today, because they failed to file acceptable insurance policies as provided in the ordinance.

Unlike Duluth drivers, the jitneurs in the Mill City accepted the ultimatum of the authorities, and reports received here were to the effect that not a single machine would be in operation today. Following a similar order here, seven drivers were arrested in one afternoon for driving their cars without a license.

In Minneapolis the drivers claim that business is no good any more, and a majority say they will go out of business altogether, rather than purchase acceptable insurance policies.

SMOKES FOR CANADIANS

Philippine Veteran Contributes Last Thirty-Five Cents to Cause.

"I've got 35 cents between me and hungryness. Take it for the boys in the trenches. They need it more than me."

It was an ex-soldier of the Philippine campaign who spoke. Today a collection is being made for the Canadian soldier at the battle front. The former soldier of the United States army contributed every cent he possessed.

The response upon the part of the public to the efforts to obtain cigarettes, chocolate, chewing gum, socks and other articles for the Canadian soldiers in the trenches of the European battlefield was a most generous one.

There is an all-day reception on today at the Spalding hotel. Baskets have been placed for the cigarettes and other articles, while boxes have been placed to hold any money that anyone is disposed to donate to the cause.

At first consideration cigarettes might sound rather frivolous and in the light of a luxury. However, it was the thought of giving cigarettes to the boys in the trenches that led the former Philippine soldier to part with all the money he possessed.

Mrs. Millie Bunnell and David Quayle, the British vice consul, had charge of the reception at the Spalding. Other Duluthians of Canadian birth or parentage assisted. Many of the large list of contributions came from Canadians living in Duluth, though the public in general is showing a real interest in the campaign and is contributing freely.

According to one of the women working for the donation movement, a Duluthian donated 1,000 pairs of socks. According to an early tabulation of packages received, there were something like 3,000 packages donated by noon.

The work of securing comforts for Canadian soldiers that is being carried on in Duluth is but part of a nation-wide contribution campaign that is being conducted by Canadians in various parts of the United States and Canada. Contributions received in Duluth have so far been far in excess of what those behind the campaign had anticipated.

BUILDERS' EXCHANGE SECRETARY RESIGNS

J. H. Cook, secretary of the Duluth Builders' exchange, has tendered his resignation to take effect Oct. 1.

Mr. Cook was appointed secretary of the exchange in May, 1914, and has won popularity in building trade circles. He will leave on Sept. 30 for Omaha, Neb., where he will be associated with his brother in stock brokerage.

Directors of the Builders' exchange are receiving applications for the secretaryship and the appointment will be taken up at the next regular meeting on Oct. 2.

Tabernacle Collapses.

Columbia City, Ind., Sept. 15.—Just as workmen were putting the finishing touches on a huge tabernacle here last night and while twenty volunteers were putting on the last of the roofing, the huge structure pulled apart and collapsed, burying the workmen under the debris. ROADS ARE IMPASSABLE

Rains Have Left Highway to Suburbs Sea of Mud.

Night Crew Will Be Put on to Rush Paving.

A brisk wind and sunny sky today are more than welcome to the drivers of wagons or machines who are compelled to make trips between Seventy-first avenue west and New Duluth, or any of the other suburbs for that matter. For the last four days the roads have been in such a condition that it has been next to impossible to get through.

With the roads drying up late yesterday afternoon automobile traffic was anything but pleasant. Mud that would reach the hubs was encountered from the beginning of the fill on the east side of Eighty-first avenue to the beginning of the concrete paving at Ninety-third and Zimmerly avenue, and again from the Spirit Lake Transfer railway crossing to the south line of Gary townsite.

"The road is in fine shape to what it was this morning, yesterday or the day before," said George Vukovich, to The Herald reporter riding beside him yesterday afternoon. "There has been a little gravel distributed in some of the places and holes where no one could get through have been planked over."

A narrow roadway of red clay with an occasional sprinkling of gravel so soft that the least pressure made it give away and sink from four to eight inches is the highway provided from the fill to the cut-off just east of Smithville. For several hundred feet at a stretch it is impossible for one rig to get out of the way of another. Rigs pass at the peril of turning turtle.

Same in Gary.

Through Gary the condition is similar. Only a part of the street is paved and the narrow roadway in the center of the street is several inches deep with mud. Brick, gravel, piping and other material are piled high in the streets in some places blocking the entrance to the side streets.

"It has been worse than this," said Mr. Vukovich. "There have been times when it has been almost impossible to turn anywhere. It seems to me the work has been dragged along a lot more than necessary."

"Words fail to express my sentiment about the streets in this end of the city," said Otto Krueger, former alderman of the Eighth ward. "Of course you know New Duluth has not any street commissioner and things have been allowed to lag along without necessary repairs being made. Every little while since it rained I have used my teams to pull some unfortunate auto driver out of the mud. It has been so frequent lately that it is not unusual."

Mr. Vukovich said that drivers of automobile buses between the suburbs and the car line were not in the habit of charging different fares or charging a price according to the looks of the passenger. "We have to get more than 25 cents on days like today or yesterday. Even 35 or 50 cents does not pay for the trouble or the risk we run of smashing our machines on these roads."

Put on Night Crew.

Work on the roads is to be rushed from now on. It is understood that a night crew is to be put on by the contractor in charge of the paving of Grand avenue. Two 2,000-candle power flare lights were purchased by the firm from the Carbic company yesterday for that purpose. It is intended to place the first night crew on this evening.

The pouring of the concrete for the paving on the east end of the road began this morning. Gravel and other material for the work is now being hauled in "dinky" cars over a narrow-gauge road. The grading for nearly the entire stretch east of Smithville has been completed.

Farewell Reception.

Members of the congregation of the Bethany Norwegian-Danish M. E. church tendered a reception last evening in the church in honor of Sigurd Nelson, a divinity student who has been assisting Rev. E. Nelson, pastor of the church, during the past summer. Mr. Nelson will leave this evening for Chicago, where he will resume his studies at the Northwestern Theological college. The reception was attended by a large number of the church members and their friends.

Will Give Dances.

A series of dancing parties will be given this winter by Pocahontas Council No. 319, Royal league, according to plans made at the meeting of the society last night. The first of these will be given the latter part of this month or early in October at the Fairmont park pavilion. Plans will be made by a committee headed by Mrs. George L. Hise as chairman.

Following the business meeting last night, dancing was enjoyed by members of the society and those of West Duluth Council No. 265.

Will Review Convention.

Reports of the recent state convention of the Women's Christian Temperance union will feature the meeting of the West Duluth W. C. T. U. to be held tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. H. Larkin, 312 Sixtieth avenue west. Delegates to the convention held at Fairmont, Minn., will give the reports.

A noon lunch will be served by the hostess and her assistants at 1 o'clock. It is expected that all members of the society will be present before that time. The hostess will be assisted by Mrs. Helen Stewart, Mrs. Harriet Carey and Mrs. H. T. Hare.

NEW BUILDING FOR BETHEL CHURCH

Plans for Larger Structure Will Be Discussed By Men's Club.

Plans for a new church building for the Bethel Swedish Lutheran congregation was discussed at the meeting of the men's club of the church, held last night at the church, Fifty-third avenue west and Wadena street. Following a discussion a committee consisting of Rev. Gustaf Oberg, John A. Forsman, Emil Norland, Andrew Grandund and John Holmes was appointed to take charge of the matter.

The present building is of frame construction and has been in use for a number of years. The congregation has grown considerably since the building of the present church and the house of worship is now said to be too small to accommodate the increased attendance.

It is planned to look up another site as well as to secure information regarding the cost of razing and building the proposed edifice on the present site. A report will be given by this committee at the next meeting of the men's club.

Ask Pastor to Remain.

Rev. Eugene Nelson, pastor of the Bethany Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, Sixty-fifth avenue west and Polk street, was extended a unanimous call to be returned to the local church, by the conference to be held next month. The pastor has been in charge of the local church for one year. The meeting of the congregation was held Monday evening.

West Duluth Briefs.

Mrs. Peter Westlund of Minneapolis is a guest at the home of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Berglund, 6003 Tacony street.

Miss Margaret Horrigan of St. Paul, who has been visiting her sister, Miss Elizabeth Horrigan, superintendent of the Duluth hospital, will leave today for her home.

Mrs. W. H. Richter of Ellsmere, Minn., former resident of West Duluth, is ill at the Duluth hospital.

An informal meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Westminster Presbyterian church, Fifty-eighth avenue west and Ramsey street, will be held tomorrow afternoon. The meeting will be held under the auspices of the social circle of the society. Mrs. Robert Murray, Mrs. Everett Wier, Mrs. G. A. Rakowsky and Mrs. Rudolph Sieger will be hostesses.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Our Savior's Norwegian Lutheran church will be entertained tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Peter Torgeson, 315 South Fifty-ninth avenue west.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Third Swedish Baptist church, Fifty-ninth avenue and Ramsey street, will entertain at supper and an apron sale this evening in the church parlors.

SUPERIOR

Jitney's Career Wanes.

The day of the jitney in Superior is almost past. Only two machines were operating in the city yesterday. The drivers of these machines were the only ones who complied with the state law and furnished bonds in the sum of $5,000 each. No effort is to be made by the Superior Jitney association to appeal from the state law, according to H. R. Miller, president of the organization.

Recovers From Poison.

Mrs. Andrew Carlson, who attempted to commit suicide by swallowing two ounces of carbolic acid, has almost completely recovered. She left St. Mary's hospital yesterday, accompanied by her husband. They reside on a farm near Chaffee, Wis.

City Will Appeal Case.

The judgment of $138.75 granted by Judge Parker to Joseph Wickman against the city of Superior will be appealed to the district court, according to Assistant City Attorney T. L. McIntosh. The assistant attorney claims that Wickman is not entitled to the judgment because he was violating a city ordinance as well as a state law when the accident occurred. Wickman was operating a jitney early last spring, and late in the evening ran into a ditch. The city attorney claims that the machine had no headlight when the accident took place.

Grand Forks K. C. Election.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 15.—The local council Knights of Columbus elected the following officers: Deputy grand knight, Ralph Lynch; chancellor, Louis Murphy; recorder, Gerard Rafter; treasurer, J. J. Dunlop; financial secretary, Fred Kelly; advocate, J. C. Hart; warden, J. Leo Johnson; inner guard, Howard Royer; outer guard, Frank La Bine; trustee, J. V. Hogan.

Aged Pastor Resigns.

Winona, Minn., Sept. 15.—Rev. W. C. Rice, oldest Methodist minister in Minnesota, resigned today as a pastor after fifty years in this conference and fifty-four years as a preacher.

Rev. Rice, who is 75 years old, has held the pastorates of many of the Southern Minnesota churches. His latest charge was at Wesley M. E. church in Winona.

DULUTH'S MUNICIPAL HOME FOR WOMEN IS PATTERN FOR CHICAGO

Chicago welfare workers are interested in Duluth's municipal home for women and will establish one in the Windy City this winter, according to Mrs. Agnes L. Atwood, head of the state free employment bureau, who returned yesterday from a month's visit in that city and Detroit.

"They are well pleased with the success of the local institution," she said yesterday, "and are now making plans for the opening of a similar home this coming winter.

"While in Chicago I was very much interested in the system adopted for aiding the unemployed. When a person is given a job, the welfare workers do not feel that they have done their duty, but go still further by supplying the applicant with car fare. The transportation is furnished free by the Chicago Street Railway company.

"Mrs. Louise Rowe, head of the Chicago welfare department, has called together an advisory board of thirty prominent business and professional men and social workers who will cooperate with her in getting the best results for the department from the appropriation made.

"Mrs. Rowe has an elaborate plan, the details of which are not all complete, for emergency aid for unemployed men. She also will reopen early in the season the sewing shop for women, which was such a boon to hundreds last winter."

MANY PUPILS IN COUNTRY

Rural Schools of St. Louis Show Rapid Growth in Attendance.

Educators of State Will Make Inspection Some Time in October.

Rural schools of St. Louis county are prosperous and growing according to Supt. N. A. Young, who is well pleased with the advance that has been made. The attendance of last year at the various "little red" school buildings that dot the outlying sections of the county was about 1,900 while this year, the best information now at hand, shows there are close to 2,600 rural pupils. The exact figures on attendance will not be known to Supt. Young until his force of 110 teachers, scattered throughout the county make their first monthly reports which will be early in October.

"All of our schools are doing splendid work and I am pleased with conditions," said Mr. Young this morning. "Much progress is being made and the schools are daily growing in strength and importance. We expect to make an inspection of most of the schools during the week of Oct. 11 to 16 in company with representatives from the various state colleges, universities and normal schools. These comprise the five state normal schools, the University of Minnesota, which will be represented by President Vincent, inspectors and assistants at the various agricultural colleges and others.

"These representatives have arranged to give their services during a part or the whole of the week selectd and will work undr the directions of the various county superintendents. The number of days' inspection in each county will depend entirely upon the arrangements made with the state department by the county superintendents."

C. G. Schulz, state superintendent of schools, says that the object in arranging for this co-operative visiting of rural schools is:

"First—To offer the assistance and support of the educational institutions and of this department with a view of establishing a closer relationship between the different departments of the state educational service.

"Second—To observe conditions in the rural schools with a view of such changes and betterments as a partial study of this kind may suggest."

It is to be understood that the plan cannot be carried out in all counties during the week designated. In making a choice, the department will seek to select those counties in which the work can be carried out to the best advantage.

SAVINGS BANK ANNIVERSARY

During that brief time there has been deposited in the local station $724,283. Fully 5,000 accounts have been opened.

Report of Finances.

The following is a report of J. S. Browning, head of the postal savings department, showing the amount of postal savings deposits received, the amount withdrawn by depositors, and the amount of interest paid to depositors, during the period extending from Sept. 15, 1911, at which time postal savings was established at this office, up to and including Sept. 14, 1915:

Deposits, $724,283.
Interest paid to depositors, $4,155.68.

The balance remaining on deposit to the credit of depositors at the close of business Sept. 14, 1915, was $202,284.

In speaking of conditions, Postmaster McEwen said:

"Depositors born outside of the United States held four-fifths of the total postal savings deposits at Duluth, according to interesting figures dealing with the nationality of postal savings depositors, just made by the postoffice department at Washington. On July 1, there was on deposit at the Duluth office $191,557, of which the foreign-born depositors owned $152,170, and the American-born $37,187. The Finns led all other foreign-born depositors with $46,566 to their credit, then followed the Swedes with $20,964, the Austrians with $16,528, the Norwegians with $15,654, and the Russians with $13,921. Practically every nation of Europe was represented among the depositors. Eighty-five depositors have reached the $500 limit and can deposit no more, despite their appeals to do so. Of this number, sixty-eight are foreign-born."

Minister Files in Bankruptcy.

La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 15.—Rev. Pearley E. Schult of Viola, Wis., has filed a petition in bankruptcy with the clerk of the United States court. He has liabilities of $2,355 and no assets.

LAKE COUNTY FAIR IS OPEN

Exhibits Being Rapidly Installed Under Ideal Weather.

Indications Point to Most Successful Fair Ever Held in County.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ideal weather greeted the opening of the Lake County Agricultural society's ninth annual fair here this morning, and hundreds of exhibitors and spectators early crowded the fair buildings. The clerks were on the jump all morning registering entries. President Thomas Owens and other officers and directors whose efforts are responsible for the success of the fair, are well pleased with the prospects.

The new arrangements completed recently of taking out the petitions of buildings 1, 2 and 3, and making one large building, is a big improvement, and offers more floor space and much improves the general looks of the place.

Several very fine booths have been installed by various merchants. The one which will undoubtedly attract the most attention is the electrical booth installed by the City of Two Harbors. John C. Dwan, postmaster, also has installed a parcel post booth, which is very novel and educational as well. The floral booth conducted by Mrs. A. G. Johnson is the most beautiful booth in the building. The booth was constructed by Fred Youngren, and small birch poles and trees are the material used in its construction, and with the beautiful flowers of so many varieties, which are on exhibition, makes it a very rare treat to fairgoers.

Duluth Day Friday.

Duluth day will be Friday, and a royal welcome will be extended Duluthians who attend on that day. A special train will leave the Union depot at 1 o'clock for this city for the express purpose of accommodating Duluth people. The stock parade will be held Friday afternoon.

Exhibitors of everything except livestock have until 6 o'clock this evening to get their exhibits entered. Livestock exhibitors have until tomorrow at 1 o'clock to enter stock. The various departmens were opened yesterday morning to receive exhibits, but very few were received until late in the afternoon and evening, although some brought their exhibits early in order to get the most favorable locations.

At 10 o'clock this morning nearly every available foot of shelf and floor space was taken. The indications are that this will be by far the largest fair ever held in this county. The entries from city merchants are more numerous than ever before and many claim that their quality is above any previous fair. The farmers arrived with their produce this morning, and many more are expected this afternoon. While some of their garden truck was spoiled by early frosts, their exhibits are very attractive and clearly demonstrate the agricultural possibilities of Lake county soil. One of the attractive features of this year's fair will be the artistic arrangement of the exhibits, and show painstaking on the part of those who are so generously offering their services to the fair association.

Fine Livestock Show.

Very little of the livestock has been received as yet, and it is not expected that this department will have all its exhibits entered until noon tomorrow, although a number of entries will be made this afternoon. Thomas Owens, president of the agricultural society, predicts that the livestock department will be the best that has ever been shown in Lake county. It will be larger and better. Many new blooded cattle have been brought into the county within the last year and with what was already here it is expected that the livestock department will be an admirable one.

The following colored ribbons will be used to designate the various prizes: Special premium, royal purple; first premium, blue; second premium, red; third premium, white; fourth premium, pink. No hawking or selling of goods or taking orders for goods of any kind will be allowed.

Prize Money Offered.

The following is the amount of money offered in each department for prizes: Livestock, horses, $154; cattle, $255; swine, $76; poultry and eggs, $135 and $25 special prices. Dairy department, butter, cream, milk and cheese, $21 and $18 special prizes. Agricultural department, $17. Horticultural department, $125. Additional prizes in this department is offered as follows: Duluth & Iron Range land department, $100, and the Lake County Farmers' club, $25; floriculture department, $50; apiary department, $10; women's department, $258; boys' and girls' department, $85.

The Lake County Farmers' club special premium is open to every one, whether a farmer or not. The only restriction being that the seeds must have been purchased from the Lake County Farmers' club. Following are the prizes they offer: $5 for the best collection of garden produce, and $3 for the second best collection; $2 for the best collection of stock root; $5 for the best bushel of oats; $5 for the best bushel of wheat; $3 for the best display of alfalfa, clover and timothy, and $2 for the second best display.

FUNERAL CORTEGE TEAM RUNS AWAY

Trout Lake Woman Thrown Out and Considerably Injured.

Coleraine, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Ole Hanson of Trout Lake was quite seriously injured in a runaway during the procession of the funeral of B. J. Borgeson of Trout Lake about 10:30 this morning. While driving under the viaduct near Trout Lake the team took fright at a train passing overhead and threw out the occupants of the conveyance, Mrs. Ole Hanson of Trout Lake, her daughter, Mrs. Charles Vam of Coleraine and two children and Mr. Vam. Mrs. Hanson was the only one very much injured. Some other teams also started to run but were checked.

The excitement was soon quelled and the funeral was held at the Bovey Presbyterian church. Mr. Borgeson was 55 years of age and a pioneer of Trout Lake, who died Sunday night. The body was taken to Duluth for burial.

GRAND RAPIDS GETS READY FOR BIG FAIR

Indications Point to Large Attendance at Event Next Week.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—As the time approaches for the county fair, Sept. 22, 23 and 24, the interest in Itasca county's big event increases. People from all parts of the county who have never heretofore taken a great deal of interest in the fair are planning on being here this year with their whole families, and will bring their products to the fair for exhibition. While the season has been unusually unfavorable, there will be good exhibits of everything. The stock exhibit this year will be away ahead of what it has ever been. Quite a number of heads of new stock have been added to the herds of the county, and the increased interest in the fair will bring out at least the best of these.

The amusement program provided is one that should please. It has been planned so that there will be something doing all the time. There will be no long waits, and every number will be enjoyable.

The program follows:

Wednesday, Sept. 22, Entry Day.

Bringing in of produce, bulls, cows, horses, hogs and other stock and articles.

Thursday, Sept. 23.

10 a. m., stock judging. All owners of stock be present and ready to take out stock for judging; horse race, 2:20 pace; motorcycle race, five miles, free for all; baseball game, Grand Rapids vs. Deer River; tug of war, Bovey creamery patrons vs. Deer River

VIRGINIA BUDGET FIGURES ACCEPTED

Council Adopts Figures of Tax Levy Board Unanimously.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council voted unanimously last night to accept the budget of $379,995 fixed by the board of tax levy, the funds for next year to be divided as follows:

Police and fire, $60,000; water and light, $50,000; park, $30,000; library, $12,000; poor, $2,000; music, $2,000; interest, $10,000.

For the incinerator plant operation $9,100 will be spent, and $15,000 on the municipal abatoir. $5,000 will be spent for paving, $35,000 for streets, alleys and roads, $15,000 for hydrants, $15,000 for "white way" maintenance, $60,000 to defray 1915 improvements, $25,000 to apply on city hall erection, $3,000 for payment of 1915 bridge and $25,000 for salaries.

Meat Inspector Fred Engle complained that Fred L. Schoening, part owner of the local slaughter house, would not allow Alex and M. B. Booth, cattle dealers, to slaughter animals until Sept. 16 and that his action had worked a hardship on the men.

Boost for City Abattoir.

Mayor Boylan claimed Mr. Schoening had promised to allow any one to slaughter animals promptly at the slaughter house when he asked the council to permit him to erect the building. Mr. Schoening's alleged action is a good boost for the proposed municipal abattoir, the mayor contended. Inspector Engle was instructed to furnish a list of the number of cattle slaughtered here every week.

The council, as a committee of the whole, will meet Tuesday to consider plans for the abattoir.

Charles C. Butler was the low bidder for installing sewers in the Rooney and Pillsbury additions, his figure being $940. Butler-Eaton bid $968, while Risberg & Marwick were the other bidders.

The Virginia Hardware company got the contract for furnishing 276 garbage cans of two sizes at $23.40 a dozen and $30.25 a dozen.

To Entertain Convention.

Alderman A. D. Heritage reported he had conferred with Secretary Price and A. Gaell of the League of Minnesota Municipalities and that plans are progressing for the third annual convention to be held here Oct. 21 and 22. Clerk Bickford was added to the committee which is arranging for the entertainment of the convention. The other members of the committee are: Mayor Boylan, Alderman Heritage and Alderman R. J. McGhee.

INJUNCTION SUIT STARTS SATURDAY

Duluth Attorney Retained to Represent Village of Hibbing.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—A resolution retaining Attorneys Fryberger, Fulton and Speare of Duluth to represent Hibbing in the injunction suit, which will be fought between three mining companies and the village officials Saturday in district court at Duluth, was adopted at the meeting of the village council yesterday afternoon.

The injunction proceedings instituted by the mining companies enjoin the village from completing the Alice pavement, the contract for which was let to the E. W. Coons company, and the construction of a conduit through Park addition.

STEAM SHOVEL ON EVELETH EXCAVATION

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Lawrence-McCann company has a steam shovel at work on the trenches for storm sewers on Jones street and Douglas avenue and is making rapid work of the excavating.

On the north end of Adams avenue curb and gutters are being laid by the Eveleth Construction company this week.

Favorable progress is being made by the Eveleth construction company on the sewage disposal plant southwest of the city.

FOOTBALL SCHEDULES ARE TALKED OVER

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Twenty range superintendents and athletic directors are here to work out a schedule of interscholastic football games for the coming season. Hibbing, Coleraine, Virginia, Buhl, Mountain Iron, Eveleth, Gilbert, Biwabik, Aurora, Tower and Ely were represented.

It was decided that after the several schools had their individual schedules worked out, it would be possible to arrange a general schedule, which would be satisfactory to all.

Raymond F. Crist, deputy commissioner of naturalization of the department of labor, attended the meeting, accompanied by R. S. Colman of St. Paul, chief naturalization examiner of the district of Minnesota, and R. E. Doe of Duluth, local naturalization examiner.

Following the luncheon, which was served to the guests by members of the domestic science department, Mr. Crist gave a short talk.

This schedule has been arranged for the local team, but it is open to revision:

Sept. 18.—Alumni on local grounds.
Sept. 25.—Eveleth at Eveleth.
Oct. 2.—Buhl on local grounds.
Oct. 9.—Hibbing at Hibbing.
Oct. 16.—Gilbert on local grounds.
Oct. 23.—Coleraine on local grounds.
Oct. 30.—Date open.

ACQUIT EVELETHIAN OF DESERTION CHARGE

Injunction Against Mountain Iron Village Is Vacated.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—After considering the case against John Fugini, an Eveleth photographer, charged with desertion, for two hours, a district court jury at 5 p. m. yesterday returned a verdict of not guilty. The defense claimed Fugini had gone to Michigan to seek employment and had corresponded regularly with his wife. Mrs. Fugini, the complaining witness, averred Fugini corresponded with another woman.

Andrew Kovacivich, indicted for robbery in the second degress, is being tried today. William K. Montague, son of Judge R. J. Montague is counsel for the defendant and this is his first criminal case in district court here.

Mountain Iron Order Off.

Judge Hughes yesterday afternoon dissolved the injunction obtained by William Tritchler, a local electrician, to restrain the village of Mountain Iron from granting a contract for electrical work to the Star Contracting company of this city. The plaintiff claimed he was the lowest bidder, while the defendant maintained that he did not comply with the terms of the bid. D. D. Morgan was attorney for the village.

Abe Feldman, attorney for A. Anderson of Eveleth, who was granted a verdict in district court against Henry Holland, former Eveleth laundry man, who is now in St. Paul, seeks to have the defendant show where his property is and its value. Anderson's verdict was for $168.

EVELETH GARDENS HAVE BEEN JUDGED

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The final inspection of local gardens and lawns entered in the City Improvement club contest will be made this week. E. D. Philbrick of Virginia and Conrad Wolfe of Hibbing, superintendents of parks in their respective cities, did the judging.

The contest has been directed by S. H. Owens, G. A. Perham and J. A. Spurrier, a committee appointed by the City Improvement club. The money for prizes was contributed by Dr. C. W. More, R. J. Mitchell, R. R. Trezona, The Lawrence-McCann company, the Miners' National bank and the First National bank.

The contest is to close with an exhibit on Farmers' day, Sept. 25. The Levant building on Grant avenue has been obtained for the exhibit. Special prizes offered by the merchants will be awarded for exhibits on that day.

BOARDING HOUSE ROW.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—When John Popyak received a fine of $5 and costs in municipal court on a charge of assault and battery preferred by Andrew Karisny he did not turn his other cheek, but caused the arrest of Karisny on a charge of being drunk and disorderly.

The trouble occurred in a boarding house. After a heated argument Karisny is said to have been thrown out, receiving during the process of ejection, two black eyes. He sent in a police call and when the officers arrived was arrested. He caused the arrest of Popyak on a charge of assault and battery. Popyak pleaded guilty Tuesday morning. Later he wanted to change his plea but the case had already been closed. Popyak then pushed the charge of disorderly conduct against Karisny but the latter was dismissed.

EVELETHIAN TO WED GIRL IN ST. PAUL

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 15.—The wedding of Miss Alma Gertrude Pennock, daughter of Mrs. I. J. Pennock, and Mason W. Burt, Jr., of Eveleth, Minn., will take place today at 8 p. m. at the home of the bride's brother, E. M. Pennock, 2206 Doswell avenue. Rev. Bates G. Burt of Marquette, Mich., a brother of Mr. Burt, will officiate. There will be no attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Burt will make a short trip and will be at home after Nov. 1 at Eveleth.

Mining Clerk and Teacher.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mason W. Burt, who is to wed Miss Alma Pennock in St. Paul tonight, is chief clerk for the Oliver Iron Mining company in the Fayal district, while the bride-elect has for four years been domestic science teacher in the local schools.

Mr. Burt, who has been in Eveleth for about twelve years, will return about Oct. 1 with his bride to make his home. They will be at home after Nov. 1.

RAILROAD OFFICIALS LOOK OVER SIDING

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—A party of Great Northern officials were at Walder Siding, two miles west of Forbes, Wednesday to look over the situation with a view of making the grade crossing over the tracks easier for travel and also to make plans for the improvement of the siding facilities for loading forest products. Solomon Sax, who owns a farm west of Forbes, took the matter up with the railroad people a few days ago as better accommodations were needed at the siding.

Hibbing Offered Produce.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Who wants to buy 100 bushels of onions, 200 bushels of table carrots, 300 bushels of rutabagas and one ton of cabbages? is the question which John Braddon of Walker, Minn., has put up to the Hibbing Commercial club. A letter declaring that he had this much first-grade produce for sale and was looking for a profitable market, was written to the Hibbing Commercial club by Braddon. Secretary J. B. Lawler is now doing what he can to see that Braddon gets his produce sold.

Get Sixty Days Each.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Brooks and Bob Henry, arraigned yesterday in municipal court for the third time this month on a charge of vagrancy, were given sentences of sixty days each at the county workfarm, by Judge Brady. They both heretofore had been lavish with promises that they would get work and quit drinking. Bob Henry is a piano player and has entertained stragglers at the various saloons during the week.

WOMAN DENIES BODY IS DEAD HUSBAND'S

Coroner Kirk at Chisholm Trying to Probe Alleged Suicide.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The body of a man, about 35 years of age, found Monday at the Pillsbury location, was identified as Julius Koivu by at least twenty old time residents of Chisholm, but Mrs. Koivu declares that the remains are not those of her husband and further states that her husband is on the Cuyuna range.

A bullet hole through the ear would indicate that the man had committed suicide, the revolver and about forty cartridges to fit it being found at the side of the body. Koivu, it is said, had had domestic troubles and was separated from his wife. He formerly lived at the Jordan location. Dr. Kirk, coroner, will hold an inquest today.

WASHING PLANT UNIT OPERATING

Part of System Installed at Quinn Mine Is Now Working.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Although only one unit is working, the washing plant of the Quinn mine at Nashwauk is operating at a large capacity and ore from several properties in that vicinity is being handled.

The washing plant was constructed this year by Butler brothers, who are operating the Quinn mine, at a cost of nearly $250,000. At full capacity it will handle 8,000 tons of ore daily. It is the third washing plant which has been constructed on the Mesabe range and is said to contain more modern equipment than either of the other two. The plant makes it possible to improve the grade of ore to such an extent that mineral which heretofore could not be shipped because of the mixture of sand, silica and other foreign matter, after it has been treated at the washing plant is of an unusually high grade.

John Butler of Buhl, of the Butler Brothers Stripping company, declared that it is probable that the plant will be operating at full capacity before another year.

SPECTACULAR FIRE NEAR TWO HARBORS

Farmer Living Near City Loses Barn and Much Hay.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire completely destroyed the large hay and stock barn of N. G. LaVagine last night at about 10:30 o'clock. LaVagine is a farmer living two miles northwest of this city. He had just completed storing fifty-two tons of hay in the barn a few days ago. It is estimated that his loss was in the neighborhood of $3,500. Besides losing $1,000 worth of hay and the barn, he lost two very fine calves.

It is reported that the fire was caused as the result of the explosion of a lantern while Mr. LaVagine was busy doing something in the barn.

CHISHOLM DEVOTIONS ARE WELL ATTENDED

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Forty hours devotion was conducted for the Slovenian speaking members of St. Joseph's parish at the church on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of this week. All services were well attended. The Rev. Father O'Neil of Minneapolis, a member of the Dominican order, will conduct forty hours devotion services for the English speaking people of the parish on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of next week.

VIRGINIA POLICE ARE PEEVED OVER OUTCOME

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Chief Owen Gately and the members of the police force are considerably displeased over the outcome of the trial in municipal court yesterday of Walter Darcey for keeping his saloon open after hours. As stated in Tuesday's Herald he was acquitted and the police claim he could not have been acquitted if City Attorney Montague, who prosecuted, had called the two officers at the back of the place when it was raided instead of only one patrolman. It is expected the police commission will be asked to look into the case as the police claim to have had a clear case of violation of the 11 o'clock closing law.

ITASCA COUNTY GRAND JURY IS STILL BUSY

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Up to noon today the grand jury placed at work yesterday afternoon by Judge Stanton had not reported.

This morning there were hearings on petitions for citizenship. About thirty petitions were heard, twenty-one of which were new petitions, the remaining nine being left over from the last term of court. C. A. Buell is foreman of the grand jury and A. A. Yancey has been appointed bailiff. The civil cases on the calendar for this term of court number sixty-nine. On Thursday morning the petit jury will convene.

Aged Inebriate Sentenced.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 15.—Nelson Reid, 83 years old, veteran of the north woods, who promised to go to work when dismissed on a charge of sleeping in a barn, again faced Judge James P. Carey in municipal court Tuesday, charged with drunkenness. He was sentenced to serve twenty days at the county work farm at Duluth.

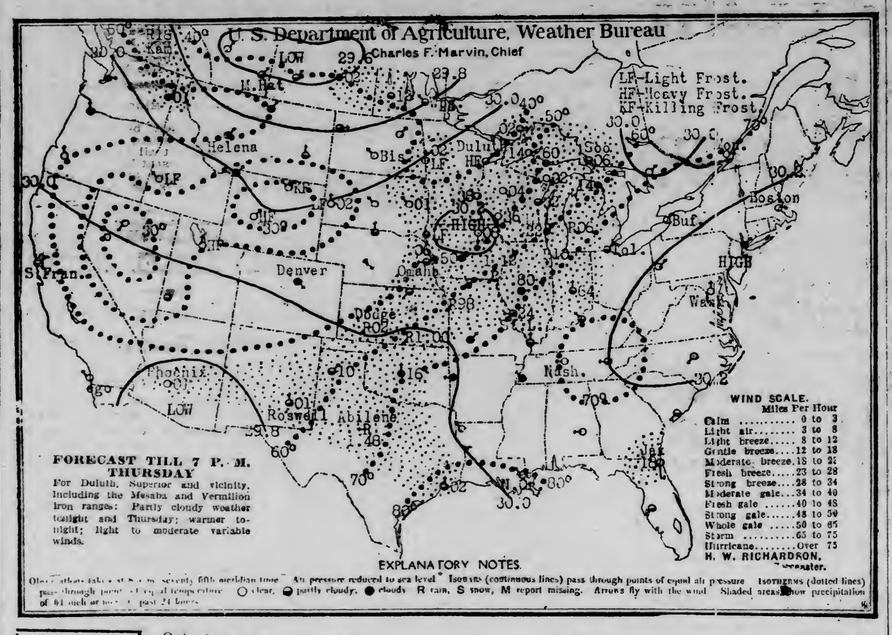

Franklin Tax Levy.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 15.—The village council of the village of Franklin fixed the tax levy for the coming year at $20,000, which is to cover all municipal purposes for next year. The village of Franklin joins the city of Virginia at the D., M. & N. tracks and includes two blocks of East Chestnut street.

To Speak at Eveleth.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge A. F. Wilson of Stillwater will be the speaker at the Farmers' day meeting at the city auditorium Saturday, Sept. 25. S. H. Owens, chairman of the committees, is informed that Judge Wilson will accept the invitation.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

WARMER

Out of the clouds of yesterday came the beauty of today, and it is almost enough to make up for past unfavorable conditions. The air is nippy and energy-producing, and everybody is happy. If they are not they should be, so let it go at that. A year ago today was beautiful. The sun rose this morning at 5:45 and will set this evening at 6:21, giving twelve hours and thirty-six minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Frost or freezing temperature occurred last night over Northern Minnesota, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Wyoming, Utah and Nevada. Much cooler temperature is the rule in the Western Lake region, Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri valleys. Over Montana, North Dakota and Saskatchewan the temperature has risen considerably. Rain fell during Tuesday or last night over the Lake region, Upper Mississippi and Missouri valleys, and the Southwest. Heavy rains occurred at Keokuk, Iowa, Wichita, Kan., and Abilene, Tex. Hot weather prevails in Atlantic and Southern states and the Ohio valley region."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Wednesday:

Minnesota—Partly cloudy tonight and Thursday; warmer tonight.

GET NEW KIDNEYS!

The kidneys are the most overworked organs of the human body, and when they fail in their work of filtering out and throwing off the poisons developed in the system, things begin to happen.

One of the first warnings is pain or stiffness in the lower part of the back; highly colored urine; loss of appetite; indigestion; irritation, or even stone in the bladder. These symptoms indicate a condition that may lead to that dreaded and fatal malady, Bright's Disease, for which there is said to be no cure.

You can almost certainly find immediate relief in GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. For more than 200 years this famous preparation has been an unfailing remedy for all kidney, bladder and urinary troubles. Get it at any drug store, and if it does not give you almost immediate relief, your money will be refunded. Prices, 25c, 50c and $1.00. Be sure you get the GOLD MEDAL brand. None other genuine.

Hopes Women-Will Adopt This Habit As Well As Men

Glass of hot water each morning helps us look and feel clean, sweet, fresh.

Happy, bright, alert—vigorous and vivacious—a good, clear skin; a natural, rosy complexion and freedom from illness are assured only by clean, healthy blood. If only every woman and likewise every man could realize the wonders of the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking, each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store, which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.

How You May Throw Away Your Glasses

The statement is made that thousands wear eyeglasses who do not really need them. If you are one of these unfortunates, then these glasses may be ruining your eyes instead of helping them. Thousands who wear these "windows" may prove for themselves that they can dispense with glasses if they will get the following prescription filled at once: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Optona; fill a two-ounce bottle with warm water and drop in one Optona tablet. With this harmless liquid solution bathe the eyes two to four times daily, and you are likely to be astonished at the results right from the start. Many who have been told that they have astigmatism, eye-strain, cataract, sore eyelids, weak eyes, conjunctivitis and other eye disorders, report wonderful benefits from the use of this prescription. Get this prescription filled and use it; you may so strengthen your eyes that glasses will not be necessary. Thousands who are blind, or nearly so, or who wear glasses, would never have required them if they had cared for their eyes in time. Save your eyes before it is too late! Do not become one of these victims of neglect. Eyeglasses are only like crutches and every few years they must be changed to fit the ever-increasing weakened condition, so better see if you can, like many others, get clear, healthy, strong, magnetic eyes through the prescription here given.

GIBBONS SAYS WEIGHT INJURED HIS CHANCES

Ed Whalen Says Next Boxing Show Will Introduce Some Real Fighters—Is Mike Gibbons Slipping?—Mike Collins Is Press Agenting Fred Fulton to High Pugilistic Peaks.

BY BRUCE.

MIKE GIBBONS—"It was the weight that murdered me. When I got into the ring I knew that I would have to be mighty cautious. * * * I know the contest was a disappointment. I tried all I knew at times, but my strength wasn't there, and several times I got dizzy and my head whirled."

Packey McFarland—"I figured out just what he was thinking about—that my long period of idleness had made me slow and listless and that he would attempt to win quickly. Having arrived at that conclusion I figured out a careful battle for myself. I mapped out seven rounds of cautious sparring. * * * Then, if still there, I figured I could take a chance and force the pace myself."

The Public—"Wsznthzzerthzzex! ! ! exbthzf wwtxxx ! ! !".

Whalen Is Optimistic.

"We have lined up the best show that could have been secured for Duluth," said Ed Whalen, in speaking of the bill of the next boxing show. "I think every boxer on the card will give the crowd a real run. I insisted on securing boys who go in and fight. We are through with stallers."

Edward is quite right. O'Dowd is a real fighter, sure enough. The St. Paul boy looks like one of the best welters in the country today. Monahan in shape should give the St. Paul Turk a real chase for ten sessions.

There is no one who likes a real scrap any better than Boss Whalen—we hope he sees several at the approaching cantata.

Is Gibbons Slipping?

Around the country the followers of boxing are beginning to ask: "Is Gibbons slipping?" Soldier Bartfield and then McFarland. A draw for McFarland was a moral victory. Gibbons had been picked by the majority of ring followers to beat the stockyards champion decisively. After the bout more critics picked McFarland as the winner than those favoring Gibbons.

Broken ribs was the alibi sprung in the case of Bartfield. At that, in a second encounter Gibbons should beat the khaki kid. Weight is the reason given for the showing of the Phantom in the McFarland gallop. Critics admit that McFarland was far from being as fast as the McFarland of old—and yet there are some of the press men who state that he showed up Gibbons on several occasions.

Is the peerless Gibbons slipping? Was it the weight—or is he going back? At 27 years of age the speed marvel of St. Paul should be in the height of his prime. It may require several more bouts to answer this rather perplexing question.

Would You Be Surprised?

Suppose you should read one of these days of Fred Fulton being matched with Jess Willard—would you be shockingly surprised? Well it might happen.

This Mike Collins is a press agent hound who follows the trail of result with indefatigable scent. Let it be stated that today Fred Fulton is talked about more in Gotham than most any heavyweight in this luscious land.

One evening, following a boxing escapade upon the part of Fulton, we sat by and watched Michael labor. He wrote a hundred wires to sporting editors of cities of the first, second and third class, not failing to remember the hamlets and dots on the map, and supplemented this shirt-sleeve labor by mailing out pictures and descriptive matter of Fred's six feet four of anatomy.

Result—why, Agnes, Fulton is talked of in New York, that seething hive of industry, where other heavyweights are not even mentioned. While there is an old and tried saying that wotteth of the early bird grabbing the worm, there is also a newly coined phrase that may run to the effect that it is the inventive press agent manager who captures the lucrative match.

Watch Fulton for future results.

The Correct Procedure.

Some of the smelly censure will be removed from the officials of the Capitol City Athletic club of St. Paul through their course of action in refusing to give up any filthy lucre to a boxer who is a disgrace to a profession the ethics of which are not particularly high.

One of two things is true of Lester—he was in such miserable condition that he was incapable of putting up a performance even remotely resembling a real fight—or he deliberately laid down to cross some of those who bet he would beat Miske.

Boxers of the ilk of Lester should be shooed from the ring game as rapidly as possible, and the only efficacious method to rid the game of their presence, is to refuse to give them coin.

In his day Lester was a vicious fighter of the bull dog type; his day has passed—now he is either far below even ordinary physical stamina, or he is a rank faker.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Braves Win From Cubs.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—Dick Rudolph pitched in fine form yesterday and held Chicago safe, while he, himself, drove in the runs which won the game in the fourth inning with a home run. Two men were out and Connolly tripled. Egan singled and Connolly scored. Gowdy singled and Rudolph followed with a homer to left which cleared the bases. Lavender was succeeded by Standridge, and he, too, was hit hard in the eighth inning, in which Magee's double, a fielder's choice on Smith's grounder, Connolly's double and a sacrifice netted three runs. Rudolph eased up in the eighth inning and Good's double and Fisher's single saved the locals from a shutout. Snodgrass, who was spiked by Fisher in Monday's game, was in uniform yesterday with his hand bandaged. It will be several days before he will be able to play. Score: R. H. E.
Boston .....0004000030—7 11 2
Chicago .....0000000010—1 8 0
Batteries — Rudolph and Gowdy; Lavender, Standridge and Bresnahan.

Phillies Still Winning.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 15.—The Pittsburghs were again beaten by Philadelphia yesterday. Adams was hit hard and after Cravath had sent one of his offerings over the left field fence Adams gave way to Hill in the third inning, who stopped the scoring. Chalmers was effective after the first inning. Score: R. H. E.
Philadelphia ....2110000000—4 11 0
Pittsburgh .....3000000000—3 8 0
Batteries — Chalmers and Burns; Adams, Hill and Gibson.

Superbas Beaten.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 15.—A batting rally consisting of eight hits, including a double and a triple, drove Marquard from the box in the sixth inning yesterday and St. Louis took the last game of the series from Brooklyn, 6 to 2. Score: R. H. E.
Brooklyn .....0000020000—2 5 1
St. Louis .....0000060 0x—6 11 0
Batteries—Marquard, Cheney, Dell and Moriarity; Boardman and Snyder.

Reds Clean Up Giants.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 15.—By winning yesterday Cincinnati took four games out of five of the present series with New York. The visitors took the lead scoring two runs in the first inning, but after that Lear held them safe, allowing only a few scattered hits. The locals made one in the first and in the second Killifer tripled with the bases full. Schauer was driven from the mound in the next inning after two singles and a double had been made. Mathewson retired the side without a hit in this inning, but in the sixth he was pounded hard. Ritter was sent in at the beginning of the seventh and held the locals safe the remainder of the way. Score: R. H. E.
New York .....2000000000—2 8 3
Cincinnati .....1410120 0x—9 16 1
Batteries—Schauer, Mathewson, Ritter and Doolin; Lear and Wingo.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Red Sox Trim White.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 15.—The Boston Red Sox again yesterday defeated their White Sox opponents, winning the fourth straight game of the series with Chicago, 2 to 1.

Errors decided the contest, which was a tight pitching duel. Ruth allowed only two hits, one of these a double by John Collins in the third inning, succeeding Gardner's error which had given Murphy his base and scored Chicago's run. It was John Collins' errors that won for Boston. With two men out in the seventh, he allowed Blackburn's throw to pass him, Wagner going to second on what should have been an easy out. On another toss from Benz to retire Henriksen, a pinch hitter, Collins again fumbled, Janvrin who was running for Wagner, racing home with the tying run. Ruth then doubled, sending Wood, another substitute runner in with what proved to be the winning run. Score: R. H. E.
Boston .....0000000 20—2 3 2
Batteries—Benz, Russell and Schalk; Ruth and Thomas, Carrigan.

Cobb Wins for Tigers.

New York, Sept. 15.—New York lost its seventh straight game yesterday, Detroit winning 3 to 2. A fumble by Bush let in both of New York's runs and kept New York in front until the eighth inning, when Cobb drove in Detroit's tying and winning run with a single. Mogridge, in making his local debut with the Yanks, pitched a fine game. Score: R. H. E.
Detroit .....0100000 20—3 8 1
New York .....0020000000—2 4 3
Batteries—Lowdermilk; Oldham and Stanage; Mogridge and Alexander.

Northern Leaguer Stars.

Washington, Sept. 15.—Gene Dumont, a young recruit from Fargo, N. D., celebrated his debut with Washington yesterday by holding Cleveland to two hits and no runs, while the home team was scoring three runs. Washington has won three straight from Cleveland, and fourteen of the last sixteen games played. Score: R. H. E.
Cleveland .....0000000000—0 2 0
Washington ....0000012x—3 8 0
Batteries — Carter and O'Neil; Dumont and Henry.

Browns Clean Series.

Philadelphia, Sept. 15.—St. Louis made a clean sweep of the series of four games with Philadelphia, by winning yesterday, 12 to 4. Three pitchers failed to stop the visiting batsmen, while Parks and Koob did good work for St. Louis. Sisler made three hits, giving him ten safeties for the series. Schang went to the plate five times. He received four bases on balls and was once hit by the pitcher. Score: R. H. E.
St. Louis .....1200400 32—12 19 3
Philadelphia ..0000111 10— 4 5 5
Batteries—Parks and Leary; Knowlson, Wyckoff, Ancker and McAvoy.

AMERICAN ASS'N.

Millers Win at Last.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 15.—A pass, a two-bagger, an error and two singles gave Minneapolis four runs in the sixth inning, winning yesterday's game 6 to 2, in the last game of the series. Kelly's fielding was the feature. Score: R. H. E.
Minneapolis ....1010040 00—6 10 1
Indianapolis ....0000002 00—2 9 2
Batteries—Yingling and Gharrity; Willis and Blackburn.

Colonels Take Series.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 15.—Louisville made a clean sweep of the series from Kansas City, winning the last game 5 to 1. Score: R. H. E.
Kansas City ....0010000000—1 8 1
Louisville .....2002001 0x—5 11 1
Batteries—Sanders and Crisp; Ellis and Clemons.

FEDERAL LEAGUE

Newark Noses Out.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 15.—On twenty-one hits, five of them doubles or triples, Newark was able to score only seven runs here yesterday and barely won from St. Louis, which had made six runs on ten hits including only one double and one triple. The fact that the locals played errorless ball, while the visitors were slow and uncertain on their feet, accounts for the comparatively low score. Score: R. H. E.
Newark .....1300100 11—7 21 2
St. Louis .....0220002 00—6 10 0
Batteries—Seaton, Moran, Kaiserling and Rariden; Plank, Crandall, Davenport and Hartley.

Whales Win All Four.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—Chicago took the fourth and last game of the Baltimore series here yesterday, 8 to 7, making a cleanup of the series. Hard hitting for extra bases accounted for the visitors' defeat. Two home runs, a triple and two doubles were included in the ten hits off Suggs. Brown allowed twelve singles, but kept them scattered. Score: R. H. E.
Baltimore .....3000103 00—7 12 1
Chicago .....2000402 0x—8 10 2
Batteries—Brown, Hendrix and Wilson; Suggs, Johnson and Russell, Owens.

NEW GRIDIRON FOR WISCONSIN

Next Year Badgers Will Have New and Modern Football Field.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—That Wisconsin will play its football games on a new field at Camp Randall in 1916 is the hope of the athletic department of the state university. The committee on plans has taken final action and work will begin at once.

The last legislature passed an appropriation of $20,000 for the carrying out of the work, because of the inadequate conditions of the present field. Since the north stand was condemned, the athletic department has been forced to rent circus seats to accommodate the football crowds.

According to present plans, the sum voted by the legislature will be enough to get the field sufficiently completed for use by next year, although it will not be in its finished form. The new stadium will be on the west side of Camp Randall. By locating the new field at this place the most economical use of the limited ground space at Camp Randall will be had. The west stand will be built on the hill and most of the level land will be available for use as fields, with the exception of that used for the east stand. By the adoption of this plan the minimum amount of grading will be required; the maximum amount of level ground will be had for actual field use; and the cost of building stands will be greatly reduced by building them in step-like form on the side of the hill. Thus, with the expenditure of this $20,000 the field will be put into form and between one-third and one-half of the west section of the stadium will be completed. The stadium when completed will seat 40,000 or more; and the west section alone will seat about 11,000. The stadium will be of solid concrete construction. In every instance the committee has planned the building so that as each part is finished it will be in its final form and will not have to be changed at any time in the future.

The axis of the gridiron will run north and south, thus removing the sun from the eyes of the players. This has been a serious handicap to players on the present field.

TWENTY-FOUR THOUSAND SEE GOTHAM FIGHT

New York, Sept. 15.—According to the official statement made to the state boxing commission yesterday by the promoters of the Gibbons-McFarland bout, 24,846 persons paid admission to witness that boxing contest on Saturday night. The gross receipts were $58,069, of which the state receives $4,355 as its share under the law governing the holding of such bouts.

Members of the commission stated that there had been no complaint regarding the contest or the handling of the crowds and that there was nothing to be said on the subject.

No mention was made at the meeting relative to permitting decisions by referees at future bouts, and it is believed any change in the present methods will be left to the new commission that Governor Whitman is expected to appoint later.

"O'DOWD WILL WIN"---REDDY

Manager of St. Paul Boxer Says Monahan Will Be Beaten.

Whalen Says All the Boys on Bill Are Battlers.

John Reddy, brother of the irrepressible Eddy, and manager of Mike O'Dowd, the healthy Turk of St. Paul, communicates with The Herald regarding his fighting man.

Says John: "Mike should beat Monahan. They met before at Hudson and O'Dowd beat him. Monahan claimed he was weak from making 150 pounds. In this contest Monahan is coming in at 155 pounds, but I am safe in saying that O'Dowd will win again.

"Mike will work the balance of the week with Tommy Gibbons and Billy Miske and I expect him to show that he is both a boxer and a fighter."

According to the letter from Reddy, the officials of the Capitol City Athletic club of St. Paul are working on a match between O'Dowd and Soldier Bartfield.

Steve and the Kid.

Steve Gardner is working daily in preparation for his clash with Kid Billings, alias Korby Peterson. Reverberations come from over the ferry path of the dire damage Korby is going to accomplish on face and anatomy of Gardner. Despite this conversational eruption the kid is emitting, Gardner continues to eat heartily and slumber peacefully.

Jerry Dalton arrived yesterday. This is the bucko who is matched to box Billy Whalen of St. Paul. The Indianapolis youth will complete his training on the other side of the bay, assisting in the preparation of Billings while sprucing up himself.

Rivalry Between Boys.

Billings and Gardner are rivals for the welcome-to-our-city beckon of Duluth. If Gardner can beat the hero of the scattered village over the way, he will become the hero of the hillside. On the other hand, Billings desires to brush Stephen out of the way. Besides that the shades of Frankie Whitney still rankle the turbulent soul of the kid.

President Ed Whalen of the Duluth Boxing club believes that each and every bout on the card will prove a real blown-in-the-bottle sort of soiree.

"While not champions," says Edward, "all of the boys are willing to battle."

RANKING OF GREATEST TENNIS PLAYERS; M'LOUGHLIN THIRD

With the close of the intersectional series at Forest Hills, L. I., last week the big competitive tennis season for 1915 closes and the ranking committee of the United States National Lawn Tennis association will begin the difficult task of compiling competitive data to determine the official rating of the players. This is no mean task, as the season has furnished a greater succession of upsets and reversals of form than any since the adoption of the ranking system.

Popular opinion would give to William M. Johnston, the 20-year-old new champion, the honor, but the choice is not made on the result of the all-comers' tournament, although this event is the basis of the selection, but all other matches of the player are considered. Johnston's defeat by McLoughlin in the Panama-Pacific fair championship tournament, the youngster's upsets at Longwood, Newport and Southampton, must be taken into consideration, especially the latter, when T. R. Pell won in straight sets.

The downfall of the champion has complicated matters, and there are many who believe that Williams is still the best amateur lawn tennis player in the United States, but the fact that he fell before the attack of Johnston will weigh much in the latter's favor when the final count is made.

There seems to be little doubt that the "mighty Mac" will be relegated to third position, and while this fact will be greatly regretted, few will question the justice of it, for it is an undeniable fact that the former invincible Californian has not been seen to advantage in the Eastern tournaments this year. To be defeated in successive tournaments by Behr, Williams and Johnston is a unique experience for McLoughlin, and then dropping the doubles title on the following day filled his cup of bitterness to overflowing. Whether the change in his game affected his playing must remain an open question, but one thing is certain, he is not the force on the court he was one year ago.

The first three positions on the list will, in all probability, be filled by William M. Johnston, R. Norris Williams and Maurice E. McLoughlin in the order named. The other players who are certain of positions in the first ten are: Karl H. Behr, Nathaniel W. Niles, Watson M. Washburn, Clarence J. Griffin, and T. R. Pell. The remaining two places in the leading ten will be filled by two from the following: Robert Le Roy, George M. Church, Wallace F. Johnson and Frederick B. Alexander, Ella Fottrell, the brilliant young Californian; William J. Clothier, the former national champion, and A. S. Dabney will probably not be ranked on account of not playing in a sufficient number of big tournaments.

LEADING TEAMS HOLD ADVANTAGE

New York, Sept. 15.—The world's champion Boston Nationals furnished the only change in the baseball situation yesterday by jumping back into second place, as the result of their victory over Chicago while Brooklyn was losing to St. Louis. The Braves hold the second position by a single percentage point over Brooklyn, the only pennant contender in either league to lose yesterday. The Philadelphia Nationals lived up to the reputation for consistency which they have established, by winning another game from Pittsburgh and thereby clinging to their four-game lead.

The apparent deadlock in the American league remained unchanged. The Detroits, although winning their third straight from New York, were given no opportunity to gain on the Red Sox, who won their seventh consecutive game by defeating the somewhat more formidable Chicago aggregation, and thus retain a three-and-a-half-game lead. The Red Sox and the Tigers wind up their series today, and then cross bats at Boston for what may be the decisive struggle.

GIBBONS-AHERN MATCH? MIKE DENIES REPORT

New Orleans, La., Sept. 15.—Announcement was made here yesterday that Mike Gibbons of St. Paul, Minn., and Young Ahern of New York have signed a contract in New York for a fifteen-round bout in New Orleans the second week in January.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 15.—Mike Gibbons denies the report from New Orleans that he had signed for a bout with Young Ahern at that place in January.

FOLLOWER OF HOCKEY INDORSES CITY LEAGUE.

To the Sporting Editor of The Herald:

I have not seen anything in the columns of your paper which has given me greater pleasure than that which appeared in your issue of the 14th inst., under the caption, "City League Hockey in the Curling Club." Should this tentative plan become an assured fact, it will, in my opinion, be a great incentive for our home young men and their friends to join hands with the curling club officials in an endeavor to make the winter sport proposition a success from every standpoint. I was a privileged listener at the annual banquet of the Amateur Hockey league at the Spalding hotel last April, at which time James Ten Eyck spoke words of good advice to the boys of our amateur league teams. Among other good things, he said: "When I first came to Duluth to take charge of the boat club crews, I thought I had to bring in men from the outside as a nucleus to build upon. One season proved to me my mistake, and from that time I have had the greatest success in taking the boys right here in Duluth. They are as physically fit, and have, in addition, the pride in their town and its institutions, which gives just the incentive to excel. In my opinion the curling club is making the same mistake and I am satisfied that sooner or later they will take this view of the hockey situation in Duluth."

If I have not quoted Mr. Ten Eyck's exact words, I think he will bear me out that I have quoted him correctly. Such evidence in a court of law would no doubt have great weight. In conclusion I wish again to express my pleasure, and know in so doing that I express the sentiment of a host of others who would go far to bring about such a happy situation. I am further convinced the officials of the curling club will not regret it. Meet these boys half way, and they will do much for you.

Very sincerely yours,
ARTHUR E. BROWN.

Yale Man Wins at Golf.

Greenwich, Conn., Sept. 15.—The new champion of the Intercollegiate Golf association is Frederick R. Blossom, Chicago, a Yale junior. He defeated Grant A. Peacock of Princeton 11 up and 9 to play in the 36-hole final round over the links of the Greenwich Country club here yesterday.

DULUTH AND ST. PAUL WILL PLAY BUT ONE CONTEST

World's Amateur Series Baseball Game Will Be Played Next Sunday at Athletic Park—Edisons Have a Bunch of Horsehide Murderers—Alder Is Likely to Pitch.

There will be but one game in the world's championship amateur baseball series between Duluth and St. Paul. The game will be played Sunday afternoon at Athletic park.

Last evening the national representative of the American Amateur Baseball association wired here that the rules of the association would permit the playing of but one game. The winner of Sunday's game between the crack Edisons and the all-stars, represented by the Parkers of St. Paul, will go to Omaha to play the team representing that city in the semi-finals of the world's amateur championship.

Holmgren is the crack pitcher of the Parkers. This bird is being primed for the game with the Edisons Sunday, in the final game for the amateur championship of St. Paul, Holmgren held the Wests to five scattered hits. It is likely that Alder, the Mathewson of the Duluth Amateur Baseball league, will start against the crack Holmgren.

Duluth Has Sluggers.

Yesterday the batting averages of the Edison players were compiled. The reason why the electric workers walked off with the Duluth championship is made plainly apparent. The team batting average is .379, while there are ten players in the Edison squad who have played the horsehide well over the .300 mark.

Opposed to the slugging Edisons will be a team that has a collective swat mark of .284. In addition to the husky batsmen possessed by the St. Paul team, the pitchers of the Parkers are mound stars.

Realizing that the St. Paul team is about the best amateur baseball proposition that has ever shown in Duluth, Manager Norsted of the Edisons is never the less confident that his tribe of husky sluggers will bat out a victory and will gain the chance to journey to Omaha and represent Duluth in the semi-finals of the world's championship play.

Edisons Will Be Fit.

It is believed that Bob Alder will start the game against the Parkers. Young Iver Anderson, considered one of the best kid catchers that Duluth has produced for some seasons, will likely don the wind pad.

Alder has won five and has failed to register a loss during the present season. If Robert is right Sunday, and Holmgren twirls up to his altitudinous reputation, the battle at Athletic park promises to be some exhibition of the national pastime.

Following are the batting and fielding records of the Parker players and the batting and pitching records of the Edisons:

"IRON DUKE" IN DULUTH

Hockey Player Wellington Said to Be Interested in New League.

It looks as if there is something stirring in the way of a new move in Western hockey.

The "Duke of Wellington" is here—and on a mission, it is said. Remember the Duke? He is the speedy lad who used to shoot the Duluth hockey team's defense full of holes. Some player! Some player is correct.

According to the dope that has come forth in fragments, the Whalens of Fort Arthur, endowed with a mess of the world's goods, have the bee to start a big hockey rink in Chicago. In connection with the Chicago rink it is believed that an effort is being made to line up a new hockey league.

Whether Wellington is here to sound out the sentiment of Duluth hockey men on the situation, is not precisely known, but there is a faintly quivering hunch along those lines.

Conditions Bad In Canada.

The Duke told several friends that sport conditions were not the best in Canada. Many of the young athletes of the dominion have already gone to the front, while others are expecting to be called at a moment's notice. Wellington himself may receive a call at any time.

With the prospect of another grim winter of war, it is not believed that hockey will enjoy a very properous season on the other side of the line. Perhaps conditions in Canada were the impelling force behind the move to start a big hockey rink in Chicago.

NATIONAL COMMISSION CONSIDERING DRAFTS

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 15.—Many prominent baseball men were present when the national baseball commission opened its annual meeting here today to consider drafts submitted by major leagues on minor league players.

This annual drawing for the choice of minor league players is of keen interest to baseball men in general and always draws a large attendance.

When the commission convened it was believed it would follow the same plan as last year and not make public the names of the players drafted. This plan was adopted to outwit the Federal league and to give the clubs of the National and American leagues opportunity to sign the players allotted to them by the commission.

MAKES HIGH SCORE.

Lexington Man Wins Opening Shoot at Atlantic City.

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 15.—Wolfolk Henderson of Lexington, Ky., the 1914 national amateur target champion in singles and doubles, and also the winner of the Grand American handicap last year, led the field in the Westy Hogan opening day shoot here yesterday, smashing 148 out of his quota of 150 targets.

Walter S. Behm of Reading finished third with 145. C. D. Collum of Mechanicsburg, Ohio, tied with J. S. Chipples of Greenwood, S. C., for fourth amateur honors.

Of the professionals, Hank Stevens of Lavallette, N. J., and Lester S. German of Aberdeen, Md., were high guns with 143 breaks each, equalling Henderson's score.

Straight Heats Rule.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Straight heat victories ruled at the Grand Circuit meeting yesterday afternoon, not a race going beyond the regular limit. Single G. scored an easy triumph in the Onondaga 2:07 pace over four other starters.

Carpenter drove Almah to victory in the 2:19 trot against eleven other starters. Idora Worthy gave Almah a stern chase in the first two heats, but fell short on each occasion coming down the home stretch. Cox won handily in the 2:05 trot, piloting Margaret Druien across the line to win easily, with Joan C. close up, Rythmell never being a contender. The Messina Springs sweepstakes for 2-year-old trotters was won by Sunloop.

Revelry finished ahead of the field in the final heat, but the judges ruled against him on the ground that he ran part of the distance. The 3-year-old division event was taken by Eudora Spie, handled by Ernest White.

LEAGUE MEETING MAY BE PASSED

Northern Magnates May Not Assemble Until First of Year.

There may be a postponement of the meeting of Northern league magnates, scheduled for the first Monday in October. Some of the club owners favor the deferring of the meeting until the first of the year. A majority of proposals toward this suggestion may cause Burmeister to pass up the October gabfest.

There is little talk of next year. Owner Blume of the Duluth club today stated that conditions would have to be materially different next spring to lure some of the magnates into the field. "We would have all been much better off, speaking from the financial standpoint, had we remained out of baseball this season," said Blume.

However, it is rumored that John Burmeister, with characteristic energy, is already endeavoring to secure a purchaser for the Superior franchise. This only goes to show that no object, however apparently unsurmountable, discourages John.

Herb Posten will not be tried out by the Detroit Tigers this fall. Poston went to Detroit on an optional agreement. If he fails to make good the Pallsade pitcher will be returned to Duluth.

DELLAR HEADS BOWLING LEAGUE

"Joe" Dellar was re-elected president of the Major Bowling league at the meeting in the Grand alleys last evening. George Murphy was chosen vice president, Sam Olsen, secretary, and O. O. Whitney, treasurer.

A schedule committee was appointed and it is expected that the pin season will start in the near future. There was a large attendance on hand and both league officials and members expressed the belief that the season about to start will prove the greatest in the history of the local bowling game.

The following committees were named:

Schedule committee—Charles Foster, Sam Olson and O. O. Whitney.

Rules committee—F. Stiegler, C. R. Berini, George Fuergeson, George Murphy, Jack Stauss.

The meeting was adjourned until Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

DULUTH FOOTBALL MEN HEAR BLACKBOARD TALK

There was a meeting of candidates for the Duluth football team last evening in the club's quarters. Coach "Corky" Caulkins gave the boys a blackboard talk and the first set of signals was given out.

Andy Grenner has been engaged as team trainer and will immediately take charge of the boys. The first practice of the season will be held tomorrow evening. There are some thirty candidates for the team at the present time. While early as yet, it looks as if the team will be heavy. Caulkins, who made a remarkable reputation at the University of North Dakota, will play quarter. Little Caulkins was a high school star before going to Dakota and is expected to prove a brilliant star in the independent ranks.

Baseball Meeting.

A regular meeting of the Duluth Amateur Baseball league will be held this evening in the Fenton-Duby store. There are a number of important matters to come up. It is desired that all league representatives will be present.

Fail to Convict Doctor.

Alexandria, Minn., Sept. 15.—The jury in the case of the state of Minnesota vs. Dr. Charles A. Lester, who is charged with manslaughter in the death of Miss Ruth Nass, his office girl, by the careless use of an X-ray machine, disagreed after being out twenty-four hours.

"BOB" SMALLETT LONESOME FOR HUSTLE AND NOISE OF CITY'S BUSINESS DISTRICT

Carrier of Police Badge No. 1 Not at Home on Minnesota Point; Dashing of Waves Recalls Hum of Traffic to Old Jack Tar.

For years Robert Smollett, veteran member of Duluth's police force, was a sailor before the mast, but now the noise of the waves makes him lonesome for the hum of traffic on Michigan and Superior streets.

"Twenty-eight years is a long time," said "Bob," as he is called by the blue-coated guardians of the peace, yesterday.

"It's a long, long time, and a man's tastes change."

True it is that "Bob's" tastes have changed, for now that he has been assigned to a beat on Minnesota Point, he is lonesome for the street cars and auto trucks and crowds of shoppers.

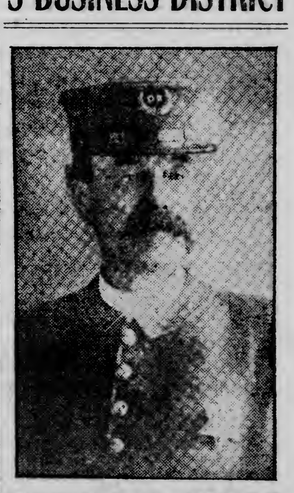

For years "Bob" has carried police star No. 1, and now, with the badges, it is badge No. 1.

"I hated to turn in the old star," he said, "for I carried it about fourteen years."

In his early days, before he patrolled a beat and watched for law violators, Smollett sailed before the mast. For several seasons he sailed out of Gloucester on a schooner, and fished off the Newfoundland banks. Later he shipped from New York or Boston on full riggers and went to China, the East Indies, and South America.

Much of Duluth's police history contains the name Smollett, for "Bob" patrolled Lake avenue nine years and ten months. He spent six years on West Michigan street, formerly the "Bowery" in the parlance of a "cop," and after that for years he was in the business district, along Superior street.

He was transferred to Minnesota Point Sept. 1, replacing Patrolman Walter Murray, who retired on a pension.

PATROLMAN BOB SMOLLETT.

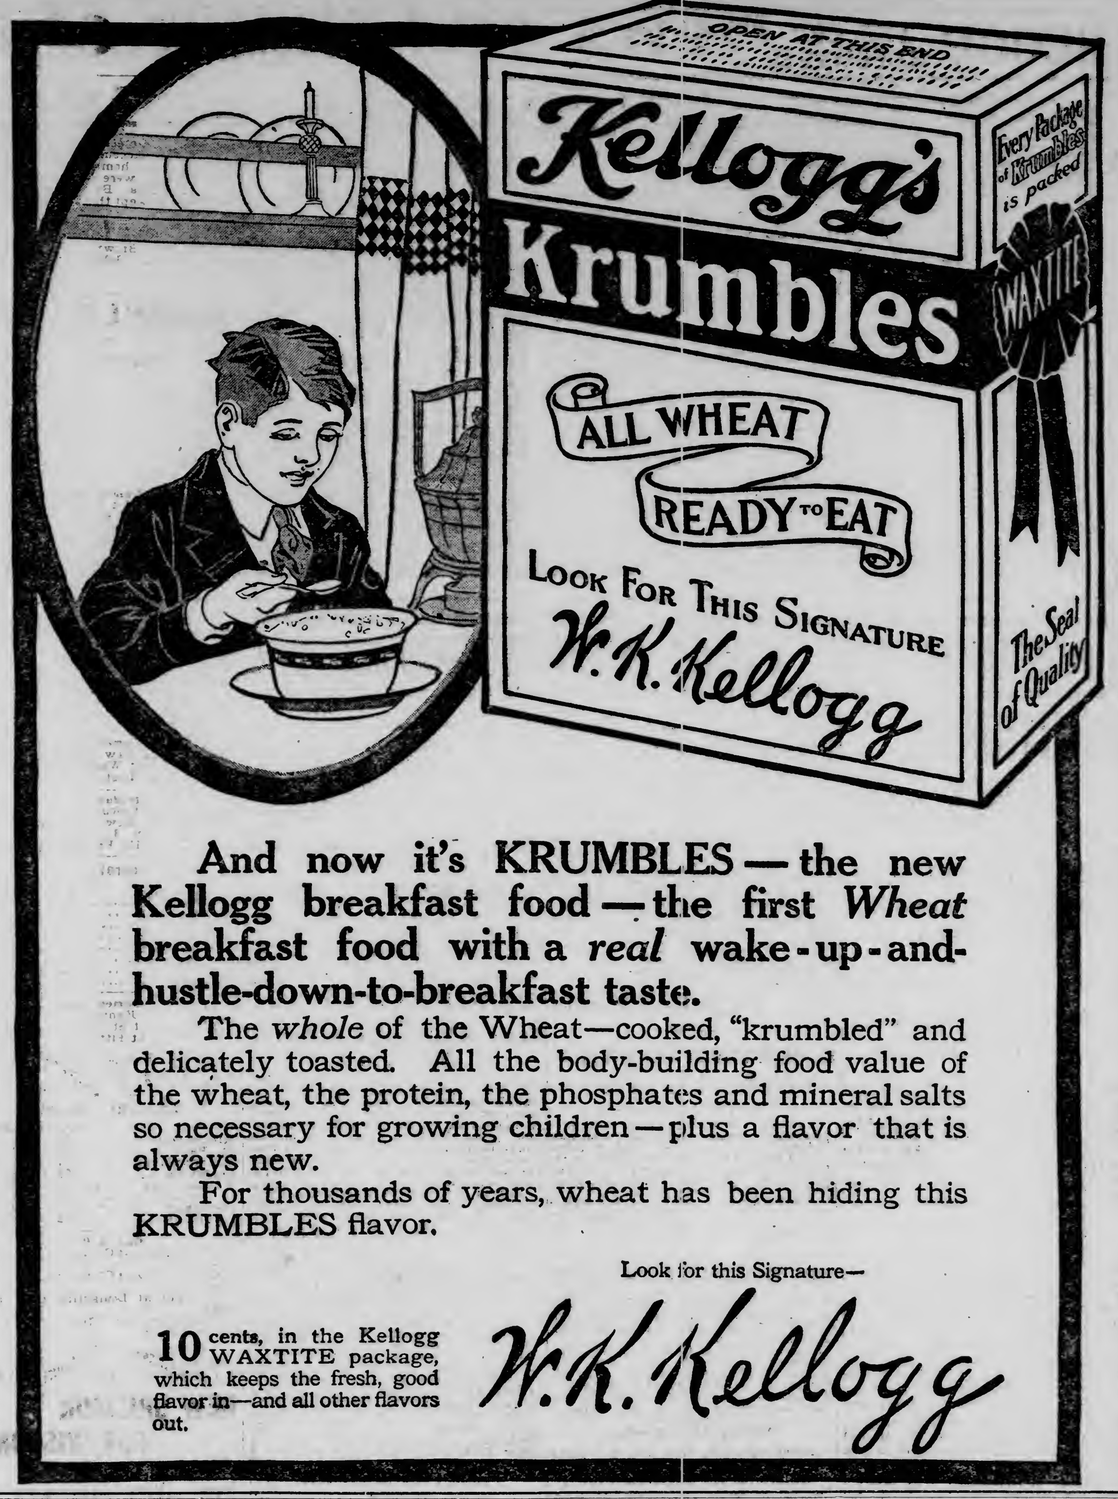

MUST BE A VENT.

Athletics Good to Carry Off Pent-up Energy, Says Doctor.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—Men or women who reach maturity without having done something to "shock society," are "holding something in repression," Dr. H. D. Fair of Muncie, Ind., said in a paper read before the American Association of Orificial Surgeons yesterday.

"There was be a vent for pent-up energy," he asserted, "and strenuous athletics afford about the best means for this, and on this account solely, do college faculties encourage athletics among the students."

Judge G. O. Bridgeman of Benton Harbor, Mich., said that 50 per cent of the criminals under 25 years of age, who appeared before him could be cured by orificial surgical operations, and that he offered such criminals a choice of undergoing such an operation or serving a jail sentence.

And now it's KRUMBLES—the new Kellogg breakfast food—the first Wheat breakfast food with a real wake-up-and-hustle-down-to-breakfast taste.

The whole of the Wheat—cooked, "krumbled" and delicately toasted. All the body-building food value of the wheat, the protein, the phosphates and mineral salts so necessary for growing children—plus a flavor that is always new.

Chalmers Six-40

$1350 Seven Passenger

20% More Power

The Chalmers valve-in-head motor with overhead camshaft is as far in advance of the old types of motors as the self-starter is ahead of the starting crank.

It is generally recognized in the trade and among owners as the 20% more power motor.

THE Chalmers Six-40 is the new motor car at a lower price, equipped with this wonderful new type of motor which has made it necessary for the Chalmers Company to so tremendously increase its production for 1916.

The Season's Motor Sensation

On the hills and country roads where going is hard, this $1350 car will do all for you that it did for A. E. Walden when he established a record at the recent Uniontown Hill Climb, driving a Chalmers Six-40, that was eight seconds better than the previous record for the class.

Within the limits of touring car service its wonderful valve-in-head overhead camshaft motor will give you all the efficiency and "trigger-quick" getaway that this type gave De Palma and Resta when they averaged 90, 98 and 102 miles an hour for 300 and 500 miles at Indianapolis and Chicago.

Comfortable as a Rocking Chair

The leather upholstered seats are deep and luxurious; the sides of the tonneau are built on the "armchair" principle. You ride in the car—not on it.

The leg-room is ample; the rear springs are 57 inches long—longer than any other car in this class—and the result is that the car glides over rough spots with an easy motion that makes motoring a pleasure under every condition.

Made in Chalmers Shops

Chalmers cars are made in Chalmers shops under the most exacting standards. They are quality cars throughout in style, beauty, comfort and performance.

See us to-day. We will give you a ride over the hills and country roads in this $1350 car that will prove its 20% greater power.

New Service to Owners

Every Chalmers dealer gives to every buyer of a Chalmers car a Service Coupon Book, each coupon being redeemable for a definite amount of inspection service at any Chalmers dealer's anywhere.

Chalmers Club and Clubman

Every Chalmers owner is entitled to a membership card in the Chalmers Club commending him to the courtesies of Chalmers representatives everywhere, and to receive "The Chalmers Clubman" regularly without charge.

DULUTHIANS VISIT FAIR

Zenith City Boosters Inspect Display at Park Rapids, Minn.

Fifteen Visitors, Headed By Frank X. Gravel, Are Well Entertained.

Park Rapids, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The twenty-first annual fair of the Shell prairies Agricultural society opened here yesterday. The weather was damp and cold, but this did not cool the ardor of those who promised to make the fair a success as everyone is enthusiastic over the exhibits made of the resources of this section. The exhibits were not all placed yesterday and exhibitors were given until 10 o'clock this morning to get them in place. Everything is now placed, the weather is pleasanter today and the fair is an assured success.

Duluthians on Hand.

Headed by Frank X. Gravel, fifteen Duluth boosters arrived yesterday morning. They were escorted around town by members of the local Commercial club and visited the fair grounds. The visitors are pleased with their entertainment and praised the enterprise displayed.

Karl J. Kuhle is here with a Curtiss biplane and will give two exhibtions today and tomorrow, the last day of the fair. Although the cool weather delayed the ripening of some vegetables the display is considered very creditable. Liberal premiums have been offered and despite the disagreeable weather for the opening a successful fair is anticipated.

The Day's Program.

The program at the fair today follows:

10 a. m.—Band concert; stock judging in livestock ampitheater by Prof. A. J. McGuire of the University of Minnesota; judging of domestic and pantry products, domestic manufacturers and the fine arts in the exposition building by Miss Bess M. Rowe of the University of Minnesota, address to follow judging in each department.

11 a. m.—Grandstand, acrobatic performance by the Ben Hamid troupe of ten Arabs.

1:30 p. m.—Grandstand, band concert; boy scouts of Akeley will drill under Denton Patton, scoutmaster.

2 p. m.—Arab troupe.

2:15 p. m.—Ball game, Akeley business men vs. the Park Rapids business men; Arabs, new act.

4 p. m.—The birdman will make his second flight.

NORTHERN SWEDISH CONFERENCE PASTORS

Rev. C. W. R. Wermine Assigned to Duluth First Church and Mission.

Atwater, Minn., Sept. 15.—Appointments for the Northern Swedish conference of the Methodist Episcopal church were made at the annual conference session here by Bishop William A. Quayle, presiding officer, as follows:

District superintendent, Andrew Anderson, Marinette, Wis.; Ashland circuit, Gustav A. Westman, Park River; Cedar and Dagget, William Lundin; Calumet and Copper Range mission, George A. Schugren; Carney and Wallace, N. J. Chilstrom; Crystal Falls and Iron River, to be supplied; Duluth, first church and mission, C. W. R. Wermine; Escanaba and Cornell, C. E. Schildt; Hibbing and Chisholm to be supplied; Iron Mountain and Homestead, Otto A. Johnson; Ironwood, Louis Johnson; Ishpeming, Mich., C. F. Edwards; Marinette, Wis., O. W. Carlson; Marquette, Mich., K. M. Wilkins; Menominee, Mich., Klas Akerman; Milwaukee, Wis., Erik K. Ring; Mesaba range, Minn., to be supplied; Norway and Loretto, Mich., L. G. Edgren; Republic, Michigamme, Gwinn and Skandia, Mich., O. F. Challman; Superior and Mission, Wis., Elmer F. Lund; Two Harbors and Grand Marais, Minn., Axel Strom; Virginia, Zim and Gilbert, Minn., to be supplied; Wausau and Merrill, Wis., A. G. Olson.

BRAINERD IS TO HAVE GAS PLANT

Light & Power Company of St. Cloud to Install System.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Brainerd will have a gas plant in operation May 1, 1916, the Light & Power company of which A. G. Whitney of St. Cloud is the head, having a franchise and now has engineers on the ground securing a site and planning the location of the mains.

The Light & Power company people assert that it will be a modern plant, better, if possible than St. Cloud's plant, and the St. Cloud Gas company, of which Mr. Whitney is head, has furnished superior gas and never had a minute's breakdown in nine years of constant service.

Brainerd labor is to be employed exclusively. Brainerd men will be trained as calkers, mechanics, etc. It is expected to lay two or three miles of mains before the frost sets in.

SHOULD EDUCATE ALIENS

Greatest Need of Country, Declares Naturalization Examiner Doe.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—"One of the great problems of the country is the proper education of all alien men and women preparatory to their becoming citizens," said R. K. Doe of Duluth, naturalization examiner of the district embracing part of North Dakota, Wisconsin and Minnesota. Forty candidates are up for citizenship papers at the November term of court.

"Prospective citizens should know the English language. They should know more than the superficial knowledge embraced in a few questions asked them," said Mr. Doe. "Their education should commence at the earliest possible moment. Night schools are needed, such as they have on the Mesaba range and which are doing a world of good," said the examiner.

Raymond P. Crest, deputy commissioner of naturalization, is endeavoring to stir up a proper appreciation of the importance of the education of all alien men and women preparatory to their assuming citizenship.

POGUE CASE APPEALED.

Great Northern Refuses to Abide By Verdict in Noted Case.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Great Northern railway has filed an order for an appeal in the case of John P. Pogue of this city against the company in which the plaintiff was awarded $4,500 last February at the term of district court for damages received at Wilton on a railroad crossing in 1910. The case has been tried four times and a motion by the Great Northern for a new trial was denied by Judge C. W. Stanton of this city on Sept. 4.

BOY KILLED WHILE HUNTING NEAR BACKUS

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Merle Thoms, aged 15, while hunting ducks with Owen Baldwin, was accidentally killed when Baldwin pulled his gun from the boat, both charges entering Thoms' back. He lived three hours and was conscious to the end. The boys were hunting at First lake on the Crow Wing river, eighteen miles south of Backus. Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Thoms, parents of the boy, own a farm near Merrifield and at one time resided in Brainerd for seven years. They took the remains to Eden Valley for burial.

ODANAH INDIAN FAIR.

Annual Show to Be Held Sept. 22 to 24 Promises Much.

Odanah, Wis., Sept. 15.—A fine showing is expected to be made at the annual Indian fair to be held here Sept. 22, 23 and 24. The Indians promise to exhibit more livestock and farm products than ever before while the various amusement features of which Joseph Bigboy has charge will come up to standard.

ELECTRICITY FOR TOWNS

Number to Be Supplied By Plant at Williston, N. D.

Williston, N. D., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The movement to supply electricity from the Federal irrigation project plant near here for a number of towns and villages along the Great Northern east of here, including Ray, the prime mover in the proposition, has the support of the village of Epping, which will accept such service.

It was proposed to construct a high powered transmission line to handle the service for the towns along the route. About ten or fifteen cities and towns will be interested in the project, according to the present outlook.

MILL CITY MAN IS APPOINTED BY M'ADOO

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 15.—John Crosby, treasurer of Washburn-Crosby company, has been named by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo as a member of the permanent group of committees to continue the work of the recent Pan-American financial conference. Mr. Crosby will represent Costa Rica.

STOP SHIPPING OF CONTRABAND GOODS

Minot, N. D., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because of the vigilance of Ward county officials in the prosecution of the state prohibition law, handlers or would-be handlers of liquor in this city have long since abandoned the plan of shipping their supplies directly to this city, and Minot, instead, make their shipments to neighboring cities, but the activity of county authorities is aimed at such shipments, having deputies constantly stationed at the several highways leading to the city. Four wagon loads of liquor, inbound, were seized.

DULUTHIAN'S BROTHER IS CALLED IN FLORIDA

Marquette, Mich., Sept. 15.—The body of J. E. Reau of Escanaba, formerly of this city, who died in Tampa, Fla., Sept. 12, aged 56, is being brought here for burial. He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Alice and Viola, and one son, Joseph, Jr., all of Escanaba, a sister, Mrs. Mary McCarthy of Marquette, and a brother, Henry E. Reau of Duluth.

Mr. Reau at one time was engaged in the housemoving and ice business here. He served as agent for the Pabst Brewing company, and later conducted a life and fire insurance office. He was for five years a member of the Marquette school board.

CROSBY SUSPECTS HELD.

Discharged on One Accusation, Pair Detained on Another.

Crosby, Minn., Sept. 15.—Clarke and Cain, the two suspects detained since their arrest Sunday night on the charge of having burglar tools in their possession, were dismissed yesterday after a hearing on that charge and were immediately rearrested on a charge of breaking into a blacksmith shop and stealing the tools and on that accusation will have a hearing today.

Supt. F. A. Brown of the detective section of the Minnesota State Bankers' association came here and looked the men over but was not able to identify them as men wanted by his department. The Duluth police head wired, asking that one of the men be detained until an officer could arrive and look him over to see if he is not wanted in the Zenith City.

BAYFIELD CREAMERY.

Co-operative Concern Will Be Constructed By Farmers.

Bayfield, Wis., Sept. 15.—The farmers of this locality are joining in the movement to build and operate a co-operative creamery here, a society to that end having already been organized. The rapid growth of dairy herds in this section has made the movement possible.

MARQUETTE STORM HIT.

Most Severe Electrical Storm of Season Does Damage Monday.

Marquette, Mich., Sept. 15.—This city was visited by the most severe rain and thunder storm of the season Monday, which caused considerable damage.

Three dwelling houses in the city were struck by lightning; a barn at West Branch was set on fire and was destroyed with its contents, including two horses and fifty tons of hay; minor havoc was wrought to several streets here and some fifteen transformers of the electric light and power commission were burned out. The barn at West Branch was owned by Charles Kuppala. The loss in this instance is estimated at $1,500. The storm was accompanied by a heavy fall of rain, which, after a lull of several hours, was resumed in the night.

WANT GOVERNMENT TO BUILD ROADS

Couderay, Wis., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Members of the Sawyer county board have been circulating petitions, asking for an appropriation from the government of $20,000 to build new roads and repair the old ones in the Couderay Indian reservation. As nearly 95 per cent of the land in the reservation is owned by the Indians and not taxable, there has been very little money coming in from the taxes for road building, hence the poor roads in the reservation which the county is not trying to remedy.

Butternut Building Burns.

Butternut, Wis., Sept. 15.—The old high school building here was struck by lightning yesterday and burned to the ground. The bolt struck in the high tower. The structure is frame and the flames spread rapidly and were beyond control before the fire department arrived. The building, which was worth about $9,000, was not in use, a new building having been built.

Came to Minnesota in 49.

Lakeville, Minn., Sept. 15.—Michael Rowan, a pioneer citizen of Minnesota, was buried Monday at Lakeville and six of his grandchildren were pallbearers. In 1849 Mr. Rowan, who recently celebrated his seventy-seventh birthday, came to St. Paul, leaving there four years later to settle in Lakeville. Mr. and Mrs. Rowan celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on March 4, 1912.

Calumet Merchant Bankrupt.

Marquette, Mich., Sept. 15.—Edward F. Cummins, engaged in the merchandise business at Calumet, has filed voluntarily in the United States court a petition in bankrupcy. He schedules his liabilities at $5,650.17, and his assets at $894.60, inclusive of exemptions. The stock in trade is valued at $285, the household goods at $250. Of the claims $2,587.50 are secured and $2,855.46 are unsecured.

Mankato Pioneer Dies.

Mankato, Minn., Sept. 15.—J. G. Fowler, for many years a member of the city council and register of deeds, is dead at the age of 71. He was born in Yorkshire, Eng., but came with his family to St. Paul in the early '50s, locating in Mankato in 1858. He served in Company E, Ninth Minnesota volunteers, and took part in the relief of New Ulm when it was attacked by Sioux Indians. Afterward he located in Chicago, but lost everything in the great fire of 1872 and returned to Mankato.

REMARKABLE CASE of Mrs. HAM

Declares Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her Life and Sanity.

Shamrock, Mo.—"I feel it my duty to tell the public the condition of my health before using your medicine. I had falling, inflammation and congestion, female weakness, pains in both sides, backaches and bearing down pains, was short of memory, nervous, impatient, passed sleepless nights, and had neither strength nor energy. There was always a fear and dread in my mind, I had cold, nervous, weak spells, hot flashes over my body. I had a place in my right side that was so sore that I could hardly bear the weight of my clothes. I tried medicines and doctors, but they did me little good, and I never expected to get out again. I got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and I certainly would have been in grave or in an asylum if your medicines had not saved me. But now I can work all day, sleep well at night, eat anything I want, have no hot flashes or weak, nervous spells. All pains, aches, fears and dreads are gone, my house, children and husband are no longer neglected, as I am almost entirely free of the bad symptoms I had before taking your remedies, and all is pleasure and happiness in my home."—Mrs. JOSIE HAM, R. F. D. 1, Box 22, Shamrock, Missouri.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Marquette—There will be no change in the pastorate of the First Methodist Episcopal church. A resolution eulogistic of the servicesof Rev. Charles J. Johnson and inviting his return has been adopted by the official board and confirmed by the conference of the church, each action by unanimous vote, and District Superintendent Marvin has been requested to re-assign the pastor to this charge.

Negaunee—Hjalmar Dantes has gone to L'Anse to be section foreman for the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railway, succeeding his brother, Charles, who will devote his time to his general store at Herman.

Ishpeming—Rev. Marshall M. Allen, D. D., who recently resigned the pastorate of the Ishpeming Presbyterian church, going to Danville, Ky., his future home, has been made president of the Kentucky College for Women, succeeding Mrs. Riker, whose resignation was made necessary by ill health.

Marquette—Work has been started by the Foster Construction company on the house at the corner of Ridge and Cedar streets, formerly owned by George L. Burtis, which was recently purchased by A. B. Eldredge, and which is to be extensively remodeled before it will be occupied by Mr. Eldredge and family.

Hancock—Matt Peterson's saloon on Tezcuco street was entered early Sunday morning and the cash register rifled of about $30.

Marquette—Officials of the Marquette County Agricultural society announce that with financial aid which the society will receive this fall from the state, which will amount to $535, the total deficit incurred from the county fair, will be considerably less this year than in past years.

Champion—Arno Virta, a 16-year-old boy of Champion, was killed Sunday when an east bound South Shore freight ran over his body above his knees and cut off both of his legs.

Ishpeming — Edward Parent and Lloyd Pope of Hubbell, tired and hungry, both 16, asked Chief of Police Trevarrow for lodging. They were lodged in the city jail and Chief Trevarrow telephoned to Hubbell officials and found that the boys were of good standing in the community and were not running away from justice. They were sent to their homes.

Negaunee—Mrs. James Gleason, a resident of Negaunee for over forty-five years, died in her home. She had been ill for over a year and for several weeks lately was a patient in the Augustana hospital, Chicago. Mrs. Gleason was born in Mitchell, Wis., 58 years ago and came to Negaunee with her parents when 13 years old.

Marquette—Word has been received that John Aspholm, who was for five years a resident of Marquette, was found unconscious in a Northern Pacific freight car at Drummond, near Butte, Mont., and is now in a hospital in Anaconda with but slight chances for recovery.

Hancock—Isaac Linna, aged 45 years, dropped dead while walking along the street in Houghton Sunday. He had been employed in Houghton and Hancock the past five or six years and was known to quite a number of people in both towns. He is survived by a brother at Mohawk and by other relatives in the county.

Eagle River—The Keweenaw county road commission, at the next meeting of the board of supervisors, will ask for approximately $40,000 with which to carry out its program for new highways.

Houghton—Dr. R. J. Maas has let to John J. Michels the contract for the erection of a modern residence on the Vivian property, College avenue, recently purchased by him. It will be a solid brick structure of large size.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Balfour, N. D.—A robber attacked John Swanson as he slept in a box car in the local yards, obtained $40 and then locked Swanson in the car. It required several hours for Swanson to cut his way out to liberty by the use of a jack knife.

Rolla, N. D.—Attacked by an angry bull, and unable to flee because of his advanced age and enfeebled condition, Matti Koski, residing near here, was gored to death. The aged man was found by his son lying in a pasture on his farm.

Cando, N. D.—No decision has yet been reached by the Cando Creamery company in the matter of reconstructing the creamery destroyed by fire several days ago, but it is probable that the creamery will be rebuilt.

Nome, N. D.—S. J. Taylor, who has been principal of the Uxbridge school since its beginning seven years ago, has organized the new consolidated school here.

Courtenay, N. D.—The schools here will not be opened until Sept. 20, as the new building cannot be completed before that time.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Don McDonald left Monday over the Northern Pacific for San Francisco, Cal., to attend the sovereign grand lodge of the I. O. O. F., as a delegate from this state. The other delegates are G. L. Elken of Mayville, Robert M. Pollock of Fargo and H. J. Rowe of Casselton.

Fonda, N. D.—George A. Parsons, the eldest son of J. R. Parsons of Grand Forks by his first marriage, died here Saturday.

Grand Forks, N. D.—John Bell, an old resident, is dead, aged 83. Mr. Bell is survived by his wife, his children, Mrs. Thomas McMullen, Mrs. Daniel Dow and Charles Bell. Four children are dead. There are nine grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Madison—The will of the late E. N. Fauerback, Madison brewer, will be contested by Charles Fauerback, who asserts that other heirs used undue influence. The estate is said to be worth $25,000.

Thorpe—Leo Micke, aged 16, son of Barney Micke of this city, was accidentally shot and killed by his brother, Tony Micke, while they were shooting at a mark.

East Troy—The dam over Honey creek and an iron bridge south of the city were swept out by the high water following Sunday night's severe storm. The power from the dam operates a grist mill. The electric light plant was out of commission six hours.

Stevens Point—Fred Frater, who lives on a farm at Stevens Point, accidentally stepped on a man covered completely with straw in a stack. The man was brought to Stevens Point, adjudged insane and has been taken to the Northern hospital at Oshkosh.

Racine—Despondent because of business reverses and ill health, Joseph Stehlik swallowed paris green on Monday, aged 58 years. He was prominent in Bohemian circles while editor and publisher of the Bohemian semi-weekly Slavie, which at one time was the leading paper of its kind in America when owned by the late Carl Jonas.

New Richmond — Chief of Police Michael Martin has been sued by Thomas Harrington, who demands $10,000 damages alleging that amount due him for false inprisonment and assault and battery as a consequence of his recent arrest by Chief Martin.

Ashland—For the winner of first place in the free for all running race in a distance of one mile at the county fair the prize of a year's tuition at Northland college is offered.

Florence—Emerson Hough of Chicago, the author, has been visiting here. He spent several days hunting prairie chickens with friends.

Neenah—Associate Justice of the State Supreme Court J. C. Kerwin suffered a considerable loss when the barn on his farm near this city was struck by lightning and destroyed.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Crookston—Work has begun on the new garage to be constructed for Congressman Halvor Steenerson on Main and Fletcher streets, by Chris Eickhof & Son, who were awarded the contract for the general construction for $7,777.

Barnesville—The annual Clay county fair, which will take place on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week at Barnesville promises to be an overwhelming success in every way.

Moorhead—James Brauer, proprietor of the Northern hotel, who spent a night and a day in the county jail after being found guilty of conducting a disorderly house, was released when his wife paid his fine, with the costs amounting to $88.

Sauk Rapids — The contractors have finished their work on the bank building and the installation of fixtures has been completed so that the new Citizens' State bank in Sauk Rapids will be ready to open for business on next Thursday morning.

Faribault — Nine cases of typhoid fever have been reported at Richland, several miles from here. Members of the state board of health were there to look into the matter. Their opinion of the cause of the cases was that polluted surface water from around a barn had flowed into the well.

Bemidji—M. P. Benson and family of Des Moines, Iowa, have come here to reside. Mr. Benson has purchased a piece of land four and three-fourths miles northwest of Bemidji. The family will spend the winter in Bemidji while Mr. Benson is having a set of buildings erected on the farm.

International Falls — Sheriff White and son Jack are home after an absence of a month, during which time Mr. White with his family traveled by automobile through Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana and Illinois, starting from Cook.

Stillwater — Austin Shain was drowned Sunday afternoon in a small lake five miles from Lake Elmo, while hunting ducks, when he waded into the lake to get a dead bird and became entangled in the weeds. His home was at Bemidji and he was working for William Haase, a farmer. He was a nephew of Edwin McClintock of St. Paul.

Moorhead — The returns from the threshers show that the average yield of grain compares favorably in the vicinity of Moorhead with the big yields reported from other sections of the country.

Little Falls—O. H. Goodmanson, a Little Falls bee-keeper, carried away honors on his exhibits of honey at the state fair. Mr. Goodmanson exhibited in the largest class of honey exhibitors at the fair, those who have twenty-five colonies or more, and therefore had the most competition. He now has 115 colonies.

East Grand Forks — Two women, Mrs. Ethel Snowdie and Miss Inga Munson of Grand Forks and seven men, all transients, were arrested Sunday evening by Chief of Police Sullivan and Officer Keller in a raid on the John Vossler saloon on Minnesota Point on a charge of drunkenness.

St. Paul—Nora E. Robinson has been named clerk of the court of Ramsey county to succeed Matt Jensen, who died suddenly Sunday. Mr. Robinson was chief deputy clerk in the department.

Minneapolis—Ethel Rae, 15 years of age, who disappeared from her home last Friday, was found Monday by her father, W. R. Rae, at Frederick, Wis. A telephone message to Mr. Rae told that the girl was there.

St. Paul—James Keenan, representing the Interstate Telephone & Telegraph company at Austin, has petitioned the state railway and warehouse commission to compel the Northwestern Telephone company, a rival, to increase its rates in Austin.

Rheumatism Easily Relieved By Cleansing the Blood

S. S. S. Gives Quick Relief by Toning Up the Blood

Yes, but how? A natural question. The answer is that you must cleanse your blood by stimulating it to healthy, vigorous action, so that it will throw off the germs and impurities that cause Rheumatism. The action of the wonderful blood purifier, S. S. S. is to practically renew the life blood, give it vigor, stimulate the flow making it throw out the germs and the poison impurities. The excruciating pains of Rheumatism, whether it is the shooting, stabbing Sciatica, the gripping agony of muscular Rheumatism, or aching arms and legs that break up sleep will be entirely relieved by S. S. S. Don't use nostrums and drugs. Take the blood bath—Nature's blood tonic, S. S. S. Get it at any druggist, but insist upon S. S. S. Let us tell you about blood diseases. Send for booklet "What the Mirror Tells," or if yours is a peculiar case, write S. S. S. Co., Atlanta, Ga., but begin treatment at once.

MARKET HAS SHARP BREAK

Wheat Declines on Good Weather and Predicted Heavier Receipts.

Flaxseed Slumps With Lack of Interest By Crushers; Trading Light.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 15.—The market was weak again at the close. September wheat closed 1¼c off; December 2⅝@2¾c off and May 2¼c off. September durum closed unchanged; October unchanged, and May ½c off.

Oats closed ¼c off at 32½c for on the track; rye unchanged at 91c for on the track, and barley unchanged at from 43c to 53c for on the track.

Operators in the wheat market were on the tenterhooks again today. After opening over 1c off on an accumulation of selling pressure, the September future recovered sharply on renewed demand from elevators and dealers to cover outstanding contracts for immediate delivery. That buying became less urgent later, and with the appearance of more selling, quotations ran down to around the opening figures.

Receipts locally were liberal, there being 632 cars of wheat inspected against 815 last year, and there were 886 cars of all grains on the tracks for the day. Cash wheat held firm on the market here on a basis of 4c over September, but stuff to arrive Sept. 20 was easier at 2c over.

Operators look for a generally low range of quotations in view of forecasted heavy receipts from now on, with every likelihood of the demand being lighter. After the present outstanding contracts have been filled, it is thought that buyers are likely to hold off for concessions. It was figured out by traders today that wheat could not be bought at around present prices on the Northwestern markets with any hope of realizing cost out of it in sales to Eastern operators as the situation now stands.

It was commented upon that durum wheat was strong today, while spring wheat turned weak. That condition was attributed to demand springing up from exporters and to some trade having been worked locally. With the spread between September and Winnipeg, October wheat now widened today to 9c as against 6c last Saturday. It is pointed out that foreign business in American spring wheat is placed out of the question.

September wheat opened 1¼c off at 96½c. Then with good buying it firmed up to the same extent. Breaking again, its figure stood at 96¾c at the noon hour. December wheat opened 1¼c off at 94c, braced up 1c and then on heavy offerings and lack of buyers' interest, its figure sagged off to 92¾c, subsequently firming up ⅝c. May opened ¼c off at 99¼c and weakened to 97¼c.

September durum opened ½c off at $1.01, and advanced to $1.02⅜. October opened ¼c off at 96½c, and gained 1¼c. December did not move, its figure remaining at 96c.

Flaxseed Weak.

Better weather reports over the Northwest and lack of support from crushers led to weakness in flaxseed. Quotations weakened through the session on light trading and that in only small lots.

September flax closed 2¾c off; October opened unchanged at $1.67¼, and closed 2½c off at $1.64¾; November opened unchanged at $1.67¼ and closed 2½c off at $1.64¾; December opened unchanged at $1.66½, and closed 2½c off at $1.64 asked.

At Winnipeg, October flax closed 3c off at $1.43½ asked, and December 2½c off at $1.43¾.

At Buenos Aires, flax closed 1c off at $1.23¾, and London, ⅞c off at $1.93¾.

SERVICE

Success in any business is measured by the value of its Service.

The essentials that go to make Service of value to investors are the ability to advise intelligently, the excellence of organization and the equipment for the execution of orders.

But back of Service should be financial soundness, known integrity and established confidence. These do not come over night but are the slow growth of years.

For a quarter of a century we have been in close and active touch with the security and commodity markets. We have always been in position to give the best possible Service because we have spared no effort or expense to secure from reliable sources, information of value to investors.

The present offers excellent opportunities for the investor but, at the same time, conditions do not warrant indiscriminate commitments in the markets and the need for guidance is imperative. We invite inquiries, personal or by correspondence.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Late decline in Winnipeg and private reports of better weather in Canada caused some pressure and the undertone was easier. Spot market was irregular, but generally steady with American grades ½d higher. Cargo market was easy, winters 4½d lower. Manitobas 3d lower, and Platas and Indians unchanged. There was less inquiry for parcels, but few shippers offers. English country markets were strong at a shilling advance, and native wheat is moving slowly and readily absorbed.

"Corn was easy with free Plate offers and quiet consumption. Spot market was depressed and the cargo market 3d lower."

Foreign crop summary:

India—Light showers fell and more is wanted.

United Kingdom — Harvesting is showing better results. Movement is slow and is being rapidly absorbed.

Italy—Wheat prices are advancing.

Holland—Quality of American arrivals is unsatisfactory.

Russia—Harvest is really a large one. Wheat is offered at 21 shillings per quarter in store.

Export demand for wheat was reported very limited today at New York. Some business has developed in Manitobas and exporters were reported fair buyers of futures early. Notwithstanding the decline in the markets of 1½c to 2½c per bu, durum wheat was higher than last night.

C. E. Lewis & Co. had the following from Minneapolis: "Great Northern has put restrictions on its cars going off its own lines and this has caused discrimination in the buying by the mills, which is tending to weaken further the cash market."

Weekly Iowa weather and crop report as received by Bartlett-Frazier company: "Rains have further delayed threshing and other farm operations. While rains were beneficial in softening the ground in corn fields, they have kept the crop growing and prevented any material advancement toward maturity. Only the very earliest planted fields are beginning to dent, probably not more than 20 per cent of the crop has passed the roasting ear stage. However, with favorable weather in the future the improvement will be rapid as soil conditions are now excellent. Rains have also put the ground in fine shape for plowing and considerable of that work was done during the week and some wheat was sown. Pastures are excellent and there will be an abundance of all seeds."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Lower Quotations From Liverpool Prove Bearish to Wheat.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—Wheat prices leaned to the bear side of the market today, influenced chiefly by lower quotations from Liverpool. British traders are reported to have adopted a waiting attitude, relying on enlarged receipts soon both in the United States and Canada. Official estimates of the Canadian yield amounted to nearly double last year's total. The opening here, which ranged from ⅝c decline to ½c advance, with September at $1.01¼ to $1.01½ and December at 95⅜@⅝ to 95⅞c, was followed by a moderate upturn and then a sag all around.

Subsequently reports of heavy hedging sales at Minneapolis gave the market here a material setback. The close was steady, ⅜c to 1½@1⅝c net lower with September at $1.00½ and December at 94@94¼c.

Fears of frost tended to harden corn. Pit offerings were readily absorbed. After opening unchanged to ⅜c higher, the market scored some additional gains before beginning to react.

In later transactions the market sympathized to some extent with the break in wheat values. The close was unsettled, at a shade to ⅛c above last night.

Oats were strengthened a little by wet weather. Trade, though, was light.

Provisions rose steadily on account of substantial buying and because of offerings being only moderate. The orders to purchase appeared to be largely for investment.

NOTE—Weekly summaries of condition in the grain region will be telegraphed from Washington, April 11 and each Tuesday thereafter during the growing season, except that this summary will be telegraphed and published on Wednesday whenever the preceding Monday is a holiday.

Summary of weather and crop conditions in the corn and wheat region for the week ending Sept. 14, 1915.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 15, 1915.—Generally warm weather and much sunshine during the week in the principal corn growing districts proved very beneficial and maturing of the crop made rapid progress, except in the more northern portions where it was too cool and wet.

In the spring wheat belt threshing was generally interrupted by rain the latter part of the week.

In the winter wheat belt except in a few restricted areas the soil is in excellent condition and preparing the ground for seeding is progressing rapidly; but little wheat as yet sown.

Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 15.—Barrett & Zimmerman report: Market continues about the same—good clearance in cavalry and artillery classes, improving demand for heavy draft, delivery and logging horses. Buyers report offerings becoming more numerous in the county as the harvest is being wound up. Shipments to Baldwin, Wis., and Sandstone, Minn., and about the average number of local deliveries were made. Prices show little change:

STRENGTH IN SPECIALTIES

Allis Chalmers Most Active Issue in Stock Market.

Dullness in the Investment Shares and Closing Irregular.

New York, Sept. 15.—Early trading in stocks today was mainly a repetition of recent sessions. War shares furnished the only features of interest, Bethlehem Steel making a new high record at an advance of a point to 350 and Crucible Steel breaking into new ground at 96½, an over-night advance of 1¾. United States Steel again manifested uncertain tendencies, opening at a slight decline, soon recovering but as suddenly reacting. Investment issues were more or less neglected with no marked changes in that branch of the list.

A new leader appeared in the first hour, Allis Chalmers superseding United States Steel and Crucible Steel as the most active issue. The stock rose 2 to 44½ and then fell away moderately. Other war shares shaded 1 to 3 points except Bethlehem Steel preferred, which rose 10 points to 157⅞, and American Locomotive which rose 3½ to 68¾. United States Steel made a second recovery and coppers also improved. Union Pacific regained its fractional loss, but Rock Island broke 2¼ to 20 on confirmation of the report that suit was to be begun against present and former directors of the operating company.

Bonds were steady in the face of more foreign selling.

New features of strength developed among the specialties later, such issues as United States Alcohol, United Cigar Manufacturing, Continental Can and American Ice making appreciable advances. United States Steel was under renewed pressure.

Today's session was professional throughout with activity in the specialties and dullness in investment issues. Weakness in Minneapolis & St. Louis issues and lower prices for the more representative stocks featured the final hour. The closing was irregular.

ORE MOVEMENT DEPENDS ON SHIPS

Supply of Bottoms Will Determine Size of Season's Shipments.

Movement of iron ore from the Head of the Lakes to eastern ports during the remainder of the season will be limited only by the vessel tonnage available, in the opinion of steel trade authorities. Steel manufacturers will require all the raw material that can be transported.

Eastern Pennsylvania furnaces are reported to have been buying Lake Superior iron ores more freely during the last few weeks. Several transactions, involving large tonnages, have been closed, an interesting statement in that connection being to the effect that one consumer has doubled the amount of a previous large order.

It is said that with the ocean freight situation as it is, Argentine iron ore cannot be brought in upon a competitive basis with iron from the Mesaba range, and that condition is thought likely to continue as long as the war lasts.

CANADA NEEDS AMERICAN SHIPS

Abolishes Usual Regulations to Facilitate Handling of Crop.

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—In order that the grain-carrying business on the Great Lakes may be expedited as much as possible, and so that the withdrawal of much tonnage thence to the Atlantic trade may be overcome, it has been decided this season to relax the regulations so as to permit American vessels to carry from one Canadian port to another.

The action of the Canadian government in suspending the usual requirements which necessitate American vessels carrying goods to or from Canadian ports to alternate between both of the two countries in such transportation—that is, after visiting a Canadian port, being compelled to touch at an American port going to another Canadian port—is due to the shortage in Canadian tonnage.

A large number of Canadian vessels, especially the smaller ones, have been taken to the Atlantic coast during the past year, and the dominion government finds itself woefully short in bottoms to carry grain and other commodities.

The action of the Ottawa government is not unexpected, for with an enormous crop to move from the Canadian West, there seemed no other way of handling it. The same thing was done three years ago when another heavy crop embarrassed the handling facilities.

READY FOR HEAVY FALL BUSINESS

Buffalo Has Much Additional Terminal Elevator Capacity.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 15.—In discussing the fall outlook for lake trade a manager of one of the rail-lake lines said the other day:

"Shippers have just cause for encouragement in planning for the business of this month and October. It seems certain that there will be a most satisfactory increase. Although freight has not been as heavy as hoped for, the summer season has been fair. However, the heavy business looked for from now on will, no doubt, fully compensate boat-owners for losses during the idle season."

Few of the line vessels have been called upon to handle much business this summer, and it is understood that practically no money has been made.

"Shipments of grain from the upper lakes to this city are three weeks behind those of last year. There has been but little grain for shipment from the Head of the Lakes all summer, so that receipts here record a falling off of more than 7,000,000 bushels as compared with the total for the first week of September, 1914.

"However, when the rush does come Buffalo will be well prepared to handle it. Within the last year storage capacity has been increased here by three big houses which can handle a total of 3,500,000 bushels. These elevators are the Superior, with facilities for 1,500,000 bushels; the Eastern Grain company's structure, and the new Terminal elevator, each with capacity for 1,000,000 bushels. With these new elevators Buffalo can now handle more than 500,000 bushels of grain every twenty-four hours."

CANADIAN TUG LIBELED.

Is Attached at Ashland for $500 But Soon Released.

Ashland, Wis., Sept. 15.—Sheriff Dormady, acting for United States Marshal Appleby, attached the tug Traveler, owned in Port Arthur, Ont., under libel proceedings started to collect a $500 bill presented by Joseph Marx, a ship-chandler who supplied the boat with meats and groceries. When Marshal Appleby arrived to take charge of the boat under the libel proceedings, he found the claim had been settled and he ordered the tug released.

The Traveler has been engaged in towing rafts of pulpwood all summer from Canadian shores and had just arrived here with the last and largest raft containing 8,000 cords when it was seized.

STEAMERS DAMAGED IN WIND AT SAULT

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 15.—The steamer W. L. Brown, down bound, yesterday afternoon was blown ashore near the pumping station in a heavy wind which struck this section. The tug Sabin released her without damage.

The barge Connelly Brothers, in tow of the steamer Venezuela, up bound, was unable to make headway against the heavy wind and struck the center pier below the locks, breaking several timbers on her bow. Tugs towed her to Hickler Brothers' drydock, where repairs will be made.

Fog and winds delayed steamers yesterday in passing the Sault.

FAVORS GENERAL COURSE IN LAW

Secretary Turner Would Instruct Men in All Walks of Life.

A law course, covering information on legal topics of a general nature without the student aiming to enter legal practice, is advocated by A. L. Turner, secretary of the educational department of the Y. M. C. A. Such a course he does not deem feasible for this season, but he hopes to round up enough students in the near future to insure the success of a course next year.

NOTICE OF LIS PENDENS—
State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis—ss.
District Court, Eleventh Judicial District.

George W. Buck, Plaintiff,
vs.
Hannah Parry; the unknown heirs of Hannah Parry, deceased; Evan Phillips; John Parry; John Parry, widower; John McKinley; Duncan McKinley, Jr.; Mesaba Land Company, a corporation; Eugene A. Woodward; Robert Osborn; George Burnette; Samuel Muncie and John Orser, partners as Muncie & Orser, and individually; also all other persons unknown claiming any right, title, estate, interest, or lien in the real estate described in the complaint herein, Defendants.

Notice Is Hereby Given, That a complaint has been filed in the above entitled action, in the above entitled court, and that an action has been commenced in said court by the above named plaintiff against the above named defendants, the object of which action is to obtain a judgment that said plaintiff is the owner in fee simple of the following described real property and that said defendants and each of them have no estate or interest therein or lien thereon.

The said real estate affected by this action is situated in the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, and is described as follows, to-wit:

The East Half of the Northwest Quarter (E½ of NW¼), except the interests and rights acquired by, and the right of way granted to, Duluth & Iron Range Railroad Company by Wayland W. Sanford by deed dated August 26th, 1887, conveying railway right of way one hundred feet in width over the Southeast Quarter of the Northwest Quarter (SE¼ of NW¼) of the above description, of Section Nine (9), in Township Fifty-one (51), North of Range Twelve (12), West of the Fourth (4th) principal Meridian, according to the government survey thereof.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—

Default has been made in the payment of the sum of two thousand one hundred and eighty-two and no-100 dollars ($2,182.00), which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage, made, executed and delivered by Lida Osborn, unmarried, mortgagor, to J. B. Sattler, mortgagee, bearing date the 2nd day of September, 1911, and with a power of sale therein contained, which said mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota on the 7th day of September, 1911, at 4:15 o'clock p. m., in Book 291 of Mortgages, on page 230 thereof.

Said above described mortgage is upon and covers certain real estate therein and hereinafter described, which said real estate, after the execution and delivery of said mortgage, was, pursuant to the order and decree of the District Court of the Eleventh Judicial District of the State of Minnesota, in and for the County of St. Louis, brought under the operation and provisions of an Act Concerning Land Titles, being Chapter 305 of the General Laws of the State of Minnesota for the year 1905, and all acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto, and the title to said real estate duly confirmed and registered by the Registrar of Titles as in and by said act provided; which said mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was thereafter duly assigned by said J. B. Sattler, mortgagee, to Louis Cameron, by a written instrument dated the 26th day of August, 1913, which said instrument was acknowledged, however, on the 25th day of July, 1913, and duly filed and registered in the office of said Registrar of Titles on the 26th day of August, 1913, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, as document No. 12662, and entered in Register of Titles No. 56, on page 281 thereof, as a memorial upon the Certificate of Title numbered 17230, covering the mortgaged premises hereinafter described, said above described mortgage also being referred to in said certificate of title; and no action or proceeding has been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now Therefore, Notice Is Hereby Given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, and situate in the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, namely:

Lot eighteen (18), block thirty-one (31), Virginia, County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, according to the recorded plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County; reserving all minerals, with the right to mine and remove the same; with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at his office in the Court House, in the City of Duluth, in said County and State, on the 4th day of October, 1915, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said mortgage indebtedness and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and seventy-five dollars ($75.00) as attorneys' fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

WANT ANYTHING?

Herald Want Ads Always Bring Results

"One thing at a time is all that you
Can hope successfully to do."
So said the wise men long ago,
But nowadays it is not so.

If these wise men were here today,
They'd make amends, we know, and say:
"That Herald Want Ads each day will do
A score of useful things for you."

They buy, they sell, the best they find,
They fill the wants of every kind;
They do a hundred things a day
That you can do no other way.

RUSSIANS ABOUT TO REASSUME THE OFFENSIVE

MILLIONS OF DOLLARS WORTH OF AMERICAN GOODS DECLARED FORFEITED TO BRITISH CROWN

CARGOES OF FOUR VESSELS CONFISCATED

Consist Mostly of Meat Shipped By Chicago Packers Long Ago.

Prize Court Holds Products Were Destined to German Government.

Complete Loss to Shippers as No Advance Payments Were Made.

London, Sept. 16.—The British court today condemned the greater part of the American products forming the cargoes of four steamships. The products valued at several million dollars are declared forfeited to the crown.

The court held that the products were destined for the German government and not for consumption in Denmark, whither the vessels detained were bound.

Judgment Made.

The judgment was delivered by Sir Samuel T. Evans, president of the court. It involves the cargoes of the Norwegian steamships Kim, Alfred Nobel, Bjornstjerne-Bjornson and Fridland. All the goods on the vessels, consisting principally of American meats products, are confiscated, with the exception of a small proportion which the court released to claimants.

The case has been pending for several months. The steamships were seized last November and although efforts were made by the American owners to obtain an early trial the British authorities set the hearing for June. The hearing closed last month and judgment was reserved until today.

In a lengthy judgment, Sir Samuel said it was plain these ships were carrying toward Copenhagen, when captured, more than thirteen times the

NATIONAL MEDICAL EXAMINATION PLAN

Would Have Day Set for Everyone to Consult Doctor.

New York, Sept. 16.—Plans for a national medical examination day; a children's health crusade and a Tuberculosis Sunday to be held during tuberculosis week, Dec. 6 to 12, were announced today by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis.

The society will seek to have everyone, sick or well, visit a physician on examination day, Dec. 8. Stores, factories and offices will be asked to have employes examined. Two days later school children all over the country will be instructed in healthful living.

The society hopes to have tuberculosis discussed in more than 125,000 churches on Tuberculosis Sunday. Clubs, fraternities and societies will also be asked to give at least one day during the week to aid the campaign.

BLAMING GERMANY FOR LOSS OF ONOKO LOOKED ON AS PREPOSTEROUS

Duluth Marine Men Say Rusting of Plate Was Cause.

Owners Will Conduct Examination of Officers and Crew.

Duluth Vessel Men View Reports of German Activity as Joke.

Reports from the lower lakes to the effect that there is suspicion that the steamer Onoko, which sank suddenly off Knife island on Tuesday afternoon while on her way to Toledo, Ohio, with a cargo of 110,000 bushels of wheat, was destroyed by agents of the German-Austrian alliance, in view that the wheat was destined for export to England, are scoffed at and discredited in Duluth.

Capt. John Monaghan, government inspector of hulls at Duluth, declares that, in his opinion, the sinking was due to the breaking of a plate under the floor of the engine, due to its being eaten away with rust; and to no other reason. The captain points out that the very fact that the place where the leak occurred, which filled and sank the steamer, was so located that it was difficult to inspect unless the steamer was in drydock, would make it impossible to reach that point for anybody with a desire to destroy the steamer.

G. A. Tomlinson, agent for the steamer at this point, laughed at the idea when asked about it. Said he:

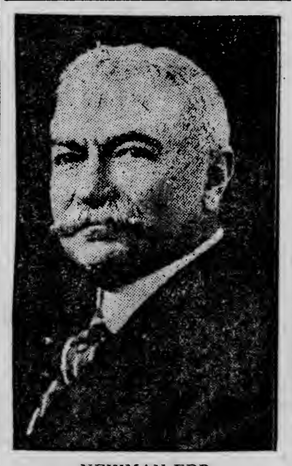

"It is preposterous. It is enough to say that the Onoko was owned by the Steinbrenners of Cleveland, Germans, and the cargo was owned by the J. Rosenbaum Grain company of Toledo, Germans. I suppose they sank the steamer and stood for the loss just to get even with England, and I suppose that the Rosenbaums just bought that wheat to get it out of the way."

Examining Crew.

Dispatches from Cleveland say that the Steinbrenners will today conduct an examination of the officers and crew of the Onoko to satisfy themselves regarding the rumor of willful destruction, and add that George M.

RAILROAD REORGANIZER AWAITS ACTION OF POISON

NEWMAN ERB, Who Took Poison in Mistake for Headache Tablets.

ERB'S LIFE IN BALANCE

Every Effort Made to Save Financier and Railroad Reorganizer.

Took Two Poison Tablets in Mistake for Headache Cure.

New York, Sept. 16.—Newman Erb, wealthy financier and railroad reorganizer, who swallowed two poison tablets by mistake, is today confined to his summer home at Deal, N. J., calmly awaiting the outcome of the efforts being made by three specialists to save his life. He spent a comfortable night; is virtually free from pain and entirely conscious. The physicians hope that the prompt rejection of the poison by the stomach and the first aid rendered by Mr. Erb's valet prevented all but a small amount of the poison from entering the financier's system. However, they have told Mr. Erb and his family that if a considerable quantity of the

DECISION IN SWITCHING CASE BIG VICTORY FOR CITY'S RIVER SUBURBS

Distance Tariff Between Duluth and New Duluth Is Abolished.

Removes Heavy Handicap From Growing Industrial District.

State Railroad and Warehouse Commission Upholds Duluth.

By a decision handed down yesterday and received today from the state railroad and warehouse commission in the noted "switching charge case," Industrial Duluth wins one of the most important victories that could come to it at this time; and the rapidly growing industrial district at the western end of the city is saved from possible elimination.

This case was started in protest against the action of the Northern Pacific road, which abolished Switching District No. 3, which included industries located on tracks of the Zenith Furnace company and docks, and including New Duluth, Spirit Lake and Fond du Lac; and established there a distance tariff rate under the Cashman law, as though that part of the city lay without the corporate limits. The case was started by the traffic commission of the Duluth Commercial club early last year, and the decision in favor of the contention of the traffic commission has just been handed down. The findings of the commission are in complete accord with the contentions of the traffic commission.

Had the act of the road been allowed to stand, New Duluth and the other points would have been at least handicapped to a very great degree by railroad rates. Up to Jan. 1, 1914, at which time the order of the roads took effect, the switching charges in effect to the district involved had been as follows:

"Switching cars between local industries in district No. 1 and district No. 2, 15 cents per net ton, minimum charge $3 per car; between district No. 1 and district No. 3, 25 cents per net ton, minimum charge $5 per car (except on lumber, lath, shingles and ties from district No. 3), and between district No. 2 and district No. 3, 25 cents per net ton, minimum charge $5 per car."

District Abolished.

Under the new order, district No. 3 was abolished and the distance tariff

RUSSIAN DUMA IS TO BE PROROGUED

Caused By Differences Between Members of Cabinet and Legislature.

London, Sept. 16.—Reuter's Petrograd correspondent telegraphs that the Russian duma will be prorogued today until the middle of November.

An imperial decree to this effect has been issued, the correspondent says, and was communicated last night by Premier Goremykin to the cabinet and to Michael Rodzianko, president of the duma. The premier also conferred with the military and civil authorities of Petrograd and Moscow with regard to forestalling popular demonstrations.

Differences of opinion between the cabinet and the duma have been clearly defined since the formation early this month of a majority in the duma of Liberal and Progressive elements. The new majority put forward a program of important reforms and it was reported that the cabinet might resign. Premier Goremykin went to the field headquarters of Emperor Nicholas to discuss the situation and on his return to Petrograd it was said the government regarded the program of the Liberals as untimely.

PRESSING ATTACKS IN GALICIA; HOLDING GERMANS IN POLAND

Czar's Troops Also Claim to Have Thrown Back Invaders Where Petrograd Railroad Was Cut.

Drive of Von Hindenburg Said to Be Losing Vigor and Von Mackensen Is Entangled in Marshes.

Germans Capture City of Pinsk

Berlin, Sept. 16, via London, 2:30 p. m.—The capture of the Russian city of Pinsk, about 100 miles east of Brest-Litovsk, was announced today at army headquarters.

London, Sept. 16.—Coincident with Earl Kitchener's optimistic remarks in the house of lords concerning the position of the Russian armies, they are showing an increasing disposition to reassume the offensive at many points on the eastern front. They are not only pressing their attacks against the Austrians in Galicia, but for the most part are holding up the German rush in mid-Poland. The Russians also assert they have thrown back the invaders near Svientsyany, where the German cavalry cut the Petrograd railroad between Dvinsk and Vilna. The German battery still holds out at the bridgehead near Dvinsk, although the Russians apparently are holding their opponents in check in this region.

Russians Taking Prisoners.

Counting their captures in Galicia the Russians lately have been taking more prisoners than they have been losing. In England hopes are rising that Earl Kitchener did not make an incautious prediction when he declared Germany had shot her bolt, but that his statement was based on facts. It is said here that Von Hindenburg's drive is losing its vigor, while Von Mackensen is striving to overcome the difficulties of the marsh country and the Austrians appear to be unable to regain the upper hand in Galicia.

The Balkan situation has not reached a settlement. The British press views Bulgaria's attitude with some anxiety. "Bulgarian aims," says the Manchester Guardian, "form the subject of increasingly anxious thought by the Entente powers."

German Plans Upset.

London, Sept. 16.—Petrograd correspondents speculating on the possibilities of the German campaign in Russia, which seems not easy to understand with the present moment, point out that the recent Russian successes upset the plans of the Germans to dig Taken Prisoners Since May 1, Is Report Coming From Geneva.

Geneva, Switzerland, Sept. 16, via Paris.—The number of Russians taken prisoner since May 1 by the Austrians and Germans is reckoned by La Suisse at 2,571,750. It is stated that 6,000 guns and 4,000 machine guns have been captured. The newspaper states that these figures have been compiled from official bulletins issued at Berlin and Vienna. It adds:

"The official Austrian and German figures given out prior to May 1 showed a total of 1,395,000 Russian prisoners not including civilians or the dead and wounded. Gen. Polivanoff, the Russian minister of war, informed the duma that the total of officers and men at the front since the beginning of the war was 5,060,000.

TURK BANKERS PLAN MOVING TO ASIA MINOR

London, Sept. 16.—Advices from Constantinople, according to the Athens correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph company, are to the effect that all government financial institutions such as the Ottoman bank, are making preparations to move to the interior of Asia Minor. It has been learned from the same sources that because of the fear of an insurrection in the Turkish army all Turkish artillery soon will be placed in charge of Germans.

MAYOR POWER IS DELIGHTED

Says Partial Payment of Taxes Is Beginning of End.

Will Renew Demand for Seizure of Ore in Shipment.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—"Delighted" was Mayor Powers' comment today upon the fact that the mining companies of the Hibbing district have paid the taxes assessed against the properties which they lease from the state. The result is regarded here as a distinct victory for Mayor Power and the village, and Mr. Power himself considers it of the highest importance.

"It is the beginning of the end," declared Mr. Power this morning. "I am positive that there will be an early settlement of the whole matter, a settlement that will amply protect the village on all points."

Officials Jubilant.

The partial pilyment has created the most favorable impression in Hibbing, and there is a general revival of the hope that a settlement in full may be had. Village officials and friends of the administration are openly jubilant. General satisfaction is expressed by the people of the town and there is a more hopeful feeling than at any time since the fight began.

It is stated here that Mayor Power will at once renew his demand upon State Auditor Freus that he seize all ore in shipment from the Hibbing mines for the non-payment of taxes. This demand, it is expected, will be made by wire today.

MEXICANS CELEBRATE BUT OFFER NO VIOLENCE TO U.S.

Shooting and Shouting on Mexican Side in Honor of Independence Day.

Over 4,000 American Troops Ready to Answer Any Hurry Calls.

Brownsville, Tex., Sept. 16.—Beginning at midnight, the start of Mexican independence day, there was much shooting and shouting along the Mexican side of the river, but no disorders were observed and absolutely nothing in the nature of a threat toward the American side of the river. All early reports to the army and civil officials indicated a peaceful celebration of the holiday by Mexicans of this section.

Mexican soldiers concentrated at Matamoros today for a forenoon parade. Band concerts and dances attracted large crowds to that city, but practically no Americans crossed the river from here to see the sights.

Over 4,000 Troops Ready.

Brownsville, Tex., Sept. 16.—Mexican independence day dawned along the lower Texas border with more than 4,000 United States troops under arms, ready for hurry calls to any section where evidence was seen of the general uprising against Americans and the United States, which rumor, stimulated by recent bandit lawlessness, had said would take place today.

The celebration yesterday passed without untoward incident and there was no indication of trouble when the "fiesta" began this morning.

Carranza authorities in border garrisons across the river gave assurances several days ago that every effort would be made to quell any hostilities against Americans which might occur on their side of the international boundary. Two thousand additional Carranza soldiers arrived in Matamoros yesterday. The Laredo garrison, the commander there announced, would spend the holiday patrolling the river in both directions to prevent trouble.

There is no ranch house in the lower Rio Grande valley which has not been stocked with means for defense, it is said.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

Several millions of dollars worth of American goods, mostly meat products, carried by four steamships, have been declared forfeited to the crown by a British prize court. The court held that the products were destined for the German government and not for consumption in Denmark, whither the vessels detained were bound.

German newspapers have published by official permission dispatches intimating that Roumania's participation in the war may be momentarily expected, according to advices through Copenhagen.

Following Roumania's persistent refusal to allow war supplies for Turkey to pass through her territory, Austro-German troops have recently been massed on the Roumanian frontier, while Roumania has affected the mobilization of large bodies of her troops.

According to unofficial dispatches from Petrograd, the Russian duma is to be prorogued immediately until the middle of November, an imperial decree to this effect having been issued.

Measures to forestall popular demonstrations are said to have been taken in Petrograd and Moscow.

It is reported through Athens that the Turco-Bulgarian agreement will be formally ratified by imperial decree in Constantinople Sept. 26, and that the new frontier will be traced by German officers.

Press advices from Petrograd received in Italy state that Emperor Nicholas has granted amnesty to all political prisoners, numbering more than 100,000.

Two Austrian torpedo boat destroyers are reported in dispatches from Italy to have been sunk by an Italian submarine in the Adriatic.

There have been additional spirited artillery exchanges along the front in France, the activity having been particularly notable in the region of Arras, around Roye and in the vicinity of Lassigny. Further down the line also, the big guns have been active, the firing extending into the Vosges mountain region.

THINK PLAN IS GOOD ONE

City Commissioners Favor Big Fund to Back Industries.

City commissioners look with favor on the proposal of S. I. Levin, Holland hotel owner, to have 2,000 Duluthians contribute $500 each to a $1,000,000 fund for the purpose of making this city a big manufacturing center.

Mr. Levin's plan as outlined in The Herald last evening, is believed by the commissioners to be a good one.

"The theory is very good," Mayor Prince said this morning. "Whether it can work out or not, it is hard to say."

Although Commissioner Silberstein is enthusiastic about the proposition, he is of the opinion that it will be hard to raise $1,000,000 at this time. Some of the contributors should be allowed to give any amount, to make it possible to complete the fund, he suggested.

"I have never heard of a better plan," said Commissioner Voss, "and am certain it would bring some good industries to this city. However, at this time, I am afraid it will be very hard to find 2,000 persons who will contribute $500 each."

"The theory is a very good one," Commissioner Farrell said, "but I have not studied the matter carefully enough to comment on it at this time."

According to Mr. Levin's plan, part of the $1,000,000 would be invested in any promising industry willing to locate here. Two-fifths of the capital would be contributed by this fund, the owners investing the remaining three-fifths. This would bring $1,500,000 for investment in Duluth.

BATCHELOR WILL ORGANIZE GRADE FOOTBALL LEAGUE

J. R. BATCHELOR, Recreational Director.

HUGH SHOOK, Assistant at Chester Park.

Next Tuesday afternoon J. R. Batchelor, recreational director, will organize the grade school football league in the council chambers of the city hall.

Notices were sent out this morning to all the school principals in the city with a request that two boys be selected by each school as the representatives at the organization meeting next Tuesday afternoon, when officers will be elected, rules and regulations adopted and a schedule drawn up for the season. The meeting will begin at 4:30 o'clock.

Games in the football league will be played on the three public playgrounds at Chester and Harrison parks and Fifty-second avenue west, under the supervision of Director Batchelor and his assistants, Hugh Shook and Richard Duffy. The former will be in charge at Chester park throughout this fall and coming winter, while Mr. Duffy is at the Fifty-second avenue grounds.

This afternoon workmen erected the goal posts at the three grounds and within the next day or two the football fields will be chalked and details arranged for the opening of the football league.

In addition to the football league, Director Batchelor plans to organize a lawn hockey league for the girls in the grade schools. During the next few weeks the girls are to be taught the game, which is new in this part of the country, and shortly after the league will be organized.

PAY WAS TOO SLOW.

Hotel Clerk Charged With Making Private Use of Funds.

Because he waited too long in paying a debt, Christ Johnson, 30, is in jail today on a charge of petit larceny. He will be given a hearing Sept. 17. Bail was fixed at $100 after he pleaded not guilty before Judge F. H. Cutting.

Johnson is a former clerk at the Astoria hotel, First avenue east and Superior street. George Larson, proprietor, alleges that Johnson received $21.50 from a former hotel guest in payment for backroom rent and neglected to turn it over to him.

Johnson admitted that part of it, and said he had spent the $21.50.

"I told him I'd pay it as soon as I got a job," he explained, "but he evidently wasn't satisfied with that."

BULLET HOLE AS EVIDENCE

Deck Watch on Steamer Coulby Charged With Attempt to Kill.

Altercation With Captain Alleged to Have Preceded Shooting.

A cap with a bullet hole through it may be offered as evidence in the case against Joseph Kocab, 30, former deck watch on the steamer Harry Coulby, held in jail without bail on a charge of assault with intent to kill.

Monday, while the Coulby was at the Missabe ore docks, Kocab got into an altercation over wages with Capt. C. Z. Montague, and when the captain refused to pay him, the sailor drew a revolver and started shooting. One of the shots pierced the captain's hat.

When arraigned before Judge F. H. Cutting yesterday afternoon, Kocab pleaded not guilty and was returned to jail to wait for a hearing Sept. 21. He was arrested Wednesday when Police Sergt. John Roberg saw him on Superior street.

Police made a two-day search for Kocab, and were successful because of a black eye carried by Kocab as a souvenir of a fight with the mate of the steamer, after he drew the revolver.

He admitted firing the gun, according to police, but refused to tell what he had done with the revolver. He said he shot to frighten the officer, but that he did not intend to hurt him.

NEARLY 12,500 PUPILS IN CITY SCHOOLS

Nearly 12,500 students are now enrolled in the various public schools of Duluth which is a substantial gain over last year. The exact attendance figures, published on the opening day, Sept. 8, showed that 11,850 pupils had reported for classes. Since then the Franklin school has been opened and additional pupils have started at other schools, increasing the list 615 and bringing the total figures up to 12,465.

Teachers in the different schools of the city report that classes are progressing nicely and that the students have entered into their work with a dash.

BUSINESS BETTER IN WEST.

Mining and General Trade Much More Active, Says Duluthian.

C. E. Parsons of 1117 East Fourth street returned this morning from a two months' trip to Yellowstone park and the coast. He reports a record wheat crop in many sections, in some places as much as sixty-five bushels per acre. Lumber business was quiet, but mining, particularly copper, is showing great activity. Trade conditions in general have decidedly improved; in fact some report business the best since 1907, he said.

"Seattle is one of the most interesting and promising of the coast cities," he said. "At the present time there are canals under construction within the city, which, when completed, will connect the salt water of Puget sound with the fresh water of three large lakes wholly or partly within the city. Then, it is claimed, the ocean steamers will be relieved of their barnacles as they pass into this fresh water. The shores of these lakes are to become the sites of many large manufacturing establishments.

"At Vancouver and Victoria, British Columbia, one is impressed with the air of militarism. Guards patrol the public utilities to prevent interference by representatives of the opposing warring nations. They also patrol the military quarters locally. Glaring invitations to enlist and take a trip 'over the seas' are seen on every hand, even attached to the street cars.

OBITUARY

Arthur Williams, the comedian, died at London, Sept. 15. He was born in London, Dec. 9, 1844, and made his first appearance on the stage in 1851.

Brig.-Gen. Edward H. Ripley, who led the first Federal brigade into Richmond after the surrender of Gen. Lee's army, is dead after a long illness. After the war, Gen. Ripley became prominent in New York financial circles. He was founder and director of the United States and Brazil steamship line, and built the Raritan river railroad.

Prof. Charles Hallett Wing, head of the department of chemistry at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology from 1874 to 1884, died Sept. 15, aged 80 years. From 1870 to 1874 he was professor of chemistry at Cornell university.

Mgr. Racicot, bishop of Pogia, died in Montreal, Sept. 15, after a long illness. He was born at Sault Au Recolleta in 1845 and ordained to the priesthood in 1870. He was elected bishop of Pogia and auxiliary to Archbishop Bruchesi in 1905. He retired in 1910.

Paul Friedrich Meyerheim, the painter, is dead. Meyerheim was born in Berlin, Aug. 13, 1837, the son of Friedrich Edward Meyerheim, a well known painter. The younger Meyerheim was noted for animal studies, landscapes and still life paintings. He exhibited at the exhibition in Philadelphia in 1876 and at the world's fair in Chicago in 1893 and at both places won medals for his work.

SEEK MOTIVE FOR MURDER

Threatening Letters By Woman May Throw Some Light.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 16.—Four men, all of whom are believed to live in Minneapolis, were sought today by sheriffs of several counties and the Minneapolis police in their effort to find a motive for the murder of Gust V. Bergman of Duluth, whose body was found Monday near Buffalo, Minn.

The investigation so far has failed to reveal a positive motive. Once a motive is found officials believe they will stand a good chance of learning the identity of the murderer.

While the police sought four men who were seen in Buffalo on Aug. 7 with a man who in a general way answered Bergman's description, John Wall, chief deputy sherif, prepared to question a woman employed in a Minneapolis hospital about letters which contained veiled threats.

While the writer of the letters did not hint any bodily harm and they may have been written in a spell of anger, the deputies want to know what it was all about.

The four men who are sought today were in a Ford automobile at Buffalo on Aug. 7 and were stopped by the constable and taken before a justice of the peace. They promised to leave town and stop the noise-making that caused their arrest. The driver was sober, but the four were disturbing the peace. Their names were not recorded, but Sheriff A. H. Grant of Wright county believes Bergman was the driver of that car.

The officials also looked today for an advertising specialist who is supposed to have engaged Bergman to travel through the country and advertise some specialty. This man can, the police think, tell something about Milton Norberg, with whom Bergman said he was to travel.

MAY CALL FRENCH YOUTHS TO COLORS

Parliament to Consider Measure of Bringing Out 1917 Class.

Paris, Sept. 16.—Parliament on reassembling today will consider among various important measures one calling to the colors a contingent of 400,000 young men who in time of peace would begin military service in 1917. They are 18 and 19 years old.

The bill will be presented in the name of President Poincare. A memorandum written by Minister of War Millerand dated Sept. 10, accompanying the measure says:

"Today the contingent of 1916 completed their training. They now are in their camps awaiting employment. They will be sent to reinforce the armies in the course of the autumn.

"It appears now to be necessary to anticipate in the event of the need of the contingent of 1917 for next spring and to call out this cotingent in October or at the latest in November."

The bill also authorizes the government to retain at its disposition the class of 1888 which under the old laws would be automatically released from obligation to serve. These are men of 48 years of age. They have not yet been called out.

"DEAD SOLDIER" IS GERMAN PRISONER

Nephew of Former Duluthian, Listed in Casualties, Writes to Relatives.

J. L. Labbe, a former Duluth broker, who for nearly twenty years has been contracting and mining in Alaska and who visited in Duluth early in the summer, has just had the experience of reading announcements of the death of his nephew and also that the latter is being held in a prison camp in Germany.

The nephew, Phillip Labbe of Port Arthur, enlisted with volunteers there and was in several actions with the Canadian regiments on the western battlefields of Europe. On May 3, his uncle, Phillip Labbe, of Port Arthur, wrote the young soldier, who was then supposed to be in the trenches in Flanders. It returned two months later with the inscription, "Killed in action. N. McLeod, lieutenant." The letter was smothered with inscriptions stating "Returned undelivered for reasons stated."

About the same time a postal arrived from Private Labbe addressed to his uncle. It said:

"I am writing to tell you that I am a prisoner of war since April 30 and am now doing fairly well. I was wounded by a shell but am progressing favorably. I will write you another letter later on. You can write me immediately and address Private Phillip Labbe, prisoner of war, Eighth Canadian battalion, Geissen, Germany."

Be "heating-ready"—Early!

Do you own a home, or a property to rent or to sell which has been closed for many months past and which carries the stigma (known to many) "poorly heated?" If so, the first thing to do this Fall is to give the building a home-making, tenant-attracting value, by installing an outfit of

AMERICAN RADIATORS & IDEAL BOILERS

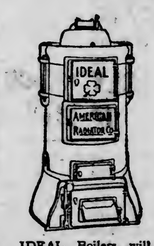

Do it early—when the best artisans are not rushed and prices are favorable. Then you start right; and, as case may be, you insure to your folks, or to any renter or buyer, that the building is going to be warm for all winters to come —free of ashes and coal dust, with full money's worth from every coal bill. To a building formerly heated by old-fashioned devices an IDEAL-AMERICAN outfit adds something never there before, namely—an atmosphere that satisfies. You have an even, balmy, cleanly, generous volume of warmth in every room—always tempered to suit the varying needs of Spring, Fall and Winter. Our special SYLPHON Heat Regulators keep IDEAL Boilers automatically regulated; no over-heating and fuel waste, no under-heating and chilly rooms. You can have comfortable nights, pleasant mornings, cozy evenings—and perpetual freedom from fuel-extravagance or regulating the dampers.

A No. 4-19-W IDEAL Boiler and 270 sq. ft. of 38-in. AMERICAN Radiators, costing the owner $135, were used to heat this cottage. At this price the goods can be bought of any reputable, competent Fitter. This did not include cost of labor, pipe, valves, freight, etc., which vary according to climatic and other conditions.

IDEAL Boilers are built with grates, fire pots and heating surfaces which extract the most heat from all fuels—wood, oil, gas, coke, lignite, hard or soft coal—even run-of-mine, pea-coal, screenings, or slack. AMERICAN Radiators are made in every shape necessary for putting under windows, along walls, in corners, pantries, etc., and in special forms for ventilation. All are subjected in our special heating laboratories to highest tests for strength, durability and utmost heating results per pound of fuel burned.

You can make no better building investment, for in IDEAL-AMERICAN heating everything is water-backed "iron-to-iron," no parts to wear out, rust out, or call for packing—no annual over-hauling or repairs bills. These economies, with fuel savings, pay dividends far better than money-in-bank at 6%. Whether in country or city, whether it is an old or new house, store, school, church, etc., write to-day for "Ideal Heating;" free and worth reading—no obligations to buy.

IDEAL Boilers will supply ample heat on one charging of coal for 8 to 24 hours, depending on severity of weather. Every ounce of fuel is made to yield utmost results.

An unfailing, stationary Vacuum Cleaner—in sizes now at $150 up!

You should know about our ARCO WAND Vacuum Cleaner, for dustless, complete cleaning of rooms, furnishings, etc. Sits in basement and cleans through iron suction pipe running to each floor. Easily put in OLD buildings. Fully GUARANTEED. Lasts as long as the building—like radiator heating. Send for catalog.

ORATORY WILL BE LET LOOSE

Mining Companies Will Ask Temporary Injunction Against Paving.

Hibbing Mayor Promises Live Session When Case Is Heard.

Pyrotechnical oratory is expected to feature the arguments that will be made Saturday morning before one of the local district court judges in the case of the Oliver Iron Mining company, the Mahoning Iron & Steel company and the Shenango Furnace company against the village of Hibbing, when an effort will be made by the mining companies to have a restraining order, issued last week by Judge Cant, made a temporary injunction against the paving of 3,960 feet of Third avenue in Hibbing, until a trial of the action can be had on its merits.

In a speech delivered before a gathering of working men in Minneapolis last Saturday night, Victor Power, mayor of Hibbing, promised his hearers that he had some peppery things to deliver when he would speak against the injunction, and many Duluthians are, therefore, waiting for the fireworks. Fryberger, Fulton & Spear have been retained by the board of trustees of Hibbing to assist Mr. Power, while the mining companies will be represented by Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell.

Strong Lineup of Lawyers.

This lineup should furnish a real oratorical battle, and it is certain that many Duluthians as well as people from the range towns will be present when the arguments are opened. The restraining order was made returnable before Judge Cant, but since that jurist is now in St. Luke's hospital, convalescing after an operation for appendicitis, the matter will come up before either Judge Fesler or Judge Dancer.

In their pleadings, when they obtained the restraining order, the attorneys for the mining companies stated that excessive extravagance of the Hibbing village officials in the expenditures of village funds was the chief reason for asking that restraint be placed upon the officials. The paving of Third avenue is said by the mining companies to be absolutely unnecessary and is a waste of money.

Among other reckless expenditures they cite the municipal baseball park, with its concrete grandstand; the police force of from thirty-six to forty-two men, which is one-half of the number employed by Duluth, which has ten times the population of Hibbing and six times its area. The white way, costing $10,000, and larger than that of Cincinnati, which has an approximate population of 370,000, also comes in for mention.

Big Floating Debt.

The floating indebtedness of the village at the present time, the mining companies aver, is approximately $1,600,000, and it is claimed that the annual interest charge on this obligation, about $80,000, is greater than the total amount levied for all purposes in any of the 140 villages and cities of the state ranging in population from 900 to 20,000, and not on the iron range, last year.

As to the particular case which is brought before the court, that of paving Third avenue in Hibbing, the mining companies allege that when the Power administration took charge at Hibbing there was a good road on which approximately $5,000 had been spent, and that since March, 1913, $20,000 more had been spent on the street in question, and that it now has a good macadam pavement. The claim urged is that the laying of a new pavement is wholly unnecessary, and the court is asked to pass upon the point as to whether or not the contract entered into between the village and the defendant, E. W. Coons company, is legal.

HUSBAND MUST CARE FOR WIFE

Axel Peterson Is Ordered to Pay Her $5 Weekly.

Axel Peterson, a laborer, was brought before Judge Fesler yesterday and sentenced to ten days in the county jail for having disobeyed an order from Judge Cant's court, issued last March, which said he must not dispose of any of his furniture pending the trial of a divorce action, which his wife had started. Peterson did sell the furniture and left Duluth, making his home in one of the Mesaba range towns.

He returned to Duluth recently and was picked up by the police and yesterday was brought before Judge Fesler. He was ordered by the court to pay his wife $15 forthwith and to give her $5 a week until he shall have paid her all of the money that the court said she should receive by reason of her divorce. The husband promised and was released from custody.

FOURTEEN OFFICERS DIED WITH URBINA

Villa Made Clean Sweep When He Went After Loot.

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 16.—Fourteen staff officers of Gen. Urbina's force were executed with Urbina as the result of the visit of Gen. Villa to Urbina's ranch at Las Nievas last week, according to an American who arrived here, and who said he had accompanied Gen. Villa on the trip.

GEN. URBINA.

"Urbina had said he would welcome Villa with bullets," the American said, "so Villa ordered Gen. Fierro to advance before him on the march to the ranch. The party arrived early Friday morning and surrounded the ranch house, whereupon Urbina and his staff opened fire from the windows.

"Villa ordered a charge upon the house. As his men entered by the windows and doors, Urbina tried to cover Fierro with his pistol, whereupon Fierro sent a bullet through Urbina's right arm and Urbina surrendered and ordered his staff to follow suit.

Would Have to Die.

"Villa took charge of Urbina and reprimanded him for treason and told him he would have to die. It had been Villa's plan to send Urbina to Chihuahua for execution as an example, but he turned him over to Gen. Fierro. Five minutes later Fierro returned and reported he had 'taken Urbina to Chihuahua.'

"Fourteen of Urbina's officers were caught in the ranch house. I did not see them executed, but every little while Fierro would take one of the officers from the house and return shortly with a small piece of rope with which the officer's hands had been tied.

"In Parral and Jiminez several of Urbina's officers were caught and executed, I understand.

"I cannot say whether Villa recovered the Urbina loot."

St. Paul Lumber Fire.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 16.—Fire believed to have been of incendiary origin did more than $50,000 damage at the yards of the John Martin Lumber company here late last night.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

DEATH CLAIMS AGED WOMAN WHO SET ENTIRE CITY EXAMPLE OF LOYALTY

Mrs. Maria Bradley, Aged 93, Known as "Mother of Duluth" Among Pioneers; Proud of Fact She Could "Keep Herself."

BRADLEY—Mrs. Maria Bradley, 93, died at St. Mary's hospital this morning after a short illness. Funeral arangements have not been made.

To the average Duluthian this notice means nothing more than that another person has answered the call of the Grim Reaper, but to the older citizens who lived at the Head of the Lakes when Duluth was a town, or a village, it means a great deal.

Mrs. Maria Bradley, or Maria Bradley, as she was known to the pioneers, has been a "mother" to the city of Duluth for two score years. She has lived at 28 West Second street in comparative obscurity for the last three years, but many of the older generation will remember her prim little figure and her steadfast loyalty to the city.

Remarkable in many ways, one of Mrs. Bradley's most prominent characteristics was her love of the city in which she was living. No one could attack Duluth or make an unfavorable comparison in her presence, for she always would come to rescue and fairly squelch the speaker with her tributes to the Zenith City.

Alone in the world and living beyond the span of life allotted to most persons, Mrs. Bradley persistently refused any aid from distant relatives living in Chicago, and proudly announced her intention of "keeping herself."

She was an expert seamstress, and supported herself for years with her needle. Many of the older families still have fancy work in their cedar chests from "Mrs. Bradley's" sewing room.

"Speak of the woman who used to make shirts," said Simon Clark, prominent merchant, "and every older citizen of Duluth will know who you mean."

"So Mrs. Bradley is dead," he said. "She was a proud old soul, and I believe she was one of the staunchest friends this city ever had. She could give us all lessons in civic pride."

The body was taken to Crawford's undertaking rooms from the hospital, and authorities now are awaiting word from Chicago.

If relatives there do not take charge friends of the little old seamstress, including some of Duluth's most prominent business men, will be allowed the privilege of caring for the remains, as they already have expressed a desire to do.

NEW STEEL TRAINS PROVIDED WITH TELEPHONES AND LOUNGING CAR

What is claimed to be one of the most modernly equipped all-steel trains in the world will leave Duluth for Chicago over the Omaha this evening on its initial trip.

The new train is built of steel throughout. There is nothing in the entire train of ten cars that will burn, save some of the chairs. The berths are made of steel, all of the doors of the compartments are made of thin sheet steel, and under each car is a heavy steel beam that is claimed to be an absolute preventive of telescoping.

An innovation in modern train ideas is that of the lounging car. The car is divided into two sections, one for women and one for men. The car is furnished on the plan of a house with luxuriously upholstered chairs.

There is a telephone in the lounging room that is connected with the city telephones of Chicago. Passengers can communicate from the train to any outside point before the train pulls out.

The new all-steel train is distinctly a Chicago-Duluth train and will be known as such. On the rear end is an illuminated electric sign, flaringly advertising the fact that the train is the Duluth-Superior limited.

Omaha officials claim that the new train is equal to any in the world in point of equipment. There will be ten cars in the train, a turbine engine in the baggage car supplying the power for the lighting system. There is a free reclining chair car, while new ideas have been embodied in the construction of the berths, drawing rooms and toilet rooms of the sleeping cars.

All-steel trains are coming into general use. Duluth now has all-steel trains on most of the lines operating here.

Sometime next week the new train will be placed on public exhibition.

JITNEURS MAY INSURE

Kansas City Indemnity Company Obtains State License in Minnesota.

Drivers and Attorney Refuse to Say If Fight Will End.

And then again, maybe they are not.

This morning an Associated Press dispatch was received from St. Paul to the effect that the National Indemnity Exchange of Kansas City has been granted a permit to sell jitney indemnity insurance in Minnesota. This means that about thirty local drivers can now quality for licenses to operate on Duluth streets.

Whether jitney drivers will stop their fight against the new ordinance and take out the indemnity insurance, several of the members of the Duluth Jitney association this morning refused to say. They are inclined to believe that the season for jitneys is fast drawing to a close and that by the time the Silberstein ordinance goes into effect on Oct. 16, the business will come to a standstill.

Some Have Insurance.

However, about thirty drivers early this summer bought the indemnity insurance with the belief that the state insurance commissioner would grant the Kansas City company a permit to operate in Minnesota. A majority of these have paid the entire premium of $65, while the others have paid $5 or $10 with the applications. All of the thirty are expected to make application for licenses with the city clerk, while the remaining twenty drivers propose to work until cold weather sets in and then quit operating until next spring, when they will make application for licenses.

Sixteen other drivers have been granted licenses by the council, they having filed acceptable insurance policies with the city clerk.

Two Cities Involved.

The dispatch from St. Paul follows: "State Insurance Commissioner Works today licensed the National Indemnity Exchange of Kansas City. This exchange confines its business exclusively to insuring jitneys. It will be located in Minneapolis and Duluth, both of which cities require bonds of all drivers."

Asked whether he would drop the fight against the Silberstein ordinance, A. E. McManus, attorney for the Duluth Jitney association, refused to make a statement.

"I know nothing about these policies or about the application for a state permit," he said, "and can therefore make no statement. I do not know what the boys will decide to do."

DECLARES ONOKO TAMPERED WITH

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 16.—First Mate John McNamara of the Onoko testified he had inspected the plates just before the boat sailed and found them all in good condition.

Hans Sorenson, watchman, Buffalo, said an Austrian who shipped for the trip from Milwaukee to Duluth acted queerly throughout the trip and constantly complained about the condition of the boat.

"I am sure the Onoko was sunk as the result of a loosened plate," he testified.

Local vessel men declare that McNamara must have donned a diving suit to inspect that plate, if he did as the press dispatches quote him correctly. The plate was under the floor of the engine and could not be reached or seen without moving the engine or inspecting it from below the water line on the outside.

STRIKE NOT YET SETTLED

Theater Manager and Labor Leaders Still at Loggerheads.

No settlement of the labor trouble between the Duluth unions and the management of the Rex and Lyric theaters has yet been reached and no conference was held today between Thomas Furniss, head of the Brunswick Amusement company, and the labor leaders.

This statement was made by Mr. Furniss this afternoon. In fact, Mr. Furniss intimated that he was not seeking any conference and that his stand was the same as it has been all of the time since the strike began.

E. G. Hall, president of the Minnesota Federation of Labor; G. W. Lawson, secretary, and members of the local trades assembly, have been discussing the situation today, it is said, although labor men are extremely reticent about making any statements.

Otto Raths, member of the Raths-Seavolt Film company, and postmaster of St. Paul, who is directing the "Who Will be Lou?" contest to be staged at the Lyric theater, was here again today, but was expected to return to St. Paul this afternoon.

PLAN BIG YEAR WITH PIGSKIN

Upper Michigan Will Have Contenders for State Championship.

Calumet, Mich., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The high schools of the Michigan Copper country, six in number, will furnish at least three fast football elevens this fall and each of the three expects to cop the Upper Peninsula interscholastic championship and to play the Southern Peninsula champions for the state championship.

The Calumet high school team is an especially fast eleven, with seven veterans and four of the best men of last year's second team working under the direction of Coach Shields and Capt. James, center. Calumet last year won the Copper country championship and lost to Marquette for the peninsula honors by only a point in a close game. The team averages but 153 pounds per man but is exceptionally speedy.

Hancock, which has furnished such big football players as McGlynn and Linder, the latter captain for two years past of Duluth's professional hockey team, has a fast eleven in the field this fall, as has Houghton, the home of Bill Cochrane, center and captain of the University of Michigan eleven this year. This will be the biggest football season in many years for Northern Michigan, particularly for the Copper country.

Both Marquette and Menominee are coming to the front with heavy and fast elevens this fall, while the Sault has a team fully as big as last season's.

Soccer is being given considerable attention in the Copper country this year. The game has been played here by Cornish and Welsh professional and amateur players for a score of years and Painesdale and Quincy have always had big teams.

Lyman Primodig, Calumet's biggest football star in recent years, is expected to make center on the Michigan Agricultural college team at Lansing this fall. He subbed on that team last season. Primodig is the star center of the Michigan Aggies' basket ball squad.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 16.—At the grand circuit races here today William Will is being driven by C. K. G. Billings in an attempt to lower the pacing record to wagon of 2:01¼. Uhlan also will give an exhibition under saddle, being driven by Billings.

ONLY MEMBERS TO BE ALLOWED VOTE

Ruling Made at Women Voters' Convention at San Francisco.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 16.—Under a ruling made at the women voters' convention here by Miss Alice Paul, national chairman of the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage, which called and controls the convention, only members of the union will be permitted to vote on resolutions. This ruling, it is believed, makes it certain that the convention will indorse the Susan B. Anthony plan for securing equal suffrage by the amendment of the constitution to which the union is committed.

Delegates to the congress representing the National American Woman Suffrage association, who favor leaving the question of suffrage extension to the individual states, will, by this ruling, be unable to offer effective opposition to the union's program.

The decision was made after a sharp dispute between Dr. Esther Pole Lovejoy of Portland, Ore., and Mrs. Lucius Cuthbert of Colorado Springs, chairman of the day, as to whether all western delegates to the convention regardless of club affiliations, should be permitted to vote on resolutions.

To People Who Are Losing Weight

Offers Simple Means of Winning Back Lost Flesh and Strength.

Any unnatural loss of flesh and weight, even though gradual, should be regarded with alarm. Unless the result of actual, well-defined illness it is an almost certain indication of a defect in the assimilative functions that is permitting a large portion of the strength and flesh-making elements of food to pass through the body as waste instead of going to the blood where they belong.

To correct this unnatural condition and to quickly win back from ten to thirty pounds of healthy flesh, try taking a single Sargol tablet with every meal for a few weeks and note results. Let the weight scales be the judge.

Sargol is a splendid combination of assimilative agents whose purpose is to extract every ounce of flesh and fat-making nourishment from the meal with which it is eaten and to prepare it in a form which the blood will eagerly absorb and distribute throughout the body. Remarkable gains in weight are reported from its use in this way. Indeed Boyce Drug Store and many other leading druggists who sell it say they will guarantee to return the purchase price in any case where it does not produce increased weight when used as directed as stated in the printed guarantee found in each large package.

As Sargol is entirely harmless, is pleasant and easy to take and not at all expensive it would seem therefore that almost any person who is ten pounds or more under normal weight might give it a trial on such a liberal money back guarantee.

Steinbrenner, manager of the steamer, has received word from the master of the Onoko, W. R. Dunn, that there were indications that the Onoko's plates had been loosened.

Capt. Dunn, according to Capt. Monaghan, the government inspector, did not so testify here. He claimed complete ignorance of the cause, and said that there had been no indication of pending accident or disaster that would cause the least apprehension. On the contrary, Capt. Monaghan says, Capt. Dunn and the other officers and the members of crew claimed that it had been their opinion that since the repairs made to the steamer last summer, she was as seaworthy as any craft on the lakes. Capt. Dunn was inclined to the same belief as Capt. Monaghan—that a plate, eaten away by rust, broke.

Refused Certificate.

Capt. Monaghan said this morning that when the Onoko was inspected here last spring, she was refused a certificate for the reason that her stanchions and beams had been bent badly by loading and unloading machinery, and that other repairs were found necessary. When the Onoko was built, thirty-three years ago, her construction was considered strong enough for anything, but later-day machinery so punished it that it was pretty badly battered. The steamer was given a permit to go to Cleveland for the necessary repairs, and the reconstruction was there supervised by the government inspectors. As reconstructed, the steamer was considered to be in good shape.

"Had the repairs been made in a drydock," said Capt. Monaghan today, "the inspectors would doubtless have drilled some of her plates to find their condition, as they are allowed to do under the rules; but the repairs were not made in drydock.

Monaghan's Opinion.

"To my mind, there is no question that the sinking was due to the rotting of a plate under the engines by the rust that gathered. It was a bad place in many ways. It was impossible to get at without going to the expense and labor of moving the machinery, and it was a place where water easily lodges. During the time the repairs were being made, any water that was lodged there would have time to dry, and turn to rust, and that would do fast work in rotting a plate. In fact it is astonishing how rapidly iron or steel plates are rotted by rust.

"That, I believe, is what occurred with the Onoko, and the idea that somebody damaged the plate purposely seems foolish for the reason that it would be as hard to damage the plate from the inside, if it was done at all, as it would be to inspect or repair it from the inside. The water bottom of the ship extended only as far as the boilers, so that where the damage occurred, there is only the single bottom under the engine. That is what made the end come so quickly."

View It As Joke.

There is a good deal of "kidding" going on among vessel men and grain dealers over the rumor of German activity in connection with the Onoko. Alex Guthrie, on the board of trade this morning, suggested that the breaking of the plate might have been caused by the riotous and ribald actions of the wild oats in the cargo.

"They are so wild," said Mr. Guthrie, "that they sometimes get beyond control."

The grain was consigned to the J. Rosenbaum Grain company of Toledo, and was to have been shipped to Newport News, for shipment to England.

poison entered it will be two and possibly four or five days before any serious symptoms become apparent.

Every Effort Made.

In the meantime every possible effort is being made to counteract the effects of any poison that may be in his system. The operation of scrapping the kidneys, which has often proved successful in similar cases of poisoning, will not be resorted to in this case, it was said, on account of Mr. Erb's age, 65.

Mr. Erb's daughters, Mrs. Irving M. Dittenhoefer, and Mrs. Jesse Mayer, and their husbands, are with Mr. Erb constantly.

Mr. Erb's family today explained how he came to take the poison. He was returning to Deal from New York, having spent the previous day and night in Philadelphia. In his traveling bag he carried a bottle of headache tablets and another containing poison tablets, which he used in making a wash for an injured foot. Mr. Erb had a headache when he boarded the train and took two tablets from one of the bottles.

A short time later he was taken ill. The conductor sent a message to Mr. Erb's home and his valet met him at the station.

Case Attracts Attention.

Because of his prominence in the railroad and financial world, Mr. Erb's case is attracting much attention. It recalls the remarkable fight made in behalf of B. Sanders Walker, a young banker of Macon, Ga., who suffered a similar mishap. Walker took a single poison tablet on May 14, 1913, but despite the efforts of doctors and his own cheerful help in the fight, he died eight days later.

Since then there have been several such cases, some of which have proved fatal, while in one case at least a cure was effected.

To Ask Reopening of Case.

Washington, Sept. 16.—Formal notice that western railroads intend to ask the interstate commerce commission to reopen the Western advance freight rate case in respect to the rates on packing house products, fresh meats, livestock and grain and grain products, was filed today with the commission by attorneys representing the carriers.

German Newspapers Permitted to Print Telegrams of Rumors.

London, Sept. 16.—A Copenhagen dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company says German newspapers were permitted yesterday to publish sensational telegrams intimating that Roumania's participation in the war may be expected at any minute.

The massing of German and Austrian troops on the Roumanian frontier has resulted in the Balkan nation making preparations for eventualities. A large part of her army already has been mobilized and reservists in other countries have been ordered home.

A steadfast refusal of Roumania to permit the transportation through her territory by Germany of military supplies for Turkey is supposed to have aroused the animosity of the Central empires.

Recent advices from Rome were to the effect that negotiations were under way for the formation of a new Balkan league to be composed of Roumania, Serbia and Greece. Bulgaria, it was said, was not included in the negotiations because of her agreement with Turkey by which she will obtain possession of territory along the Dedeaghatch railway. Montenegro probably would act in accord with the other three powers as she already is arrayed on the side of the allies in the war.

To Ask Explanation.

Rome, Sept. 15, via Paris, Sept. 16.—Because of the concentration of Greek and Roumanian troops on the Bulgarian frontier, the Bulgarian foreign minister has instructed the representatives of that country at Athens and Bucharest to request an immediate and definite explanation, acording to a Sofia dispatch to the Giornale d'Italia.

RUSSIANS ABOUT TO REASSUME OFFENSIVE

The Petrograd correspondent of the Times says:

"Imperative reasons have necessitated the regroupings of the Austro-German forces, which were embogged in the north and routed in the south. Realizing the impossibility of an advance to the northwest by the shortest route, by way of Slodim, owing to the intervention of a series of strong defensive lines along the Rivers Zelwianka, Shara and Myachaika, the enemy strengthened his flanks at the expense of his central forces."

German Army Afloat

A Petrograd dispatch to the Post says:

"The fact that it has been impossible to rest either flank on a secure point leaves the whole German line afloat. This prevents any thought of carrying out what is supposed to be the German plan—to erect a stone wall line of defenses across Russia. The Germans therefore must continue to penetrate further into Russia, delivering a series of extremely costly frontal attacks for every step gained.

"The Germans are suffering from exhaustion, especially in men. For some time past they have frequently proved themselves incapable of following up the advantages gained for them by their artillery. The Russians often entired before the overwhelming artillery attacks only to find that nothing happened and they were able to reoccupy their old trenches.

"Altogether, one gains the impression that the turn of the tide is in sight. The Russians have kept German forces at full strength from the Baltic to Bukowina and having incomparably superior resources in men, have now got the Germans in a position from which it will be difficult to go forward, and disastrous, possibly fatal, to attempt to go backward."

Russian Statement.

Petrograd, Sept. 16, via London.—The following official communication was issued yesterday:

"East of Kovel on the River Stokhod, during our occupation of the villages of Gulevitzka and Roudka Sitovitchskala, and after stubborn resistance, we captured two officers, seventy-four soldiers and four machine guns. The enemy fell back toward the west on the front south of the Pripet, making at several places counter attacks with strong forces and resisting obstinately.

"As a result of the occupation of an enemy position near the villages of Korablitcha and Pogorieltce, northeast of Dubno, we took one gun and seven machine guns and thirty-seven officers and 2,593 prisoners. By counter attacks which followed our troops were thrown back."

"Northwest of Dvinsk the enemy has developed a violent artillery fire in the region of Illuks-Elovka road. Southwest of Dvinsk the enemy attacked unsuccessfully between Lakesvill and Ikoutze and between the Dvinsk road and the Samava farm.

"We have dislodged the Germans from Dargueliehki and Ketcherji.

"At the ford of the river Vilaya in the region east of the Warsaw railway, the enemy has been thrown back by our fire.

"Lively engagements of a local character have occurred in the region of the village of Jijouvy, east of Skidel and in the region of the Volkovysk-Lida railway.

"In the region on the upper course of the Niemen, the enemy repeatedly passed to the offensive. North of the town of Mosty, the enemy threw our guards back over the river Elnid. East of Mosty, stubborn attacks were repulsed.

"On the road from Kartouzskela Verza to Sinlavka the enemy's advanced guards reached the river Chara.

"Between Jasselda and Plna, engagements have occured northwest and west of Pinsk, near the villages of Motoel, Novo Loutchka and Potapositchi."

French Statement.

Paris, Sept. 16, 2:38 p. m.—The French war office gave out a report this afternoon on the progress of hostilities reading:

"Yesterday witnessed fighting with hand grenades at the sapheads in the sector of Neuville. A bombardment of the suburbs of Arras brought forth a vigorous reply from our artillery directed against the batteries and the trenches of the enemy. There was also fighting with mines in the region of Frise, in the department of the Somme.

"There was artillery firing during all last night around Roye and in the vicinity of Lassigny, where our shells started fires. In the region of Berry-au-Bas, in Champagne near St. Hilaire and Auberive, in the northern Woevre district, and in the Vosges at Ban-De-Sapt the night also was marked by fairly spirited artillery actions."

German Statement.

Berlin, Sept. 16, via London, 2:30 p. m.—The German army advancing against the Russians in the Dvina river region, in the important struggle for possession of the port of Riga has won further successes. The war office announced today that the Russians had been driven back. The statement follows:

"Eastern theater of war: Army group of Field Marshal von Hindenburg: On the left bank of the Dvina, our troops, fighting successfully, penetrated further in the direction of Jacobstadt.

"Near Liwenhof (on the Dvina, twenty-five miles northwest of Dvinsk), the Russians were driven back to the Eastern bank.

"Northeast of Vilna our attack progresses. East of Grodno the enemy still offers stubborn resistance.

"Army group of Prince Leopold: The situation is unchanged.

"Army group of Field Marshal von Mackensen: East of Anovoginfo, the Russians again attempted to bring our pursuit to a standstill. We broke through the enemy's positions. Six officers and 774 men were taken prisoners and three machine guns were captured. The territory between the Pripet and the Jasiolda and the city of Pinsk are in German possession.

"Southeastern theater of war: As on preceding days, the Russian attacks broke down in front of the German lines.

"Western theater of war: Nothing of importance has occurred."

amount of goods which under normal circumstances, would have been taken to that port. That fact gave him practical and overwhelming assurance that the goods were intended to find their way to Germany, although, of course, it did not prove conclusively that they were destined for an enemy of Great Britain.

One circumstance throwing light on the real destination of the goods, Sir Samuel said, was that the exportation of lard by one American company alone to Copenhagen in three weeks after the outbreak of the war was twenty times more than in periods of peace. As to the tins of canned meat, he said, it had not been shown they had been sent to Denmark in any great quantity before the war, yet hundreds of thousands were on the way when the vessels were captured.

Loss Complete.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—The meat cargoes confiscated by Great Britain will be a complete loss to the packers, according to Thomas E. Wilson, president of Morris & Co., as there were no advance payments made on the shipments. He will issue a statement later.

rate put into effect. This distance tariff rate was immeasurably greater than the former switching charge and made shipping to New Duluth and the other points mentioned almost prohibitive, as considered in a competitive light. For instance, officers of the Minnesota Steel company, when testifying at the hearing, which has produced this decision, declared that the difference would cost the Minnesota Steel company about $300,000 a year, more, paid to their own road, and that they could not see how other concerns could possibly exist under the proposed change.

Another way where it would hit hard was in the matter of receiving shipments by lake or shipping from this point by lake. The industries thus served would have to pay the distance tariff rate from the docks in addition to the lake rate, while Minneapolis, for instance, would enjoy through lake-and-rail rate.

In short, it was charged that to put in the distance tariff schedule in place of the switching charge would virtually mean that industries could not exist at New Duluth and other points in the old No. 3 switching district. The state railroad and warehouse commission saw it in that light, too.

Restricted Territory.

The commission says in its decision: "The result of the elimination of the third district has been to reduce the industrial vicinity and switching limits of the city of Duluth very materially and to seriously restrict the possibilities of industrial development of this city, which, on account of the topography of the country, must extend along the line of the respondent's railroad as far west as Fond du Lac. The industries located in said third district must pay a larger excess rate than that charged under the former switching tariff and the commission finds that the switching rates established by respondent's tariff No. 566 were and now are just and reasonable, and that the changes made by Tariff No. 581 for said services are unreasonable. The change in the tariff was made by the respondent under a mistaken idea that these rates were governed by the distance tariff made by the commission under the provisions of chapter 90 of the General Laws of 1913. It has, however, been held by the supreme court of this state in 'Washed Sand & Gravel Company vs. Great Northern Railway Company,' that this law does not apply to switching charges. The commission finds that the rates in force under tariff No. 566 should be restored and the shippers that have paid excess charges since the filing of tariff No. 581 are entitled to have the excess refunded."

In a memorandum attached to the decision, the commission says:

"The finding as to the reasonableness of the switching charges was based upon long and continued practices and tariffs of the carrier. No effort was made by the carrier to show that the rates were unreasonable. The main defense was that Duluth and Fond du Lac are two separate stations, although located within the same city, and that the distance tariff law required the collection of the line haul rate. The decision in the 'Washed Sand & Gravel' case is a complete answer to that contention."

A Single Application Banishes Every Hair

(The Modern Beauty)

Here is how any woman can easily and quickly remove objectionable, hairy growths without possible injury to the skin: Make a paste with some powdered delatone and water, apply to hairy surface and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This is a painless, inexpensive method and, excepting where the growth is unusually thick, a single application is enough. You should, however, be careful to get genuine delatone.—Advertisement.

SYMPTOMS OF DEBILITY

People who are tired all of the time and never feel rested even after a long night in bed, who cannot regain weight and strength, whose step lacks elasticity and who feel no joy in living, are debilitated.

A medical examination might easily show that every organ of the body is acting normally but the pallor of the face will usually show that the blood is thin. This is the root of the trouble.

Debility is a loss of vitality, not affecting any one part of the body but the system generally. The blood goes to every part of the body and the use of a blood tonic like Dr. Williams' Pink Pills quickly tones up the system. The first sign of returning health is a better appetite, improved digestion, a quicker step, brighter eyes, better color in the cheeks. The rich, red blood, reaching every organ and muscle, carries renewed health and vigor. The nerves are quieted, sleep becomes more refreshing and with persistent treatment and proper living the debilitated patient is once more enabled to enjoy life.

Two useful books, "Building Up the Blood" and "What to Eat" will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

WILL CAUSE DEFICIENCY

Senator J. Hamilton Lewis Opposes Big Loan to Allies.

Says It Will Take Half of Usable Cash of Country.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Senator J. Hamilton Lewis today made public a letter, protesting against the proposed billion-dollar loan, which he has sent to Secretary of the Treasurer McAdoo and the Federal reserve board. Senator Lewis said his purpose in making the letter public was so that the public could take counsel with the bankers "looking to the proper guardianship of the money of the people." The loan, he said, would invite repetition of the panics of 1873 and 1893. In the course of his letter the senator says:

"The amount demanded by the financiers of Europe is $1,000,000,000.

"The statement from two official bankers of the government is that the amount of usable money in America for America in excess of reserve and money already obligated is $2,000,000,000.

Takes One Half.

"It will be seen that if the billion sought goes to the foreign bankers, one-half of all the available cash for America is taken from the American people. This is a time when the American people and the American government have no other source in the world to resort in the event of any emergency breaking upon the United States.

"This amount of money leaving us means:

"One hundred millions taken from ten of our commercial centers.

"One million taken from 1,000 of our agricultural and manufacturing centers.

"All this at a time when the revenues of America show a deficit by the European war cutting off imports and necessitating the borrowing by America from itself or the increasing of the taxes of the citizens if there be deficiency of money in America to meet an American government loan."

ROCKEFELLER, JR., MAY PARTICIPATE

With Other Standard Oil Magnates Is Considering Big Loan.

New York, Sept. 16.—Standard Oil millionaires, including John D. Rockefeller, Jr., it was reported today, are considering the terms of the proposed billion-dollar credit loan to Great Britain and France with a view to participating.

Members of the Anglo-French financial commission and American bankers working for the success of the proposed billion-dollar credit loan to Great Britain and France, have somewhat different ideas, it became known today, as to some of the terms governing the loan, chief of which is reported to be the rate of interest.

The commission is reported to believe the maximum rate should be 5 per cent. Many American bankers believe the mammoth issue should yield at least 5½ per cent, while there is some talk of requiring 6 per cent.

Members of the commission seemed well satisfied today with the progress made thus far. Millions in pledges, it was reported, had already been secured and more pledges were tentatively assured. Negotiations, it was said, had reached the stage where an authoritative statement from the commission would be issued soon, perhaps tonight.

PLANT DESTROYED BY GERMAN TREACHERY

Thousands of Men Killed When Russian Ammunition Factory Is Blown Up.

London, Sept. 16—The Daily News says it was through German treachery that the great Russian ammunition factory at Okhta, a suburb of Petrograd, was blown to pieces some months ago. Okhta was the Russian Woolwich—the only munition factory in Russia.

"This had a determining influence on the Russian military situation," the Daily News says, "as the allies had to come to the rescue by the circuitious Archangel route. Thousands of workmen were killed and the destruction of the plant caused such an extreme dearth of ammunition that nothing could be done against the Gen. von Mackensen's artillery."

A dispatch from Petrograd April 30 last said that several persons had been killed and many injured and much material damaged as the result of an explosion in the Okhta ammunition factory. It was added that several workshops were destroyed by the explosion, but that the stores of loaded shells were not affected, and that work in the factory would be resumed in a few days.

Charges Dismissed.

Corpus Christi, Texas, Sept. 16.—The charges against Claude Fowler, chief of police of Corpus Christi, and seventeen other defendants, in the alleged 1914 election frauds, were dismissed late yesterday in federal court here. The case against the remaining 23 of the 41 defendants is expected to go to the jury today.

Capt. Hayes, in Charge of Upper Mississippi River Work, Dies.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Capt. John Hayes, aged 60, in charge of government dredging work near Deer River, Minn., on the Upper Mississippi river, dropped dead at his post yesterday afternoon of apoplexy, according to word received here.

Capt. Hayes for twenty-seven years was in charge of the Federal government work on the Red River of the North, and last spring he assumed charge of the work on the Upper Mississippi river.

The captain was in the pilothouse of the dredging boat on the Mississippi when he was stricken. The engineer was awaiting the signal for a hoist, and when the signal failed, an investigation revealed Capt. Hayes lying dead on the floor.

Visited Forks Sunday.

Capt. Hayes was in his usual good health when he left Grand Forks Tuesday morning, after an over-Sunday visit here with his family.

While Capt. Hayes was in charge of the government work on the Red river, he handled such Federal activities from Caledonia, N. D., to the international boundary.

Mr. Hayes entered the government work at Portage, Wis., when he was still a lad in his teens, and during his entire life he continued in the service. He was born in New York City in 1855, and his parents removed to Portage, Wis., when he was but an infant.

MAY HAVE HAD COMPANION

C. V. Bergman Said to Have Been Accompanied By "Milton Norberg."

Latter's Identity Mystery; Former's Car Still Missing.

Was Charles Vern Bergman, who was found murdered and his body hidden under a pile of leaves and brush near a highway six miles from Buffalo, Minn., accompanied by Milton Norberg? The police of Minneapolis and officers of Hennepin, Grant and other nearby counties are trying to locate Norberg, who is now missing and said to have disappeared at the same time Bergman did.

Duluth relatives or friends of Bergman do not know who this man Norberg is, nor is his name mentioned in the city directory for several years past. It is possible that he is an acquaintance made by Bergman after his arrival in Minneapolis.

The police officials are seeking to establish the identity of a man who professed to be an advertising specialist, who, they are informed, desired to engage ten men at $10 a day to travel in Minnesota. This man insisted that they must be provided with an automobile, and it is asserted that Bergman was one of the ten men employed.

The police have as yet been unable to locate Bergman's car. A description of it and its number is said to be in the hands of the officials.

Miss Mabel Fredin, Bergman's fiancee, residing near Cambridge, told the police this morning that she had not received any answers to her letters to Bergman for a long time. They were to have been married the latter part of this month.

Bergman's body will be brought to Duluth as soon as his brothers are able to make the necessary arrangements. Eric Bergman and Otto Bergman, two of his brothers residing in the West end, left yesterday afternoon for Minneapolis to take charge of the body.

PASTOR WILL BEGIN FOURTH YEAR HERE

Rev. C. W. R. Wermine Back After His Annual Vacation.

Rev. C. W. R. Wermine, pastor of the First Swedish Methodist church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, has been returned by the Swedish Methodist conference to the local church for another year. He will now begin his fourth year at this church.

REV. C. W. R. WERMINE.

Rev. Mr. Wermine was accompanied by Mrs. Wermine to the convention. Mrs. Albert Broman, 1913 West Third street, lay delegate from the local congregation, also accompanied the pastor and his wife.

While away the party visited the state fair in the Twin Cities. They returned home yesterday.

West End Briefs.

Arvid Trulson, 2229 West Seventh street, returned last evening from the Twin Cities, where he has been spending the last ten days.

Arthur Helean, 2024 West Second street returned last evening from a visit to the state fair and the Twin Cities.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Brolin and Miss Blenda Sjellman of Minneapolis, who have been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Swenson, 1910 West Second street, returned home yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. August Janzig and sons, Arthur and Rudolph, left yesterday for an automobile trip to the Twin Cities.

Rev. Milton Fish, pastor of the Central Baptist church, will speak on "United Prayer, the Secret of Christian Courage," at the mid-week services this evening.

The West End Commercial club will meet this evening at Simonson's hall, Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street.

BAPTISTS PLAN RALLY FOR SUNDAY

Rally day will be held at the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, Sunday morning. The service will begin at 10:30 o'clock.

Graduation of children of the Sunday school will be one of the features of the program. Primarp pupils will be promoted to the junior department and junior children to the intermediate.

The program will include special music by the choir and school. Rev. Carl Oberg, city missionary for the Baptist denomination will speak. A reading will be given by Miss Dorothy Patton.

The Central Baptist Sunday school has an enrollment of nearly 250 pupils. The mark set for the fall campaign, which will begin with the rally, is set at 300. It is expected to increase the attendance to that mark before Dec. 1.

New-Way Wonder for Corns, "Gets-It"

The Big Surprise for Corn Owners. It's Sure, Simple, Safe, Quick.

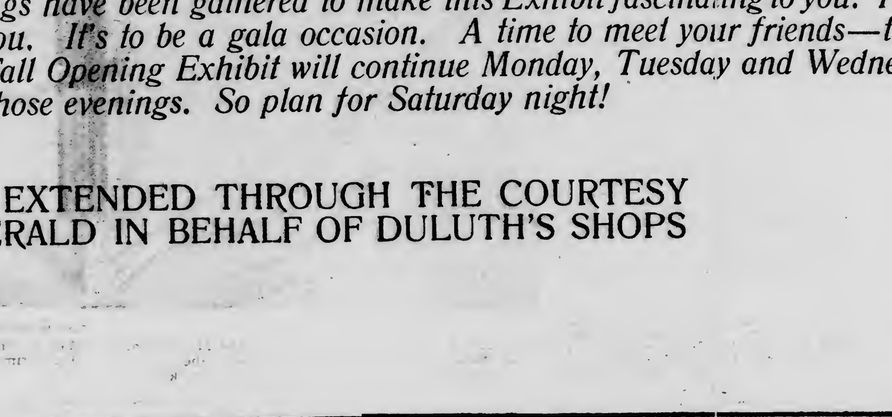

Listen to the wee story of "Gets-It," the world's greatest corn remedy. It's a short story—only about two feet—"Mary had a little 'Gets-It,' and corns upon her toe; and every time she put on 'Gets-It,' the corn was sure to go." Mary, like thousands of others, used to be a heroine, suffering martyrdom, using painful bandages, irritating salves, stick tape, toe-harnesses, blood-bringing razors and scissors! She says now there's no sense in it. Use "Gets-It," applied in 2 seconds. Easy, simple, new way—just painless common sense! Millions are doing it. Never fails. You can wear smaller shoes now. You don't have to limp around any more, or walk on the side of your shoes to try to get away from your corns! You know for sure before you use "Gets-It" that the corn or callus is going away. For corns, calluses, warts and bunions.

C. A. CONGDON'S $300,000 RESIDENCE AT NORTH YAKIMA BUILT OF NATIVE ROCK; HAS 80 ROOMS

CHESTER CONGDON'S MAGNIFICENT $300,000 RESIDENCE NEAR NORTH YAKIMA.

Built of native rock, Chester A. Congdon's magnificent $300,000 dwelling is now nearing completion near North Yakima, Wash.

Newspapers along the Pacific coast are devoting pages to descriptions of this structure, which contains eighty rooms, and was built on original designs with vast fireplaces, cold storage plant and a swimming pool. Architects from Minneapolis drew the plans from an outline prepared by Mr. Congdon himself. The building is now being furnished and will be ready for occupancy within two months.

Estate of 800 Acres.

Mr. Congdon's estate, situated about five miles from North Yakima, contains approximately 800 acres, most of which is orchard. The remainder, Mr. Congdon plans to turn over for pasture and plow land and to establish a herd of high grade stock, particularly cattle and hogs. Every drop of water on the place is piped from the canal in the broad lowland of the Ahtanum valley, known as Wide Hollow. The entire place is laid with drain tile and the investment in the combined storage house and packing plant alone is said to be more than $50,000.

Several years ago, Mr. Congdon purchased a 400-acre orchard in Wide Hollow, but only last year added to his holdings for the purpose of building this $300,000 structure. He plans to make his home there, it is said.

A detailed description of the Congdon home, as given in a special Sunday magazine article of the Spokane Spokesman Review, follows:

Made of Native Rock.

"Tieton andesite, blasted from the bluff of Cowiche canyon a few miles above the city, forms the principal material and the rock was used in the same rugged pieces as it came tumbling down the side of the hill to where it was loaded onto cars, intermingled with this black rock is the gray columnar basalt and in smaller quantities, but used effectively in both the exterior and interior, is what is commonly known as 'moss rock,' which is basalt that has been long submerged and is covered with lichens. This was picked up in the bottom of Cowiche canyon.

"As rapidly as the exterior walls were completed English and Boston ivy, climbing roses, wistaria and other vines have been planted and within a few years a considerable portion of the rock will be covered.

"From the front of the hill, where one alights from the suburban car, to Harwood at a station-rest built of the same basalt as the Congdon house, the great structure rises tier on tier with no regularity of outline. The Minneapolis architects say the plans have not been copied from any other structure in the world.

"A long, winding driveway within heavy retaining walls leads past the caretaker's court around to the front, which faces the orchard, for this home can only be approached from the rear, except one pass through the orchard.

"In the sub-basement is the laundry, smaller heating plant for use when the main house is closed, garbage incinerators, storerooms, etc. Besides the caretakers' suite, which includes two bedrooms, sitting room, dining room and kitchen, in the basement are the furnace rooms, the room where all electric wires and water pipes from the canal as well as those from the artesian well 1,260 feet deep enter, more storage rooms and the bathing pool. This pool is beautifully finished in white tiling, is 21 by 35 feet and from 4½ to 7½ feet deep.

Interior of Structure.

"On the main, or first floor, is the long corridor with its handsome groined ceiling, the dining room with a twenty-foot fireplace and porch breakfast room adjoining, butler's pantry, kitchen, pantry, servants' sitting room, office, the family bedrooms previously mentioned and the living room. This living room has six large French windows on two sides and an immense fireplace on the third side. It will be the last word in luxurious comfort.

"There is on the northern corner of the first floor a large, beautifully designed bed room for the head of the house, which connects with an equally luxuriantly appointed bath room. Nearby are two pairs of bed rooms for the other members of the family. The finishing of these is elegantly plain. Oak has been used in Mr. Congdon's room and birch in the others. Aside from the caretakers' quarters in the basement, the seven other bed rooms in the house are on the second floor.

"Only in a part of the house is there a second floor. This contains a combined library and billiard room which is the largest single room in the house and has another great fireplace, a kitchenette, a sleeping porch and the seven lesser bed rooms.

"Throughout the house are many stairways, some of cobblestones, others of concrete, tiling and rough rock, straight and winding, but only two elevators, and both for merchandise, trunks, etc.

"In the tower are several nooks, where lovers may sit in the moonlight, or the more serious may sit before tiny fireplaces.

Promenade and Roof Garden.

"From the French windows of the living room one may pass out onto the promenade and roof garden, where a fountain already plays and where beds have been prepared for the growing of rare flowers.

"On one of the landings of a cobblestone stairway from the foot of the hill is a beautiful grotto, with fountain and vines. Leading from the tower entrance is a 200-foot grape arbor and along the roadway from the front of the house to the present farm buildings are magnolia trees. Most of the landscape work remains to be done when the refuse has been cleared."

A Sure Way to End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Advertisement.

HOT WATER THE BEST LIVER AND BOWEL MEDICINE

Says Glass of Hot Water Before Breakfast Washes Poisons From the System

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bath, claiming this is of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing ill health, while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do.

Men and women are urged to drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of helping to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Just as soap and hot water cleanse and freshen the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the eliminative organs.

Those who wake up with bad breath, a coated tongue, nasty taste or have a dull, aching head, sallow complexion, acid stomach; others who are subject to billous attacks or constipation, should obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to demonstrate the value of inside bathing. Those who continue it each morning are assured of pronounced results, both in regard to health and appearance.

Society - Women's Clubs - Music - Drama

NEXT week Duluth women, and the visitors too, will be torn between wishes to attend all the meetings of the state club federation and the desire every woman has to study the latest fashions. When the shades fall from the windows at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon the Superior street stores will be the magnets that will attract not only women, but also men, for the men of Duluth seemed to enjoy the fashion show last spring, even though they did not have such acute attacks as the women.

There will be federation meetings morning, afternoon and night at the First Methodist church. The meetings will be open to all women, whether they belong to clubs or not.

School Children May Attend Greek Pageant

A new interest was injected into the pageant preparations yesterday by the announcement from headquarters that every school pupil in the city who wishes to attend the Greek pageant matinee will be excused from school at 3 o'clock on Friday afternoon, Sept. 24. This concession is made because of the educational value of the work, and to interest the whole city in the idea of pageantry.

Another of the decorative dances of the pageant was completed yesterday, in the "Dance of the Zephyrs," with Miss Patsy Watson selected for the role of "Iris," the many-hued. The Zephyrs will interpret the spirit of the winds, with Boreas and Zephyrs and the other winds blowing and fanning the flowers into bloom.

This dance will form a part of the symbolic "Creation," with the flowers, the winds and the waters evolving from the mist of the ocean.

Additions to "Box Row" yesterday included the Liberty chapter, D. A. R., which will decorate an attractive box with its colors, and the "Press Box."

Last Wednesday Dinner Dance Is Held at Northland Club

The last of the weekly dinner dances of the season was held at the Northland Country club last evening and attracted a large number, the largest of the season, with the exception of the Fourth of July event. Miss Perle Reynolds and Edward Scriven, with Miss Jeannette Welbanks at the piano, gave vocal solos and with La Brosse's orchestra accompanying sang "Tango Town" and "High Jinks" selections. Nasturtiums were used in the dining room and tiger lilies and autumn foliage in the ball room.

Included among the hosts and hostesses were: Miss Louise Fraker, party of sixteen; C. E. Bassett, six; Miss Caroline Marshall, twelve; Mrs. C. A. Marshall, five; Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Towne, ten; Mr. and Mrs. Pentecost Mitchell, eight; Mr. and Mrs. George Welles, ten; Dr. and Mrs. Homer Collins, ten; Wilbur McLean, four; Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Leithhead, seven; Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Marble, five; Mr. and Mrs. John Q. A. Crosby, four, and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Rieland, three.

There will be harvest and Hallowe'en dinner dances at the club and numerous other affairs during the autumn.

Lodge Notes.

The members of Aerial hive, No. 975, Modern Maccabees, will hold a picnic Saturday afternoon at Mrs. John Burnett's cabin at Woodland. The members will take the 1 o'clock car at Third avenue west and Superior street.

Church Meetings.

The Philathea class of the First M. E. church will entertain the Baraca class at 6:30 o'clock supper tomorrow evening in the dining room of the church. There will be music and games after supper.

Under the auspices of the Epworth League of the Lester Park M. E. church a talent social will be held tomorrow evening at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Williams, 5619 London road.

Schumann-Heink.

Mme. Schumann-Heink, who will sing at the Grand Opera house in Superior, Sept. 28, attracts to her concerts people from al ranks of life, all of whom are equally appreciative and enthusiastic. Fashionable society always attend her recitals when she sings in cities where that coterie abounds; the musical elements follow loyally in her train; the army of aspiring students of singing regard "their" Schumann-Heink as an institution; but, there is still another class, the great mass of people who do not go to concerts. They flock to the Schumann-Heink concerts religiously.

Bundle Shower.

The Misses Catherine McCormack and Ruth Fairley entertained at a bundle shower last evening at Miss McCormack's home, 110 North Fifty-eighth avenue west, in honor of Miss Eva Busselman, a bride of this month.

The rooms were decorated with hearts, cupids and flowers. The bride-to-be was presented with many gifts, which were placed in a basket appropriately trimmed with the prevailing decorations. There were twenty-five guests.

Mrs. O'Donnell Gives Luncheon.

Mrs. F. J. O'Donnell of 702 Woodland avenue was hostess at a luncheon of sixteen covers today.

McDowell-Anderson Wedding.

Miss Marie McDowell and Bernhardt C. Anderson were married at 8 o'clock last evening at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Marie McDowell, 5022 East Superior street. Rev. John W. Hoffman of the First M. E. church performed the ceremony in the presence of the family and a few intimate friends. There were no attendants.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Herbert A. McDowell, wore a navy silk suit with Oriental lace blouse. Her corsage bouquet was of lilies of the valley and white sweet peas.

The living room, where the bridal party stood under an archway, was decorated with pink and white lilies and asparagus ferns, with autumn lilies, palms and ferns banking the walls.

Mrs. H. A. McDowell, assisted by Miss Mina Clark and Miss Barbara McKenzie, presided in the dining room, where early autumn flowers were used.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson left for a trip down the lakes. After Nov. 1 they will be at home at 5022 East Superior street.

Daughters of Liberty Chapter Elects Delegates

Oregon Woman Discusses Work of Drama League

Mrs. Jeanne Lanctot Brackinreed, president of the Medford, Or., center of the Drama League of America, told of the work done by that branch of the organization yesterday at the informal reception held at the home of Mrs. F. A. Patrick, 2306 East Superior street, to mark the opening of the Duluth center's season.

Pride in Duluth Center.

Mrs. Brackinreed told how her pride in the Duluth center had changed to interest and how she never lost an opportunity to let it be known that she formerly lived in Duluth, which has such a flourishing center of the Drama League of America. She reminded her hearers that excerpts from letters written by prominent managers of the country call attention to the large audiences that turn out in Duluth to see productions of dramatic merit.

"Our center is only a little over a year and a half old," she said. "We are still feeling the growing pains of youth, but we have the buoyancy and enthusiasm of youth.

"We are dealing with many conditions that have not existed here for many years. However, we have secured the co-operation of the school board and have had dramatic readers introduced into the schools as part of the curriculum. All high school plays are given with the support of the drama league and we feel that the young people who are eager to join our classes, will be important factors in our activities.

"'Midsummer Night's Dream,' one of our productions, was given in Medford two nights and in a neighboring city one night. The most effective parts of it were taken for the motion pictures and are being shown at the San Francisco exposition.

Six Reading Circles.

"We have six reading circles. All clubs belong as clubs to the Medford Center, even the Commercial club. The Center has a shelf in the public library."

Mrs. Brackinreed was introduced by Mrs. Stanley R. Holden, president of the Duluth Center.

Scannell-Butters Wedding.

Miss Edna M. Scannell and Harry C. Butters were married at the home of the bride at Marble, Minn., Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, by Father Gamanshe. Miss Loraine Z. Moore was bridesmaid and Daniel H. Scannell, Jr., was best man. The ceremony was followed by a breakfast.

Those present were:

Mesdames—
A. G. Scannell, H. C. Butters,
C. H. Scannell, L. S. Hard,
J. A. Ross, D. H. Scannell.

Misses—
Alice M. Scannell, Loraine Z. Moore.

Messrs.—
A. G. Scannell, Ellery E. Scannell,
C. H. Scannell, Harry C. Butters.
Daniel Scannell,

Masters Claude and Berthel Scannell.

The bride and bridegroom left on a trip to the Twin Cities and Southern Wisconsin and will be at home after Oct. 12.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Welfare of the Child.

The urgent plea that children be educated for actual life and not away from it, reminds me of a word that I have meant to say about the musical education of children. In every piano salesroom one may see wistful, hard working couples standing a little helplessly while the merits of some instrument are pointed out. The piano is duly bought and the children's lessons begin. Those first lessons mean torture and drudgery to most infant minds.

The conservatories are overflowing with youngsters whose parents are straining every resource to give them the musical education that they think that their superior talents deserve. I am forced by observation to the belief that in view to the frightful overcrowding of the profession they should go more slowly. A very large number of those sent have only the most mediocre talents, far below the estimate of their loving and perhaps unmusical relatives and acquaintances and the results attained do not make up for the sacrifices made.

The boy or girl is put down to the piano or other instrument willy-nilly at a very early age while he is attending school. The time that should be spent romping about on the village green, or city playground, is spent in the "one-two, one-two, one-two-three" of the musical drudgery. If in the process they may soon develop an unmistakable talent, and do not at the same time develop the crop of nervous troubles that seems to fall to the lot of many of the highly talented offspring of our day, well and good.

The common schools of our country are now giving our mixed population a good grounding in music, sight-seeing, harmony and so on. Our opera singers and patrons of music are watching keenly for evidence of unusual gifts, and out of their abundant wealth are sending children from obscure environment into the centers of musical culture to receive the training that they deserve.

So I say let us not rear up a set of half-baked professionals who should be trained for the more prosaic, but perhaps happier walks of life. The rewards of musical genius are great, but so are its agonies and overstrained emotions. Let us cultivate our children toward a sane, quiet life and not away from it.

CARLTON COUNTY FAIR BEST IN ITS HISTORY

Livestock, Farm Products and Fancy Work Display Complete.

Attendance Expected to Break All Records at Barnum.

Good Races and Other Attractions Provided By Fair Management.

(By Staff Correspondent).

The twenty-fifth annual county fair of the Carlton County Agricultural and Industrial association, which opened at Barnum yesterday for a three-day exhibition, gives promise of being the finest and most complete display of livestock, farm products and fancy work ever placed on display in the history of the association. Today, despite the damp weather, the attendance is expected to break all former previous records.

Special trains arrived at Barnum this morning, carrying hundreds of visitors from Cloquet, Carlton, Scanlon, Moose Lake and the "boosters" crowd from Duluth. The judging of livestock, grains and poultry occupied the attention of the judges this morning and three horse races and a ball game will furnish the amusement for the guests this afternoon.

Large Livestock Display.

The display of livestock is the largest ever entered in a Carlton county fair. Every available stall is occupied and many of the cattle and horses have had to be provided with special tents or tied outside of the stalls. Among the large exhibit groups is a carload of cattle from the Utley stock farm at Wrenshall, and a fine herd of Guernseys from the George C. Stone Caribou farm. Practically every animal is registered blood.

Blooded stallions and mares from various parts of the state and one brought from Illinois have been entered. These horses are proving a great attraction to the visitors. Several pens of Poland China and Yorkshire hogs are entered and the poultry display is said to be one of the best that ever has been exhibited in the county.

Vegetables and Grains.

The fair management was somewhat worried a month ago about the prospective vegetable and grain exhibits. The worry is all past and, according to J. D. Connor, president of the association, the garden vegetables are equal to anything shown at the Minnesota state fair. Early frosts and a cold summer appear to have made these vegetables thrive. In the agricultural building, where they are on display, there have been entered hundreds of displays of potatoes, cabbages, turnips, beets, pumpkins, squash, corn and other products of farm and garden. Grains also are to be seen in all varieties and their appearance indicates that the best grades may be raised in the county.

Probably the most unusual farm exhibit is an individual display made by Mrs. John Seizlin, a widow, who, with her children, owns a small farm near Barnum. Everything raised on a farm from the small kernels of wheat and flax to the pumpkin, and household products, such as preserves of various kinds, are tastily arranged and displayed. Mrs. Seizlin is practically alone in doing the work, her oldest child being a boy only 13 years old. For two years in succession she has taken first prizes for individual farm exhibits and this year again seems slated for this honor.

Seductive Looking Display.

Carlton county is well provided with good cooks. The exhibition of preserves and baking denotes to the visitor that the housewives may be ranked with the best in the country. Pastry and cakes are in abundance and are as tempting to the eye as they doubtless would be to the palate.

The women's building is one of the special features of the fair. Fancy work of the most intricate nature, embroideries, drawn work, tatting, knitting and quilting are entered in abundance. One building is devoted entirely to this display.

One of the special displays that is attracting a great deal of attention at the fair is an exhibit of home-grown strawberries entered by J. P. Thompson. The strawberries are said to be the best ever exhibited in this part of the country in the fall of the year. Mr. Thompson is owner and editor of the Barnum Herald.

School Exhibits Good.

The school exhibits are very good this year. The Barnum high school has a special display which covers the entire side of the second floor of the agricultural building. Here is to be seen also the work of children from unorganized district schools of the county. The display includes drawing, samples of writing, domestic science, canning and other work which the children take up in the institution. On the first floor of the building is also shown the agricultural products raised by the children.

Two races featured the entertainment yesterday afternoon. The pony race took place at 1:30 o'clock. George Dieter won first place; J. L. Doan came in second; Johnson, third, and Hoganson, fourth.

The farmers' running race took place at 2:30 o'clock. This was won by Lobain; Zimmer, second; Josselyn, third, and Henness, fourth.

Balance of Program.

Today's program includes.

Morning — Judging stock, grains, vegetables and poultry.

Afternoon—Pace or trot, free-for-all, one mile, three in five, $300; running race, half mile, two in three, purse, $50; trot or pace, Carlton county horses, one-half mile, three in five, purse, $125; ball game.

DULUTH JEWS WILL BEGIN OBSERVANCE OF HOLIEST DAY

From sundown tomorrow until sundown Saturday adult Jews of Duluth will observe Yom Kippur or the Day of Atonement by fasting, abstaining altogether from food or drink during this period. Yom Kippur is the holiest day in the Hebrew calendar.

At 7:30 o'clock tomorrow evening initial services will be held at Temple Emanuel, Seventh avenue east and Second street, and at the Adas Israel synagogue, Third avenue east and Third street. Beginning at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning Yom Kippur services will continue all day long until sundown, when the holy day will come to an end.

Tomorrow evening, Dr. Maurice Lefkovits will preach on "The Cry of Our Brethren." At the Saturday morning services his sermon will be "Three-Fold Cord," and at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon he will preach at the special memorial service on "The Hope of Immortality." Rabbi T. Teplitz will preach at the synagogue. Special musical programs will be rendered at all the services.

What Day Means.

What Yom Kippur or the Day of Atonement means is contained in the following statement prepared by the Central Conference of American Rabbis:

"The reminiscenses of centuries cling to this day of days and make its lessons suggestive and impressive. In ancient times priestly solemnities invested it with dignity and the persecutions of later times gave it pathos and intense fervor. It is always a salutary experience to face the facts of life as they are, to realize that there are illusions and delusions, to bring home to ourselves the truth that we work under the limitations of mind, heart and will. Men who feel their responsibilities will neither ignore this reminder nor evade the appeal. They will frankly avow the shortcomings of their common human nature in the midst of their fellowmen. The Day of Atonement is not for selfish privacies, as little as for penitence which is merely penance. It is for moral uplift by which we may acquire moral strength. The first act of moral health is humility.

"The ritual of the day expresses openness, sympathy and a desire to attain to a moral will. And so do the customs of the day. Fasting is meant as a discipline of self-control, the sponsor of many virtues. Concentration upon the problems of character makes it easy and noble. Public confession of sins is an act of will, an assertion of the best in one's self. The day brings men together in a consciousness of their common mortality. Judaism makes men genuinely democratic; it makes them realize that they are equal before God.

"One phase of the ritual of the day is the thought and memory of the dead. Each man thinks of the void that has come into his career through the loss of kindred and of the obligations he has because of it. And all think of the eminent dead, of the men of efficiency and world influence, who have served and advanced the good of the world.

"The Day of Atonement is a day for inner peace, and accordingly, the Jews re-assert their loyalty to peace for themselves and for mankind."

NEW GIANT WAR AEROPLANE DECLARED GREATEST OF AIR CRAFT

Official tests of the new British war aeroplanes, capable of carrying a ton of explosives and attaining a speed of ninety-five miles an hour, were made recently by Anthony Jannus, well known aviator, who conducted a series of flights here two years ago, according to a special dispatch to the Chicago Post.

The aeroplanes are being built at Toronto under the direction of Glenn Curtiss, who was employed last spring to organize a force of experts and start immediately on manufacturing an unlimited supply of war machines for use in Europe. The first machine completed, the Canada, was tried out by Mr. Jannus. It was immediately accepted by the army officials and will be shipped shortly to the war front, the letter states. Twenty more will be ready for shipment early next month.

The Canada exceeded all requirements by more than a fifth and was accepted just as it lay on the floor after the final flight. Carrying a load of 2,000 pounds, it rose from the ground with ease and great speed, and when in full flight attained a speed of ninety-five miles an hour.

The tests were witnessed by a number of British officers and officers of the allied powers, and were under strict military supervision. No strangers were allowed inside the flying grounds, and detectives and uniformed police promptly 'moved on' any persons seen loitering in the neighborhood. Anthony Jannus flew the Canada, both with and without load, and a number of the military men went up. They were very enthusiastic at the end of the test, and said that the 'air destroyer' was the greatest machine of its kind ever built.

PHYSICIANS HOLD BANQUET.

Duluth and Superior Men Stage Social and Business Session.

Members of the Interurban Academy of Medicine, an organization of Duluth and Superior physicians, held their annual banquet and business meeting at the Holland hotel last evening.

Following the business session Dr. A. G. Pake read a paper on "Ductless Glands." The subject was discussed by the forty members present, with Dr. Pake leading in the arguments.

Dr. W. A. Coventry is president and Dr. A. L. McDonald, secretary, of the organization.

European Shortage in Tires.

Washington, Sept. 16.—Serious shortage of automobile tires in the neutral countries of Europe, usually supplied by American manufacturers, has followed restriction of rubber exports from the United States. Advices received today by the state department said business in Holland, Sweden, Norway and Denmark was suffering on account of lack of tires.

find "yours"

Get all the smoke-pleasure you pay for. Find the right cigarette—a SENSIBLE one that fits your own likes and dislikes.

It may or may not be Fatima

—but this will help you find it.

Tastes differ—in fashions, foods and pretty girls.

Also in cigarettes.

A cigarette that started out to please every man's taste would end up by pleasing none.

Most of us like our cigarette smoke deliciously cool and refreshing. The Mexican likes his hot and dry, with a nice little peppery sting in it.

Most of us want an "easy" cigarette—a SENSIBLE one, so that no matter how steadily or how many we smoke, we'll feel as fit as a fiddle. Other men, though, don't care about that. They smoke only a few—so they want a kick like a mule's in each puff.

All of us want our smoke "full-bodied"—it must satisfy that smoke-hunger. But the cigarette that just fills the bill for you may not do at all for your next-door neighbor.

Somewhere—among all the brands on the market—is the one just-right cigarette for YOU!

Maybe it's the very one you have now in your pocket—but are you SURE? Maybe it's some entirely "different" cigarette—it may or may not be Fatima.

But "find it!" Until you do, you're cheating yourself out of a whole lot of smoke-pleasure. Also you're wasting some money.

How to Find "yours"

To avoid blindly trying too many different cigarettes, ask yourself, first of all, this question:

"Just what do I like in a cigarette?"

If you smoke only a few every day, you may prefer a cigarette which is rather rich or heavy and "oily." Or you may like one which has a rather strong "oriental" taste with a pungency almost like perfume. Or you may want a cigarette with that noticeably "sweetish" Egyptian flavor. But if you smoke quite often—if you would like to smoke whenever you feel like it and without any effect on the tongue or throat or any fear of a heavy or "heady" feeling afterwards—then you should choose some cigarette such as Fatima, a cigarette composed of all-pure tobaccos of considerable aroma, mellowed by being aged and carefully blended to produce a fragrant and wholesomely mild, yet "full-bodied," smoke. And the smoke must be noticeably COOL. For otherwise your tongue or your throat will soon signal you to stop smoking so often.

If you will ask any Fatima smoker, he will tell you that Fatimas never make him "feel mean"—no matter how many he smokes.

That is why Fatimas are considered the most sensible cigarette by such a large majority of smokers. And that is probably the main reason why hardly any Fatima smokers ever switch! They like a sensible cigarette—and one with a good, pure taste to it.

But the Taste is up to You

All cigarettes are pure, but when it comes to the taste, nobody can help you choose. You simply have to decide for yourself.

Of course, Fatima's taste may not appeal to you. But most men who try Fatimas like the taste so well that they seek no further—otherwise Fatimas could never have won and held their enormous and growing leadership amounting to over one and a half BILLION cigarettes a year.

The one purpose of this advertisement is to ask you in a fair and square way to give Fatimas (20 for 15c) a good trial. If they don't happen to suit your taste, you'll quit smoking them of course. But if you like Fatimas as well as MOST men do, you'll be mighty glad you read this advertisement—and ACTED ON IT!

Below are two simple tests which you can easily make and which may help you find your sensible cigarette.

It may or may not be Fatima. But be fair to yourself and find "yours."

Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Largest cigarette manufacturer in the U. S. as shown by Internal Revenue reports.

TWO TESTS FOR ANY CIGARETTE

The taste of the cigarette—according to a leading tobacco journal—is up to the smoker. But there are other qualities that you should look for in the cigarette that you are going to stick to for your steady smoke. Here are a couple of tests that may help the average smoker to choose more wisely between different kinds of cigarettes.

The first test is for coolness, which means more comfort to the throat and tongue. Light any cigarette. Draw in a cloud of smoke—a small, ordinary puff is not sufficient to make this test. Hold it in your mouth for a few seconds. Let it "float" around against your tongue and throat. Now blow out the smoke. If the cigarette contains a high grade of mild tobacco leaves, combined in just the right proportion, it will always feel cool and smooth both to your throat and to your tongue.

On the other hand, if the proportions are not right and if the cigarette contains inferior grades of tobacco or hidden strands of rank, oily leaf, you will feel a nipping sting at the tip of your tongue or that "sandpaper tickle" in your throat.

Test number two—How do you feel after smoking all day?

If the tobaccos in the cigarette include a correct proportion of mild grades—and if all of the various grades have been properly mellowed by age—and if they have been so blended as to bring out the best qualities and to neutralize any unpleasant qualities in each of the different types of tobaccos, you will be able to smoke practically whenever you feel like it through the day without feeling any effect from it. But with another cigarette in which the blend is less skillful, even though the tobaccos are of the highest grade, you will find along towards the end of the day that you are likely to have that feeling of having "smoked too much."

Clip out these tests and try them on Fatima

EVIDENCE TO BE PRESENTED

Gerard to Furnish Facts in Arabic Case to Germany.

Washington, Sept. 16.—Ambassador Gerard has been instructed to present to the German foreign office a summary of the evidence gathered by the United States government, and accepted here as conclusive proof that the White Star liner Arabic was torpedoed without warning, causing the loss of two Americans.

Secretary Lansing, in making this announcement, made it clear that no representations or expression of opinion by the American government had been made in the communication. The viewpoint of the United States, based on the evidence in the Arabic case, and its position on the principles involved, were stated informally to Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, who communicated later with the German foreign office.

The outcome of these two steps—examination by the German foreign office of the evidence, and receipt by Berlin officials of Ambassador Bernstorff's suggestion—is awaited before the next move in the situation is determined.

The general expectation is that several days, possibly two weeks, will elapse before the decision of the German government is made known.

EXPENSES OF STATE LABOR DEPARTMENT

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—State department of labor disbursements for the fiscal year of 1915 ending July 31 were $58,928.01, of which $43,680 was spent for salaries from the general fund and $5,627 for salaries from the contingent fund, according to the report of the state public examiner, made public today. Expenses for traveling were $5,709.33, and miscellaneous expenses were $3,911.68. The department's appropriations amounted to $64,680.

The examiner's report comments on the fact that there were no unnecessary expenses, and that the traveling expenses for the year were unusually conservative.

FASTEST MOTORBOAT AT HEAD OF THE LAKES IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

THE VAN VLERCK MAKING THIRTY MILES AN HOUR.

The "Van Vlerck," 100 horsepower motor boat, owned by Ernest Larson of West Duluth, winner of several races and credited with being the fastest boat at the Head of the Lakes, was destroyed in an early morning fire that consumed it and two other smaller motor boats at the boat house. The total loss is placed at $4,150.

The boat houses are situated at the foot of Sixty-first avenue west. Defective electric wiring is believed to have been the cause of the blaze. The fire was discovered by a resident near the bay who sent in the alarm at 3 o'clock.

An explosion of a tank of gasoline in one of the boat houses took place just before the firemen from station No. 8 arrived. The flame leaped nearly a hundred feet in the air following the explosion and spread with great rapidity to the adjoining boat houses. It was only through strenuous work on the part of the firemen that other boat houses in the district were not destroyed.

The "Van Vlerck" was valued at $3,000. The boat was the winner of the ten-mile motor race put on by the Duluth Boat club during the regatta last summer. The boat on occasions has been known to make as high as thirty-five miles an hour and has easily outdistanced any boat on the river. The boat house was valued at $100. Insurance to the amount of $2,000 was carried on the boat and house.

John Malecki's "Fritz," a ten-horsepower motor boat valued at $750 and boat house, was a complete loss. He carried $400 insurance. The other boat was owned by Raymond T. Smalldige and was valued at $200. Mr. Smalldige recently purchased his boat. The engine was in a repair shop at the time of the fire. He had no insurance.

WILL REOPEN SAWMILL.

Alger-Smith Company Assured of Plentiful Supply of Logs.

The Alger-Smith sawmill, which has been closed down for two days, will resume operations tomorrow morning, according to a statement given out by Supt. M. J. O'Brien. The mill closed down because of the lack of logs.

"We are now guaranteed a supply of logs that will keep the mill in operation until late this fall," said Mr. O'Brien this morning. "A trainload of the logs will arrive regularly every day. This is sufficient to keep the mill going."

THIRSTY THIEVES FOOLED.

Phonograph Records Stolen; Robbers Thought Them Beer Bottles.

Five cartons of phonograph records stolen from freight cars of the Northern Pacific railroad Tuesday night were found last evening near Fifty-ninth avenue west by three West Duluth boys. The boys are Harold Olson, Henry Michleson and Hilding Ladeam.

The records were a part of a consignment from the Victor Talking Machine company at Camden, N. J., to the Spencer Pharmacy at West Duluth. Police are of the opinion that the thieves took the cartons believing that they were filled with beer bottles. The tops of a couple of the cartons had been tampered with but none of the records were missing.

MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN.

Four A. O. U. W. Lodges Plan Joint Effort to Increase Numbers.

Plans for an active membership campaign in which the four A. O. U. W. lodges of Duluth will participate in was started last evening at the meeting of West Duluth lodge No. 145. A committee headed by John J. Moran was appointed to take charge of the campaign for the West Duluth lodge.

Following the final meeting of the picnic committee, recommendations were made to designate the first Monday in September each year as A. O. U. W. picnic day. These recommendations will be presented to each of the Duluth lodges.

OLD RESIDENT SUMMONED.

Anthony Welsh Dies of Pneumonia at St. Mary's Hospital.

Anthony Welsh, age 65, 3820 West Fifth street, died last night at St. Mary's hospital following an illness since Sunday. Pneumonia was the cause of death. Mr. Welsh had been a resident of Duluth for the last twenty-three years. He was employed as molder at the Clyde Iron works.

A widow and four children survive him. The daughters are Mrs. Nelson Bagan of St. Paul, Mrs. C. E. Gillings and Miss Margaret Welsh, and the son, P. J. Welsh, of this city.

The arrangements for the funeral will be made this afternoon.

Card Party for Guest.

HAS RESIDED IN DULUTH FOR 25 YEARS

Tanlac the Only Thing That Brought Relief.

Could Only Eat Bread and Milk.

Few persons have resided in one locality in Duluth longer than Mrs. Christina Anderson, for twenty-five years she has lived at 2128 West Third street, where she is very popular and well liked by her friends and neighbors. Mrs. Anderson is the widow of a former well known railroad employe. Mrs. Anderson said to the Tanlac man this week: "I have suffered for a considerable period from indigestion and stomach trouble. After eating I was very uncomfortable, had an accumulation of gas in my stomach and a bloated feeling. Practically the only thing I could eat was bread and milk. I learned that a number of my neighbors were taking Tanlac and decided to try it. After taking a course of the medicine I can now eat anything. The pains in my stomach are entirely gone and I sleep much better. It is the only medicine that I have been able to find that would give me any relief. I would certainly recommend it to others that are suffering from stomach trouble."

Tanlac, the premier preparation of which Mrs. Anderson speaks so highly, may be procured in Duluth at the store of William A. Abbett, "the careful druggist, at 219 West Superior street, where Claude J. Meredith, "the Tanlac man," is in charge to explain its merits. It is also on sale at the other Abbett stores in Duluth, East end and Fourth street.

Children's Home Tag Day.

Superior will have a "tag day" Saturday. The proceeds from the day's collections will go towards the support of the children's home at Billings Park. Young women from all parts of the city will assist. The city has been divided into twelve districts and each worker will report to a superintendent of her district. The workers will be on the street from early morning until late in the evening.

Naughton to Be Tried Again.

The fall term of the superior court will open on Oct. 4. The names of thirty-six jurors have been drawn for the work of the court. A number of important cases will be brought before the court. Among the cases to be tried will be the third trial of James Naughton, who is charged with election frauds. At the two former trials the jury has disagreed.

BOTH SIDES GET COURT VERDICT

Two-Sided Fight for Funds Is Decided as Draw.

It was a good draw.

That was the verdict of the jury in the case of Dan Skorich against Peter Babich and his wife, Katie Babich, a civil action, tried in District Judge Dancer's court yesterday in which Dan Skorich sued Peter Babich and his wife for approximately $300 which he claimed was due him for rebuilding a house and for a loan of $120 made to Mrs. Babich.

While on the stand yesterday Peter Babich testified that he had loaned Skorich $400 some time ago and that the debt had never been paid.

Last evening the jury brought in two verdicts. In one it awarded Peter Babich, one of the defendants, $100 and the other gave the plaintiff a verdict for $100 against Mrs. Katie Babich. The latter is a sister to Dan Skorich.

As the matter now stands it is in about the same position as before trial was started, the only exchange of money being to the court and the attorneys who appeared in the trial.

The Modern Kind— the all-season Bargain!

Time was when a cut price was the only sign of a bargain. Fake Sales Managers with their "$50 suits at $3.98" used to attract buyers. The custom grew so rotten that many big stores in the country now advertise selling prices only and absolutely refrain from mentioning former prices or fancy values.

A new kind of bargain has come into existence—not an end-of-the-season cut in price, but an all-season raise in value.

The Columbia $14.50 Suit

The best answer to the young man's suit question and the Little Columbo $4.90 Suits

The guaranteed Boys' Suit with two pairs pants are shining examples of this modern kind of all-season bargains. Sensible co-operation of buyer and seller—of the bulk of people and a big store—is necessary, for only by the disposal of great numbers of garments is it possible to maintain this relative value and price.

Co-operate!

THE ILLUSION OF BULK NATIONAL WEALTH.

The census bureau recently reported that the wealth of this nation in 1912 was over $187,000,000,000 — millions; thousands of millions; hundreds of thousands of millions —a stupendous, staggering, breath-taking sum. The mere growth of this wealth in a dozen years, from 1900 to 1912, was nearly a hundred billions—fourteen times as much as the total national wealth in 1850. It is two thousand dollars for each man, woman and child—ten thousand dollars for the average family.

It is splendid, awe-inspiring. We take pride in it, glory in it, boast of it.

But is it quite so splendid as it seems?

If the average family had its average share of this monstrous sum, its mere income from investment would be nearly six hundred dollars a year; yet the average wage-earner gets less than that for a year's labor.

In one exceptionally prosperous state—Wisconsin—sixty-five per cent of the people own but 5.2 per cent of the wealth, while two per cent of the people own fifty-seven per cent of the whole.

Moreover, in a large degree, the greater this wealth—the greater certain types of wealth—the more the masses of the people must give up to pay the dividends of those who merely grow rich from ownership—who do not toil, but gain through the toil of others.

Walter E. Weyl in the New Republic makes an attempt to analyze this wealth, and deduces from it not comfort but discomfort. It teaches him that statistical wealth has increased far more rapidly than social welfare. It is a good thing—for the landholder—when the scarcity of farm lands doubles their value; but it means that the landless must pay more for their food.

The greater part of this enormous increase in apparent wealth has been produced simply by a revaluation of property that existed before; and it needs no demonstration to prove that this means a larger tribute to be levied by those who have upon those who have not.

"Year by year," he says, "we must take some six or seven billions of dollars of our income and turn it over to the men who own our city lots, our buildings, our railroads, farms, factories and other wealth. It is a sign of national vitality that we can annually pay these huge sums to property and still reserve enough to maintain some sort of standard of living for propertyless workers. But it is surely of no obvious advantage to have too large a proportion of our national income diverted to 'property.' We need not believe that a few men possess all property and the rest are totally disinherited to realize the danger of diverting a large proportion of our national income to men who receive simply because they own."

And every time the holdings of those who "receive simply because they own" are revalued at a higher level, the amount those dependent upon wage-earning must divert to "property" increases accordingly.

"Our statistics of national wealth, therefore," concludes Dr. Weyl, "are not so entirely encouraging as they appear at first glance. An enormous annual payment to property is dangerous so long as property is held individually and unequally. However evenly such property might be divided in the present, a sharp tendency toward inequality is always present."

Bulk wealth attracts wealth, and the larger congestions of wealth tend inevitably to absorb the smaller particles.

"Each year some two million babies are born in the United States, of whom many enter life without prospect of inheriting property. Our immigrants also come with nothing but their labor power, with no part of this vast aggregate of national wealth and national capital, which draws so large a proportion of our national income. Until we know more definitely what our distribution of wealth is we may well regard our increase in property values with suspicion."

Certainly we should restrain enthusiasm over large figures until we are certain that they will analyze high in social well being.

"Lend Me Five Shillings" is thrown completely in the shade by this new phrase, "Lend me a billion dollars."

THE SHORT BALLOT NO PANACEA.

A correspondent takes up a good deal of valuable space in the New York Evening Post demonstrating his belief that the short ballot is not a magic panacea for the evils of government.

He needn't have consumed three lines to prove that. Any sensible person will admit it. Furthermore, any sensible person will go further and add that there is no such thing as a magic political formula that will cure all evils of government, and there never will be.

Like the commission plan of city government, the short ballot in state government is just a simpler mechanism of government, more readily controlled by the people, and with responsibility more definitely fixed. Its adoption doesn't mean that every political problem has been solved and that the people can go back to sleep, confident that they have set up a machine that will automatically turn out good results.

There is no conceivable form of popular government that will run itself. If the people don't run it in their own interest, the greedy and venal will run it in THEIR interest. That's true no matter what the form of government may be.

But there is such a thing as a form of government so complex and formless that it is virtually impossible for the people to get good results through it, and that form of government now prevails in every state in the union. Wherever it prevails it provides thickets of confusion in which the "invisible government" may conceal its operations.

What the short ballot does is to clear away those thickets and put the whole process out in the open. Then if the people let somebody creep in to manage the system for selfish purposes, it is their fault.

It still remains for the Mexican leaders to hold popularity contests.

ALL TO SERVE MY LADY.

Mr. Mere Man, it will be worth your while to be on Superior street—almost anywhere in the shopping district—on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock.

For precisely at that hour and minute, in response to a signal communicated simultaneously to all the shops by the telephone exchanges, the curtains that drape the show windows will rise—or drop, as the case may be—on a spectacle worth going many miles to see.

For at that hour and minute begins the Duluth Annual Fall Style Show, and the spectacle that will be revealed will be a fascinating harmony of color, form and fashion, to the gathering of which the whole civilized world—in so far as it is not shut in by war—has contributed brains, artistry and cunning ingenuity.

Here the world's richest and best—from low prices to high prices, to suit all purses —will be displayed in the latest modes of form and color. All this has been garnered and displayed for the edification and adornment of My Lady, greatly to her satisfaction and contentment and to the admiration and adoration of the beholder.

All of which will prove again, as it has been proved and proved again on many an occasion, that My Lady in Duluth is abundantly and excellently served by a collection of retail shops of which any community in the land might well be proud. It is not at all in the way of flattery of our merchants that The Herald is glad to repeat what it has often said before, that the service provided by Duluth's shops is unexcelled in any respect by any community of less than half a million people.

Moreover, since last year the tide of prosperity has rolled higher, money is flowing more freely, optimism abounds, and father's pocketbook, which is the partner of this gorgeous and tempting display, is in a position to meet its fall associate, the Style Show, with far greater cordiality than it felt like manifesting last fall.

At any rate, the Fall Style Show begins at two o'clock Saturday afternoon, and Superior street will be a bazar of magnificence and splendor all of Saturday afternoon and evening, furnishing a spectacle calculated to spur the most jaded taste for sight-seeing.

There are those who say hyphenating is too good for hay fever.

VERY UNFORTUNATE INDEED.

"It will be exceedingly unfortunate," says the Navy League in its indorsement of President Wilson's policy of national defense, "if national defense ever becomes a political issue."

It will, indeed, be exceedingly unfortunate; and the pity of it is that it is about three-fourths a political issue now—at least Gussy Gardner, Theodore Roosevelt and others more or less notable started it as a political issue and are striving with might and main to keep it a political issue.

It is an exceedingly unfortunate thing when ANY important public business becomes a political issue.

For when that happens, immediately partisanship begins to blind men to truth, and the issue that has got into politics is in a fair way not to be settled for a long time, and not to be rightened at last until it is painfully dragged out of politics.

If it should really come to pass that graft is the means of awakening Russia, must we then prepare to hear graft eulogized as a good thing?

The Bohemian Protest.

New York World: Bohemian immigrants feel aggrieved at being included among "the races from Austria-Hungary who are uneducated" in Dr. Dumba's famous letter. Bohemia is an ancient and progressive kingdom. Its people who come to us not only show a very low percentage of illiteracy upon arrival, but a low criminal record after they get here. Perhaps their real offense in Dr. Dumba's eyes is that neither at home nor here are they friendly to German-Magyar rule in the Dual Monarchy.

Teddy as a Dark Horse

By Savoyard.

Washington, Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fire alarm is sounded in a special dispatch from New York in the Standpat Washington Post, headed "T. R. as a Dark Horse." The faithful are warned that there is danger of a stampede to Teddy in the convention of 1916 unless the Republicans weed out the patch and clear it of some of the abundant plants such as favorite sons. It is insisted that the party must get behind Roof, or Burton, and make him so strong that the Colonel will not dare try conclusions with him.

That is pretty hard on Weeks, Whitman, Wadsworth, Knox, Brumbaugh, Herrick, Willis, Alden Smith, Fairbanks, Jim Watson, Jim Mann, Senator Sherman of Illinois, Cummins, Borah, Hadley and others, all of whom are coolly told to scamper away and hide under the bed or Teddy will "get 'em." It is predicted that there will be a number of Roosevelt delegates in the convention, and they are depended on as a nucleus around whom the bewildered forces of the other candidates will rally if a score or so of Toms, Dicks and Harrys are balloted for for a day or two.

What do "progressive" Republicans think of such a thing as getting out of the way of a radical reactionary like Root, or a near reactionary like Burton? Will Cummins, Borah and Hadley submit to it? Possibly not. And possibly Cummins, Borah and Hadley each and all have for second choice the Colonel. Roosevelt is a powerful personality, however impulsive and however erratic he may be, and it would be no very great humiliation to be beaten in convention by him. Besides, how is the party otherwise to rid itself of that swarm of mediocrities now contending for the nomination?

It is easy to penetrate Roosevelt's game. If political affairs in Mexico are not composed, if the European war is not over, if we are not a party to that war, in 1916, look out for Teddy. He will be a candidate, and he will proclaim his paramount issue—war with Germany. Persuade the G. O. P. that such issue with Roosevelt is likely to win, and Roosevelt will sweep the convention fore and aft. He has already proclaimed his issue—war—and we all know that had he been president our country would have entered upon it last year. He intimates that President Wilson has botched the job, that he is a mollycoddle, and that he ought to cease talking and do something.

The nomination convention is less than ten months off. The Republicans proclaim that the Progressives have "come back." If that is so the Progressives will constitute the majority of the party. They will be in command. They will control the primaries, appoint the delegates, organize the convention, write the platform and name the ticket. Then what and who can hinder them from setting up a redhot dish of Teddy for Barnes and Penrose, Fairbanks and Cannon, Foraker and Burton, Root and Lodge, Gallinger and Mann, to make a breakfast of? Then there is William Howard Taft. How he will enjoy the feast!

If not Teddy, who? Taft? He is not even discussed. Alden Smith is become more prominent than he. Root? As well nominate Wall Street at once as to name its favorite lawyer. Burton? He is too much of a reactionary for the Progressives, and too much of a progressive for the Standpatters. Weeks? When a party shall go to New England for a presidential candidate New England will have produced another John Quincy Adams, or Daniel Webster, or James G. Blaine, or Thomas B. Reed. Just now New England is distressingly weak in such timber. Cummins? He fought Aldrich on the tariff in 1909.

I can't see anybody but Teddy, unless they take Taft again, and that would be the decentest thing they could do in any event; but the G. O. P. is not very strong on decency unless it fetches a majority along in its train, and decency and majority, these days, are on the other side the hedge in the Woodrow Wilson Democratic camp and there they intend to stay unless all signs fail. It is going to be a pretty row—the Republican convention—and whatever may appear on the surface the struggle will be precisely what it was in the convention of 1912, possibly with a like result.

In the Republican national convention of 1876 and that of 1880 there were battles of the giants as there had been in the convention of that party in 1860. There were Blaine, Conkling, Morton, Grant, Sherman and others; but in 1916 the ostensible contest is a battle of the pygmies. And that is Roosevelt's opportunity.

They are bound to take Teddy. It would be criminal political folly to name a mediocrity against Woodrow Wilson. And Teddy is the only giant they have got to face the Democratic Hercules. Look out for the Colonel. He is going to be a mighty dangerous man in the G. O. P. powwow in 1916!

The Endless Battle.

Henry George: Look around today. Lo, here and now in our civilized society, the old allegories yet have a meaning, the old myths are still true. Into the Valley of the Shadow of Death yet often the path of Duty leads; through the streets of Vanity Fair walk Christian and Faithful; and on Greatheart's armor ring the clanging blows. Ormuzd still fights with Ahriman—the Prince of Light with the powers of darkness. He who will hear, to him the clarions of the battle call.

How they call, and call, and call, till the heart swells that hears them! Strong soul and high endeavor, the world needs them now. Beauty still lies imprisoned, and iron wheels still go over the good, the true and the beautiful that might spring from human lives.

And they who fight with Ormuzd, though they may not know each other—somewhere, some time, will their muster roll be called.

Couldn't Beat Tommy.

Life: They were at dinner and the dainties were on the table.

"Will you take tart or pudding?" asked papa of Tommy.

"Tart," said Tommy promptly.

His father sighed as he recalled the many lessons on manners he had given the boy.

"Tart what?" he queried kindly.

But Tommy's eyes were glued on the pastry.

"Tart what?" asked the father again, sharply this time.

"Tart first," answered Tommy triumphantly.

Look Up!

Look up, not down! The skies are overhead,
Where still are shining sun and stars and moon;
What if today the clouds make dark the noon?
The sweet light will return when clouds have fled.

Look up in hope! Above the watery waste
God's spirit broods, and some day the new earth
Will find, out of the throes of this rebirth,
Its paradise; but God is not in haste.

Look up and trust! Above the wrath of man,
Above the swirl of jealousies and hate,
Unmoved the throne of God abides; just wait;
Tomorrow you will see His perfect plan.

Look up! The Right must have the right of way;
Might is but weakness when allied with Wrong;
The power of righteousness, when few, are strong,
And in the conflict ever win the day.

Look up, O soul, and fear not for the ark!
The frighted dove her olive-leaf will bring;
The waters will subside, and a new spring
Will tell of bright days growing from the dark.

—Dr. Henry Burton in the Christian Endeavor World.

War Issues in 1916

Editorial in the New York Times.

Unless the great events going on in Europe take a different turn from what now seems likely, the next presidential campaign will be fought over questions arising from our foreign relations. It will be the first national campaign in which domestic issues are subordinate. If the war is still going on, the questions will be much like those which are under discussion today; if it is ended, the issues growing out of it will affect us as they will every other country in the world.

This is generally recognized and there has been more or less speculation concerning the form which it will take. The Boston Herald, for instance, sees the Democrats making their fight for Mr. Wilson's re-election on the simple issue, "He kept the country out of war," while the Baltimore American holds that since Republicans as well as Democrats uphold the president's hands, no partisan advantage can accrue to either party. Chairman Hilles of the Republican international committee believes that the international situation cannot be relied on to win a Democratic victory.

All these views seem to us short-sighted. The situation is a good deal larger than the one their proponents have in mind. If the war ends, or has assumed such a character that the United States is no longer in any danger of being drawn into it, Mr. Wilson will not be able to make his campaign simply on his success in preserving the peace. Not past performances but future policies are the issues in national campaigns. For the same reason the Republicans will be able to make very little capital out of their support of him. The voters will be looking forward, not backward.

What the issues growing out of the war will be it is impossible to predict now, with the war still raging and new questions arising at every turn. It is, however, evident that in some form the question of preparedness will be one of them. Col. Roosevelt is sure of it and is hard at work trying to put the administration in the position of favoring weak defenses. Whatever its shortcomings may have been in that respect, there are plenty of indications that its future policy is now being shaped in such a way that the Republicans will get as little advantage as possible from such an attack. Secretary Garrison, there is reason to believe, has had his way at last, since Mr. Bryan's retirement, and the president is likely to take a position when congress meets which will leave the Republicans with little powder to fire that volley.

Other issues will undoubtedly arise out of the way in which American interests are affected by the war or by its settlement. It is the unlikeliest thing in the world that there will be any simple little A B C issue such as "He kept the country out of war," or the kind of support the president got from Republicans. If the president handles the American foreign policy with success to the end, he will certainly derive an enormous advantage from it, and will greatly increase his own popularity, and this will make assets for him; but they will not be issues, they will be assets in obtaining support for his side of whatever the issues may be.

All this on the assumption that the war has ended or neared visibly its end. If it is still going on, and there is still danger for the United States, the Republicans will have to face the old argument against swapping horses in mid-stream, and the best issues they can invent will come up against that as against a stone wall. If Mr. Hilles believes that in such a case the international situation cannot be relied on to win a Democratic victory, he is chasing rainbows with a faith and zeal in which 1908 has made no dents.

The Republicans face a hard situation. The domestic issues on which they relied two years ago will be unheard in the roar of war, and if the war still goes on they will be at a hopeless disadvantage from the beginning. Only on its conclusion can they base any hopes, and as no man knows how it is going to end or what issues will arise from it they cannot yet stock their arsenal. They are doing the best they can with the preparedness issue, but if the president is guided by his secretary of war even that will be taken away from them. It will be of no avail for Col. Roosevelt and the Republicans to assail the administration on its past and Bryan-made record if a strong and patriotic stand is taken on that question next December.

The Man Who Steals a Loaf

Life: We all know Justice as she works; how the man who steals a loaf because he's hungry goes to jail, and how the man who steals a million or millions goes free and offends us with his display of what he buys with his ill-gotten swag.

Now we are promised a change. For once Justice is going after some of the big fellows. These have managed to keep criminal liability of directors out of the statutes, and it is impossible to get them when they do their stealing with their faces concealed by a director's mask.

Now, though, the department of justice is promising us some real punishment for the men who robbed the defenseless widows and orphans whose money was in the securities of the Rock Island. It seems that there is evidence in existence to indict for conspiracy the men who threw that solvent corporation into the hands of a receiver.

One director claims he didn't know that it was to be done, but it has been testified that his holdings of ten thousand shares were reduced to one thousand during the period that the stock market was rigged to enable those on the inside to unload.

Their lawyer has admitted that Messrs. Daniel G. Reid and Judge Moore, always prominent in Rock Island, were aware three weeks in advance that a receiver was to be applied for, although apparently everyone else was kept in ignorance of the assault planned on the credit of the company. It was in that three weeks that Rock Island stock did its spectacular stunt in Wall Street.

Does the department of justice really mean business? It seems too good to be true.

If it does, we may possibly see that hitherto unknown combination—the man who stole the loaf and the men who stole millions all in the same prison.

A Sabbatarian Nut.

Some years ago an insane patient was given to the immodest, nor to say expensive, habit of tearing his clothing from him and converting jeans, ticking, denim or whatever the clothes were made of, into carpet rags.

The prison physician remonstrated with the shredding nut as follows:

"Say, old man, you're certainly making a lot of unnecessary trouble for us. We don't think it's fair. Wouldn't you like to make money?"

The insane man emphatically averred his willingness to earn ready cash.

"Well, I'll tell you what I'll do," resumed the doctor. "I will give you ten cents for every day you don't tear your clothes off. Eh?"

The offender assented eagerly, and started in to make good. Tuesday his clothes remained intact; Wednesday, ditto; Friday and Saturday the same. His reformation was the talk of the institution.

But on Sunday morning the garments the crazy man had worn all week were torn into strips and thrown to the four winds of his cell.

"What does this mean?" asked the indignant physician. "I thought I had you hired to keep your clothes on and be good!"

"Well," said the prisoner, innocently, "you didn't suppose I was going to work on Sunday, did you?"

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Scattered Comments Taken From Minnesota Papers.

Tut-tut! Minnesota IS the Best of Them.

Fairmont Sentinel: In the matter of crops Minnesota is as well off as the best of them.

Forgot a Birthday.

Grygla Eagle: Last week was No. 1 of Vol. XIII of the Eagle. In the rush of unnumbered household duties we forgot to mention it then, but it was so just the same, Friday, Vol. 13. No, we are not afraid of a "hoodoo," but if our plans work out as we intend they will, we will make quite a change in the Eagle.

It Is Right Nice for Somebody.

Albert Lea Tribune: Talk about your profit! Wheat is now selling for 54 cents to 86 cents a bushel and flour is still $1.85 per sack. Is it right?

The Infant Has an Anniversary.

Gonvick Banner: In a good condition, the Banner has passed its fourth milestone, and with continued encouragement from Gonvick business houses, it forges on into another year of public service. The Banner is the youngest newspaper in Clearwater county. It is edited by the youngest editor in the county and is published in one of the county's youngest and best towns.

Some Change!

Red Wing Republican: Kentucky is surely reforming. It is actually estimating its prospective corn crop by the bushels rather than by the gallon.

Here's Hoping for Sixty More Under the Same Auspices.

Dawson Sentinel: With this issue the Dawson Sentinel completes its thirty-first year. Next week it begins its thirty-second. * * *

To its friends who have made contributions, material and otherwise, and to its enemies who have added zest to its existence, the Sentinel extends thanks. All it asks for the future is opportunity for continued and enlarged service and remuneration commensurate only with the measure of fidelity with which it uses that opportunity.

And Leap Year Three Months Away.

Little Falls Transcript: We notice by the metropolitan daily press that a new champeen has arisen in the doughnut-making world. We are holding on tight to a spring that shall shoot us into the doughnut arena mighty sudden when the call for doughnut testers is promulgated. Our one talent lieth thereabouts and we proudly defy the world. Of course, the neighbors ought to co-operate with us by helping to keep us in good practice and up to a real state of efficiency in testing. But, regardless, the moment the alarum sounds we're in the doughnut ring with a keen razor edge on our ability.

Minnesota Teaches Montana.

Bertha Herald: Out in Montana the record of the Bertha creamery is being used by Prof. Martin of the agricultural college of that state, to promote the dairy interests of that growing commonwealth. The Herald is most gratified to learn this, and every citizen of Bertha and every patron of the Bertha creamery should also be elated. This means valuable advertising for our most valuable and important industry, and should also act as an enthuser to the patrons of this creamery to obtain better results. Get the spirit of enthusiasm and strive for greater results.

"Yankee Doodle Dandy"

Omaha World-Herald: It is a grand old tune. Captious critics may find some fault with it as a musical creation or as a literary effort, but it has a great little punch, just the same. "Yankee Doodle Dandy" has been a marching song for schoolboys for a century and would be a marching song for American men if needs be.

The Indian is not the only real American—not by a long shot! If this melting pot were to be merely a hotbed of competitive development for colonies of foreign immigrants it would be a poor place to live in. There is no reason to believe that because the United States became the social and economic savior of the oppressed of all other nations she discarded her sublime individuality as the true America. Foreign-born people are welcomed here to become Americans, discarding their allegiance to the monarchs and potentates to whom they were subject.

In the public schools, on the streets, in social gatherings, in parades—in fact, in any meeting one might mention, if there be patriotism of any variety, "Yankee Doodle Dandy" is heard.

The "Star Spangled Banner" and "Yankee Doodle Dandy" seem still to be hand-maidens of the great government at Washington, as they have been for scores of years.

At Yorktown, Appomattox and Santiago the boys behind the Stars and Stripes heard "Yankee Doodle Dandy" and returned to their homes with the greatest of all loves—the loves of the country they had defended and the "folks" therein.

"Best Sellers" may come and go, but when all are forgotten the big American hit will be "Yankee Doodle Dandy."

Try it on your fife!

Knew His Writing.

Chicago Herald: Mr. S——, the theatrical manager, though in other respects a thorough business man, could neither read nor write, but kept a private secretary, who had strict injunctions not to betray the secret.

One day the manager was dining at his hotel, when a gold watch was raffled for. Each of the guests staked 50 cents, wrote his name on a scrap of paper, and threw it into a hat. Our manager was dreadfully perplexed when his turn came to sign his name. However, in order not to expose himself, he pretended to write, rolled up the blank piece of paper, and threw it into the hat along with the rest.

As chance would have it, this very paper was drawn. Great was the astonishment when it was found to be blank. But B——, the low comedian, who was present, asked to have it shown to him, and when he had examined it carefully, he gravely exclaimed: "That is our manager's handwriting. I should know it among a thousand!"

Pray for Me.

I care not what the Creedists say
For whether their word be "yes" or "nay"
But when the clay my spirit goes
Pray, O pray, for my soul's repose!

Tho' Roman and Genevan disagree,
Yet the wish of my soul is dear to me;
When the last sigh stills and the last gleam goes,
Pray, then pray, for my soul's repose!

The priest and presbyter thresh again
The barren straw they have threshed in vain,
When the gates of the grave one day unclose
Pray, I ask, for my soul's repose!

Pharisee—Saducee—let debate
And see as they may the future state;
When the mind of the Master-Mind outgoes,
Pray, I say, for my soul's repose!

Whatever road to the throne I take—
And whether my sign be the star or snake—
When into the future the present flows,
Pray, good friends, for my soul's repose.

Men tell that ever in His high sphere
The Lord of Glory our lips can hear;
When my eyes I close upon mortal woes,
Pray, O pray, for my soul's repose!

Then spare a prayer for a shivering soul,
And ask God's mercy upon the scroll
The spirit bears as it onward goes—
Pray, sweet friends, for my soul's repose!

When I go hence to the things unguessed,
And the dearest wish of my heart is rest;
And the peace that the One All-Perfect knows—
Pray, in that hour, for my soul's repose!

Twenty Years Ago

From The Herald of this date, 1895.

It is probable that W. H. Harvey, the author of "Coin's Financial School," will deliver an address in Duluth on some date in November. John Cogan is negotiating with the great silver advocate and the Lyceum will be engaged.

Rev. G. H. Humason, Ph. D., of Erie, Pa., is to be the new pastor of the First Methodist church, to succeed Dr. J. M. Thoburn, who will retire at the close of this month. Dr. Humason has been presiding elder of the Jamestown, N. Y., conference for two years and is said to be a fine preacher. He will arrive here probably about the first Sunday in October.

Frank L. Hamilton entertained fifty-two of his St. Paul and Duluth friends in a magnificent manner yesterday, and it was pronounced the leading colored society event that has taken place in Duluth. He brought the out-of-town people in a private sleeper. After breakfast the entire party took carriages for a drive over the city. Next on the program was a lake excursion on the Nautilus, after which dinner was served at the Zenith restaurant. A pleasant evening was passed, and the St. Paul guests returned home in the private sleeper.

Col. George E. Welles, formerly secretary of the Duluth Board of Trade, has been elected secretary of the Toledo Chamber of Commerce, to succeed Judge Cochrane.

William Tibbetts of Brule station is in the city today on his way to Detroit, Minn.

Dr. D. A. Strickler, now of Denver but formerly of Duluth, is here on a short visit to T. A. Olmsted's family.

F. W. De Vey, a former Duluthian, who has been absent from the city for a year, is back again.

Fred B. McLaren has gone to Winston, N. C., where he will attend school the coming year.

Mrs. E. F. Burg has returned from Little Falls, Minn., where she has been visiting for two weeks.

J. P. Dodge left yesterday for Fruithurst, Ala., accompanied by a large party, among whom were some of the pioneers of Duluth who are figuring on purchasing fruit lands in the South. L. M. Spalding and family were in the party. Mr. Spalding is making a change of climate on account of his health.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinlus, the Sunshine Man.

What can be more unkind than to communicate our low spirits to others, to go about the world like demons, poisoning the fountains of joy? Have I more light because I have managed to involve those I love in the same gloom as myself? Is it not pleasant to see the sun shining on the mountains, even though we have none of it down in our valley? Oh, the littleness and the meanness of that sickly appetite for sympathy, which will not let us keep our sorrows to ourselves! Let us hide our pains and sorrows. But, while we hide them, let them also be spurs within us to urge us on to all manner of overflowing kindness and sunny humor to those around us. When the very darkness within us creates a sunshine around us, then has the spirit of Jesus taken possession of our souls.—Frederick William Faber.

"I will go before you into Galilee"—Mark xiv, 28.

Jesus, Thou art always on before me, nowhere so far in advance as in Galilee. I have never come near to Thee in Galilee—the land of human sorrows, the region of the shadow of death. I had thought that religion wanted only a soul: Thou hast claimed the redemption of the body; Thou hast burst all boundaries but those of sorrow; Thou hast invited man to come to Thee without a plea, nay, with the very plea of destitution. —Day Unto Day.

Calls for a Real War School.

Detroit Journal: Senator Roberts of Marquette came away down to Lansing to urge on Governor Ferris a military training camp for Michigan civilians.

A school to give instructions in mere militarism would be little appreciated in Michigan. It would fan the jingoism of jingoes, but it wouldn't draw enough civilians to guard a golf course or give them enough instructions to clear a barn of invading rats.

But a school of real war, if one could be established, would be valuable to our citizenship. Let us have it. Let us have a school where men can learn all about chlorine gas, its good properties, and its deadliness—how it chokes, blinds, stifles, cripples, maddens, paralyzes—when it is not merciful enough to kill.

Let them study these wonderful torpedoes, more wonderful than a Strasburg clock, and the mines that float around Britain—and the guns, always the guns—which with one charge will shoot away enough to pay for the education of a doctor of laws and will murder every German or Frenchman or Turk or Red Cross contingent that crosses a 15-mile line of fire.

Let them learn all the damnable things war is doing, in the name of patriotism, in the name of home, in the name of God. The aeroplane darts that drive through the bodies of babies, the hospitals, the madhouses, let nothing be omitted in the education of our civilians—

And they will graduate, and jingoism will be court-martialed and shot.

Woman's Fitness to Run a Car.

New York World: "In my opinion, no woman should be allowed to operate an automobile. In the first place, she hasn't the strength, and in the second place, she is very apt to lose her head."—Magistrate House.

Probably the 16-year-old girl who swam from the Battery to the Narrows with her hands and feet tied has the strength to run an automobile. Doubtless women who play golf and polo, and hosts of others, possess the physical qualifications. As for the "head," are the general run of women who drive their own cars more deficient in this requisite of safe motoring than the multitude of callow boys to whom cars are intrusted at all hours of the day and night?

There is not the slightest likelihood that any sex line will be drawn in automobile operation. But if women are incompetent to run motor cars on the grounds specified by the magistrate, many men are equally so. It is a matter of common observation that women are less reckless on the road and more regardful of the rights of other drivers than men. The road-hogs and the joy-riders are not women.

But not all women, any more than all men, are temperamentally qualified to drive automobiles. The question is one of individual fitness, not of sex. Perhaps as the regulation of motor car driving becomes more stringent the test of mental aptitude in both sexes will be rigidly applied in examination for a license.

The Cynic.

Philadelphia Bulletin: Dr. Clarence H. Neymann of Martin Grove, Ill., has returned home after serving for almost a year with the German Red Cross.

"Some people declare," Dr. Neymann said, "that the Germans are now friendly to America. Well, toward such a declaration as that I'm rather cynical. I'm like the man who was visiting in the West.

"'Ten years ago,' a Western mayor said to this man joyously—'ten years ago'—and he waved his hand out over the roofs—'there was no town here at all.'

"'Hump,' said the visitor. 'Hump, and what makes you think there's one here now?'"

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

"PEACE TERMS."

To the Editor of The Herald:

I noticed in your editorial Friday, under heading, "Peace Terms," that you said that all the different nationalities that belong to the Central powers in Europe should determine themselves if they wanted to belong to the nations that they are in union with or not, but you said nothing about the nations that have been forced into union with the allies, such as Finland, and perhaps dozens of others that belong to Russia, with Morocco, Algiers and more that belong to France, and Egypt, India and a good many others that belong to England.

I think the proper American sentiment is that all nations should be allowed to foster their own destiny, no matter whether they are forced to belong to the Germanic allies or the Entente allies at the present. Respectfully. A. OLSON.

Duluth, Sept. 15.

That was precisely the contention of The Herald in the editorial to which you refer, as you will find if you read it again.—The Editor.

DON'T INSURE IN AN INSOLVENT CONCERN

To the Editor of The Herald:

What would you call a man who insured his property in a concern he knew was insolvent?

Well, I don't want to call names, but a man who would do that would be exactly what you said he would be.

That is why it is so difficult to be patient with these earnest patriots who are talking about preparedness with a capital P. They want us to insure our safety by means that have produced the most prodigious failure the world has ever seen.

Europe has made some attempts at preparation—not enough but some.

Belgium had a ring of forts and an army of 300,000 men—that was not enough.

England had the greatest navy in the world—that was not enough.

France increased by one-third the number of men under military training. That was not enough.

Germany had made better preparation than the rest, but Germany was not sufficiently prepared. Germany had eight million men ready to fall in at the word. Germany had the whole nation imbued with the idea of preparedness. The singleness with which the whole people, military and civil, old men and young, women, children and babies, have worked for a common purpose in Germany is the most amazing feature of the war. But that was not enough.

It was not enough to prevent war, it was not enough to carry the war to an immediate triumph. It was not enough to insure ultimate success. If it has assured anything it is that the greater power Germany puts forth the more there will be to resist it.

And in the face of that colossal failure there are people, supposed to be intelligent, who think the United States ought to follow that example.

If physical force was the only reliance, of course, we would have to take the same course and hope for the best. But the United States is in possession of forces that cut through mere things like X-rays going through a sheet of paper. Our government is practiced in the employment of those forces, our people are used to sustaining them. For the last seventy years we have got everything that we needed or ought to have from neighboring nations—except in one instance—by employing those forces alone.

The one time when we sidestepped—the Spanish war—we might better have got what we wanted by following the American method of national defense instead of adopting for once the Old World way.

The Old World way of preparedness is the way of failure and death.

Why follow that when we have the American way of national defense, the way of success and of life?

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This department does not pretend to be infallible. It will endeavor, however, to answer questions sent to it by readers of The Herald to the best of its ability, reserving the right to ignore all that are trifling or of concern only to the questioner, or that ask for advice on legal or medical questions.

To receive attention, every inquiry must bear the name and address of the person sending it. This is not wanted for publication, but as an evidence of good faith.

Yankee, Duluth—Will you kindly print that part of the oath taken by naturalized citizens wherein they renounce allegiance to their native country? It seems to me that some of them need to be reminded of a solemn oath they once took.

Ans.—The oath follows: "I solemnly swear that I will support the Constitution of the United States, and that I absolutely and entirely renounce and abjure forever all allegiance and fidelity to any foreign prince, potentate, state or sovereignty of whom I am at this time a subject; that I will support and defend the Constitution and laws of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic, and bear true faith and allegiance to the same, and that it is my intention to reside permanently in the United States."

POEMS WANTED.

The Mistletoe Bough.

The Herald acknowledges with thanks the receipt of a copy of "The Mistletoe Bough" from Miss Ida Ryan of Duluth. It follows:

The mistletoe hung in the castle hall;
The holly branch on the old oak wall;
The baron's retainers were blithe and gay,
A-keeping the Christmas holiday.
The baron viewed with a fatherly pride
His beautiful child, young Lowell's bride;
And she, with her bright eyes, seemed to be
The life of that goodly company.
Chorus:
Oh, the mistletoe bough!
Oh, the mistletoe bough!

"I'm weary with dancing now," she cried.
"Here tarry a while, for I'll hide, I'll hide!
Young Lowell will be the first to trace
Me out of my secret hiding place!"
Away she ran, and her friends began
Each tower to search, and each nook to scan.
Young Lowell cried, "Where dost thou hide?
I am weary without my own true bride!"

They sought her that night, they sought her next day;
They sought her in vain till the week passed away.
The highest, the lowest, the loneliest spot
Young Lowell sought sadly, but found her not.
As years passed away, by his grief at last
Is told the tale of the sorrowful past:
When Lowell appeared, all the children cried,
"See the old man weep for his fairy bride."

At length an old chest that had long been hid,
Was found in the castle: they raised the lid.
A skeleton form lay moldering there
In the bridal wreath of a lady fair.
Sad was her fate that, in sportive jest,
She had hid from her lord in that old oak chest;
It had closed with a spring, and the bridal bloom
Lay moldering there in her silent tomb.

Woman Hangs Herself.

Kenmare, N. D., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—During the temporary absence from the home of her two daughters, who had been watching her for several days, Mrs. Fred Schaffer, aged 52, residing west of here, hanged herself. Mrs. Schaffer had been delirious as the result of illness, and had threatened to end her life, but seemed to be better.

MONEY FOR HUMANE WORK

Officers of Society Would Secure Aid of Legislature.

Poultry Dealers Warned Against Overcrowding of Crates.

Urgent need of more funds through which to give greater scope to humane work in Duluth, a general discussion of the last year's results in caring for unfortunate Duluthians and animals of the city, and suggestions for the coming year's program, were the principal features of the annual meeting of the Duluth Humane society, held yesterday afternoon in Memorial hall at the county courthouse.

Rev. A. W. Ryan, president of the society, could not be present, and Rt. Rev. James McGolrick, vice president, presided. Bishop McGolrick told of a recent trip of inspection by him of the schools for the feeble-minded and epileptics, which is located at Faribault, and was high in his praise of the excellent work these institutions are doing.

When the work of the last year was reviewed yesterday, the society was so well pleased with the results that they re-elected all the officers by acclamation. All of the officers urged that more funds be raised, and a resolution was adopted in which the members pledged themselves to work hard for the passage of a bill through the next state legislature by which a state humane fund can be appropriated. The society has been struggling hard for nine years without having received a penny of state aid.

Chief of Police Robert D. McKercher, former humane agent, spoke of the excellent results that were being obtained at the state hospital for crippled and deformed children at St. Paul. He said that Duluth patrolmen have been given orders to watch carefully for all cases of mistreatment to horses and dogs and neglected families.

Humane Agent Ross delivered a short talk, prefacing the reading of his annual report, in which he told of the great strides that have been made in humane work, and of the betterment of sanitary conditions among the foreign population. Overcrowded crates in which fowls are shipped to local commission dealers came in for discussion. Mr. Ross said the offending merchants have been warned, and that any further carelessness on their part in this respect would cause the guilty ones to be arrested.

SENATOR SHERMAN INJURED ON TRAIN

Face Badly Cut By Glass From Window Broken By Stone.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 16.—United States Senator L. Y. Sherman of Illinois suffered deep lacerations on the face and hands last night when a rock thrown at a Vandalia railroad train between Collinsville, Ill., and East St. Louis, shattered the window beside which the senator sat.

It is believed the stone was thrown by one of two boys who were seen walking along the track at that point.

As the glass flew into the senator's face, he pitched forward in his chair and the blood spurted from his wounds, blinding him for the time. Fellow passengers carried him into the wash room where the flow of blood was partially stopped.

LAWRENCE Y. SHERMAN.

When the train arrived here, Senator Sherman was rushed to a hotel and a physician was brought to him. Late last night it was announced the senator's injuries were painful but not serious.

Devils Lake Church Event.

Devils Lake, N. D., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The corner stone for the new Methodist church to be erected here, will be laid tomorrow afternoon. Rev. C. H. Quigley of Grand Forks, district superintendent, will speak. The new church will cost about $20,000.

Expect Increased Enrollment.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Officials of the University of North Dakota anticipate an increase of from 15 to 25 per cent in the enrollment this year, basing their estimates upon the large number of inquiries that have been received from prospective students.

PARK POINT WILL SOON HAVE PAVEMENT TO END OF CAR LINE

On Monday the last stretch of pavement on Minnesota avenue was laid and this week workmen are scraping the surface of the concrete and preparing it for the official opening of the thoroughfare a week from Saturday.

Work on the Minnesota avenue pavement was begun last June, but because of rainy and cold weather at the time, the contractors were delayed and not until the early part of July did they get under way. The concrete was poured at the south end of the pavement, beginning with Thirty-eighth street, and continued to the end of the stretch laid last year to Twelfth street. In this way the contractors succeeded in keeping some of the anxious motorists off the new pavement before it was completely finished.

It was announced by Commissioner Farrell on Morday that the pavement will be opened to traffic a week from Saturday. It is expected to start work on the extension to Forty-third street within a short time, so that Park Point residents will have a complete pavement from the bridge to the end of the car line.

The S. R. Okes Construction company of Minneapolis had charge of the improvement, which cost $49,000.

EXPECT MANY TO GO ABROAD

Steamship Agents Predict Heavy Travel After the War.

May Also Be Heavy Movement From Europe to America.

According to steamship passenger agents, there will be a rush for Europe with the restoration of peace. One passenger agent predicts that within six months after the signing of a peace pact that more than 500,000 second and third class passengers will have booked passage. On the other hand, many agents claim there will be an exodus to America to avoid heavy war taxes.

At the close of the European war there will be a demand for labor. Also it is pointed out that the wives and families of thousands of foreign laborers in the United States were in Europe when war was declared. When peace is declared it is but natural to suppose that husbands and fathers will take the first opportunity of going to Europe, in many cases to search for wives or children they have not heard from since the outbreak of the war.

In 1908, according to trans-Atlantic records, more than 500,000 laborers of the United States crossed over to Europe, owing to lack of work here. With the demand for labor in Europe at the close of the war, added to other incentives, there is reason to believe that the rush for the other side of the Atlantic will be one of the greatest in the history of modern steamship travel. There may also be a correspondingly heavy movement this way.

RED RIVER VALLEY LAND VALUES GAIN

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The upward trend of land values in the Red River valley is indicated by a transfer involving 160 acres in Walle township, Grand Forks county, sold by D. S. Roigland to S. D. Roigland for $18,000, or about $120 an acre. Only a few years ago this land was selling at from $40 to $60 an acre.

CARRY STOMACH JOY IN YOUR VEST POCKET

Here's a Dyspepsia Remedy That Is Really Guaranteed By Your Own Druggist.

One of the greatest successes in the sale of medicine has been achieved by Mi-o-na, the standard dyspepsia remedy, and its sale is increasing so rapidly that many druggists have hard work to keep a stock on hand. It is very popular with bankers, ministers, lawyers and others whose business or profession keeps them closely confined, while those who have brought on indigestion through irregular eating, worry, or other causes, have found relief in this reliable remedy.

Mi-o-na comes in tablet form and is sold in a metal box especially designed for convenience in carrying the medicine in the pocket or purse. It is pleasant to take, gives quick relief and should help any case, no matter of how long a standing. This remedy has been so uniformly successful that all druggists are authorized to sell Mi-o-na under a positive guarantee to refund the money if it should not prove entirely satisfactory. We doubt if any other dyspepsia medicine ever had a large enough percentage of cures so that it could be sold in this manner. A guarantee like this speaks volumes for the merit of the remedy.

There is no time like the present to do a thing that ought to be done. If any one has dyspepsia, today is the best time to begin curing it by going to Boyce Drug store, or any leading druggist in this vicinity and buying a box of Mi-o-na on this money back guarantee.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

Written for The Herald By Rev. J. S. Kirtley, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: SEPT. 19.

I. Kings xx, 10-21; Defeat Through Drunkenness.

CONNECTION.

Elijah came north from Horeb and anointed Elisha as his successor, as God directed, but had not yet anointed Hazael king of Syria in place of Ben-hadad nor Jehu over Israel in Ahab's place. The time had not yet come for those two ceremonies. However, God was moving things toward that point. Meantime, Ben-hadad, king of Syria, who had long been wanting to impose his yoke on Ahab and his rich country, had come down and surrounded the capital city, Samaria, attended by thirty-two petty subject kings with their forces. He had established a luxurious camp in the suburbs of the city and was living in self-indulgence and pomp, while his generals conducted the siege. Our lesson takes up the story at that point. Remember that the capital of Syria was the ancient city of Damascus, 100 miles to the northeast.

THE LESSON.

I.

The Invading King Drunk. 10-12.

"And Ben-hadad sent unto him, and said, the gods do so unto me, and more also, if the dust of Samaria shall suffice for handfuls for all the people that follow me. And the king of Israel answered and said, Tell him, Let not him that girdeth on his armor boast himself as he that putteth it off. And it came to pass, when Ben-hadad heard this message, as he was drinking, he and the kings, in the pavilions, that he said unto his servants, Set yourselves in array. And they set themselves in array against the city."

1. CRISIS.—Ben-hadad needed a cool head, if he would succeed. He had done wonders in having bought up thirty-two kings and their realms, in having so intimidated Ahab that the latter turned over his wives and children and silver and gold and in having surrounded the city. He could make easy terms of peace.

2. BLUNDERS.—But he had the drink habit and was sure to make some blunder. A king had responsibilities; he was expected to be an example as well as an executive. Ben-hadad was at the head of the greatest world power of that day, but another kingdom, that of the Assyrians, with capital at Nineveh, was arising and was destined to remake the map of Asia. Ben-hadad should have been wise enough to make an alliance, offensive and defensive, with Ahab against the terrible Assyrians. He could have done it. But there was at least one reason why he didn't; he lost his brains through drink. That was his first blunder. His second was when he carried his browbeating and threatening of the poor scared people a little too far, which is always a blunder. They "came back." The third was to gather his little dependent kings and their leading officers together for some social drinking, so that all of them would be drunk and off their guard when the emergency came. The fourth blunder was to forget what God had already done for His people in the slaughter of the priests of Baal. All these blunders came from drinking. No drinking official can be trusted. A rear admiral of the United States navy got drunk and made a spectacle of himself in Asia, but he lost his position. The Russian nation banished drink for the good of the nation. Germany curtailed the supply of beer for the same reason. France and England are dealing with the same question in order to the efficiency of their armies. Secretary Daniels of our navy has banished liquor. The army canteen has been fought and has been partly banished. Drink and efficiency are enemies. Now is a time when Ben-hadad should keep sober.

II.

Hope of the Besieged Revived. 13-15.

"And, behold, a prophet came near unto Ahab, king of Israel, and said, Thus saith Jehovah, Hast thou seen all this great multitude? Behold, I will deliver it into thy hand this day; and thou shalt know that I am Jehovah. And Ahab said, By whom? And he said, Thus saith Jehovah, By the young men of the princes of the provinces. Then he said, Who shall begin the battle? And he answered, Thou. Then he mustered the young men of the princes of the provinces, and they were two hundred and thirty-two; and after them he mustered all the people, even all the children of Israel, being seven thousand."

1. PROPHET.—God's man was there, ready. They had overlooked God again. The prophet was not a foreteller for the future, but a foreteller for God and for the present. That's what the word means. But the small part of the prophet's words that concerned the future was so fascinating that the people came to think of that element mainly and to mean a foreteller by that word. Two things about the prophet—he spoke for God and he spoke to a real situation present at that moment. We don't know the name of this man who came to speak the word of hope but he was the man of the hour.

2. STRATEGY.—That was the only way to win. God must give them victory in a way to keep them from claiming the credit for it. It was the psychological moment. Ahab had allowed the enemy to take his harem and money and perhaps would have allowed him to take other things he prized, but his leaders wouldn't stand for it. It was a bold plan. It was to rout the enemy while their leaders were drunk. To rout a big army when it had had everything its own way; to use the young men and not the old, scared men to do it with, only 232 in all; to let the army of 7,000 come on only after the rout had begun; to have the cowardly king, who had already surrendered almost everything, start it—it was something of a strategem. But the leaders of the enemy were drunk and, if any others leaders took their places, they were too inharmonious to work together.

III.

The Invaders Slaughtered. 16-21.

"And they went out at noon. But Ben-hadad was drinking himself drunk in the pavilions, he and the kings, the thirty and two kings that helped him. And the young men of the princes of the provinces went out first; and Ben-hadad sent out, and they told him, saying, There are men come out from Samaria. And he said, Whether they are come out for peace, take them alive; or whether they are come out for war, take them alive. So these went out of the city, the young men of the princes of the provinces, and the army which followed them. And they slew every one his man; and the Syrians fled, and Israel pursued them; and Ben-hadad, the king of Syria, escaped on a horse with horsemen. And the king of Israel went out and smote the horses and chariots, and slew the Syrians with a great slaughter."

1. PANIC.—It was comedy. The drunken king told his servants to take those men who were rushing on them from Samaria alive, whether they were for peace or war; then he went on with his drinking. Orientals are more easily thrown into a panic than we are, because of temperament, habit and the lack of military discipline. The young men did more wisely than they knew in slaughtering those around the king first. Confusion at headquarters would be more rapid and fatal in its spread. The attention of the army around the city was attracted and that meant panic there. It was extraordinary that the king could get on a horse and escape. While Ahab had been chosen to start it, he had not done a thing and the rout was going on when he got into it.

2. CREDIT.—It came from God, possibly through Elijah, who may have sent the prophet. The attendants of the princes deserve praise. The people had not wholly lapsed from their penitence after the slaughter of the prophets of Baal. Jehovah was with them and many turned to Him.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

I leave to the world a blasted character and a ruinous example; I leave to my parents as great a sorrow as, in their weakness, they could possibly bear; I leave to my brothers and sisters as much shame and dishonor as I could have brought to them; I leave to my wife a broken heart and a life full of shame; I leave to each of my children poverty, ignorance and a bad character, and the memory of their father lying in a drunkard's grave and having gone to a drunkard's hell.—A drunkard's will.

The reason for craving alcohol is that it is an anesthetic, even in moderate quantities, it obliterates a part of the field of consciousness and abolishes collateral trains of thought.—Prof. James.

One hundred and fifty boys were recently examined in Chicago as to their physical qualifications for positions on the various high school teams, and nineteen of them were rejected because of the tobacco heart. In a preliminary examination for West Point in Pittsfield, Mass., one-fourth of the candidates were rejected for the same cause. —Anon.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1. Why does drink lower efficiency?
2. How much expense would the state save if there was no drinking?
3. Do you know any one who might have been great but for drink?
4. How would abstinence affect bank accounts?
5. How would public expenses be met without a tax on the liquor business?

It takes a sort of courage to advertise a store adequately—THE FIRST TIME.

Last Day for Entries at Lake County Fair Brings in Many.

Judging of Livestock at Two Harbors Show Now Going on.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lake county farmers had up to 1 p. m. today to make their entries of live stock, at the second day of the Lake county fair and by that time many new entries had been made. The judging of livestock by some of the best stock authorities began today and the winners will be announced late this afternoon or early this evening. Competition for livestock prizes was never so keen.

Duluth Day Friday.

Tomorrow Duluth day is expected to see many visitors from the Head of the Lakes who will come on the special train and by private conveyances. Despite the threatening weather this morning many had entered the fair grounds before noon and the second day's attendance promises to be large.

This fair is undoubtedly the largest and best that has ever been shown in this county. The agricultural department is receiving special attention, being much improved over previous years.

In the city lots department George Watts and Joseph Mason have a very fine exhibition, in the farming department Louis D. Rose, S. M. Jensen and Mrs. John Turnquist have the largest and best display and are practically the only contenders for the big Iron Range prize. Their display consists of over a hunned varieties each, neatly placed, thus making a very attractive display.

Potato Contest Keen.

Competition is very keen in nearly every line in the agricultural building. This is especially true with the potatoes, principally varieties of Carman No. 3 and the Early Rose. The potato contest in the boys' and girls' department is attracting special attention. This contest is open to boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 18 years living in Lake county. The variety of potatoes used in this contest is Carman No. 3. There are fifteen contestants for the honors. The following is the basis on which the award will be given: Greatest yield, 40 per cent; financial report showing economy of production, uniform value of potatoes considered as 50 cents per bushel, 25 per cent; exhibit of fifteen pounds, 20 per cent; story, "How I Made My Crop of Potatoes," 15 per cent. There are nine prizes offered in this potato contest, ranging from $10 down to $2. There are also two prizes offered for potato clubs: first prize is $10 and the second prize is $5.

The floral display, which is by far the best ever shown at any former fair, is attracting much attention of all those who attend.

Good Poultry Show.

The poultry show is up to its usual high standard, and this year is located in the new poultry building which adjoins the stock building. Fred D. W. Thias, proprietor of a poultry yard, and officer of the fair association, has the largest number of birds on exhibition and it is expected that he will carry off many of the best prizes. Others who have large entries in this department are Hans Hanson and James J. Crooke. The judging of the birds began at noon today. The judges are David Owens of Biwabik and Robert J. Tubman of this city.

GARY SYSTEM FOR EVELETH SCHOOLS

Superintendent Greening Recommends That It Be Given Trial.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Superintendent of Schools B. I. Greening reporting to the board of education yesterday made three recommendations, that the board erect a new high school building, which should include a swimming pool and gymnasium; that a modified form of the "Gary system" be tried out in the Fayal school or high school building, preferably the latter; that the board procure more ground adjacent to the schools for play ground space.

Mr. Greening said that the Gary system had its bad features and that it might not work out as well with the population of Eveleth as it does at Gary, but that he would like to try a modification of it. Miss Lila Stanaway, a supervisor, who also visited the Gary schools, made a report also.

Mr. Greening reported that Bert Swenson of River Falls, Wis., with whom he has been corresponding regarding a position as physical director, has withdrawn his application. He is now corresponding with Earl G. Ford of Knoxville, Tenn., regarding the position.

Dr. N. C. Bulkley, school physician, is making his annual inspection of the teeth and eyes of the school children and making recommendations where attention is needed.

At the close of school last week there was a total enrollment of 2,125. This is a record attendance for the schools of Eveleth and Superintendent B. C. Greening estimates that it will be increased to 2,300 within a few months.

COMMERCIAL CLUB FOR YOUNG FOLKS

Organization of Junior Commercial Club Planned in Hibbing.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Organization of a Junior Commercial club to work in the interests of students and co-operate with the Hibbing Commercial club for the civic and community welfare of citizens will be effected by Superintendent of Schools C. D. Alexander at the Lincoln high school. It was proposed to organize this club last spring when the students and pupils of local schools contributed so liberally to the clean-up and paint-up campaign conducted by the local commercial club, but as school was about to be dismissed for the summer vacation the organization was deferred.

To Learn Organization's Value.

Besides interesting the pupils in the civic welfare of Hibbing, the aim of the club is to let the future leading citizens study conditions here and learn the value of organization in promoting any campaign for the betterment of the village. The needs of Hibbing, its advantages and assets will be discussed at meetings and the training which students will receive in boosting will be invaluable, those behind the project believe. Talks by men in different walks of life will be listened to by members.

Literary and debating societies will be organized at the high school next week some time, Supt. Alexander said. Principal Willett will have charge in organizing these societies.

VIRGINIAN GETS AURORA CONTRACT

Is Only 45 Cents Under Nearest Bidder for Painting Power Plant.

Aurora, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Henry Rudd of Virginia was awarded the contract for painting the village power plant for $244.15 by the village council last night. There were seven bids and the concern awarded the contract was but 45 cents under the nearest bidder.

It was decided to erect a 100,000-gallon concrete reservoir and brick pumping station, at the new well and to advertise for bids, also to advertise for two 600-gallon pumps to be run by electricity.

New Well Satisfactory.

The new well has been tested for a twenty-four-hour period and supplied nearly 200 gallons of water during the entire time. The supply was steady and there was as much water at the close as at the start of the test. This is three times the water consumption of the village.

E. H. Yatrick was appointed justice of the peace to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of O. F. Halstrom.

CHISHOLM TAG DAY TO HELP NEEDY, SEPT. 25.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fourth annual tag day to help the worthy local needy ones will be held Saturday, Sept. 25. Mrs. Mark L. Harris is in charge of arrangements. Tags bearing suitable phrases will be sold to all wishing to aid the cause. Boxes will be taken to the different business houses and residences and all will be asked to donate.

Last year the tag day proceeds amounted to a little over $2500 and this year it is hoped that an even larger sum will be the outcome of the effort to relieve the poor.

VIRGINIA K. P. FAIR.

Lodge Plans to Stage Event Three Days in October.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 16.—The local Knights of Pythias have named the following executive committee to arrange for a county fair and dance to last three days: Ben. Forsyth, chairman; W. G. Schelle and Irving E. Piper. Several other committees will be appointed later by the executive committee.

It is probable that the curling rink will be secured for the affair and that Thursday, Friday and Saturday of some week in October will be the days selected. Dancing will take place every night and this part of the program will be conducted on the same plan as is in vogue at the big Eastern dancing pavilions. Prizes are to be offered each evening. An augmented orchestra of several pieces will be engaged to furnish the music. The country fair booths will surround the dance floor and will afford a variety of entertainment.

The Pythians have several unique stunts planned for the occasion and as soon as all plans have been completed an extensive advertising campaign will be gotten under way.

IVER HILL SHOT SELF.

Hibbing Man Took His Life on the Dupont Road.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Iver Hill, single, aged 30, who was found Monday on the Du Pont road with a bullet hole through his head, killed himself according to a decision reached by Deputy Coroner Dr. A. B. Kirk. Hill has been a resident of Hibbing for some time and his parents live here. For a while it was thought that it might be a murder case.

The identification was made yesterday afternoon when a local tailor looked up the number of a suit worn by Hill. The suit was made by the tailor in 1912.

AURORA DISTRICT GAINS 100 PUPILS

Aurora, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The total enrollment for the schools of this district is 728 pupils, an increase of 100 pupils over the enrollment a year ago. The schools in this district include the Aurora, Mohawk, Stevens, Adriatic and Mesaba buildings. There are over 100 pupils enrolled in the kindergarten department and over 100 in the first grade.

CITY CHARTER TO BE TALKED OVER

Virginia Commercial Club to Discuss City Manager Idea.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Commercial club tonight will discuss whether Virginia under the new charter should have a city manager or the straight commission plan. The entire water and light bond payment amendment also will be discussed. Other sections of the charter will be considered.

Residents of the city have been furnished with copies of the water and light amendment and sections governing the city manager and straight commission plan and the attendance is expected to be large. Members of the charter commission are expected to be present.

LITTLE SWAN FAIR.

Plans About Perfected for Showing to Be Held Near Hibbing.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 16.—Supt. C. C. Alexander of the local schools, who is preparing for the community fair to be held at Little Swan school, near here, Saturday, looks for a successful showing by farmers living in the town of Lavel, Stuntz township. The high school band will play and there will be various amusement features as well as a lunch served. The judges will be Miss Carolina Garvor, domestic arts and Supt. M. J. Thompson, agricultural and stock.

Local merchants, various clubs and the school board have offered attractive prizes for the following: Best dairy cow, heifer one year old; draft horses, spring colt, young pigs, best pen; sheep, best pen; chickens, best pen; butter, jar or roll; white bread, loaf; cake; bread (girls), sewing, (girls), plain knitting, fancy knitting, plain sewing, fancy work, carding and spinning, contest, garden truck (boys), potatoes, boys; grains, best display; grasses, best display; garden truck; early potatoes, late potatoes; cabbage and men's hand work.

VIRGINIA JEWISH AID.

Hope to Raise $500 to Aid Sufferers By European War.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Virginia Jews will try to raise $500 for the relief of their countrymen in the war zone. Last year local Jews raised that amount for their kinsmen. "Kapora money," a sacrifice offering, will help swell the fund. The money will be offered tomorrow, as usual, on the day before Yom Kippur.

The day of atonement will be observed here. Local stores will close at sundown tomorrow and will remain closed until sundown Saturday. Rabbi Lippman of St. Paul, who conducted the Roshashanah services here, will be in charge of the Yom Kippur services. Many out-of-town Jews will observe the holiday here.

At the services Saturday, Sol Bublick of Eveleth, who induced Eveleth Jews to raise $500 for the relief of their war-stricken countrymen, will address local Jews.

J. P. BOYLE WRITES.

Former Senator Tells Eveleth Friends of Arizona Conditions.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Former Senator and City Attorney James P. Boyle is now pleasantly located in his new home in Douglas, Ariz.

In a letter to Supt. B. O. Greening of the Eveleth schools, the former city attorney said that the country in which he lives is an interesting one, and that the outlook for the future is bright. He stated, however, that business conditions in a large measure depend upon the revival of the trade with Mexico. This settlement, he said, was looked for in a short time, and when that time comes, Douglas will come forward.

THREE EVELETH GAMES ON HOME GRIDIRON

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—According to the schedule drafted by representatives of the range schools at a meeting at Chisholm, the Eveleth high school football team will have three games at home and three on other fields. Eveleth gets the Chisholm, Virginia and Ely games at home and the Gilbert, Aurora and Hibbing games away. The schedule is as follows: Sept. 25, Chisholm here; Oct. 2, at Gilbert; Oct. 9, at Aurora; Oct. 16, Virginia here; Oct. 23, Ely here; Oct. 30, at Hibbing.

FARMERS' EXHIBIT IS EXPECTED TO BE FINE

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Everything indicates the success of the big farmers' day to be held here Saturday when $125 in prizes will be given by the Commercial club for fine beet farm exhibits made at the curling rink and the farmers of this section will be royally entertained. The local schools will also make a display of school work for which $60 in prizes will be distributed.

HIBBING PERSONALS.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Carrie Dibbell has returned to her home in West Duluth, after a two weeks' visit here with Mrs. J. A. Robertson and Mrs. Samuel Beck. While here she assisted the local members of the Royal Neighbors

Safe Home Remedy for Skin-Troubles

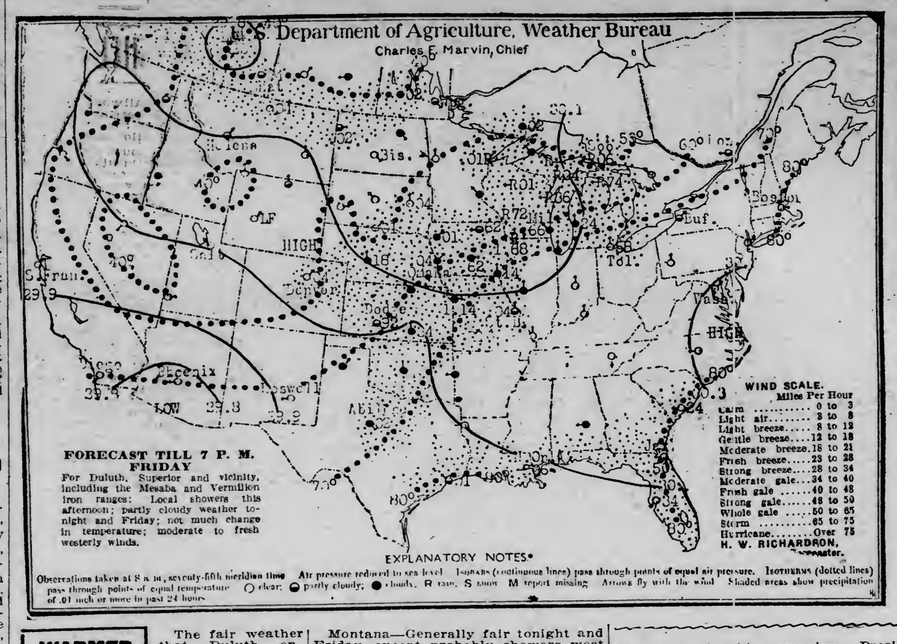

Eczema, ringworm and other itching, burning skin eruptions are so easily made worse by improper treatment that one has to be very careful. There is one method, however, that you need never hesitate to use, even on a baby's tender skin—that is the resinol treatment. Resinol is the prescription of a Baltimore doctor, put up in the form of resinol ointment and resinol soap. This proved so remarkably successful, that thousands of other physicians have prescribed it constantly for over twenty years.

Resinol stops itching instantly, and almost always heals the eruption quickly and at little cost. Resinol ointment and resinol soap can be bought at any druggist's. Write for free samples, Dept. 3-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

The fair weather that Duluth enjoyed yesterday, did not last long. It was only a sort of teaser, for during the night rain began to fall, following a decided change to warmer weather. The rain that is giving Duluth a washing out at intervals today is of the kind that does good, for it is warm and penetrating. A year ago today was muggy. The sun rose this morning at 5:47 and will set this evening at 6:19, giving twelve hours and thirty-two minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Hot weather continues in Atlantic states, and the Ohio and Lower Mississippi valleys. The temperature has risen somewhat over the Western Lake region and the Missouri and Upper Mississippi Valley states. Showers fell during Wednesday or last night over the Lake region, Middle West, the Northwest, and Gulf states. Heavy rain occurred at Dubuque, Iowa, and Kansas City, Mo."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Thursday:

Minnesota—Probably showers in east portion this afternoon; partly cloudy tonight and Friday; not much change in temperature.

Wisconsin—Probably local thundershowers this afternoon or tonight; Friday partly cloudy.

Upper and Lower Michigan—Showers this afternoon and tonight; Friday partly cloudy.

Iowa—Partly cloudy tonight and Friday; not much change in temperature.

North and South Dakota—Generally fair tonight and Friday; not much change in temperature.

Montana—Generally fair tonight and Friday, except probably showers west of the divide; not much change in temperature.

CHISHOLM FOOTBALL.

High School Students Prepare for Game With Alumni.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—About thirty students responded to the call for football candidates at the first practice of the season on Wednesday.

The season opens on Saturday with the annual game against the alumni. The alumni eleven has been considerably strengthened by the addition of last year's graduates and a hard-fought game is looked for. The line-up for the alumni will probably be: Winslow, c; Winn and Cummings, guards; Talus and Hahja, tackles; Hudy and Neally, ends; McDougall, quarter; Mahan and G. Anderson, halves; Gandsey, fullback.

The high school line-up has not been decided as the fight for positions is waxing warm.

The team will be coached by I. C. Rutledge, special agricultural instructor in the local schools, who played on the Ames varsity team, 1906, 1907 and 1908. During 1910, he was assistant coach at Ames, and the following year was head coach at Buena Vista college, Storm Lake, Iowa. He also made an enviable record while an instructor at the Fort Dodge high school, the team losing only three games in the three years he coached them, 1912-13-14. For the last five years he was a member of the Missouri Valley Conference Rules committee and has officiated in some of the big games and a great number of the minor college games.

MOUNTAIN IRON TO AWARD CONTRACT

Mountain Iron, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.) — Judge Hughes having dissolved the temporary restraining order the Tritcheller Electric company of Virginia secured against the local village council to prevent it awarding the contract for electric lighting in the village hall to another bidder, as stated in Wednesday's Herald, the council will at once enter into a contract with the firm awarded the job. The Virginia bid was rejected because it did not conform to specifications.

CHISHOLM BRIEFS.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Trustee Antone Mahne will leave Saturday for Pittsburgh, Pa., to attend as a delegate from the local Slavish society, the annual convention of South Slavish societies. Mr. Mahne expects to be gone at least a week.

Knights of Pythias will organize four teams of bowlers in an effort to obtain a team of sufficient strength to enter into the local Bowling league. A committee is getting the bowlers lined up.

The Nietche club elected the following officers: President, Fannie Leppi; in planning a rally to be held here Oct. 19.

Supt. and Mrs. Martin Trewhella are home from the state fair.

Rev. Father O'Neil of Minneapolis, who is conducting a mission in Buhl, accompanied by Rev. Father Maloney, also of Buhl, visited here Tuesday with the Rev. Fathers Hogan and O'Brien.

Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Kirby and children, who spent the past several months at their summer cottage at Swan lake, have closed their cottage for the season and left Wednesday for their home in Duluth.

Miss Alvina Coss and Miss Clara Kraemer have returned home from Tower, where they spent ten days as the guests of the Misses Alice and Delia Murphy.

vice president, Eleanor Bay; secretary, Irma Mitchell; treasurer, Sidna Lewis. Following the business session games were played and a light lunch was served by the Misses Sidna Lewis and Florence Johnson.

Miss Mable Scott, leading lady with Fiske O'Hara, who will appear at the Power theater, Hibbing, this evening, is a cousin of Al Dugar, an old time resident of Chisholm. Miss Scott is a native of Minneapolis.

TWO INDICTMENTS IN ITASCA COUNTY

True Bills Found Against Trout Lake and Deer River Residents.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The grand jury reported two indictments this morning. These are against William Glines, accused of making a criminal assault on 13-year-old Martha Christianson, of the town of Trout Lake, on April 6 last, and against Alfred Allen of Deer River, accusing him of attempt to commit rape on a young daughter of Martin Erickson of Deer River. Glines pleaded not guilty and furnished the required bond in the sum of $1,500. Allen is still in jail. He was arraigned, but has not yet pleaded.

Case Being Tried.

The court commenced the trial this morning of the case of F. L. Bursewitz vs. the Town of Wirty. The case involves the road contract between Bursewitz and the town in which Bursewitz claims between $3,000 and $4,000 as a balance due him on the road work done. The jury was secured this morning and the first witness is being examined.

Hibbing Pioneer Passes.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Andrew Jacobson, an old resident, who died yesterday, aged 77, will be held tomorrow morning from the Swedish Lutheran church with interment in Hibbing cemetery. Mr. Jacobson was a carpenter and came here when the village was in its infancy. A widow and two daughters survive.

Virginia Club Smoker.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Plans are about completed for the smoker to be given by the Commercial club Saturday evening in Elks hall in celebration of the successful membership campaign. President M. A. Murphy of the Commercial club will preside while among the speakers will be Lieutenant Governor Burnquist and L. Barrett formerly of Duluth. Over 400 new members have been secured and the 500 mark is the goal.

Hibbing Church Orchestra.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—With Charles Jackson as director a Sunday school orchestra has been organized at the Presbyterian church.

Hibbing School Garage.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Work on the excavation for the garage for the automobiles owned by the school board, used for the transportation of pupils, has been started. The garage will be constructed adjoining the Washington school and will be so low that the roof of the building will not interfere with the light through the windows of the first floor.

BUHL MAN CONVICTED ON ROBBERY CHARGE

Another Man Alleged to Be Implicated Now Being Tried.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—After deliberating five hours, a district court jury today reported a verdict of guilty against Andrew Kovacibich, indicted on a charge of robbing a farmer named Johnson at Buhl recently of a watch and some money.

John Rogavicich, alleged to be implicated in the robbery, is now being tried. When this case goes to the jury, the case against Bagfield Caruso of Mountain Iron, charged with assault, will be taken up.

Colored Woman Paroled.

Judge Hughes today paroled Mrs. Charles Red, colored, of Eveleth, convicted of theft. Her husband, Charles Red, colored, who was also convicted, was sentenced to six months at the county work farm.

The murder trial of Mrs. Talerico of Gilbert, indicted for killing her father-in-law, will not be taken up till next week.

AURORA'S NEW WELL PRONOUNCED SUCCESS

Aurora, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new village well has been pronounced a success by village officials.

A test was made this week and 200 gallons of water per minute were pumped for nine hours when the test was stopped to repair the air line. In two hours pumping was again started and the same flow was continued all day, or for a period of twenty-four hours. This will assure an ample supply of water for all village purposes from the new well alone.

Chisholm Woman Dies.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. J. E. Goldenberg died at her home Wednesday after but a few day's illness. She was 32 years of age and is survived by her husband and three small children. The remains were taken to Minneapolis for interment. Mr. Goldenberg and children, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Goldenberg and Harry Goldenberg accompanied them.

Hibbing Church Sale.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The regular weekly bake sale of the Episcopal church will be held all day Saturday.

PURSUES WIFE DESERTER WITH TUG; CHIEF MAKES ARREST ON LAKE

Forsaking his automobile for a tug, Police Chief McKercher pursued the ore freighter Smith Thompson out into the lake yesterday afternoon, and finally caught Ernest Steil, aged 47, a deckhand wanted for wife desertion at Fort Wayne, Ind.

A letter from Fort Wayne asked the chief to arrest Steil as soon as the Smith Thompson tied up at the Missabe docks, but when he reached the dock, the steamer was passing down through the interstate bridge, on her way to Cleveland.

Then there was another race, this time back to the Lake Carriers' association rooms at the foot of Fifth avenue west, and Chief McKercher related his troubles to W. A. Bourke, commissioner.

A few minutes later, the chief, Mr. Bourke, and a man to replace the prospective prisoner, were aboard the tug Wisconsin and starting after the Smith Thompson, which by this time had reached the Duluth entry. When the tug went alongside the freighter was just leaving the ship canal.

Members of the crew threw down a hawser and the chief climbed aboard.

"You haven't authority to arrest anybody on this boat," said the captain, "we're out in the lake now. If Steil is willing to go back, however, I'll let you take him."

Steil finally consented, and packed his grip.

When the chief climbed over the side of the ship with his prisoner, the freighter was a mile from the canal, and the ship's crew waved him a bon voyage.

Fort Wayne police say Steil's wife is an inmate of a state institution and his two boys are being cared for by their blind grandmother. Officers are now en route to Duluth to take the man back to Fort Wayne.

LONELINESS IS THE FATE OF THE SPIRIT LAKE DUCK IN HIS OLD AGE

Winging his lonely flight over the submerged rice beds in the St. Louis river near Fond du Lac the Spirit Lake duck is keeping a daily and nocturnal vigil in the hope of discovering a companion. No ducks, with the exception of the grand old warrior, who has weathered the storms of many hunters for years and years, have visited the Spirit Lake district this year.

"I have been out twice this fall but the only duck I saw was the Spirit Lake chap," said Victor Dash, chief deputy sheriff, this morning. Mr. Dash's home commands an excellent view of the section of St. Louis river where the ducks are wont to gather every spring and fall. He says that shooting up the river has been the poorest since he located in the picturesque suburb years ago.

"Several hunters have been out this fall blazing away at the Spirit Lake duck, but they have had poor success," said Mr. Dash. "The old bird, battle-scarred and thin, is just as keen mentally as he was at the time of his initial visit when John Nelson, Frank Storey and I were boys. We shot at him then and have been popping at him ever since; but he is still alive and happy. All of us, with the exception of Nelson, have refused to waste any more shot and powder. Nelson still goes out every morning with high-powered artillery and fires many rounds."

It is said that several Duluth nimrods are planning on pooling considerable money with which they will purchase one of the long range guns now being used in Europe for bringing down Zeppelins and aeroplanes. If secured, this gun will be staked on a concrete foundation in the St. Louis river and a regular gunner will make a final effort to shoot the Spirit Lake duck.

BUSINESS AT FORT WILLIAM BETTER

F. & W. Jores of Fort William, in their weekly trade letter have the following to say regarding business up to last Saturday:

"Arrivals of coal at these ports are still very light, only seven cargoes being unloaded during the week—five bituminous and two anthracite and two were carried in American steamers and five in Canadian steamers. Two steamers are now at the docks and two are reported en route. Shipment of coal by car to the West is on the increase, but is by no means up to normal as yet. The Canadian Pacific railroad has been receiving O. C. S. coal fairly steadily all through the season and, with their buyings from the Western mines, have nearly enough to take care of their requirements for the fall and winter months. Arrivals of C. P. R. O. C. S. coal will not amount to any large bulk. The Transcontinental railroad (G. T. P.) has also been receiving in large quantities the past few months and no heavy rush is looked for from that direction. Although the Canadian Northern railroad had had a good run of O. C. S. coal all the season their coal consumption this year will greatly exceed that of last year on account of their new line from Port Arthur east being put into operation this fall. In all probability the fueling of all their eastbound trains will be done from Port Arthur, and any point which may be opened as a fueling point will be served from these ports. Therefore it is quite likely that this road may still get in a quantity of coal.

"One cargo of ore was shipped to Cleveland this week. No charters are reported for immediate loading. The total shipments of ore this year are approximately 60,000 tons. This was carried in seventeen cargoes, three were in American boats and the balance in Canadian steamers. There is approximately 25,000 tons still to be shipped, the majority of this is now on the dock.

"Sixteen cargoes of grain have gone east this week; two of these were in American bottoms and billed to Buffalo. The total shipments this week were 851,853 bushels of all grains, compared with 448,881 bushels last week. New grain has commenced to arrive at a good rate, the approximate receipts of the new crop being: 1,880,000 bushels wheat, 90,000 bushels oats, 185,00 bushels barley.

"Stocks in store, receipts and shipments during the week:

	Wheat.	Oats.	Barley.	Flax.
Stocks	1,935,519	107,172	209,081	1,013,869
Receipts	2,403,085	60,005	179,297	2,357

FEWER IDLE CARS REPORTED

Material improvement in freight traffic is attested in a reduction of 81,705 in the surplus of idle freight cars during August. The number of idle cars on Sept. 1 stood at 189,919, as compared with 266,312 on Aug. 1, according to the report of the American Railway association.

The opening of the season's grain movement was evidenced in a decrease of 33,000 in the number of idle box cars, while the surplus coal cars changed from 74,074 on Aug. 1 to 38,587.

As shown in a movement of over 1,000 cars to the elevators here yesterday, the grain movement has started in earnest and with the tonnage to be handled between now and the end of the season of navigation, railroad officials at the Head of the Lakes predict that the next three months will be the most active in several years. Numbers of additional crews have been put on by the Great Northern, Northern Pacific, Soo line and Omaha during the last couple of weeks, and hundreds of extra freight cars have been placed in service.

TODAY'S BEAUTY HINTS

To whiten and beautify the complexion permanently we have found no better preparation than a lotion made by dissolving four ounces of spurmax in a half pint of hot water, then adding two teaspoonfuls glycerin. This removes any pimples, shiny, muddy or sallow appearance, and will make anyone's skin clear, smooth and velvety. It does not show or rub off like powder; in fact, it seems a part of the skin; and for removing tan and freckles is unequaled.

It is necessary to shampoo more frequently in the warmer weather because of excessive dust and the fact that the head perspires more and is usually more exposed to the weather. The easiest to use and quickest drying shampoo that we can recommend to our readers can be prepared very cheaply by dissolving a teaspoonful of canthrox, obtained from your druggist, in a cup of hot water. This rubbed into the scalp creates a thick lather, soothing and cooling in its action as well as very beneficial to scalp and hair. After rinsing, the scalp is fresh and clean, while the hair dries quickly and evenly, developing a bright luster and a soft fluffiness that makes it seem very heavy. —Advertisement.

Curl Hair This Way and Keep It Healthy

It has been found that the occasional use of a harmless and inexpensive fluid which druggists know as "sillmerine," will keep the straightest hair in curl perpetually, giving the appearance of true naturalness, besides keeping the hair softer and glossier than possible with the heated iron. The liquid may be applied with a clean tooth brush, this being drawn through the hair from crown to tip and allowed to dry over night.

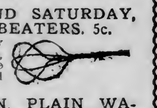

In the morning the hair will be beautifully wavy and curling, and will lie easily and loosely on the head, as it should, considering its welfare from a hygienic standpoint. A few ounces of liquid silmerine will last for months and as it is really beneficial to the hair, which cannot be said of the heated iron, it should be generally adopted by the fair sex. It will not spot or discolor scalp or hair, nor leave any sediment, grease or stickiness.—Home Doctor. —Advertisement.

DULUTH BANKERS SILENT ON LOAN

Unwilling to Discuss Subject Without More Detailed Information.

Duluth bankers are loath to discuss any of the angles of the loan the allies are trying to negotiate in the United States. One prominent local banker declared that the subject was "loaded," and he would be misunderstood by one side or the other, whatever he said.

All of the bankers approached for an opinion were unanimous in the declaration that the question was one that would require deep study and wide investigation to speak intelligently upon. It was suggested by one banker that inasmuch as the Eastern banks were the ones deriving direct benefit from the deposits placed to cover purchases, it should devolve on the Eastern bankers to negotiate the loan.

Another banker stated that it should be considered solely in the light of a business transaction, and that should Germany be in a position to purchase goods in the United States, this country should be just as ready to negotiate a loan with that country as with the allies.

Rheumatism
A Home Cure Given by One Who Had It

In the spring of 1896 I was attacked by Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally, I found a remedy that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted and even bedridden with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case.

I want every sufferer from any form of rheumatic trouble to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked-for means of curing your Rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar, but, understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer when positive relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today.

NEWS FROM THE MUNICIPAL COURT TRENCHES

WRONG LIGHT ON PROPOSAL

Charter Makes Ample Provision for Special Election, Says Smallwood.

Both Parties Could Stipulate to Abide By the Result.

Judging from today's developments in the municipal court muddle, a settlement of the tangle is as far away as ever, with no decision probable until some time in October.

Wrong light was placed upon Judge W. H. Smallwood's offer to submit the matter to Duluth voters for settlement, made public in an open letter to Judge W. L. Windom yesterday, according to Judge Smallwood today.

"As to the judgeship," he said this morning, "the proposition I made was that Mr. Windom agree to submit the matter to the voters of Duluth.

"To say that we cannot do so on account of pending suits is absurd. Such agreement would necessarily involve a stipulation to dismiss all proceedings pending in the courts and to abandon all further litigation.

"The city charter makes ample provision as it now stands for holding special elections, to say nothing of the general powers it confers upon the city council. It needs no amendment for this purpose.

"The decision of the supreme court simply has stricken out those provisions relating to the preferential ballot. The remainder of the charter stands intact, and the supreme court has declared in very plain English that the legislature has conferred upon the people of Duluth the power to elect a municipal judge in the same manner as other municipal officers are elected.

"The legislature also has amended the municipal court act in conformity to the provisions of the charter."

H. H. Phelps, Judge Smallwood's legal representative, had no comment to make on the present status of the controversy.

"There is nothing new," he said, "and I do not know just when the next move will be made."

OFFICIALS IN QUANDARY

Municipal Judgeship Tangle Puzzles City Council and Attorney.

"Judge" Windom Thinks Special Election Talk Is "Silly."

When "Judge" W. H. Smallwood, in an open letter to "Judge" W. L. Windom, yesterday offered to let voters untie the municipal judgeship knot at a special election, his proposition was ignored.

"Silly," said "Judge" Windom—"too silly to consider."

City Attorney H. F. Greene also took a rap at the plan, and intimated that citizens were as powerless to act in the matter as are the city commissioners.

"Give me six months," said Attorney Greene, "and I'll write you a book about the affair."

Unless the charter commission can call an election, none is possible until the regular spring municipal election in 1917, or until the next legislature, which will convene that year, orders an election to select a municipal judge, according to Attorney Greene.

"I am not certain that the charter commission could call an election," declared Mr. Greene, "and aside from that, there is a question whether an election at an early date would do any good."

"Judge" Smallwood's open letter was the only development of the day in the court tangle. H. H. Phelps, his attorney, said nothing had been done to institute quo warranto proceedings before the supreme court. Nothing has been done, also, toward answering the district court injunction restraining the Smallwood clerks from seeking to take records from M. S. Lloyd, Windom's appointee.

"The injunction has tied us hand and foot—temporarily," said "Judge" Smallwood. "By appearing in open court Tuesday to demand the office, I put into effect quo warranto proceedings in order, I think."

City commissioners threw up their hands when asked "What are you going to do about it?"

By their action recognizing "Judge" Smallwood, police are directed to recognize no one else as chief magistrate. In the face of this "Judge" Windom continues to try jury cases.

"It's up to the city attorney, don't ask me," said Commissioner F. J. Voss of the finance division.

"Ask the council," was the city attorney's answer to the same question.

CANADIANS MAY AID IN BIG LOAN

Backing From Dominion May Be Necessary to Finance Deal.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—It was rumored in local financial circles this afternoon that a proposition would be made to the Anglo-French financial commission in New York by which it is hoped to effect the proposed billion dollar loan through the aid of Canadian securities. Local financiers who discussed this gossip said exact details of the plan had not been divulged, but declared it possible that the big loan, if made, would depend upon Canadian backing for completion.

Efforts to obtain any comment from the offices of James J. Hill on this report proved fruitless and none of the local bankers close to Mr. Hill would discuss the rumors. Mr. Hill now is in New York with other American financiers, negotiating with the members of the Anglo-French commission.

THE MUNICIPAL WAR IN A NUTSHELL

April 6.—Municipal election in which Smallwood received 3,496 first choice votes and Windom 4,412. Smallwood received 6,341 first and second choice ballots and Windom 5,016.

April 12.—Canvassing board declared Smallwood elected. Windom served city council with mandamus writ to compel them to declare him elected on first choice votes.

May 1.—District court, by two to one vote, decides preferential ballot is legal and declares Smallwood duly elected.

May 3.—Judge Smallwood entered upon his duties and secured possession of bench and chambers after a spirited controversy. Judge Windom appealed district court decision to supreme court.

July 30.—Supreme court reversed district court decision in Brown case and declared preferential ballot unconstitutional.

July 31.—Judge Windom took physical possession of the bench after an exciting melee. City commissioners, after a special session, asked Governor Hammond to appoint a judge, if there was a vacancy.

Aug. 2.—City Attorney H. F. Greene ruled that Smallwood was de facto judge, as the supreme court judgment had not been entered.

Aug. 5.—Judge Smallwood, through his attorney, filed a petition with the supreme court, asking for a rehearing in the preferential ballot case.

Aug. 28.—Supreme court denied petition, but held that Duluth's government was in good de facto standing, and legal. Judge Smallwood was served with a notice to appear in district court and show cause why he held the bench.

Aug. 31.—District court followed supreme court lead and ruled that Judge Smallwood was not entitled to the position.

Sept. 1.—Judge Windom resumed his place on the bench, and was recognized as de facto judge by City Attorney H. F. Greene.

Sept. 13.—Governor Hammond, answering the letter of city commissioners sent him July 31, appointed Smallwood judge to fill the vacancy.

Sept. 14.—Judge Smallwood and his adherents attempted to assume office, but Judge Windom refused to recognize him. City commissioners pass resolution recognizing Smallwood as judge.

Sept. 14.—M. S. Lloyd, clerk of court under Judge Windom, is granted a temporary injunction to prevent Smallwood appointees from seizing court records and funds.

Sept. 15.—Judge Windom continues to try cases, although city and police do not recognize him as judge.

TO RELIEVE CONGESTION

Will Draw Up Plan for Construction Some Time This Fall.

A complete system of viaducts over the railroad tracks to facilitate the handling of traffic in Duluth's wholesale district is proposed by Commissioner Farrell, head of the public works division.

Fifth avenue will not be included in the proposed system, but traffic from the wholesale houses on that avenue will go over a viaduct proposed along Commerce street and over the tracks to Second avenue west. At Second avenue west and Railroad street, another viaduct would be built to join the Lake avenue bridge and from the latter intersection the works head proposes to extend the system to First and Second avenues east.

"Eventually," he said this morning, "viaducts will have to be built over the tracks at First and Second avenues east, as that part of the city will undoubtedly become part of the wholesale district. My plan would be to connect the viaducts along Railroad street with the Lake avenue intersection, thus making the system complete.

"The need of a viaduct to handle the heavy traffic along Fifth avenue has been brought to my attention on several occasions, and as soon as the paving work is finished this month, I will draw up a map of viaducts needed to better traffic conditions in the wholesale district."

Commissioner Farrell explained that the location of the Union and Omaha stations would not permit the construction of a viaduct on Fifth avenue. In addition, the approach would be directly in front of all the wholesale houses, thus making the structure objectionable. By building the approach along Commerce street, next to the Patrick factory, traffic could reach the main streets by going over the Second avenue viaduct and thus avoid congestion at Third, Fourth and Fifth avenues west.

Mayor Prince and Commissioners Voss and Silberstein all agree that a viaduct is needed for the Fifth avenue traffic and they favor the plan proposed by Commissioner Farrell.

It is the belief of city officials that the railroads can be made to bear the expense of the viaducts over the tracks, while the municipality will have to pay for the approaches. This arrangement was made in the construction of the Lake avenue and Sixth avenue west viaducts.

Traffic is constantly being tied up at Fifth avenue west by trains.

Theater Gossip.

The wondrous beauty of the Panama expositions at San Francisco and San Diego, like many other wonders, overleaps the bounds of the imagination. They cannot be transcribed by ordinary or still pictures. Realizing the futility of recording the glories of these expositions in an adequate manner, excepting by means of motion pictures, the officials of both expositions welcomed an offer made by Lyman H. Howe to film the expositions in detail for the benefit of those who could not attend them. In recognition of the masterly and skillful execution which has always characterized the work of Howe's organization, they gave his camera men full rein to record the splendors of the expositions on their tiny negatives. In many respects it was an Herculean task, and yet to say that they did justice to the unrivaled opportunities would be faint praise. In fact the officials of one of the expositions were so highly pleased with the work done that they paid Mr. Howe the honor of setting aside July 7 as "Lyman H. Howe day." In appreciation of this, were the hermetically sealed for preservation for fifty years so as to give position a complete set of films showing the operation of the Panama canal, and each step by a modern steamer in passing through the different locks, lakes and Culebra cut, and with it another film covering the magic beauty of the exposition itself. These films were then hermetically sealed for preservation for fifty years so as to give the future generation an opportunity to realize the historic event and celebration of today. It was a fitting medium on Mr. Howe's part by which to express appreciation of the high tribute the exposition officials paid him in appointing a "Lyman H. Howe day" after previously appointing him the exposition's motion photographer. The honor of the first appointment came to Mr. Howe because of the prestige of his exhibition and the second because the films secured of the exposition far exceeded the most sanguine expectations of the officials. The entire film covering the trip through the Panama canal to both expositions is being presented here at the Lyceum theater this week and cannot be seen at any exhibition excepting Howe's Travel Festival.

The program outlined for the New Grand for the remainder of this week rises to the standard of this magnificent and popular playhouse, and consists of a diversity of acts, each one exceptionally clever and entertaining. All of the acts are deserving of headline honors and the bill is the first of the number booked by Messrs. Phelps and Cook on their recent trip East.

NEW SHOW AT THE GRAND.

Monarchs of melody are the Four Harmony Kings, a combination of singers and instrumentalists. There is plenty of life and spirit in every number and all are musicians and singers of extraordinary ability, with a comedy relief that is diverting.

Mac O'Neil, the boy in kilts, in an original monologue in the character of a Scotch laddie, has a refreshing and interesting offering, and his material is rich and entertaining.

Comedy jugglers are Ripoli & Co. They juggle everything from an egg and a toothpick to cannon balls and cart wheels. A rich vein of comedy runs through the offering.

"The Offending Kiss," a two-reel Vitagraph Broadway star feature, with Myrtle Gonzales in the leading role; "The Awful Adventures of an Aviator," a comedy; "Luxurious Lou," and a drama, and a Charlie Chaplin comedy are among the photoplays.

The Hearst-Selig news of events from all over the world complete the program.

In "Helene of the North" Marguerite Clark attained greater success than in any of her previous screen triumphs. Helen is a unique character and Paramount Famous Players are entitled to a great deal of credit for the pleasure offered in this production to Miss Clark's many admirers throughout the world. The subject of "Helene of the North," combines in a decidedly novel manner the cultured atmosphere of aristocratic society circles with the rugged environment of the wooded vastness of Northwestern Canada. But whether in the limitless wilds or the warm, luxurious drawing room, Marguerite Clark is equally effective and appealing.

MARGUERITE CLARK AT THE REX.

"A Chase by Moonlight," featuring Fay Tincher shows some exciting work by the fair Fay, attired in pajamas. A clever cast of star fun makers assist Miss Tincher in chasing the smoke away, at the Rex today.

The Orpheum-Strand will begin its regular season next Monday evening with Francis X. Bushman in George Barr McCutcheon's great romantic play, "Graustark." Among the coming attractions are "The Juggernaut," with Anita Stewart and Earle Williams. In this production over $25,000 was expended on one scene alone, wherein an engine and an entire train of cars plunge headlong from a high trestle into a raging torrent below. This attraction will follow Graustark the last half of the opening week.

BIG ATTRACTIONS AT ORPHEUM-STRAND.

"The Battle Cry for Peace," said to be the biggest film production the world has ever seen, will be one of the early attractions. This film has been playing the larger cities at $1.50 and $2 for the best seats.

The coming attractions include Cyrus Thompson Brady's "The Island of Regeneration;" Edna Mayo and Bryant Washburn in "The Blindness of Virtue;" "House of a Thousand Candles;" the great spectacular drama, "Sins of the Mother;" Robert Edeson in Hall Caine's "Mortmain;" Marie Dresler in "Tillie's Tomato Surprise;" Cyrus Thompson Brady's "The Chalice of Courage;" Frank Daniels in a clever comedy, "Crooky Scruggs;" the Drury-Lane spectacle, "The Great Ruby;" "The Rosary;" Viola Allen in "The White Sister;" Johnny Slavin in Hoyt's "A Bunch of Keys," and "In the Palace of the King."

After the opening week, the bills will be changed Sunday, Wednesday and Friday.

"Greater Love Hath no Man" is now playing at the Zelda. The leading character, that of a foster son, Varge, in the hands of the virile actor, Emmet Corrigan, is a lovable one. The story has to do with a wayward son who has killed his father. The adopted son, Varge, takes his place and goes to prison. While in prison he is given a position of gardener to the warden. The warden has a beautiful daughter and this condition results in a pretty love story. Varge is finally vindicated.

EMMET CORRIGAN AT ZELDA.

In Mary Martin as the daughter of the warden of the prison, Emmet Corrigan has a beautiful partner to play to. The cast is made up of known players, who take their roles in an able manner. "Greater Love Hath no Man" will be seen for the last time today.

Tomorrow and Friday will bring another noted player and play, namely Gail Kane in "Her Great Match."

TO THE AUTOMOBILE OWNERS AND DRIVERS OF THE CITY OF DULUTH

Since the automobile has come Duluth has been distressed by a number of accidents all involving financial loss, many resulting in suffering, and a few causing loss of human life. To ward against further accidents and with the hope of preventing them, the Duluth Street Railway Company bespeaks your intelligent co-operation. We courteously beg to call your attention to the few rules following, the observance of which will greatly lessen the danger of disaster:

RULE NO. 1—Remember that a street car weighing twenty-five tons cannot be stopped instantly even when moving slowly. Therefore do not dash upon the track ahead of a moving car. You may have miscalculated its speed, or that of your own car, and thus come into collision. The moment of time you may save is not worth taking such risk.

RULE NO. 2—Remember in rounding corners into a street that has car tracks on it that there may be a car approaching. The motorman may not have been able to see you and STREET CARS CANNOT DODGE. They must go straight ahead along the track. You should be able to control your machine and its movements easily and yet automobiles frequently run into street cars that are standing still. Take corners at moderate speed and keep your eyes open in rounding them.

RULE NO. 3—Remember that the city ordinance now forbids passing within ten feet of the open gates of a street car which has stopped to take on or discharge passengers. Pedestrians have come to count on this ordinance being obeyed, and no longer watch for automobiles when entering or leaving a car. They rightfully regard the space around the open gates of the car as a safety zone, and while they are in this safety zone the responsibility for their safety from being struck by an automobile rests wholly with the driver.

RULE NO. 4—Remember that though a motorman, if given time, can control the speed of his car; he cannot control its direction, therefore do not run up from behind a car and race across the track ahead of it. If your way is blocked and your power dies while you are in the path of the car a mishap will surely follow.

Do not get on the track in front of a street car and make a sudden stop there to take a friend from the sidewalk. The motorman may not be able to stop before striking you and even if he is, it is hardly fair to delay a carload of passengers in that way. A street car cannot go out of its course to strike you, nor to avoid being struck by your car. You have that great advantage over the motorman, besides having a lighter vehicle which is easier to stop. If you will consider these things thoughtfully and fairly you will be forced to the conclusion that if any collision between a heavy body confined to a fixed course and a lighter body free to take any course the presumption of negligence is strongly against the latter. In other words, if you will think fairly you will conclude that in most such collisions the motorman is really not to blame.

Another thought—When a collision results from one or both parties in a hurry, which, to be perfectly fair again, has the most reason to hurry, the street car carrying 50 people to business, including physicians on urgent calls and persons going to trains, or the automobile carrying only one or two persons on similar business, or more likely a party out for pleasure.

RULE NO. 5—Co-operate with us in helping to protect the pedestrian who often does not take reasonable precaution to protect himself.

If you have a chauffeur, please school him in these precautions.

If you are your own driver, think them over carefully.

If your wife or daughter drives your car, ask her to take a reasonable view of them.

We assume that you observe the city ordinance and do not allow children to drive your car.

If we all do our best, the chances of sorrow to yourself, your family and the community will be appreciably lessened.

With the sole view of preventing accidents the above is submitted with the best of good feeling and the most courteous incentives.

PARAGRAPHIC COMMENT OF THE SPORT MELANGE

BY BRUCE.

Packey McFarland indignantly denies that he wears a wrist watch.

Bombardier Wells is at the front. His ring career should fit him for lying at the bottom of a trench.

Mike Gibbons declares Packey McFarland slapped him in the face several times with his open glove. It is terrible the things a man will do when he is desperate.

An ideal occupation for Packey McFarland would be teaching boxing at Vassar or Smith.

The Vernon Castles must feel kind of out of it these days.

What excuse could a man who failed to make the Northwestern football team give his friends.

Joe Tinker is going to wait until the race in the Federal league is over before submitting to an operation. How foolish to permit so trifling a matter interfere with one's health.

Bombardier Wells has been promoted to the rank of major in the Twentieth Welsh regiment. It is believed this is a reward for quitting the ring.

Possibly the reason why no paper has asked the opinion of John L. Sullivan on the McFarland-Gibbons bout, that it could not possibly publish the opinion.

Bet Jess Willard will be lonesome when they put the buffalo and horses of that wild west show into winter pasture.

It is said that Packey McFarland and Michael Gibbons have been asked to lend the allies some money without any collateral security. This merely goes to show that the English financiers lack a sense of humor.

Jess Willard is going to fight again. This leads some to believe that he has quarreled with his manager.

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 16.—The Mid-West Bowling association has fixed Nov. 19 as the opening date of this year's tournament, which is to be held at Omaha. It will continue twelve days.

WINCHESTER

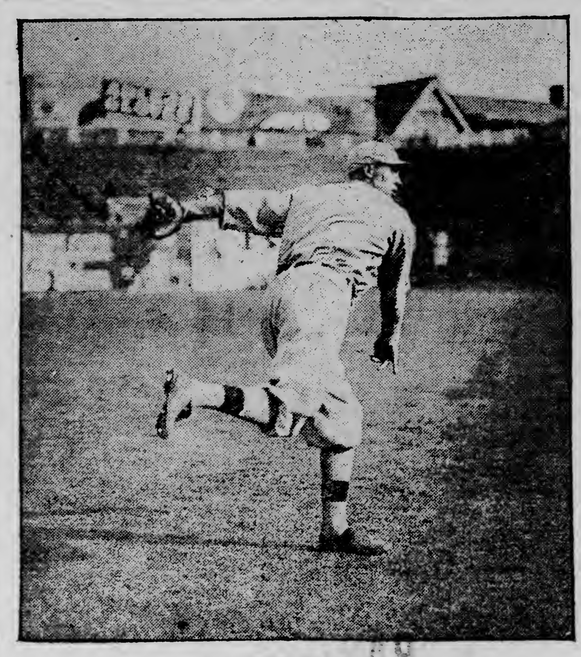

Repeating Rifles

In choosing a rifle for any purpose, its reliability and accuracy should be carefully considered. Winchester rifles enjoy the highest reputation the world over for reliability, accuracy, strong shooting qualities and finish. They are made in all desirable calibers from .22 to .50, and in eleven different models. From these a Winchester can be selected that will meet any shooting requirement.

THE GRAND PRIX, the highest honor, was awarded Winchester Guns and Ammunition at the Panama Exposition.

THREATENS TO SHATTER WORLD'S HOMERUN MARK

"CACTUS" CRAVATH.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

One Lone Tally.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Chicago won from the Boston Braves yesterday 1 to 0. The game was won by Frank Schulte, who drove a line drive over the screen in right field for the only run. Phil Douglass, pitching his first game for the locals, came through in fine shape, allowing but three scattered hits and striking out ten. This game was the last of the season between the Braves and locals. It was closed by a fist fight between "Red" Smith, the Braves' third baseman, and Umpire Byron. Smith was the aggressor, but was unable to do any damage before he was led to the clubhouse by his team mates. Score:

Chicago	1	5	2

Batteries — Tyler and Whaling, Gowdy; Douglass and Bresnahan.

Leaders Are Licked.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 16.—Pittsburgh shut out Philadelphia yesterday, the score being 1 to 0. Kantlehner kept the hits scattered and won his own game in the eighth inning when he singled after Gibson had singled and gone to second on Cravath's error. A fast double play, with the bases full in the eighth, stopped the visitors from scoring several runs. Johnston caught Luderus' liner and stepped on the bag, doubling up Cravath. Score:

Pittsburgh	1	4	0

Batteries—Mayer and Burns; Kantlehner and Gibson.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Chicago Beats Red Sox.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 16.—Faber's shoots dimmed the eyes of Red Sox batsmen yesterday, Boston getting only one hit off his delivery, and Chicago won, 3 to 1. Pitching with much of his former skill, Gregg struck out nine Chicago batters, some of them at critical moments. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Boston	1	3	0

Detroit Gains on Boston.

New York, Sept. 16.—Detroit gained a full game on Boston, the league leaders yesterday, when it won again from New York, 4 to 2, while Chicago was defeating Boston. Detroit made a clean sweep of the series of four games, and vanquished New York on the year's games, seventeen games to five. The Tigers won the game in the third inning, when they collected three runs on Caldwell on two passes and three singles. Boland weakened for Detroit in the seventh, but Covaleskie, his successor, held New York in check. It was New York's eighth straight defeat. Score:

Detroit	4	7	0
New York	2	7	0

Batteries—Boland, Covaleskie and Stanage; Caldwell and Nunamaker.

Indians Shut Out Senators.

Washington, Sept. 16.—Brenton held Washington to four hits yesterday, and shut out the locals, while Cleveland found Harper and Gallia for six safeties, including two doubles, which, with several passes and brilliant base-running by Evans and Roth, netted the visitors five runs. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Cleveland	5	6	2
Washington	0	4	1

Batteries—Brenton and Egan; Harper, Gallia and Williams.

AMERICAN ASS'N.

Two Shutouts.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 16.—Two pitchers' battles resulted in an even break for Louisville and St. Paul yesterday, the home team losing the first game 2 to 0 and winning the second 1 to 0. Danforth, who last Sunday established a league record with eighteen strikeouts, struck out sixteen in the second game. In three innings the entire St. Paul side was retired on strikes.

First Baseman Dressen of St. Paul was unable to play because of injuries and Krug replaced him. Catcher Marshall, recalled from Peoria, reported to Manager Kelly yesterday. Scores:

First game—

	R.	H.	E.
St. Paul	2	9	1
Louisville	0	5	1

Batteries — Williams and Johnson; Hock, Middleton and Clemons.

Second game—

	R.	H.	E.
St. Paul	0	5	2
Louisville	1	4	1

Batteries — Leifield and Johnson; Danforth and Crossin.

Hoosiers Take Two.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 16.—Indianapolis, although outhit in both, took two games from Milwaukee yesterday afternoon, 1 to 0 and 3 to 1. Darkness stopped the second game in the eighth inning. Schardt, who won the first game, has enjoyed a string of ten consecutive victories, the last five of which have been shutouts. He has not been scored upon since Aug. 29. Scores:

First game—

	R.	H.	E.
Milwaukee	0	7	0
Indianapolis	1	4	1

Batteries—Rhoades and Brannan; Schardt and Blackburn.

Second game—

	R.	H.	E.
Milwaukee	1	6	0
Indianapolis	3	3	2

Batteries — Facth and Brannan; Dawson and Blackburn.

Split Double-Header.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 16.—A batting rally in the eighth inning, which consisted of three singles and a triple, combined with two passes and two sacrifices, netted Cleveland six runs and gave them a 6 to 1 victory in the first game of a double-header here yesterday. Kansas City took the second contest 4 to 2, it being called in the seventh when storm clouds made it too dark to continue play. Scores:

First game—

	R.	H.	E.
Kansas City	1	6	1
Cleveland	6	10	1

Batteries — Larson and Geibel; James, Valden and Billings.

Second game—

	R.	H.	E.
Kansas City	4	9	1
Cleveland	2	6	0

Batteries — Delhi and Crisp; McCall and Blackwell.

Millers Win Both.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 16.—Minneapolis gathered up two victories here yesterday afternoon 13 to 10, and 8 to 2. In the first game, each team hit hard with the league leaders having most of the luck. Schenceberg held the visitors hitless for four innings of the last game, but they hammered him in three of the final five. Shelton's fielding was a feature. Scores:

First game—

	R.	H.	E.
Columbus	10	15	2
Minneapolis	13	20	1

Batteries—Curtis, Bennett and Coleman; Hopper, Williams and Sullivan.

Second game—

	R.	H.	E.
Columbus	2	4	1
Minneapolis	8	9	2

Batteries—Schenebeg and Coleman; Williams and Gharrity.

FEDERAL LEAGUE

St. Louis 3; Brookfeds 2.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 16.—Brooklyn started yesterday by getting two runs in the first inning on Myers' bunt, a wild throw of Magee's liner to Vaughn and Cooper's double, but through the remaining eight innings Watson held the visitors scoreless, and St. Louis won, 3 to 2. The locals tied the score in the fourth, and in the sixth Borton tripled and brought home the winning run on Chapman's single. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Brooklyn	2	4	0
St. Louis	3	7	2

Batteries—Bluejacket, Wiltse, Upham and Land; Watson and Chapman.

Baltimore 3; Pittfeds 0.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 16.—Pittsburgh was shut out by Baltimore yesterday 3 to 0. Johnson was effective, while Rogge was reached for a single and a double in the first inning, which, with a pass and a man safe on a fielders' choice, gave the visitors their three runs. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Baltimore	3	4	2
Pittsburgh	0	3	0

Batteries — Johnson and Russell; Rogge, Barger and Berry.

MARINES MAKE CLEAN-UP IN BIG SHOOTING EVENTS.

Seagirt, N. J., Sept. 16.—The United States marine corps shot up the entire field in the shooting over the ranges here yesterday. They started by bagging the big Dryden match, finishing with a lead of 15 points over New York; then captured the Spencer silhouette match, a novelty affair at 1,200 yards, and in the all-comers expert match, another novelty event, Sergeant E. S. Mullahy of the marines was the victor.

Intercollegiate Tennis.

Philadelphia, Sept. 16.—Harvard qualified two teams, Yale one and Pennsylvania one for the semi-final round of the doubles championship in the intercollegiate lawn tennis tournament yesterday on the courts of the Merion Cricket club. In the feature match Williams and Harte of Harvard, the present title-holder, were in championship form, and won from their Dartmouth opponents, Jones and Larmon, 6-0, 6-0.

TWO TRACK RECORDS GO

Directum Makes New Mile Pacing Mark—Amateur Time Changed.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 16. — Directum I., champion pacing stallion, established a new world's record of 1:56¾ for a mile paced without a wind shield at the New York state fair track yesterday afternoon. In doing so he lowered his own record of 1:58.

In addition to the breaking of two world's records, the world's champion 4-year-old trotter, Peter Volo, 2:02, also driven by Thomas Murphy, equaled his own record, negotiating the distance in 2:02 flat.

Directum I. got away to a splendid start in his phenomenal mile. Paced by a running horse, the big chestnut pacer fairly leaped over the ground, reaching the half-mile mark in 58½ seconds.

Capt. Shaw, the oldest driver in America, sent Peter Mc away under perfect motion and not the slightest semblance of a break marred his performance.

Peter Volo's record-breaking feat was less spectacular than that of Directum and Peter Mc. Reaching the half way mark in 1:04½, the big brown trotter was forced to go at a two-minute clip for the remainder of the distance to equal the mark.

While the exhibitions attracted unusual interest, the series of five professional races were keenly contested with the exception of the $10,000 Empire State stake, which Peter Scott, with Murphy driving, won in straight heats. Worthy Prince was a strong contender in the first and third heats but could not follow the fast pace set by the winner in the stretch. Bronson finished second in the second heat after a thrilling drive up the stretch, which brought the crowd to its feet.

Murphy also won the American Horse Breeder futurity in straight heats, with Walnut Tree. Only four horses faced the starter. "Pop" Geers, the dean of American drivers, took the Chamber of Commerce $5,000 stake after losing the first heat. Russell Boy, the winner, finished sixth in the first heat, and the result came as a great surprise. Geers also annexed the Ka-Noc-no stake, driving Deroche to a straight heat triumph with little opposition. In the final event the 2:03 pace, which was unfinished owing to a heavy shower, Geers took the first and second heats with Napoleon Direct. Earl, Jr., captured the third heat.

The track, according to horsemen, was the fastest of the season.

MAKES PERFECT TARGET RECORD

German of Maryland Leads in Atlantic City Contest.

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 16.—Lester S. German of Aberdeen, Md., professional, broke 175 targets straight and led the field at the end of the second day's shoot of the Westy Hogans here yesterday. Woolfolk Henderson of Louisville, with 174 breaks, was second and high gun of the amateurs. German has an unfinished run of 197 straight for the two days and Henderson has broken 125 straight.

J. M. Hawkins and German led the field in the Westy Hogan introductory at 75 targets, each breaking straight. Of the amateurs Woolfolk Henderson, R. P. Burns of Brookville, Ind., Allen Heil of Allentown, and William H. Ridley of Winchester, Iowa, tied at 74 for high. R. E. Hall, Fisherville, Va.; Jay Clarke, Jr., Worcester, Mass.; George C. Mackie, Leavenworth, Kan.; Daniel F. McMahon, New York A. C.; Frank B. Stephenson of Brooklyn, Frank S. Wright of South Wales, George N. Fisch, Lyndenville, N. Y., and George Cochrane, McKeesport, tied at 73 for second honors in this event.

The New York state team won the interstate team race by one target, L. C. Canfield of Utica, with a 97, clinching the match. The Empire state quintet scored a total of 483 breaks and Pennsylvania, 482. R. A. Hall of Fisherville, Va., F. S. Wright, South Wales, and Frank B. Stephenson, Brooklyn, tied at 98 breaks, or the high individual score.

COMMISSION KEEPS DRAFTING SECRET

No Inkling Given of What Players Graduate From Minors.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept 16.—The drafting of baseball players from the ranks of the minor leagues into those of major league clubs took place yesterday when the annual September meeting of the national baseball commission was held here.

Directly following the drawing of the drafts the commission adjourned until today, at which time it will take up a number of other matters, all of minor importance, according to Secretary John E. Bruce of the commission.

The drafts were not made public, although a copy of what transpired at the meeting was delivered to the representative of every major league club. This keeping the names of the drafted men from the public was inaugurated last year, and according to Chairman August Herrmann of the commission, was made for the purpose of preventing any activity on the part of the Federal league in grabbing the players drafted from the various clubs. Those present at the meeting were:

National league—August Herrmann, Cincinnati; C. H. Ebbets, Brooklyn; W. F. Baker, Philadelphia; C. H. Thomas, Chicago; H. N. Hempstead, New York; John B Foster, New York, and S P. Britton, St. Louis.

American league—R. L. Hedges, St. Louis; T. Huston, New York; H. Grabino, Chicago; J. C. McDalrmid, St. Louis and Joe Kelly, New York.

Fight to a Draw.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 16.—Eddie Morgan, featherweight champion of England, and George Chaney of Baltimore fought a 10-round, no-decision bout here last night to a draw, in the opinion of a majority of those at the ringside.

"HAROLD WESTOVER WINS FROM CLARENCE VAN BUREN"

Police Stop Vicious Long Distance Telephone Battle to Save Western Title Contender From Further Punishment—Eastern Champion Displays Wonderful Cleverness and Remarkable Speed.

BY BRUCE, JR.

New York, Sept. 20, 1926.—Woodrow Wilson auditorium was packed to the roof when Harold Westover, lightweight title holder entered the ring and took his place at the long distance telephone. Cheers rent the smoke-laden atmosphere. Several rough women in the ringside seats started a fight, which was quelled by calling out the reserves.

The big automatic speaking tube announced that Clarence Van Buren, challenger for the lightweight title, had entered the ring in the Chicago Coliseum. The Western aspirant was reported to be in the very best of condition.

A flutter of excitement ran through the big building as time was called. Harold Westover stepped blithely from his corner to the speaking tube of the long distance telephone, a smile of confidence on his face. The big automatic speaking tube declared that Clarence Van Buren looked drawn and a trifle pale.

Harold Westover was the first to lead.

"You're a contemptible coward," cried the champion.

"First blood for the champion," shouted a heavyset woman in the front row. A tumultuous cheer went up. The house was in a frenzy of excitement. A man in a ruffled laced shirt waist fainted and was carried from the building by the women's reserve ambulance corps.

Van Buren Counters.

Followers of Westover were suddenly dismayed when the Western challenger for the title countered heavily.

"You're a nonenity, a nondescript atom of puerile humanity," came back the Chicago fighter, rushing Westover from the telephone tube and dazing him by the brilliancy of his attack.

Followers of Westover were nonplussed. It was thought that Van Buren was merely a rough fellow, and here he was resorting to cleverness and beating the champion at his own game.

A woman with a determined chin and a loud vest leaned over the press row and informed the press men that she had it on the best of authority that a fabulous sum had been paid to Henry James to train the challenger for the title.

Westover Piles Up Lead.

A look of positive savagery was on the countenance of Westover. Grabbing the transmitter he hurled his voice into the telephone, the splendid speaking muscles of his throat and mouth standing out with cameo-like clearness.

"You are a lackadaisical lout, a morose mortal whom any myrmidon of the law would be amply justified in arresting because of suspicions called into being by your evil-looking countenance; you are unseemly simp, a loop hound of lowly pretensions." The crowd was in an uproar. Women were standing on their chairs, while some of the men present were also visibly affected by the excitement. Harold Westover had exhibited both cleverness and punishing power. Dazzling the Westerner by cleverness he then rushed him from the receiver and severely punished him by heavy conversational blows. Westover's judgment of distance was perfect.

Van Buren Weakening.

"I don't care if Henry James was training this Western guy," said the women in the loud plaid waistcoat, as she climbed on the press table and threw her derby in the air.

"You can't teach one of those rough fellows to be clever. This Van Buren was only a rough slugging conversationalist and they have made the mistake of trying to make him clever. Five to three on Westover."

It appeared that the woman had been indulging somewhat. Her face was flushed and her manner at times threatening.

The huge crowd was in an uproar. Cries of "Now you've got him, Harold," rent the air. Those in the cheaper seats made a rush for the ringside. Pandemonium reiged supreme.

"You cur, you blackguard * * *" came faintly over the phone from Chicago. Dropping his attempted cleverness Van Buren was slugging in a desperate effort to stem the tide. The Westerner was trying for a chance blow.

"Pardon me," coolly countered the confident Westover, "you are as assinine ass, a gregarious example of low mental development; a creature so facetious in matters of serious import that your very appearance is the signal for jests and levity; an eccentric individual, blasphemous, but utterly lacking conversational point, possessing a certain veneer of culture, but possessing no defense and frequently dropping your G's. You are positively the softest thing I have ever been called upon to meet. Take that, you epostulated simp."

The crowd was on its feet. The big electric words were fairly blazing out news from Chicago. Clarence Van Buren was reeling at the receiver. He was practically out on his feet. An expression of agony overspread his features. Crushed by the rapidity of Westover's attack, he was overwhelmed and beaten down.

Suddenly there was a roar through the big building. It started near the ringside and gathered volume as it rang through the huge enclosure. Women leaped on their chairs and even some of the men joined in the clamorous din.

Written on the blazing bulletin board that registered the fight news from the Chicago scene of the battle was the startling announcement:

"Police stop battle to save Van Buren."

Women followers of the sport swarmed into the ring. The police were powerless to clear the ring. Newspaper photographers snapped the victor. It was the most exciting scene ever witnessed in a New York ring.

When seen in his dressing room after the battle, Harold Westover consented to the following statement:

"I mapped out my plan of battle and followed it without deviation. I found that he was a hard speaker, but swung his words and left himself open to a counter. His defense was as wide open as a barn. I will admit that in the first round he surprised me by his delivery, but after I ascertained his weakness, I had the battle well in hand."

By wire The Herald received the following statement from the defeated man:

"I made the mistake of trying to be clever. My backers insisted that I secure Henry James as a trainer. I couldn't remember some of the words he told me to shoot at that bloke. Jack London taught me the rudiments of the game, and I should have gone in from the start and used some Western words. I realize now that had I said 'dam' in the first round, I would have had that clever simp groggy. He's a good, clever guy, but he can't hit. I think I am entitled to a return battle. Bad condition beat me."

Westover last evening received an offer of twenty weeks in vaudeville. It is expected he will pick up some easy money during the next year.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF THE RINGSTERS

O'Dowd Expected Early Next Week; An Explanation From McKetrick; Fulton to Fight Soon; Gardner Working Hard.

Mike O'Dowd is expected to reach Duluth several days before the boxing show of next Thursday evening. The St. Paul Turk is working out in the Gibbons' gymnasium, and as he has a number of corking good men to work with and the greatest training place in the Northwest, it is natural that he should not hurry to get to a city that is not even blessed with a gymnasium where fighters can train.

Dan McKetrick Denies.

A letter was received here today from Dan McKetrick, the hustling boxing promoter of New York city, Daniel indignantly denies that the Frankie Callahan knocked out by Abe Attell is the same Frankie Callahan that knocked out Joe Rivers and beat some of the prominent lightweights of the ring.

According to the plaint of the McKetrick epistle, the Callahan that the veteran Abie dropped for the count was a Brooklyn preliminary fighter.

McKetrick concludes with the statement that Attell or any other fighter of agreeable poundage can have a tilt with the real Frankie Callahan.

Bill Tibbetts Anxious.

William Tibbetts, the Bena Bear, is anxious to get on with some local lightweight. The little quarter Chippewa Indian has the lust of fighting in his soul and would quench his sanguinary thirst on some brave knight of the gloves.

This kid has the makings of a good lightweight. His work needs some polishing off, his judgment of distance quickened up a bit, and his defense tightened a wee bit. The kid is a natural hitter, and that is something that cannot be said of some of the other lightweights that are immeasurably better known than this little Northern Minnesota Indian boy.

Mike Collins Busy.

Mike Collins is at the present time working on a match for his mastodon heavyweight, Frederick Fulton. The Hudson impresario expects to send Fred against some prominent heavyweight within the next few weeks.

Collins has been promised a bout in Gotham next winter, should Fred show a burst of speed along the pugilistic path. Fulton got back the tough and hard-hitting Pelkey, displaying ability to assimilate punishment and gameness, ring qualities that followers of boxing speculated as to whether the big Rochester boy possessed.

There was never any doubt of Fulton's hitting powers. If there is the making of a really great heavyweight in Fulton's gigantic frame, this same Mike Collins is the boy to develop these latent qualities of greatness.

Steve Working Hard.

Steve Gardner is working every day in preparation for his gambol with Korby Peterson, better known as Kid Billings. If condition is to count in the impending bout, Gardner will not lack an even start with his opponent. Steve is already in good shape and should be in the pink when he enters the ring.

EDISONS HAVE HARD WORKOUT

Duluth Baseball Team Preparing for St. Paul Nine.

Members of the Duluth Edison baseball team had a fine practice session yesterday afternoon at Athletic park. The electric light aggregation never looked better, according to the statement of Manager Ed Norsted. Nearly an hour and a half was put in on team play, batting and fielding.

There will be a big delegation of rooters making the trip with the Parkers of St. Paul. Confident that the crack Saintly city baseball aggregation will take the measure of the Duluth contenders for the world's amateur title, a bunch of St. Paul fans are planning to be here to see the game.

Norsted worked all three of his pitchers yesterday. While Alder is slated to start the game of Sunday against Holmgren, the Parke mound star, if Olson or Schaeffer look better in the warming up process Norsted may change his mind.

Young Ivor Anderson did some clever throwing to bases in the practice. The battin gof the Edisons is depended upon by the team's followers to win the contest.

Duodenal Ulcer

RELUCTANTLY as we present such a subject for reading at the breakfast or supper table, nevertheless we must protect ourselves against that innumerable class of correspondents who want to know what to do for "stomach trouble." By emphasizing the meaninglessness of "stomach trouble" in the average case it may be that our stenographer can keep union hours.

One very, very frequent condition mistaken for stomach trouble is duodenal ulcer—ulcer in the duodenum or upper part of the small bowel.

This occurs most commonly in young and middle-aged adults. It is a condition which shows typical periods of illness or suffering followed by more or less lengthy periods of comparative relief.

The pain is felt in the pit of the stomach. It is a gnawing, burning, hunger pain, coming on an hour or more after the meal, often in the night. It is relieved more or less by taking food or by vomiting. There is an excess of acid—not the kind of acid formed in simple digestive trouble where food ferments, but an excess of the natural hydrochloric acid secreted by the stomach during digestion. This excessive acid is what causes the distress and pain; food, especially such foods as milk and meat, take up the acid and so relieve the pain for the time being.

Duodenal ulcer is complicated by chronic trouble in the gall-sac or chronic appendicitis in some 15 per cent of the cases. Blood is vomited in about one-fourth of the cases. "Occult blood" can be demonstrated by chemical tests in almost all cases. The X-ray photograph of a meal of bismuth-pudding undergoing digestion clinches the diagnosis, if a clincher is needed.

Treatment?

Some cases are cured by rest in bed, together with hourly feeding, large doses of suitable alkalies and repeated stomach washing every day. Such treatment any doctor delights to give. Other cases must be operated on. Cases of long standing are prone to develop malignant disease—cancer—if not surgically cured.

Unfortunately the symptoms are not always so clear as it sounds to tell them over. Unfortunately, we say, because that means more futile experimenting with diet and medicines and adjustments and so on, whichever the patient imagines he needs. Duodenal ulcer (or gastric ulcer) is a condition which casual treatment and cure-alls will not benefit.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Luetin Test Better Than Wassermann.

Kindly state your opinion of the luetin test and inform me whether it can be substituted for the Wassermann test in physical examination.

Answer—It is still under trial, but it seems to be on the whole a little better than the Wassermann reaction as a specific test. For a case under treatment it would be a more reliable test. For an untreated case the Wassermann would be more reliable. Any doctor can apply it, whereas only a laboratory expert can complete the Wassermann. A Wassermann may be positive in the absence of lues.

The Dose of Calomel.

Please state what dose of calomel is best for a child and for an adult.

Answer—We don't think calomel is ever necessary as a cathartic.

Dr. Brady will answer all questions pertaining to Health. If your question is of general interest it will be answered through these columns; if not it will be answered personally if stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. Dr. Brady will not prescribe for individual cases or make diagnoses. Address all letters to Dr. William Brady, care of The Herald. NEW SENIORS ARE CHESTY

Ten Eyck's Recent Juniors Are Seeking Race With Old Seniors.

Ten Eyck has two senior fours the members of which have reached that chesty stage where they are asking when Jim is going to send them against the grand old machine, that unconquerable combination, Horak, the Moores and Rheinberger.

McGraw, Harney, C. Olson and Moore are the members of one of these crews, while Burnett, Emmons, Paleen and Paulson make up the other crew. All of these men rowed in the junior eight during the present season, their victory at Springfield transforming them into seniors.

There is very little difference in the speed of the crews. The work that Jim is putting on these fours now is effort that time would not permit of early in the present season. There was little opportunity to spend time on a junior four this year. Now Ten Eyck is moulding two fours that look awfully good.

Later in the season there may be a three-sided match contest between the two fours that Jimmy is working on now and the grand old undefeated four. The veterans will probably consent to come out and take some of this cheekiness out of the systems of the present members of these late season seniors.

In addition to the two senior fours there are two green eights. On the fall regatta program there will also be a handicap sculling contest in which Hoover, Kent, Horak and several others will start. This contest should prove one of the best scull races ever staged at the Head of the Lakes.

SOX MEET TIGERS IN BATTLE FOR LEADERSHIP.

New York, Sept. 16.—The Boston Red Sox and Detroit Tigers will begin their final series of the season at Boston today with the Red Sox leading by two and a half games, the Tigers having cut down Boston's advantage yesterday by winning their fourth straight game from New York, while Boston dropped their only game of the series to Chicago.

In the National league, Brooklyn, although not playing, went into second place again, while Boston and Philadelphia each lost. The Phillies lead Brooklyn by considerably more than four games, with the Braves about half a game behind the Superbas.

LOAN GRANTED BY COMMONS

Premier Asquith Gets New Credit for Conduct of War.

Earl Kitchener Makes Optimistic Speech on Military Operations.

London, Sept. 16.—Premier Asquith, in the house of commons, and Earl Kitchener, secretary for war, in the house of lords, gave an exhaustive survey yesterday of the financial and military situations, both making candid statements of what has already been done, and of preparations "for carrying the war to a successful conclusion."

Both houses were crowded with members who followed with deep interest Mr. Asquith's plain and business-like statement, asking for a vote of credit, which finally passed, and which brings the total to £1,262,000,000, ($6,310,000,000), and to Earl Kitchener's reading of a carefully prepared and optimistic speech on the military operations and needs.

Earl Kitchener, in his speech, made the interesting disclosure that the German attacks with gas, liquid fire and asphyxiating shells, lacking as they now do, the element of surprise, have failed in their object, and have lost much of their offensive value, owing to the steps taken to counteract them.

Lifts Veil of Secrecy.

Lifting the veil of secrecy, he announced that eleven divisions (about 310,000 men) of the new army, had reinforced Field Marshal French's force in France and that others would follow quickly. He spoke optimistically of the situation on other fronts, saying that "the Germans have shot their bolt" in their offensive against Russia, without achieving their object of destroying the Russian army.

As far as the Turks were concerned, Lord Kitchener said there was an abundance of evidence of "the process of demoralization having set in."

In Mesopotamia, the resistance of the Turks had terminated.

Recruits Falling Off.

Without referring directly to conscription, the war minister said provision to keep up the strength of the army in 1916 was causing anxious thought owing to the falling off recently in the number of recruits offering themselves for service, and he promised an impartial inquiry as to the best means of keeping the armies to full strength.

Concluding his reference to the fighting on the Russian front, Lord Kitchener said:

"The Germans appear almost to have shot their bolt. Their advance into Russia, which at one time was carried out at an average daily rate of approximately five miles, has now diminished to less than one mile a day, and we see the forces which they boastingly described as defeated and broken troops, flying before them, still doggedly and pluckily fighting along the whole line, and in some places indeed, turning on the jaded invaders and inflicting heavy losses."

CAMELS SURPRISED BY WIVES.

Refreshments and Social Hour Follow Business Meeting.

Members of Duluth temple, Camels of the World, were surprised by their wives at the close of the business meeting last evening, when the women appeared with refreshments and arranged for a social hour.

Dr. C. H. Clark was named chairman of the social program, and addresses were made by Mayor Prince, Dr. W. H. Konkler, Mrs. H. A. Shark, Edward Shurick, Matthew Walsey and Mrs. W. H. Konkler.

It was announced last evening that the new Camels' clubrooms over the old Empress theater will be formally dedicated on Oct. 1.

Gold by Way of 'Frisco.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 16.—The expected shipment of nearly five and one-half million dollars in British gold from Australia arrived yesterday on the steamer Sonoma of the Oceanic steamship line, and was delivered to the San Francisco mint for recoinage. It was consigned to several banks here to cover British credits and purchases in this country. More shipments of gold from Australia and New Zealand are expected here next month.

MURCHISON "NOT GUILTY"

Former City Commissioner Released From Charge of Assaulting Boy.

Action Followed Attempt to Stage Charivari at Murchison Home.

"Not guilty" was the verdict rendered by Judge F. H. Cutting yesterday afternoon in the case in which Roderick Murchison, former commissioner of public works, was charged with assaulting a 15-year-old boy.

Morris Brown, the boy in question, is the son of Oliver Brown, 517 Eighth avenue east, and the father swore to a complaint recently alleging that Mr. Murchison assaulted his son by "strangling, throwing down and kneeling on him."

The boy was one of a crowd which attempted to stage a charivari in front of the Murchison home on Sept. 6, following the wedding of Miss Louise Murchison. The former commissioner attempted to quiet the crowd, and finally seized the boy by the collar, intending to hold him until an officer came.

Several boys and girls, companions of the Brown boy, were placed on the stand by City Prosecutor Walter Gonska, and testified that Mr. Murchison choked Morris with both hands, threw him to the ground, and knelt upon him. The commissioner admitted seizing Morris by the collar, but denied choking him.

"There may have been a technical assault, but I will find him not guilty of assault as charged in the complaint," said the court, after a trial which took nearly three hours.

FACES LONG TERM IN PENITENTIARY

Onni Maki Found Guilty of First Degree Robbery.

Onni Maki, aged 27 years, was found guilty of first degree robbery by a jury in District Judge Fesler's court late yesterday afternoon. He will be sentenced Saturday morning. The maximum penalty for this crime is ten years.

Last June 11 Maki and a companion invited a Finn laborer named Frank Hill to go with them to the country north of Lakeside, where they would obtain work on a farm. Hill went with them and while they were walking along the Lester River road, some distance from Lakeside, Maki and his friend knocked Hill down and took $143 and a gold watch away from him. Maki was arrested in Minneapolis several weeks ago. His companion is still at large.

In his attempt to prove an alibi yesterday morning, Maki said he had one witness who would prove that he was not on the Lester River road on June 11. Court was adjourned to give the defense a chance to present the important witness, but after several hours' search he could not be found.

John Wallinches, a resident of the town of Duluth, who was arraigned yesterday on a charge of having abused a 5-year-old child, was not placed on trial for the reason that it developed through a mental examination of the witness made by Doctors H. E. Webster and S. H. Boyer that he was unbalanced. Acting on this finding the court sentenced the man to the hospital for the criminal insane at St. Peter.

DEATH NOT HEAVEN'S GATEWAY.

Dead Know Nothing Until the Resurrection, Says Pastor White.

"The 'shield of faith' in God's word, whereby all the fiery darts of the wicked may be quenched, is the piece of the Christian's spiritual armour that Paul admonishes us 'above all' to take, and he who holds to the simple, reasonable and truly scientific truth of Holy Scripture that 'the dead know not anything,' not only could not believe in any such an intermediate state as Abraham's bosom, limbo, or purgatory, but could have no confidence whatever in the mass or any other traditional ceremonies, which are supposed to affect the destiny of the dead," said Pastor Stemple White last night at the Bible chautauqua tent, where he spoke on the question, "Is Death the Gateway to Heaven."

"Death is an enemy in this world," continued Mr. White, "which has come in as a result of sin. In contrast with the 'wages of sin,' eternal life is the 'gift of God' through Jesus Christ on the conditions of obedience as laid down in the Gospel. Because of the certainty of the resurrection, this first death is called a sleep, while the second death grave into which all unrepentant sinners will go, and which will never know another future resurrection, is the hell of the Bible. This first death is not the gateway to heaven, but the second death will be the gateway to hell."

The stereopticon will be used tonight on the subject, "The Watchman and His Message."

PAY TAXES ON ORE LAND LEASED FROM THE STATE

Mining Companies Take No Chances of Leases Being Canceled.

Hibbing Gets No Cash But $30,000 of Own Orders.

(From Wednesday's Extra.)

Taxes and penalties aggregating $67,794.84, covering all mining properties at Hibbing affected by state leases, were paid into the county treasury late this afternoon by the Oliver Iron Mining company and the Pickands-Mather company, two of the eleven operators which have refused to pay their taxes on their Hibbing holdings for the current year on the grounds that the amount levied for village purposes is exorbitant and invalid.

The action of the two mining companies means that the operators are taking no chances with the question of state leases, but it is not regarded as any indication that they have abandoned their fight against the alleged extravagances of the Power administration. Except for the $67,794.84, no portion of the $1,500,000 taxes remaining unpaid since June 1, last, will be turned into the county treasury at this time.

Of the total amount paid this afternoon, $61,631.67 represents taxes and $3,163.17 penalties. Practically half the total amount was paid in village orders, which will mean that in the apportionment of the taxes the village of Hibbing will not get any cash, but about $30,000 in canceled paper.

Penticost Mitchell, vice president of the Oliver Iron Mining company, when interviewed this afternoon with reference to the latest move in the tax fight, said:

"The mining companies feel that a lessee under a state lease has the same right as any other property owner would have to contest his taxes and to permit them to go unpaid after June 1. They also feel that by making this small payment now they are avoiding all possibility of litigation over a question that is really without merit, is really well settled and which is of no particular importance. The payment does not effect the general contest on the taxes claimed to be invalid and improper."

It is understood that the attorney general has given an opinion that the lessee under a state lease has the right to contest his taxes in the same manner as a fee owner and that a non-payment on June 1 would not cause a forfeiture of the lease.

Most of the village orders used in paying the taxes were those purchased by the mining companies in connection with the water works construction at Hibbing.

HORSE DIES AFTER RACE

Martin Smith's Dick Bursts Blood Vessel After Running Tied Race.

Animal Being Led to Aitkin Stables When It Reels Over Dead.

Aitkin, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The races were a big feature of yesterday, the last day at the Aitkin county fair. Following the entertainment of the Duluth Commercial club boosters and the address by State Auditor Preus all flocked to the grandstand for the races which proved worth all the interest shown. The big crowd got several thrills, but there was a tragic end to the events when one of the favorite horses died suddenly.

In the first heat of the free-for-all running race, a fierce contest between the leaders ended in a tie for the Jacobson pony and Martin Smith's Dick.

Reels Against Fence.

As Dick returned from the finish to the grandstand to return to the stable he reeled and fell against the fence and collapsed. In the final effort of the last contest poor Dick broke a blood vessel and died almost instantly.

The horse was a great pet and Mr. Smith hesitated about putting him in the race as he seemed to be out of condition, but thought the withdrawal would cause criticism. Several thousand people, who witnessed the scene, expressed regrets and sympathy for the owner.

FARGO BANKERS FOR HUGE ALLIES' LOAN

Believe With James J. Hill Money Would Help Move Big Crops.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The general opinion of bankers in this city seems to be in favor of making the more than a billion dollar loan to the European allies, providing that all or most of this money is expended in the purchase of American products. The views of bankers in the smaller towns of the state has not been ascertained, generally, though it is known through local bankers that a great many in the immediate vicinity of Fargo hold the same view as expressed by James J. Hill.

To Help Make Crops.

The opinion of the Fargo bankers seems to be that the moving of the bumper crop of the state might depend largely on this loan being made as with the loan refused the European markets, which means the ports of the allies, might be closed to United States grain.

None of the bankers here seem to think that interest rates would be increased, especially in this part of the country by reason of the loan, contending that on the basis of the allies spending the borrowed money here practically the same would be in circulation and that in the Northwest the grain purchases would far exceed the amount what would be withdrawn by the loan.

All believe that collateral should be put up by the borrowing powers.

CUT THIS OUT

OLD ENGLISH RECIPE FOR CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES.

If you know of some one who is troubled with Catarrhal Deafness, head noises or ordinary catarrh, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. In England scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires a constitutional treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear, which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease is driven down the air passages towards the lungs, which is equally as dangerous. The following formula, which is used extensively in the damp English climate, is a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers here who live under more favorable climate conditions.

Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmint (Double strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and 4 ounces of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Parmint is used in this way as it acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a slight tonic action that facilitates the recovery of the patient. The preparation is easy to make, costs little and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh should give this treatment a trial.

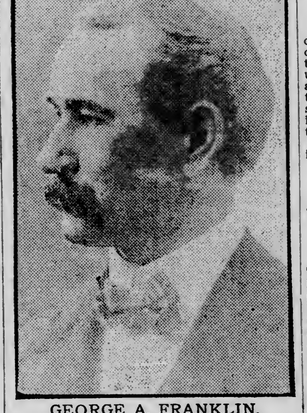

STATE CONFERENCE MEETS AT NEW ULM

Charities and Correction Subjects to Be Discussed.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 16.—Otto W. Davis of this city, secretary of the Minnesota conference on charities and correction, announces that the twenty-fourth annual conference will be held Sept. 25, 26, 27 and 28, at New Ulm and that representatives of state institutions which care for the orphan and the neglected, for the defective and the criminal; workers in private organizations for decreasing poverty, for preventing wrongdoing and for promoting safe and sane living for both boy and man, will meet to discuss social service in Minnesota. National experts will participate. "Prevention" will be given chief emphasis.

Solving Some Problems.

How to solve the problem presented by the "gang" and the "corner loafer" will be told by Charles F. Weller, field secretary, National Playground and Recreation association. C. C. Carstens, secretary, Massachusetts Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children, will present a complete "Community Plan for Children's Work." The proposed plan will be discussed by Judge Grier M. Orr, juvenile court, St. Paul; Judge Clarence B. Webster, Grand Rapids, and Senator Henry N. Benson, St. Peter.

The state county commissioners' association will hold its annual gathering in connection with the charities conference. The subjects to be discussed by them include "Good Roads," "County Tuberculosis Sanatoria," and the "Best Location for Almshouses."

To Visit State Hospital.

Members of the conference will spend one day at the state hospital at St. Peter, where the problems presented by those suffering from insanity and mental deficiency will be studied.

An important feature of the conference will be a $5,000 exhibit of the work being done by wards of the state in the thirteen institutions under the board of control. The state board of health, the Minnesota Public Health association, and many private charities will also contribute exhibits illustrating the work they are doing.

Governor Hammond will speak the first day.

The officers of the Minnesota state conference of charities and correction are: President, George A. Franklin, Deer River; first vice president, O. M. Larson, Madison; second vice president, Mrs. C. L. Atwood, St. Cloud; secretary, Otto W. Davis, Minneapolis; treasurer, C. E. Vasaly, St. Paul.

ABERDEEN JAIL BREAK.

Ten Men Saw Their Way Through Steel Bars of Bastile.

Aberdeen, S. D., Sept. 16.—Ten prisoners broke out of the county jail Tuesday night by sawing through steel bars and then cutting through the wall. James Schmidt, who is being held on a charge of murdering Ross C. Farrar, a Northwestern road brakeman, did not escape.

The men who got away were all confined on the second floor. The prisoners who escaped were:

George Perrin, traveling man, who had served four months and was waiting a circuit court trial on an assault charge; Wenzel Fritz, waiting trial on a robbery charge; F. A. Flynn, waiting trial on a petit larceny charge; William Devoe, waiting trial on a robbery charge; J. J. McCoy and R. Preu, alleged gunmen; Roy Allen, serving a year's sentence for shooting at the chief of police; Fred Sillek, Earl Williams and Charles Tate, gunmen.

Sheriff Wickoff and his deputies are scouring the surrounding country for the fugitives, but so far no trace has been found.

BREAKS ALIEN LAWS; SOO MAN INDICTED

Nels Mortenson Admits Guilt in Federal Court at Marquette.

Marquette, Mich., Sept. 16.—The grand jury in United States court here has returned an indictment charging Nels P. Mortenson with a violation of the immigration laws at the Soo last month in bringing into this country four Austrians from the Canadian Soo. Mortenson was arraigned on the return of the indictment, and pleaded guilty. Judge Sessions took the case under advisement, and will pronounce sentence later.

Brought in Rowboat.

Mortenson brought the aliens to the American side in a rowboat, with every precaution to avoid the customs officers, but they were speedily apprehended, and his arrest followed. They were Ivan Gelka, Stefan Czernysz, Stanlaw Okulowski and Florian Trembinski. They said their position on the Canadian side had become unbearable, owing to conditions caused by the war. They were unable to secure work to support themselves or their dependents, and it was in the hope of bettering themselves that they entered into an agreement with Mortenson by which he was to smuggle them into this country.

NEGRO FACES WHITE SLAVE PROSECUTION

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Henry Piper, colored, probably will be turned over to the Federal authorities for prosecution under the Mann white slave act, being arrested here in the company of Gertrude Miles of Omaha, Neb. The girl's story to local officials involves Piper in an alleged slavery plot that led through several states.

The girl's attempt to escape Piper in this city resulted in his arrest.

PUT IN PENITENTIARY.

Three Men Recently Convicted Confined in Bismarck Institution.

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 16.—State Transportation Agent D. P. McGillis has brought these three men to the penitentiary to start doing time: James W. Woodson of Mohall, Renville county, one year for assault with a dangerous weapon; Joseph Bradbury of Jamestown, one year for carrying a concealed weapon; T. W. Allen of Jamestown, two years for assault with a dangerous weapon.

LOSES MINE STOCK CASE.

Ashland Jury Finds in Favor of James Kane and Against Woman.

Ashland, Wis., Sept. 16.—The long drawn out law suit of James Kane vs. Mrs. Wilkinson involving Jumbo mining stock, in which Kane claims Mrs. Williams placed an order with him to sell 10,000 shares and then refused to make delivery, compelling Kane to go into the open market and buy the stock all to his loss, has been decided by a circuit court jury in favor of Kane. The case has many angles and was quite out of the ordinary. The special findings were all in Kane's favor.

It was brought out on trial that Mrs. Wilkinson, instead of having 10,000 shares deposited with the Northern National bank, had only 100 shares. Mr. Prince, cashier of the bank, in giving her a receipt on the deposit made a mistake on the first and threw it in the waste basket and then gave a second correct one. The evidence showed that Mrs. Wilkinson had later returned and obtained the receipt which was thrown in the waste basket and patched the pieces together so as to make it appear that she had 10,000 shares of stock instead of 100.

The verdict is important as the suit precedes the case of the Paine, Webber company of Duluth vs. Emma Wilkinson, and also Northern National bank vs. Emma Wilkinson and Hornblower & Wicks vs. Emma Wilkinson. All of these cases will be tried at the February term of court.

DYSPEPTICS EASY PREY FOR MANY FATAL DISEASES

How to Get Rid of Dyspepsia and Be Safe.

If you have dyspepsia your food is only partly digested. Probably you can not eat as much and as many kinds of food as your system really needs. Insufficient quantity and variety of food impairs the action of the stomach, liver and intestines. When these organs are not operating normally the blood becomes impure. When the blood is allowed to remain impure for a considerable time the whole system becomes weakened. This weakening, "run down" condition comes on so gradually that most people don't realize their condition until they are in really dangerous shape. It is this "run down" condition that makes people very susceptible to sudden attacks of typhoid fever, pneumonia, pleurisy, and many other diseases. The old, old maxim about "an ounce of prevention" applies with great force to this subject. It is the simplest matter in the world to prevent or overcome ordinary dyspepsia which is caused by an excess of acid in the stomach. All that is necessary is to neutralize the excess acid. To do so simply take a teaspoonful of pure bisurated magnesia, dissolved in a quarter of a glass of water, after each meal. People trying this simple acid neutralizer for the first time are amazed by the instant relief and the quick restoration of normal appetite and digestion. Be sure to get bisurated magnesia as other forms of magnesia are not suitable. Any druggist can supply you. Boyce Drug store, 331 West Superior street.—Advertisement.

FORMER DULUTHIAN DROWNING VICTIM

Archille Cantin Loses Life in Red River Near Grand Forks.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Archille Cantin, who was a resident of Duluth four years, and of Warroad, Minn., twelve years, was drowned near here in the Red river Tuesday evening. His body was found yesterday evening.

Mr. Cantin, who was 73 years old, had shown no signs of despondency, and a theory of suicide advanced by some, is not accepted.

WORK ON CONSTITUTION.

BADGER APPLE CROP O. K.

Head of State Department of Nursery Inspection Tells of Conditions.

Madison, Wsl., Sept. 16.—All nurseries in Wisconsin have been inspected except those in the Sturgeon Bay district, according to J. G. Sanders, head of the department of entomology and nursery inspection, recently created by the legislature.

Generally good conditions prevail, he said, except for an occasional invasion of San Jose scale, imported with stock purchased in other states, notably Ohio and Indiana.

The Wisconsin apple crop, he said, is the finest in the history of the state.

HIS BIRD HAD FLOWN.

Morrison County Sheriff Does Not Bring Back Prisoner.

Little Falls, Minn., Sept. 16.—Sheriff Felix of Morrison county, who went to Bridgeport, Neb., to bring back Charles Manson, alias W. J. Langdon, wanted here for issuing spurious checks returned Tuesday empty handed, his man having broken jail.

Sheriff Felix arrived in Bridgeport last Saturday morning after obtaining a requisition for his man from Governor Hammond and getting it honored by the governor of Nebraska. The man had escaped the previous night through a window of the jail, from which the bars had been sawed away. It is thought that he had help from the outside and that he is being sheltered by friends near Bridgeport.

FARGO DEAN RESIGNS.

Will Accept Pastorate of Church Near Rochester, N. Y.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. G. DeWitt Dowling, who for the past six years has been dean of Gethsemane Episcopal cathedral here, has resigned to take charge of Christ parish at Pittsford, a suburb of Rochester, N. Y.

Dean Dowling came to the Fargo cathedral when Rt. Rev. Cameron Mann was bishop of North Dakota and has continued in charge of the church under the present bishop, Rt. Rev. J. Poyntz Tyler. He expects to leave Fargo about the middle of November to take up his new work, and it is expected that by that time a successor will have been appointed.

GRAY SQUIRREL CAUSES POWER PLANT DAMAGE.

Anoka, Minn., Sept. 16.—A gray squirrel fell across two wires at the Coon Creek dam and caused a short circuit which did considerable damage at the power plant. J. W. Johnson was badly burned about the face, arm and side and J. Swanson was slightly burned.

Marquette.—A result court jury in the plaintiff in the case of Amelia Niemi vs. the Lake Superior & Ishpeming Railway company, the case having been tried in circuit court yesterday afternoon and this morning. The plaintiff, who is the daughter of William Niemi of Negaunee, sustained an injury to her eye when her brother exploded a dynamite cap which he had found in the Negaunee field. It was claimed railroad employes dropped the explosive.

Negaunee—Local friends of Bennett J. Andrew and Miss Susan Janet Blee have just found out that they have been married since June 21. Mr. Andrew is in Norway with the party of men who left here in the employ of the E. J. Longyear company. It was decided to keep their marriage a secret until Mr. Andrews' return but friends became aware of its occurrence.

Calumet—Calumet friends of Joseph Asselin, who with his family, is motoring through the eastern part of the United States, have been advised that the party is bound for Massachusetts, having completed more than 2,500 miles of their trip.

Negaunee—Signi Salineni died Monday in Morgan Height's sanatorium. The deceased was 14 years old and had been confined to the institution since June 27. Esther Peterson, the 14-year-old daughter of Louis Soderstrom, Brown avenue, died Monday from tuberculosis from which she had suffered for the last two years.

Houghton—Jay Wallace, for the past five years cashier and salesman for the Houghton branch of the Cudahy Packing company has assumed the management of the branch, succeeding Manager Bellaire, resigned.

Hancock—J. E. Birney, revenue officer, is in Hancock on a tour of inspection, calling on all druggists and physicians to learn if they are living up to the new Harrison drug act.

Lake Linden—Contractor Ed Ulseth has about completed moving the high school 26½ feet to make way for a modern building. The old structure, 120x124, was moved to its new site within a week by a force of twenty to one hundred men. A heating plant has been installed in the building. The ventilating system has been repaired and the structure probably is in better condition than when it stood on its original foundation.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Braddock, N. D.—Senator H. W. Allen of Braddock, who is attending the Panama exposition, writes that he is greatly impressed with the showing made by North Dakota at the Panama exposition. He states that the exhibit will result in great benefit to North Dakota.

Bismarck, N. D.—Mrs. Marie L. Bottineau-Baldwin of Washington, D. C., is visiting Bismarck and the Indian schools in North Dakota, acquainting the people of her race with the Society of American Indians, an organization whose active membership is composed of people of Indian blood only.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Full inquiry made into the details of the death of Gordon Bomstad, who was drowned in the Red river, after escaping from St. Michael's hospital, where he was being treated for nervous trouble, indicate that the young man did not intend to drown himself, but that he merely sought to escape his pursuers.

Mott, N. D.—The Rev. Father Maurus is the new pastor assigned to St. Vincent's Catholic church at Mott, succeeding Father Elchner.

Bismarck, N. D.—The side tracks of the new town, Tipperary, in the northeastern corner of Cavalier county, have been completed, and already three applications for elevator sites have been received by the railway officials. A charter has been granted for a bank, and one store building will be erected as soon as possible.

Fargo, N. D.—The Fargo park board has secured a long time lease from Fargo college of the block of vacant ground lying just south of the college between Fifth and Seventh streets and Eighth and Ninth avenues south, and will beautify it.

Devils Lake, N. D.—A touring car driven by Oscar Ellingson was struck and demolished by a freight train on the Great Northern entering Warwick. A passenger in the back seat jumped to safety, but Ellingson was injured. The man killed his engine on the railway crossing with the train too close to avoid an accident.

Halliday, N. D.—Work will be started within a few days here on the erection of a drug store building, which will be occupied and owned by Fred W. and D. W. Hall of Dickinson. The property will replace that of Dr. Le Clar, recently destroyed by fire.

Green Bay—Mrs. John Capelle, 44 years old, is dead at her home as a result of an electrical storm here. Mrs. Capelle's death, physicians say, is due to fright from crashes of thunder and flashes of lightning. She was stricken with cerebal hemorrhage and died from the effect.

Oshkosh—While on her way to domestic employment Mrs. Henry Wesenberg was struck by a train on the Soo line at Prospect avenue and killed. She was a deaf mute and failed to see the train, which was late.

Berlin—At a meeting of the Green Lake County Bar association held here, Thomas F. Davlin received the indorsement for probate judge of this county.

Baraboo—As a result of a big landslide at the south end of the Northwestern track across the Wisconsin river at Merrimac Tuesday morning, all train service was suspended until the track was repaired, which took several hours.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Janesville—B. B. Sheffield and W. G. Gooding of the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce have organized the Empire Milling company, which has purchased the Jennison Brothers' flour mill here. The mill will be enlarged to a daily capacity of 1,200 barrels by an expenditure of about $20,000.

Winnebago—Notes that were the property of the defunct State Bank of Commerce of this city, of the face vaue of $55,000, have been bought in by H. C. Lindgren of this city for $2,000. He was the highest bidder. The bank has been in process of liquidation for three years, and the depositors have thus far received 80 per cent of their claims and expect to receive about 5 per cent more.

St. Paul—Fire losses in St. Paul were $28,910 in August, according to a report made public by R. W. Hargadine, state fire marshal. The losses for August, 1914 were $23,700. The losses for the whole state were $168,448, as compared to $820,762 for August, 1914.

International Falls—The Koochiching county fair will be held at Northome next week, starting Tuesday and continuing up to and including Thursday. It is expected that arrangements will be made for a special train from here to the fair.

Madelia—Edna Hall, 9-year-old daughter of A. M. Hall, was burned fatally Sunday night by the flames from a gasoline lamp. She attempted to turn down the wick, but turned it up instead and her clothes caught.

Brainerd—To fill a vacancy in its staff of officers, the executive council of the United Commercial Travelers, Brainerd council, No. 545, have appointed George W. Mahood page.

St. Cloud—Petitions for the incorporation of St. Anna and Opole as villages, movements promoted largely by a desire to save their road houses from the operation of the last session's law that would put them out of business upon the expiration of their current license, were presented to the board of county commissioners Tuesday.

Bemidji—State lands in Beltrami county will be appraised during the next few months and offered for sale here in March, 1916. A meeting was held here Tuesday by the committee who will appraise the land and B. F. Case, state land examiner under J. A. O. Preus, state auditor; Nels Otterstad, J. D. Harrington and J. H. Beagle of Duluth.

Stillwater—The funeral of Austin Shain, who was drowned Sunday in a small lake five miles from Lake Elmo, was held Tuesday at the Simonet chapel.

East Grand Forks—John Vossler is to be tried on the charge of keeping his saloon open Sunday. When his saloon was raided Sunday night, seven men and two women, Mrs. Ethel Snowdie and Miss Inga Munson, were arrested on the charge of disorderly conduct. The prisoners were given a trial and the women fined $10. The seven men, all transients, were given suspended jail sentences on condition that they leave the city.

Anoka—The crushed rock for paving State Road No. 1 from the Champlin bridge to Main street in Anoka will be here before the first of the month according to a statement made by John Mullen at the state highway commissioners office.

Red Wing—Sunday, Sept. 12 was sixtieth anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. P. N. Langeno of Everway, Goodhue county, and hundreds of friends, representing the members of the congregation of Holden church gathered at the home to extend congratulations.

Little Falls—Fred Greisch, former Little Falls outfielder and all-around athlete, who has been a member of the Virginia Northern league club will play with the St. Joseph, Mo., club of the Western league next year.

The children are John J. Wenstrom of Earl, N. D., James A. Wenstrom, now of Dover, N. D. Sanders Wenstrom of Aurdal, Mrs. John Seeba of Friberg, and Henry R. Wenstrom, who resided on the home place in Friberg. Mr. Wenstrom making his home with him.

BURNING ITCHING ECZEMA ON HAND

Kept Getting Worse. Could Not Put Hand in Water for Six Months. In Three Weeks

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"I had a breaking out on my hand last fall and I tried everything that I could think of, but it kept getting worse. It was called eczema. I was given a salve which healed it for a while but it broke out again. Just one pimple broke out on my hand first and it itched and burned so badly I could hardly stand it. I could not put my hands in water for about six months. I was doing my work with one hand all that time.

"I read an advertisement of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I decided to give them a trial. The Cuticura Soap and Ointment healed it in three weeks." (Signed) Mrs. Alice Creed, R. R. No. 3, Walnut Grove, Mo., Jan. 20, 1915.

A MERCILESS JUDGE

One Who Shows No Favor.

A merciless judge is Father Time. Before him the weak and the wanting go to the wall. Only the truth can stand. For years the following statement from a Duluth resident has withstood this sternest of all tests.

William Bain, 1230 East First street, Duluth, says: "I had felt quite badly for some time, owing to disordered kidneys. The kidney secretions were too frequent in passage and highly colored. My back ached; and felt weak, in fact, I was quite miserable in every way when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. After I had finished two or three boxes, my kidneys were normal and my back was sound and well." (Statement given Nov. 5, 1910).

No Trouble Since.

On Aug. 7, 1915, Mr. Bain said: "I am eighty years old and have not had a sign of kidney complaint in ten years. The cure Doan's Kidney Pills gave me has been permanent."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Bain has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

WHEAT MARKETS SCORE GOOD PRICE ADVANCES

Wheat Bulges Sharply on Buying By Elevators and Millers.

Flaxseed Is Strong With Good Inquiry From Crushers' Interests.

September wheat closed 2¼c up; December 1⅝@1¾c up, and May 1⅜c up. September durum closed 1c up; October ¼c up, and December ½c up.

Oats closed ¼c up at 32¾c for on the track; rye unchanged at 91c for on the track, and barley unchanged at from 43@53c for on the track.

At Winnipeg, October oats closed ¼c up at 35¾c.

Puts on Minneapolis December wheat closed at 92⅛c asked, and calls at 95⅞c.

Active buying by millers and elevators to complete cargo shipments, led to a strong market in wheat today. It was an active market too, with good trading opportunities, wide fluctuations being recorded.

A factor in promoting the upturn that materialized in the near future about the middle of the session, was a falling off in receipts attributed to threshing operations having been held up at many points through wet weather. Inspections at Duluth came to 687 cars against 560 last year, but there were only 434 cars on the tracks for the day. At Minneapolis there were 596 cars against 808 a year ago, and Winnipeg receipts were only 446 cars compared with 1,220 a year ago. As a result of the continued delay in the marketing of winter wheat, a substantial demand for spring wheat is being met with from Chicago. Complaints furthermore are being made regarding the quality of wheat delivered from Southwest points so far. That factor is also tending to throw the demand from millers towards the product of the Northwest.

The tight conditions of supplies here to cover immediate requirements was attested today, with 14 steamers at the elevators scheduled to take on 1,273,000 bu, while stocks in the houses were reported at only 1,562,000 bu. Cash premiums on No. 1 northern wheat locally was unchanged here today at 4c over September, with 1½c being bid for straight to arrive.

Premiums on the Kansas City and St. Louis markets were practically unchanged today.

September wheat opened ⅛c up at 96⅝c eased off to 96c, and then firmed up to 97⅜c at the noon-hour. December opened ⅛@⅜ up at 92¾c and firmed up ¼c more. May opened ¼c up at 97⅝c, and held at around that basis.

There was fair trading in durum, but its market turned easier, the edge appearing to be off it for the time being. September durum opened unchanged at $1.01½, firmed up ½c and then eased off to the same extent. October opened unchanged at 98¾c and weakened ¼c. December opened unchanged at 95½c and weakened ¾c. May was traded in at 99¾c and $1.

Flaxseed Strong.

Operations in flaxseed were featureless, the movement in it being only fractional. The market held strong with steady inquiry from crushers appearing, while holders were firmer in their views. Stocks of old flax in store at the Head of the Lakes are down to under 550,000 bu.

September flaxseed closed 1c up at $1.65½ nominally. October opened unchanged at $1.64¾, and closed ¾c up at $1.65½ bid. November opened unchanged at $1.64¾, and closed ¾c up at $1.65½ bid. December opened unchanged at $1.64, and closed ½c up at $1.64½ bid.

At Winnipeg, October flax closed 16c up at $1.44¾ bid, and December 1⅞c up at $1.45¼ bid.

At Buenos Aires, flax closed 6c off at $1.22⅝, and London ⅞c off at $1.92⅜.

MARKET GOSSIP.

Cash wheat was in good demand on the Duluth board of trade today. Millers and elevators were active buyers. Spot No. 1 northern sold at 4c over September, straight to arrive at 1½c over.

Minneapolis—Cash market was about steady with good demand for desirable milling wheat. One northern blue stem sold at 5 to 6c over September; soft yellow wheat at 2½ to 3c over September, and velvet chaff at 2 to 4c over September. Flour sales were fair. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from 96½c to $1.00½, and No. 2 northern at from 93½ to 97½c.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Winnipeg and American easiness caused some easiness early, but this was quickly followed by steadiness and lighter offers. Spot market was firm unchanged, with cargo market generally steady. Winters were 3d lower early, and later advanced. Manitobas were unchanged to 1½d higher; Platas unchanged and Indians 3d higher, with offers light. There was some liquidation on larger tenders of hard winter, but country markets remained firm with native wheat moving slowly and rapid absorption. Corn was easy, spot and cargo market tending lower with demand quiet. Expectations are for large Argentine shipments this week."

C. E. Lewis & Co. had the following from Chicago: "There has been some buying of wheat today, which the crowd construed as being for foreign account. We are inclined to think that it is simply covering of short wheat and profit-taking and consequently of no special significance, and believe that wheat should be sold on this advance around 95c for December and 98½c for May."

* * *

A New York wire to Bartlett Frazier company said: "Early advices indicated that there were some inquiries here for wheat, but apparently the overnight acceptahces were not heavy. A better demand for oats was rumored. It is understood that Great Britain will permit Canada to export grain to neutral countries when consignees are satisfactory."

* * *

Foreign crop summary:

Argentina—Light general showers and improved outlook for both wheat and oats. Oats will show a large reduction in acreage.

France—Harvest is largely finished with unfavorable weather.

United Kingdom—Believed native wheat will not commence to move with freedom until middle of October.

India, united provinces—General rains fell; outlook is improved.

SERVICE

Success in any business is measured by the value of its Service.

The essentials that go to make Service of value to investors are the ability to advise intelligently, the excellence of organization and the equipment for the execution of orders.

But back of Service should be financial soundness, known integrity and established confidence. These do not come over night but are the slow growth of years.

For a quarter of a century we have been in close and active touch with the security and commodity markets. We have always been in position to give the best possible Service because we have spared no effort or expense to secure from reliable sources, information of value to investors.

The present offers excellent opportunities for the investor but, at the same time, conditions do not warrant indiscriminate commitments in the markets and the need for guidance is imperative. We invite inquiries, personal or by correspondence.

A subcommittee of the Canadian government, headed by Sir George Foster, is busy working out the domestic details of the arrangement made by Sir Robert Borden with the British admiralty for the transportation of grain across the Atlantic.

As the situation now is, complete arrangements have been made to transport from Canada all that is offered during the present month. To take the fullest advantage of this the government has been conferring with the shipping interests, and as a result the Canadian crop, or as much of it as possible, will be hurried along the inland waterways and railways to the ports of loading.

At the end of this month further arrangements will be made for the transportation of the crop up till the end of the season. It is anticipated that Canada will export 170,000,000 bushels of wheat alone.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Better Weather Conditions Gives Bears Chance on Wheat.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Better weather conditions northwest gave an advantage today to the bears in wheat. Extreme high vessel rates for shipments to Europe counted also against the bulls. Advancing quotations at Liverpool were only of temporary effect in steadying the market here. Opening prices, which ranged from ⅛@¼c off to a like amount up, with December at 93⅞@94¼c and May at 97½@97¾c, were followed by a slight general upturn and then a decided sag.

Later prices rallied sharply owing to large export sales and to assertions of progress in regard to the proposed loan to the Anglo-French allies. The close was strong, 1½c to 2½c net higher with December at 96⅛c and May at 99⅛@99¼c.

Corn eased off owing to warmer temperatures prevailing. The Illinois crop was reported as rapidly nearing maturity. After opening ⅛@⅜c lower to ⅛c up, the market showed further declines before beginning to react.

Corn prices afterward hardened when wheat turned strong. The close was nervous at a shade to 1¼c net advance.

In oats, the trading reflected the weakness of corn. Price changes, however, were narrow.

Lower prices for hogs weakened provisions. Business lacked volume.

IMPROVE IN FINAL HOUR

Stocks Under Pressure and Decline Early in the Session.

Losses Are Partly Recovered and the Closing Is Irregular.

New York, Sept. 16.—Early dealings in stocks today were again of a superficial and professional character, trading converging around war specialties as usual. Bethlehem Steel opened up a point but soon declined 5 to 342. Willys-Overland lost 3¼ at 182 and Crucible Steel 1⅜ at 92½. United States Steel opened at a gain of ½ point at 75¾, but soon reacted to 74¾. General motors and United States Alcohol fared better in that they retained much of their initial gains. Among the railroads, Reading, Chesapeake & Ohio and Baltimore & Ohio registered fractional advances.

Selling concentrated upon United States Steel, which later fell to 74¼, a considerable fraction under yesterday's lowest quotations. Other active stocks like Union Pacific, Pennsylvania, New York Central, St. Paul and the Anthracite issues, scored similar losses for which London with its lowest prices for Americans was held responsible. Minneapolis and St. Louis made partial recovery from yesterday's weakness. Bethlehem Steel continued to yield losing a total of 10½ points. Crucible Steel showed further heaviness and others of that class lacked their recent buoyancy. Bonds were easy on light sales.

Pressure relaxed measurably in the early afternoon, prices improving all around. Colorado Fuel was especially active, advancing 2¾ to 49⅛. Bethlehem Steel preferred rose to 169, an over-night gain of 12¾, and the common rallied 7 from its low of the forenoon.

Uneven price changes marked today's dealings, with some improvement in the final hour.

Colorado Fuel was the most active feature of the late trading, advancing to 54. Obscure mining shares also were prominent at gains. The closing was irregular.

Ordinance No. 636.

By Commissioner Silberstein:

AN ORDINANCE REGULATING THE BUSINESS OF CARRYING PASSENGERS AS A COMMON CARRIER FOR HIRE BY AUTO-CARS, WHETHER HELD OUT, BY SIGNS, VOICE, OR OTHER DEVICE OR ADVERTISING OR OTHERWISE, TO OPERATE OR RUN, OR WHICH ARE OPERATED OR RUN OVER THE STREETS OR AVENUES OF THE CITY OF DULUTH, DISCHARGING OR RECEIVING PASSENGERS; REQUIRING THE OPERATORS OF SUCH BUSINESS TO CARRY LIABILITY INSURANCE; PROVIDING FOR LICENSES TO CARRY ON SUCH BUSINESS AND FOR THE REVOCATION THEREOF; PROVIDING A PENALTY FOR A VIOLATION OF ANY OF THE PROVISIONS OF THIS ORDINANCE; AND REPEALING ALL ORDINANCES, OR PARTS OF ORDINANCES, IN CONFLICT HEREWITH, IN SO FAR AS THE SAME MAY BE IN CONFLICT.

The City of Duluth does ordain:

Section 1. Unless it appears from the context that a different meaning is intended, the following words shall have the meaning attached to them by this section:

The word "street" shall mean and include any street, avenue, alley, court, lane or public place in the city of Duluth;

The word "auto-car" shall mean and include any motor vehicle engaged in the business of carrying passengers as a common carrier for hire, whether held out, by sign, voice, or other device or advertising or otherwise, to operate or run, or which is operated or run over the streets or avenues of the city of Duluth, discharging and receiving passengers.

Sec. 2. Whenever the word "auto-car" is used in this ordinance it shall be considered as meaning any automobile, taxicab, auto-bus, or motor-bus for hire, as the case may be, such as are in this ordinance sought to be regulated.

Sec. 3. It is hereby declared to be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to carry on the business of operating an auto-car or the carrying of passengers as a common carrier for hire in the city of Duluth without first having secured liability insurance in an insurance company or association holding a license to do an indemnity insurance business in the state of Minnesota, as specified and for the purposes set forth in Section 4 of this ordinance, and without first having obtained a permit and license as in this ordinance required.

Sec. 4.—The liability or indemnity insurance for each auto-car carrying passengers as in this ordiance specified shall be five thousand dollars ($5,000). The policy shall provide for, and be made to cover all injuries to any person or persons, or property, that may be caused by such auto-car. Such policy shall be in such form that an action may be brought thereon to the extent of the liability therein provided, by any person injured, in person or property, by reason of any act of the owner, driver, chauffeur, manager or other person in such operation of said vehicle; or by the representative of any person killed by such act.

Such policy shall be always kept filled with the city clerk, and shall have a condition that it cannot be canceled after loss, or without written notice to the city of Duluth, and in case of any cancelation, the license herein provided for, issued to the person whose policy is so canceled, shall become by virtue of such cancelation, inoperative and void, unless another policy is forthwith issued, approved and filed in lieu of said canceled policy.

Sec. 5. Any person, firm or corporation desiring to run or operate any auto-car for carrying passengers as a common carrier for hire shall first procure a permit from the commissioner of public safety of the city of Duluth for said purpose. Said permit shall only be procured in the following manner: The applicant for such permit shall file with the city clerk an application, in writing, thereof stating:

(a) The type of auto-car intended to be used;
(b) The horse power thereof;
(c) The factory number thereof;
(d) The state license number thereof;
(e) The seating capacity thereof according to its trade or factory rating;
(f) The name of the person to be in immediate charge thereof as driver;
(g) The age, residence and nationality of the driver;
(h) The number of the chauffeur's license, and
(i) The "streets" over which such auto-car is to be operated.

Sec. 6. Upon receiving such application the City Clerk shall place the same on file in his office and when, and not until, a suitable bond in the sum of $5,000, approved by the City Attorney, has been filed with the City Clerk shall he refer such application and bond to the City Council for approval or disapproval.

Sec. 7. Upon the application and bond receiving the approval of the City Council, the City Clerk shall issue a license to the applicant in conformity to and with the provisions of this ordinance, together with a tag bearing the same number as the license, which tag the applicant shall display in a prominent place on the outside of his auto-car, upon the right hand side of the body thereof.

Sec. 8. The operation of such auto-cars shall be subject to the following restrictions.

1st. No person operating such vehicle shall carry any passengers or permit any passengers to ride on the running boards or anywhere except on the seats of the vehicle.

2nd. No such vehicle shall carry more passengers than can comfortably be seated therein, except that children 5 years of age or under may be carried by seated passengers, and that not more than two extra passengers may be carried in a car when they will all comprise a single party, desiring to travel together, and are willing to submit to the temporary crowding of the car, and no passenger shall sit or be allowed to sit on the doors or any part of the vehicle than the seats.

3rd. But one passenger shall be permitted to ride on the seat with the driver, besides the driver or chauffeur of such vehicle.

4th. No such vehicle shall take on or discharge passengers while in motion.

5th. All passengers must be received and discharged at the curb; that is to say, not in the roadway used by vehicles, but on the sidewalk or curb or as near thereto as the auto can approach. Passengers shall be allowed to alight or board the car on the right-hand side only, and the left rear door shall always be kept closed, provided that in a right-hand drive car the passenger in the front seat may be allowed to enter and leave the car from the left hand side.

6th. No such vehicle shall travel faster than ten (10) miles an hour between Third avenue east and Eighth avenue west, on Superior street, and not more than fifteen (15) miles an hour in other parts of the city.

7th. The driver of any such vehicle shall bring his car to a full stop at least thirty (30) feet from a steam railroad before going over the crossing of such road.

8th. No driver of any such vehicle shall engage in any unnecessary conversation with passengers, nor smoke a pipe, cigar or cigarette while driving such vehicle containing passengers; nor drink any intoxicating liquors during the hours in which he is engaged in operating; nor shall he solicit passengers by loud calling or shouting, or sounding a horn, bell or whistle.

9th. The driver of any such vehicle must take to police headquarters all articles left in his machine by passengers within the twenty-four hour period.

10th. Signs shall be carried on all such vehicles charging a uniform fare, regardless of distance traveled, indicating the route thereof, and no driver or chauffeur shall refuse to proceed as far as the end of the route.

11th. Such car shall not be stopped to discharge or receive passengers at any place except within fifty (50) feet of the intersection of streets and avenues in the city of Duluth.

12th. No such auto-car shall be operated except by a chauffeur licensed by the state of Minnesota and who has had two (2) months' experience. Provided that where anyone is operating his own car and has been engaged in such business for two months, the provisions of this sub-division shall not apply.

13th. Such cars shall be provided with chains for the rear wheels, which chains shall be used on the car during wet weather and in the winter time.

14th. The operator of any auto-car charging a uniform fare, regardless of distance travelled, shall not fail, refuse or neglect to operate his auto-car between the termini contained on the sign carried by such vehicle and according to the schedule stated in the application upon which his license for such auto-car was granted.

Sec. 9. The license fee for such license shall be at the rate of $1.50 for every seated passenger that the car can carry in conformity with the provisions of this ordinance, for each year during which such vehicle shall be operated. Such annual license shall expire on the first day of May of each year and the amount shall be reduced in proportion to the unexpired period of the current year at the time the license is issued; but no license shall be issued for less than $5.00.

Sec. 10. Any person violating any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be subject to a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding sixty days.

Sec. 11. All ordinances and parts of ordinances inconsistent with this ordinance are hereby repealed.

Sec. 12. This ordinance shall take effect and he in force thirty days after its passage and publication.

IN THE BUSINESS WORLD

FINANCE—REAL ESTATE—BANKING
JOBBING—MANUFACTURING

TRADERS ARE ALL NERVOUS

Recent Advances in Wheat Prices Laid to Special Conditions.

Fears That Flax Yield Will Be Reduced Through Frosts.

Operators in the wheat markets have passed through a nerve racking period lately. With the appearance of the last government crop report forecasting the largest season's yield of wheat in the country's history, leaders in the grain trade could see nothing but lower prices ahead and large lines of shorts were put out.

Calculations were upset temporarily at least through a new chain of developments. A period of cold, rainy weather intervened in both the American and Canadian Northwest resulting in receipts at the terminals being further delayed. Impelled by fears that they would be unable to secure sufficient grain to cover their contracts for loading up till Sept. 15, elevator men have been buying industriously during the last three market days. The result was a bad dent in the fortunes of bearish operators, the quotations in the cash article at its close of $1.01⅝ yesterday showing an advance of 9¾c as compared with a week ago. The premium on cash wheat over September was increased from 2 to 4c.

Situation Thought Bearish.

With favorable weather conditions prevailing in the Southwest and expectations that receipts of wheat will be increased to such an extent within the next few days as to fully take care of the urgent Eastern millers' requirements, grain men are banking with renewed confidence upon a break in quotations.

A further bearish factor in the situation is the pressing for export sale of the Canadian Northwest surplus, estimated at 150,000,000 bu. That dealers in the Dominion propose to push out that crop, is attested in the lengthening of the spread between the Winnipeg and Duluth markets till the quotation at the former was lower yesterday to the extent of 8c a bu. Another disquieting factor is the certainty that lake and rail transportation facilities are inadequate to move the grain likely to offer between now and the close of the navigation season. Foreign exchange is another condition that is causing disquietude in trade circles. Provided the allies arrange for an adequate credit in this country to cover their supplies requirements, it is felt that the European countries will take a fair proportion of American grain in due time, but if, on the other hand, negotiations should only be partially successful, it is conceded that foreign buying of everything except war munitions will be sharply curtailed. Another cloud overhanging the market horrizon is the possibility that the Dardanelles will be forced by the allies and a proportion of Russia's accumulated two seasons' grain crops released for marketing.

World's Needs Smaller.

It is also interesting to traders at this stage to note that Broomhall places the world's requirements for the season ending next August at 415,000,000 bu, or 110,000,000 bu less than was taken during the crop year that closed on Aug. 1 last. He claims that France will take from 25,000,000 to 50,000,000 bu less than last year. He reduces England's requirements to the extent of 20,000,000 bu and Italy's to 35,000,000 bu. Against that he figures the available exportable surplus of the exporting countries at 560,000,000 bu, exclusive of Russia and the Balkan states.

There has been a relatively strong inquiry for durum recently, and at its close of $1.04½ yesterday the cash article commanded a premium of 3c over spring wheat. The strength has been due to an accumulated demand from macaroni makers and other special requirements. Durum scored a gain of 8¼c during the past week, but yesterday, after two Duluth operators had apparently loaded up for the time being, its market took on a top-heavy appearance.

Flaxseed an Enigma.

Flaxseed continues an enigma to the specialists in it. The quotation in cash flax wound up 4¾c higher than a week ago at $1.67¼, but it showed a sharp reaction from the high of the day. Recent strength in the seed was brought about through reports of frosts in the Canadian Northwest and the probability that the late seed sustained considerable damage.

Advices of experts in the trade are that the marketing of flax will be late this fall. In the meantime stocks here are being steadily drawn upon to cover current requirements and are down now to less than 600,000 bu.

Linseed oil sales are reported to have been showing gains during the last few weeks, and if the present business outlook the country over is maintained some of the prominent authorities in the flaxseed are inclined to hold bullish views regarding the future course of its market.

NO LET UP EXPECTED IN BUILDING ACTIVITY

Duluth Dealers See Prospects of Busy Fall Months.

Duluth building supplies dealers are counting upon operations in the trade being unusually active up to the end of the year.

The prospect that materials of all kinds will be materially advanced next spring, will, they think, be an incentive to proceed during the remainder of the season, with considerable work that might otherwise have been delayed. The outlook for house building is regarded as exceptionally bright by contractors, emphasis being laid upon the number of proposals recently announced for the newer residence section of the city.

"The indications seem to us to be the most promising in several years," said C. S. Nixon, of the Paine & Nixon company, today. "We have lately taken some large contracts for brick, glass and other materials for large structures going up in this city and through the district towns. Included in the list is the face brick for the Gowan-Lenning-Brown warehouse on Lake avenue, brick for a school being built at Ewen, Mich.; plate glass for the Mutual Auto company's new garage on Superior street east; plate glass for the addition to the Western Rug company's factory at West Duluth, and glass and brick for large jobs at Brainerd, Eveleth and Chisholm, Minn. We are finding our jobbing trade in plate glass and other materials developing steadily."

Plate Glass Advances.

A recent advance of approximately 10 per cent in plate glass quotations by the manufacturers, Mr. Nixon regarded as indicating improved conditions in the building trade the country over. Prices on plate glass were lowered several months ago on account of a falling off in a new construction, but now the penlulum is on the upward swing again.

The market in common and pressed brick is firm, but quotations in paints are down to about where they were before the upturn of six months ago. That has been brought about through declines in lead and zinc.

Conditions in the lumber trade are substantially better, according to the Duluth Lumber company. Inquiry for all classes of lumber has broadened and quotations have firmed up materially. Taken on the whole it is thought that lumber prices for next spring's delivery will be on a higher range.

NEW HIGH RECORDS IN STEEL INDUSTRY

Mills Operating at Almost 100 Per Cent Capacity, Says Lambert.

That the steel industry is establishing new high records is the opinion of John Lambert of Chicago, president of the American Steel & Wire company.

"We hear of the steel mills operating at 90 and 95 per cent of capacity, but one would not be far off in saying that they are running at 100 per cent of capacity," he said. The mills are buying all the iron billets and other semi-finished steel products produced and are absorbing all the surplus stocks. The capacity of raw steel and pig iron is not sufficient to meet the needs of the steel mills. The American Steel & Wire company is experiencing extraordinary prosperity and has enough business on its books to keep its mills running for the remainder of the year."

Plans of the United States Steel corporation as a whole are estimated to have been running on an average basis of 93 per cent of capacity since last June, and it is figured out that net earnings on between $30,000,000 and $42,000,000 will be shown for the present quarter. This would be sufficient to wipe out all the deficits reported during the recent depression and to leave a surplus of approximately $6,000,000 to spare. The higher prices now prevailing for steel products are reported to be allowing of a substantial margin of profit on everything turned out.

COTTON MARKET GROWS STRONGER

Embargo By Allies Does Not Weaken Demand for Raw Product.

Despite the embargo placed by the allies against cotton going into Germany and Austria, the market in raw cotton is strengthening.

With the present season's crop much smaller than that of 1914, and the carry-over lighter than had been expected, operators in the South are becoming optimistic regarding the outlook in the cotton market.

The action of the treasury department in placing funds at the disposal of bankers in the Southern states and the ability of bankers to rediscount cotton operators' paper with the Federal reserve banks, has relieved the situation in the trade. It is now conceded that the marketing of the new cotton crop will be accomplished without difficulty.

The takings of spinners since Aug. 1 have been far above the average, and a large demand is expected after the winter from Russia and other countries. The price maintenance of the raw material is said to have put more life into the dealings in cotton goods of different kinds, and has served to stiffen prices, although these are still comparatively low, all things considered. During the past week the market for printcloths and convertibles has been strong and active, with prices rising above the low levels of the summer. Advances in bleached goods have also come, but colored cottons are still moderate in price in view of the dyestuffs scarcity. In knit goods there is reported to be considerable activity, both in the domestic trade and on export orders, and this is particularly true as to the finer grades of hosiery. Mixtures of silk and cotton are selling well, and the same may be said of the fine and fancy cottons in general.

MATERIAL GAINS IN CROP PROSPECTS

Outlook on Sept. 1 Above Average, Says Department.

Washington, Sept. 16.—Material gains in the prospects for bumper cereal crops are disclosed in the department of agriculture's monthly crop estimate published today. The department says:

"General crop prospects on Sept. 1 in the United States were favorable, being somewhat above average. The corn crop improved slightly during August, especially in Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri. It went back in condition in the northermost states and in the important states of Illinois and Iowa. The forecast of total production, 2,985,000,000 bushels, is 67,000,000 bushels more than forecast a month ago and 312,000,000 bushels more than the final estimate of last year. The quantity forecast at present has been exceeded in but one year, namely, 1912, when the estimate was 3,125,000,000 bushels.

Improved During August.

"The spring wheat prospects improved materially during August, the forecast on September 1 being 322,000,000 bushels, which is 15,000,000 more than the August 1 forecast and 116,000,000 bushels more than the final estimate of last year.

"Applying the present forecast of spring wheat to the estimate made last month in winter wheat production makes a total production of wheat indicated of 981,000,000 bushels, by far the largest amount ever produced in the United States, comparing with 891,000,000 bushels last year—itself a record—and 680,000,000, the average of the past five years.

"The oats forecast Sept. 1, namely 1,408,000,000 was slightly higher than the August forecast and is close to the record crop of 1,418,000,000 bushels estimated in 1912. Prospects are most favorable in the most northern states of Wisconsin, Minnesota and North Dakota, where conditions are above normal. A year ago the crop was estimated at 1,141,000,000 bushels."

REDISCOUNT RATES APPROVED BY BOARD

Washington, Sept. 16.—The federal reserve board today approved a rediscount rate of 4½ per cent on commercial paper, with 60 and 90 days' maturity, for the Minneapolis reserve bank and rates of 4 per cent on the same class of paper and 3½ per cent on trade acceptances with maturity up to ninety days for the St. Louis reserve bank.

RAILROADS ORDER STEEL IN TIME

Fear Big Rush and Get in 1916 Rail Demand Early.

Scarcity of labor, plant extensions of a rush character and still higher prices are the features attracting the attention of iron and steel manufacturers at present.

Railroad managements are said to be thoroughly alarmed over the extraordinary activity showing in the steel trade, as they fear that difficulty will be experienced in obtaining the filling of orders for rails. On that account they are preparing to place contracts for 1916 delivery much earlier than usual.

Commenting upon present conditions in the steel trade, a Pittsburgh correspondent says:

"Every available blast furnace in the country is either in operation or is being got in readiness. Furnaces that were scheduled to be scraped years ago are again in blast. The Lackawanna Steel company has practically chased the entire hot metal output of one of the Susquehanna furnaces, removing over 40,000 tons from the market. Italian buyers are active bidders for the available supply of Bessemer, paying $16 a ton for all they can obtain. The United Steel company of Canton has purchased 10,000 tons of basic iron at $15.30 for delivery during November and December. Buffalo furnaces have sold 10,000 tons in addition to the purchase by the Lackawanna company. Basic, Foundry No. 2 and malleable are selling as high as $15, valleys. Tremendous pressure is being brought on furnace owners to quote for deliveries for 1916. Sellers are holding back, and $15.50 is the least that can be done. Southern iron is held at $11.50 for delivery during the remainder of the year, and $12.50 for 1916 delivery. Ferro manganese sales have been made as high as $125 a ton at furnace. All grades of alloys for steel making have been advanced."

MARINE

SOON BEGGING FOR VESSELS

Ship Owners Beginning to Control Situation on Lakes.

A scarcity of boats for grain cargoes to be loaded this month, together with an ore movement that is running ahead of last month, has brought grain rates up. Charters are reported for the last half of this month and the first half of next at an advance. There are prospects that either higher rates or concessions of importance will come soon.

In the bidding 2¾ cents prevails on boats to load before Oct. 1. Charters were made on this basis. The rate for the first half of October, which has been 3 cents with one or two days at 3½ cents, is firm at 3¾ cents. Last half of October business is being done at 3½ cents.

The ore shippers are doing a larger business than in August. This would indicate a September business of 8,000,000 tons, which, in view of the month being one day shorter than August and having a holiday in it, makes the daily shipments larger than last month. All of the ore shippers are offering wild ore and this would stood some have orders for ore to be delivered this fall that they have not accepted because they cannot take a chance on making the deliveries.

Boats are reporting daily here for grain. When these boats get to the lower lake ports they probably will get excellent dispatch, it is declared by reports from below, as will most of the ships reporting up to the middle of next month.

Ore shipments are increasing, but have not been materially enlarged as mining organizations are just beginning to get back into shape. On the whole it is estimated the coal mines lost a day and a half out of last week through a shortage of cars. This is based on the time lost since the mines resumed operations Tuesday following the Labor day suspension. It is not believed that the car supply will be any better this week and from now on will be a factor in the business.

Ore docks are not having any difficulty getting all of the cars needed this week. The docks on the whole will have a light week of it. The latter part of last week was a very busy one for the ore docks and the rush will be repeated in a week or eight days as ships are making trips in such short time.

The entire market is becoming more and more a vessel owners' market, and the ship men realize it. They are especially bullish on the grain business, and what little tonnage is available for wild business is being tightly held.

CONGESTION IN SHIPPING

John Wolvin of Port Arthur was a visitor at the Duluth board of trade today. In his opinion serious congestion is likely to develop in the handling of this season's bumper Canadian grain crop owing to shortage of lake tonnage. As a consequence boat rates are soaring, charters from Fort William and Port Arthur to lower lake ports being reported at 2¾ cents within the last two or three days.

"We are certainly away short of Canadian boats to take care of the business," he said, "but we are counting upon some American bottoms to help out. As a result of the withdrawal of about thirty Canadian boats of canal size for ocean service last spring, an effort is being made to make the boats still on the St. Lawrence canals run as effective as possible. It is planned to tranship the grain from the large lake steamers to the canallers at Port Colborne, giving the latter a shorter run to Montreal. It is figured out that the deficiency in boat tonnage can be largely made up in that way.

Fast Ore Unloading.

In less than six working hours the Pennsylvania ore dock at Cleveland on Monday unloaded the steamer Col. J. M. Schoonmaker, which had a cargo of 12,565 gross tons of ore. This is the largest cargo ever delivered at this port. The W. P. Snyder, Jr., came to Cleveland a few weeks ago with a cargo of 12,466 tons. These two ships are the largest on the lakes and have a rated capacity of 14,000 tons. They are 617 feet long, 64-foot beam and 33 feet deep.

LEGAL NOTICES.

ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION —OF— HOLLAND MINING COMPANY.

We, the undersigned, do hereby associate ourselves together for the purpose of forming a corporation under the provisions of Chapter 58 of the Revised Laws of Minnesota for the year 1905, and acts amendatory thereof and supplementary thereto, and for that purpose do hereby sign the following articles of incorporation:

ARTICLE I.

The name of this corporation shall be the "HOLLAND MINING COMPANY."

The general nature of the business of this corporation shall be mining, smelting, reducing, refining and working of iron ore and other minerals and the manufacture of iron, steel and other metals, said business to be carried on in the state of Minnesota and elsewhere.

The principal place for the transaction of the business of said corporation and where its offices shall be kept is Duluth, Minnesota.

ARTICLE II.

The time of the commencement of said corporation shall be the 18th day of September, 1915, and the period of its continuance shall be thirty years thereafter.

ARTICLE III.

The amount of the capital stock of said corporation shall be fifty thousand dollars, divided into five thousand shares of the par value of ten dollars each, which may be issued and paid in in money or property at such times and in such amounts as may be ordered by the Board of Directors.

ARTICLE IV.

The highest amount of indebtedness and liability to which this corporation shall at any time be subject shall be fifty thousand dollars.

ARTICLE V.

The names and places of residence of the persons forming this corporation are as follows: F. D. Orr, H. W. Coulter and Thomas A. Gall, all residing at Duluth, Minnesota.

ARTICLE VI.

The government of this corporation and the management of its affairs shall be vested in a board of three directors, who shall be elected annually by the stockholders at a stockholders' annual meeting, which shall be held at the company's office in Duluth, Minnesota, at ten o'clock in the forenoon on the first Thursday in December of each year.

The officers of said corporation shall be a president, a vice president, a secretary and a treasurer, whose respective duties and powers shall be prescribed by the Board of Directors, and who shall be elected from and by the Board of Directors at their annual meeting, which shall be held immediately following the annual meeting of the stockholders. Any two of said offices may be held by the same person except the office of president and vice president.

The Board of Directors and such officers shall hold their respective offices until the next succeeding annual meeting and thereafter until their successors are elected and qualified.

The names of the persons who shall constitute the first board of directors of said corporation, and who shall hold office until their next annual meeting, and until their successors are elected and qualified, shall be F. D. Orr, H. W. Coulter and Thomas A. Gall, of whom F. D. Orr shall be president, H. W. Coulter shall be vice president, and Thomas A. Gall shall be secretary and treasurer.

FARM AND FRUIT LANDS.

FOR SALE.

One of the best 40-acre tracts at the Head of the Lakes. Absolutely stoneless and can be cleared for $10 an acre. Covered with a fine growth of clover. Land is on a good road and only six miles south of the new steel plant and fifteen miles from Duluth. All adjoining land is settled on by farmers from Iowa, Nebraska and Illinois—men who know good land. Land just three miles north is selling for $200 to $500 for a 25-foot lot and the time is not far off when this 40 can be sold in acre tracts for ten times the price asked per acre now. Farm products raised here can be shipped to the new steel city, just six miles north, when the plant is completed in November. This 40 is the best buy at the Head of the Lakes at $50 an acre, but we can sell it at once for $32.50 an acre. Call at once about this. It will not last long at above price.

—A SNAP—
40 ACRES, WORTH $2,000, FOR $800.

A splendid 40-acre tract, absolutely stoneless, and can be cleared for $10 an acre. Excellent farming land at less than farm land prices. Only 15 miles from Duluth, on excellent auto road and good train service; six miles from new steel plant and new steel city. This steel plant will be operating in November. Consider this and think of what it means to this land. It is bound to make this land go to $100 an acre. In fact, at the present time land is being sold just three miles north, between the 40 and the steel plant, for from $200 to $500 for a 25-foot lot. Let us show you this at once. If you want to buy an absolute snap at less than half what it is actually worth, you will look this up at once.

FIRST WORD HEARD IN YEAR AND A HALF

Message Comes From Nome Sent There From Baillie Islands.

Explorer Purchases New Ship to Take Place of Wrecked Karluk.

Canadian Officials Receive News From Stefansson With Gratification.

DISCOVERED NEW LAND.

Nome, Alaska, Sept. 17.—Vilhjalmar Stefansson is safe on Barks Land. The schooner Ruby arrived yesterday with dispatches from him to the Canadian government.

Stefansson succeeded beyond all expectations in his explorations. He discovered new land southwest of St. Patrick's Land. He is now on Barks Land outfitting for continuance of explorations to the westward to ascertain the full extent of the new land.

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 17.—First definite tidings that the world has received from Vilhjalmar Stefansson, the Arctic explorer, for a year and a half were received today by the naval department which sent him and his companions on their perilous trip to the frozen north. The advices from the explorer were meager but sufficient to show that he and his companions are safe.

Stefansson's advices came from Nome, Alaska, in the form of a message, signed by himself and dispatched

NINETY KILLED IN MEXICAN WRECK

Soldiers, Camp Followers and Women Literally Ground to Pieces.

Laredo, Tex., Sept. 17.—The wreck of a Mexican military train resulting in the death of ninety persons occurred Wednesday afternoon one mile out of Saltillo, according to advices here today.

The train was en route from Saltillo to Monterey with a large number of troops. Spreading rails caused it to leave the tracks at a point near a canyon, precipitating two coaches with their occupants to the rocks below.

Soldiers, women camp followers and children literally were ground to pieces in the debris. Passengers who arrived today and who passed the scene of the wreck said that a huge stack of bodies was visible where they had been piled together preparatory to burial which would take place in deep trenches. All the dead and injured were Mexicans.

SHORTAGE OF AMMUNITION

In Russia Caused By Lack of Transportation Facilities.

Washington Man Has Near View of Conditions Near Grodno.

New York, Sept. 17.—The Russian steamer Kurek arrived here today from Archangel, after having passed through the White sea behind a number of trawlers acting as mine sweepers. It was said the trawlers picked up or sank a number of mines which the passengers were told had been planted by Norwegian sailors employed by the German admiralty.

Dr. H. C. Leineweber, who is connected with the music division of the Congressional library at Washington, and his wife and child, arrived after a visit to relatives near Grodno. He said there was plenty of ammunition in Russia, but the facilities for transporting it to the fronts were greatly inadequate. He added that the general belief in Russia was that the lack of transportation facilities had caused the fall of the Russian retreat.

Indications That Relations Between Greece and Bulgaria Are Improving.

Germany Said to Have Made Extensive Promises to Latter State.

Serbian Premier Says His Country Has Done Her Duty.

Athens, Greece, Sept. 17, via Berlin and London.—There are indications that the relations between Greece and Bulgaria are improving. In the most influential circles the conviction is said now to have been reached that neutrality must be the only policy for Greece.

The utterances of Premier Radoslavoff of Bulgaria expressing the hope for more cordial relations with Greece have made a deep impression, as has also the declaration that the future of the Balkans depends upon an understanding between these two nations.

Germany Makes Promises.

Turin, Sept. 17, via Paris.—The Stampa says it has learned "from a diplomatic source" that Germany has made extensive promises to Bulgaria to obtain that nation's benevolent neutrality. It states that these promises were made to King Ferdinand of Bulgaria by the grand duke of Mecklenburg on behalf of Emperor William, and that among them was the stipulation that King Ferdinand should have the crown of Byzantium.

This dispatch, which lacks authoritative confirmation, would indicate on its face a promise to Bulgaria of a radical extension of its boundaries. The ancient Byzantine empire included all the territory now held by the various Balkan nations and European Turkey.

Greek Reserves Called.

Paris, Sept. 17.—A further large number of troops is reported by the Balkan agency to have been called to the Greek colors. The Athens correspondent of this agency says a royal decree has been issued calling out reservists of the classes of 1886, 1887 and 1888 on Oct. 1.

A dispatch of the Balkan agency from Bucharest says that the leaders of all the opposition parties in Bulgaria have held a meeting at which it was decided to publish an appeal to the country explaining the international political situation as affecting that nation. The appeal will be made on the ground that under present circum-

Berlin Pleased With New Phase of Diplomatic Negotiations.

Considers Mouth to Mouth Talk Better Than Notes.

Berlin, Sept. 17, via London.—Reports received here that President Wilson will make no formal reply to the German government's communication concerning the sinking of the steamship Arabic, but will confer confidentially with Ambassador Von Bernstorff, are acclaimed by Germania as a "new indication of the good will of the American government and its intent to come to an understanding with us."

Previous diplomatic interchanges, says Germania, have been made under disadvantageous conditions, because protests to Berlin have been reported in advance in British dispatches.

"We believe friendly mouth to mouth negotiations will serve the purpose desired by both sides far better than the earlier interchanges," this newspaper adds.

U. S. SOLDIERS AND MEXICANS FIGHT

Another Conflict Is Reported on Border Near Brownsville.

Brownsville, Tex., Sept. 17.—Another fight between United States soldiers and Mexicans was reported today.

Mexican independence day passed wholly without outbreak in this section. Col. A. P. Blocksom at Fort Brown and Col. R. L. Bullard at Harlingen, who are directing the army movements, expressed the hope today that this meant that the crisis in border affairs has passed and henceforth racial killings along the border will diminish.

Laredo, Tex., Sept. 17.—The celebration in Monterey yesterday of the anniversary of Mexico's independence passed without anti-American demonstrations, it was said in advices from the Nuevo Leon capital which reached here today.

MAY SEND BRYAN TO BRING ABOUT PEACE

Plans Being Made for Former Secretary to Visit Warring Nations.

Washington, Sept. 17.—Plans to send Former Secretary Bryan on a mission of peace to the warring nations of Europe were the subject of a conference here today between the former cabinet officer and Dr William Forgo, representing editors of American newspapers published in foreign languages. Before visiting Mr. Bryan, Dr. Forgo in a public statement set forth the plan as so far developed which contemplates a personal visit of Mr. Bryan to the belligerent nations to argue for peace.

In his statement Dr. Forgo said that Mr. Bryan had already given him the impression that if the trip were undertaken, Mr. Bryan himself "will for the love of the cause not only sacrifice his time, but will also pay his own expenses." The statement lauded the former secretary of state, saying that "in all Europe, in belligerent or neutral countries, there is no American held in greater esteem than Mr. Bryan."

Dr. Forgo said Mr. Bryan would probably announce his plans after today's conference.

Pretorian Reaches Port.

Montreal, Sept. 17.—The Pretorian of the Allan line which was in a collision with the steamship Kansas below Quebec on Wednesday, reached port today. The liner's bow plates have been bent back and it is probable that she will have to go into drydock here for repairs and lose a trip.

DUMBA TO BE RECALLED FOR CONSULTATION; HE WILL NOT COME BACK

Intention of Austrian Government Intimated to U. S. Ambassador.

Arrangement Will Cause No Interruption of Diplomatic Relations.

Austria Receives United States Note in Friendly Spirit.

Washington, Sept. 17.—The Austrian government intends to recall Ambassador Dumba for consultation, according to intimations given to Ambassador Penfield when he delivered the note from the United States, asking for the return of the ambassador to Austria.

Such an arrangement, which is in accord with Dumba's own request for recall on leave of absence, is satisfactory to the American government. It is understood, however, that Ambassador Dumba would not return to the United States at the termination of his leave. The purpose of these arrangements, it is understood, is to cause no interruption in the diplomatic relations of the two governments, the change being looked upon as a personal affair.

In Friendly Spirit.

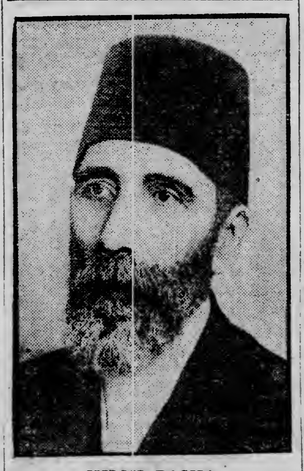

There is every indication from Ambassador Penfield's dispatches that the Austrian government received the American note in friendly spirit and looks upon it as the usual request of a government for the recall of an ambassador on the ground that his usefulness to his own government would be impaired by his continued presence.

It is now expected that Ambassador Dumba will receive word from his own foreign office that he is wanted in Vienna for consultation. The United States will arrange safe conduct and with the Austrian embassy left in charge of a charge d'affaires the incident will be closed.

HALF BILLION NOT ENOUGH

Foreign Financial Commission Wants Proposed Loan Increased.

Bankers May Make It $600,000,000 or Possibly $750,000,000.

New York, Sept. 17.—Another secret meeting, the third within three days, was held today between members of the Anglo-French financial commission and representative of big New York, Chicago, Boston and other out-of-town banking houses who are endeavoring to reach an agreement on the proposed mammoth credit loan to Great Britain and France.

No further word was forthcoming from the commission than its brief statement of last night saying so much had already been accomplished that it was hoped a definite statement could soon be issued telling of the progress made.

The proposal, said to have been made by American bankers, that the commission would be given a loan of half the sum originally asked, was widely credited today. The commission let it be known soon after its arrival here that it was seeking a billion dollars. Five hundred millions, it is said, have been promised.

Not Altogether Acceptable.

This proposal has not appeared to be altogether acceptable to the commission and it is believed the sum will be increased by $100,000,000, or possibly to $750,000,000 before negotiations end. Whatever is loaned, it is generally believed the interest rate will be 5 per cent to the investor and about 5½ per cent to the underwriters.

Whether the big credit should be used to pay for shipment of war munitions as well as wheat, cotton and other commodities, has been the subject of much discussion among the conferees. It is believed a much larger loan could be floated if it were understood that the credit would apply only to commodity shipments and

RUSSIANS ARE FALLING BACK NEAR PINSK

Taking of That City of Great Advantage to German Forces.

Fighting Again Severe on Gallipoli Peninsula Front.

Berlin, Sept. 17. via London, 3:27 p. m.—Field Marshal Von Hindenburg's forces, which have flanked Vilna and Dvinsk, cutting the railroad between those cities, have made a further advance to the east. The war office announced today the capture of Vidzy about 35 miles south of Dvinsk.

Russians Falling Back.

London, Sept. 17.—Petrograd admits the Russians are falling back in the direction of Pinsk, capture of which was announced yesterday by the Germans. Occupation by the invaders of this town may be expected to facilitate greatly the progress of Field Marshal Von Mackensen's forces through the Pripet marshes.

Owing to the prorogation of the Duma domestic affairs are occupying the attention of the Russians. The effect of this incident on the military situation is feared, as is indicated by the proclamation of Gen. Ruzsky, Russian commander in the north, calling upon workmen not to slacken their efforts to keep the army supplied with munitions.

Newman Erb, Who Took Poison By Mistake, Resting Comfortably.

New York, Sept. 17.—Newman Erb, financier and railroad reorganizer who swallowed two poison tablets by mistake last Tuesday, was today reported to be resting comfortably after having passed a quiet night.

Although the four physicians attending Mr. Erb at his Deal, N. J., summer home, said the railroad man has a fair chance for recovery, the next three days will mark the most critical period. If the first aid administered to Mr. Erb did not prevent a considerable amount of the poison from entering his system physicions believe that during the next seventy-two hours Mr. Erb will undoubtedly display some of the symptoms of this form of poisoning.

FUSES BLEW OUT ON F-4; CAUSE OF WRECK

Electricians Believe They Have Solved Secret of Lost Submarine.

Honolulu, Sept. 17.—From an unofficial, but apparentiy trustworthy source, it was learned that electricians who have been making an examination of the submarine F-4, lost outside Honolulu harbor March 25, and now in drydock, discovered that the fuses on all four batteries had been blown out, indicating that this was the cause of the disaster which resulted in the death of the vessel's crew of twenty-two men.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

Petrograd claims a continuance of Russian successes in Galician territory. It is admitted, however, that the Germans are making progress in the Vilna region and in the district of Pinsk. The capture of Pinsk by the Germans was reported from Berlin yesterday.

Indications that relations between Greece and Bulgaria are improving and that the former nation is tending toward a determination to continue her neutral policy are noted by a correspondent in Athens.

Paris, on the other hand, has reports from the Greek capital that several classes of Greek reserves have been called to join the colors on Oct. 1.

The Serbia premier, Nikola P. Pachitch, is quoted in Paris as saying that Serbia has made the concessions asked by her allies, with the view of bringing Bulgaria into the Balkan entente. It is semi-officially stated in Roumania, however, that the Entente allies now know they cannot in any event count on Bulgaria's help on the Gallipoli peninsula.

Semi-official denial is made in Bucharest that Roumania's military activities along the frontier are anything more than the annual maneuvers.

WANTED TO DISFIGURE HIS WIFE BUT DID NOT WANT TO KILL HER

Edward J. Poole, Negro, Alleged Wife Slayer, Discusses Trouble With Spouse; Shies Away From Story of Shooting, But Talks Freely of His Escape.

"I wanted to disfigure her, but I didn't want to kill her."

That is the remark attributed to Edward J. Poole, alleged negro uxorcide, brought back from Missoula, Mont., by Duluth officers yesterday, to face a murder charge.

"Such is life, though," he said philosophically, as he sat astride a wooden bench in the city jail and enjoyed a meal the jailer had brought him.

"I'll tell you," he continued, growing confidential, "it's this way. If you've got money in this world, you're all right, but if you haven't—well there's no use."

Until today Poole had refused to discuss the shooting, which took place at his home, 216 South First avenue east, on Aug. 21, after which police found his wife, Ida, near death with four bullet wounds in her body.

He broke his rule today, however, and told Chief McKercher an interesting story of his experiences since Aug. 21.

"I got a jitney," he said, "and drove to the house, where I was going to get my clothes. (Poole was known as a dandy among Duluth negroes).

"I knocked on the door and Ida came to the door, but she wouldn't open it. She stood inside and called out: 'Who's there?'

EDWARD J. POOLE.

"Mr. Poole Can't Come In."

"'This is Mr. Poole,' I said, and she said: 'Mr. Poole can't come in here. Go away.'

"That made me mad and so I put my foot through the front window and stepped into the front room, pushing away the curtain. Somethin~ came down across my head with a bang and I raised my gun."

At this juncture Poole stopped and refused to speak further of events that followed.

Skipping all references to the shooting, he went on: "I didn't wait to get my suits, but ran out of the house."

"I hurried up to Superior street, and went down to the front of the Lyceum theater, where I got a taxi cab. I told him to go out to West Duluth, and he did—in a hurry.

"I got off out there some place and bought a pair of overalls at a store which was open and then walked over to the Spirit lake branch of the boat club.

"There was a Swede in charge at the boathouse and I wanted him to take me across the river, but he wouldn't do it. I stalled around awhile and then I went up and walked across the steel bridge.

"I kept agoin' until I got to the Great Northern tracks and then I went out to Saunders, where I stayed all the next day. Then I caught a train to Grand Forks and stayed there a day."

Poole stopped here and smiled. Then he went on: "From Grand Forks I went over to Fargo to spend a day."

Saw the "Old Man."

"What in the world did you go to Fargo for?" broke in Chief McKercher. "Didn't you know the old man (Former Chief C. H. Troyer) was there?"

"Yas," replied the negro with a still broader grin, "I sure knew Mr. Troyer was there, and I saw him—but he didn't see me—No, sir.

"After I left Fargo I jumped to Butte, where I pawned my watch, and then I went on to Missoula.

"I was sitting at a table with two white friends when a 'cop' came along. He looked at me pretty close before he got to us, and I tipped it off to one of my friends, who was carrying a gun. This fellow slipped his gun into the canal just before the 'cop' stopped in front of us.

"I wasn't worrying any until the next morning. The 'cop' took us in as suspicious characters and the next morning a fellow came in and looked me all over.

"'I guess I'll let you go,' he said, but then he said something about 'Duluth' and beileve me, Chief, I felt sick right away.

"He looked me over again, and wasn't sure whether to hold me or not, but when he said, 'Well, I'll keep you till tomorrow morning,' I knew the stuff was off."

Poole was re-arraigned in municipal court this morning on a charge of first degree murder and waived examination. He was bound over to the grand jury without bail. Yesterday afternoon he was arraigned on a first degree assault charge under the original complaint, issued before Mrs. Poole died at St. Luke's hospital.

TRADE RUINED; ASKS DAMAGES

Hibbing Jeweler Sues Oliver Iron Mining Company and Others.

Blasting and Cutting Street Near Property Destroys Business.

Louis Maletta, a pioneer resident of Hibbing and who made watches there when keys were in general use as winders, has started two actions in district court, this city, by which he hopes to obtain $60,000 which he believes will compensate him for damages to his property and business by reason of mining activities of the Oliver Iron Mining company and others.

In one action Mr. Maletta is suing the Oliver Iron Mining company and several individuals, all mining people, for $30,000 and in the other the Oliver company is the sole defendant for $30,000.

Ruins Business.

In the first named suit, Mr. Maletta says he owns some lots and two buildings on Center street between Fourth and Fifth avenues in Hibbing and that in 1912 the Oliver Iron Mining company cut through the street, a short distance from his property, which consisted of a jewelry store and a residence. He avers that at that time his store was doing a business of $5,000 a year but that by reason of the street being cut in two, making it difficult for patrons to get to his store, his trade has been driven from him and his business is wrecked.

In the separate complaint he states that the Oliver company does a great deal of heavy blasting at the Sellers mine, the approach to which is about 300 feet for his store and residence. These blasts, he says, have loosened the foundations of his buildings, hurled large rocks into his yard and have made it dangerous for him to reside there. People, he asserts, who formerly traded at his store, now go elsewhere because they are afraid of being hit by flying rocks. He says that, for this reason, his property has greatly depreciated in value.

WOULD HOLD THE POTASH DEPOSITS

One Reason Why Germans Are Fighting So Hard in Alsace.

Paris, Sept. 17.—One of the reasons for the determined fight which the Germans are making to hold the ground between Guebweiller and Mulhouse is the importance of the potash deposits in upper Alsace. In this vicinity which are estimated to be worth $0,000,000 francs ($16,000,000), says a dispatch to the Havas News agency from Geneva.

Despite the war the industry continues in active operation and about 100 freight cars loaded with potash are sent daily into the interior of Germany.

OBITUARY

William Davis, an artist, was found dead in his studio in New York, Sept. 16, before an unfinished landscape. His palette and brush were in his hands. He was a victim of the heat.

Rev. John C. Clarke, former professor at the University of Chicago and author of several theological and philosophical works, died at Alton, Ill., Sept. 16. Death, which was caused by heart disease, came while he was reading a book. Dr. Clarke was 82 years old.

Mrs. Evelyn Wheeler, 96, daughter of Capt. Martin Lewis, who served under Gen. Washington in the Revolutionary war, died at Milwaukee, Sept. 16. Mrs. Wheeler was the mother of the late Col. Cornelius Wheeler, governor of the Soldiers' home. She was born at New Stead, N. Y.

Ex-Governor Lyman U. Humphrey of Kansas is dead. He had been ill several months. Mr. Humphrey was twice governor of Kansas, but since the expiration of his second term, in 1893, he had been in private life. He was born in Stark county, Ohio, July 25, 1844.

WARSAW'S MANY RULERS.

Chicago Journal: No city in Europe has known so many changes of masters as Warsaw, which the Russians now hold. Founded about the year 850, it was the capital of the independend kingdom of Mazovia until the fifteenth century, when it was annexed by Poland. In the seventeenth century its possession was contended for by Sweden, Russia, Austria and Brandenberg, until, in 1764, Russia practically annexed it. In 1795 the city was handed over to Prussia, but Napoleon occupied it in 1806, and at the peace of Tilsit, Warsaw was proclaimed an independent duchy. In 1809 the Austrians seized the city, but lost it again, and after another brief spell of independence the city passed finally to Russia in 1813.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

HORSE RACES AT IRON RIVER

Many admirers of the harness horse game residing in Northern Minnesota and Wisconsin will go to Iron River, Wis., next Sunday to witness the greatest speed program ever staged in this section of the country. Duluth, Superior, Hibbing, Virginia, Washburn, Bayfield, Ashland and many other towns will send large delegations.

The Sunday races are a special bill which was left over from the Bayfield county fair held at Iron River this week. The free-for-all pace, the 2:15 pace and the 2:21 pace, three of the best cards on the program were postponed on account of wet weather. In the free-for-all are entered Ella M., 2:04¼; Roy Wilkes, 2:04½; Banzye, trial in 2:06 and many others. Ella M., is owned by Paddy Chantelois of Iron River and Banzye is the property of Byron O'Rourke, the Hibbing capitalist.

Jim Henderson, the well known Duluth pacer with a mark of 2:21, owned by James Henderson, will start in his class for the first time this year. He was second in the free-for-all pace at Hibbing and finished in the same position at Spooner, Wis., in the 2:15 pace. He will be remembered by Duluthians as having won the ice races here last winter. He was bred and raised by C. R. Rust of Rust-Parker, wholesale grocers.

Duluthians, who will attend the races will leave the Union station Sunday morning at 8 o'clock and will reach Iron River about 10:30 a. m. Returning the train will leave Iron River about 4:30 and will arrive in Duluth at 7 o'clock.

Syracuse Track Heavy.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 17.—Dark clouds greeted the horsemen here for the fifth day's Grand Circuit racing this afternoon. The track at noon was heavy from the rains of last night and early this morning. The races on today's card include the 2:09 trot for $1,200; 2:16 trot for $1,200; 2:10 pace for $1,000; three amateur races, the 2:17 trot, free-for-all trot and free-for-all pace.

SUPERIOR

COUNTY MAY HAVE TO BURY WHALEN

Coroner Z. A. Downs of Douglas county will probably have to call upon the county for expenses to cover the burial of John J. Whalen, who shot his wife and later turned the gun upon himself with fatal effects. His sons yesterday notified the coroner that they would have nothing more to do with him and renounced him as their father. Downs is canvassing among friends of the Whalen family for funds to cover the expenses. Considerable property in the West end was left by Mr. and Mrs. Whalen.

DIES WHILE IN SEARCH OF HEALTH

Leander Smith, aged 47, a laborer, who until recently lived at 508 Grand avenue, dropped dead of heart failure last evening while walking to the country home of H. M. Coreen. Mr. Smith had been living with Coreen for a short time in the hope of bettering his health on a farm. He was in the city yesterday and started walking home late in the afternoon. He stopped at a house to rest and died shortly afterward. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon from the Finnish-Swedish church.

Local Teachers in Charge.

Exhibits made by Superior schools at the Douglas county fair, which will open next Tuesday, will be under the charge of teachers from local schools. Space for the exhibits were requested of the fair association recently by Principal J. G. King. The fair promises to be one of the best held in the county in years.

Put on Commission.

Thomas J. Duffy and W. P. Walsh were appointed members of the Superior police and fire commission yesterday. They will take the places made vacant recently by the deaths of J. J. Hussey and David Dixon. Mr. Duffy will serve for four years while Mr. Walsh will serve the full term of five years.

In the United States there are 6,361,502 farms, with a total acreage of 878,798,325.

The deaths in Irish workhouses during the last year included those of seventeen centenarians.

W. F. FITCH, PIONEER RAILROAD HEAD, DIES AT MARQUETTE

WILLIAM F. FITCH.

William Foresman Fitch, former president of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railroad and one of the best known railroad men in the West, died last night at his home in Marquette, Mich. He was 76 years old.

Shortly after a visit here last November, Mr. Fitch was taken suddenly ill with kidney trouble and a few weeks later was confined to his bed. From that time he became weaker, until the early part of last summer, when attending physicians gave up hope for his recovery.

Word of Mr. Fitch's death, momentarily expected, was received here early this morning by more than a score of his business associates and close friends, many of whom had visited him at his bedside in Marquette during the last ten months. Additional messages were received later this morning, announcing the funeral services for 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the home of Mr. Fitch's daughter, Mrs. Peter W. Phelps at Marquette. Interment will take place in a plot next to Mrs. Fitch, who died about ten years ago. Mrs Phelps, the daughter, is the only living relative of the deceased railroad man, with the exception of a grand-daughter, Miss Emily Phelps

Will Close Offices

It was announced by officials of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railroad this morning—that the offices would be closed all afternoon tomorrow in respect to Mr Fitch. W. W. Walker, vice president and general manager of the road, who succeeded Mr. Fitch to the office on Jan. 1, 1912, is out of the city today and word of Mr. Fitch's death was wired him this morning at Minneapolis, where he is on his way to the coast. It is believed that he will attend the funeral at Marquette tomorrow afternoon. It is also probable that Mr. Walker may arrange to stop all traffic on the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic road for five minutes tomorrow afternoon as an additional tribute to its former president, beloved by all employes of the line. Arrangements to this effect have not been made, although an announcement is expected at any time.

A. J. Perrin of this city, secretary to Mr. Fitch while the latter was president of the road and his associate during the latter's residence in Duluth, was at the bedside of Mr. Fitch last night. He left here Wednesday for Marquette, upon receiving word of Mr. Fitch's sinking condition and he will remain there for the funeral tomorrow. Mr. Perrin was associated with Mr. Fitch from the time he was general manager of the Fremont, Elkhorn & Missouri Valley railroad in the latter eighties, coming with him to Marquette and later to Duluth. He resigned from the South Shore road's service when Mr. Fitch gave up the presidency on Dec. 31, 1911.

Half Century of Railroading.

Mr. Fitch's railroad career covered a period of nearly fifty years, during which time he was connected with railroads in all sections of the West. He became general manager of the South Shore road in 1888, later its vice president and in 1902 was chosen president. For a number of years he lived in Marquette and when Mrs. Fitch died there about ten years ago he moved to Duluth, making his home here until he resigned as president nearly four years ago. Since that time he had been living with his daughter at Marquette.

In addition to his interest in the South Shore road, Mr. Fitch was owner of the Manhattan building in Duluth and a director of the Lyceum building. He was also interested in the Tomlinson and Hannah boat lines and at one time was one of the directors of the First National bank.

During the last four years Mr. Fitch looked after his local connections by making short visits here every month. These were regular until his illness compelled him to take to his bed last November. On his visits here he stayed at the Spalding hotel, where he was known to all the traveling men who came to this city.

Mr. Fitch was born on Jun- 28, 1839, at Circleville, Ohio. After a few years at school he began as a youth to work in railroad offices, his first employment being as clerk in the station at Circleville. In 1871 he obtained a position as clerk for the general manager of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad, advancing after a few years to the superintendency of the Pennsylvania division of the line. From 1866 to 1888 he was general manager of the Fremont, Elkhorn & Missouri Valley and Sioux City & Pacific railroads. In 1888 he became manager of the South Shore road, later its vice president and president from 1902 to 1911, when he retired as active head of the line. While head of the South Shore road he was president and receiver for the Duluth & Winnipeg line and president of the Duluth, Superior & Western road after he helped organize it. He was also president of the Mineral Range road, general manager of the Hancock & Calumet line, president of the Lake Superior Terminal & Transfer road, vice president of the Wisconsin Central road after he resigned as president of the South Shore line and vice president of the Western Express company for many years.

WINE GRAPES TO BE FED TO THE HOGS

Fresno, Cal., Sept. 17.—Wine grapes by the thousands of tons are to be fed to hogs hereabouts this fall. It developed yesterday that many growers are drying their grapes for this purpose, following the announcement of the California Wine association that grapes will not be purchased this year, because of uncertainty whether the war tax on fortified and unfortified wines, expiring Jan. 1, 1916, will be re-enacted as it stands. Most of the growers will store some of their grapes, hoping for better conditions.

DEAN OF HARVARD LAW SCHOOL ENDS LIFE

Boston, Sept. 17.—The body of Ezra Ripley Thayer, dean of the Harvard law school, was found floating in the Charles river yesterday. He had been missing two days. Medical Examiner George Grath said it was a case of suicide.

Because of ill health he had been obliged to give up some of his lectures at the law school.

THREE CONVICTS GET AWAY FROM JOLIET

Joliet, Ill., Sept. 17.—Three convicts escaped from the Illinois state penitentiary at Joliet early yesterday. They were Clarence Brown, a Chicago burglar serving his third term; James O'Neill, Chicago, also serving a third term for burglary, and Joe Scutti, serving a twenty-five-year sentence for murder in La Salle county.

An armed posse has started in pursuit of the three men, who are reported to have headed for Chicago.

The prisoners were taken to the stone quarry just outside the prison early in the afternoon. When supper was announced they were missing. They were not "honor" prisoners.

Kills Family and Self.

Hattiesburg, Miss., Sept. 17.—Monroe M. Lee, a farmer, killed his wife and two young daughters near here yesterday, then committed suicide. A coroner's jury concluded that Lee, who was 35 years old, had suddenly become mentally unbalanced.

GOPHER DOCTORS TO MEET AT ROCHESTER

Rochester, Minn., Sept. 17.—The Minnesota State Medical association will hold its annual meeting here commencing Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 29, when the house of delegates will hold a session, and continuing on Sept. 30 and Oct. 1. About 400 physicians are expected to be present. Entertainment features have been provided by the local committee, among them a banquet in the Rochester high school and visits to St. Mary's hospital and the Mayo clinic.

Largest Grain Cargo.

Portland, Or., Sept. 17.—The largest grain cargo ever loaded on the Columbia river was completed here yesterday by the Norwegian steamer Strinda, which will sail tomorrow for the United Kingdom with 361,058 bushels of wheat. The Strinda's freight earnings on the cargo will approximately be $250,000, her charter rate being 97 shillings 6 pence a ton.

Duffy's Relieved Insomnia and Indigestion

MRS. AMELIA LANG.

Indigestion and Insomnia are two distressing complaints, which are hard to conquer with drugs. But here is a case where Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, a true product of nature, came to the relief of Mrs. Amelia Lang, again proving the benefit this great "Medicine for All Mankind" really is to suffering humanity.

"After being troubled with sleeplessness and indigestion for some time, and not being able to obtain any relief I read one of your advertisements of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and decided to try it. I must say that my indigestion has disappeared and Duffy's is the only thing that overcame sleeplessness. I will always keep a bottle of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey on hand as I feel it to be a household remedy." — Mrs. Amelia Lang, New York Ave. & 3rd St., Jamaica Court, L. I. N. Y.

Being an absolutely pure distillation of thoroughly malted grain,

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

prompts the stomach to healthy action, promotes digestion and assimilation of the food, enriches the blood, and brings strength and vigor to the system. With its prescribed advice of a tablespoonful in water before meals and upon retiring, fatigue is diminished, the nerves are soothed to the point of allowing restful slumber; and in stomach troubles, Duffy's seldom fails to bring about results that are most gratifying. Because the stomach is not required to deal with substances strange to its methods of working, as in the case with ordinary tonics, those who "Get Duffy's and keep well" are ever grateful for its wonderful nourishing qualities.

Sold in SEALED BOTTLES ONLY. Beware of imitations.

NOTE: Get Duffy's from your local druggist, grocer or dealer $1.00 per bottle. If he cannot supply you, write us, we will tell you where to get it. Medical booklet free.

NO SUPPORT FROM AUSTRIA

Editor of Duluth Newspaper Denies Receiving Aid From Government.

Doubts If There Are Secret Agents at Head of Lakes.

Many prominent Austrians of Duluth do not believe the statement made by one of their number in The Herald last Tuesday, that the Austrian government has agents watching the big factories in this district.

"I have no connections with the Austrian government," said Anton Basetich, editor of the Radnicka-Obrana, a Croatian newspaper published in Duluth, when he was asked about the agents.

"When the war first broke out I published a notice from the Austrian embassy, calling upon all citizens of Austria to report to the nearest consul, giving their names and addresses. About 7,000 responded in Minnesota. This notice was the same as the one published in many other Austrian newspapers and also many English newspapers, I believe. That was a paid notice at the regular rates, but aside from that I have never had any financial support from the Austrian government."

Joseph Antonovich, president of the Dalmatian-Croatian society, with headquarters in the Victor hall in West Duluth, when seen, said that he did not know of any agents of the Austrian government at work here. "I do not believe there are any in this part of the country," he said.

Tony Grippo, treasurer of the same society, bore him out in his statement.

M. Danculovich, treasurer of the Croatian National society, was also inclined to doubt that there are any Austrian agents in Duluth or the vicinity.

"We are for the United States first," he said, when asked about the agents. "Most of us are citizens of this country, and it will find us loyal supporters. Of course we love our native land as a man loves his mother." Mr. Danculovich intimated that the majority of his countrymen here were not in sympathy with the plan to tie up American industries.

ENTERTAIN PUPILS OF THREE SCHOOLS

"Y" Boys Outline Varied Social and Athletic Program.

"Where ya go'in tonight, Skinna?"

"I'm going to the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. There's going to be a party for all the boys of the Jackson, Emerson and Adams schools. They've got a big program all outlined for us. It begins at 7:30 p. m. and we have two hours of solid fun in the club rooms, gymnasium, swimming pool, and then we are going to be served with refreshments. And it's all free. Didn't your teacher give ya a ticket?" "Are ya going?" "You bet, and all the fellers in my room's going to."

This has been a sample of the conversation one may hear at the schools this week.

Saturday's program follows:

9 a. m. Junior gymnasium; 10, intermediate gymnasium; 10:15, junior swimming; 11:15, intermediate swimming; 2:30 p. m., a trip to Park Point.

Sunday afternoon the Knights of Sir Galahad will meet for the first time this year. Bert Wheeler will speak. The boys' department orchestra will play. There will be a violin sool by Herbert Miska; clarinet solo, Edward Copeland. This club will have monthly dinners, field meets, aquatic meets, all-night trips, and a summer camp. All boys coming tomorrow will be known as charter members and will receive their pins and be initiated some night next week. The regular fall schedule is now in effect and the regular "gym" periods are being held. Friday night is social night. Saturday night is open night for the intermediate and seniors to play on the "gym" with swim afterwards.

CAR REPAIRER IS FATALLY CRUSHED

Old Great Northern Employe Is Killed at Red Lake.

Crookston, Minn., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—John M. Hansen, veteran car repairer, in the employ of the Great Northern Railway company, aged 47, was crushed and instantly killed this morning in the Red Lake, Beltrami yards. He worked nights and was walking across the tracks to his home when a switch engine backing cars caught him squarely between the bumpers. He leaves a widow and five children.

"RHUMMY" PLAYERS RAIDED BY POLICE

Trap doors leading to the basement and cellar exits to the street failed to save five "rhummy" players who were enjoying a nickel-a-corner game in the rear of a poolroom at 1927 West Superior street yesterday.

Just when the players needed it, the trap door refused to work quickly enough, and the "stuff was off," as Sergt. John Roberg put it. With Lieut. N. U. G. Terry and Sergt. John Hunter, he visited the poolroom for the "nth" time.

"What kind of a game was this?" asked Judge F. H. Cutting, when two of the players pleaded guilty to gambling and three pleaded not guilty.

"Just a little of rhummy game, judge," explained Peter Pauley. "Oh no, we weren't gambling. We were playing for chips."

William Badeau, 39, proprietor, pleaded not guilty to running a gambling house. Peter Pauley, 26, and George St. Marie, 25, pleaded not guilty, while Anton Carlson, 26, and John Lindstrom, 30, said they were guilty, of gambling. Sentence was deferred in the cases of the last two, and all five were released until their hearing Monday. Badeau put up $25 bail and the others $10.

Fred Blais Starts Action for $3,515 Against Log Company.

In an effort to collect $3,515.45, which he alleges is due him from the Duluth Log company of this city, Fred Blais has started an action in district court.

In his complaint, which was filed yesterday, Blais says that in March, 1915, he sold 265 cedar railroad cross ties, valued at 50 cents a piece, to the defendant company for which he has not been paid and that in April of the same year he delivered 8,625 cedar cross ties to the same company at the same price.

Mr. Blais states the defendant company was to have paid him in full sixty days after the ties were delivered, but so far have given him, at one time $26.50 and at another $905.04.

ICE CREAM TRADE ALL-YEAR BUSINESS

Demand During Winter Puts Dealers on Firm Footing.

The ice cream business has been graduated from merely a hot weather fad to an all-year trade, according to Henry Bridgemar of the Bridgeman & Russell company.

"The average person might think the ice cream business in the winter months would be almost negligible," said Mr. Bridgeman. "Fortunately for the ice cream maker and the public also, that is not the case. People nowadays eat a vast amount of ice cream in the winter months, for they have found it to be not only a delicious dessert, but a nutritious and easily digested food. Followers of sports of all kinds tell me the trainers permit athletes to eat ice cream.

"The fact that the demand for ice cream is no longer confined to two or three months, has enabled the manufacturers to go to big expense to put in up-to-date and sanitary plants for its manufacture. In the old days, the Widow Brown used to make a few gallons of ice cream to sell in her store. Then a few druggists began to make it in their basements. The progressive step was then taken when its manufacture was taken up on a big scale in magnificently equipped plants, which are open to public inspection at all times. In these, thousands of gallons of perfectly pasteurized milk and cream are frozen every twenty-four hours. Putting the ice cream business on this basis assured a perfectly sanitary and healthful article and also proved of great benefit to the whole dairy industry by affording a market for great quantities of sweet cream. Duluth's summer may be nearly ended, but the ice cream sales in this territory are no nearer being ended than the sales of groceries and meats."

THINK JUPITER IS AEROPLANE

French Gunners Prepare to Train Weapons Against It.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Paris, Sept. 2.—Jupiter, looming up especially brilliant in the eastern sky not long after sunset now-a-days, has been frequently mistaken for the searchlight of an aeroplane flying over Paris. Gunners at the front have made the same mistake and prepared to train their anti-aircraft weapons against it. The well known astronomer, Abbe Moreux, says he has received a great many letters from them asking about this great light in the east, brought to their notice for the first time by the war. Abbe Moreux infers from the mass of correspondence received that thousands of soldiers obliged to pass the night under the open sky, are acquiring an interest in the wonders and beauties of nature that otherwise they would have passed their lives without.

BANKS DO NOT NEED GOVERNMENT MONEY

Northwest Amply Supplied With Funds to Move the Crops.

Washington, Sept. 17.—Government money probably will not be needed to aid in the annual crop movement in the territory from the Mississippi river to the Rockies north of Texas, according to advices received by Secretary McAdoo from the Federal reserve agents of the Minneapolis and Kansas City Federal reserve banks.

Offers of the secretary to deposit government funds in these banks in line with the policy which led to deposits of $15,000,000 in those of Richmond, Atlanta and Dallas, were declined, for the present at least, and the agents reported money plentiful and easy. A similar offer to St. Louis banks had not been answered tonight.

"I am very appreciative of your offer of the 9th inst. to place on deposit in this bank funds of the government to be used in assisting the movement and marketing Northwestern crops. At this time the Northwest is amply supplied with funds and rates for money are very low. This bank has ample resources to meet the current demands upon it and still provide a very considerable reserve for any emergency that may arise before the crop has reached its markets.

"Should a period of heavy demand come upon us, affording an opportunity effectively to employ government funds, I shall be glad to take advantage of your kind offer and would, therefore, suggest that this subject be held open for determination at a later date, and in accordance with such situation as may then develop."

FARGO CHAUFFEUR IS ALLEGED BOOTLEGGER

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charged with having transported liquor from Barnesville to Fargo as well as thirsty passengers, Charles Westland, a taxicab driver who has been making regular trips to the Clay county town, is alleged to have sold the liquor on the North Dakota side of the river, and is now awaiting a trial before the district court. Westland was bound over from County Justice Miller's court in the sum of $1,000.

Wash Day Is Joy Day With SKITCH

SKITCH Sends Washboards to the Scrap Heap—SKITCH Saves the Backache of Rubbing—SKITCH Keeps Your Hands Out of Hot Suds—SKITCH Is a God-send on Wash Day.

"I got cha now old washboard! You'll never break my back again—SKITCH saves the rubbing."

Praises be for SKITCH! It's a perfect wonder. Throw your wash-boards away, women! Don't break your back rubbing clothes, or don't let your washwoman break her poor back rubbing, for SKITCH cleans clothes better than rubbing can do it, and makes your clothes last longer and look nicer.

SKITCH is a marvel! Try it right away and see what SKITCH does. Three teaspoons of SKITCH to a boilerful of clothes and the dirt is just skitched right out of the dirtiest garments while you sit and rest or do up your housework.

You never heard of anything so fine as that. There is nothing else like SKITCH—nothing like it was ever thought of before. SKITCH can't hurt the finest fabric—you could even eat it and it wouldn't hurt you.

Get a 10c package of SKITCH of your grocer today and see the joyful, happy wonder of it. Enough for seven washings in a 10 cent package of SKITCH—costs just a little over a cent to save a day's back breaking, rubbing and a day's misery of keeping your hands in hot suds, less than the soap used in rubbing would cost.

If your grocer doesn't have SKITCH he can get it for you from his jobber. If he won't, write to me—send me his name and I'll send you a big free sample. Hans Fichtenberg, Milwaukee Wis.

LET SUPREME COURT DECIDE

'Judge' Windom Makes Counter-Proposal to 'Judge' Smallwood.

Quo Warranto Proceedings Only Speedy Method, Says Former.

"Let the supreme court decide," is the Windom answer to an open letter from Judge Smallwood proposing to settle the judgeship controversy by an election.

Judge Windom addressed a lengthy reply to the Smallwood letter yesterday, citing City Attorney H. F. Greene's opinion that an election is out of the question, and offering his understanding of the intention of Governor W. S. Hammond in appointing Judge Smallwood.

"Quo warranto proceedings constitute the only proper means for speedy settlement," declared Judge Windom, "and I certainly am willing to have them started at once. That was Governor Hammond's intention when he made the appointment, and I do not think that an election should be considered, because of the expense to the city."

Judge Windom's letter reads as follows:

"W. H. Smallwood, City.

"Dear Sir: I note your open letter of yesterday addressed to me in regard to securing a speedy determining of the right to the office of municipal judge.

"As the city attorney has already declared the scheme suggested by you utterly impossible, it calls for no further discussion upon my part. However, I am heartily in sympathy with your main proposition for a speedy determination of the right to this office. You know and I know that the only proper tribunal to finally decide this question is the supreme court of the state of Minnesota. Fortunately, the law and the rules of that court provide a speedy and efficient remedy to determine the right to this office. I refer to the action for a writ of quo warranto brought directly in the supreme court by the consent of the attorney general. That the attorney general will give such consent I have no doubt, and I will certainly offer no opposition to his allowing the use of his name in such proceeding. This would allow the matter to come on before the supreme court for final hearing inside of the next three weeks, and I will do everything I can to expedite a hearing in such action. This is evidently the method that Governor Hammond had in mind when he appointed you municipal judge, for instead of basing such appointment upon the opinion of the attorney general, as he stated he would in a former letter, he now makes it, as I am informed, without such opinion, and states in his letter explaining why he made the appointment that 'in order that it may be determined—whether there is a vacancy or not—I have decided to appoint Mr. Smallwood municipal judge of Duluth,' and then closes his letter with a statement: 'Trusting that legal proceedings may at once be instituted by him, or others interested, to clear up the situation, I am, very truly yours.'

"You assert your confidence in your legal right to the position, a confidence I assume that is likewise shared by your counsel. Now if you are confident that you will be declared municipal judge, I am unable to understand why you are unwilling to have the question submitted to the court in this speedy and efficient manner, as suggested by the governor. You certainly can lose no rights by so doing, for you have qualified and offered to perform the duties of the office, and if the court should hold that you are the legal judge, undoubtedly you would draw the salary from the time of such appointment and qualification, so it seems to me that if you are sincere in your desire for a speedy settlement of the whole proposition with the least cost to all parties, the method of securing that result is pointed out by Governor Hammond, as stated above.

"If your purpose is to secure a settlement of the legal questions involved, then the method pointed out by the governor, it seems to me, is clearly the one that should be pursued. If, on the other hand, your desire is to get possession of the office and by delays and motions for re-argument, etc., hold possession, merely for the purpose of securing the salary in the meantime, under the resolution of our city council, then doubtless the method you are now pursuing appeals to you as the best to secure the results you desire. Inasmuch, however, as interested taxpayers, I have no doubt, will prevent the payment of any salary to either of us until the question is settled, however willing the council may be to make payment, I do not see that anything is to be gained by either of us by delay, for it can only result in whoever loses being out his time, and I am sure that neither of us can afford that.

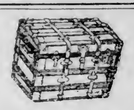

"As I stated in the beginning, I have not taken up the question of election, inasmuch as the city attorney has declared such a proposition illegal. I might add, however, that it would be deplorable to impose the expense of an extra election upon the city at a time when its financial condition is such that the city council finds it imperative to abandon the very valuable work of the joint work farm so as to apply the levy of $19,500 heretofore annually made therefor to the other needs of the city, and that, too, in spite of the greater economies brought about by our commission form of government.

"Yours truly,

"W. L. WINDOM."

FORMAL FALL OPENING

Glass Block

EXTENDS you a cordial invitation to attend the Fall Opening Exhibit tomorrow night, the occasion of our Annual display of Fall fashions in women's apparel. Complimentary refreshments will be served in the Glass Block Tea Rooms from 8:30 to 9:30 p. m. There will be music by La Brosse.

The New Washable Kid Gloves Go Well With a Smart Suit

They're attractive as they are practical the new Elite Washable Kid Gloves in white, sand, butter and oyster, with black embroidered backs (1 clasp), $1.50.

Women's gray suede gloves (embroidered in black) 1-clasp, worth $1.25, for 89c.

(Main Floor—Glass Block)

"Brand New," Graceful Collar and Jabot Combinations

The latest thing in women's neckwear—dainty high roll collars combined with smart pointed jabots of voile, organdy or crepe, 50c to $2.25.

And of course we're showing the new Angora mufflers ("throws"). Very smart just now, and sure to be popular with Duluth women for their cozy warmth, lightness and washability. $1 and $1.25.

(Neckwear Dept.—Main Floor)

To Go With Your New Fall Gown—New Corset Styles

There's another new 'silhouette' for this Fall! And it's very noticeable, so noticeable that the new Fall suits demand an entirely new corset to give the figure the correct lines. (Just the slightest "modeling" of the waist—but this hint of a curve is all-important in the effect it gives a smart suit or graceful party frock.) With the bust from three to five inches high, skirts of medium length, the straight silhouette of front and back, relieved by the new curve at the waist in front, the Fall corset styles are far more becoming to most women than last season's models. You'll be surprised at the difference they will make in your figure.

Warner's Rustproof Corsets

can give you these new lines, and are moderate in price. We carry them from $1 to $5. Whether you like lace front or lace back styles, we can fit you—and please you.

(Corset Dept.—Third Floor)

Get Your Boy His Fall Suit Now!

Now, while the choice is still fine in our Boys' Department, is the time to get your boy his new suit and overcoat for Fall. The department is overflowing with boys' Fall suits and coats. Suits made in the latest styles and materials (sizes 8 to 15) up to $4.95. Chinchilla overcoats (made with flannel lining) in gray, blue and brown, sizes 2½ to 10. Prices, $2.95, $4.95 and $6.75.

(And we are ready with boys' hats, caps, hose, gloves and ties! Come in while the choice is still big.)

(Second Floor—Glass Block)

The Glass Block

Plan to Attend the Fall Opening

We're "Receiving" Tomorrow Night

Tomorrow afternoon at 2, at a signal to be given simultaneously in every store in the city, the curtains will drop from all show windows,—revealing the first alluring vistas of new Fall fashions. Tomorrow night Duluth merchants will "receive," and we've arranged to make our particular "reception" as interesting, entertaining and thoroughly worth while as possible. On our famous Second Floor there'll be an entrancing assemblage of all that is new in women's apparel; the Third Floor will present the newest ideas in Fall millinery; and on the Fourth Floor, to the music of La Brosse's orchestra,—

In the Tea Rooms—Complimentary Refreshments will be served from 8:30 to 9:30 p. m. You'll enjoy being present; it will be an unusual opportunity to see this great store from top to bottom—all the unusual and special features which have contributed to make the Glass Block known as "the shopping center of Duluth!" Plan to come!

Glass Block

SHOW window curtains will be withdrawn at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon for the annual display of Fall fashions. Plan to be down tomorrow night—you'll enjoy the beautifully decorated interior of the store,—the stimulating vistas of new styles—the music and refreshments (complimentary) in the Tea Rooms from 8:30 to 9:30 p. m. (Music by La Brosse.)

Saturday Only—in the Drug Dept.

With every 25c box of Colgate's violet, almond, sandalwood or heliotrope toilet soap, we will give away one cake free.

$1.50 ivory set, consisting of hair receiver and powder box, special, 98c.

50c files, buttons or cuticle knives with ivory handles, special, 29c.

New School Shoes for Your Children

Growing Girls' Shoes in patent leather, gun metal, dull calf, $3.50; sizes 2½ to 7.

Misses' Shoes in button, dull calf with a good heavy sole, $2.00; sizes 11½ to 2. Sizes 8½ to 11, $1.75; sizes 5 to 8, $1.50.

Boys' Dull Calf, button or lace, with good heavy soles; sizes 2½ to 6, $3.00 to $3.50.

Boys' Calf, lace or blucher, with good heavy soles; sizes 2½ to 5, $2.00. Sizes 1 to 2, $1.75; sizes 9 to 13½, $1.50

Underwear to go With Your Fall Apparel

You may have your choice,—high neck, half low neck, or low neck; sleeveless, elbow sleeves, long sleeves,—knee length or ankle length,—there's your particular style, and we have it, in the famous 'Munsing wear.' Munsing union suits are so fine in quality, so perfect in fit, and so moderate in price, as to satisfy the most particular and still meet the requirements of a limited purse. On the basis of years of experience in selling underwear, we recommend that you try (if you've never tried before)

MUNSING WEAR

Munsing union suits are as satisfactory in the children's sizes as in the "grown ups." (And now, of course, is the time to be fitting out your children for the winter!)

We'd like to show you the new medium and winter weights.

(Underwear Dept.—Main Floor)

"The Last Day!" Sheets, Pillow Cases, Bed Spreads—

But there's still a good choice in this annual September sale event, and for tomorrow we are continuing the low prices on plain, hemmed and hemstitched pillow slips and heavy sheets, as well as on the famous Glass Block "steel warp sheets." There's a real saving in this sale for you if you happen to be in need of bed linen at this time. Unusual conditions this year have made it possible for us to go 'way, 'way down on our prices. (Plain hem sheets, 59c to $1—hemstitched, 75c to $1.05.)

(Basement—Glass Block)

The Glass Block

Don't Forget! Music by La Brosse from 8:30 to 9:30 p. m. tomorrow night in the Tea Rooms. Complimentary refreshments. Come—and bring your family with you!

REDUCTION IN LOANS TO POOR

Is One of Curious Effects of the War in Leipzig.

Women Have Larger Incomes Than in Peace Time.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Leipzig, Germany, Aug. 15.—One of the curious effects of the war has been to reduce the number of loans made by the poor of the city at the municipal pawn establishment, and to increase the number of redemptions of property already pawned.

The explanation is that most of the loans, in peace time, are made by women; that most of the women are the wives of men now in the field; and that never in peace time have these women had as large an income as they do now that most of their husband's earnings come to them to supplement what they themselves can make.

In the twelve months just preceding the war the municipal pawn shop made approximately 240,000 loans on articles ranging from silver-headed canes to babies' shoes. The exact number for the past twelve months has not as yet been compiled, but the director of the establishment is authority for the statement that the number probably will run closer to 200,000. Incidentally the money loaned will not, either, reach the figures of the year before.

Redemptions Numerous.

The usual rate of redemption, in normal, peace times, is astonishingly high as pawnshops go. With a normal of almost a quarter of a million loans a year; it is seldom that more than 20,000 articles have to be auctioned off. The number usually runs between 15,000 and 18,000. This year it will be still smaller because of the increased number of redemptions.

Leipzig's loan establishment is a huge affair, and is conducted along much the same lines as a few institutions in America that make a specialty of encouraging redemptions by advancing little, and by charging a low rate of interest. The city of Leipzig, however, incorporates a new feature by charging 12 per cent a year, and then by returning to the borrower everything above the interest charges that may be procured by auctioning off the pledge when it has not been redeemed.

Women Chief Customers.

Women are by far the most frequent customers, and rarely offer anything of great value. A prosperous loan establishment would scoff at the watches and jewelry that find their way to the municipal "pawnshop" and would refuse to accept the clothing, even bedding and household utensils, that are offered. That they are taken by the city's establishment is one of its virtues, for with them many a needy person can get temporary relief that she could not obtain elsewhere.

The haggling, arguing methods of the private loan office are noticeable by their absence in the Yorkplatz establishment. The women enter by a rear door, free from the prying eyes of gossiping neighbors, and tender their bundles to appraisers who briefly announce what will be loaned. That ends the matter. The women accept the decision without demur and silently get their money.

The pledges are for the most part homely articles of wearing apparel, and often are not without their touch of tragedy. The Sunday shoes of the whole family—father's, mother's, daughter's and the baby's—hanging together by a single string, indicate a degree of distress if not actual poverty that is appealing.

His Rest Was Broken.

O. D. Wright, Rosemont, Neb., writes: "For about six months I was bothered with shooting and continual pains in the region of my kidneys. My rest was broken nearly every night by frequent action of my kidneys. I was advised by my doctor to try Foley Kidney Pills, and one 50-cent bottle made a well man of me. I can always recommend Foley Kidney Pills, for I know they are good." This splendid remedy for backache, rheumatism, sore muscles and swollen joints contains no habit-forming drugs. Sold everywhere.

THREE CHILDREN SET AS MINIMUM

German Professor Would Have Negligent Parents Heavily Taxed.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

The Hague, Aug. 15.—Dutch book reviewers have received a surprising book entitled "Woman's Contribution to the Defense of the Realm" by Prof. Dr. A. Grotjahn, professor of hygiene in the University of Berlin, in which he sets three children as the minimum birth rate for every German family. "If this official number is not reached," he contiques, "the parents who are negligent must be heavily taxed for the benefit of those who do their duty."

The author would take no account of eugenics, asserting that "with our lack of definite knowledge about the laws of heredity we cannot say what children may or may not be sufficiently healthy to do their duty for the Fatherland."

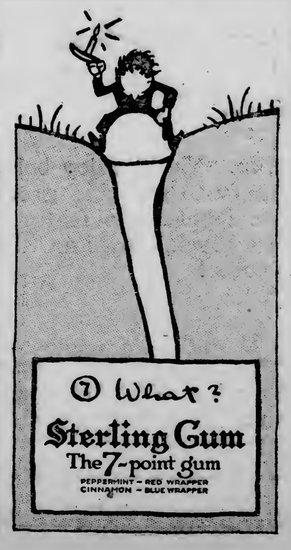

The professor contends that the role of womanhood is to be more highly appreciated as the result of the present war. Woman is to be recognized as a factor in the defense of the realm in proportion as she contributes men to build up the army and increase the glory of the state. "For only those highly cultured nations which can defend themselves will be able to acquire immortality," the author concludes.

MUCH ACTIVITY AT ENGLISH SHIPYARDS

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, Aug. 28.—Notwithstanding that most of the shipbuilding yards are engaged on admiralty work, there is still considerable activity in connection with merchant ship work. The repairing yards on the northeast coast have a number of orders in hand. One of them has just completed the work on the American steamer Gulflight, which was damaged by a submarine some time ago. Several new vessels are fitting out on the Clyde, among them being the Leyland liner Bostonian and the 15,000-ton passenger steamer Aotearoa for the New Zealand trade.

A large number of oil-carrying steamers have been ordered recently at various yards in the United Kingdom for prompt delivery.

CHINESE REBEL LEADER EXECUTED

Three Accomplices Sent to Prison for Long Terms.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Pekin, Aug. 4.—Wang Lung, a rebel leader, who formerly commanded the Sungkiang troops and was responsible for many disturbances inspired by Huang Hsing and other prominent agitators, was executed in Peking recently, while three of his accomplices were sentenced to imprisonment for long terms.

Wang Shun, a former financial commissioner of Kiangsi, has also been sentenced to death for having received bribes and for selling offices. His trial was long and hard fought. It was impossible at first to prove the charges, but it happened that during the trial policemen noticed much smoke coming from the accused man's house. They rushed it and discovered the former commissioner burning official papers. Among the papers seized by the officers were documents which are said to have established his guilt.

Death sentences are not infrequent in China for dishonesty and theft. In fact a law has been passed under President Yuan Shi-kai's direction which makes the theft of as small an object as a rickshaw punishable by death.

Such severe punishment is regarded as necessary to restrain bandits and outlaws who terrorize remote districts and to check the grafting spirit among officials.

CANADIANS AT FRONT PRAISED

French Academician Tells of Visit to the Fighting Line.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Paris, Sept. 2.—"The life of the Canadians at the front takes one back to the tales of the North American Indian, which were the delight of our youth," writes Maurice Barres, the French academician, who is on a visit to the fighting lines as the guest of the French staff.

"This week," he explains, "I saw the huts of the Canadians, built of trees sawed lengthwise, exactly like the log cabins which they build for hunting boxes or the log houses they inhabit sometimes in the prairies north of the Great Lakes.

"A survival of the old Indian romance is found in the Canadian army. Trappers blackhakk were shown me who make use of the thousand tricks of their trade against the enemy. They hunt him with the wiliness of the old scalp-hunters, toned down by English humanity.

"Following in the wake of Germans, crawling across the corn fields, the Canadians manage to creep along without causing a single leaf to move. They remain for hours on the watch, lying on their backs and studying the ground around them by means of a little mirror. Should a German, reassured of the long silence over the still fields, venture out, he is pounced upon, bound with rope in a couple of seconds. The other day, after a series of such fruitful exploits, the Canadian scouts threw over into the German trenches a number of little cards, inscribed: 'It is useless for you to send out any more patrols; you have Canadians in front of you.'

"I know, of course, that among these volunteers there are many modern Canadians, business men, professional men, workmen. All are not sons of trappers and backwoodsmen. But it is a fact that they have more initiative, more ingenuity and more enterprise than European soldiers. And to look at them, what tenacity there is in their expression!

"In a huge open-air depot, I was examining their military transport van, all marked with the maple leaf, when my eyes fell on a little tent covered with weird stripes and figures in green paint.

"'What is that,' I asked.

"'A Canadian officer's tent.'

"'But those green signs?'

"'Oh, nothing! The background has merely been arranged so that, from above, it will seem to form part of the meadows and woods.'

"But I had recognized, amid the splashes of paint, various heiroglyphs, which again took my mind back to the days of the Redskin—the cat's head, the black-hand, and finally the Swastika, the talisman which has come to us from the farthest ages."

Drive Catarrh Germs From Nose and Throat

Only Way to Really End Catarrh is to Detroy the Germs Causing It.

The germs of catarrh breed, thrive and multiply by the million far up in the air passages of the nose, throat and lungs of every catarrh victim. You cannot get rid of the disease until you get rid of the germs.

You can't kill germs with ointments or lotions or blood purifiers.

There is just one safe, sensible and invariably reliable way to reach and destroy catarrh germs and thus stop catarrh forever. Breathe into your nose, throat and lungs the medicated, germ-killing air of Hyomei which is made from the pure, healing oil of Eucalyptus combined with powerful germicidal ingredients which are certain death to every catarrh germ they reach. The air of Hyomei breathed deeply is so penetrating it reaches into every nook, corner and crevice of your nose, throat and lungs where germs can possibly hide or breed. Its an easy treatment. You'll like to breathe Hyomei. Its odor and effect is pleasant to everyone but the mischief making germs themselves. They don't like it, simply can't stand it and are completely driven from your body taking Catarrh itself with them. Hyomei is a standard preparation recognized by physicians and druggists everywhere. It is so well thought of here that Boyce Drug Store and many other leading druggists in this vicinity sell it with an absolute guarantee of successful cure or money back. No catarrh sufferer therefore assumes any risk in giving it a trial. Tear this notice out of the paper now and show it to your druggist as you ask for Hyomei. Be sure to ask him for the complete Hyomei outfit as this contains an inhaling device which is very necessary to use to get the best results.

WATCH PICTURE WIRES; DAMPNESS WEAKENS THEM.

Considerable trouble is reported to have been experienced in all parts of the country with wires with which pictures are hung, where the excessively rainy weather has prevailed this year—and that covers a large part of the country, Duluth included.

It is claimed that the dampness caused by the continued rain and the resultant moisture in the air rust the wires, and the little strands of which it is made up break one by one and the weight of the picture soon parts the remaining strands, allowing the picture to fall.

Picture dealers have found an unusual number of pictures are brought in this summer to have broken frames mended or replaced and this is their only explanation of the trouble. They advise examination of wires on valuable pictures to prevent accident and possible ruin.

CHINESE PRESIDENT IS LIBERAL GIVER

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Pekin, Aug. 4.—President Yuan Shi-ki has contributed nearly one-third of his salary for this year to charity and public works. The Chinese president receives 360,000 silver dollars a year, which is about $144,000 in gold. He recently gave $24,000 for the establishment of a model primary school and contributed $15,000 for the relief of flood and fire sufferers in the various southern provinces which have suffered disaster.

HARVEST HOME SUPPER.

Residents of Woodland and Hunter's Park Plan Exhibit.

Residents of Woodland and Hunter's Park will hold their annual harvest home supper and exhibit Saturday evening in the E. H. Cobb school building at Woodland. A poultry exhibit, made up of prize birds owned in the eastern suburbs, will be on exhibition along with garden truck.

Preparations have been made for entertaining a laige crowd, and special attention will be given to visitors. Those in charge of the entertainment are: Mrs. W. J. Case, committee of the whole; Mrs. H. H. Brown, kitchen; Mrs. E. T. Hughes, dining room; Mrs. G. A. Pierce and Mrs. A. J. Longtin, assembling committee; D. E. Giffen and A. J. Longtin, entertainment; C. E. Roe, exhibits.

BULL'S-EYE HIT WITH VENGEANCE

Thirteen Policemen Make High Scores at Weekly Shoot.

The bull's-eye on the police revolver target sustained serious injuries yesterday in the weekly shoot, for thirteen of the thirty-nine men made scores of 40 or better out of a possible 50. Records averaged higher than for any previous shoot of the season.

Sergt. John Roberg, with 47, was high gun for the day. Special Officer Christiansen of the D. & I. R. and John Wold, 413 East Fourth street, a citizen, tied Sergt. Roberg.

Lieut. Holmstrom, Sergt. Andree and Officer Danielson made 46, Officer Nystrom made 45, Officers Nyberg and Ek made 44, Officer Smollett made 43, Officers Seglem and Monahan made 41 and 40, respectively.

Lieut. E. H. Barber, average high gun for the season, took a drop in standing, making 41.

The Real Suffrage Thought of Women

Motherhood is the thought uppermost in woman's mind. And with it, of course, comes the question of comfort, of helpful aids and influences. Among the best of these is a well known external remedy, "Mother's Friend." It is gently applied to the surface muscles. These are lubricated, toned, made pliable so they stretch as nature requires without the strain and pain on cords and ligaments. This influence extends through the myriad of nerves to deeper surfaces, the internal organs. And thus a period of repose must reflect itself not only in the mind of the mother, but upon the babe to come.

Young mothers who have used "Mother's Friend" have written to say how rejoiced they were at the absence of morning sickness, extreme nervousness, and other distresses of which they had heard and feared. Get a bottle of "Mother's Friend" at any drug store. Simply apply it over the stomach muscles and rest assured of perfect safety and comfort day and night. Write to Bradfield Regulator, 403 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their handsome and instructive book.

WEST END

BRING BODY TO DULUTH

Funeral Services for Charles Bergman Will Be Held Sunday.

Mystery Still Surrounds His Death; Police Search for Car.

The body of Charles Vern Bergman, who was found dead near the highway six miles from Buffalo, Minn., Monday evening, arrived in Duluth this morning accompanied by his brother, Otto Bergman.

The funeral service will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the First Swedish Methodist church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street. Rev. C. W. R. Wermine will officiate. Interment will be in the Union cemetery at Hermantown.

Duluth police, as well as others throughout the state, have been requested by the Twin City and Grant county officials to keep a lookout for a Ford car carrying state license No. 74,828. This is the car said to have belonged to the victim of the tragedy. This car was said to have been last seen passing through Rutledge, Minn., on its way to the Head of the Lakes a few days ago.

No clews have yet been obtained regarding the man who employed Bergman to travel through the state with an advertising specialty, nor have the police been able to locate the men believed to have been with Bergman in the car when it passed through Buffalo about Aug. 20. The occupants of the car were arrested, but on promise of good behavior, were allowed to depart.

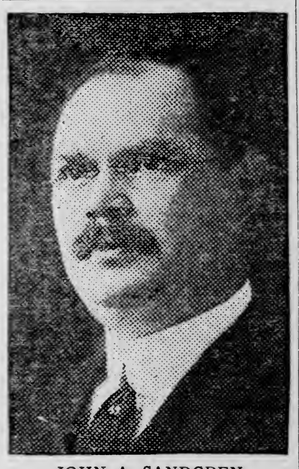

Eric Bergman, the dead man's brother, who went to Minneapolis with Otto Bergman to take charge of the body, is expected to return home this afternoon or evening. He remained in the city to take charge of his brother's effects. These were turned over to the office of the sheriff of Hennepin county. The valise, which Bergman had left in his room, contained a loaded revolver from one chamber of which a shot had been fired. The empty shell was still in the gun. The valise also contained, besides some clothing, a bank book issued by the First National Bank of Minneapolis, showing a balance of $699. On June 14 the sum of $478 had been drawn, with which it is supposed Bergman purchased his automobile.

Miss Mabel Fredin, Bergman's fiance, who resides near Cambridge, Minn., has been unable to throw any light on the affair. She said she had known Bergman for some time and that she was preparing her trousseau for the wedding that was to have taken place some time this month. She admitted Bergman had rivals, whose names she refused to divulge, but not any who lived near the district where the tragedy took place.

SVITHOID LEADER WILL SPEAK HERE

John A. Sandgren of Chicago, high secretary for the Independent Order of Svithold, and probably one of the best posted men of fraternal insurance in the United States, will be in Duluth to attend a celebration and big class initiation to be held by Fridhem lodge No. 43 at Sloan's hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street, Friday evening, Sept. 24. A class of twenty-two new members will be initiated.

A banquet will be one of the features of the evening's entertainment. The local speakers will be P. J. Borgstrom and Andrew Nelson. The program will also include a number of selections by the Svithold Male chorus, which recently was organized. The chorus is being directed by Hjalmar Enlund.

Mr. Sandgren will be the guest of local officers of the lodge next Friday. During the day he will be entertained by an automobile ride about the boulevard and to points of interest in the city. He will be at Two Harbors on Thursday and will leave here for Eveleth, where he will speak to members of the order on Saturday evening.

The Svithold lodge has about 200 members in Duluth. Its officers are: Gust Hjerpe, president; Valford Olson, vice president; Carl G. Carlson, secretary; William Anderson, financial secretary, and Algot Olson, treasurer. The committee in charge of the entertainment next Friday consists of Victor Thor, Gunnar Granlund and Oscar Carlson.

SUCCESSFUL HARVEST DANCE BY GROCERS

The dance given last evening at Lincoln Park pavilion by the Duluth Retail Grocers' association was one of the most successful that that organization has ever attempted, members of the committee in charge declare. It was known as a "harvest dance," and, as though shining for its special benefit, the harvest moon brightly illuminated the surroundings, helping out wonderfully the lighting decorations that the committee had provided for the affair.

The interior and exterior decorations were very pretty and tasteful and a delightful evening was spent by the 600 people who took part. The grounds surrounding were well filled with the hundreds of people who looked on.

STORY ADDED TO BUILDING

Structure Occupied By Anderson Furniture Company Improved.

An additional story, equipping the building with electric freight and passenger elevators, and adding another suite of rooms to the second floor, is being placed on the Anderson Furniture company building, Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street. The improvement will cost Jacobson Brothers, contractors, owners of the building, $10,000.

The improvement is being made exclusively for the Anderson Furniture company, which has a lease on the entire building and which will use the entire third floor for extension of its business. The furniture company is now using all of the first floor, 50 by 140 feet with the exception of 25 by 70 feet occupied by the Lion Drug store, and the full basement. The first story has a mezzanine floor, which the company uses for additional display room for its goods.

With the new additional floor, the first passenger and freight elevator for a building in the West end will be installed here. The elevator will run through the janitor's room on the second floor and in that manner not disturb the present arrangement of offices. An additional suite of offices will be added to the second floor, there having been left plenty of room for this addition when the building was first erected.

The furniture company leased the building four years ago on a fifteen-year contract. Through an agreement recently reached between members of the firm and Jacobson Brothers, the latter agreed on the improvements and when these are completed the building will be sold to the furniture firm on a contract deed. The company will pay $70,500 for the property.

The site is one of the most valuable and considered the best situated of any in this end of the city. The building occupied the entire lot, fifty feet wide, between Superior and Michigan streets. The building is one of the handsomest in the western end of the city. The entire second floor is fully occupied by offices. With the increasing demand for more offices in this end of the city, the leasing of these offices has proved an easy matter.

Will Complete Paving.

The laying of brick, comprising the last stretch in the paving of Twentieth avenue west, started yesterday. The paving is being laid between Superior and First streets at a cost of about $4,000. The contractor expects to have the paving completed before tomorrow night. The street will probably be opened for traffic ten days later.

West End Briefs.

The members of the Zion Norwegian Lutheran church, Twenty-fifth avenue and Third street, will hold its annual fall festival in the church this evening. A musical program will be given.

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Hanson, 2309 West Third street, returned yesterday from a visit to the Twin Cities.

George C. Morgan of Minneapolis, who has been visiting in this end of the city, left for his home last evening.

The meeting of the West End Commercial club was postponed last evening owing to a lack of a quorum. The next business meeting has been called for Oct. 7.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Anderson of St. Paul are spending a few days visiting relatives in this end of the city.

DULUTH FOR YOUNG MEN

Homer Miller of Des Moines, Iowa, president of the Iowa National bank, and a director in the Chicago & Northwestern railway, and the Northwestern Life Insurance companies, is paying Duluth a visit. He is much pleased with the city.

"This is the place for the young men of the country to establish themselves," said Mr. Miller. "The possibilities in Duluth are unlimited. Its importance in the steel industry is just beginning to blossom and as a shipping center it is one of the largest in the world."

COURT ASKED TO CLEAR THE RECORD

Accident Insurance Company Makes Request in McAlpine Case.

Asking District Judge W. A. Cant to declare specifically that his order granting a new trial to Sarah McAlpine was based solely on errors occurring at the original trial, the Fidelity & Casualty company of New York yesterday filed notice of a motion for an appeal to the supreme court in the event that Judge Cant refused to concede their demands.

Last fall Sarah McAlpine sued the defendant company $87,000, due on accident insurance from the defendants, who had refused payment for the reason that the cause of the death of the policy holder, John McAlpine, who was found dead in the basement of his home with a bullet wound in his head, had not been made clear to the insurance company. If McAlpine committed suicide, his relatives could not collect, but if he was murdered or accidentally killed, then the company would have to pay.

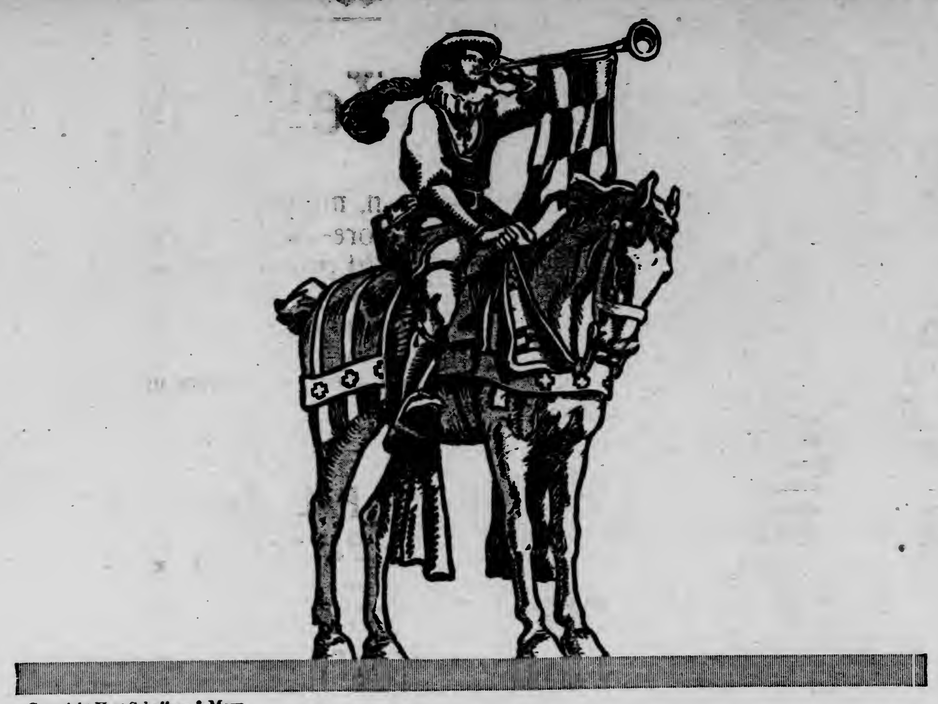

At the trial of the action last fall, Sarah McAlpine was defeated and asked for a new trial. This was granted by Judge Cant last Aug. 23. The defendant corporation now asks that Judge Cant base his order for a new trial wholly on errors made in the first trial and that he amend his memorandum to show that it was requested by the Fidelity & Casualty company that the court, at the time of the trial, was asked to submit special interrogatories to the jury which would aid them in determining whether McAlpine was murdered or committed suicide and, if he was murdered, if the plaintiff had anything to do with it.

The defendants are anxious to have their wishes granted so the appealability of their case to the supreme court, in the event they care to take the case up, will be free from all hazard.

Hinckley Woman Buried.

Hinckley, Minn., Sept. 17.—Mrs. Swan Anderson died Sunday at her home southwest of town after an illness of about six weeks. She was 59 years, 5 months and 14 days old, and born in Sweden. The funeral was held from the Swedish church Tuesday, Rev. Peterson officiating, and the remains laid to rest in Memorial cemetery.

Boils and Pimples Dangerous S. S. S. Your Remedy

Standard For Fifty Years

Modern science has proven that boils and carbuncles, pimples and unsightly skin blotches, are the danger signals of diseased blood. Scaly skin and itching of eczema, scrofula, rashes—all skin diseases are aggravated by bad blood—it's the infected blood that's dangerous. Don't wait for the boils. If you have pimples and blotches, take instant action. Pimples tell you that your blood is filled with impurities. You must wash out your blood, strengthen and stimulate it to healthy action with Nature's own blood tonic, S. S. S. It is the standard blood purifier of the world. Don't use any drugs, don't use ointments and salves. S. S. S. reaches the blood, drives out the impurities. It makes healthy perspiration—the poison is literally sweated out through the skin. Boils, blotches, eczema and the scrofula indications disappear. It does what salves and lotions can never do—it goes to the very root of the trouble by reaching the blood. Your skin becomes clear and you soon feel the vigor of the return of perfect health. S. S. S. is purely vegetable. You can get it at any druggist's, but you must take S. S. S. Let us tell you about blood diseases. Write for book of facts, "What the Mirror Tells." If yours is a long standing case, write for expert advice to S. S. S. Co., Atlanta, Ga.

WILL FIGHT ORDINANCE

Drivers Declare New Jitney Measure to Be Unfair.

Will Take Their Attorney's Advice and Submit to Arrest.

Members of the Duluth Jitney association will oppose the new Silberstein jitney ordinance, which will go into effect on Saturday, Oct. 16.

At a special meeting held at the jitney headquarters this morning, the members declared that the amendments to the new ordinance are unfair, and that they will ignore the measure after it becomes effective. They declare they will follow the advice of their attorney, A. E. McManus, and submit to arrest after Oct. 16, on the grounds that the referendum petition against the first ordinance has never been legally withdrawn.

Most of the drivers, who plan to operate this winter, will take out insurance from the National Indemnity company, which has been licensed to operate in this state, O. E. Thompson, treasurer of the jitney association, announced this morning. John L. Trout, attorney for the exchange, arrived here this morning from Kansas City, and he addressed the members at their meeting. The policies of the company covering $10,000 accident insurance and $1,000 property damage protection bear a $65 premium, while a charge of but $50 is made if the property damage clause is excluded, Mr. Trout explained. Local insurance companies charge $125 for a $5,000 policy.

"We all want insurance in order to protect ourselves," Mr. Thompson said after the meeting. "We wanted this insurance from the time we started, but the local charges have been too excessive and we were anxious to wait for the indemnity exchange to get a state license. I imagine every driver, who has not yet obtained insurance, will get a policy from the Kansas City company.

"We will fight the jitney ordinance, because its provisions are too drastic and unfair. Several amendments have been added to the original measure without our knowledge and as a result we will ignore it altogether."

There are about fifty members in the jitney association, Mr. Thompson said.

SNAPPY NEW GRAND SHOW.

Varied Vaudeville and Picture Program Given.

There was a good variety of lively turns in the vaudeville show at the New Grand, which began a week-end engagement at that popular playhouse yesterday. The picture program also had a number of good things, which went big with the large audience.

It is difficult to pick out the headliner on the vaudeville bill. Leffingwell and Gale in a funny skit called "The Sleepwalker," are sure laughgetters. In the skit a woman staying at a hotel, is troubled with sleep-walking. One morning at 3 o'clock she enters a man's room, picks up the loose jewelry, locks the door leading to the corridor, and makes herself at home generally. The man occupying the room wakes up, discovers his visitor, who suddenly wakes up, unable to account for her presence there. The unusual events that take place during the next few minutes when she attempts to return to her room and finds the door locked are extremely humorous.

Mac O'Neil, the boy in kilts, sings Scotch and Irish songs and pulls a number of good stories, all of which go well.

The Four Harmony Kings play a number of wind instruments to excellent advantage. Ralphi and company execute some skillful balancing stunts. "The Offending Kiss," a Vitagraph Broadway star feature, headlines the photoplay bill. Charlie Chaplin in a one-reel comedy photoplay and the Hearst-Selig News events of the world, round out the bill.

Theater Gossip.

"Kilkenny," is the title of Fiske O'Hara's new play in which he will be presented under the management of Augustus Pitou, Jr., at Lyceum theater next Sunday and Monday.

FISKE O'HARA COMING TO LYCEUM.

It is by Augustus Pitou, Sr., who has produced many Irish plays in America, and it has been said that in all of them there was not a line of dialogue or of action that has offered offense to the patrons of the Irish drama. The son who has taken his father's place the last three seasons since Fiske O'Hara came under his management, has maintained the same policy of producing only the highest type of the refined wholesome Irish drama. In "Kilkenny" Fiske O'Hara will sing several new songs that have been especially written for the new play, including "Girl of My Heart," "Contrary Mary Clary," "Ireland Is Ireland to Me," "Dear Mother Mine," and "That's What an Irishman Means." A cast of unusual excellence supports Mr. O'Hara, comprising Mabel Julline Scott, Marie Quinn, Mary Downs, Anna Nichols, Lisle Bloodgood, Eliza Mason, W. T. Morgan, J. P. Sullivan, James Edwards, Henry Duffy, J. E. Miller and W. T. Sheehan.

Just as the California expositions were built in celebration of Uncle Sam's supreme maritime achievement—the completion of the Panama canal, so has Lyman H. Howe in his own inimitable manner commemorated the same event by filming the canal in operation. This constitutes one of the big features of his Travel Festival which is now at the Lyceum theater, and also covers the expositions both at San Francisco and San Diego. From this it may be safely inferred that joyous surprises await "Howe travelers" who have not yet seen these films. Mr. Howe's present-day films, showing the operation of the Panama canal, are entirely different from those presented by him two years ago, which showed the waterway only in process of construction. At that time Mr. Howe received so many requests to show later on the canal in completion, that this feature is now presented in response to that demand.

"HOWE TRAVELERS" SURPRISED AT LYCEUM.

Howe's filmization of the San Diego celebration faithfully reproduces the "atmosphere"—the motive of an exposition, which in outward aspect is that of Old Spain reflecting the architecture of centuries past. In the film reproduction of the greater exposition at San Francisco, spectators are made to feel that they are indeed in a world—a fairyland world far removed from the stress of daily cares—a world resplendent in its grandeur and gaiety, that was created only at a fabulous outlay. As an exposition of Twentieth century progress, or of the ingenius of the brain and hands of mangenius of the brain and hands of mankind, it is said to be comparable to nothing that has ever preceded it.

The performance of Hazel Dawn in the "Heart of Jennifer," a Famous Player Paramount production, is just what one would expect from this clever little actress. There is one phase of Miss Dawn's work, however, that stands out. It is the interpretation of a woman of breeding, who understands men and also how to handle them. The same dignity characterizes the work of Miss Dawn in the sterner moments of real tragedy. If there be restraint in the situations of seriousness, there is a fine wholesomeness and spontaneity in the lighter moods.

HAZEL DAWN AT THE REX.

James Kirkwood directs the production and also plays the role of Murry, the lumberman, who marries Jennifer only to be misled by Weldon, a disappointed rival, following the ceremony. Mr. Kirkwood is strong as the brusque small community business man, unversed in the ways of the ultracitified. Irene Howley, in the role of Agnes, the sister of Murry, displays real skill in the treatment of situations of power. Jennifer's tragedy is of the soul; Agnes' is that and of blood as well.

Many are taking advantage of the Paramount-South American travel pictures shown at the Rex each Friday and Saturday. Hundreds have not missed a trip since the party left New York six months ago.

The latest offering of the Metro program is a romance entitled "Her Great Match," from the pen of that master story builder, Clyde Fitch, whose plays dealing with the age-old but ever-new elements contained in love and femininity created their own vogue, when originally presented. Gail Kane, who played in the stellar roles of "Seven Keys to Baldpate," "The Miracle Man" and other notable stage successes, is seen in the leading part in "Her Great Match," wherein she repeats the distinctive artistic efforts, which won for her notable laurels on the speaking stage.

FITCH PLAY AT THE ZELDA.

"Her Great Match" is a five-act romantic drama from the photoplay studio of Popular Plays and Players and will be seen at the Zelda today and Saturday.

One of the recent releases of the Metro Pictures corporation is "Destiny," or "The Soul of a Woman," in which the emotional actress, Emily Stevens, plays the leading role. She is supported by an excellent cast, headed by George LeGuere, and will be seen at the Zelda soon.

To see the truck loads draw up to the rear door of the Orpheum-Strand, one would infer that "Ben Hur" or some similar exhibition of such a nature impended at the Second avenue playhouse rather than a regime of cinema, which will be instituted next Monday evening. Huge and strange looking crates and boxes have been going into the stage entrance of the theater for several days.

SURPRISE AWAITS ORPHEUM-STRAND PATRONS.

Manager D. J. Robson admits that the paraphernalia is connected with the elaborate stage setting. Further than this Mr. Robson refused to comment, stating that it is the intention of the Strand company to provide an agreeable surprise on next Monday evening.

RELIGION IN ITALIAN ARMY

Divides Its Spare Time Between Singing and Praying.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Rome, Aug. 30.—The great extent to which warfare proves an incentive to religious devotion has been noted in correspondence from other belligerent countries, and Italy furnishes considerable more testimony to the same effect. Indeed, with but little exaggeration it may be said that the Italian army divides its spare moments between singing and praying. It is believed in Italy that King Victor's troops are the gayest and most lighthearted in all the war, for they always go into battle singing. Their first thought on returning from a struggle, however, is a mass for the repose of the souls of comrades whom they had had to leave behind on the field. The most popular song in the camps after the devout services are over is "Addio Mia Bella" (Good-bye My Love.)

The religious enthusiasm in the army is also reflected in the fact that so many of the Roman Catholic clergy have rallied around the flag. The military authorities have expressed themselves as greatly pleased over this, for some of them had entertained doubt that the clergymen were stanch patriots, but they have proved that they are ready to give their lives as willingly for their country as any other class of citizens.

BRAINERD MAN ON EVE OF OPERATION

E. A. Spohn Finds Relief With First Dose of Remarkable Remedy for Stomach.

E. A. Spohn of Brainerd, Minn., R. F. D. No. 2, was so dangerously ill that his physician declared he could not live unless he was operated upon.

He feared an operation and in seeking a way out he tried Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. It succeeded.

After he had gained back his strength he wrote:

"I thought I would let you know how I was benefited by Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. I took it some time ago. It did all that you claimed it would do. I was so bad that the doctors told me I could not live without an operation, but I did not have one and I don't think I shall ever need one now. I have felt no signs of gall stones since I took your treatment."

Mayr's wonderful remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and whatever you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Get one bottle of your druggist now and try it on an absolute guarantee—if not satisfactory money will be returned.

MONGOOSE HAS WORKED HAVOC

Attempt to Wipe Out Pest in the West Indies.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Kingston, Jamaica, Sept. 5.—The introduction of the mongoose into the West Indies some forty years ago has upset the order of nature there much as it has in the Hawaiian islands. Just as in Hawaii, these ferret-like animals from India not only destroyed snakes and rats in the sugar cane fields, the object for which they were imported, but proceeded to clean out the wild birds of the island as well as poultry yards, pigs, kids, lambs, new-born calves, puppies and kittens. In the West Indies they have also consumed the lizards with the result that insects have increased to an alarming extent.

It was less than twenty years after four male and five female mongoose were turned loose in Jamaica that the government had to appoint a commission to investigate. This body drew up a severe indictment against the animal, adding to his diet not only all birds nesting on or near the ground and the young of the farm yard, but turtles, landcrabs, bananas, pineapples, sweet potatoes, cacao and even fish, which he catches with his paws. Worst of all was the charge that while protecting the sugar cane from its enemy, the rat, he even bit and drank the juice of young canes.

In late years outcries against the mongoose have come from other islands. In Trinidad the government offered a reward for the body or tail of each mongoose, but instead of reducing the pest it only set some of the natives to mongoose breeding for the reward.

Prizes have been offered here by an agricultural society for an effective but cheap mongoose trap.

Prince at Brainerd.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 17.—Mayor W. I. Prince of Duluth, was a guest of George D. La Bar, vice president of the Brainerd school board, and municipal problems were discussed in an informal way.

The commission form of government of Duluth is of interest in Brainerd, where the charter commission, of which Mr. La Bar is a member, submitted a draft to the voters. It failed to carry.

BARROWS NEW SCHOOL IS TO BE DEDICATED

Barrows, Minn., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new Wilson school will be dedicated this evening. County Attorney S. F. Alderman of Brainerd and Mrs. George D. La Bar of Brainerd will sing, Rev. G. P. Sheridan, pastor of the First Congregational church of Brainerd and former president of the chamber of commerce, will deliver an address, and Carl Swayne of the state department of education of St. Paul will speak on "Community Interests."

Milwaukee Man Dies Suddenly.

Chicago, Sept. 17.—Edward B. Nash, 65 years old, of Milwaukee, Wis., died suddenly apparently of heart disease at a downtown hotel today.

MRS. LYON'S ACHES AND PAINS

Hav All Gone Since Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Terre Hi , Pa.—"Kindly permit me to give you my testimonial in favor of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. When I first began taking it I was suffering from fem e troubles for some time and had almost all kinds of aches—pains in lower part of back and in sides, and pressing down pains. I could not sleep and had no appetite. Since I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the aches and pains are all gone and I feel like a new woman. I cannot praise your medicine too highly."—Mrs. AUGUSTUS LYON, Terre Hill, Pa.

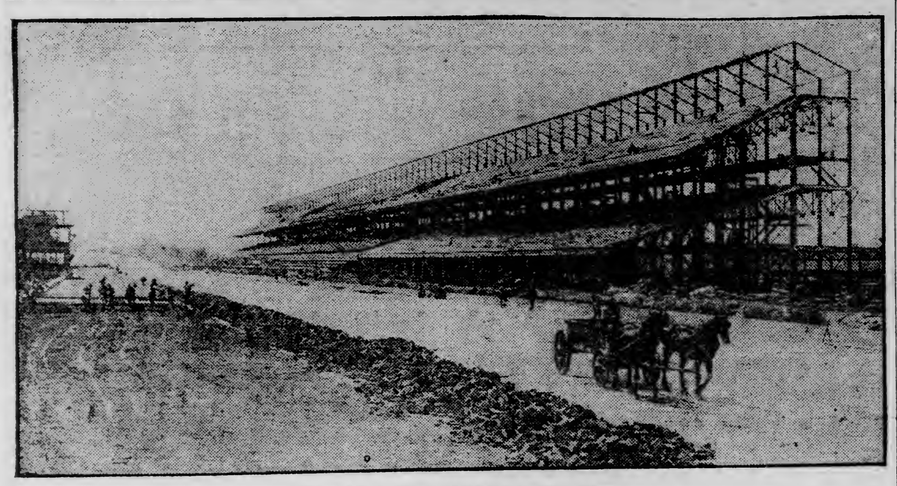

It is true that nature and a woman's work has produced the grandest remedy for woman's ills that the world has ever known. From the roots and herbs of the field, Lydia E. Pinkham, forty years ago, gave to womankind a remedy for their peculiar ills which has proved more efficacious than any other combination of drugs ever compounded, and today Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is recognized from coast to coast as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing hundreds of thousands of letters from women seeking health—many of them openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; and in some cases that it has saved them from surgical operations.

MOTOR SPEEDWAY AT SHEEPSHEAD BAY WILL BE READY FOR VINCENT ASTOR CUP RACE

GRANDSTAND SEATS 75,000 PEOPLE.

MOTOR SPEEDWAY.

The motor speedway at Sheepshead Bay is nearing completion and practice will soon begin for the big race for the Vincent Astor cup, Oct. 2. The race will be 350 miles. A cash purse of $50,000 will accompany the cup. The speedway is a two-mile board oval built of Georgie pine cut to 2 by 4-inch measure and laid on edge. There are two straightaways and two banked curves of half mile each. At curves the outside edge is 25 feet high. The track is 70 feet wide and will accommodate 35 cars. The stands will hold 75,000 and parking space will accommodate 20,000 cars. Three million feet of lumber, 1,570 tons of steel and 12,000 cubic yards of concrete are used in construction and the project has cost $3,500,000.

TO VOTE ON AMENDMENTS

Special Election May Be Held in December or January.

Preferential Ballot Change and Sewer Assessments to Be Submitted.

Two amendments to the city charter probably will be submitted to Duluth voters at a special election some time this coming winter.

City Attorney Greene announced this morning that he will make a formal request of the city council and the charter commission to have two amendments prepared, one changing the preferential voting system so that it will conform with the statutes of Minnesota, and the other permitting the city to assess property owners for storm sewers.

"I would like to have the amendment relating to storm sewers submitted this coming winter," Mr. Greene said, "so that city officials will know how to plan the sewer improvements for next year. There is no hurry about the other amendment, as there is no regular election scheduled until April, 1917. However, it would be a good plan to have both amendments submitted to the voters at the same time, thus saving the city the expenses of an additional election."

Must Meet Court Ruling.

Several weeks ago the state supreme court ruled the preferential ballot unconstitutional and before Duluth voters can choose new officials this voting system must be changed to conform with the Minnesota election laws. Whether the charter commission will recommend the old voting plan or not, is not known at this time. T. T. Hudson, chairman of the charter commission, said this morning that a meeting of the body will be called whenever requested.

During the last summer the public works division installed a storm sewer in Exeter street and shortly after the improvement was completed the cost was assessed against the property benefited. The city attorney ruled that the charter permits assessments for all street improvements and the council decided to make property owners pay for storm sewers in the future, although this expense has been borne by the city for several years.

Would Make Charter Clear.

Exeter street property owners immediately protested against the assessment and they hired Harvey Clapp, former city attorney, to represent them. Mr. Clapp appeared before the commissioners two weeks ago and contended that the people at large should decide whether they want to be assessed for storm sewers, as this provision is not very clear in the charter. He claimed that it is unfair to make the Exeter street owners bear the burden of a protest and subsequent court proceedings, when the matter is vital to the entire city.

City Attorney Greene is also of the opinion that a fair way of settling the matter is by submitting it to the voters and he will recommend that the charter commission prepare an amendment to be voted on at a special election.

In case the city council decides to submit the two amendments to the voters, it is probable that the election will be held in December or January.

FROM FARM TO TABLE

Postmaster McEwen Will Push Business By Parcel Post.

"From the farmer to the table" transmission of produce via the parcel post is becoming a more vital problem with Uncle Sam every day, and Duluth may soon become one of the leading centers in the country for the promotion of this business and the reduction of Old H. C. of L. Postmaster William E. McEwen is now taking up the matter with the postoffice authorities at Washington and hopes to have Duluth made one of the publicity centers for the department in boosting the "market basket" plan.

Uncle Sam is now using columns of display advertising in various large dailies of the country showing forth the advantages of marketing by parcel post. In fact, Uncle Sam is taking the proposition very much the same as a merchant or shipping concern would.

Should Reduce Prices.

"If the parcel post was used as much as it should be the cost of living could be greatly reduced and consumers might get produce that was fresher and better than they do now," said Mr. McEwen. "I am now putting the matter up to the department at Washington with the idea of going after some of this business for the government.

"Prices have gone up despite the fact that methods of farming and marketing have been brought up to date.

"Butter and eggs and a few other commodities are now being handled that way, but the system has not been given publicity enough to make it well known, although it is very popular wherever it is used. Many persons in Duluth are now getting butter and eggs by parcel post.

Center of Rich Country.

"The Duluth postoffice is situated in the center of a great agricultural district comprised in the first and second zones of the parcel post. These zones include territory as far south as Red Wing, all of Northern Wisconsin and extend as far north as the Canadian line. Some of the finest farms, dairies and gardens in the world are situated in these parcel post zones. Produce from either of these zones may be marketed to advantage by parcel post in Duluth."

THIEF RIVER FALLS TO VOTE ON BONDS

Thief River Falls, Minn., Sept. 17.—Local voters will have a chance Thursday, Sept. 30, to vote on the proposition to purchase the Kretzchmar dam and water power, and also of the proposition to issue bonds in the sum of $38,000 for that purpose. There does not seem to be much likelihood that the proposition will be defeated, as it is the general opinion that the investment would be a profitable one.

The special committee appointed by the Commercial club for the purpose of investigating the matter of purchasing the dam and water power, held a meeting at the club rooms Wednesday evening and voted unanimously to favor the idea.

Now Comes the Autumn Openings Of All Duluth Stores

The Show Windows Are to be Unveiled at 2:00 o'Clock Tomorrow Afternoon!

They will be well worth coming miles to see—no city in the state will show finer things than may be had right here in Duluth. Even richer than ever are our own style assortments of HATS, GOWNS, COATS, SUITS, FURS, CORSETS, BLOUSES, GLOVES, NECKWEAR, SILKS, LACES, RIBBONS, SUITINGS, COATINGS, PETTICOATS, LINGERIES AND JEWELRY. You may see the most advanced style ideas at Gray's—but not only that, you will see here the more refined adaptations which strongly appeal to your good taste.

You Like Good Clothes and Your Friends Like to See You Wear Them

This is the season of seasons to buy new clothes. Styles are the best in years—there have been decided changes and there will be the greatest possible satisfaction in getting your new clothes right now—then you can have the good of them at once.

There are so many gorgeous Autumn days in Duluth when one wants to go a pleasuring, and here are the styles that are charmingly correct; they're the very last words of fashion for the coming season.

There's nothing to gain by waiting so why not enjoy the pleasure of the early wear?

Coats Are Gracefully Long and Rippling

And they have chin chin collars, military collars or large luxurious affairs which will defy the winter winds.

Materials are just what you would want if you could pick from the piece and have them made to your order. And prices are reasonable—extremely so. Very smart coats are $18.00 to $30.00—while the whole price range is from $12.00, $15.00 to $60.00.

Suits Are Gloriouly Practical and Sensible Too

Skirts are a bit shorter but so wide and undulating as to be fetchingly graceful. Suit jackets may be boxy little affairs, trim military models or Russian Blouses in long, loose, yet graceful models. Some of the garments are fur trimmed, others are smart with military braid and buttons. So many women want to pay about $25 to $35 for suits that we've specialized, and offer the utmost in style and value we've ever given at those prices.

Your New Fall Hat Is Ready to Send Home Tomorrow

This week has been a busy one for our milliners—so many of you just simply could not wait for the "Opening" days—you saw what you liked and were delighted to have it.

Well, our milliners are truly artists in their work. They can select hats best suited to your face and figure—whether it be a picture hat, a trim turban, or a quaint poke—it will be extremely becoming.

Come in and try on; see which you like best. You will win many compliments for your good taste if your hat comes from Gray's.

Don't Ask for a Corset Like Your Last One

Let our corset people select the proper model for you.

The new Warner models for fall are designed to create the new and fashionable figure for which the new suits and gowns are intended. In fact, your old corset simply will not do if you have been wearing one of those straight, almost waistless, hipless models which have been so popular during past seasons. Instead the corset must accent the natural rounding curves of woman's waist and bust—and we especially recommend the new Warner models at $1.50, $2.00 and $3.00 as being exceptionally effective in producing the desired result without the slightest discomfort.

Corsets for the Miss

There are special models for young girls at $1 and $1.50.

The "Gipsy"

Is a NEW Queen Quality Shoe

A dainty foot will look all the daintier in one of these new Gipsy models.

Made of choice dull kid—in ONE piece—they're the most cleverly fashioned shoe you have ever seen.

Think of it—

Only One Seam in a Shoe

Some shoes have five seams—few have less than three—yet these have only one.

They're beautifully plain—there's unmistakably character in them—they're "different"—yet extremely refined.

Other style points include
Fifth Avenue Toe
Two-inch Vienna Heel
Flat Gaiter Buttons

But these are only style features—the whole shoe is "style" to the last degree.

This shoe will not fit all feet—but those who can wear them will find comfort as well as good looks in these Gipsy Shoes.

They'll not be common—cheap shoes can't be made in Gipsy style—it takes

Queen Quality

SHOES

skill and Queen Quality stock to make Gipsy style.

ATHENA KNIT UNDERWEAR

Here are the features that give Athena its comfort, its daintiness and its tailored fit.

Sloping Shoulders and Sleeves
Conform to the shoulders without wrinkling under arms.

Perfected Shoulder-Stay
Keeps garment from stretching across the shoulder, and holds sleeve in place.

Curved Armhole
Brings arm seams to the natural curve of the shoulder and holds garment snugly and smoothly up under arm, doing away with unnecessary cloth

Three-Cornered Gusset
Is so shaped as to relieve the usual strain at the thigh. Insures greater comfort and longer wear.

Low-Neck Sleeveless Suit
Just as a woman is fuller across the bust than the back, so this garment is made with extra fullness in front

Patent Seat
This consists of a plait on each side of the back, instead of extra cloth in the middle where it causes discomfort. Always stays closed and allows sufficient room, sitting or standing.

STYLE SHOW WILL OPEN SATURDAY

Elaborate Decorating Is Going on for Big Fall Event.

Tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, the Duluth style show will open. At that hour, a signal will be given the various stores of the city, by the telephone centrals and on that signal, the curtains concealing the window displays now being prepared for the style show, will be brushed aside, revealing the latest of the season's modes.

Those who are in the know declare that the window trimmers of the various stores have done wonders and that the Duluth shoppers will be rewarded tomorrow by a succession of displays which will be bewildering.

The stores—or most of them—will remain open tomorrow evening, but on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings they will be closed, the display of goods, other than that in the windows, being confined to the day. The interior decorations of all the stores are being elaborated to a great degree for the show.

LESS TALK ABOUT AMERICAN "HONOR"

Nine out of every ten persons in the East are peace advocates, according to H. B. Rosenberg of Minneapolis, traveling representative for a large overall factory in Cincinnati, who arrived on his regular fall visit yesterday. He is registered at the Holland.

"People in the East are tired of the war," he said, "and they are supporting President Wilson in any move that will keep this country out of it. Thousands of jingoists have changed their cries of 'American honor' to those of 'universal peace.' It is especially surprising, after one realizes the sentiment about six months ago."

Mr. Rosenberg is also of the opinion that America's relations with the foreign powers will be the principal questions involved in the presidential campaign next year. These subjects, he said, will overshadow questions of a domestic nature.

"If our foreign relations are the sole issue in the campaign," Mr. Rosenberg continued, "then President Wilson will have a walk-away in his run for a second term. That seems to be the general opinion everywhere."

THANKS FROM WINNIPEG.

Mayor of Canadian City Expresses Gratitude for Duluth's Gifts.

In a telegram received by Mayor Prince this morning, Duluthians are thanked for their donations to the Canadian soldiers at the front.

The message, sent by Mayor R. D. Waugh of Winnipeg, thanks the people of Duluth for their assistance.

The telegram follows:

"Have read reports of Duluth's gift of socks to the Canadian soldiers at the front. Allow me to congratulate your people in such a worthy cause. Winnipeg people are enthusiastic for Duluth and assure your city of our most hearty thanks."

Tonight at the Bible Chautauqua tent on West Second street, near the Y. M. C. A., Pastor Stemple White will speak on "Is God Particular?" He promises to answer the question with many striking Bible illustrations. Next week will close a thirteen-week series of summer gospel tent meetings.

New Clerk Appointed.
City Assessor Scott this morning announced the appointment of Miss Edith Anderson as a temporary clerk in his department. She will receive a salary of $65 a month.

Another Tag Day.
A week from tomorrow members of the Duluth branch of the American Jewish Relief committee will conduct a tag day for the benefit of Hebrew war sufferers in Europe. Committees have been appointed by the local branch to conduct a city-wide campaign for the sale of tags and also for subscriptions to the war-relief fund.

Manager Reed Returning.
D. A. Reed, manager of the water and light department, will return Monday from New York, where he attended the annual convention of the New England Water Works association early this week. At the convention Mr. Reed outlined the proposed change in water rates for this city.

Will Begin Entertainments.
Imperial camp No. 2206, Modern Woodmen of America, will hold the first of its fall and winter entertainments Sept. 28 at Foresters' hall, Fourth avenue west and First street. The program will consist of dancing, music, addresses and special stunts. The committee in charge of these entertainments consists of William Tunell, B. A. Erickson and Wayne Richardson.

Health Officer Returning.
Dr. E. W. Fahey, director of public health, is expected home tomorrow from Rochester, N. Y., where he attended the annual convention of the American Public Health association last week. He is making an inspection of several incinerator and reducing plants in Detroit, Cleveland and Chicago on his return trip.

Bishop Returns.
Bishop James D. Morrison returned yesterday from his summer vacation in the Adirondacks, and will conduct the Sunday morning services at Trinity cathedral.

Auto Strikes Boy; Uninjured.
A Duluth newsboy was struck by an automobile in front of the Board of Trade about 6 o'clock last evening. The boy was taken to St. Mary's hospital, but his injuries were found to be so slight that he was not detained there. Neither the name of the boy nor the name of the car owner could be learned.

Guests From Washington.
Mr. and Mrs. Leifur Magnuson and son of Washington, D. C., are guests at the home of Mr. Magnuson's father, S. Magnuson, 33 Wabasha street, Woodland. Mr. Magnuson is assistant librarian for the department of labor at Washington. He is a former graduate of the Duluth Central high school and the Minnesota university. Mr. and Mrs. Magnuson expect to spend two weeks in the city.

DULUTHIANS AT LAKE COUNTY FAIR

Many Motor to Two Harbors—"Boosters" at Pine City.

Many Duluthians left this morning by auto for Two Harbors and are spending the day at the Lake county fair. They will be back this evening. A regularly organized "boosters'" excursion such as is out on the road now, could not be organized for the Lake county fair, owing to the absence on the present trip of the chief boosters, but the representation at Two Harbors today was better than at most of the county fairs that have been visited.

Col. H. V. Eva, secretary of the Duluth Commercial club, visited the Lake county fair yesterday for the reason that business prevented him attending with the other Duluthians today, and he says that he was well repaid for his visit.

"The Lake county people," said Col. Eva, "have certainly done themselves proud. The exhibits are the best and most numerous the Lake county fair has ever had, and indicate astonishing developments agriculturally and industrially."

The boosters, on tour of the county fairs this week, spent this morning at Pine City, attending the Pine county fair, and this afternoon are on their way to Rush City, where they will attend the Chisago county fair tonight. Tomorrow morning they will go from Rush City to Princeton to attend the Mille Lacs county fair, and will reach home tomorrow evening at 6:55, after what has been reported to be a most successful week.

Next week they will start out again, leaving on Tuesday morning. During the week they will visit the Kanabec, Isanti, Wadena and Morrison county fairs.

"IN A WAY."

New York Evening Post: Mrs. Jones frequently amused her neighbors and friends by implying that she was acquainted with some of the most exclusive people, although her own social position was ordinary. One day she chanced to mention a certain most exclusive lady quite as if she had a calling acquaintance with her.

"Do you know Mrs. G——?" asked the neighbor.

"Well, not to say personally, but, in a way, I feel acquainted with her—in a way. You see, we both get our milk off the same man."

BUTTER WILL SELL LOWER

Production of Dairy Products Shows Increase of 20 Per Cent.

Egg Market Firmer; Fruits Plentiful; Meat Prices Decline.

Butter will sell at comparatively low figures for some time yet, in the opinion of Duluth dealers. This information will be appreciated by consumers.

There is considered by the trade to be every promise for a low market in dairy products during the remainder of the fall season. It is pointed out that production in this district, and in fact all through the principal dairying portions of the country, is keeping up remarkably well for the season, an average increase in output of 20 per cent over last year being estimated. Furthermore, butter stocks in the associated warehouses on Sept. 1 were 82,000,000 pounds, an increase of 19,000,000 over the corresponding period a year ago.

It was emphasized by H. Bridgeman of the Bridgeman-Russell company today that consumers are benefiting through present conditions in the trade in being able to buy butter at approximately 5 cents a pound lower than at this time last fall. The local market in the product is unchanged today, with the best dairy butter quoted at 26@28 cents a pound, according to the package.

Fresh Eggs Getting Scarce.

The market in eggs is firmer, but their quotations remain the same as a week ago at 23@25 cents a dozen. Dealers say that receipts are falling off appreciably and that storage supplies are already being drawn upon to cover current consumption. Warehouse stocks are large, an increase of 600,000 cases being shown on Sept. 1. The call for eggs is, however, said to be so heavy that owing to the relatively cheap prices ruling, it is thought present surplus stocks will be readily taken care of. No marked change in quotations is looked for in the near future.

Apples Are Cheap.

Supplies of fruits on the Duluth market are large, according to the Fitzsimmons-Palmer company and the Stacy-Merrill Fruit company.

Apples are the feature in that line today. Supplies of the earlier varieties offering are large and prices are the lowest in years, being even cheaper than at this time last fall. Higher prices are, however, expected for the winter apples, but at the same time they are thought likely to sell on a reasonable basis.

A heavy sale of peaches was met with during the past ten days and householders are warned that the coming week will probably be the last big one of the season. Supplies for preserving should therefore be picked up. The first car of barrel pears from Michigan and Delaware was received this week, and is being rapidly cleaned up. California and Oregon box pears are also offering on a fair price basis.

Better receipts of Concord grapes are expected in the near future but it is thought their market will not be low this season on account of frost damage in the producing districts early in the summer. Osage melons and watermelons have been coming to hand freely of late and their quality is pronounced good.

There have been no special developments in the vegetables list. A better demand has been met with for potatoes, and their quotation has been advanced 3 cents to 45 cents a bushel. Sweet potatoes are now coming to hand in car lots. This is the height of the season in pickling goods, but in the event of any more frosts it is likely to be brought to an abrupt termination.

Drop in Meats.

A substantial decline in meat quotations has developed, everything except pork being down from 1 to 2 cents a pound. The drop was brought about through larger receipts of live stock at packing points, now that harvesting is nearly over in the Southwest.

Receipts of poultry are larger, especially of spring chickens. Their quotations has been marked down 4 cents a pound. Light and heavy fowl are also down 1 to 3 cents a pound.

SOLDIERS CHEERED BY DUTCH FARMERS

Sympathy Has Remarkable Healing Effect on the Wounded.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Flushing, The Netherlands, Aug. 18.—Although Dutch farmers in the fertile province of Zeeland have witnessed the sight regularly twice a month for the last year, the movement of the long Red Cross trains that pass through the province from the fighting areas is always an event which calls throngs of country people in their picturesque costumes to all the small stations and crossways to see the trains pass.

It is no longer mere curiosity, however, which brings them there. They have learned that their presence serves to cheer the wounded soldiers and they have come to consider it their duty to turn out to greet the sufferers. Men on whom the science of surgery or medicine have little effect find that the crude but genuine sympathy extended them by the Dutch farmers has remarkable healing properties. Every farmer at his plough stops his horses and waves his hand, and every woman in the fields seizes her colored apron for a hasty salute.

From the church towers in the villages flags fly. Even the soldiers who guard the railroad track forget discipline and neutrality and set up a cheer. Suddenly it comes over the soldiers in their bedraggled khaki "all this is meant for us." Handkerchiefs are rare after a year in a hostile land, but bandages are all the more plentiful. And with a sudden recognition of what it is all about an old rag is waved to the wind, and a smile of happiness drives away the gloom of long days of physical horrors.

The soldier who is paralyzed is propped up with cushions until he too can see what happens. Soon some almost forgotten song starts somewhere and is taken up by the entire maimed company. A virtuoso on a mouth organ blows the melody and a blind man keeps time. When Flushing is at last reached each man ought to have a violent fever. As a matter of fact they say they are better than ever. Right ahead of them they see the lights of the steamer, and a little beyond those piers is their own land.

SYMBOLICAL TREES PLANTED IN FRANCE

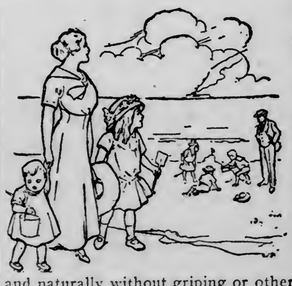

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Paris, Aug. 30.—The planting of symbolical trees, which has been popular in France from early times, is likely to become general throughout the country this year. The first ceremony of this kind since the present war was recently held in Paris on the grounds of a hospital in the Rue Oudinot, where, in the presence of a number of convalescent soldiers, sisters of charity and distinguished persons, Cardinal Ammete planted a "Tree of Revenge." At the same time he invited those present to return for the day when the "Tree of Victory" might also be planted there.

During the French revolution it is said that more than 60,000 "liberty trees" were planted throughout France.

Now Are the Days Children Need Care

Summer Heat Dangerous to Little Ones if Bowels Are Neglected.

A mother cannot do better for her child than to train it from early infancy to regular habits, not only as a preventive against much of the illness to which children are more or less subject, but also to insure their health in later life.

Normal activity of the bowels is the basis of sound health. This is especially true with children in hot weather. Do not neglect any tendency they may show to constipation, but promptly administer a gentle laxative, that will carry off the congested waste without shocking the system.

An excellent remedy for this purpose is the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and sold in drug stores for only fifty cents a bottle. It does not contain opiates, narcotics, or harmful habit-forming drugs of any description, acts easily and naturally without griping or other discomfort and is positive in its effect.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has been the standard remedy in countless homes for a quarter of a century and thousands of mothers testify to its virtues. If you have never used it, get a bottle from your druggist or write for a free trial bottle to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 453 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

JAPAN TRYING TO SPREAD INFLUENCE

King and Chieftains of South Sea Islands Entertained.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Tokio, Aug. 4.—Since the capture of the South Sea islands from Germany by the British-Japanese fleets, Japan has been exerting every effort to spread her influence in these islands, which are now in her possession. The question of the permanent occupancy, however, will not be settled until after the war.

Japan recently sent technical commissions to study the islands from a commercial standpoint, and followed that up by dispatching a special steamer filled with Japanese newspapermen on a tour of inspection. Now, Japan is entertaining the royalty of the islands. There is one full-fledged king and twenty-one other chieftains of various degrees who have been brought here on a naval transport from the islands of Kusal, Jaluit, Seypan, Yap, Pelew and Ponapi in the Caroline group which have been wrested from German control and are now under Japanese administration. Roughly, these islands lie between the United States island possessior of Guam and the Philippines.

The head of the party now visiting Tokio is John Siegrah, otherwise called king of Kusal. He and his fellow chieftains have out-traveled the most untiring tourists in sight-seeing. They have been constantly entertained at luncheon and dinner by leading Japanese and have received a large assortment of presents, including wrist watches, silk kimonos, parasols and other articles as souvenirs of their visit.

King John Siegrah, when asked about his impressions of Japan, said that he and his friends heartily appreciated the cordial treatment by the Japanese. As to the Japanese administration in the islands he said there had not yet been time to form a true estimate of the new order of things. Although the German administration had, he complained, adopted high-handed measures in monopolizing certain enterprises, generally speaking the Germans had been successful in their colonial policy in the South Sea. He was certain, however, that the native Islanders were more familiar with Japanese people and customs than they had been with German.

The only drawbacks to the visit to Japan, according to King Siegrah, were that it was altogether too hot and that they were not allowed to touch any alcoholic drinks during their stay. But they were all delighted with the opportunity to obtain a wider outlook on things.

Some of the chiefs have visited Europe and know something of Occidental civilization from personal contact. All have learned something of the United States and Europe from American missionaries who have been stationed in their islands. Most of them speak English, and several French and German.

BRITISH AIRMAN DASHED TO EARTH

Career of Youngest Air Squadron Commander Is Ended.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, Sept. 2.—An accident ended the career of the youngest air squadron commander in the royal flying corps when Capt. Gilbert W. R. Mapplebeck, D. S. O., was dashed to earth recently while testing a new French monoplane.

Capt. Mapplebeck, a Liverpool boy, had not yet attained his 23rd year, and received his commission only about six months before the outbreak of the war, after finishing a course at Hendon.

It was on Aug. 13 of last year that young Mapplebeck flew over to France to join the newly arrived British expeditionary force. He was the first British airman to make a reconnaissance of the German lines, and later the first to drop bombs. During the retreat at Mons he scouted above the advancing Germans, and by his reports kept the British troops from being overwhelmed. On Sept. 29 he was shot in an air duel 6,000 feet above the German lines, yet managed to reach the British lines, although he was unconscious when found. He was shot through the abdomen. His mother came over to France and nursed him back to health. She has now received a letter of condolence from the king. The airman's Distinguished Service Order medal was received in the king's New Year's honors.

On leaving the hospital, Capt. Mapplebeck declined to return to England or to accept less hazardous duty, and was soon back in his machine. On March 11 he took part in the first aeroplane raid to be made in the night against the Germans. Of the three airmen raiders, one was killed and another brought down within the British lines, while Mapplebeck was compelled to land near Lille. Setting fire to his machine, he escaped into the woods, where he hid for three days, subsisting on the chocolate he had carried with him. Then he found shelter in a French peasant's family, and later worked his way to Holland and then to England as a French peasant.

Glass of Hot Water Before Breakfast a Splendid Habit

Open sluices of the system each morning and wash away the poisonous, stagnant matter.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise; splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, lame back, can, instead, both look and feel as fresh as a daisy always by washing the poisons and toxins from the body with phosphated hot water each morning.

We should drink, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to flush from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract before putting more food into the stomach.

The action of limestone phosphate and hot water on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast and it is said to be but a little while until the roses begin to appear in the cheeks. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will cost very little at the drug store, but is sufficient to make anyone who is bothered with biliousness, constipation, stomach trouble or rheumatism a real enthusiast on the subject of internal sanitation. Try it and you are assured that you will look better and feel better in every way shortly.

RAILROADS WILL MAKE BIG FIGHT

Will Resist Order Establishing Twin City Common Point.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state railroad and warehouse commission will issue a statement within the next week regarding the order establishing St. Paul, Minneapolis, Hopkins, St. Paul Park and the Minnesota Transfer common points on which to base freight rates, it was announced here today.

That the railroads of Minnesota will fight any attempt to enforce the tentative order of the commission became evident at a hearing in which counsel for the roads were given an opportunity to show cause why such a common point should not be established.

The railroad attorneys declared that if the order were enforced it would work a hardship not only on the railroads, because it would reduce their revenues, but would be against the interest of consumers throughout the Northwest who would have to pay the additional cost of operation. It also was declared that the action was against legal authority; that there was no need for establishing such a common point, and that no effort had been made to show that the present freight rates in Minnesota were exorbitant or needed changing.

Those in favor of the commission's order declared that it would benefit not only the shippers of the Twin Cities, but consumers of the Northwest as well, and contended that it was the only practical solution of the rate-making problem.

Some of those in close touch with the situation declare that a long legal fight may be the outcome if the commission insists upon compliance with the order.

JAPAN TO BUILD SHIPS FOR RUSSIA

Big Order Given for Construction of Passenger Steamers.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Tokio, Aug. 4.—Special advices from Petrograd give importance to the announcement that the Russian Trade & Navigation company of Odessa has decided to give Japanese shipbuilding yards its first big order for the construction of several large passenger steamers. The Russian ministry of trade and industry thoroughly approves the decision of the company as the beginning of an economical reapproachment between Russia and Japan which promises to have a great future.

At the outset there will be ordered eight first-class ships for the Crimea-Caucasus line, after which the company has in view an order for a second group of steamers for its foreign service on lines which before the war were in the hands of the Germans. Heretofore there have been no steamers of Japanese construction among the vessels of the Russian merchant marine.

At the present time several representatives of Japanese yards are in Odessa where, together with Russian engineers they are drafting plans for the vessels and conditions to be observed in construction. Several captains of the Russian company have also been ordered to visit Japan.

BRIBERY SCANDAL IN JAPAN GROWS

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Tokio, Aug. 4.—The bribery scandal which caused the downfall of Viscount Cura, the home minister, and forced a reconstruction of the Okuma ministry has extended to others. Four more former members of the diet have been arrested.

Thirteen men are now in jail awaiting trial on charges connected with parliamentary corruption. These include four members of the present diet and seven ex-members of the diet. The others are Kametaro Hyashida, who was chief secretary of the house of representatives, and the manager of a Japanese firm at Dairen.

The reconstructed Okuma cabinet has announced that it will pursue the policy of the old, and as Y. Ozaki continues to be minister of justice, the bribery affair may be expected to be probed to the bottom.

NEW YORK'S IS THE "SHORTER" BALLOT.

What the people of New York will vote upon in November when they pass upon their proposed new state Constitution at the polls is not the "short ballot," but a shorter ballot.

Now, the governor's cabinet is elected—and it isn't his cabinet at all because its members are elected separately, owe nothing to the governor, and may not even be of his party.

What the large, constructive minds of the constitutional convention tried to bring about was the short ballot—under which only the governor, lieutenant-governor and legislature would be elected, and the governor would appoint the state officers and be responsible for them and they to him.

What the little, narrow self-serving minds of the convention wanted was exactly what exists now—a system so intricate and futile that only professional politicians can master it, and which thus lends itself to the uses of the "invisible government" and of greed, graft and incapacity.

Between these two forces a compromise was reached. To the list of elective officers was added the attorney general and the comptroller, who corresponds to our auditor. It is simpler to set this down merely as what it was, a compromise, rather than to analyze reasons. There is no very good reason why these officers should be excepted—none at all as to the attorney general. There is a color of argument for keeping the comptroller elective, because it is his duty to audit the accounts of the other state officers. Yet a governor who had appointed a set of state officers would have every reason for desiring an efficient official to audit their accounts, and no harm would be done by making this office, too, appointive. The hypocrisy of the opposition was revealed when, after it had urged making the comptroller elective to get an outside audit of the governor's appointive cabinet, it consented eagerly to the creation of an appointive auditor providing the comptroller, who has patronage, was left elective.

Probably New York will reject this Constitution. Being a compromise, it is not so good as it should have been. But it is much better than the present system, and should therefore be adopted as a step forward. However, there has been so much discontent over the controversy and the compromises, New York's population is so heterogeneous, and the forces opposed to any progress at all are so influential, that it would not be particularly surprising if the new Constitution should be rejected in November.

This talk about lending a billion dollars without collateral sounds like a stupendous joke to the fellow who's tried to raise fifty dollars when he needed it and couldn't find anybody to make the loan.

THAT BILLION-DOLLAR LOAN.

It will be a very fortunate thing, though perhaps too much to hope for, if public discussion of the loan sought by France and England is inspired by a fair consideration of the honest interests of this country, and not distorted by partisanship in the war.

Those who favor the loan should have a care that their approval is not rooted in sympathy with the allies.

Those who oppose the loan should look out that they are not placing German interests higher than American interests.

The government of the United States has informally stated its belief that the floating of this gigantic loan will not involve a departure from fair neutrality. It is strictly a business proposal, and should be considered as such. The issue rests largely with those who participate in the loan, and the main question with them will be the sufficiency of the security. Those who believe that however the war comes out France and England will pay their just debts will have no fear on this score. Those who believe the contrary will of course not lend them money.

It isn't as though the deal were unprecedented; for only in amount does it lack precedent. A smaller French government loan was placed here some time ago, and little was said about it. Last spring German government notes to the amount of ten million dollars were floated through American banking houses, and nobody seems to have complained.

There might be sounder reason for charging departure from neutrality if the proceeds of the loan were to go abroad or if it were to facilitate purchase of ammunition particularly; but neither is true. The allies confess that they must buy their ammunition here anyway; but they declare that with their money at such sharp discounts here as have prevailed of late they will have to buy wheat and other supplies elsewhere unless they can establish this credit loan so that payment can be made in dollars instead of in pounds and francs.

The condition which makes the loan necessary is harmful not only to the allies but to American markets. English importers of American goods, for instance, who have contracted to pay in dollars at New York, at present rates of discount have to pay five or six per cent extra. That's the English and French side of it.

But on the other hand American exporters to whom payment is made in pounds sterling, as the case is with most of the great staple markets, in order to change these pounds into dollars must sacrifice five or six per cent to do it. So the harm of the present discount situation hits both sides of the Atlantic, and therefore it seems to be to the interest of America as well as of the allies that the loan should be floated.

Those who favor the loan should beware lest their sympathies with the allies lead them into a betrayal of American interests.

But those who oppose the loan, and who are threatening drastic action, some of it covered by criminal law, if it is floated, should beware lest they let their antipathy to the allies betray them into action directly against the best interests of this country.

Baseball still remains safely neutral as between cricket and skat.

COL. ROOSEVELT'S BOAST.

The Des Moines Register has dug up this extract from a speech made by Theodore Roosevelt before the Hamilton club of Chicago in 1899:

> In the early '80s the attention of the nation became directed to our naval needs. Congress most wisely made a series of appropriations to build up a new navy, and under a succession of able and patriotic secretaries OF BOTH POLITICAL PARTIES, the navy was gradually built up until its material became equal to its splendid personnel, with the result that last summer it leaped to its proper place as one of the most brilliant and formidable fighting navies in the entire world.

To listen to this same gentleman now, you'd think that the American navy was about as valuable a fighting arm as a leaky tin teakettle without a spout.

Yet sixteen years ago he was proudly boasting of our navy.

In 1899 William McKinley was president. In 1901, two years later, Theodore Roosevelt became president, and remained president for seven years. For the following four years Judge Taft, a Republican of Col. Roosevelt's selection, was president. For the last two years and a half Mr. Wilson, a Democrat NOT of Col. Roosevelt's selection, has been president; and during his term very valuable and important additions have been made to the navy.

In 1899, according to Col. Roosevelt, the American navy was "one of the most brilliant and formidable fighting navies in the entire world."

Sixteen years later, following the political history above outlined, the American navy is, according to the same authority, an absurdly futile and inadequate institution.

Somehow, this doesn't match up as those who have complete faith in everything the Colonel says would like to have it.

Incidentally it may be remarked that it was not Dr. Dumba who put the plom in diplomacy.

MORE FACTS ABOUT THE TARIFF SLUMP.

Some more facts of significance regarding the failure of the Underwood tariff to furnish all the revenue expected are contained in the official report of the imports from the port of Chemnitz, Germany, for the quarters ending in March and June of 1914 and 1915.

It appears that in the March quarter of 1914 this country imported $3,507,986 worth of merchandise from Chemnitz, but in the March quarter of this year the figure fell to $1,724,374.

In the June quarter of 1914 this country imported $3,279,008 worth of taxable merchandise from Chemnitz, and in the June quarter of 1915 this fell to $1,027,961.

The duties on the several articles imported from Chemnitz are most of them levied on an ad valorem basis, and the average rate is something between fifteen and twenty per cent. Call it fifteen per cent, and here we have a loss of more than $605,000 income from the trade carried on with this one port in six months, due to the war.

Whatever else may be said of it, no fair minded man can or will claim that the Underwood tariff law has had even a ghost of a fair show. The country is fortunate that it was not dependent on tariff receipts for virtually its entire revenue, as it would have been under the kind of regime that gave it the Payne-Aldrich tariff law.

How is it that the popular song writers have failed as yet to see the possibilities of the phrase, "Be My Little Pulmotor"?

A BRAVE THING TO DO.

In response to the grave need of his well loved state, Thomas W. Loyless, editor of the Augusta, Georgia, Chronicle, has launched himself and his able newspaper into a campaign against the main source, as he sees it, of the foul current of lawless prejudice that resulted in the Frank outrage that shamed Georgia and the nation.

That source he identifies with the personality of Tom Watson, the incendiary, serpent-tongued sower of prejudice and dissension who, he says, has profited by making the Frank case a new pawn in his venomous anti-Catholic and anti-Semite propaganda.

This crusade Editor Loyless is making at the risk of social and financial sacrifice, out of pure patriotism and state pride.

Georgia is far from lost when such men keep their courage. All honor to him!

Is T. R. to get the old rate of a dollar per word for his accounts of this moose hunt? Or isn't Canada as greatly favored in that line as the Dark Continent?

In Praise of American Cookery

Kate Stephens in the New York Evening Post.

A letter you have published, headed "Gastronomic America," written probably by a German-American—since the name signed is German—speaks of "American culinary art" "not so very many years ago" being "yet in its infancy," and "the last quarter of a century * * * has made rapid strides forward"—owing to "the influence of French cooks."

To an American who really knows what "American culinary art" and the habits, customs and life of our people were before "the influence of French cooks," the letter's pretentious claim brings certain amusement. It reminds me of priggish young Jews I know, the first of their families to speak our tongue grammatically or without foreign accent, themselves seeking Ph. D. degrees in writing about some phase of our noble speech—it reminds me how they have told of their astonishment at the little interest shown in this country for the study of English. It also calls to my memory an afternoon some years ago when a German-American, pausing before the Unitarian church near Twentieth street and Fourth avenue, jeered at the architecture of the building (a reproduction, I believe, of a church in Northern Italy), and told me it was a specimen of the atrocities Americans produced in architecture before foreigners, lately landed, had come to show Americans what architecture really was. He added, "There was no such thing as architure in America till now;" this to one whose blood knew colonial dwellings and New England meeting houses!

The ignorance and pretense of these neophytes at large in our dear land, and their willingness to instruct wiser dwellers, extend even to literary judgments. Only a few weeks ago a brilliant and distinguished Celtic neo-American, when I quoted some lines from Lowell, told me "Lowell was nobody." "We think he did some admirable work, what you call 'original,'" I answered. "He is not esteemed abroad," returned the neophyte in our traditions. "He is here," I answered. "Even phrases of his have come into current speech, and that is surely a test. For instance, you remember the one about a certain condescension in foreigners."

Commonly when these late-comers of ours set themselves to instruct me, each thinks he has been the first to discover our English language (and what he supposes our ignorance of it); or our American architecture (or our lack of it); or our American literature (or our ignoble lack of literature); or our American cooking (or our total destitution of cooking)—whatever it be, he, reflecting the poverty of his own environment, sophomorically rushes forward to declare his great discovery and to tell how nothing existed before his small ego was brought in a steamship by its mamma, or independently came, to this country to better its surroundings and fortune—I carefully say "his" because it is commonly a masculine ego, the feminine contingent evidently having better sense or more gratitude.

To the real American, endued with the quiet, saturnine humor of his race, the neophyte affords for a time a degree of amusement. The American, regarding him much as he would a performing monkey, or bear, or sparrow, does not think that putting aside more considerable matters and setting the neophyte in his right place with what our children call "a chug" is worth his effort. Result is that the neophyte goes on without any real historic vision or genuine knowledge, chippering with as much noise as a sparrow, and about the same effects. Now and then, however, one tires of pretentious self-assertion and useless scolding of sparrows, and also of neophytes, and undertakes a bit of missionary work. Hence this letter.

As to culinary operations in this country and of our old American stock, it would not be difficult to prove that ancestors of ours had a vastly better food, from the points of view of scientific analysis and gastronomic "art," than ancestors of the Germans, French and other persons, who, after acquaintance with certain eating houses (kept for the most part by foreigners), set out to talk and to write of American cookery. For more than 100 years millions of people have been coming across the Atlantic, because on this side they could get better food, and enough of it to stay their hunger. Thomas Carlyle testified to these facts nearly fifty years ago, when, with characteristic sharpness, he said that America meant turkey every day to the average immigrant.

One great principle in cooking our American ancestors did know—a principle wanting in present-day French cooking—this, namely, that every article of food should conserve its own flavor. For instance, our Americans did serve, and do serve, a roast chicken in its primal juice, its pure roast chicken flavor. Or, if they cooked the fowl in water, they would use with it innocent rice, or potatoes. They did not, and their well-balanced, well-developed taste would not permit them to do, as the French today—set forth a fowl en garniture of strong vegetables, onions, cauliflower, etc.

Possibly not one in a hundred of the numerous foreign "Americans" talking of, or essaying to judge our cookery, has ever tasted American ham boiled with American cider, or Virginia creamed chicken with biscuit, or prairie quail on toast, or planked shad, or simon-pure New England clam chowder, or country-bred chicken pie, or codfish pie, or a real, truthful New York strawberry shortcake (the country nectar-plus-ambrosia sort, not the frothy mockery served here in town), or New England blueberry cake, or pandowdy, or peach cobbler, or election cake, or election gingerbread, or maple-sugar cookies, or bread cake, or apple and plum butters, or raspberry and currant shrubs. One could fill columns of the Evening Post with the mere names of toothsome, tasteful, nourishing dishes, rich in all necessary chemical elements, that for generations fed our ancestors and gave them strength of body and courage of soul to build this country and its mighty institutions. They built so that it should become the best country of all the earth, and should offer such a haven to Europeans and Asiatics, starving in body and spirit, that millions might come here and better their lot. But probably those state-building ancestors of ours did not foresee that when our importations had filled their paunches and pockets they would feel it necessary to sit down and tell Americans that we had had no cooking, no architecture, no literature, no knowledge of our precious English speech, and, at times, no ability to fit to our needs our democratic government.

The Wolf.

When the babe is in his cradle and the gudeman in his bed,
And I cover up the embers on the hearth,
And the frost creeps in upon us with its silent, stealthy tread,
And the snow has hid the bare, brown face of earth—

Then the wolf that in the daytime keeps his distance, hides and slinks,
Grows so bold that he dares to snuffle at the door,
Is it fancy—do I sense him, through the unprotected chinks?
Is that sound the deadly menace of his paw?

But I push the bolts in tighter, and I steal into my bed,
And I listen till I hear his howl afar—
Safe at least until tomorrow for today we have been fed,
And the Wolf of Famine leaves us as we are!

When Death Flies Over Paris

Arthur Bullard in the Outlook.

It was very weird; not at all like the darkness of a sleeping city. Everyone was awake. Cabs were moving about with their lamps out. Now and then the horses' shoes struck dazzling sparks from the streets. On all sides people were talking from window to window.

"Are you coming down into the cellar?"

"No. But I wish they'd go away, so I could light my lamp. I want to sew."

"After all, the sixth story is too high. There is more danger up there. Come down here and I'll make you some coffee."

A joker from near the sky announced in a solemn, formal tone "All tenants of the sixth floor or higher are invited to coffee with Madame Pataud, entresol, No. 18."

"Ah, non!" Madame Pataud protested. "That is too strong. Pas tout le monde. Only the inhabitants of this house are invited."

The concierge of No. 20, not to be outdone, announced that she would make coffee for all her locataires above the fourth floor.

Out on the Boulevard de Port Royal it seemed a bit lighter. The street is broader, and I suppose also that my eyes were getting accustomed to the gloom. There were a number of people on the sidewalks, and they were not hurrying. It was too dark to see their faces as they passed. Were they really unconcerned, or were they ostentatiously leisurely to hide their fear?

Clack! clack! clack! From up ahead in the darkness came the sound of some one in wooden shoes running towards us. It was a little girl of about 10. A stout bourgeois, who held a great umbrella over an equally stout wife, hailed her. I chanced to be close by, and could see them vaguely in the dark.

"Voyons, petite," he said. "It is not worth the pain to run. Nobody is going to bite you."

The young body stopped indignantly and took up a bellicose position, her arms akimbo.

"Is it," she demanded, haughtily, "that you suppose I run from the dirty Bosches? Species of a pig! I have no fear—no, not at all. It is that I am in a hurry. Maman is sick. I go for the doctor, who has promised to bring her a baby. Therefore I run."

Her sabots clattered on down the boulevard. And from all sides, out of the darkness—from both sidewalks, from six tiers of windows—there broke out a joyous laugh which was a cheer.

"It is indeed answered like a grenadier."

"Bonne chance a maman!"

"Run fast, little one. Perhaps the doctor will give you a boy—to carry a gun against les Bosches."

"And to think," the fat bourgeois addressed the living darkness, "it is perhaps that they will kill the so brave little one with their cursed bombs from the clouds!"

"After a long silence a voice called down from a mansard in the Rue d'Assas.

"Eh, la-bas! Do you see anything?"

"Less than nothing. And you—la-haut—do you see anything?"

"Even less."

Then suddenly there was a clear note of a bugle. This time it was the "Cease fire!" call. The arc lights on the street spluttered a moment and then flared up.

A red motor fire engine came up the Boul' Miche. The grinning pompiers waved their brass helmets at us and shouted, "C'est fini!" We looked at each other rather foolishly—in the glare which hurt our eyes—and went home.

Generally my sympathy goes out to the hunted. But it was not so last night. My sympathy was with the men in the forts who stood tense beside their guns, with the man down there at Vincennes who so nervously, so eagerly, felt at the clouds with his long finger of light.

There is something inexpressibly hateful, insulting, about such an air raid. I don't see how even a German standing below could have wished luck to those corsairs of the air.

Toussaint L'Ouverture

Wendell Phillips: If I were to tell you the story of Napoleon, I should take it from the lips of Frenchmen, who find no language rich enough to paint the great captain of the nineteenth century. Were I to tell you the story of Washington, I should take it from your hearts—you who think no marble white enough on which to carve the name of the father of his country. But I am to tell you the story of a negro, Toussaint L'Ouverture, who has left hardly one written line. I am to glean it from the reluctant testimony of his enemies, men who despised him because he was a negro and a slave, hated him because he had beaten them in battle.

Cromwell manufactured his own army. Napoleon, at the age of 27, was placed at the head of the best troops Europe ever saw. Cromwell never saw an army till he was 40; this man never saw a soldier till he was 50. Cromwell manufactured his own army—out of what? Englishmen—the best blood of Europe. Out of the middle class of Englishmen—the best blood of the island. And with it he conquered what? Englishmen—their equals. This man manufactured his army out of what? Out of what you call the despicable race of negroes, debased, demoralized by two hundred years of slavery, one hundred thousand of them imported into the island within four years, unable to speak a dialect intelligible even to each other. Yet out of this mixed and, as you say, despicable mass, he forged a thunderbolt and hurled it at what? At the proudest blood in Europe, the Spaniard, and sent him home conquered; at the most warlike blood in Europe, the French, and put them under his feet; at the stuckiest blood in Europe, the English, and they skulked home to Jamaica. Now if Cromwell was a general, at least this man was a soldier.

Now, blue-eyed Saxon, proud of your race, go back with me to the beginning of the century, and select what statesman you please. Let him be either American or European, let him have a brain the result of six generations of culture; let him have the ripest training of university routine; let him add to it the better education of practical life; crown his temples with the silver locks of seventy years, and show me the man of Saxon lineage for whom his most sanguine admirer will wreathe a laurel rich as embittered foes have placed on the brow of this negro—rare military skill, profound knowledge of human nature, content to blot out all party distinctions and trust a state to the blood of its sons—anticipating Sir Robert Peel fifty years and taking his station by the side of Roger Williams before any Englishman or American had won the right; and yet this is the record which the history of rival states makes up for this inspired black of Santo Domingo.

Will Remain Unanswered.

Brooklyn Eagle: Three questions are suggested by Col. Roosevelt's statement that under The Hague convention it was our bounden duty, to prevent, and if not to prevent, to undo, the hideous wrong that was done to Belgium. They are:

How could the hideous wrong have been prevented by the United States?

How, having been perpetrated, could it have been undone by the United States?

What provision of The Hague convention makes prevention or undoing the bounden duty of this country?

Against the hideous wrong complained of a great many protests were interposed. The addition of one from this country would have altered the German program not in the least. It would have affected not in the least the bombardment of cathedrals, the desolation of Louvain and the removal of the Belgian capital to Antwerp. Dismissing, therefore, prevention as an impossibility, will the colonel tell us how, by this country, the hideous wrong could have been undone, or now could be undone? This question has not the merit of originality. The Sun, wondering what singular delusion possesses the colonel's very active intellect, asks him to show that the alleged treaty engagements respecting Belgium do in fact exist. However much the Sun may exploit itself as being "from Missouri," it will not be shown. The alleged facts are fiction.

Things the Badger State Editors Are Saying.

It Does Seem So.

Eau Claire Telegram: Governor Philipp refused a pass to the state fair—and will buy a ticket just the same as the average citizen. But maybe he wouldn't refuse a rain check. A governor ought to be recognized some way.

It Does Appear Inconsistent.

Chippewa Falls Independent: Lots of Republicans praise Taft for being such a good loser, but very few of them are advocating giving him another chance.

Here's Real Optimism.

Ladysmith Journal: There was a little saving by the legislature, but will the new boards created by Governor Philipp be more expensive than the boards that were abolished? Time will tell. A few laws that were repealed will certainly be a blessing to the people.—Shawano Advocate.

Seems to be the sensible attitude to take. This jumping to the conclusion that all of the work of a legislature is good or that it is all bad may be all right for the strict party man, but it usually lands one far from the truth. The present legislature is neither divine nor satanic. It lacked leadership and probably had a lower average of intelligence than its predecessors, but most of its members meant well, and many of the new laws will no doubt prove beneficial.

Eau Claire Leader: "Teddy says he and his sons are ready to go to war, but how about Alice? She was always a good scout."—Green Bay Gazette.

Let's hope Alice is raising a son to be a soldier.

Something's Going to Drop.

Ashland Press: Not alone was the entire northern part of the state ignored (in appointing the new state fair board), but a real good, hard slap was administered in allowing two Northern Wisconsin representatives who were members of the old board to be entirely eliminated. We are all pretty sore about this action, a good deal more sore than appears on the surface, as some one will find out some day when a chance to play even comes along.

And Even Those Exceptions Are Doubtful.

Bayfield Progress: The waste baskets in a newspaper office of any town do more to keep its citizens in good repute than any other agency, except the fear of the law and the hereafter.

From "The Vision of Sir Launfal."

Joy comes, grief goes, we know not how;
Everything is happy now,
Everything is upward striving;
'Tis as easy now for the heart to be true
As for grass to be green or skies to be blue—
'Tis the natural way of living;
Who knows whither the clouds have fled?
In the unscarred heaven they leave no wake;
And the eyes forget the tears they have shed,
The heart forgets its sorrow and ache;
The soul partakes the season's youth,
And the sulphurous rifts of passion and woe
Lie deep 'neith a silence pure and smooth
Like burnt-out craters healed with snow.
* * *
The crows flapped over by two and three,
In the pool drowsed the cattle up to their knees,
The little birds sang as if it were
The one day of summer in all the year,
And the very leaves seemed to sing on the trees;
The castle alone in the landscape lay
Like an outpost of winter, dull and gray;
'Twas the proudest hall in the North Countree,
And never its gates might opened be,
Save to lord or lady of high degree;
Summer besieged it on every side,
But the churlish stone her assaults defied;
She could not scale the chilly wall,
Though round it for leagues her pavilions tall
Stretched left and right,
Over the hills and out of sight;
Green and broad was every tent,
And out of each a murmur went
Till the breeze fell off at night.

At the city council meeting last night, Mayor Lewis presented a veto of the resolution ordering the erection of a market house and armory at West Duluth at a cost of $3,000. The mayor said the proposed site is unsuitable and $3,000 will erect only a cheap wooden building. Besides the present state of the city finances does not justify the expenditure of the money, as there will be a $70,000 shortage at the end of the fiscal year and additional city orders would have to be issued to cover the amount. There are now about $230,000 city orders outstanding, all drawing 7 per cent interest. There was a heated discussion by the aldermen, after which the resolution was passed over the mayor's veto, only Aldermen Patterson, Hale and Krumseig voting to sustain the mayor.

The Bird.

Hither thou com'st. The busie wind all night
Blew through thy lodging, where thy own warm wing
Thy pillow was. Many a sullen storm,
For which coarse man seems much the fitter born,
Rain'd on thy bed
And harmless head;

And now, as fresh and cheerful as the light,
Thy little heart in early hymns doth sing
Unto that Providence whose unseen arm
Curb'd them, and cloath'd thee well and warm.
All things that be praise Him; and had
Their lesson taught them when first made.

Prayer.

Grant, Almighty God, that as we do not at this day look for a Redeemer to deliver us from temporal miseries, but only carry on a warfare under the banner of the cross until He appear to us from heaven to gather us into His blessed kingdom—O, grant that we may patiently bear all evils and all troubles, and as Christ once for all poured forth the blood of the new and eternal covenant, and gave us also a symbol of it in the Holy Supper, may we confiding in so sacred a seal, never doubt that He will always be propitious to us, and render manifest to us the fruit of this reconciliation, when, after having supported us for a season under the burden of those miseries by which we are now oppressed, Thou gatherest us into that blessed and perfect glory which has been procured for us by the blood of Christ our Lord, and which is daily set before us in His gospel, and laid up for us in heaven, until we at length shall enjoy it through Christ, our only Lord. Amen.—Calvin.

Dayton, Ohio.

A Repentant Look.

Chicago Herald: A young man was sitting in a barber's shop looking at a magazine when an old farmer, with little knowledge or appreciation of literary people, stepped up behind his chair and looked over his shoulder.

"Who's them?" he inquired, pointing to a group of portraits.

"Well-known authors and playwrights," was the reply.

"Hump!" ejaculated the farmer, contemptuously. "Jist writin' fellers, eh?" Then he caught sight of an author with a long, solemn face, and his eyes sparkled. "That's the one I like," he said with decision, putting his finger on the writer's mournful countenance.

"Oh, yes; nearly every one likes him," agreed the young man. "His humorous writings are—"

"Don't know nothin' 'bout his writin,' but I like his face."

"Why so?"

"'Cause he's the only feller that looks like he was sorry for what he'd done."

How the Fight Started.

Kansas City Star: A man went into a local hardware store Saturday and said, "I want to buy a saw," relates the Cedarvale County Liner. The merchant showed him one and he said, "How much is it?" The merchant replied "$1.60." The customer said, "I can buy the same saw from Hoopempucky & Co. for $1.35." Mr. Hardware Man said, "I will sell you that saw at Hoopempucky's terms." The customer gave the merchant $1.35. "Now," the hardware man replied, "Give me 25 cents for express charges, 5 cents for money order and 2 cents for a stamp." The customer forked over the money. Mr. Merchant hung the saw back on the hook and said, "Now wait ten days until you get it."

The Heavy War Losses of Innocent Norway.

New York World: How heavily neutrals may suffer in time of war is shown in the figures published covering Norway's losses in ships in the last thirteen months. Thirteen Norwegian ships have been destroyed by mines, twenty-four have been sunk by torpedoes, three have disappeared in the war zone and one was crushed by a German warship. In addition, seventy-six sailors have perished. Norway is not in any way a party to the war; it has been strictly minding its own business; but its commerce has been preyed on, its ships attacked and sunk by belligerent warships or destroyed by mines planted by warring powers, and only in one or two cases has it received the consolation of a tardy apology.

Dictionary Makers.

London Evening Standard: Incomparably the best epitaph for Sir James Murray, greatest of dictionary makers, might be taken from one of the conversations between Johnson and Boswell. In old age Boswell said to Johnson, apropos the dictionary, "You did not know what you were undertaking." Yes, sir," was the answer, "I knew very well what I was undertaking—and very well how to do it—and have done it very well."

THE SINGLE TAX.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The single tax theory seems to be gaining in popularity among the middle class reformers and, since they make large claims as to the efficacy of the single tax as a cure for all industrial ills, including unemployment and the exploitation of labor, an examination of some of their assumptions is in order.

They say that the single tax will give easy access to the raw material, farm lands, mines, etc., and that this will mean equal opportunity for all so that all a working man out of a job will have to do is to betake himself and family, if he has one, onto a farm or, if peradventure he does not like farming, he can become a competitor on equal terms with the steel, harvester, oil, copper, lumber or beef trusts or any other trust for that matter.

What is the trouble with this beautiful plan? Mainly, I should think, that the conditions favorable for its application were those of the century before last. In that day to own a plot of ground and have a body more or less sound was about all that was necessary to achieve, if not notable success, at least a pretty good living measured by the standards of the time. But the cardinal fact for us to keep in mind is that ours is the machine age. Machines of a size, complexity and cost undreamed of by our ancestors are the commonplaces of our daily lives and we are only at the beginning of these things and there is no turning back.

Let no one be deluded into thinking that this machine industry has not effected the status of the farmer. True here it is only in its infancy but believe me it is already some infant.

Now machine industry everywhere demands large masses of capital for its operation—and capital is the very thing that your workingman, employed or unemployed, has the least prospects of obtaining so that even farming except on "pig in the parlor" scale is no solution or even partial solution of the labor problem that is worth mentioning, even though the land were free.

Experiments in Australia show that easy access to the land is not a solution and the state has had to go farther and supply the necessary capital. The recent land laws for Ireland are also proving ineffective for the same reason.

"Land poor," a phrase of recent origin, aptly expresses the plight of the would-be farmer who lacks capital, and a state of affairs unthinkable until the advent of the machine age.

How can we account for the single tax movement? Single tax, we are told on good authority, was born in the eighteenth century when the rising capitalist class, hampered by the landed aristocracy from gaining access to the raw materials on a favorable basis and bearing as they thought too great a burden of taxation, looked to the single tax as a solution of their troubles. But today the capitalist class own not only the industries but the land and natural resources as well and are therefore not interested in the single tax program. But a part of the middle class, ground between the upper and nether millstones, hope through the single tax to break into the inner circle of capitalism and as usual they are trying to enlist the laboring class on their side.

Others think the single tax will give them an opportunity to do something for or to the great unwashed without, as Tolstoi aptly says, getting off their backs. As for the rest they mean well but have not the faculty of clear thinking developed as intimate contact with machine industry develops it and are therefore unable to see the fallacy of the single tax. Your machine worker, however, will have none of it.

AS ONE VOTER SEES IT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Please tell me something. Did the supreme court decide that our election last April for judge is void? Now does that mean that no successor to Judge Windom was elected? If so, is it not provided by law that the officer holds over until his successor is elected and qualified for office? Now Judge Windom has served the city faithfully and satisfactorily for several years and is quite capable of more service. Let Mr. Smallwood take himself into the courts. Of course it will cost him something, but we think it would be more generous on his part than to try to drag the city into a special election at the expense of the taxpayer. Right and justice is one thing. Personal ambition is another. Thanking you in advance for your valuable space in the Open Court,

A TAXPAYER.

HAD NO BUSINESS TO BE THERE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I respectfully venture to endeavor to show that democracy has still a long and difficult struggle to make itself manifest and to be of any real value to mankind at large.

I was standing on the corner of First avenue west and Superior street this morning waiting for the Woodland car to come along. An elegant and luxurious automobile was there also. It had stopped on the extreme corner of the site in question. A street car was approaching, bound east. I stepped off the sidewalk to ascertain if this was my car, when I felt a terrific punch on the left shoulder which threw me several feet and it was only by pure luck combined with my agility, that saved me from "heaven only knows what." The impact was caused by this auto, driven by a woman who was accompanied by another elderly woman, suddenly and without warning backing down.

As soon as I had sufficiently recovered from the shock I respectfully and courteously informed the ladies in question that I had been struck by their car, thrown several feet and nearly knocked down. The lady who was driving told me she did not see me, the other lady exhibiting more of the finesse of the mid-Victorian era, with a contemptuous toss of the head, and in an indignant manner as she regally and majestically swept into a store (for they had now alighted), informed me that I had no business to be there. Quite so; who am I that I should be allowed to live and breathe God's pure air?

I venture to presume that this lady is a Latin student and believes in the efficacy of "Noblesse Oblige."

If when after a few more applications of embrocation my left arm and shoulder are restored to their normal condition, with the lady's most gracious consent, I will hie me to a store, purchase a pair of overalls, scouring brush, pail and mop, hard soap, soft soap, green soap and all the paraphernalia requisite, hire me a pantechnicon and set out on my lonely pilgrimage to the lady's domicillary edifice and there with all humility of heart, endeavor to eradicate the contamination caused by my worthless body coming into contact with her royal equipage.

For the ladies' information the incident was witnessed by several people, some of whom congratulated me upon my miraculous escape.

Yours faithfully,

CECIL ARTHUR BURNABY.

FOR FIRE PROTECTION FAN THE SPARK

To the Editor of The Herald:

We need protection against war as a business man needs protection against fire.

Therefore we should have (—) what?

The United States now is a sprinklered risk. There was an incipient blaze in the Alabama claims—it was quenched.

Sparks from the present war have lit on our property several times. So far they have all been doused.

Now comes an agent who wants us to put in his patent blower system. It costs as much to install as all the rest of our plant; it costs as much to operate as all the rest of our plant. That is not too much if it is necessary for safety but it is a lot too much if it is not efficient.

The principle of the blower system is to keep fans running night and day, so if a fire starts anywhere it will blow it out. The agent says it is far superior to the sprinkler system.

We look out and see the whole sky lit up by the conflagration in Europe. Europe had the protection that is proposed to us, carried to perfection. Every country that ever relied on it has gone up in smoke. Our general knowledge tells us that if you fan a flame it spreads.

And yet we have about decided to install the blower system.

That is what Puck said we were.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This department does not pretend to be infallible. It will endeavor, however, to answer questions sent to it by readers of The Herald to the best of its ability, reserving the right to ignore all that are trifling or of concern only to the questioner, or that ask for advice on legal or medical questions.

To receive attention, every inquiry must bear the name and address of the person sending it. This is not wanted for publication, but as an evidence of good faith.

The Herald acknowledges with thanks the receipt of copies of "The Mistletoe Bough," from Mrs. John Murray of Cloquet, Mrs. Rosendahl of Duluth, and Mrs. R. B. Blake of Crosby. Mrs. Blake writes that when she was a little girl she went to Germany with her parents and visited the old castle where the oak chest stood. Above it was the picture of the bride. The poem was published last evening in The Herald.

Peter Connelly, Winton—Will you please let me know the value, if any, of a $5 U. S. gold coin, date 1911, Indian head, with B. & B. under head and above date "Liberty" over head?

Ans.—Questions regarding the value of coins or stamps cannot be answered in this column, as there is no established market for them in Duluth at least.

POLICE DISPERSE CROWD AT BANK

Embezzlement of Ansonia Treasurer Causes Run on Institution.

Ansonia, Conn., Sept. 17.—The entire police and fire departments of the city were called out last night to disperse a crowd of 5,000 persons following the announcement late yesterday that State Bank Commissioner Everett J. Sturgis had taken charge of the affairs of the Savings Bank of Ansonia.

The treasurer of the institution, Former Mayor Franklin Burton, is under arrest, charged with embezzlement of $36,000 on bogus notes during a period of fifteen years. A run on the bank started just before business closed and the directors invoked the 60-day notice rule.

The last statement of the bank on Jan. 1, 1915, showed deposits of $3,074,216 and surplus of $63,000.

Commissioner Sturgis stated that the treasurer has confessed he lost the money in real estate investments. The bank issued a statement saying:

"All depositors will be paid when the commissioners are through."

Burton twice has been mayor of the city and once a state senator.

DUTCH KIDDIES HAVE WAR TOYS

They Exhibit Their Preferences and Ignore Neutrality Stand.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

The Hague, Netherlands, Aug. 28.—Disquieting rumors have reached Dutch children to the effect that the famous toy-making town of Nuremberg in Bavaria may use the metal which it has been putting into millions of little tin soldiers for more real purposes of war. However true the report may be, there is as yet no serious decimation in the ranks of the armies of the nursery floor. From toy dealers' reports, in fact the tin soldier armies are increasing faster than any others in Europe.

Although before the war Dutch children were satisfied with an indiscriminate phalanx of red coats, German Hussars, and Cossacks, the nursery now must be equipped uniformly with unbroken lines of soldiers, with the child's favorite always predominating in strength of men and guns. If there is any class in Holland that has entirely ignored the neutrality stand, it is the children, who, in the toy shops exhibit their preferences. The toy dealer has more than ever become a diplomat.

In Rotterdam it is very noticeable that the toy shop generally displays German soldiers, while in Amsterdam, it is the French and British which are shown. In the matter of naval toys children also have marked preferences, with Rotterdam windows displaying the German colors on dreadnaughts and torpedo boats, while Amsterdam windows cater to the sentiment there by giving the Franco-British allies the better show.

WOMEN DISPENSERS IN ARMY HOSPITALS

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, Sept. 1.—Women are now employed by the war office as dispensers in military hospitals. They must, of course, be properly qualified pharmacists and they are engaged only for the duration of the war in order to allow the men pharmacists to join the expeditionary forces. The women are paid 6 shillings ($1.50) a day, Sundays included, and their hours are from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Those so far employed have given entire satisfaction and on this account their numbers are being increased.

J. Beverley Jones has gone to Detroit, Mich., where his wedding to Miss Dorothy Jane West will take place Thursday, Sept. 23, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Alice West. A number of affairs will be given this week and the early part of next week for the bride and bridegroom elect.

Miss West is a graduate of the Liggett school of Detroit. She is a daughter of the late J. R. West, who was one of the pioneers of this section of Minnesota, the family having lived both on the range and in Duluth.

Mr. Jones is a graduate of the law department of the University of Michigan.

Mrs. Margaret J. Jones of 610 Fifth avenue west, mother of the bridegroom, will attend the wedding.

Mrs. Jones and his bride will spend their honeymoon at Burntside lake, Minn., and will be at home after Dec. 1 at 1110 East Sixth street.

Engagement.

Mrs. Sarah S. Bradshaw announces the engagement of her daughter Leslie to Paul J. Kalman of St. Paul. The wedding will take place this fall at Edgewater Park, N. J.

Beginners' once-a-week class, Wednesday, 7 p. m.; advanced business girls, once-a-week class, Monday, 7:45.

Swimming classes are still running on the summer schedule, but the winter schedule will go into effect Friday, Oct. 1.

Cecilian Society Will Continue Study of Russian Music

The first meeting of the season will be held by the Cecilian society Thursday afternoon, Oct. 7, at the home of Mrs. Tom Miller, 1014 East Third street. The study of Russian music which was begun by the club last year will be continued. Symphony, concerto and other forms will be analyzed. The members of the program committee are Mrs. Stella P. Stocker, Mrs. Alec M. Gow and Miss Josephine Carey.

Mrs. Hovis Will Be Guest of Honor

Mrs. C. H. Merritte of 519 Woodland avenue will entertain at tea Monday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock in honor of Mrs. William Forney Hovis, who will leave soon for Milwaukee where Dr. Hovis has accepted a pastorate. Mrs. Merritt's guests will be the present and former members of the Qui Vive Circle of Endion M. E. church.

Miss Merritt Hostess for Bridge Tea

Miss Mary Emily Merritt of 519 Woodland avenue was hostess at a bridge tea this afternoon in compliment to Miss Shields of Houghton, Mich., Miss Gay Zenola McClaran of New York, and Miss Marie Larsen of Green Bay, Wis. Golden glow was used in the sun parlor and sweet peas were the decorations in the other rooms.

Mrs. MacKaye Will Be Guest of Mrs. Mendenhall

Mrs. Benton MacKaye, one of the most forceful speakers of the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage, will arrive in Duluth this evening to be the guest for a week of her aunt, Mrs. Luther Mendenhall of Woodland avenue.

Mrs. MacKaye is the wife of Benton MacKaye of the United States forestry service who is now doing special work at the University of Minnesota. She is a sister-in-law of Percy MacKaye.

As Jessie Hardy Stubbs she was the first legislative secretary of the Illinois Suffrage association and later was a student of constitutional history at Columbia university. She was state organizer and speaker for the New York State Suffrage association until two years ago when she moved to Washington and became national press chairman of the Congressional union. She is now a member of the advisory council of the union.

Mrs. MacKaye has been giving talks in the Twin Cities on the Federal amendment and will speak in Duluth next week at the meetings which will be held under the joint auspices of the Minnesota Woman Suffrage association and the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage.

Concert at Nopeming.

Mrs. Valborg Gunderson Finkelson gave a group of violin numbers yesterday afternoon at Nopeming sanatorium and in the evening a program was given by Miss Mabel Fulton, vocalist and reader; Miss Gudrun Thrana, piano soloist and accompanist, and Miss Bernice Haverty, pianist. Ludwig Nagel arranged the concert which was the sixth of a series.

Saturday, Sept. 25, a program will be given at the sanatorium by Miss Fulton, Miss Thrana, Miss Haverty, Miss Borgil E. Dahl and Miss Evelyn Ahlen.

Lodge Notes.

Duluth Review, No. 1, Woman's Benefit association of Maccabees, will hold a regular meeting this evening at Maccabee hall. There will be an installation of officers with Mrs. Mary M. Putnam as installing officer.

Doll as Model.

When the style show begins at the lowering of the show window curtains tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock a very fashionably clad doll will make her bow to the public in one of the Glass Block windows. This small woman of fashion, who doubtless will attract as much attention as the life-size models, is one of the dolls that will be shown next week at the booth of the Junior Guild of St. James at the bazaar which will be given at the Auditorium for the benefit of St. James' orphanage.

W. R. C. Thimble Bee.

At the thimble bee of J. B. Culver Corps No. 69, W. R. C., held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. B. Ringsred, 1107 East Fifth street, a musical program was given by Miss Grace Parker of Eau Claire, Wis., Miss Margaret Day and Miss McClure. A contest was won by Mrs. Pauline Stitt and Mrs. Day. Mrs. George Brown and Mrs. M. J. McMillen assisted in the dining room. The rooms were decorated with garden flowers.

Mrs. McCormick Says 206 Will Vote for Federal Amendment

New York, Sept. 17.—Two hundred and six members of the new house of representatives will vote for the Federal amendment for woman suffrage, according to a report made by Mrs. Medill McCormick of Chicago to the executive board of the National Woman Suffrage association at a special meeting held yesterday. Among those present were Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, Mrs. Susan W. Fitzgerald of Boston, Dr. Catherine B. Davis of New York, Mrs. Henry Wade Rogers of Connecticut, and Mrs. Walter McNab Miller of Missouri.

Mrs. McCormick's report puts 206 as the "minimum figure" with "every likelihood that it will be increased before December as additional reports are received and as a direct result of the pressure which the women are now planning to exert in the various congressional districts."

According to this estimate the women have increased their strength in the lower house by thirty-two votes over the 174 which they mustered for the so-called "Susan B. Anthony amendment" last January.

"This estimate," said Mrs. McCormick, "is based upon the reports of congressional district leaders who have been quietly interviewing their representatives and senators at their homes this summer. We expect to issue a special report upon the senate shortly."

Church Meetings.

The last social affair that will be held in the present building of Pilgrim Congregational church will be the annual fall reunion and supper which will be served in the church parlors at 6:30 o'clock this evening by the ladies' union. Talks will be given by Mrs. W. S. Woodbridge, Rev. C. J. Armstrong of Superior and Rev. Mr. Brownell, president of Northland college at Ashland, Wis.

American Woman Is Army Chauffeur

MRS. BARTLETT BODER.

Mrs. Bartlett Boder, 26 years old, has been acting as motor driver for the British army in France. She drove a truck at first and afterward an ambulance. She dressed in regular chauffeur's clothing, coat and breeches, and did her work as driver and that of a mechanic as well. She arrived in New York for a rest but will return to her army work soon. Mrs. Boder was born in St. Joseph, Mo., but her present home is New York.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. Robert Dahl of Chicago has returned from Minneapolis where she visited her sister and will continue her visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. Harrison of 4501 West Third street. She is well known in the musical circles of Chicago.

* * *

Mrs. G. C. Mix, who has been the guest of Miss Hazel Fisher of 109 East Third street has returned to Minneapolis.

Novel Ways of Earning.

New York letter to the Pittsburgh Dispatch: Some of the young women who work their way while studying in this city have found new fields for earning more money than the women employed along regular lines. "I am a visiting bootblack," declared a young Western girl who occupies a flat on the upper West side. "Yes, I do other things besides blacking boots, but it was that particular branch of my trade which attracted attention and got me my clientele. I mend and clean gloves and renovate the wardrobes of men, women, children and dogs. My clients all admit that it was the bootblack that attracted them. Women hate to go to a bootblack and sit in their high chairs while they have their shoes polished. I learned this from one woman, so I had some cards printed which read: 'Visiting bootblack and valet.' Then I went to prosperous-looking apartment hotels and after finding out the names of the residents sent up my card."

Across the hall in the same flat-house live three more girls who are working their way. One is from Pennsylvania, one from Texas and the third from up state. "I clean parlors," said the New York girl. "I suppose you might call me a visiting parlor maid, for that is just what I am. There are many ladies who live in apartment hotels, who, while they cannot afford to keep a personal maid, are willing to pay some one to come once a week to give their rooms a thorough cleaning. There I come in." The girl from Pennsylvania found her field in the apartment houses with kitchenettes as a cook and general houseworker. She has all the work she can do, and declares that she is well paid for it. "There are a good many women in New York living in small apartments that for one cause or another do not keep a girl who are very glad to get someone to come in once a week to clean up and do a little baking and fancy cooking," the Pennsylvania girl explained. "Of course, there are many women and girls who go out by the day who charge less than I do, but none of them, at least none of whom I have heard, can bake cakes and cook a really good dinner."

"My work is buying and selling second-hand lace and jewelry," the girl from Texas admitted. "I didn't originate the work. It might be called an inheritance. I make a good living out of it."

Congressional Union Behind Susan B. Anthony Amendment

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 17.—The women voters' convention adopted two resolutions here late yesterday, the first of which placed the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage squarely behind the Susan B. Anthony amendment, and the second records the unalterable opposition of the convention to the introduction in congress of any other amendment dealing with the issue of woman suffrage.

The first resolution stated that "we women voters in convention assembled call upon the Sixty-fourth congress to work for this amendment irrespective of the interest of any political party."

Some opposition developed when the resolutions were offered to the convention, but only one vote was recorded against the first resolution and not more than half a dozen votes were registered against the second one. Miss Florence Jolliffe of San Francisco and Mrs. Sarah Bardfield of Portland, Or., both prominent in suffrage work in the West, were selected as envoys to carry the resolutions and a 500,000- name petition to Washington and present it to congress. Miss Margaret Anglin, the actress, presented the resolutions to the envoys, whose instructions, given before the convention by Miss Alice Paul, Washington, D. C., national chairman of the Congressional union, were to take petition and resolutions to Washington "and stay with the job until congress passes the Susan B. Anthony amendment."

MARGARET ANGLIN.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Care of the Insane.

The fact that there is frequent evidence of the brutality perpetrated in insane asylums, both private and public, and that numerous sane persons are being confined in institutions against their will, gives food for questioning thought. It is a difficult subject to tackle, but for this very reason it should engage the best minds with no attention paid to officialdom, and not be settled until it is settled aright.

The crux of the whole matter, it seems to me, is the impossibility of the heads of these large institutions, no matter how humane their methods may be, keeping track of all that goes on among the army of hired subordinates in the scattered buildings. "The hireling fleeth because he is a hireling and careth not for the sheep," is too often the attitude of these men and women treating their charges simply as cases and with no idea of obeying more than the mere letter of the law of the institution, and then only when under the eye of a superior.

I have noted from time to time in the rural and agricultural papers an advertisement to the effect that "Inexperienced young men and women are wanted at once for the care of the insane." Why inexperienced? Is it that unsophistication and brawn are the required, preferred assets in coping with the difficult conditions to be met?

One outside of an asylum would suppose that knowledge of the insane and the use of tact were the necessary traits for successful attendants. I am told that in Sweden, where the medical standing of nursing is very high, that the full course involves several months training in the care of the insane. This is as it should be in this country, where conditions have frequently bordered on the scandalous.

I wonder if it would not be a good idea to have small model institutions to serve as normal training schools, so that raw recruits shall not be foisted directly upon the wards before being given the benefit of a thorough training with these unfortunates who need all the pity that is consistent with order, system and discipline.

Poet's Daughter Now at Faversham Home

EVA LE GALLIENNE.

Eva Le Gallienne, daughter of that passionate poet Richard Le Gallienne, arrived in New York Sunday. Her mother is no longer the poet's wife. Miss Le Gallienne, who is 17, has been appearing on the stage in London and she may act here but just at present she is visiting William Faversham and his wife.

Points Worth Remembering

Paint marks may be removed from glass with a paste made of whiting and ammonia. Leave the paste on till it dries, then wash off with soap and warm water.

* * *

A little vinegar will take the tarnish off the range trimmings.

* * *

Lemon juice added to the water in which rice is boiled improves the flavor and makes it beautifully white.

* * *

* * *

Sponging with warm vinegar is said to remove the shine from blue serge. Sponge thoroughly, then lay a cloth over the serge and press with a hot iron.

* * *

To relieve the pain and inflammation of a burn, apply pure grain alcohol at once.

Stains on a mirror can be removed with a cloth dampened with camphor.

When beating butter and sugar to a cream, a perforated spoon will make the task easier.

* * *

When baking fish, never forget to line the pan with waxed paper; then there will be no disagreeably sticky dish to wash afterward.

* * *

To stiffen fine muslins or white lace, dip them in skim milk.

When chopping suet for puddings or any other purpose, it is a good plan to sprinkle a little ground rice over the suet before beginning to chop it. This generally prevents the suet from sticking to the knife and simplifies matters considerably.

To keep bread-and-butter fresh and moist, put it in a cool place, cover closely with a serviette or clean cloth wrung out of cold water, and many hours afterward it will be as moist as when cut. Sometimes it will be found convenient to keep bread-and-butter for afternoon tea in this way.

FOUR DISTINGUISHED ENGLISHMEN ARE IN DULUTH ON MYSTERIOUS MISSION, BUT TALK FREELY ON WAR CONDITIONS

Former Secretary to Lord Roseberry in Party; Say England Is Determined to See War Through to Bitter End; Labor Troubles and Conscription.

Thomas Lenox Gilmour, former secretary to Lord Roseberry and prominent in English political and official circles; Charles Perkins of Petrograd, an Englishman who holds large oil interests in Russia; Bertram Mitford, a financier of London, and Ralph Slye of London, another financier, arrived in Duluth shortly before noon today. The business of the four men in Duluth is a matter upon which they refused to comment.

"England," declared Mr. Gilmour, "has never been so confident as to the ultimate success of the allies. The dangerous period has been passed. We had to improvise. There is now a united England with one fixed purpose. For a period there was not a united England as to means of prosecuting the war."

This statement was confirmed with unanimity by the other members of the party.

Mr. Perkins has but recently left Petrograd. He was asked regarding the sentiment in Russia's capital concerning the reverses of the armies of the czar.

"They say," declared Mr. Perkins, "that we have 7,000 miles between the enemy and home, and that's a jolly long waltz."

Declaring that England would refuse to consent to an immature peace, that the British subjects were united in the determination to see through to the end a long and grim war, and that England was today better prepared to prosecute that war, Mr. Gilmour announced his belief that there could be but one result of the present conflict, and that, the complete subjugation of Germany.

Astounded World.

"We were surprised by the state of preparedness of Germany," he declared. "The world in general has been astounded. Englishmen believed that the normal state of being of a nation was one of peace. Germany has shown the world that a preparedness for war has been her normal state of being.

"It has seemed to us that Germany has sought war in turn with Austria, France and the nations she is fighting. England was far from being prepared for war. Germany's great object was to annihilate France. Failing in this, she sought to smash the Russian army. Both of these plans have met with failure.

"There has never been any doubt as to the ultimate outcome of the war. Englishmen believe that England will win. This belief is now stronger than ever. We believe that Germany is at the apex of her efforts; that the future will disclose a lessening of her offense. The war, in a measure, resolves itself into a matter of arithmetic; England and her allies possess the men and resources, and in the end must win."

Answering a question as to strikes in the United Kingdom, Mr. Gilmour declared that socialism and unionism were both in a measure responsible for labor difficulties.

"We have some 3,000,000 of the better class of English workmen enlisted in the army. These men are either at the front or in the training camps. I don't think you can say that the British laborer is not loyal. Some of those not enlisted have sought to take advantage of conditions brought on by the war. Any unfairness to the working man the government has sought to remedy.

Opposed to Conscription.

The average Englishman is opposed to conscription, said Mr. Gilmour. He declared, however, that should it be decided that conscription was the most efficacious method of winning for the cause of England and the allies, England would stand solidly behind that measure.

Kitchener Is "Solid."

"Lord Kitchener," said Mr. Gilmour, "has the entire support of England. The attack on him originated through political influence. Let me tell you that the papers responsible for the attack lost heavily in circulation. England as a nation believes implicitly in Lord Kitchener."

That Russia has met reverses through lack of munitions and that this grave handicap to the operations of the Russian armies will be removed through heavy importation of munitions from Japan, is the belief forcibly expressed by Mr. Perkins.

"The world in general has little idea of the extent of Japan's contribution in the way of munitions to Russia," said he. "My brother but recently counted a single consignment of thirty cars of arms. Japan is supplying a larger amount of war implements to Russia than is even dreamed of."

Mr. Perkins gives it as his opinion that the German soldiers will suffer greatly during the impending winter campaign. The severe winter climate of Russia, he stated, would prove hazardous to the soldiers of the kaiser.

"Peace is not even considered in Russia. I have heard no talk of it. Russia possesses resources in men that are almost illimitable. The removal of the grand duke, I believe, was ordered to please the people. In military circles he bears the reputation of being a most remarkable military genius. However, prejudice and ignorance shape public opinion in Russia as in no other country."

Do Not Fear Air Raids.

While declaring that London was in almost total darkness these precarious times, because of air raids, Ralph Slye declared a myth the belief that the people of the metropolis of the world lived in fear and trembling of the attacks of the German Zeppelins.

"We have painted the top of all our street lights black," he said, "to prevent an overhead glow. Many of the lights are extinguished. We have taken all necessary precautions, but I don't think the average Londoner lives in unceasing terror of German air raids.

"While business in London is not normal, it is less affected by the war than one would naturally suppose."

In Iron Hoop.

Reiterating the statement of his colleague, Mr. Gilmour, that England felt no faltering doubt as to the ultimate result of the war, Bertram Mitford declared that Germany was in the position of one surrounded by an iron hoop, and that while the hoop might be strained at certain points of its circumference, nevertheless Germany remained in the circle.

Mr. Gilmour stated that the English government has ten big national munition factories working and has control of innumerable others.

"England has practically worked order out of seeming chaos," he said, "and from this point of the great war on to the end, it is believed in England that the grave problem of supplying arms and munitions will be most satisfactorily solved."

When Sir James Barrie, the famous Scotch author, came to the United States a year or so ago on government business for England, he was accompanied by Mr. Gilmour. In addition it is stated that Mr. Gilmour made his present trip to the United States with several high British officials.

All of the members of the party will leave this evening for Winnipeg.

NEW PAVING READY TO USE

Three Stretches Open to Public; Park Point Ready Soon.

Good Progress Being Made on Other Roadway Jobs.

Three new pavements are now open to the public.

Commissioner Farrell, head of the public works division, announced this morning that the pavements on Woodland avenue, from Fourth street to Kent road; Ninth street, from Seventh to Fourteenth avenues east, and Sixth street, from Twenty-first to Twenty-fifth avenues west, have been completed and are now open to traffic. Work on these thoroughfares was begun early in the summer.

A week from tomorrow Minnesota avenue on Park Point, from Twelfth street to Thirty-eighth street, will be opened for the first time and motorists will have a completely paved roadway direct from the aerial bridge to the Oatka branch of the boat club, a distance of about forty blocks.

Progress Elsewhere.

Work on the other pavements is progressing rapidly and Commissioner Farrell expects all the improvements finished by the middle of next month. The percentage of work done on the larger pavements, according to Mr. Farrell, follows:

Commonwealth avenue, from Crestline court to the south line of Gary, 60 per cent; Grand avenue, from Eighty-fourth avenue west to Zimmerly avenue, 50 per cent; Highland street, from Fifty-seventh to Sixty-fifth avenue west, 75 per cent; Sixth street, from Fifteenth to Eighteenth avenue east, 75 per cent; Exeter street, from Grand to Pacific avenue, 80 per cent; Devonshire street, from Grand to Michigan avenue, 40 per cent; First street, from Twenty-eighth avenue east to Congdon park, 60 per cent, and Twentieth avenue west, from Superior to First street, 75 per cent.

BERGMAN WAS THREATENED

Letter From Former Sweetheart Taken From His Effects.

Discoveries of letters containing veiled threats against Gustav Vern Bergman, the former Duluthian who was found murdered near Buffalo, Minn., were made yesterday by the Minneapolis police. The letters were from Miss Belva Linn Welch, 20 East Franklin avenue, Minneapolis, a graduate nurse to whom Bergman was at one time engaged.

Miss Welch in a letter is said to have intimated that something dreadful would happen to him. She told the police that in writing to Bergman she had not intended to convey any threat and did not hold any grudge against him. She said she had been at one time engaged to him, but broke the engagement when she learned that he was keeping company with another woman whom she believed resided in Duluth. She said she had not seen Bergman since April 1.

"We had lovers' quarrels, but they were no more serious than those of others," she said, "and that letter, which he kept meant absolutely nothing."

Miss Welch said she did not know anything of Bergman's doings after April, when they parted company.

"I am sorry that I ever wrote the letter, but women do those things sometimes and I am surprised that Bergman didn't destroy it. It meant nothing and it is foolish to think that any of my friends or I myself should wish him any harm. We simply quarreled and quit. As to giving information about him I haven't much to give. I never even heard of Miss Fredin and I never heard very much about his family. I did hear of the Duluth woman and broke our engagement. That was all there was to it."

Find Norberg.

The police yesterday located Milton Norberg, 1018 Hawthorne avenue, on whom the police had depended for some clew to the tragedy. Norberg was located on a ranch near Henry, S. D., and was much surprised to learn of the murder of his friend. He had started to work at the ranch on July 29. This was three days before Bergman made his last deposit in the Hennepin County Savings bank. Norberg declared he had not intended to go on the advertising trip.

Seeking clews in the case, Sheriff A. H. Grant of Wright county, was in Minneapolis today and reported that Richard Pannett, a farmer, living a half mile from the scene of the crime, had told him several men in an automobile drove into his yard the night of Sept. 3 or 4, about the time Bergman is believed to have been slain. Pannett said the men came from the direction of the W. A. Gilchrist's pasture, where Bergman's body was found, and he thinks they mistook the road leading to his home for a main road. They hurriedly turned around and left.

Sheriff Grant said today the automobile seen on the streets of Buffalo and detained because its occupants were disorderly was not that of Bergman, because it was an old model and his was a new car.

Following a report from Rutledge that automobile No. 74,828 had passed through that village Monday, detectives and sheriffs in their efforts to clear up the mystery of the murder of Bergman, today telegraphed the towns along the state road between Minneapolis and Duluth for information.

A woman who lives on the state road near Rutledge declared she had seen a machine occupied by several young men pass along the road and she noticed the number.

Other towns along the road will be asked about this machine.

POOL TABLE LIMIT REACHED AND PASSED

New Application Will Be Turned Down for That Reason.

Gus Kallimanis will be denied a pool room license for 30 East Superior street when the council meets next Monday afternoon.

Because an ordinance prohibits more than one pool table for every 500 persons in Duluth the city commission will deny the application of Kallimanis to operate a pool room in the basement at the address named. Only license transfers are now being granted by the commissioners.

There are 208 tables licensed in the city of Duluth, according to City Clerk Borgen. The ordinance regulating these tables was passed when 208 tables were licensed and the council at that time agreed to prohibit an increase and to work for a decrease in the future.

Duluth's population at present, estimated at 95,000, permits a total of 190 tables.

YOM KIPPUR KEPT BY DULUTH JEWS

Saturday Services in the Temple and Synagogue—Day of Fasting.

Yom Kippur services will start in the Hebrew houses of worship at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

A feature of this evening's service will be the singing of "Kol Nidro" by a special quartet, at Temple Emanuel, Seventh avenue east and Second street, and by a large choir at the Adas Israel synagogue, Third avenue east and Third street. "Kol Nidro" is said to be the most beautiful chant among the Hebrew religious hymns.

This evening at Temple Emanuel, Dr. Maurice Lefkovits will preach on "The Cry of Our Brethren." Tomorrow morning the Yom Kippur, or the Day of Atonement, services will start at 10:15 o'clock and Dr. Lefkovits will preach on "Three-fold Cord." In the afternoon at 3:30 o'clock the sermon subject will be "The Hope of Immortality."

Yom Kippur services continue all day tomorrow, coming to a close at sundown, when adult Jews cease their annual fast. This is the holiest day in the Hebrew calendar.

Cocoanut Oil Makes A Splendid Shampoo

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, the less soap you use the better.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

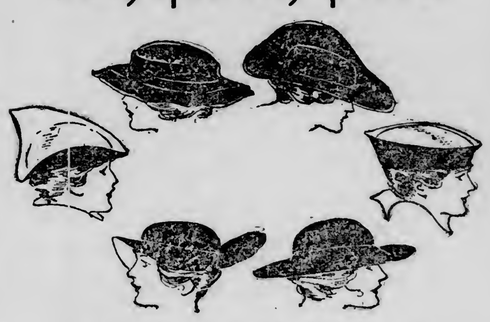

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months. —Advertisement.

MARINE

ORE SHIPPERS WANT TONNAGE

Rushed By Sales, They Require Many More Ships.

Much Grain Tonnage Also Chartered—Coal Is Puzzle.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Some ore shippers are exerting greater pressure than heretofore to have vessel owners put in tonnage for ore. Mines are also shipping more heavily than normally and are working under pressure. It seems to be the aim of ore shippers to get all the ore out of the mines that it is possible to do before October. This does not mean the ore shipments will let up then, but that with sales being made they are trying to make good.

The ships that are due to load grain also are beginning to report and show much tonnage has been diverted from the ore trade. It happens that a large number of ships that have not been given ore in the dull years did not contract for as much ore as they could carry and have been chartered for grain. Most of this surplus for the next thirty days has been chartered for grain.

Although there seems to be more tonnage than there is grain when the market is not active, on the days when grain is being offered by shippers the supply of tonnage seems to decrease. More than 50,000,000 bushels of grain capacity has been chartered for the rest of the season and the demand hardly seems to have begun.

Coal shipments are the enigma of the lake business. Some docks increased their orders for coal while others seem to have only enough room for a few more cargoes. Some of the docks that increased shipments from lower lakes have reduced the shipping orders and others have increased their orders. There seems to be no way of telling what the demand for lake coal will be the rest of the season.

Boats continue to lose time because of thick weather and congestion at some of the docks. This is true of the loading docks and the week for these docks is as heavy as last week was at this end of the route. There is a vast amount of ore being shipped. The pace that was set the first ten days of the month does not seem to abate.

REJECT WAR PLOT IDEA OF SINKING

Onoko Hearing Brings Out Feeling That Boat Was Tampered With.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 17.—Investigation of the sinking of the steamer Onoko in Lake Superior with 110,000 bushels of wheat for England failed to clear up the mystery yesterday. Though officers and owners rejected the suspicion of any war plot in connection with the sinking, they admitted there was a possibility the boat had been tampered with. The investigation will be continued today.

"There is a possibility the vessel was tampered with," said Capt. Dunn, who, with members of the crew, testified at the inquiry held by the owners.

Hans Sorenson, a watchman on the vessel, said he believed the boat was tampered with.

George H. Steinbrenner, after listening to the testimony, said he believed the sinking was purely an accident.

that munitions would be paid for in some other manner, possibly by gold shipments.

Cover All Exports.

Great Britain and France, it is said, oppose this plan, however, and are desirous of having the big credit cover exports of every form.

Increasing willingness on the part of certain so-called pro-German financial institutions here to participate, was manifest today. These banking houses, it is said, are pro-German only in sympathy and if invited, many would subscribe large sums to a credit loan which would operate toward a continuance of the present prosperity enjoyed by American exporters.

Opponents to Loan.

Opponents of the loan carried their campaign into Wall street today and announced their sentiment from flaming placards in front of the office of J. P. Morgan & Co.

"Wall Street's Shame," read one of several large signboards held aloft by leaders of a file of men who marched through the financial section as a protest against establishing the loan. Another read: "The Money Trust Is Lending Billions of American Money to Bankrupt England, France and Russia." The procession ended with a man carrying a big sign on which was painted in red, white and black, "Billions for King George."

The paraders stopped in front of the Morgan offices. A crowd collected and detectives ordered them to move on.

Earlier in the day a large man, dressed in a bright red coat and blue breeches which he said were emblematic of the British army uniform, sauntered through Wall street and stopped on the sidewalk in front of the Morgan office. A diminutive straw hat, whose crown was not larger than a silver dollar, rested on his head, and in his hands he carried a many-colored banner on which were written sentiments similar to those later displayed by the paraders. The crowd immediately surrounded him, choked the street for several minutes. The police finally sent him away.

GEN. VON HINDENBURG'S FORCES ADVANCE

or British sources, severe fighting seems to be under way again on the Gallipoli front. The Turks, according to their reports, have made successful attacks in the region of Anafarta. Athens and Rome continue to send out reports that the defensive power of the Turks is weakening, but no official news has been received in confirmation.

Dispatches from Greece express strong belief that Turkey and Bulgaria have definitely reached an agreement, but in the near east, it is not believed this will lead to actual participation in the war by Bulgaria on the side of the central powers. Nor is an immediate offensive by Austro-German forces expected against Serbia.

Artillery combats continue on the western front. The German reply to French guns is growing in intensity.

French Statement.

Paris, Sept. 17, 2:30 p. m.—The report of the French war office on the progress of hostilities, given out this afternoon, dwells upon the continuance of severe artillery engagements, particularly in the vicinity of Souchez and Arras; between the Somme and the Aisne, and between the Aisne and the Argonne.

The text of the communication follows:

"In the Artois district between Angres and Souchez and to the south of Arras our batteries, responding to the fire of the enemy, bombarded violently the German positions and German provision trains.

"Between the Somme and the Aisne there has taken place firing from trench to trench as well as a certain activity on the part of the German heavy artillery to which we replied with energy.

"In the region of Sapignuel and between the Aisne river and the Argonne district the fighting with artillery and with bombs was continued during a part of last night.

"There is nothing to report from the remainder of the front."

Millions of Reserves Available.

London, Sept. 17.—A good deal of importance is attached to the decision of Russia to call to the colors the reserves of the territorial army. Should the age limit be fixed at 35 years this fresh call would mean the possible addition of 8,000,000 men to the Russian armies, including the men who had passed through the first line and the reserves and those who heretofore have been exempted as students, or only sons, or men who are not quite up to the physical standard.

Naturally, all of these men could not be armed and equipped, but Russia could have the pick of them.

Russian Statement.

Petrograd, Sept. 17, via London.—The following statement was issued last night at the war office

"Southwest of Dvinsk we repulsed repeated German attacks close to our entanglements between the Dvinsk road and Lake Samasa. Detachments of German cavalry appeared in the region of the Molodetchno-Polotzk railway.

"Further northwest of Vilna, the enemy succeeded in crossing to the left bank of the Viliya. Southeast of Orany the Germans are attempting to cross the river Versovka, where it enters Lake Tchanka. Near the village of Elsmonty, our troops drove the enemy back into the river.

"In the direction of Pinsk our troops are falling back under the enemy's pressure. In the district of Nijnistoshod we repulsed an enemy attack against Ugrinitchi.

"The enemy continues his counter-attacks in the Derazno region, and on different parts of our front in Galicia. Badly shaken, the enemy is seeking by these counter-attacks to consolidate his positions, but these efforts, even in the best circumstances, are followed only by small local successes and our troops continue successfully to fulfill their tasks.

"West of the village of Pendyki in the Derazno region we took 410 prisoners and four machine guns. By the capture of a distillery and a cemetery near Derazno we took over 700 prisoners and four machine guns, repulsing desperate enemy counter-attacks.

"Near the village of Novo Alexiniec the town of Vichnevetz and on the Stripa west of the Tarnopol-Trembowla line, we are engaged in desperate actions in many places against the enemy, who is clinging to the forts of the river.

"Sunday's Vienna official statement announces that we were repulsed toward the bridge head of Tarnopol and suffered excessive losses near Tarnopol, but the enemy has no information from which to judge the extent of those losses, for the simple reason that in the fighting of the 10th and 11th, we held everything. The following days, in spite of reinforcements which arrived, the enemy was driven back still further west of Tarnopol toward the villages of Gladki and Zeebroff, and even part of the line of the River Stripa."

German Statement.

Berlin, Sept. 17.—The official statement issued by the war office today follows:

"Western theater of war: In the Champagne we captured, by an attack with hand grenades, a section of a trench in the outer positions of the French, northwest of Perthes. A counter attack was repulsed.

"Eastern theater of war: Army group of Field Marshal von Hindenburg: South of Dvinsk we reached the Komai high road. Vidzy was captured early this morning after fierce fighting from house to house.

"Northwest and northeast of Vilna our attack continued. The Szczara has been crossed near the place bearing the same name.

"The troops of the army of Prince Leopold also have effected crossings over the Szczara at several points.

"Army group of Field Marshal von Mackensen: The marsh districts north of Pinsk have been cleared of the enemy.

"Southeastern theater of war: There is no news to report concerning the German troops."

SHORTAGE OF AMMUNITION

main railroads," said Dr. Leineweber. "We saw long ammunition and supply trains, one behind the other, stalled for two or three days at a time. We were told that lack of coal held up the trains. This occurred many times and I later learned conditions were the same elsewhere in Russia.

"A great many Poles have lost their property to the Germans, but the majority of Poles are in some sympathy with the Germans."

Roughly Treated.

Dr. Leineweber and his family went to visit relatives near Grodno, more than a year ago. Last November he and his brother-in-law crossed the Dvina river to Dvinsk to buy supplies. The men left their passports at police headquarters, being told the papers would be sent to their hotels shortly.

The same evening, Dr. Leineweber said, the chief of police and ten officers entered their room, stripped them, took away all papers and letters and put Dr. Leineweber and his brother-in-law in a small cell with five murderers. Forty-eight hours later the Grodno police obtained their release.

HAIR IS GRAY; YOU LOOK OLD

Look Young By Darkening Gray Hair With Q-Ban; No Dye; Harmless.

If your hair is gray, faded, wispy, thin, prematurely gray, or streaked with gray, you will look twelve or fifteen years younger if you darken your gray hair by shampooing your hair and scalp a few times with Q-Ban Hair Color Restorer. It is harmless and not a dye, but acts on the roots, makes gray hair healthy, turning all your gray hair to a beautiful, lustrous, soft, natural dark shade, darkening your gray hair and entire head of hair so evenly and naturally that no one need suspect you use Q-Ban. Besides, Q-Ban stops dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair, promotes its growth. Guaranteed to give satisfaction or money refunded. RENEWED ACTIVITY OF BALKAN DIPLOMATS stances the attitude taken by the government is perilous.

The Bulgarian government's decision to make terms with Turkey has met with considerable opposition. Advices from Bucharest recently reported a majority of Bulgarian statesmen as favoring a rapprochement with the quadruple entente, Serbia and Greece.

Will Celebrate.

Vienna, Sept. 17, via Berlin and London.—The surrender by Turkey to Bulgaria of the territory from the Dedeagatch railroad will be celebrated publicly in Bulgaria on Sept. 19, the thirtieth anniversary of the annexation by that nation of Eastern Roumelia. Pupils of the schools will take part in the celebration. A royal decree announcing the new acquisition of territory will be read in all parts of the country.

Serbia Has Done Her Duty.

Paris, Sept. 17.—"Serbia has done her duty fully as an ally," said Premier Pachitch, as quoted by the correspondent at Nish of the Petit Parisien. "First she has soundly beaten the Austrians in the field. Second, she has made the concessions asked of her by her great allies in order to bring Bulgaria into the Balkan entente.

"Whether Bulgaria will come into the entente is another question.

"The Balkan states are deeply concerned over the reported concentration of the enemy north of Serbia for the purpose of going to the assistance of the Turks. As a matter of fact, no army of the enemy has assembled on the Danube. We have continuous and detailed reports from French aviators on this point.

"Moreover," the premier added, in a tone of deep conviction, 'the Serbian army has been reorganized and is well supplied with munitions. It would render most difficult for the enemy a crossing of the mountainous country. He would require at least 450,000 men to make the attempt. Where would the Germans find them now?"

Bulgaria Will Not Help.

Bucharest, Roumania, Sept. 17, via Berlin and London.—"The allies know that in no case may they count on Bulgaria's help on the Gallipoli peninsula," says the semi-official Independance Romaine, in an article dealing with the Turco-Bulgarian agreement. "They have lost that part of their diplomatic contest in the Balkans. It remains to be seen how the other part will come out.

"King Ferdinand will leave tomorrow for a week's vacation on the Danube. This fact completely disposes of reports concerning the activities of Roumanian troops on the frontier which in reality are nothing more than the annual maneuvers."

INDICATION OF GOOD WILL

ports from Washington concerning the Arabic case and its reference to The Hague, the National Zeitung says it understands negotiations are in progress in Washington looking to a removal of all misunderstanding. These negotiations are confidential for the present, it says, but there is definite reason for the hope that they will lead to a favorable result.

The present situation seems to have resulted from the supposed conflict between Ambassador Von Bernstorff's declarations and the Arabic note, the National Zeitung continues. In reality, they were two separate and distinct pronouncements, notwithstanding their seemingly close connection, inasmuch as Count Von Bernstorff could not possibly have known that the Arabic intended to ram the submarine which sank her.

STEFANSSON SAFE

from Baillie islands on Aug. 31. The message follows:

Explorer's Message.

"As unavoidable delays threatened and the running cost of chartering Polar Bear was high, I purchased her and engaged her on terms similar to Karluk. Engaged Hoff, engineer of schooner Ruby, to take place of Blue of Alaska. Engaged five extra helpers for southern parts who have ample outfit for one year and Polar Bear for two years. Plan continue northern explorations to 145 west and 82 north if northerly course is secured."

Stefansson's determination to proceed with his explorations, despite the loss of the Karluk, the chief vessel in his original expedition, shows the caliber of the man, and this news was received with gratification by officials here.

Well-Known Vessel.

The Polar Bear, engaged by him in place of the Karluk, is a well-known and tried Arctic vessel and he seems to have gathered supplies for a further stay of two years in the Arctic zone.

Baillie islands, from which Stefansson's message is dated, are east of the mouth of the Mackenzie river, toward Banks Land, and lie in latitude 70 north; longitude 127 west.

The coasts of Baillie islands, which are separated from Cape Bathurst by a narrow channel, are so flat that the few boats that have reached there have had to anchor nearly a mile from the beach. Capt. Pullen camped on the larger island in 1850, trying to get around Cape Bathurst, but he was unable to do so on account of the ice, which was piled upon the islands and in the channel.

Last Word April 7, 1914.

Stefansson was last heard from on April 7, 1914, when he and several of his party started out from a point known since as Camp Zeparadon, on the north coast of Alaska. The explorer and his companions expected to return to Martin point.

Since then several steamers which have penetrated Point Barrow, the most northerly point of Alaska, in quest of news of the missing explorer, have returned without any word from him or his companions. Stefansson and his companions, generally believed to number two, were well supplied with food and ammunition when they started out in search of new land.

Search by East Guard Ships.

Washington, Sept. 17.—The last report from coast guard ships which have just been received here from Nome, where it was dispatched on Aug. 23. Capt. Cochran of the coast guard ship Bear reported thathe had been at Point Barrow on July 30 and also had stopped at Cape Prince of Wales on his way to Nome without finding any trace or news of the explorers.

"No vessel had passed Point Barrow from the eastward," he reported, "and no news had been heard of the Canadian Arctic expedition nor Stefanson himself."

The Bear is now at Unalaska, 800 miles from Nome. It will be impossible for her to go north again before spring when the ice breaks up in the Bering straits.

Schooner Brings News.

Nome, Alaska, Sept. 17.—The power schooner Ruby arrived from Herschel island, on the Arctic coast west of the mouth of the Mackenzie river, yesterday afternoon, with news that Vilhjalmar Stefansson, the Canadian explorer, who with two companions, Storker Storkerson and Ole Anderson, set out from Martin Point, Alaska, March 22, 1914, over the frozen Polar ocean to search for supposed new lands in the Beaufort sea, is not only alive and well, but has accomplished every purpose for which the hazardous journey was undertaken.

Capt. S. F. Cottle, master of the Ruby, says that Stefansson is now on Banks land, east of the Mackenzie, outfitting for continuance of the explorations to the westward to ascertain the full extent of the new land he discovered southwest of St. Patrick's land. Stefansson discovered a continuance of the continental shelf several degrees west of Banks land and even determined its southern limits, but was unable to continue his explorations to the north and west.

Returned to Land.

Stefansson told Capt. Cottle that after leaving the supporting party on the ice north of Martin Point, he and his party companions set their faces to the north, but after continuing their journey ninety days they decided to return to land. They turned back and landed on the mainland at a point near which the power boat Mary Sachs, of the Stefansson expedition, was wintering. Here the three men outfitted for another three months' trip. They again went upon the ice, going north and west discovering the continental shelf.

On Ice Seven Months.

Stefansson spent some time exploring his new field but at length, owing to scarcity of provisions, was compelled to set out on the return journey to land. The men had been on the ice for nearly seven months. The return to shore was accomplished with great difficulty. The men subsisted on the most meager rations, but kept moving day after day. The dogs were almost famished. Finally the party arrived at Banks Land thoroughly worn out. For seven months they had been on scanty rations, traveling almost continuously.

Stefansson and his companions made their way from Banks land, which is uninhabited, to Baillie island, which is visited by whalers. Capt. Louis Lane, cruising on his power schooner Polar Bear, found Stefansson and his companions making their way along the southwestern coast of Baillie island. They were in excellent health and spirits and eager to reach the southern wing of the expedition that they might obtain supplies and continue their explorations. Stefansson had expected to fall in with the Polar Bear just as he did.

Chartered Boat.

He immediately chartered the Polar Bear and with Capt. Lane proceeded northward at once in the hope of making further discoveries while the sea was open and free of ice. The season was too far advanced, however, and the explorers reluctantly steered for Herschel island. The Polar Bear was at Herschel island when the power schooner Ruby, which had been trying for two years to reach Herschel island, arrived there from Port Clarence with supplies for the government and Hudson Bay company.

Immediately upon arriving at Herschel island Stefansson with tremendous energy began preparations for continuance of his explorations. He purchased the Polar Bear for $20,000 from Capt. Lane and bought also the power boat Gladiator, a small vessel engaged in trading along the coast. After fully equipping these vessels Stefansson sailed with them for Banks Land, where he probably is now.

Empress Receives Nurses.

Berlin, Sept. 17, via wireless to Sayville.—The German empress, says the Overseas News agency, today received three superior nurses of the Russian Red Cross, who have come to Germany to inspect the Russian prison camps.

Tomorrow We Open the Door!

We have the key and are ready to let you in to view the new fall styles.

Our windows are the mirror of our store. They reflect the beauty of the wearables we sell and our unwritten all-embracing guarantee vouches for their quality and price-worthiness.

The HAT hits of the new Fall season are displayed in the West Window on Superior street.

Beautiful Manhattan SHIRTS, that fit like made-to-order, adorn the side of this show.

In the Vestibule Case we display high-class novelties in WOMEN'S SHOES—veritable works of art made by Hanan. The things ladies used to send out of town for.

Next in the Superior Street Windows is a characteristic showing of the good SUITS which The Columbia sells at $20.

The front is a brilliant exposition of our high-class $25, $30 and $35 SUITS, tailored by famous makers — the Stein-Bloch, Sincerity and Society Clothes Shops.

The Third Avenue Side beams with telling answers to the young man's suit question, a window full of new COLUMBO $14.50 SUITS.

Up the Avenue BOYS' SUITS are shown which will please the critical eye of Duluth Mothers. Other things in Head-to-Foot Outfits for youngsters of every age are in splendid evidence.

Warmth and comfort stream forth from the useful SWEATER and necessary MACKINAWS seen as you walk northward on Third Avenue and dream of the coming wintry days.

The BIG TEN, a new Columbia $10 Suit marvel delights the eye of the man who wants a new suit but thought he could not afford one.

Medium weight UNDERWEAR has its inning next. These $2 Union Suits breathe health and comfort, as do the 25-cent socks shown here.

Visions of rest and peace are reflected in the PAJAMAS displayed in the following section, while hustling crowds and noisy street life comes to mind when you behold the staunch SUIT CASES and BAGS alongside of them.

Then come SHOES for men and women—the serviceable Columbia and the world-famous Hanan kinds — they will lead your feet to the entrance to our Shoe Department, in front of which the Special Fall Opening Display ends with a display of worthy SCHOOL SHOES for boys and girls.

The door is open---come in---old and young---rich and poor---our salesmen are ready to show and explain to you all these things, and more, inside the store, and to promenade with you from department to department, even as the ad-man did from window to window.

LAKE COUNTY FAIR AWARDS

Louis Rose Wins First Prize for Best Display of Produce.

Duluth Day and Final Day of Two Harbors Fair Bring Crowd.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—This, the final day of the Lake county fair, also Duluth day, brought out the banner attendance, the weather being all that could be expected. Many Duluthians came by auto and train, and all enjoyed visiting the fine show.

The livestock was judged this morning and the awards announced soon before the Duluthians arrived.

The agricultural department awards made yesterday afternoon showed there was strong competition in that line.

The first prize of $25 offered by the Duluth & Iron Range railroad for the best display of farm produce was won by Louis D. Rose; the second prize of $15 was won by S. M. Jensen of Silver Creek, and the third prize, $5, by Bryndwr farm, Frank De Puy, proprietor.

In the homecroft department, George Watts took first premium for the best collection of garden truck grown on over two lots in the city; Fred D. W. Thias, first premium for the best collection grown on two or less city lots, and Joseph Mason took second premium.

Special interest was taken this year in the poultry department.

The following were the winners in the poultry department: Barred Plymouth Rocks, the Crooke-Bangsund company, clean sweep, taking all the prizes; white Plymouth Rocks, Fred D. W. Thias, all prizes except the second cockerel, which was won by Charles Bonderson; partridge Plymouth Rocks, Albert Hanson, no competition; golden Wyandottes, Fred D. W. Thias, all the prizes; white Wyandottes, Ernest E. Cavallin took honors for first cock, first, second and third hen and second and third cockerel; Earling Cavallin took first cockerel and third pullet, and Elmer Peterson took first and second pullet; buff Wyandottes, clean sweep of prizes by Fred D. WOULD GIVE WORK TO ALL

Year-Round Employment Problem Tackled By Associated Charities.

Miss Meeker Would Provide Against Possible Scarcity of Work.

Plans for providing work the year around in all emergency cases were discussed this noon at a meeting of the board of directors of the Associated Charities held in the assembly room of the Commercial club following a dinner which was served by the club. A majority of the directors argued that it would be desirable to have places where all unemployed men could find temporary work until they could get regular jobs. Men who refuse to accept employment should be branded as vagrants and sent to the work farm, where they would be forced to labor was the consensus of opinion among the directors.

"In times past, when labor conditions in Duluth were hard, we found it next to impossible to get employment for worthy men," said Miss Edna Meeker, secretary of the Associated Charities. "During parts of the winter months the rock piles afforded some work for the needy, but what we want is work for men the year around.

"Just at present there are no men seeking aid from us because labor conditions are good and there is plenty of work. I do not look for such a winter and spring as the last one, at least for a long time, but it is always well to be provided. Many men who came to us seeking work in the past were worthy and really wanted to work, but they refused to accept charity. Of course, in some cases they had to because they had children, but the majority of them were opposed to receiving something for nothing. These men should have employment and that is what we are trying to arrange for now for future benefits.

"Just what will come of the scheme we have under way I cannot say, but I feel reasonably certain that we will get what we want."

Take Lime for Tuberculosis

In the Journal of the American Medical Association (July 27, 1912, Page 308), Dr. C. F. Dixon, of Minneapolis, holds that a "deficiency of calcium" (lime) is responsible for the physical conditions which lead to tuberculosis, "and the therapy he advocates rests on this basis."

One of the reasons for the widespread success of Eckman's Alterative in the treatment of tuberculosis is its ability to supply this deficiency. It contains a lime salt in such combination with other valuable agents as to be easily assimilated by the average person. Many cases seem to have yielded to it.

We make no exaggerated claims for it, but prefer that it be tried on the same basis as any other prescription, and since it contains no opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs, it is safe. From your druggist or direct.

CONSIDER PENSION PLAN.

Great Northern Veterans Have Session at Grand Forks.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Great Northern Veterans' association, which met here yesterday, concluded the day with a banquet, attended by about 800 people.

The veterans considered principally the proposed plan for a pension system, as outlined by President McMillan.

James J. Hill was unable to attend the gathering and wired a message of greeting. The veterans, in turn, wired birthday greetings to him.

GOOD GROWTH IS REFLECTED

Total School Attendance Shows an Increase of 600 Pupils.

Indicates Growth of 5 Per Cent in Population of City.

Gain in Duluth's school population this year, as compared with 1914, amounts to 600 pupils, or about 5 per cent.

Attendance at the thirty-six grade schools and two high schools, as reported to Miss Mabel Train, secretary to Supt. R. E. Denfeld, this morning, totaled 13,243.

On the opening day, 11,850 students reported for class work, but this figure has been growing steadily, until the totals reported today reached what is believed to be a new high mark. No material change in this total is expected from now on, as practically all of the classes are settled and ready for the year's work.

In 1914, first authentic reports on school attendance gave a total of 12,634 pupils. This increase of 609 pupils is considered a good criterion of the city's growth, showing the localities which are growing the fastest, as well as the extent of growth.

Several of the centrally located buildings show small losses despite the general gain, and indicate that efforts of the board of education to relieve congestion have been successful. The largest decrease is at the Washington elementary school on Lake avenue north, where the attendance is 441, compared with 509 last year.

Small losses, of from twenty to thirty pupils, have been reported from the Adams, Bryant, Merritt, Munroe and Salter buildings. Central high school has gained from 1282 to 1321, and Denfeld high in West Duluth has jumped from 283 to 364.

The 1914 list is longer than that of this year, because of the discontinuance of the Kruger and Colbyville classes. Fourteen children were cared for at each building last year, but these pupils now are transported by bus to the nearest large building.

The first report giving a comparison of attendance for the two years at each building, follows:

OFFICERS SEARCH FOR ASSAILANT

Bridegroom-to-Be Is Kidnaped and Drugged Before His Wedding.

Mason City, Iowa, Sept. 17.—Officials of the border counties on both sides of the Iowa-Minnesota boundary were searching today for the assailants of Corneal Kleppe of Faribault, Minn., who while his bride-to-be, Miss Stella Feeley, waited at a little church in Austin, Minn., was kidnaped, drugged and left to die in a lonely road between Waltham and Mayville, Minn.

Kleppe is still unconscious at a hotel in Austin where he was taken following the attempt on his life Wednesday morning, according to the story reaching here today. Four men and an automobile are said to have figured in the kidnaping.

Miss Feeley, her bridesmaids, friends and relatives arrived at the church at 6 o'clock Wednesday for the ceremony and after waiting three hours for the bridegroom, decided that something was wrong and began a search. Her father, a prominent business man, led the searching party. When they came upon Kleppe he was bleeding from wounds about the head and unconscious.

Kleppe had arrived in Austin from Faribault on Tuesday and after a rehearsal of the wedding ceremony Tuesday night, had retired at his hotel. Wednesday morning he arose about 4 o'clock and told hotel employes he was going to the church for the early morning ceremony. He never reached the church.

FARGO NOTES CHANGE.

Conditions Reported Quite Different Since Moorhead Went Dry.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Since Moorhead has gone dry, local merchants say there has been a notable increase in collections and payments have been made on many old bills that have been running for months. One local retailer stated that among certain families he has already noticed that a better quality of goods is being purchased. Although Moorhead has been dry only since July 1 local dealers estimate that collections among residents, who are known to have been users of liquor, has been increased 50 per cent, and it is believed that this will be increased in a few months more.

Another place where a great change is noted is at the police station. While

COLD WEATHER RHEUMATISM

Why should rheumatism, a disease of the blood, be worse in cold weather than in summer?

The rheumatic poison in the blood is the predisposing cause of the disease. If you have the taint in your blood you may have rheumatism whenever the exciting cause stirs it to action. Cold weather and dampness are exciting causes of rheumatism. They excite to action something already in the blood, something that you must get rid of if you would be free from rheumatism.

What this something is, nobody knows. Not very long ago it was thought to be uric acid. Many doctors now think it a microscopic organism or a specific bacillus, but they cannot find the bacillus.

It is a known fact that in rheumatism the blood becomes thin rapidly, that the building up the blood relieves the rheumatism and that there will be no return of the rheumatism as long as the condition of the blood is maintained. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are recommended for rheumatism because they keep the blood rich and red and free from rheumatic poisons.

The free book, "Building Up the Blood" tells all about the treatment. Send for a copy today to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

there have been many arrests for incipient bootlegging in the city recently, the number of drunks has been greatly reduced. In the good old days when the bridges across the Red river were always crowded there were all the way from ten to thirty drunks on the tabs to say "good morning" to his honor. The greatest number that has appeared for drunkenness on any single morning since July 5 was three.

"CHRONIC" STRIKE GOES GRIMLY ON

Film Contest Switched From Lyric Theater to Lyceum.

The "chronic" strike at the Rex and Lyric theater seems destined to continue as grimly as before despite the visit of the labor officials of the Minnesota Federation of Labor this week. No progress appears to have been made, although the management of the "Who will be Lou?" contest has decided to stage the entertainment at the Lyceum instead of at the Lyric.

Otto Raths of the Raths-Seavolt Film company left for St. Paul last night after conferring with labor men. President Hall and Secretary Lawson of the state federation of labor were expected to return home today. It is probable that the fight will go on as before although the unions feel they have won a victory in securing a transfer of the contest from the Lyric to the Lyceum.

PINE RIVER MAN IN SEVERE JAIL FIGHT

Attempts to Kill Self in Grand Forks Then Attacks Sheriff.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Louis Olson of Pine River, Minn., attempted to kill himself in the Grand Forks county jail yesterday, attacked Sheriff Turner, and was only subdued when Deputy Sheriff Overby felled him with a blow.

Olson had his skull fractured, but his condition is not critical.

Olson has a gaping wound in his neck, caused by a razor, but failed to hit any vital spot.

Sheriff Turner had a tough fight with the man for several minutes before Deputy Sheriff Overby came to his aid.

Olson was being held in the county jail as an insanity suspect.

CHINNOCK SALMON FOR MINNESOTA

Will Be Introduced Into Northern Lakes By Commissioner Avery.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Minnesota lakes will shortly be supplied with a new variety of fish—Chinnock salmon, a product of the Pacific coast. While West last week, Carlos Avery, state game and fish commissioner, made arrangements for a supply of the fish and they will be introduced to Minnesota lakes in the fall.

Chinnock salmon, which will be secured from the Columbia river, is now being successfully raised in a number of New England fresh water lakes. The fish attain a weight of from 5 to 10 pounds, are excellent for the table. In addition they are a game fish.

In Massachusetts last year 5,000 full grown fish were obtained from a few deposited in the lakes there some years ago.

Salmon require water that is cold and deep and because of this fact they will be planted in the northern lakes only.

Mr. Avery was promised the supply of fish while attending the annual meetings of the American Fisheries society and the National Association of Game and Fish commissioners held at San Francisco.

CARLTON COUNTY DITCH.

Viewers to Meet at Carlton Monday to Prepare for Work.

Carlton, Minn., Sept. 17.—O. G. Olson of Duluth, James Sommers of Wrenshall and Henry Knutila of Cromwell, viewers on the proposed Judicial Ditch No. 1 for which C. D. Conkey has filed his surveying report, will meet here next Monday prepared to do the viewing.

The viewers will go over the proposed route and estimate the benefits to each piece of land and will report as to the desirability of the ditch.

The main ditch will be thirteen and one-half miles long. In addition there are fifty-four miles of laterals, which will drain 90,000 acres.

The engineer estimates that the total amount of earth to be removed will be 1,500,000 yards and the total estimated cost of the ditch is $217,104.63. In addition to draining a large area of low flat land, a first class road will be constructed along the ditch wherever a road can be used. The engineer has laid out a system of sixty-five miles of road. This road will form part of a system of roads planned by the county and towns.

By the draining of these lands and the building of a complete road system an immensely valuable territory will be opened up. About two-thirds of the ditch is in Carlton and one-third in St. Louis county.

TO THE AUTOMOBILE OWNERS AND DRIVERS OF THE CITY OF DULUTH

Since the automobile has come Duluth has been distressed by a number of accidents all involving financial loss, many resulting in suffering, and a few causing loss of human life. To ward against further accidents and with the hope of preventing them, the Duluth Street Railway Company bespeaks your intelligent co-operation. We courteously beg to call your attention to the few rules following, the observance of which will greatly lessen the danger of disaster:

RULE NO. 1—Remember that a street car weighing twenty-five tons cannot be stopped instantly even when moving slowly. Therefore do not dash upon the track ahead of a moving car. You may have miscalculated its speed, or that of your own car, and thus come into collision. The moment of time you may save is not worth taking such risk.

RULE NO. 2—Remember in rounding corners into a street that has car tracks on it that there may be a car approaching. The motorman may not have been able to see you and STREET CARS CANNOT DODGE. They must go straight ahead along the track. You should be able to control your machine and its movements easily and yet automobiles frequently run into street cars that are standing still. Take corners at moderate speed and keep your eyes open in rounding them.

RULE NO. 3—Remember that the city ordinance now forbids passing within ten feet of the open gates of a street car which has stopped to take on or discharge passengers. Pedestrians have come to count on this ordinance being obeyed, and no longer watch for automobiles when entering or leaving a car. They rightfully regard the space around the open gates of the car as a safety zone, and while they are in this safety zone the responsibility for their safety from being struck by an automobile rests wholly with the driver.

RULE NO. 4—Remember that though a motorman, if given time, can control the speed of his car; he cannot control its direction, therefore do not run up from behind a car and race across the track ahead of it. If your way is blocked and your power dies while you are in the path of the car a mishap will surely follow.

Do not get on the track in front of a street car and make a sudden stop there to take a friend from the sidewalk. The motorman may not be able to stop before striking you and even if he is, it is hardly fair to delay a carload of passengers in that way. A street car cannot go out of its course to strike you, nor to avoid being struck by your car. You have that great advantage over the motorman, besides having a lighter vehicle which is easier to stop. If you will consider these things thoughtfully and fairly you will be forced to the conclusion that if any collision between a heavy body confined to a fixed course and a lighter body free to take any course the presumption of negligence is strongly against the latter. In other words, if you will think fairly you will conclude that in most such collisions the motorman is really not to blame.

Another thought—When a collision results from one or both parties in a hurry, which, to be perfectly fair again, has the most reason to hurry, the street car carrying 50 people to business, including physicians on urgent calls and persons going to trains, or the automobile carrying only one or two persons on similar business, or more likely a party out for pleasure.

RULE NO. 5—Co-operate with us in helping to protect the pedestrian who often does not take reasonable precaution to protect himself.

If you have a chauffeur, please school him in these precautions.

If you are your own driver, think them over carefully.

If your wife or daughter drives your car, ask her to take a reasonable view of them.

We assume that you observe the city ordinance and do not allow children to drive your car.

If we all do our best, the chances of sorrow to yourself, your family and the community will be appreciably lessened.

With the sole view of preventing accidents the above is submitted with the best of good feeling and the most courteous incentives.

INSPECTOR NOT SO KEEN FOR CUP CAKES

Cup cakes are a favorite food with Robert A. North, state food inspector, and he saw some in the show case of E. Bjorlin, 2205 West First street, that fairly made his mouth water.

That was on July 20, but since that time Mr. North has grown suspicious of the cakes, and finally yesterday he swore out a warrant against Mr. Bjorlin, charging him with selling adulterated foods.

When arraigned before Judge F. H. Cutting in municipal court yesterday afternoon, Bjorlin pleaded not guilty. He will be given a hearing next week.

SPLINTER COST RAILROAD $216

Because Latana Myanovich caught her foot in a splinter while crossing the Northern Pacific railroad tracks at Crosby, Minn., on April 24 last, she will be paid $216.

She was carrying an armful of groceries at the time, and in falling, held on to the packages rather than throw out her arms to break the fall. She struck her hip on the rail and was knocked unconscious, according to her story.

A jury in the municipal court under "Judge" W. L. Windom last night returned a sealed verdict awarding her $216 in damages. She sued for $500.

Bradley Funeral.

Funeral services for Mrs. Charlotte Maria Bradley, one of Duluth's few nonagenarians who died at St. Luke's hospital yesterday, will be held from Crawford's chapel tomorrow morning. Rev. J. H. Hoffman will officiate and interment will be at Forest Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Bradley, known widely among the older Duluthians as a "mother" to the city, had lived here for forty-five years, and during that time was prominent because of her loyalty to Duluth and all pertaining to it.

Too proud to accept aid from relatives, although often in need, Mrs. Bradley supported herself for years by doing fancy sewing. For twenty-five years she conducted a "sewing room" at 109 East First street, and specialized in shirt making.

A nephew, Charles Elliott, arrived from Chicago yesterday and took charge of the funeral arrangements.

Newspaper Man Recommends It.

R. R. Wentworth of the St. James, Mo., News, writes: "Two months ago I took a severe cold, which settled in my lungs, and I had such pains in my lungs I feared pneumonia. I got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar and it straightened me up immediately. I can recommend it to be a genuine cough and lung medicine." Many mothers write this reliable medicine cured their children of croup. Hay fever and asthma sufferers say it gives quick relief. Sold everywhere.

GETS $500 FROM CITY FOR BROKEN LEG

After being out over eighteen hours, the jury in the damage suit of Robert Rasmussen against the city of Duluth brought in a verdict of $500 for the plaintiff. The jury went out at 4:20 yesterday afternoon and returned to Judge Ensign's court this morning at 10:30.

Rasmussen sued the city for $2,000, alleging that he was injured on Superior street near Seventh avenue west last winter through the carelessness of the city in allowing an iron plate to stand above the level of the street. Rasmussen slipped on the pavement and, striking his right leg against the iron cover, fractured it.

CURE SEEMED EFFICACIOUS.

Philadelphia Telegraph: In a city boarding house some time ago the guests were working away at the evening meal when Mr. Jones broke through the din of clattering knives and forks.

"I was reading of a new cure this morning," he remarked, glancing around the table. "It seems that you take off your shoes and stockings and walk barefooted—"

"What do you think of that cure, Mr. Jones?" eagerly interrupted the landlady, who had also read the story. "Do you really think that walking barefooted through grass will make one strong and healthy?"

"Well," smiled Mr. Jones, strenuously trying to cut a piece of meat, "it seems to have made this beef pretty tough."

ITALIAN STEAMSHIP ARRIVES SAFELY AT THE AZORES

STEAMER SANT' ANNA.

London, Sept. 17.—The Fabre line steamer Sant' Anna has arrived at St. Michaels, Azores, according to a dispatch to Lloyds. The fire in No. 2 hold has been extinguished. The Sant' Anna transferred 605 passengers to the Italian steamer Ancona bound for Naples.

A wireless message from the Sant' Anna was received at Halifax last Sunday night saying that she was on fire and in need of assistance but a later message announced that she was safe and was proceeding to the Azores under convoy of the Ancona of the Italian line.

The Sant' Anna had on board 2,039 persons including between 1,600 and 1,700 Italian reservists. She sailed from New York on Sept. 7 for Naples and Marseilles. No explanation has been received as yet as to the cause of the fire. Agents of the line asserted she carried no munitions of war.

GARY PLAN MAY BE TRIED

School Board Directors Return From Trip to Indiana City.

Favorably Impressed With Results Obtained in Schools There.

Five members of the board of education, with City Superintendent of Schools R. E. Denfeld, returned from a trip to Gary, Ind., yesterday afternoon, after watching the working of the so-called Gary school plan. Those who took the trip were President F. A. Brewer, W. B. Getchell, C. F. Colman, H. J. Grannis and J. R. McGiffert.

As a result of the trip, the Gary plan may be tried out at Morgan Park, following the suggestion of George L. Reis, vice president of the Minnesota Steel company.

Mr. Reis, in a recent communication to the board, offered them a site for a Morgan Park school, and promised to supply various materials at cost, in order to expedite the erection of a building. He suggested, however, that the Gary plan, used so successfully among children of steel corporation employes at Gary, Ind., be instituted here.

"The plan is very suitable to their needs at Gary," said Director W. B. Getchell this morning. "They find it very satisfactory, according to Supt. Wirt, who, I understand, originated the idea.

Eight Hours of School.

"Pupils go to school at 8 o'clock in the morning, but do not begin their class work until 8:15 a. m. They spend eight hours a day at school, including the hour at noon. Special attention is given to vocational work.

"One set of pupils begins early in the day and another set starts later and finishes later, so that all of the building is kept busy all of the time. The buildings are open Saturday and pupils may attend if they desire, or if their parents are willing.

"Buildings also are kept open from 7 to 9 p. m. I was particularly interested in the construction of the buildings and had a sketch of a building similar to the one we propose to erect at Morgan Park. It is similar to the Frobel building, one of Gary's largest schools, but is of brick instead of concrete blocks. We probably would use the blocks here."

Supt. Denfeld has not yet arrived at a definite recommendation to be made to the board of education in regard to Morgan's Park school facilities.

CLAY COUNTY MAN SHOT BY RELATIVE

Ole Norby Perhaps Fatally Wounded By Brother-in-Law.

Moorhead, Minn., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—During a quarrel over a road, William Brendemuhl shot his brother-in-law, Ole Norby, about 7 o'clock last night in the vicinity of Kragness, about ten miles north of here.

Norby is in a local hospital, shot through the lungs and kidneys, and is believed fatally injured. Brendemuhl, who is in the county jail here, stated to the officers that he shot in self-defense, Norby having first drawn a gun and aimed it at Fred Brendemuhl, his brother. Brendemuhl fired at twenty feet with a shotgun.

PIG IRON OUTPUT RECORD BROKEN

August Production 5 Per Cent Above Best Previous Mark.

Remarkable activity in the iron and steel trade is reflected in the statement that steel works of the United States produced pig iron during August at a rate of 5 per cent in excess of their best previous record, set in April, 1913. Production of finished steel was in proportion to the pig iron output.

For the first time in their experience, the rail mills have work outside of rolling rails, as six of them are rolling large rounds for shrapnel and obtaining from 2 to 3 cents a pound for their product, while standard specification rails are worth only 1.25 cents a pound for bessemer or 1.34 cents for open-hearth.

Within the last few days additional large inquiries for steel are reported to have been made in the market. The demand for steel for munitions is reaching unprecedented proportions, and the mills are declining thousands of tons of new business. Steel prices are expected to be advanced still further before the end of the month.

FINANCING PLAN WILL HELP COPPER

Improved Tone Already Noticeable on Prospect of Exchange Improvement.

An improved tone in the copper market is already noticeable as a result of the prospect that the exchange difficulty between this country and England will be adjusted.

With the basis of exchange restored to normal, leading copper interests believe that the metal will be bought in large quantities both here and for export.

An official of one of the largest copper producing companies thinks the outlook is very encouraging. In the course of a recent interview he said:

"The stumbling block in the way of copper buying, as well as munition buying, has been the difficulty foreign purchasers have found in paying on the present exchange basis. Now that the financial commissioners of England and France are here and there is a definite prospect that the difficulty will be cleared away, the outlook is decidedly brighter.

"Lloyd George's latest statement is a clear indication of what Great Britain needs and will have to buy from America. There is no let up in demand for munitions and foodstuffs. Copper has been specifically mentioned, along with food materials, as an item that must be had."

Large sales of copper on a basis of 18 cents a pound have been reported at New York and Boston this week and quotations in standard copper at London have been advanced materially.

BIG DIVIDEND BY GENERAL MOTORS

New York, Sept. 17.—The General Motors company last night declared a cash dividend of 50 per cent, being $50 per share on the common stock. The announcement followed a long meeting of directors and leading stockholders. The company has done a large export business in automobiles and motor trucks since the outbreak of the war. Gross sales for the year just ended were $94,425,000 as compared with $85,373,000 in the previous year.

The annual report which was discussed before the declaration of the dividend, showed net profits of $14,926,000 for the fiscal year ended July 31 last, as compared with $7,947,000 in the previous year.

After the payment of interest and dividends on the 7 per cent preferred stock, there were left in undivided profits $13,409,000 against $6,201,000 at the end of the previous year. The common stock dividend calls for a payment of $8,253,000.

American factories are now entirely independent of Europe for the manufacture of incandescent mantles.

Oil-fire locomotives in operation at Buenos Aires have shown an economy of 20 to 30 per cent over coal.

INDIA CALLED "THE MONEY GRAVEYARD OF THE WORLD"

Where Men Have Starved to Death Rather Than Part With One Little Portion of Their Hoarded Gold—In Eighty Years That Country Has Hidden Away $1,500,000,000 of the Most Precious Metal, and Nearly an Equal Quantity of Silver—Jewels, Too, Disappear in This Strange Land—One Shawl Is Valued at More Than $5,000,000.

(From the United States Commerce Reports.)

THE DISTINGUISHED English economist, Prof. Stanley Jevons, called India "the great sink of the precious metals," and a more recent writer has characterized it as "the money graveyard of the world." The continuous, seemingly inevitable, flow of gold and silver from the western nations to India—a drain that has been proceeding almost interruptedly for twenty-five centuries—forms one of the most unchanging factors in world economics.

It has resulted in an accumulation of concrete wealth in India of astonishing magnitude and the most fascinating possibilities. Should the Indian people indicate a willingness to devote any appreciable portion of this treasure to a specific object, the consequences would be incalculable.

Almost from the dawn of occidental history, this tendency of the precious metals to move toward Asia has been observed. It has been the subject of comment and complaint since the time when the Carthaginians, in the fourth century B. C., used to dispose of the gold and silver that they procured from Spain by sending it to India through the intervention of the Tyrians. From Pliny, the Roman historian, we learn that in the first century of the Christian era, notwithstanding frequent, unavailing prohibitions against the exportation of the precious metals from the Roman empire, a sum of money equal to almost $15,000,000 was annually sent into India.

There were hoards of gold in India as early as the period when the Persian conqueror Darius exacted a tribute of 360 talents from the Punjab. When Vasco de Gama, the Portuguese navigator, returned from his visit to India in 1497 he carried a letter from the Zamorin of Malabar to the king of Portugal, in which this sentence was contained: "What I seek from thy country is gold, silver, coral and scarlet." And we find Queen Elizabeth, in the year 1600, vainly endeavoring to enforce regulations designed to counteract this flow.

Gold and Silver Imports.

There are some significant estimates and statistics concerning the amount of this Indian treasure hoard. Since authentic records began to be kept by the British authorities in 1835, $1,500,000,000 more of gold alone has gone into India than has come out. In less than a century $3,000,000,000 of the two precious metals has been absorbed. And these figures represent merely a continuation of a movement that has been going on since the days of the Phoenicians. There is ample justification for the belief that, since the discovery of America by Columbus, India has absorbed one-fourth of the world's silver production. Clarmont Daniell of Calcutta university, basing his opinion on the statements of the monetary writer, A. Del Mar, estimates that in the 300 years between the middle of the sixteenth and the middle of the nineteenth centuries the gold and silver imported by India from the West amounted to $4,000,000,000.

More Every Year.

Sir J. Bampfylde Fuller, writing in 1913, shows that the annual imports of treasure in the last twenty years have rapidly increased. According to his official statistics of the net import of treasure, the annual averages for seven-year periods have been as follows: 1889-90 to 1895-96, $37,853,752; 1896-97 to 1902-3, $37,186,200; 1903-4 to 1909-10, $86,211,000. During the fiscal year 1910-11 the net importation amounted to $135,982,800. In the official year 1911-12 the value of the net imports of gold and silver coin and bullion was $139,921,407; in 1912-13 it was $166,629,288; in 1913-14 it was $118,038,295. In June, 1911, before the East India association in London, Sir James Wilson reported the net imports of gold alone by India since 1840 at about $1,200,000,000, or one-tenth of the world's production during that period.

One-tenth of All Produced.

In a recent annual report of the director of the United States mint the world's total gold production in the eleven years from 1900 to 1910, both inclusive, is given as $4,037,621,000. Of this India absorbed $433,800,000. For the fiscal year ended March 31, 1911, India's gold takings amounted to about one-fourth of the world's total net production for that year, making due allowance for the amount that was consumed in the industrial arts. During the following twelve months they amounted to more than twelve-seventeenths of the entire production of South African gold. According to the financial writer, John Grant Dater, it is predicted that, through industrial development and expanding business, India may yet reach a point where it will absorb the entire Transvaal output.

Causes of the Condition.

The causes of this condition are not far to see. The balance of trade has always been greatly in India's favor. The simple habits of the people, the pleasant climate and productive soil make them in large measure independent of foreign nations for the necessities and for many of the luxuries of life. The list of commodities from abroad that have found a sale in India has been in the past a comparatively short one.

The Indian people have never found the merchandise of Europe so attractive as Indian products are to European households. In most years, as a result of abundant and diversified crops, which find very readily a profitable market, a heavy trade balance has been registered in favor of the Indian empire, and a large portion of this has always been settled by the surrender of those stores of the precious metals, of which the indebted nations had an ample supply. The people of Eastern Bengal, for instance, annually realize about 10 shillings per head by the sale of a single product—jute—and put by much of the price in hoards of gold or silver.

The Indian Point of View.

In spite of the disbursements occasioned by famine, the people's hoards must, in the aggregate, be enormous. As long ago as 1864 a writer (Newmarch) had estimated the amount of the precious metals locked up in trinkets in India at the vast sum of $2,000,000,000. Through all historic times their abundance in India has been demonstrated by their lavish use for purposes of state and personal adornment, in the magnificence of the public buildings and the palaces of the rich in all parts of the country.

As Mr. Dater has said, the yellow metal is treated in the Orient as Western people treat gems, rare paintings, and objects of art. It is used for gorgeous ornamentations; it passes into the treasure chambers of native princes; in the case of bankers and traders doing a large business, their hoards of it serve as a basis to their credit as merchants; persons of low estate bury gold or silver in the earth or secrete it in old nooks and crannies. So highly is the precious metal prized that we read that, even in times of famine, many have died of starvation rather than part with it.

Cannon of Solid Gold.

One of the more powerful of the Indian maharajahs has cannon of solid gold that precede him when he moves; he has chairs, tables, beds and water jugs of gold and silver. It is said that London bullion dealers always carry an assortment of exquisitely beautiful gold bars, polished to mirror-like surface, to supply the wants of Indian princes.

This spirit of hoarding affects all classes. Great numbers in India prefer to invest their savings in gold rather than in other things, and coins are converted into necklaces, bracelets and anklets.

Precious Stones.

With respect to the Indian treasures in precious stones, there is no way of arriving at an authoritative conclusion, but they are unquestionably immense. One reads of whole carpets of pearls; of the world's most famous diamonds; of a shawl of pearls with an arabesque border of diamonds, rubies, sapphires and emeralds, stated at least fifty years ago by the Imperial Gazetteer of India to be worth $5,000,000.

The facts outlined above should by no means be regarded as altogether deplorable. Mr. Dater says: "On two occasions when large accessions of precious metals have threatened a general economic derangement, the insatiable demand of the Orient has been an instrumentality in equalizing production and consumption and has thereby assisted in the ultimate re-establishing of an equilibrium."

One of these times was subsequent to the explorations and working of gold mines by the Spanish in America; the second was following the gold discoveries in California and contemporaneous developments elsewhere. In an article written in 1865, Prof. Jevons pointed out that, in this second instance, the gold takings of India and the Far East had saved Europe from a commercial revolution.

An exceedingly interesting speculation is afforded by the thought of what might be accomplished if these Indian treasure accumulations, which for many centuries have sunk out of sight and been lost to the world's exchanges, could be induced to reappear and could be utilized in the prosecution of some definite, well-considered plan. That the result would be world-shaping is probable; that it would be vastly potent is certain.

RUSSIANS SINK FLEET OF MUNITION VESSELS

Sebastopol, Russia, Sept. 17, via London.—Official announcement was made here today that Russian torpedo boats had sunk near Sinope, a seaport of Asia Minor on the Black sea, an entire fleet of sailing vessels laden with munitions of war. The crews of these vessels were taken prisoner.

SWEETS INSTEAD OF ALCOHOL.

New York Independent: Sugar acts as a quick restorative and energizer and as such is, with the wise, taking the place of alcohol. It is a matter of common observation that those who eschew alcoholic drinks from distaste or principle are apt to be fond of sweets and there is a saying in our cities that whenever a candy store comes into a locality a saloon moves out.

The reason of this is apparent when we recall that alcohol is the first stage in the decomposition of sugar; so he who takes the sugar before its fermentation gets more energy and also avoids those toxic effects of alcohol, which are so unpleasant—at least in other people. Shaw was quite right in holding up "the chocolate soldier" as the scientific fighting man. Candy and marmalade are being served in the trenches instead of the traditional rum, even in the British army.

Since sugar contains no waste and no water it is a very concentrated form of food, and a little of it brings up the value of one's dietary more than is ordinarily realized. A couple of lumps of sugar will give some fifty calories, that is, about 5 per cent of the energy needed for a day's work.

MIKE O'DOWD IS A LUSTY TWO-HANDED BATTLER

The St. Paul Turk Is One of the Glovemen Who Really Fights—Duluth Fans Should Support the Amateur "World Series" Games—Paragraph Comment.

BY BRUCE.

MIKE O'DOWD is a rugged, two-handed battler. Officials of the Duluth Athletic club declare that they have striven to sign real fighters for their next show. O'Dowd is one of the battling variety, possessing nearly fifty-seven varieties of attack.

Dalton is an Italian, dark as the ethics of the early ages. This swarthy "Wop" is reputed to pack a punch, that essential ingredient in the red corpuscle party plans. In Whalen the Hoosier is going to encounter a rough passage, unless he can mobilize a lot of high class boxing guns in his defense.

Being Irish and having sojourned in Ashland when that thriving burg enjoyed the spectacle of innumerable battles in its sawdust-strewn streets at all hours between dusk and dawn, Boss Whalen of the local club demanded action after the somewhat unsatisfactory setto between the weather-beaten Wolgast and Joe Welling. In Mike O'Dowd one conspicuous example of a real fighting man has been signed.

This O'Dowd is a comer. He is sturdy, fast and packs a wallop. Monahan is tough and rugged and can assimilate a lot of punishment. Then there are Billings and Gardner. If Steve has improved to the extent his friends claim for the hilltop lad, he is going to give this Korby Peterson youth one lusty reception.

The "World's Series" Here.

SUNDAY Duluth will trot its first team out to endeavor to break farther down the line of last battling in the world's amateur baseball series. Cleveland turned out a crowd of 80,000 persons to witness the play of the amateurs. Last year St. Paul packed 15,000 wildly yelling fans into Lexington park to see its team try for the national title. For the good of the amateur game and Duluth's future recognition in national amateur date awards, it is hoped that the fans of this city come out in droves.

Possessing the heaviest batting team that has ever been recruited from the amateur players of the city, the Edisons seem to stand an even chance of winning from the highly touted Parkers of St. Paul. A win for Duluth means that the local team will be sent to Omaha to play another round in the national baseball championship.

NEW "GYM" FOR DULUTH

Eddie Kane to Open Place for Boxers to Train In.

Duluth is to have a gymnasium where members of the professional boxing fraternity can train. Quarters have been secured over the Sunbeam theater, apparatus is being installed, and the new training place will be in readiness by the first of next week.

Eddie Kane, former manager of Willie Hoppe, world's champion billiard player at three styles, and also publicity man for Charley Cutler and the manager of several fighters, as well as a writer on sport topics, is interested in the gymnasium with a number of Duluthians.

In the past boxers have been compelled to train in the suburban lonesomeness of Superior. Boxers matched for bouts in Duluth have been compelled to work across the bay. The opening of a gymnasium here should not only obviate this positive hardship, but should also serve to create more interest in the glove game.

It is expected that Dalton, Gardner and Billings will work in the Duluth gymnasium during the coming week, while O'Dowd and Monahan are also expected to put the finishing touches on their conditioning in the Kane boxing emporium.

Kane is no stranger to Duluthians, having been here several times with that genial moose, Charley Cutler, the well-known psychology student.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

TIGERS WIN FIRST GAME

Detroit and Boston Teams in Series That May Decide Championship.

Ty Cobb's Brilliancy and Dauss' Pitching Win for Westerners.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 17.—The Detroit Tigers and the Boston Red Sox came to grips yesterday in the first game of the most critical series of the year between teams in the American league, with the result that Detroit, scoring six runs to Boston's one, narrowed the margin of the Red Sox league leadership to one and one-half games.

Partisan feeling ran high during the exciting game. It showed between players of the two teams when Ty Cobb threw his bat at Pitcher Mays in the eighth inning, after two balls had passed close to his head. On the next pitch Cobb was struck on the wrist.

Again Cobb was the person against whom the feeling was evident when, at the close of the game, he was surrounded by a bleacher crowd. They pushed the Detroit player and he shouldered them back while he answered their gibes. Wads of paper were thrown.

Policeman had difficulty in reaching Cobb's side, but eventually forced a clear space and assisted by Detroit and Boston players, escorted him to the club house. The demonstration against Cobb manifested itself every time he appeared at the plate, the crowd "booing" him each time.

The game itself was decided by the strength and speed of Detroit's attack, which sent Foster, the leading Red Sox whirler, to the bench in the fifth inning. Collins finished that inning, and was succeeded by Mays; who allowed two hits. Cobb's impetuous base running resulted in another Detroit run after he had been hit in the eighth. Dauss' delivery deceived Boston batters, who gained only five hits. The Tiger pitcher was always at the top of his form and fielded his position as well as he pitched.

Senators Defeat Browns.

Washington, Sept. 17.—Johnson was invincible yesterday and Washington easily defeated St. Louis, 8 to 2. Sims, a recruit, started for the visitors, but was wild and gave way to Hamilton, who was withdrawn to give Sothern and McCabe chances in the box.

Yankees Cop a Game.

New York, Sept. 17.—New York broke its losing streak yesterday, defeating Chicago after an eighth-inning rally, 3 to 2. Chicago scored two runs in the fourth inning on Murphy's base on balls, and Eddie Collins' home run. Cicotte held the Yankees in check for seven innings, but weakened in the eighth when New York scored three runs on doubles by Maisel and Peckinpaugh and singles by Baumann and Hartzell. Score: R. H. Minneapolis Would Have to Lose Every Game to Lose Flag.

St. Paul's Defeat By Louisville Puts That Team Out of Running.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 17.—Steil's two-base hit in the ninth inning of yesterday's second game gave Columbus the victory, and an even break with Minneapolis. Williams pitched the first contest and had the home club baffled throughout. He worked in a double-header Wednesday also. Yesterday's games were the last of the season for Minneapolis in this city.

Divide Double-Header.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 17.—After beating Milwaukee, 6 to 0, in the first, Indianapolis lost by 9 to 2 the second game of yesterday's double-header, which was called because of darkness at the end of the fifth inning. Scores:

St. Paul Out of It.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 17.—St. Paul virtually was put out of the running for the American association pennant by losing to Louisville, 6 to 3, yesterday. Minneapolis must lose all of its remaining games, and St. Paul must win all in order to enable the latter to go ahead by half a game. Score:

Kaws Forfeit Game.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 17.—Kansas City today forfeited the American association game scheduled with Cleveland yesterday, when the owners of Somers park refused to agree to a 50-50 split of $250 paid by the city for the use of the park for the city amateur championship game between the White Autos and Stinchcomb Engineers, which was to be played after the American association game.

No seats were sold for the amateur game and it was intended also to have a free game for the association contest. Manager Shay refused to let his men play.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Cubs Rise a Notch.

Chicago, Sept. 17.—Chicago moved up to fifth place yesterday when the locals shut out Brooklyn 1 to 0 after twelve innings. Good opened this inning by beating out a bunt. Fisher sacrificed him to second. Schulte was purposely passed, this being the only base on balls of the game. Phelan popped out, and Saier singled to right center, sending Good home from second with the only run of the game.

The game was a pitcher's battle between Vaughn and Pfeffer, with the big Chicago twirler having the better of it. He allowed but four scattered hits. Only five men reached first base, one of them when he forced another runner. Two reached the keystone sack, and one other reached third. This was in the first inning when a single by Stengel, a passed ball, and Archer's error, enabled Stengel to make the far corner. Vaughn struck out seven of his opponents. McCarty's stop of a swift bounder, his recovery and throw to first and a double play, Schulte to Saier, were features which contributed to Vaughn's success. Score: R. H. E.

Leaders Add to Margin.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 17.—Philadelphia obtained a big lead in the first inning and had no trouble winning the first game of the series from Cincinnati yesterday 10 to 3. George who started to pitch for Cincinnati did not finish the first inning, being hit for a single, a double and a triple, which, with two bases on balls, gave Philadelphia four runs. McKenery, who succeeded George, also gave a base on balls and was hit for two singles which were good for two more runs in this inning. Luderus in this inning delivered a three-base hit, with three men on bases. The big first baseman of the Philadelphias made three more hits, two of them two-baggers, which gave him a clean record in the hit column for the day. Alexander was very steady, and kept the hits scattered. Score: R. H. E.

Giants Beat Pirates.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 17.—Harmon was hit at will by the New Yorks yesterday and Pittsburgh was defeated by the score of 8 to 4. A suffragist association presented each player crossing home plate with a $5 note, the visitors getting $40 and the home players $20.

LOOKS LIKE CINCH FOR PHILLIES; TIGERS-RED SOX IN DEATH GRAPPLE

Quaker Team of National League Can Lose Half Remaining Games While Rivals Must Win Practically All to Get Within Reach of Flag; Detroit Must Win Most of Series With Boston to Take Lead.

New York, Sept. 17.—While Detroit encroached upon Boston's lead in the American race yesterday, Philadelphia drew farther away from its rivals for pennant honors in the Nationals. The Tigers, opening a four-game series that threatens to decide the hopes of either aspirant, ran away with the first game by taking into camp three members of Manager Carrigan's pitching staff, upon which Red Sox followers had built their hopes.

A margin of only one and a half games separates the leading Red Sox and the Tigers today.

Jennings' sluggers, however, must win three out of four games to take the lead.

If they evenly divide the four games, Boston will lead by two and one-half games.

Thus far the Red Sox have won 11 out of 19 games played with the Tigers.

The ambitious Cincinnati Reds failed to stop the Philadelphia Nationals with Alexander in the box yesterday and as a result the Phillies are already figuring how they will spend their world's series money with a lead of five and a half games over both Brooklyn and Boston, who are tied for second place. Brooklyn, after a day's lay-off, was unable to hit Vaughn and lost to Chicago. Wet grounds prevented Boston and St. Louis from playing off a double-header.

The Phillies have 20 more games to play, while the Braves have to play 19 and the Superbas 17. Therefore, if the Phillies should do no more than split even, winning 10 and losing 10 the Braves would have to win 16 and only lose 3 to gain the lead and Brooklyn would have to win 15 out of its 17 games.

CLIPS RECORD TWO SECONDS

William, Pacer, Breaks the World's Wagon Record at Syracuse.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 17.—William, world's champion 5-year-old pacing stallion, created a sensation at the Grand Circuit meet yesterday afternoon by pacing a mile to wagon in 1:59½, breaking the world's record by nearly 2 seconds. The former record was 2:01¼ held by Little Boy.

William was driven by his owner, C. K. G. Billings of New York. Track and weather conditions were ideal. Getting away to a splendid start, the big pacer, never faltered, and finished easily.

The performance of William was the climax of a six-race program, during

FITGER'S NATURAL BEER FILTERED PURE BY THE KIESELGUHR FILTER.

The purest beer is that beer filtered by the Kieselguhr filter. It is not pasteurized.

The pasteurized bottled beer generally in use cannot be so pure.

Pasteurized beer is heated in the bottles to a temperature that kills the micro organisms, but it is not filtered free from them.

Kieselguhr filtered beer is filtered pure of every yeast cell and micro organism, before the beer enters the bottles. In the scientifically clean bottle, hermetically sealed, it is the purest beer in the world.

The pasteurizing or superheating of beer kills its flavor. The filtering of beer preserves its flavor. Fitger Natural Beer filtered by the Kieselguhr filter (first of its kind in America) is pure and has the full delicious flavor of the natural draught beer as drawn fresh from the wood.

SPECIAL COACH WILL BRING PARKER TEAM.

Announcement was received today by President Ray Fenton of the Duluth Amateur Baseball league that the members of the Parker baseball team of St. Paul would arrive in Duluth tomorrow evening. The Saintly city ball tossers will make the trip in a special coach and will be quartered at the Spalding while in Duluth. It is expected that Ray Johns, Earl Watterworth and a number of other St. Paul rooters will be in the invading party.

SAN FRANCISCANS MEET.

Decide Who Will Play for Tri-State Tennis Championship in Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 17.—Ella Fottrell and Clarence Griffin, two San Francisco boys, will meet in the final round of the men's singles of the tri-state tennis tournament today and do battle for the honor of meeting W. S. McElroy, of Pittsburgh, the present tri-state champion, on Saturday.

Fottrell won his match in straight sets from Irving Wright of Boston, the scores being 8-6, 6-0, 6-4. Griffin, however, had a harder time defeating Trux Emerson of Cincinnati. He won after five hard fought sets, 4-6, 7-5, 1-6, 6-2, 6-2.

Crushing Baseball Pool.

Philadelphia, Sept. 17.—Efforts of the Federal government to break up baseball pool gambling resulted yesterday in the indictment by the United States grand jury here of the two publishers of The Weekly World, which is alleged to have conducted the pools. The men indicted are John J. Kilcoyne and James Walsh of Wilkesbarre, Pa. They are charged with having delivered to an express company at Allentown, Pa., for carriage in interstate commerce advertisements in reference to lottery tickets.

Harvard Gets Doubles.

Philadelphia, Sept. 17.—Harvard was assured of the 1915 intercollegiate lawn tennis doubles championship by the victory of two of its teams in the semi-final matches yesterday. R. Norris Williams and Richard Hart of Harvard, the title holders, defeated J. Disston, Jr., and J. R. Rowland, Pennsylvania, while G. C. Caner and L. H. Curtis, the other Harvard pair, won from J. Weber, and E. T. Hopkins of Yale.

Yale Wants Evers.

Chicago, Sept. 17.—John Evers, captain of the Boston club of the National league, said yesterday he had been asked to become baseball coach for Yale and that the faculty now has his terms under consideration.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

A Hint to Housewives

DIRT left alone does no harm, but dirt disturbed may actually carry disease germs. What lies in behind the piano or on top of the whatnot really has no influence upon the health of the household. The trouble begins when you take a mop or a broom or a rag on a stick and go poking in behind there and stir it up.

As a matter of fact housecleaning time, spring and fall, invariably initiates a profitable season of "coughs and colds" which might never be, were germs not scattered promiscuously by industrious but obsolete housekeepers.

Housecleaning is a habit handed down by our dirty, ignorant Colonial ancestors. In those days, the itch and such things were very popular, and it was no wonder folks got restless in the spring and fall and had to raise hob with the furniture. It is a sixteenth century sin visited upon the twentieth century housekeeper, a frank confession that woman, after all, is incapabe of keeping step with the world's advance. A house, like a human being or a horse or an automobile, that is kept clean, certainly requires no periodic overhauling. A housekeeper who dares to be seen turning things topsy-turvy these days risks her very reputation. It isn't done any more unless a visit is expected from the board of health or rich relations.

There are houses and dooryards and human bodies that would unquestionably stand a thorough scrubbing just once, for the good of the community. But the practice of annual or semi-annual clean-up is as old-fashioned as the habit of taking a bath on the last day of school whether you need it or not.

We hold no brief for the husbands. We simply reiterate the fact that dirt is harmless so long as it isn't stirred up. Sweet as an immaculate house may be to the tired housekeeper's eyes, it is no protection whatever against the germs of disease. It is filth you can't see with the naked eye that brings home the measles. Clean looking people carry "colds." Perfectly pure looking water conveys diluted sewage—the typhoid germ. The finest tasting milk you ever drank may infect you with tuberculosis.

Housewife, spare that broom!

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Bronchitis.

Elizabeth asks: (1) Does bronchitis lead to consumption? (2) If so, how long before it reaches the lungs? (3) What will help catarrh of the nose and throat? (4). What will relieve shortness of breath? (5) What will help bronchitis?

Answer—(1) No, but consumption is often mistaken for bronchitis if the examination is not thorough. (3) A self-addressed, stamped envelope sent to the conductor of this Train of Thought. (4) Proper treatment of the bronchitis, tuberculosis, pleural effusion, anemia or heart disease which cause it. (5) Open-air life and treatment determined by the kind of bacteria present and the detection of their depot of supply.

Vermin.

Kindly advise what to do for bed—well, vermin. They have over-run our cottage, which was closed for some weeks.

Answer—Fumigate the rooms with formaldehyde. Inject a 1 to 500 solution of bichloride of mercury (POISON) into all crevices and joints of beds, furniture, and walls and floors.

Dr. Brady will answer all questions pertaining to Health. If your question is of general interest it will be answered through these columns; if not it will be answered personally if stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. Dr. Brady will not prescribe for individual cases or make diagnoses. Address all letters to Dr. William Brady, care of The Herald. All questions will be answered, whether they come from people residing in Duluth or outside, provided they comply with the rules here stated.

GIBBONS TO QUIT RING

Phantom Declares He Will Give Up Boxing at End of Year.

The Middleweight Claimant May Take Trip to Australia.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 17.—Take notice, Les Darcy, Jimmy Clabby, Young Ahearn and all other aspirants for the middleweight championship.

If any or all of you want ring doings with Michael Gibbons, it must be within the next twelve months, for the Phantom announced today that within a year at the outside he intends to peel off his gloves for the last time.

Mike is fairly well upholstered with the commodity that makes the mare go, and he doesn't greatly care whether he does much fighting in the time limit he has set for the ending of his ring activities. However, he bars none of the aspirants for middleweight honors. All he insists upon is that the financial inducements be sufficiently tempting to make him undergo the discomforts of training.

Ready For Darcy.

Mike says he will meet Les Darcy in this country or in Australia. T. S. Andrews is endeavoring to arrange an Australian tour for the local ring wizard, and it is understood it will take the form of a lump offer for a series of three battles to be staged in the vast Sydney stadium. Andrews, once before, made Gibbons an offer for three fights in the Antipodes, but the inducements were not sufficiently attractive to interest the Phantom.

Failing in his plans for an Australian tour for Gibbons, Andrews may attempt to get Darcy to this country, and if this is done the battle may take place in the Milwaukee auditorium.

Mike said today he had heard nothing from Totorich regarding a match between Ahearn and himself, but said that Totorich would have to offer considerably more than he usually does or there would be nothing doing.

Calls Bartfield Easy.

As to the Bartfield match, Gibbons said he would be ready to meet the former soldier at Duluth just as soon as he had finished his hunting trip. He won't do any 147 pounds for the Eastern battler, though.

Mike says Bartfield is not a formidable opponent and it won't require much preparation to get into good enough shape to attend to his case effectually.

Terms Are Not Low.

If Mike goes to Australia he will annex a tidy sum of money. The offer he turned down was for more than $20,000 for three battles, and Mike said today that this figure would have to be boosted quite a few notches before it would receive any consideration.

War conditions have caused a depression in Australia just now, but if conditions improve by the next Australian winter, which will be our next summer, Michael will make the journey.

If Mike goes to Australia, he intends to return by way of Europe if the present turmoil has subsided by that time. After visiting the battlefields of the old world, Mike says he will be content to settle down and lead the life of a well-to-do citizen, with just enough farming, fishing, hunting and coupon clipping on the side to keep him free from that tired feeling.

WISCONSIN SEEKS TO SAFEGUARD BOXING.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 17.—The state boxing commission has decided to take new and more stringent steps to prevent boxers from making flascos of fights by laying down a rule that no boxing promoter may pay boxers before they have finished their battle.

The referee's instructions are issued in conjunction with this ruling to stop fights where boxers are apparently shamming, and in all fights so stopped the promoters are not to be allowed to give the boxers anything for their services. This will prevent the so-called tango fights.

Harry Stout and George Duffy were licensed as referee. Beloit was given a club license in the name of B. F. Alexander, but with two clubs seeking licenses in La Crosse, where only one is permitted by law, no action was taken.

BOGEY CONTEST ON THE SCHEDULE

Big Entry List Expected in Saturday Northland Golf Contest.

A match play golf contest against bogey will be staged on the Northland links tomorrow. The latest handicaps of players are to apply in this contest. The bogey contest trophy has been played for at different times during the season. Winners of the trophy are to have their names inscribed on it after the close of the season. The player winning it the greatest number of times during the season will become its permanent owner.

With ideal weather conditions it is expected that one of the largest entry lists of the year will play over the course.

MANY OARSMEN ARE IN TRAINING

Ten Eyck Has Large Squad Learning Rudiments of Game.

Jimmy Ten Eyck has a large rowing squad at work in preparation for next year. Like a good workman, James always plans ahead for the future. The public will have an opportunity to look over some of the new material as well as to watch the veterans in some real races at the fall regatta, which is set for the afternoon of Sept. 25.

The two green eights are showing promise. There is also some bantam material out. Some of the ambitious scullers are endeavoring to master the finer points of the game before cold weather sets in. It looks as if Ten Eyck will have some new scull candidates for 1916 honors.

Rowing committee members wish to announce that a large number of oarsmen are wanted for fall practice. Those coming out in the fall will have an advantage over crew candidates that wait until the first of the year. Every youngster in the city who intends trying for a place on any of the crews, is asked to come out this fall and learn some of the rudiments of rowing.

Big Regatta Promised.

With characteristic energy Ten Eyck is preparing for the fall regatta of the club oarsmen. This should surpass in interest any previous club series of races.

The program calls for eight, four, double and scull races. The single race between Hoover, Kent, Horak and several other aspirants for single honors should prove a corking contest. With three fours to compete and several green eights to race, the regatta is expected to draw a large number of rowing enthusiasts over to the club.

FULTON OFFERED BOUT WITH SMITH

Farmer Boxer May Tackle Gunner in Gotham Ring.

Over the long distance telephone from St. Charles, Minn., Mike Collins announced last evening that he had been offered terms for a ten-round contest between Gunboat Smith and Fred Fulton, the contest to be decided in New York City, Oct. 15.

New York promoters have informed Collins that in the event of Fulton defeating the Gunner, he will possibly be given an Eastern limited-round bout with either Jim Coffey or Champion Jess Willard.

Collins is touring Fulton at some of the county fairs and is making a great hit with the big farmer boxer. Fred and his sparring partner go through a series of athletic stunts, winding up the exhibition with a three-round bout.

Twenty-Round Draw.

Springfield, Ohio, Sept. 17.—Frank Mantell of Dayton and Al Rogers of Buffalo fought twenty rounds to a draw here last night.

New York Guns Win.

Seagirt, N. J., Sept. 17.—A. P. Lane, a member of the rifle and revolver club of New York, carried off the initial honors in the Roe long distance match at 1,000 yards with a score of 98 here yesterday. The New York Rifle association individual match was won by George H. Chesley of the Winchester Rifle and Gun club, with a total score of 186.

TIP FOR THE TIPSY.

A new sobering process which practically eliminates the bothersome Turkish bath, lemon seltzers and other booze antidotes has been discovered in the East. It is merely the modest and toothsome ham omelette.

It has been bruited about for some time, but expert testimony was given a few days ago in a New York court regarding the calming effects of the omelette by a man who was up on the charge of drunkenness. When taken in he had just emerged from a restaurant and still had trouble with the sea-tossed sidewalks. Less than an hour afterwards he was arraigned—perfectly sober. The change was remarked and the prisoner gave this straight tip to the court:

"If yer foot ever slips, jedge, and you get a few over yer limit, try a ham omelette. It's a sure cure. I had just put one under me belt when bull grabbed me, and I sobered up since then."

The judge was so touched he gave the erstwhile tank a suspended sentence so that he might tip off the wonderful discovery to others who might need it.

BRITISH RAILROADS' INCOME DECREASES

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, Sept. 2.—The net income of British railroads for 1914, as shown in the official government tabulations just issued, showed a decrease of $6,000,000, or about 2 per cent. The total net income was $305,000,000.

The official returns on the railroads of the country, which in ordinary years has furnished a Blue book of many pages, is this year a single-sheet volume, and is prefaced with the note: "In consequence of the war no further returns will be published regarding the statistics of the railway companies for the year."

DUELLING MANIA IN HUNGARY ENDS

As Result of War, No Cases Since Last Spring.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Budapest, Aug. 15.—In suppression of the duelling mania in Hungary the war has accomplished more in six months than the law had been able to do in twenty years. Up to a year ago it seemed that nothing could be done to stop duelling. Notwithstanding all legal prohibitions, such an important personage as the minister-president, Count Stephen Tisza continued fighting duels having had a dozen to his credit, six of them during his term of office, and openly defying all the penalties threatened by law.

In the first six months of the war, the change was so marked that fewer duels were fought during that period than had ordinarily taken place in a single week before. Since last spring not a single case of duelling has been reported, in contrast with the fact that during one week in July, 1914, fifty-four duels were recorded in Budapest alone.

How public opinion has changed on this question of duelling is shown in a document recently published in the Hungarian papers. A provincial lawyer made some disparaging remarks about the army in the presence of a wounded officer, who resented his conduct in very sharp language. The lawyer sent a challenge but the seconds met and drew up a document setting forth that an officer ready to sacrifice his life for his country, was not obliged to give the so-called "satisfaction," and that in the present war the life of every soldier, and of every civilian was too precious to be risked in duelling.

The Anti-Duelling league, which has long existed in Hungary, expresses the hope that this evil has been overcome, not only for war times but also in peace.

VESSEL CONGESTION AT LIVERPOOL OVER

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Liverpool, Aug. 28.—For the first time since war broke out there are no ships in the river awaiting berths. This clearance of the congestion difficulty, which not many weeks ago was holding up thirty boats daily, is attributed to the strenuous efforts of the harbor officials and shipowners. Prize cargoes have been removed from the quays, thus affording greater facilities for handling cargoes from arriving boats, and a clear way is also made for the forthcoming cotton cargoes from the Southern states.

LUMBER CONCERN IS SEEKING HELP

Bemidji Company Wants 250 Men Now for All Winter Jobs.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—There are no men out of employment in this part of the country, or if there is it is their own fault, as the Crookston Lumber company of this city is sending out a call for at least 250 men, the jobs to last throughout the winter.

"We are simply unable to get the men," said B. W. Lakin, superintendent of the logging department of that concern. "We have maintained a camp at Spur 28, on the Red Lake line, twenty-eight miles north of Bemidji, and 175 men at work there will continue with the steam skidder until Nov. 1.

To Log Extensively.

"The Bemidji mills will continue until about Nov. 1 and we will operate three or four camps this winter, including two big camps at Kelliher, where four steam skidders will operate. We will log more logs next winter than we did last winter because the logs in the lake will be sawed by the time the mills close.

"Because of these extended operations we could use at once a large number of men and any able bodied man who will work in the woods can get a job by asking for it."

FORMER SALOON MEN WANT LICENSE MONEY

Ask Bemidji Council to Return Unused Portion of Fee.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council this week partially considered the application of former Bemidji saloon keepers for the return of their unused license money, which totals about $5,000. After considerable discussion it was finally decided that the proposition would be taken up at the next meeting of the council, Monday, for final decision. No action was taken on account of the absence of President Frank S. Lycan and Alderman Foucault.

Aldermen Bailey and Smart declared themselves in favor of returning the money to the saloon keepers, but Alderman Moberg, said that he did not believe in returning money to those who had been caught violating the liquor laws and in speaking of the proposition said, "I think a man who has operated a soft drink stand and sold whisky has a lot of nerve to ask the city to return his license money. If I was doing it I would be sport enough to keep quiet."

Ordinance No. 81 which provides that the west half of block 15 be taken out of the brick building zone was passed. This was passed in order that H. J. McClernan and Alderman R. E. Miller might built cottages on their property facing American avenue.

FLOODWOOD MAN'S INJURIES FATAL

John Mylila Does Not Survive Hurt Sustained Recently.

Floodwood, Minn., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Myllila, who was struck by the Great Northern Railway passenger train one night last week, and seriously injured, died Wednesday night at the hospital in Grand Rapids. The funeral was held here today from the Floodwood Finnish Lutheran church. He leaves a wife and several children in Finland.

MISSING CHEBOYGAN MAN'S BODY FOUND

Cheboygan, Mich., Sept. 17.—The body of Frank Francis, veteran of the civil war, who disappeared four years ago, has just been found, hidden under a pile of brush in a swamp in Hebron township.

The discovery of the body cleared up a mystery which has surrounded the disappearance of the old soldier, but failed to enlighten the authorities on the manner in which he came to his death.

The body was found by John Davis, 8 years old. The body was identified through a bunch of keys and a jackknife, which relatives declared belonged to Francis.

The disappearance of the aged man, who was one of the most active members of the G. A. R., created a furore in this section of the state four years ago.

SAMPSON DOWER, FORMER DULUTHIAN, IS CALLED

MR. AND MRS. SAMPSON DOWER.
From Photo Taken at Time of Dower Family Reunion at Staples in February, 1912—Mrs. Dower Died in July, 1912.

Staples, Minn., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sampson Dower, pioneer of Minnesota, and former resident of Duluth, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. E. Greeno, Tuesday, at the age of 80. The funeral was held here yesterday afternoon and interment was in the local cemetery.

Mr. Dower is survived by thirteen children, fifty-one grandchildren and nine great grandchildren. Fifteen children were born to the Dower's household. The surviving children are: Nellie M. French, Wadena; Matilda Bayer, Payette, Idaho; William Dower, Wadena; Sampson Dower, Staples; Phillippa Dower, Jr., Staples; John Dower, Samuel J. Dower, Isabel Boyd, all of this city; Addie E. Greeno, Jennie C. Weston, Herbert J. Dower, Edith L. Greeno and Nettie Tuttle, all of Staples. A remarkable feature in connection with the history of this family is that they are all living within twenty miles of Wadena, except one daughter, Matilda Bayer, who resides at Payette, Idaho. There are ninety-two members in this family, including husbands and wives of children and grandchildren.

Sampson Dower was born in Cornwall, England, on March 23, 1835. He lived there for seventeen years and arrived in Houghton county, Mich., in the year 1852. There he married Mary Ann Gilbert, also a native of England.

In Duluth in 1870.

In the year 1870 they moved with their family to Duluth, where they resided until the spring of 1887, when they moved to Wadena county, settling at first on a farm two miles north of Aldrich, where he was engaged in getting out cordwood, piling and ties for the Northern Pacific Railroad company. He gradually worked into the manufacturing of lumber, and at various times operated sawmills in different localities. The last mill operated by him was at Cushing, Minn., which, together with several million feet of lumber, was entirely destroyed by fire. He then settled on his farm in Thomastown. While he was operating his camps and sawmills he maintained his home on this farm, where part of the family improved the farm, while others worked in the woods and sawmills. The farm was recognized as the largest and best equipped in Wadena county. A few years ago he moved to Staples, where he built a fine modern home on several blocks of land which he purchased at that place. He lived in this residence until the death of Mrs. Dower, in July, 1912, and for some time since has made his home with one of his daughters, Mrs. E. E. Greeno.

PREUS TO SPEAK AT ISANTI FAIR

Other Features Scheduled for Show to Be Held Next Week.

Cambridge, Minn., Sept. 17.—The Isanti county fair to be held here next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 23, 24 and 25, will be addressed by two well known speakers. It will be the thirty-ninth fair and the indications are that the farmers will make liberal displays of good products.

On Friday, Prof. Thomas Shaw, an authority on live stock, will speak on "Dual Purpose Cattle." J. A. O. Preus, Minnesota's state auditor, will speak on Saturday.

Thursday will be Entrance day, Friday, Braham day, and Saturday, Isanti day.

There will be various vaudeville attractions and a ball game between Braham and Princeton.

Lindbergh Finishes Trip.

Little Falls, Minn., Sept. 17.—Congressman C. A. Lindbergh and son, Charles, returned to Little Falls Wednesday after completing a boat trip down the Mississippi from Cass Lake to Aitkin. The trip was made by Mr. Lindbergh to investigate river and shore conditions and to get a line on the Northern part of his district.

NELSON IS ARRESTED IN BARRON COUNTY

Cumberland, Wis., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Albert Nelson, a young farmer residing in the town of Maple Grove, near here, has been arrested, charged with manslaughter. It is claimed young Nelson, who was driving the automobile that was wrecked near Cameron the other night, killing Henry Kranz, another young farmer of the same township, was intoxicated at the time of the accident. This is the second arrest made in Barron county since the recent legislature enacted the law making it a criminal offense for an intoxicated person to drive an auto and holding them responsible for any accidents that may occur while in that condition.

LAWRENCE STUDENT HURT.

Injured When Thrown Into Fountain During Freshmen Class Rush.

Appleton, Wis., Sept. 17.—With the newly elected freshman president, Theodore Sloat of Antigo, personally in the hands of the sophomores, the freshmen at Lawrence college went home in defeat Wednesday night after the annual class rush. Every member had been thrown in the fountain in the city park, or rolled in a mudhole in Jones Park. Harry Rice, former center on the Fond du Lac basket ball team was injured when thrown in the fountain, his back striking the concrete edge of the tank.

SUIT CLUB WORKERS ARE UNDER ARREST

Five Alleged to Have Swindled Copper Country People Caught.

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Under Sheriff Phil Sheridan yesterday arrested in Cheyenne, Wyo., Harry Zuch, alias Zimmerman, Simly Zulch, Floyd Wildie and Herbert McCaffery, alleged members of the "Acme Suit Club," declared to have fleeced Copper country residents out of $10,000 in the last six months, charging them with conspiracy to defraud.

Governor Ferris will ask the extradition of the accused. Other members of the gang in Colorado and Nevada are under surveillance.

ST. CROIX OLD TIMERS MEET AT STILLWATER

Stillwater, Minn., Sept. 17.—The forty-first annual meeting of the Old Settlers' Association of the St. Croix Valley was held at the Sawyer house here Wednesday.

The officers elected were:

President, T. P. Ramsden; vice president, Arthur Lyman; secretary, Adam Marty; treasurer, A. L. Larpenteur.

Those who have died during the past year are: Joel M. Darling, Mrs. Harriett T. Anderson, J. N. Ahl, Stillwater; Peter Berkey, St. Paul.

ROBBERS OF TRAIN GOT VERY LITTLE

Minot, N. D., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Robbers who held up a score or more of workmen riding a Great Northern train between Surrey and Norwich, realized but little in their night's work, according to reports received by local police.

In one car the men ran across three victims, took sums ranging from $1 to $2, and returned to each victim 25 cents, saying the men would need that much money.

In another car they found four men, one of them, a cripple, having $20. This the robbers refused to take, declaring the cripple would need it in the winter to come.

There were four robbers, in the gang, and they have successfully escaped.

NYMORE ANNEXATION PLAN IS CALLED OFF

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nymore will not be annexed to Bemidji at this time on account of the sentiment of the citizens of that village at a mass meeting held Wednesday evening at Christianson's hall in that place.

O. G. Tagley of Nymore was chairman of the meeting and Bemidji was represented by Mayor William McCualg, City Attorney P. J. Russell, Alderman S. C. Bailey of the Second ward, W. P. Dyer, superintendent of the city schools and Dr. G. M. Palmer. The residents of Nymore favor a consolidation of the two school districts, but do not want to annex themselves to the city of Bemidji.

WILLIAMS' FINE FAIR.

First Undertaking in That Town Proves Success.

Spooner, Minn., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first fair at Williams, the growing village west of here, held last Saturday, was quite successful, all things considered.

The stock show exceeded expectations. Prof. Deitrich of the agricultural farm school at Crookston acted as judge.

The baby show held at the Victoria house followed the judging of the stock show and again Prof. Deitrich acted as judge. This time the ordeal was a more trying one. The Stone and Ronstad babies won.

A fine showing of fancy and art work was on exhibition in the pavilion.

The day was ended with a dance in the pavilion to music furnished by the Williams' band.

NEW FARGO PLANT.

Rumely Company to Establish Assembling Concern There.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—It has been announced by the management of the Rumely Products company here that work will be started on a great assembling plant which will be erected on a number of lots owned by the corporation facing on Northern Pacific avenue between Second and Third streets with track facilities on the Northern Pacific right-of-way.

Details of the plans have not yet been announced, as the company's architect will arrive here from the East within a few days, but it is known here that the structure will cost in the neighborhood of $100,000, will be made of reinforced concrete, will have three stories and will be sufficiently large to take care of everything pertaining to this branch of the corporation.

CASTORIA

Move to Williston.

International Falls, Minn., Sept. 17.—Joseph Greengard and family have left for Williston, N. D., to make their future home, Mr. Greengard having disposed of the business of Greengard Bros. company at this place. The company operates several stores in North Dakota and Montana, including Williston, where Mr. Greengard will have his headquarters.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Fargo, N. D.—Capt. Buyer has received a letter from the bandmaster of the Territorial Staff band of Chicago, Ill., saying he would come and take charge of the Fargo band for a couple of months, while on furlough, if he could secure a position as bookkeeper at reasonable wages during his stay.

Woodworth, N. D.—Gunder Nelson, a farmer residing three miles southeast of Woodworth, was killed by being accidentally shot by a gun held in the hands of Theodore Bly, a transient harvest hand from Colton, S. D.

Minot, N. D.—The Soo road wants local people to stop driving through the gates at Central avenue when they are down. It has been reported that people have a habit of forcing through the gates and in many instances they have been broken.

Fargo, N. D.—A large number of the young people of the Good Fellowship club and their friends are planning to participate in the club's annual outing, which consists of a wiener roast some place along the river, Friday evening.

Bismarck, N. D.—President Hillyer of the Mayville normal and Director Cooper of the experimental station, have been before the board of regents, outlining the needs of their institutions.

Grand Forks, N. D.—The funeral of Mrs. Arsty Berg, aged 88, who died Saturday afternoon, was held Tuesday from the home of Ole Brenna, her son-in-law, in Brenna township. Mrs. Berg was a resident of Grand Forks county for thirty-six years. She leaves two daughters and two sons, Mrs. Carl Thomas of Grand Forks, Mrs. Ole Brenna of Brenna township, Thor Berg of Baudette, Minn., and Torger Berg of this city.

Minot, N. D.—The city commissioners decided to cut out those portions of the streets which it had been proposed to improve against which protests were filed. Under this arrangement the grading that was contemplated on Fourth avenue from Sixth to Tenth streets and on Fourth street from Fourth avenue to the south end will not be done. The city levy was fixed at $48,000.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Manitowoc.—Walter Hamilton of Two Rivers and Miss Augusta Rahr, this city, both members of wealthy families, were married Wednesday night at the Rahr home. The Rev. Talboth Rogers of Fond du Lac officiated.

Neenah.—The crop of hickory nuts in this section of the state will be the biggest in recent years. Early frosts have caused many to fall, and nutting expeditions for the next six weeks will be the most popular diversion for young people.

Princeton.—Philip Lehner of Princeton will be a candidate for the office of attorney general to succeed Walter Owen at the next state election. Mr. Lehner was defeated four years ago by Mr. Owen, but only by a close margin, and his friends in all parts of the state feel that he is the logical candidate at the next election.

Stevens Point.—Peter Anderson, a one-armed Norwegian sailor, who for thirty years sailed on the high seas and has been in every large port on the globe, is without money and wants to go back to his native home, Dobo, Norway. Authorities will provide Mr. Anderson with a free ticket.

Eau Claire.—A campaign for a swimming pool and gymnasium for the local Girls' club was started here at the annual meeting of the organization on Wednesday. Nearly a thousand members were taken in during the last year and plans are under way for greatly increasing this number.

Grand Rapids.—The annual election of officers of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association resulted as follows: President, C. A. Normington; vice president, William F. Gleue; treasurer, Warren Fisher; secretary, G. D. Fritzsinger; executive board, F. D. Abel, C. A. Normington and William F. Gleue.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Lake Linden—The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the M. E. church elected the following officers: President, Mrs. James Hoar; first vice president, Mary Burgan; second vice president, Mrs. B. Barkell; third vice president, Mrs. Ransome Pearce; secretary, Mrs. Faull; treasurer, Mrs. George Opal.

Houghton—Michael La Mora has returned home to Chisholm, Minn., after having attended his brother's funeral.

Hancock—The general health of the city is very good, according to Dr. L. M. Power, city health officer, although there are three mild cases of scarlet fever and one case of diphtheria in Hancock at the present time.

Ishpeming—The Cleveland Cliffs Iron company Sept. 15 purchased the majority of the real estate of the Pittsburgh & Lake Angeline Mining company for $27,000. The only other bidder was A. W. Shaw, representing the Jones & Laughlin company. The Mitchel mining property in Tilden township was sold to the Jones & Laughlin company for $2,000.

Republic—Samuel Mallinen, aged 50, a farmer living five miles south of Republic, was killed by lightning in his home Monday night. Mallinen was sleeping on a mattress on the floor when the lightning came down the chimney and shattered it to within two feet of its base.

Laurium—The management of the Twin Counties fair, which will open here next Monday, announces that a program of exceptionally good horse racing events is being arranged and that some of the best driving events ever staged in the Copper country will be seen at the Laurium park Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons.

Ishpeming—It cost Nat Reiss $100 when he admitted to Judge St. John in municipal court that he had allowed gambling to go on in connection with his carnival shows.

Munising—Following a quarrel with her lover, Delina Revord, 16 years old, ended her life by drinking carbolic acid.

Manistique—One of the largest deeds ever recorded in the upper peninsula was that filed by the Lake Superior Iron & Chemical company, which transfers its property to the Charcoal Iron company of America. The deed for this transfer, which involved a sum of $4,000,000, required revenue stamps amounting to $4,000.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Appleton — Appleton independent school district voted Tuesday to issue $65,000 bonds for the erection of a new schoolhouse, by a vote of 282 to 140. The same proposition was defeated a few months ago by a small majority.

Brainerd—Frank L. Matteson, deputy sheriff here under Sheriff Peter Mertz thirty years ago, and now located in Spokane, Wash., where he is employed by the Northern Pacific railway, was [illegible]

Redwood Falls—C. L. Maurstad, residing on the [illegible] Delhi, shot and killed a wolf at his home Sunday evening. The animal had been prowling around the Maurstad chicken yard for several days.

St. Peter—Thomas O'Brien escaped Tuesday from the state hospital for the insane. O'Brien is described as being 43 years old, weighing 136 pounds, with dark hair and blue eyes and wearing a black suit and cap. He stammers when he talks. There is a number four mark on his clothes.

St. Cloud—The county commissioners voted to allow the people of St. Anna and Opole to vote on the question of incorporation. The elections will be held in the near future.

Fergus Falls—Glen Orran of the town of Orwell was arrested and brought to Fergus Falls, charged with having given liquor to Gus Comstock, a minor. He said that he had purchased the booze at Elizabeth, and had given it to Comstock, not realizing that to give liquor to a minor was as great an offense as to sell it. He was taken before Judge Parsons of the district court, who imposed a fine of $25.

Stillwater — Edward Norman, 55 years of age, former proprietor of the Sherman hotel at St. Paul, died of heart failure at White Bear Sept. 4. He is survived by a widow, a daughter and a son.

More.—A teachers' institute has been called at Mora for the four days beginning Tuesday, Sept. 21, and closing Friday, Sept. 24.

Barnesville—If potato prices do not advance soon, hundreds of acres planted to tubers in Clay and adjoining counties, will be plowed under, according to Peter Stulz, former police head at Dilworth, and now one of the largest potato farmers near the village. Mr. Stulz declared that the present prices of 18 and 22 cents a bushel do not warrant the digging.

Crookston—Kasim Morris and his wife, Nellie Morris, were bound over to the grand jury by Judge Gossman in municipal court. Joint bonds were fixed at $200. Morris and his wife are accused with running a disorderly house in the old Svea hotel on North Main street.

Thief River Falls—The Presbyterian church of Thief River Falls has extended a call to the Rev. Rufus L. Barackman, D. D., professor of biblical literature and instruction in Buena Vista college, Storm Lake, Iowa, which has been accepted. Dr. Barackman will be in charge here Oct. 1.

Roosevelt—E. A. Dahl & Co. opened the gravel pit for the state highway two miles east of town the first of the week. A steam shovel is used to load the gravel into dump cars and a track has been laid for several miles along the road.

Bemidji—Employment will be provided for 300 men with the opening of two large logging camps near Kelliher by the Crookston Lumber company. One of these camps is now under construction and the other will be started at once. Several men are now employed in the construction of the camp that is being built.

International Falls—Mrs. Felix Koski, a resident of Ninth street, died on Thursday of tuberculosis, aged 26 years. The funeral will be held Friday with interment at the local cemetery.

Bemidji—Fifteen men were given citizenship papers at the opening term of the district court Wednesday. Seven different nationalities were represented.

MARIAN COLE FISHER

A National Authority on the Subject of PURE FOODS and the ART OF COOKING.

In a recent interview on baking powder stated as follows:

"I find many, in fact, very many, women woefully uninformed on the subject of baking powder. Evidently the housewife does not appreciate the value of baking powder in her kitchen and in her baking, or she would have informed herself. This is a subject that is quite important.

"A great many of the housewives today have followed their mothers or grandmothers in the use of baking powder, which in some instances is a mistake. There has been just as much improvement in baking powder as in other commodities. I am glad to find that baking powder has kept up with the times.

Some housewives have been led to believe that the cream of tartar powders are the best goods to use. This is a mistake, resulting no doubt from the constant efforts of the Twenty Million Dollar Baking Powder Trust to create a prejudice against all goods save their own. Their goods should be least desirable on account of the large quantities of Rochelle Salts remaining in the food.

The other extreme is the cheap and "Big Can" baking powders, which sell all the way from ten cents a pound to a cent an ounce. These are even less desirable than the high-priced goods. I can say nothing in their favor. They are never economical; frequently leaving the baking bleached and acid; sometimes yellow and alkaline, and often unpalatable. They are not dependable and represent false economy at any price.

The most simple way for the housewife to class baking powder is by price. The trust goods that retail for 45c or 50c a pound are usually the cream of tartar powders, and are of the old school; and the cheap and "Big Can" kind that sell all the way from 10c a pound up to a cent an ounce should also be avoided.

The last word in baking powder is the happy medium, a combination powder that sells at a moderate price and when properly prepared gives the consumer full value for the money. The result in baking is pure, wholesome food, without any harmful residue. There is no reason why any housewife should pay 45c or 50c per pound. The best baking powder made can be manufactured so as to retail at about ½ this price.

On being asked what baking powder she used in her work, Marian Cole Fisher frankly stated that for more than seven years she had used Calumet Baking Powder with the most satisfactory results in every particular.

SHARP BREAK AT THE CLOSE

Wheat Slumps in Late Trading on Predicted Large Receipts.

Crushers Bid Up for Flaxseed and Its Market Works Higher.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 17.—The market slumped around the close on excited offerings on expectations of much larger receipts. September wheat closed ½c off; December 1⅛c off and May 1⅜c off. September durum closed ¼c off; October ½c up; December ¼c off, and May unchanged. Oats closed ⅛c off at 32⅝c for on the track; rye unchanged at 91c for on the track, and barley unchanged at from 45 to 53c for on the track.

At Winnipeg October oats closed ¼c off at 35½c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis December wheat closed at 90c and calls at 93⅝c.

Expectations of operators in the wheat market were upset again today by the persistent strength shown. The sustaining factor was steady inquiry from elevator men to cover contracts for nearby shipment. Apart from that there was nothing for bulls to do any shouting over.

Fresh inquiry from Eastern millers was advised, but it was all for small lots and none for shipment beyond Sept. 25. The present condition in the market is attributed by traders to the heavy tonnage sold for shipment at around the present time, and that in moving the grain from interior points to the terminals a congestion developed temporarily on the railroads. That blockade has been relieved and there came an immediate easing up in market conditions here. Inspections at Duluth today made a close comparison with last year, being 474 cars against 492, and there were 888 cars of all grains on the tracks for the day. If the present weather weather continues bumper arrivals are predicted here next week, and falling another burst of active millers' buying, traders are wondering how quotations are going to be maintained. That would be more especially the case were winter wheat markets to pick up in the meantime, resulting in checking the demand from millers operating in winter wheat territory for Northwest grain. Attention is furthermore drawn by operators to the fact that the shipping season for spring wheat has been shortened to the extent of about three weeks as compared with a year ago, and that with the comparatively light boat tonnage available, the danger of a congestion developing early this winter has thus been immeasurably increased.

September wheat opened unchanged at 98⅜c and was advanced on good buying to $1.00⅜ at the noon hour. Trading in the deferred futures was narrow. December opened ⅛c off at 94c, eased off ¼c more and then firmed up ½c. May opened ⅛c up at 99c, and remained at around that basis.

Durum was comparatively strong, owing to demand to cover contracts. A significant development in its market was an easing off in the cash grain. September durum opened unchanged at $1.02½, moved up to $1.04, and then weakened 1c. October opened unchanged at 99c and advanced 1c. December opened unchanged at 96c and held there.

Flaxseed Strong.

Flaxseed developed strength shortly after the opening, advancing 2⅛c on crushers' inquiry. That buying satisfied, quotations promptly sagged 2c. The flax market is being sustained through the paucity of receipts and the likelihood that the movement of the new crop will be somewhat deferred this fall. The market turned strong again at the close.

September wheat closed 1½c up at $1.67 nominal. October opened unchanged at $1.65½, and closed 1½c up at $1.67 bid. December opened unchanged at $1.65½, and closed 1½c up at $1.67 bid. December opened unchanged at $1.64½ and closed 2c up at $1.66½ bid.

At Winnipeg, October flax closed 2c up at $1.46¾ asked and December 2¼c up at $1.47 bid. At Buenos Aires, flax closed ½c up at $1.23⅝, and London unchanged at $1.92¾.

MARKET GOSSIP.

Millers' and elevators demand for cash wheat was not quite so marked in the Duluth market today. The premium on cash No. 1 northern, however, remained at 4c over September and to arrive September at 1c over. Call for durum for immediate shipment fell off very materially and the premium on spot No. 1 was dropped to 2c over September. Large receipts of durum are expected next week.

* * *

C. E. Lewis & Co. had the following from New York: "Over-night business in wheat was said to have been limited. Reports persisted that a fair amount of oats was worked yesterday and that there was more doing this morning."

* * *

At Minneapolis the cash market was strong, with very keen demand. No. 1 northern blue stem ranged from 4c to 7c over September. Velvet chaff was particularly strong at 3¾c to 4c over and some sold at 4½c over September to run out. Flour sales were moderate. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from 98½c to $1.02½ and No. 2 northern at from 95¾c to 99½c. Stocks in Minneapolis elevators decreased 375,000 bu in the week.

* * *

In the course of a Chicago interview Julius H. Barnes said: "I do not believe it will be possible to sell all our surplus wheat this year."

Export sales at the seaboard yesterday were reported as 1,250,000 bu, but mainly Manitobas. American exporters say there was little inquiry for domestic wheat.

The October government report on the grain crops will be issued Thursday, Oct. 7, at 2:15 p. m., Eastern time. The report will cover the condition on Oct. 1 or at time of harvest of corn, buckwheat, potatoes, sweet potatoes, apples, rice and flaxseed, also yield of acre and total production and the quality of spring wheat, oats and barley.

* * *

Paine Commission company had the following from Logan & Bryan at Chicago: "Wheat has had quite an upturn from the low point of ten days and has resulted in eliminating the big short interest. The trade now appears to be arrayed on the long side. From a statistical point of view conditions are bearish and we feel that a culmination of the advance is due."

* * *

In Argentina partial rains have fallen, but every general rain is wanted. Oats crop prospects are unfavorable.

The Modern Miller says: "There was an increased movement of winter wheat this week, with an improvement in quality, but it was readily absorbed by the mills. Northwest wheat is being shipped to the mills of the Middle West, and the movement has reached large proportions. Rains in Oklahoma, Missouri, Michigan and the entire spring wheat districts retarded the movement, which is gradually enlarging. There is no large accumulation of wheat for export in the United States and a certainty that Canadian grain with ample tonnage will move in volume. Reports from winter wheat districts indicate a sharp reduction in the area plowed."

Indian shipments are estimated at 50,000 bu wheat all to the United Kingdom. Light rains have fallen and prospects are improved.

In France the weather is more favorable. Millers are protesting strongly to the government regarding the admixture of flour and it is believed this order will be modified. Import requirements will be liberal.

NOTE—Weekly summaries of condition in the grain region will be telegraphed from Washington, April 13, and each Tuesday thereafter during the growing season, except that this summary will be telegraphed and published on Wednesday whenever the preceding Monday is a holiday.

REMARKS—Owing to the generally backward state of this year's corn crop in many of the northern but important growing sections of the belt there is danger of injury to the crop by killing frost, the occurrence of which may be expected at any time. It is therefore important that every effort possible be made to secure good seed for next year's crop. Where any of last year's crop is left it should be gone over and the best ears cared for seed. Moreover, as corn matures unevenly, it is possible to secure seed from the early ears before the rest of the crop is matured. (Telegram from Chief U. S. weather bureau, dated Washington, D. C., September 16, 1915.)

SERVICE

Success in any business is measured by the value of its Service.

The essentials that go to make Service of value to investors are the ability to advise intelligently, the excellence of organization and the equipment for the execution of orders.

But back of Service should be financial soundness, known integrity and established confidence. These do not come over night but are the slow growth of years.

For a quarter of a century we have been in close and active touch with the security and commodity markets. We have always been in position to give the best possible Service because we have spared no effort or expense to secure from reliable sources, information of value to investors.

The present offers excellent opportunities for the investor but, at the same time, conditions do not warrant indiscriminate commitments in the markets and the need for guidance is imperative. We invite inquiries, personal or by correspondence.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Shows Strength on Reports of Broadening Demand in Europe.

Chicago, Sept. 17.—Wheat showed strength today as a result of reports of a broadening demand in Europe. The smallness of the contract stock on hand here made the September option advance more rapidly than other deliveries. On the upturn, however, there was rather free selling by leading houses. Opening prices, which ranged from ⅛@⅜c off to 2c advance, with December at 96¼c to 97⅛c and May at 99c to $1.00, was followed by something of a reaction and then a fresh rally.

Subsequently assertions that northwestern farmers were selling stored wheat on quite a liberal scale tended to bring about a setback, especially as Winnipeg futures were relatively much lower than the same options here. The close was weak, ranking from 1@1¼c net lower to 1c advance with December at 95⅞@95¾c and May at 98¼c.

Corn hardened with wheat. At first, though, the market gave evidence that the ideal weather was not being altogether lost sight of. After opening unchanged to ⅛c lower, prices scored moderate gains all around.

Increased arrivals from the country acted later as a handicap on the bulls. The close was steady at ⅛c to ½c under last night.

Oats reflected the strength of other cereals. Trade was light.

Support was lacking for provisions. Declines, however, were not of a radical sort.

Wheat: No. 2 red, $1.18; No. 2 hard, nominal.

Corn—No. 2 yellow, 76½@77c; No. 4 white, 74½c.

GOOD ADVANCES IN COPPER STOCKS

Better trading developed in mining stocks at Boston today as a result of the improved foreign exchange situation. Price changes were upward.

Butte & Superior was a feature advancing $1.25 to a close $60.50.

American Zinc closed $1.25 up at $53.25; Calumet & Arizona 37 cents off at $61.87; Greene-Cananea $1.75 up at $39.75; Granby $4.75 up at $84.75; Mohawk unchanged at $72.25; North Butte unchanged at $29.75; Tamarack unchanged at $56, and Shattuck 25 cents up at $25.

At New York, Anaconda closed 50 cents up at $71.63.

Paine, Webber & Co. had the following from New York: "The whole list of Steel was strong. Buying of Great Northern Ore is on reports of the company leasing a large option on the property."

At London spot copper closed off 5s; electrolytic off 2s 6d, and electrolytic unchanged.

Large sales of electrolytic copper were made today at 18c.

The copper visible supply in England, France and afloat for ports of those nations decreased 1,962 tons from Sept. 1 to Sept. 15, being 32,192 tons on the latter date.

* * *

At St. Louis lead closed firmer at 4½c bid, and spelter nominally at 13c.

SPECIALTIES ARE ACTIVE

Heavy Trading at Variable Gains Features Stock Market.

Industrials and Equipment Advance in the Last Hour.

New York, Sept. 17.—Special causes were reflected in today's early stock dealings, General Motors, whose directors yesterday declared a 50 per cent dividend, opened with a gain of 17 points at 280, gradually ascending to 291, 20 points above all previous records. Studebaker also made a new high, rising 3 to 120¾. Colorado Fuel, yesterday's strongest feature opened with 3,000 shares at 52½ to ¾, against yesterday's close of 52⅝, and then rose to 54½. Willys-Overland gained 3 to 189, and other specialties were fractionally higher. United States Steel was unchanged at the outset, then fell off a fraction, only to recover half a point over yesterday at 75. Union Pacific, Reading and Atchison were nominally lower, but these and other railways were seriously depressed in London, declines ranging from 2 to 5 points.

There was considerable confusion of prices during the busy first hour, some highly priced specialties reacting, while less prominent stocks like Pressed Steel Car, American Car, Republic Steel, the Locomotives, and Great Northern Ore were higher by 1¼ to 3 points. Automobile shares, mainly Maxwells and Goodrich gathered fresh impetus from the liberal disbursement of the General Motor company. Later some seasoned industrials and equipments, including General Electric, advanced materially and United States Steel rose to 75½. Bethlehem Steel and Crucible Steel were lower. Pressure against the railways was lifted at midday when trading dwindled. Bonds were firm.

Colorado Fuel again became the central feature in the afternoon, extending its rise to 58⅜. There were further substantial gains in other industrials, notably Runneley's, American Linseed, Great Northern Ore and United Cigar manufacturers.

Heavy trading in specialties at variable gains to the accompaniment of unconfirmed rumors featured today's active market. Industrials and equipments made additional gains in the last hour but receded slightly on realizing. The close was strong.

If you want to taste the genuine pineapple flavor just as if you ate the ripe fruit in the fields, ask your grocer today for some Hawaiian Canned Pineapple.

It's picked at the exact moment when the warm semi-tropical sunshine has perfectly ripened it and packed the same day in its own rich juice.

Hawaiian Canned Pineapple

is a perfectly delicious dessert, an appetizing breakfast dish and it can be used in innumerable other ways—for salads, pies, cakes, puddings, ices, etc. Sweeter and more flavory than the green, "fresh" kind and it's all ready to serve.

10c to 25c a can according to size of can and grade of quality—cheaper than it's ever been before. Just ask for a can of Hawaiian Pineapple.

PRAIRIE CHICKENS BECOMING SCARCE

General Movement Among Sportsmen to Discourage Shooting Them.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—According to Carlos Avery, state game and fish commissioner, there is a general movement among sportsmen throughout the state to discourage the further shooting of prairie chickens the rest of this season and during next season. The reason assigned is the marked scarcity of the birds.

Wet weather, Mr. Avery says, has largely reduced the number of birds, and the majority of bags secured consist of older birds. He thinks it will take fully two years to replenish the supply. It is possible that a meeting of sportsmen will be held shortly for the purpose of starting an energetic campaign for the safe guarding of the few chickens left.

SECOND BOAT HOUSE FIRE

Two Launches and Rowboat Are Destroyed By Flames.

Firemen Believe That Both Blazes Were Started for Revenge.

The second boathouse fire to occur in West Duluth within twenty-four hours took place at 2 o'clock this morning when two boathouses located on the lower end of Sixty-third avenue west were totally destroyed. Two motor boats and a row boat were burned.

The boats were small ones but valued at $175 each. One of these belonged to C. A. Olson and the other to a friend. No insurance was carried. The other boathouse adjoining was the property of E. Nelson of the West end. In it was only a row boat valued at $25.

Firemen are of the opinion since the fire of yesterday morning that both have been of incendiary origin. There was nothing in the buildings which would have caused the blaze. The owners carried no insurance and are of the opinion that the fire was started for revenge.

Yesterday morning the boathouses belonging to Ernest Larson, John Meleski and Robert Weddell were destroyed. Motor boats belonging to the former two were in their buildings, while a boat belonging to R. T. Smallidge was in the Weddell boat house. The loss totaled over $4,000.

The fire had a big headway at the boathouses this morning. When the department arrived the firemen found they did not have enough hose to reach the place from the nearest hydrant. The two buildings were nearly consumed but a further spread of the flames was prevented.

An investigation will probably be made regarding the fires. While there is a suspicion that the fires are of incendiary origin the firemen have no clew on which to base their suspicions.

IRVING TIGERS READY FOR FRAY

West Duluth is promised at least one fast amateur football team this fall. The Irving Tigers were recently organized, and from preliminary practice promise to give a good account of themselves this year.

This year's Irving Tigers are made up of many of the players of the team which last year played under the name of Irving Tigers Juniors. In a practice game last Sunday the team won from an aggregation which termed themselves "All Stars" by a score of 26 to 6.

Roy Butler, manager for the Tigers, announced last evening that his team was ready to meet any team in the city whose average weight of players did not exceed 135 pounds. A game for next Sunday is being looked for.

Among the players who will be in the line-up Sunday if a game can be secured, are Wilson, Peterson, Fox, Utley, McNulty, Tebrico, Holter, McDonald, Davis, Rich, Welness, Burr and Anderson. Arrangements for games may be made by calling Calumet 242-M.

BRICK BUILDING ON BUSINESS CORNER

A handsome one-story brick building will be erected at the corner of Central and Grand avenues this fall by H. G. Givan of New York. Construction work will begin at once by Jacobson Bros., contractors, who have the contract.

The building will have a frontage of twenty-five feet on Central avenue. It will be eighty feet deep. A full basement and foundation strong enough to support additional floors in case they are required will be built. It will cost about $8,000. The old building, which formerly occupied this lot, has been moved. W. B. Getchell of West Duluth is agent for the property.

DRUGGIST IS BEING TRIED

Friend Is Unwilling Witness Against Alleged Lid Lifter.

H. J. Schell, proprietor of one of the leading pharmacies of Proctor and a prominent citizen of that prosperous railroad town, was placed on trial before a jury in District Judge Fesler's court this morning, charged with illegally selling intoxicating liquor on Aug. 27 last.

John Anderson, a machinist, who has resided in Proctor for several years and who is a friend of Schell, was the first witness called by the state this morning. He said that he went to the Schell store on or about the time stated in the indictment and purchased a pint of whisky, after telling Schell that he had a bad cold and wanted "whisky or something" that would cure him.

After securing the bottle he returned to his rooming place, where he was joined by two stool pigeons who had been brought to Proctor by the village officials to look for "leaks" in the town lid. Anderson and his companion drank about half the whisky and the remainder is now labeled "Exhibit A" and occupies a conspicuous place on Prosecutor Mason M. Forbes' table before the jury that is listening to the testimony.

Mr. Anderson is apparently not pleased at being made a witness in the case against his friend, but feels worse about having housed the two stool pigeons for a week, believing they were collectors for a well-known Duluth furniture house.

It is expected that the case will be given to the jury before court adjourns this afternoon.

WANTS DAMAGES FROM CITY FOR FALL

Mrs. Catherine C. Holmwood Brings Suit for $5,000.

Mrs. Catherine C. Holmwood, an elderly woman residing in West Duluth, is suing the city for $5,000 for injuries which she alleges she received April 17, when she was thrown heavily as the result of a defective sidewalk in Ramsey street, between Fifty-second and Fifty-third avenues.

Trial of the action was begun this morning before a jury in Judge Ensign's court. B. M. Goldberg appears for the plaintiff while City Attorney Green represents the defendant.

Mrs. Holmwood states in her complaint that the sidewalk where she was injured had been out of repair for some time and that the stringers under the boards were rotten. When she stepped onto that portion of the walk it gave way and she was pitched forward striking her head against some projecting steps, injuring her head, face and shoulders and causing her to have hemorrhages from the nose and mouth.

Will Be Buried Saturday.

The funeral service for Mrs. Katherine Wicklund, wife of Andrew Wicklund, 1215 West Fifth street, who died yesterday, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Third Swedish Baptist church, Fifty-ninth avenue and Ramsey street. Short services will be held at the residence at 1 o'clock. Rev. K. A. Lundin will officiate.

Mrs. Wicklund had resided in Duluth for nine years. She leaves besides her husband, three daughters, Lydia, Clara and Mildred Wicklund, and two sons, Leonard and Edward.

West Duluth Briefs.

Fremad lodge, Independent Order of Good Templars will entertain this evening and tomorrow night at its annual bazar in Odd Fellows hall, 602 North Central avenue. The program this evening will include an address by L. A. Shaonson, grand chief templar of the order and a number of musical selections.

E. L. Thompson of Shadron, Neb., is a guest at the home of his aunt, Mrs. C. T. Johnson, 419 North Fifty-eighth avenue west.

Mrs. G. O. Cooper, 719 North Fifty-fourth avenue west, and Mr. and Mrs. Chris Anderson of Woodville, Wis., who have been attending the Bayfield County fair, returned yesterday from Iron River, Wis. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson left today for Barnum, where they will visit the Carlton County fair today while en route to their home.

Mrs. E. A. Olson, 1822 West Third street, has returned from a visit to relatives in Montana, North and South Dakota.

The Citizens' State bank is open for all banking business from 6 to 8 p. m. Saturday evening.

Mrs. E. Hanson and son, Elmer Hanson, are guests at the home of Mrs. Hanson's daughter, Mrs. George O. Cooper, 719 North Fifty-fourth avenue west.

Miss Etta Bujold, 6512 Polk street, is spending two weeks visiting relatives in Chicago.

Frank H. Wade returned last evening from Barnum, where he attended the Carlton County fair.

WILL DRIVE LIMOUSINES

Jitneurs Plan to Have Covered Cars During Winter.

Successful Drivers Will Operate Machines Year Round.

Jitney limousines for the winter!

So declared O. E. Thompson, treasurer of the Duluth Jitney association, when asked this morning if the drivers plan to operate on Duluth streets during the winter months.

"Many of us do," he said, "and we plan to have limousines, or cover our present machines up, so that passengers will be warm. If necessary, we will install small warming stoves in every car.

"Business has been very good for a large number and these all plan to operate right through the winter."

Unlike jitney drivers in other cities, where, reports state, the machines will stop running after the cold weather sets in and snow begins falling, the local jitneurs propose to give Duluthians service the year round. Although a large number will quit some time this fall, it is expected that at least twenty will remain on the streets, operating either with limousines or specially-covered cars.

Shortly after the jitney business began in this city last spring, there were 280 cars in operation, but this number has dropped down to about sixty cars now running on Duluth streets. Of this number sixteen have already been granted licenses by the city council to operate the year round, while it is expected that thirty more will be granted licenses during the month. These have held insurance policies from the National Indemnity exchange, now permitted to operate in Minnesota, and they will file formal applications with the council at once. The local licenses are operative from May 1 to May 1 of each year.

DEVELOPMENTS NOT PRESSING

Secretary Lansing Goes Away on Ten-Days Vacation.

Washington, Sept. 17.—President Wilson and Secretary Lansing had a general conference on international affairs today just before the secretary left for a ten days' vacation. No pressing developments in any of the situations confronting the United States are expected before Mr. Lansing's return.

Mr. Lansing announced that the new note to Great Britain on interference with American trade had been completed.

The note is very long and has been in preparation for some time. Its dispatch has been delayed not only on account of a desire to gather complete information, but because the United States was unwilling while the negotiations with Germany were at a critical point to be placed in the position of being forced to protest to Great Britain in order to obtain an acquiescence by Germany in the viewpoint of the United States on the submarine question.

BANDITS THREATEN LIVES OF AMERICANS

Mad Because Villa Soldiers Rescued Captive Held for Ransom.

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 17.—Bandits operating along the Mexican Northwestern railroad have threatened the lives of all foreigners, particularly Americans, according to reports received here today. These advices state the threats were made because members of the Chaves brothers' band had been fired upon by Villa soldiers when they went to receive the ransom demanded for Edward Ledwidge, commissary agent for the railroad and other companies of the Pearson interests.

Only half of the $10,000 ransom demanded had been delivered to the bandit when he fled amid a hail of bullets. Ledwidge was fired upon by his Mexican guard but reached the train of rescuers unharmed.

As a result of this incident it is understood a special train is touring the line and employes are being urged to leave the country.

CARDINAL LORENZELLI IS DEAD AT FLORENCE

Florence, Italy, Sept. 17, via Paris.—The death is announced of Cardinal Bennedetto Lorenzelli, archbishop of Lucia and prefect of the congregation of studies.

Cardinal Lorenzelli was created a cardinal in 1907, after having been during his entire life since leaving the seminary in the diplomatic service of the Vatican. For three years he represented the Vatican at The Hague, and later at Munich, and was the nunzio at Paris before the breaking of diplomatic relations between the French government and the Vatican.

He was made archbishop of Lucia in 1904. Early last month, the cardinal was taken seriously ill and received the last sacraments but later rallied. He was 63 years old, having been born at Badi, in the archdiocese of Bologna, in 1853.

PACKERS REFUSED TO PROVE INNOCENCE

Washington, Sept. 17.—Reporting to the state department today on the British prize court decision, declaring $15,000,000 worth of American packers' products forfeited to the crown, Consul General Skinner at London sent the following dispatch:

"Prize court decisions given against American packing houses sustain the order in council. Based largely on the refusal of claimants to accept burden of proof and demonstrate innocent destination."

Indians Get Divorces.

Fort Yates, N. D., Sept. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Luke Low Dog and Dan Coldhand, Indians, no longer are married.

Judge J. M. Hanley of the district court granted divorce decrees setting the Redskins free from marital bonds.

Low Dog was sued for divorce by Reginal. The matter of alimony was not determined upon, but the probabilities are that Low Dog will have to pay.

In the Coldhand case, Dan Coldhand sued Emma Coldhand for separation, and their child was awarded to Clement Coldhand, an uncle of the husband.

HYDE PARK

TRACTS AT LAKEWOOD FRONTING LAKE SUPERIOR

These tracts front the right of way of the famous Congdon Boulevard, which has been acquired along the Lake Shore at an expense of over $30,000.00.

In time to come this will be choice residence property and command many times its present price. There are no tracts less than 100 feet in width and boulevard lots extend from the boulevard to the railroad. The tracts above the railroad all front either the North Shore road or the Lakewood Extension Road, which runs north from the North Shore Road to the Lakewood Chateau. These are large tracts of approximately two acres and afford splendid opportunity for grounds and gardens. This property is in the direct line of development, and as the city grows, will be one of the best residence districts. At the present time the school board transports the pupils living at Lakewood to the Lester Park school without charge. The city owns approximately thirty acres at the pumping station, which will eventually be one of the most attractive parks in the city. The water is pumped to the city from this station by electric power, so there is no smoke or dirt from the plant.

Buy now while you can get these large tracts at low prices. Call at our office for map showing size and prices of tracts. Prices range from $200 to $650, according to size and location of tract.

LEGAL NOTICES.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—

Whereas, Default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage which was duly executed and delivered by Antonina Yaniak (sometimes known as Antonina Janiak), a widow and unmarried, Mortgagor, to D. T. Carmichael, Mortgagee, dated July 1st, 1912, and which was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on July 9th, 1912, at 11:30 o'clock A. M., in Book three hundred eight (308) of Mortgages, on Page twenty (20) thereof; said default consisting in the nonpayment of the principal sum thereby secured, with interest thereon at the rate of six per cent (6%) per annum from July 1st, 1915, and no part of which has ever been paid; and

Whereas, There is therefore claimed to be due, and there is actually due, upon said mortgage debt at the date of this notice, the sum of One Thousand Five Hundred Twelve and 12-100 Dollars ($1,512.12), principal and interest; and

Whereas, Said mortgage contains a power of sale in due form, which has become operative by reason of the defaults above mentioned, and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, That by virtue of said power of sale, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in said mortgage, being the following described tracts or parcels of land situated in St. Louis County, Minnesota, towit:

Lot One Hundred Seventy-two (172) in Block Nine (9), Duluth Proper, Third Division, and

Lot One Hundred Seventy-two (172) in Block Twenty-five (25), Duluth Proper, Second division, according to the recorded plats thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said St. Louis County, which premises will be sold by the Sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the Court House, facing Fifth avenue west, in the City of Duluth, in said County and State, on the 9th day of October, A. D. 1915, at 10 o'clock A. M., at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the debt and interest, and taxes, if any, on said premises, and Fifty Dollars ($50.00) attorney's fees stipulated for in said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one (1) year from the date of sale, as provided by law.

ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION —OF— HOLLAND MINING COMPANY.

We, the undersigned, do hereby associate ourselves together for the purpose of forming a corporation under the provisions of Chapter 58 of the Revised Laws of Minnesota for the year 1905, and acts amendatory thereof and supplementary thereto, and for that purpose do hereby sign the following articles of incorporation:

ARTICLE I.

The name of this corporation shall be the "HOLLAND MINING COMPANY."

The general nature of the business of this corporation shall be mining, smelting, reducing, refining and working of iron ore and other minerals and the manufacture of iron, steel and other metals, said business to be carried on in the state of Minnesota and elsewhere.

The principal place for the transaction of the business of said corporation and where its offices shall be kept is Duluth, Minnesota.

ARTICLE II.

The time of the commencement of said corporation shall be the 18th day of September, 1915, and the period of its continuance shall be thirty years thereafter.

ARTICLE III.

The amount of the capital stock of said corporation shall be fifty thousand dollars, divided into five thousand shares of the par value of ten dollars each, which may be issued and paid in in money or property at such times and in such amounts as may be ordered by the Board of Directors.

ARTICLE IV.

The highest amount of indebtedness and liability to which this corporation shall at any time be subject shall be fifty thousand dollars.

ARTICLE V.

The names and places of residence of the persons forming this corporation are as follows: F. D. Orr, H. W. Coulter and Thomas A. Gall, all residing at Duluth, Minnesota.

ARTICLE VI.

The government of this corporation and the management of its affairs shall be vested in a board of three directors, who shall be elected annually by the stockholders at a stockholders' annual meeting, which shall be held at the company's office in Duluth, Minnesota, at ten o'clock in the forenoon on the first Thursday in December of each year.

The officers of said corporation shall be a president, a vice president, a secretary and a treasurer, whose respective duties and powers shall be prescribed by the Board of Directors, and who shall be elected from and by the Board of Directors at their annual meeting, which shall be held immediately following the annual meeting of the stockholders. Any two of said offices may be held by the same person except the office of president and vice president.

The Board of Directors and such officers shall hold their respective offices until the next succeeding annual meeting and thereafter until their successors are elected and qualified.

The names of the persons who shall constitute the first board of directors of said corporation, and who shall hold office until their next annual meeting, and until their successors are elected and qualified, shall be F. D. Orr, H. W. Coulter and Thomas A. Gall, of whom F. D. Orr shall be president, H. W. Coulter shall be vice president, and Thomas A. Gall shall be secretary and treasurer.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF We have hereunto set our hands and seals this 15th day of September, A. D. 1915.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:—

Be it known, That the FITGER BREWING COMPANY, a corporation, duly organized under the laws of the State of Minnesota, with its principal place of business in the City of Duluth, County of St. Louis, in said state, and doing business in said City of Duluth and throughout the State of Minnesota, and is engaged in the manufacturing and bottling of beer, lager beer, Non-Alco and other beverages, has adopted for its use various trademarks, of which the following are a full, clear and exact description:

First Trade-Mark.

The words "Fitger, Duluth," blown into brown, light green and white bottles, with capacities of 12 and 24 fluid ounces.

Second Trade-Mark.

The words "Fitger Brewing Co., Duluth, Minn.," branded on heads of quarter barrels of 7¾ gallons.

Third Trade-Mark.

The words "Fitger Brewing Co.," with a 5-pointed red or black star, with a ship in center of star, with the words "Guaranteed 2 Doz. 24-Oz. bottles" to left of star, and the word "perfect" on right of star, and the word "beer" under word "perfect," and below this the words "Duluth, Minn.," stamped or painted on cases containing 2 dozen 24-ounce bottles.

Fourth Trade-Mark.

The words "Fitger Brewing Co.," with a 5-pointed red or black star, with a ship in center of star, with the word "Guaranteed" to the left and the word "Perfect" to the right of star, and the word "Beer" under word "Perfect," and below this the words "Duluth, Minn.," stamped or painted on cases containing 3 dozen 12-ounce bottles.

Fifth Trade-Mark.

The words "Fitger Non-Alco, Duluth, Minn.," stamped or painted on cases containing 3 dozen 12-ounce bottles of "Non-Alco."

Sixth Trade-Mark.

Printed label containing the distinctive word "Non-Alco" in white letters with blue border on a red background surrounded with a gold border, with the words above it "Healthful and Nutritious," "Strictly Natural Product," and below it the words "A pure, palatable beverage, free from all drugs or alcohol. Manufactured only by Fitger Brewing Company," "Duluth, Minn., U. S. A. Contents 12 fl. oz."

Seventh Trade-Mark.

Printed label containing the words "Fitger's Natural Beer," with a 5-pointed red star with a gold border, with a ship colored blue in the center of the star, with the name "Duluth" on the bow and the word "Trade-mark" above, with the words "Kieselguhr Filtration" to the left of the star and the words "Unsteamed and Pure" to the right of the star, and "Fitger Brewing Co., Duluth, Minn.," at the bottom, and "Contents 1 Pt. 8 Fluid Oz." and "Alcohol 4% By Volume."

Eighth Trade-Mark.

Printed label containing the words "Fitger's Natural Beer," with a 5-pointed red star with a gold border, with a ship colored blue in the center of the star, with the name "Duluth" on the bow and the word "Trade-mark" above, with the words "Kieselguhr Filtration" to the left of the star and the words "Unsteamed and Pure" to the right of the star, and "Fitger Brewing Co., Duluth, Minn.," at the bottom, and "Contents, 12 fluid oz.," and "Alcohol 4% by Volume."

These various trade-marks are continuously in use in the business of said corporation.

The classes of "beer," "lager beer" and "Non-Alco" to which these various trade-marks are appropriated, and the particular description of the goods comprised, are designated upon such various trade-marks, and said printed labels are usually displayed upon bottles of sizes which will contain 12 and 24-fluid ounces, and are placed thereon when bottled and leaving the plant of the FITGER BREWING COMPANY at Duluth, Minnesota.

In witnes whereof, the Fitger Brewing Company has caused its corporate seal to be hereunto affixed, and the same to be signed by its President, this 28th day of August, 1915.

FITGER BREWING COMPANY.
AUGUST FITGER,
President.

In Presence of:
P. C. SCHMIDT.
ARTHUR L. LARSON.
(Corporate Seal, Fitger Brewing Co., Duluth, Minn.)

State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis —ss.

August Fitger being duly sworn, deposes and says that he is the President of the Corporation, Fitger Brewing Company, the applicant named in the foregoing statement; that he verily believes that the foregoing statement is true; that the said corporation at this time has a right to the use of the trade-marks therein described.

That no other person, firm or corporation has a right to such use, either in an identical form or in such near resemblance thereto as might be calculated to deceive.

That the various trade-marks are used by said corporation throughout the State of Minnesota, and that the descriptions presented for record truly represent the various trade-marks sought for register.

AUGUST FITGER,
President.

Sworn and subscribed to before me this 28th day of August, 1915.

ORDER TO EXAMINE FINAL ACCOUNT—

State of Minnesota,
County of St. Louis.—ss.

In Probate Court. In the Matter of the Estate of John W. Doell, Decedent.

The petition of Mary D. Crasswoller, as representative of the above named decedent, together with her final account of the administration of said estate, having been filed in this court, representing, among other things that she has fully administered said estate, and praying that said final account of said administration be examined, adjusted and allowed by the Court, and that the Court make and enter its final decree of distribution of the residue of the estate of said decedent to the persons entitled thereto, and for the discharge of the representative and the sureties on her bond. It is ordered, that said petition be heard, and said final account examined, adjusted, and if correct, allowed by the Court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in the city of Duluth in said county, on Monday the 11th day of October, 1915, at ten o'clock a. m., and all persons interested in said hearing and in said matter are hereby cited and required at said time and place to show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted. Ordered further, that this order be served by publication in The Duluth Herald according to law.

Dated at Duluth, Minn., Sept. 17th, 1915.

By the Court, S. W. GILPIN,
Judge of Probate.

Attest: A. R. MORTON,
Clerk of Probate.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE—

Default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Orville D. Edgbert and Mary L. Edgbert, his wife, mortgagors, to J. C. Howard, mortgagee, dated May 27th, 1913, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on June 4th, 1913, at eleven o'clock A. M., in Book 257 of Mortgages, on page 122, which said mortgage, with the debt thereby secured, was thereafter assigned by the said J. C. Howard to E. A. Fay, by instrument in writing dated June 12th, 1913, and recorded in the office of the said Register of Deeds on June 12th, 1913, at 1:30 o'clock P. M., in Book 306 of Mortgages, on page 36.

Said default consists in the non-payment of Thirty-five dollars ($35.00), being the semi-annual instalment of interest due June 1st, 1915, by reason whereof the assignee of mortgagee has elected to exercise the option given by the terms of said mortgage to declare and does hereby declare the whole principal sum secured by said mortgage, with all accrued interest thereon, to be now due and payable.

There is claimed to be due and is actually due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of Ten hundred fifty-four and 45-100 dollars ($1054.43), principal and interest, and no action at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover said debt or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, That under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, which has become operative by reason of the aforesaid default, and pursuant to the statue in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the property therein described, situated in St. Louis County, Minnesota, viz.:

Lot numbered fifty-seven (57), Lake avenue, Lower Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof, which said property, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold by the Sheriff of St. Louis County, at the office of the Sheriff in the Court House in the City of Duluth, in said county and state, on Monday, the 25th day of October, 1915, at ten o'clock A. M., at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and Fifty dollars ($50.00) attorney's fees, stipulated for by and in said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption within one year from date of sale, as provided by law.

Dated at Duluth, Minnesota, September 10th, 1915.

FARM AND FRUIT LANDS.

FOR SALE.

One of the best 40-acre tracts at the Head of the Lakes. Absolutely stoneless and can be cleared for $10 an acre. Covered with a fine growth of clover. Land is on a good road and only six miles south of the new steel plant and fifteen miles from Duluth. All adjoining land is settled on by farmers from Iowa, Nebraska and and Illinois—men who know good land. Land just three miles north is selling for $200 to $500 for a 25-foot lot and the time is not far off when this 40 can be sold in acre tracts for ten times the price asked per acre now. Farm products raised here can be shipped to the new steel city, just six miles north, when the plant is completed in November. This 40 is the best buy at the Head of the Lakes at $50 an acre, but we can sell it at once for $32.50 an acre. Call at once about this. It will not last long at above price.

McBEAN, NESBITT & CO., 218 Providence Bldg. Grand 486. Melrose 2958.

FOR SALE.

A SPLENDID IMPROVED FARM On fine road, near station, schools and churches; 135 acres, 55 acres cleared; three miles fencing, all necessary buildings. Will give all time to right party if some of the stock and machinery is purchased, and will take wild lands partially encumbered in trade or part trade. This property must be sold, so get busy. We can show it to you any week day or Sunday.

WILLIAM C. SARGENT, Providence Bldg.

——A SNAP——

40 ACRES, WORTH $2,000, FOR $800.

A splendid 40-acre tract, absolutely stoneless, and can be cleared for $10 an acre. Excellent farming land at less than farm land prices. Only 15 miles from Duluth, on excellent auto road and good train service; six miles from new steel plant and new steel city. This steel plant will be operating in November. Consider this and think of what it means to this land. It is bound to make this land go to $100 an acre. In fact, at the present time land is being sold just three miles north, between the 40 and the steel plant, for from $200 to $500 for a 25-foot lot. Let us show you this at once. If you want to buy an absolute snap at less than half what it is actually worth, you will look this up at once.

McBEAN, NESBITT & CO., 218 Providence Bldg. Grand 486; Melrose 2958.

Court Room Crowded With Range Residents and Other Spectators.

How Automobile Speedway Was Torn Up to Permit Paving.

With six of the most able attorneys in Minnesota arrayed, three on either side, a legal battle which may go into history as one of the most interesting ever fought in the state, began this morning before Judge Bert Fesler in district court, when the hearing in the injunction proceedings of the Oliver Iron Mining company, the Mahoning Steel & Iron company and the Shenango Furnace company against the village officials of Hibbing, opened.

An hour before the proceedings began the courtroom was crowded with Duluth and range people, the crowd overflowing from the auditorium into seats that are ordinarily reserved for witnesses and jurors. When the morning trains arrived from the iron country, streams of newcomers flowed through the fourth floor corridor of the county building and became blockaded at the courtroom doors. In the crowd were Mayor Victor L. Power of Hibbing, Robert Geiselman, treasurer; Rupert Swinnerton, B. J. Burrows and John Curran, village trustees; D. D. Bailey, village recorder, and many mining superintendents, engineers and business and professional men of Hibbing and other range towns.

Array of Counsel.

By agreement of the attorneys, it was decided to take the proceedings before Judge Fesler and he being busy framing the court calendar for the coming week, an hour's delay in starting the proceedings was necessary. When the hearing finally opened the attorneys lined up for battle, were: W. D. Bailey of Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell; C. O. Baldwin of Baldwin,

WORKERS OPPOSE CONSCRIPTION

Will Stop Work If Compulsory Military Service Is Required.

London, Sept. 18.—The executive committee of the Amalgamated Union of Railway Servants unanimously endorsed today the statement in the house of commons on Thursday of J. H. Thomas that conscription would bring on an industrial revolution and that the railway workers would stop work.

The revolution adopted by the committee congratulates Mr. Thomas, who is the organizing secretary of the labor body, upon his "fine statement," and indorses the views he expressed. It adds:

"The committee instructs the general secretary immediately to summon this executive committee if the government introduces any proposals for compulsory military service."

The executive committee, before Mr. Thomas made his speech in the commons, had adopted a resolution recording its opposition to conscription.

ERB IS CALMLY AWAITING CRISIS

Will Probably Know Outcome of Poison Sunday or Monday.

New York, Sept. 18.—Newman Erb, wealthy organizer, was reported today to be in a comfortable and satisfactory condition, no change having taken place since he recovered from the first effects of two poison tablets he swallowed by mistake four days ago. Mr. Erb is confined to his summer home at Deal, N. J., where, surrounded by his family, he is calmly awaiting the crisis which four physicians have told him may be expected tomorrow or Monday.

The financier, who is 65 years old, has been conscious at all times and the fact that he has been entirely free from pain or discomfort of any sort since a few hours after taking the poison has led the physicians to express the opinion that Mr. Erb has a good chance for recovery.

MISSIONARIES ABANDON VAN

Forced to Leave Results of Seventy Years' Work in Armenia.

Party of Sixteen Pass Through Petrograd on Way to Norway.

Petrograd, Sept. 18, via London.—Dr. Clarence D. Ussher, Mr. and Mrs. Yarrow and thirteen other persons, comprising the missionary staff at Van, Turkish Armenia, passed through Petrograd yesterday on their way to Bergen, Norway, having had to abandon to pillage and flame the result of seventy years' work at Van.

Aged, but dauntless, Mrs. Reynolds, broke her leg in the hurried flight from Van and died at Tiflis two days before her husband reached there from America. Mrs. Ussher died of typhus fever shortly before the flight. Dr. Ussher was attacked the same day his wife was stricken. He is still scarcely able to walk although he has recovered from the disease.

Scourged by Disease.

The entire party suffered great hardships on the road. Already weakened through the long nursing of thousands of refugees, virtually all the members of the party were scourged by disease and were forced to halt at Tiflis. There, fortunately, the board of missions had a fund deposited with the American consul. Dr. William A. Shedd, head of the Urumiah mission, and Mrs. Labore, the wife of one of the missionaries at Urumiah, and several other missionaries, are here, homeward bound.

FIRE ON SANT' ANNA WORK OF ENEMIES

Ship Would Have Been Destroyed Had There Been Ammunition Aboard.

London, Sept. 18.—Lloyd's agent at St. Michaels, Azores, telegraphed today that the captain of the Fabre line steamer Sant' Anna attributes the fire on his vessel to the work of propagandists of an enemy country. The report says there were many explosions on Sept. 13 on the Sant' Anna, which put in at the Azores on Thursday after the fire had been extinguished. Subsequently a number of unexploded fuses were found. It is said that the ship surely would have been blown to pieces if there had been munitions of war on board.

GASOLINE EXPLOSION CAUSES DEATH OF ONE

Toledo, Ohio, Sept. 18.—One man was killed and heavy property loss sustained this morning when two cars of gasoline exploded at the plant of the Hickok Producing company, manufacturers of gasoline. The victim of the explosion is M. Markel, employe of the plant.

KILLED BY EXPLOSION

Beaton McDowell's Back Broken By Threshing Engine Exploding.

Joseph E. Quivey Crushed Fatally in Fargo Railroad Yards.

Langdon, N. D., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Beaton McDowell of Langdon was almost instantly killed yesterday when the threshing engine, owned by him, exploded. McDowell, who was standing on the tender, was blown back against the water tank, his back being broken. The force of the explosion through the front end of the engine sent the machine back on top of him, both legs being pinned under one of the tractor's drive wheels. He lived but ten minutes. Lack of water caused the explosion.

Killed While Switching.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—While switching in the Great Northern yards here, Joseph E. Quivey, whose home is at Grand Forks, was almost instantly killed about 5 o'clock this morning. No one saw the accident but other members of the crew heard the injured man's cries and went to his assistance. It is believed from his injuries he was caught between the bumpers. He was terribly crushed about the hips and lived about fifteen minutes. He was on train 403 and was en route to Grand Forks.

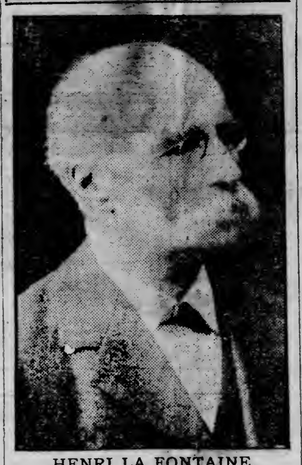

BRITISH TANK STEAMER SUNK

San Zeferino Torpedoed By Submarine; Three of Crew Missing.

London, Sept. 18—The British tank steamer Zeferino has been torpedoed and sunk by a submarine. Three members of her crew of 42 are missing.

The San Zeferino, 6,430 tons gross and 420 feet long, was built last year and owned in London. She was last reported as having sailed in August from Puerto Mexico. Her destination was not given.

MAY LEAD TO RECOGNITION

Pan-Americans May Act on Question of Mexican Government.

Have Before Them Latest Official Information on Situation.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Steps that may lead soon to the recognition of a government in Mexico in the hope that pacification of the country may follow were discussed at a conference in New York today of Pan-American diplomats.

Just what procedure is to be followed has not yet been decided on, but the idea of recognizing at a future date a faction that demonstrates, not only military supremacy but gives promise of stability, already has been accepted by the conferees as the logical development of future policy.

No decision as to which faction or group is to receive recognition or moral support has as yet been made. The diplomats had before them the latest official information relating to the relative military supremacy of the contending factions in Mexico. Their accepted policy was that eventually the party which can demonstrate its superior strength and its ability to enforce a stable government shall receive support and recognition.

JUDGE WINDOM CITED TO APPEAR BEFORE THE STATE SUPREME COURT

Must Show Cause Why He Continues to Hold Office.

Writ of Quo Warranto Is Granted at Request of Attorney General.

Made Returnable at Opening Day of October Term of Court.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—A writ of quo warranto was issued by the supreme court this morning citing Judge W. L. Windom of Duluth to appear and show cause why he continues to hold the office of judge of the municipal court. His official position is demanded by W. H. Smallwood, who was recently appointed judge by Governor Hammond.

The issuance of the writ was at the request of Attorney General Smith, who will endeavor to bring the controversy over the disputed judgeship to an early close. The writ is made returnable on the opening day of the October term of the supreme court.

The mix-up as to who is judge was brought about by a supreme court decision holding that the election at which Judge Smallwood was named judge was illegal. This made Judge Windom the hold-over official. Smallwood was named by Governor Hammond following the decision of the court, but Windom resisted his taking possession.

Judge Windom already has in the court an appeal from the refusal of the Duluth canvassing board to announce his election as judge. This will likely give way to the writ which was issued this morning.

Attorney General Smith began the proceedings at the request of H. H.

SKUNK BREAKS UP THE CHOIR PRACTICE.

Cambridge, Ohio, Sept. 18.—A skunk strolled into the First Presbyterian church last night while choir practice was in progress. Thomas Lloyd, a prominent merchant, kicked the animal. This broke up the meeting. The church auditorium is in the hands of renovators.

CITY OF VILNA IS INVESTED

German Troops Are Now on Three Sides of Russian Town.

Russians Continue to Gain Successes on Southern Line of Battle.

London, Sept. 18.—The city of Vilna is now virtually invested on three sides. The troops of Field Marshal von Mackensen have reached a point near Vilelka, thirty-seven miles southeast of the city. The fall of Vilna would place in possession of the Germans a considerable section of the railroad to Petrograd, a portion of which between Dvinsk and Vilna they also hold.

On the southern end of the battle line the Russians continue to gain successes, their latest achievements being the capture of 1,300 men along the Stripa. Little activity is reported from the center of the line where a readjustment is expected following Field Marshal von Mackensen's capture of Pinsk.

Fate Hangs in Balance.

London, Sept. 18.—A Reuter dispatch from Petrograd says:

"The fate of Vilna hangs in the balance. The latest letters from there state that cannonading is heard without interruption day and night. Bomb-dropping aeroplanes are constant visitors. Three of them have been brought down recently.

"The evacuation of government institutions has been completed, and factories are being removed. Thousands of workmen already have left. The supply of sugar has been exhausted and the price of various commodities has been doubled. Newspapers have suspended publication."

Belongs to Minnesota.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Gilbert Olson, the Pine River, Minn., man, who attempted suicide and who attacked Sheriff Turner in the county jail here, probably will be deported as an insane subject of Minnesota.

HEAVY BLOW FOR SERBIANS OR ITALIANS

Every Reason to Believe Central Powers Plan an Immediate Attack.

Preliminary Military Movements Said to Be Already Under Way.

Austrian Attempts to Cross Danube and Save Rivers Repulsed.

London, Sept. 18. — Reports that the Austrians and Germans have decided to initiate a new offensive campaign are multiplying but there is little concrete evidence concerning the direction which it may be expected to take. Cabling from Rotterdam several correspondents assert they have reasons to believe the Central powers have not only decided to strike a heavy blow but have already put under way the preliminary military movements. The objective of the new campaign is generally believed to be either Italy or Serbia. Apparently there has not been any great concentration of troops along the Danube and Save rivers. Considerable activity has been displayed along this front recently. Austrian attempts to cross the rivers have been checked and according to official reports from Nish, Serbian artillery has destroyed fortified works on the banks of the river.

It is felt here that the Balkan problem has reached a critical stage. The Turco - Bulgarian agreement, coupled with the announcement of Premier Radoslavoff of Bulgaria, that public opinion was opposed to any attack on Turkey, seems to have settled the attitude of the Bulgarians, at least as long as the Dardanelles remain closed to the Entente powers.

There probably will be no further development in the controversy over conscription until parliament meets again next week.

SERBIANS REPULSE AUSTRIAN INVADERS

Third Attempt to Cross the Save Frustrated By Infantry.

Nish, Serbia, Sept. 18, via London.—The new Austrian movement against the Serbs is increasing in extent, after the long interval of inaction on this front. Announcement was made at the war office today that three attempts to invade Serbia had been repulsed The statement follows:

"The enemy thrice attempted to cross the Save during the night of Sept. 14, but was repulsed each time by our infantry.

"On the 15th we leveled fortifications of the enemy along the Danube front, at its confluence with the river Pek, and toward the village of Bejania, near Souska, on the Save front."

PREPARE FOR STERN POLICY OF REPRISAL

London Paper Says Britain Must Hit Back With Air Raids.

London, Sept. 18.—The hope is expressed by the Globe that the publication of the official story of the Zeppelin attack on London was designed not only to forestall and silence disturbing versions, but to prepare the world for a stern and persistent policy of reprisal.

"We must answer the enemy with his own weapon," the Globe continues. "We must be done with indignant protests and appeals to the civilized world. The civilized world will not spare the slaughter of our innocent women or save the blood of little children. We must hit back and hit hard."

USE YOUR OWN JUDGMENT.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

A great German army is to be sent to Turkey, according to a statement attributed to Enver Pasha, the Turkish war minister, in a despatch from Constantinople by way of Berlin.

The German government intends shortly to issue a declaration annexing to the German empire the territory in France and Belgium occupied by German troops, it is declared in press advices received in Switzerland.

A German submarine has torpedoed and sunk the British tank steamer San Zeferino of 6,430 tons. Of her crew of forty-two, three men are missing.

Lively cannonading continues on a long stretch of the Franco-Belgian front. No infantry activity is mentioned in the current French statement.

In the Dardanelles the French record a success in the destruction yesterday of a Turkish mine gallery.

Attacks by the Turks on the Irak front of the Entente allies on the Gallipoli peninsula resulted in the killing of hundreds of the expeditionary force, the Turkish war office declares.

Austrian attempts to invade Serbia have been resumed, but have been unsuccessful, according to the war office at Nish.

The Russians continue to be pressed back along the northern end of their line. Vilna apparently is on the point of falling, while Dvinsk is seriously threatened. In the South they are continuing their successes.

The executive committee of the Amalgamated Union of Railway Servants in London today endorsed the statement made in the house of commons on Thursday by J. H. Thomas that if conscription were adopted in Great Britain an industrial revolution would be precipitated.

BEST JITNEY ACT IN U. S.

Indemnity Exchange Attorney Lauds Ordinance in Force Here.

Passengers Must Be Taken to Destination Under New Law.

Duluth has the fairest and most sensible jitney ordinance in the United States.

At least that is the belief of John Trout, attorney for the National Indemnity exchange of Kansas City, Mo., who conferred with Safety Commissioner Silberstein yesterday afternoon.

After a long wait, the indemnity exchange was granted a permit to operate in Minnesota Thursday by Insurance Commissioner Works, and Attorney Trout at once came to Duluth to adjust the policies of the many local jitneurs who want to escape paying $125 for policies from other companies. The Exchange's price for a $5,000 policy is $65.

"We read over the ordinance together," said Commissioner Silberstein, "both the one which was withdrawn and the new one which we are substituting for it.

"Mr. Trout told me that he could see no objections to it. He further said that it was, in his opinion, probably the fairest and most sensible code ever drawn for jitney regulation.

"He agreed to talk things over with the jitneurs," continued the commissioner, "and explain to them that they were fortunate in having such a lenient ordinance."

Jitneurs who say that the new ordinance is altogether too drastic, and contains many provisions which were not in the original code, are exaggerating, according to the commissioner.

"The only real change," he said, "is this: Under the new law a driver must take a passenger as far as the instructions on his card say he will go. There will be no more discharging passengers before they reach their destination, providing the route card gives a limit beyond the point to which the passenger wants to go."

Osman E. Thompson, treasurer of the Jitney association, today maintained that the new ordinance was too drastic, and that at most it should not contain any more rules than were embodied in the first code.

MEDALS FOR SPANISH AND PHILIPPINE WAR VETERANS

SPANISH WAR MEDAL.

PHILIPPINE SERVICE MEDAL.

Campaign badges for service in the Spanish war and the subsequent insurrection in the Philippine islands have just been issued by the war department at Washington. Theodore T. Simon, adjutant of John G. McEwen Camp, No. 6, U. S. W. V., has received two of these service medals with the necessary papers to be used for their requisition.

The Spanish war medal is for service ashore or on the high seas en route to Cuba between May 11, 1898, and July 17, 1898; Porto Rico, between July 24 and August 13, 1898, or the Philippine islands between June 30 and Aug. 16, 1898.

The Philippine service medal is issued to those who took part in the campaign ashore in the islands between Feb. 4, 1899, and July 4, 1902; department of Mindanao, Philippine islands, between Feb. 4, 1899, and Dec. 31, 1904, and in the expeditions against Pala, Jolo, Philippine islands, April and May, 1905; against Datu Ali, Mindanao, October, 1905; and against hostile Moros on Mount Bud-Dajo, Jolo, March, 1906.

Mr. Simon is making a canvass of the Spanish war veterans and retired soldiers and sailors of the United States army who are entitled to these badges and medals. Many of the Spanish war veterans of the city took part in these campaigns.

The local camp is making a strong canvass for membership with the purpose of increasing the total to over 200 before the end of this year. Two teams have been organized for this purpose, the losing side proposing to banquet the side obtaining the greatest number.

RAISED THE PRICE AND SECURED VOTES

Witness Tells of His Election Procedure at Trial of Mayor Bell.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 18.—At today's session of Mayor Joseph E. Bell's trial for election conspiracy, Ernest Roeder told how he tried to buy votes at the election for $1 but failed, and how he succeeded when he raised the price to $2.

Roeder said the money for the purchases was given him by James H. (Bud) Gibson, who has pleaded guilty. Roeder, who served as election clerk at the primary preceding the election also has pleaded guilty.

The witness admitted that he gave Edward Lyons, Joseph Markey and other so-called slate candidates votes without counting the ballots. He said also that he voted persons illegally at the election.

"Did you see Mayor Bell at the polls on election day," Roeder was asked.

"Yes, I talked to him."

"What was the conversation?"

"Bell asked me how we were getting along. I told him all right, we were putting things over. The mayor said, all right."

Roeder then told hom he was permitted to go in and vote ahead of a line of fifty or more voters.

The witness was then cross examined closely about the saloons he had conducted and was asked if he did not conduct a house of prostitution in his home over a saloon. Roeder denied this. He also denied that he had been made any promises in regard to his testimony.

It was brought out on cross examination that Roeder had appeared before the Marion county grand jury.

"Were you asked if you saw any vote buying on election day, and did you answer 'no,'" asked counsel for the defense.

"Yes."

"You perjured yourself then?"

"Yes."

RETURNS VERDICT IN ELECTION CASES

Thirty-Five Not Guilty, Five Guilty at Corpus Christi, Tex.

Corpus Christi, Tex., Sept. 18.—After deliberating twenty-three hours, the jury trying the case of forty-one persons charged in Federal court with having conspired to defraud in the 1914 general election in this (Neuces) county, late yesterday returned a verdict of not guilty against thirty-five of the defendants, five guilty and reported inability to agree on the guilt or innocence of one defendant—Walter F. Timon, county judge of Neuces county.

The five defendants found guilty and for whom the jury recommended the court's mercy were: Henry Stevens, merchant; Tom B. Dunn, former city secretary; Lee Riggs, constable; Ed Castleberry, former constable and August Uehlinger, county clerk.

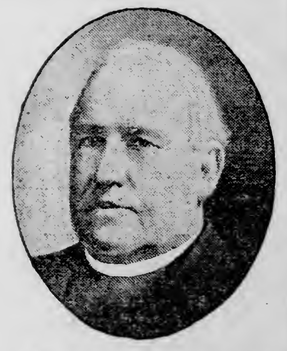

Sentence will be pronounced on Sept 24. Notice of appeal was given by counsel for the defense. The five were released on their own recognizance.

Judge Timon probably will be retried at the January term of court.

The case against the forty-one men was instituted by government officials because the election at which the alleged frauds were committed, included the election of three congressmen.

PIONEER FIRM INCORPORATED

Joseph Harrison Returns and Rejoins His Former Partners.

Richardson, Day & Cheadle Place Hyde Park on Market.

Realty men were interested this week in the announcement of the incorporation of the Richardson, Day & Cheadle company to conduct a general real estate, insurance and money loaning business.

W. E. Richardson is president, Frank A. Day, vice president; Harry W. Cheadle, manager and treasurer, and Joseph G. Harrison, secretary. Mr. Harrison was a member of the firm of Richardson, Day & Harrison up till three years ago, when he was compelled to retire owing to ill health. The spending of three years in Texas resulted in his health being fully restored, and his friends have been pleased to welcome him back in Duluth.

The company's business is one of the oldest in the city, having been established in 1885. Its principals have always taken an active part in the various enterprises in the realty field as they developed. Their first important real estate promotion was the platting of 160 acres comprised in the Highland Park addition. They later put on the East Lawn, West End, Clover Hill, Fairmount Park, and Chambers divisions; Norton's Duluth Outlots and Norton's Acre Outlots. They have handled for the owners the West Duluth Sixth, Norton's Lakeview, Triggs & Kennedy's, and Summit Park divisions, besides representing the large holdings of the Norton estates.

The new company is now putting the Hyde Park addition on the market today. The property is located at Lakewood, adjoining the City park at the pumping station. It connects with the Congdon boulevard, the right-of-way for which the city has just acquired. It is expected that with the construction of this boulevard, a number of improvements will be carried through in that locality.

To accommodate persons desiring to attend the sale this afternoon and tomorrow, arrangements have been made for an auto service from the end of the car line at Lester Park.

er women of the Urumiah station died of disease, due to overwork in caring for 20,000 refugees.

As an indication of the spirit of American missionaries, another body of them left here last night for Persia after having bidden farewell to Dr. Shedd's party.

Spared Massacre.

The Urumiah missionaries report that the city was spared a massacre on the occasion of the second flight of people from it. The Kurdish tribes are said now to be disposed to submit to Russia.

Van is again in the hands of the Russians, who are declared to have found the canals and trenches choked with untold thousands of bodies of Armenians who had been unable to escape and were killed.

It is stated that in addition to the mission compound, all the better buildings in the city were destroyed, including the home of the governor and the headquarters of the Armenian government. The massacre was directed by Jevdet Bey, who had burned the compound before retiring from the first siege of Van in the early summer. When Jevdet returned he took terrible vengeance for the raising of the siege by the Armenian volunteers.

Dr. Ussher in a cable dispatch to the American board of commissioners for foreign missions, received in Boston June 11 said the Americans of the Van mission were safe, but that they were in need of assistance. He reported that the Mohammedans were starving but said that there were about 1,000 persons in the American buildings to whom assistance could be given.

statement on the progress of hostilities which reads:

"There was diversified activity during the night in the sector of Neuville-Roclincourt, before Roye and upon the plateau of Quennevieres. There were frequent artillery bombardments with guns of various calibers and hand-grenade conflicts, but without activity on the part of the artillery.

"In the region of Berry-au-Bac and in Champagne, in the region around Perthes and between the Aisne and the Argonne district there was continuous and lively cannonading.

"On the rest of the front there was nothing to report."

Turkish Statement.

Constantinople, Sept. 18, via London.—An official statement issued last night at the Turkish war office said:

"Near Seddul Bahr our artillery on the left wing caused the explosion Thursday night of enemy mine-throwers.

"Our fleet has bombarded a lighthouse and factory on the south coast of Crimea.

"On the Irak front our volunteers surprised an enemy camp in the district of Kalaat-Ul-Nedjim. Another attack followed, in which the enemy lost hundreds of dead."

Russian Statement.

Petrograd, Sept. 18, via London.—An official statement issued at the war office says:

"Near the village of Jakoubovzi at the junction of the Vilna-Rovno and Siedlce-Polotsk railroad lines, all German attacks were repulsed. The enemy reached the river Stchara, attacked us near the village of the same name, and crossed to the right bank.

"During the enemy's offensive along the railway from Kobrin to Minsk, engagements occurred near Nolokovitchi station, west of Pinsk. In the course of a fight for possession of Derazno, we again had a great success. Our troops precipitated themselves on the town and drove the enemy headlong toward the village of Roudakrasnovie, having taken the latter place by assault. We took 2,000 prisoners and four machine guns.

"Our counter attack on the frontier village of Gontova, southwest of the town of Vishnivets, although it did not result in the capture of the village, enabled us to take prisoners, twelve officers and 540 men with three machine guns.

"In engagements in the region east of the village of Baboulinze, on the Stripa and toward the north of Boutchany, we took prisoners, fourteen officers and 800 men. We occupied the villages of Yanovka and Pzlawa, northeast of Boutchany. The enemy having abandoned these towns, retreated in disorder.

"By bold actions on the whole front toward the south of the region of Kovno, our troops continue successfully to check the development of local counter attacks, which, in several sectors are made by formidable enemy forces."

NO FOOD OR DRINK UNTIL SUNDOWN FOR DEVOUT JEW

Jewish residents of Duluth, who remain true to their religious convictions, will not eat or drink today.

By sundown tonight they will have fasted twenty-four hours in celebration of Yom Kippur, the day of atonement, one of the most sacred in their calendar. When the sun sinks behind the western hills this evening the celebrators will break their fast.

Last evening at the Temple Emanuel and at Adas Israel synagogue there were elaborate musical programs.

Services are being held all of today at both synagogues. The Jew who is true to his faith passes the entire day either at his place of worship or at home. It is a time for moral introspection.

Is What Smallwood Wanted.

Taking exception to Judge Windom's statements ridiculing the special election proposed by Judge Smallwood, and suggesting that quo warranto proceedings were the only logical steps to take, friends of Judge Smallwood today stated that their candidate had been trying for three weeks to institute a suit of that nature.

"It is true," said Judge Smallwood, "that petitions signed by about 1,500 voters of Duluth were taken to St. Paul by Mr. Phelps, my attorney, about three weeks ago and presented to the attorney general. The petition asked him to institute quo warranto proceedings in the supreme court against W. L. Windom.

"As soon as I had filed my oath of office, after being appointed by the governor and had been denied possession of the bench, Mr. Phelps began the preparation of papers necessary to the initiation of quo warranto proceedings in the district court.

"While preparing these papers, he received a request from the attorney general's office to come to St. Paul and consult with a view to commence proceedings in the supreme court. This is just what he has been trying to do since Aug. 28."

Smallwood adherents say that Judge Windom gave no intimation that he would submit to quo warranto proceedings until after he learned that the attorney general wanted such action taken.

"RICHEST VILLAGE IN WORLD" WOULD PROVE

Baldwin & Holmes; G. W. Morgan of the Oliver Iron Mining company; H. B. Fryberger of Fryberger, Fulton & Spear; V. L. Power of Hibbing, and R. Mitchell of Butler, Mitchell & Hoke of St. Paul. The first three named represent the mining companies and the last three appear for the village officials and for the E. W. Coons company, contractors.

What Companies Allege.

In this action the mining companies allege that the extravagances of the officials of Hibbing are excessive and beyond all reason and cite specifically that the defendants are attempting to construct 3,960 feet of pavement on Third avenue which will cost approximately $55,000 and which is not needed.

A restraining order issued by Judge W. A. Cant of the local district bench early this month stopped the work until a hearing asking for an injunction could be held and the matter then argued on its merits during a trial of the case.

The assessed valuation of Hibbing is $84,696,681 and the plaintiffs allege that the ore operators pay 87 per cent of the taxes. All of the village improvements, it is stated, are paid for out of the general tax fund with the exception of the cost of laying sidewalks, which comes under the head of special assessments against property owners. The court's attention is here called to the fact that the village has various sources of revenue, such as from many saloon licenses, etc., which also goes into the general fund aside from the taxes.

Some Examples Cited.

The great white way, with its 600 standards of five lights each making a total of 3,000 lamps and constructed at a cost of $10,000, the baseball park with its large concrete grandstand, the village police force of from thirty-two to forty-six members, which is said to be half of the number employed in Duluth with ten times the population of Hibbing and having an area six times as large, are a few of the alleged extravagances cited in the complaint. The white way is alleged to be greater than the one in Cincinnati, which has a population of close to 400,000.

Alleged extravagances of the village's officials were given a free airing when the complaint was read by W. D. Bailey of counsel for the mining companies. The plaintiffs aver that when Mayor Victor L. Power took office two years ago an era of extravagance and exorbitant expenditures was inaugurated which continued until the restraining order was issued by Judge Cant this month. It sets forth that the mayor is particularly hostile to the mining companies and especially so to the Oliver Iron Mining company, and has allowed his personal prejudice to influence his actions and has spent money right and left without regard to conditions or necessity for such work and has not tried to give the village a businesslike administration.

During the last two years, the complaint states, business in the iron and steel trade has been unusually quiet and the various mining companies have been forced to retrench; but regardless of this Mayor Power has simply "gone wild" in the expenditures of public funds and has not asked the people of Hibbing to bear their proportion of the burden caused by the slack times.

The floating indebtedness of the city is alleged by the mining companies to be $1,500,000 and that the annual interest paid on this is $90,000 which is a sum greater than the total amount levied, for all purposes, in any of the 140 villages and cities of the state ranging in population from 900 to 20,000, which are not located on the iron range.

Helping Realty Sales.

It is also alleged that the village officials are having constructed through the park division of the village a large concrete conduit, which is being built at city expense for the purpose of changing the course of Penobscot creek, that the work is well under way and that it will take $25,000 to complete the job. This conduit, it is averred, is not necessary and built solely for the purpose of making more saleable lots in Park addition which are owned by private citizens, Mayor Power being named as one.

During the hearing this morning Attorney Bailey read affidavits from A. J. Wasgatt, Hugh McKenzie, W. B. Patton, J. C. Agnew, W. M. Tappan, W. J. West, A. N. Knickerbocker, A. O. Wilson, B. A. Middlemiss, O. B. Warren, Robert Murray, George Lerch, F. R. Mott, John Dow, G. E. Harrison, W. S. Hardy, L. J. Mica, H. C. Hanson, C. A. Remington, H. E. Martin, E. G. Martin, H. P. Reed, G. A. Wellner, E. S. Tillinghest in which the affiants state that that portion of Third avenue which the village officials desire to pave is in fine condition and is, with the exception of a few minor defects a perfectly good highway.

Various of the affiants are engineers and business men who use the road every day and they believe that an expenditure of from $200 to $500 would place it in perfect condition.

Used as Speedway.

A smile went over the courtroom when the affidavit of C. A. Remington, a Hibbing lumber and coal dealer, was being read. In speaking of the condition of Third avenue, Mr. Remington stated that it was being used as a speedway and that auto drivers were regularly making from 40 to 50 miles an hour over the course. He says that the street is so good that, last year when an aviator visited Hibbing, the humming of the wheel in the aeroplane greatly amused many Hibbing speed merchants and that they took their cars out onto Third avenue and made them go so fast that the sound of the aeroplane wheel was duplicated, much to their enjoyment.

W. H. Hardy, a Hibbing painter who operates an auto truck and a five-passenger car, confirmed Mr. Remington's statements about the speedway feature of Third avenue.

The plaintiffs still have many more affidavits to read and then the defense will start reading 230 affidavits from citizens of Hibbing who say the contemplated pavement is needed. It is not expected that the hearing will be over today.

CONDEMNED TO DIE BY GERMAN COURT

Professional Bicyclist Doerflinger Found Guilty of Being a Spy.

Geneva, Switzerland, Sept. 18, via Paris.—The professional bicyclist, Doerflinger, a resident of Basel, has been condemned to death as a spy by a German court martial. The Swiss government has intervened in his behalf with a request for clemency.

Doerflinger, who was condemned to death by a court martial, has appealed to a higher military court where his case is pending.

C. A. Doerflinger, the bicyclist, is widely known in this country as a professional rider. Several years ago he took part in one of the six-day races in Madison Square garden.

Crude Oil From Tampico.

Washington, Sept. 18.—More crude oil was shipped from Tampico, Mex., to United States ports during August than in any month since January, 1914, vice consul Bevan reported today to the department of commerce. The total reached 1,352,037 barrels, compared with 680,042 in August last year. More than 880,000 barrels were shipped from Tuxpam last month.

NEW ORCHESTRA WILL HAVE TWELVE MEMBERS

D. J. MICHAUD.

When the Orpheum-Strand theater opens next Monday afternoon, this new picture house will have the largest orchestra of any theater in Duluth. Twelve musicians will be under the baton of D. J. Michaud, the director.

Director Michaud says that he has the pick of last year's concert orchestra and that the men are all well drilled for concert work. He hoped to make the concert programs at the Orpheum-Strand one of the most popular parts of the entertainment.

Mr. Michaud has just completed a new hesitation waltz, which he expects to publish in the near future.

HEARING IN RATE CASE

Duluth Wants Better Distributing Schedules Through Northwest.

Twin Cities Intervene—Examiner Will Take Evidence Here.

There will be a hearing next Friday at the United States court rooms in the Federal building before an examiner of the interstate commerce commission, in the case of the Duluth Commercial club against the Great Northern Railway company and others, in which the Twin Cities have intervened.

The Commercial club's traffic commission complained against the distributing rates from Duluth to various northwestern and western points, particularly in Minnesota, and against commodity rates from other points to Duluth. In such rates, the Duluth traffic commission claims that very unfair conditions exist, which it asks to be regulated. The Twin Cities intervened for the purpose of having present rates maintained. This was expected as the present rates distinctly favor the Twin Cities as against Duluth.

It is claimed that this is one of the most important rate fights which the Duluth traffic commission has initiated or indulged in. It will mean further chance for trade development if Duluth wins, development which, members of the traffic commission say, the merchants and manufacturers of this city are now closed out of in competition with the Twin Cities and other favored points.

Traffic Commissioner G. Roy Hall is now at work preparing the case for Duluth.

FRENCH DESTROY TURKISH POSITION

War Office Reports Successful Advance on Gallipoli Peninsula.

Paris, Sept. 18, 2:40 p. m.—The destruction of a Turkish position on the Gallipoli peninsula by the French forces, was announced today by the war office.

"In the Dardanelles from Sept. 12 to Sept. 17 there was no movement of importance. The Turks attacked several positions of our front by means of mines which had not been employed by them up to this time. On the morning of the seventeenth an enemy mine gallery was destroyed, after it had been advanced for several days, by our counter-mines. The operation was perfectly successful without costing us a single loss."

SVERDRUP AND MEN SAFE AT ARCHANGEL

Expedition Sent to Rescue Explorers Heard From at Russian Port.

London, Sept. 18.—A dispatch to Reuter's agency from Christiania says the Norwegian foreign office has received a dispatch from Archangel, Russia, to the effect that the Arctic expedition headed by Capt. Otto Sverdrup, which has been searching for the Russian explorers, Rusanoff and Brusiloff, has arrived there, and that all the members of the party were well.

Capt. Sverdrup, with a crew of twenty Norwegians, sailed last year on board the Russian relief ship Eclipse for the Kara sea, to rescue the geologist, Rusanoff and the oceanographer, Kutschen, who left Spitzbergen for Nova Zembla in August, 1912, on the motor boat Hercules, and Lieut. Brusiloff, who went on an Arctic hunting expedition in September, 1912, inadequately equipped. By wireless Capt. Sverdrup reported in January that he was wintering ice-bound in latitude 74, longitude 92.

FOAM PRESAGES RISE IN RIVER

Engineers Keep a Close Watch on Flood Situation in Texas.

Austin, Tex., Sept. 18.—Long swells of foam, presaging a rise, swept down the Colorado river into Lake Austin today and engineers at the Austin dam still kept close watch over the flood situation.

Thirteen more feet of water was reported sweeping down the Llano river into the Colorado. The engineers refused to estimate the effect when the crest of the new flood reaches here. Several flood gates of the big dam already have been carried away.

GERMANS TO ANNEX NEW TERRITORY

Will Take Occupied Parts of France and Belgium.

Geneva, Sept. 18, via Paris.—The Lausanne Gazette says it has learned that the German government has decided to issue a declaration annexing to the German empire the occupied territory in France and Belgium.

Lightning Strikes Church.

Burlington, Iowa, Sept. 18.—Lightning struck the steeple of St. John's Catholic church here early today and tore a hole six feet in diameter through the structure just above the roof. The steeple is 165 feet in height and as the church is located on the highest spot of the city can be seen for miles. It may be necessary to reconstruct the steeple at a cost of approximately $10,000.

Fined for Carrying Ducks.

Hankinson, N. D., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Alfred De Smidt, a colored porter on the Soo, paid a fine of $10 for taking five wild ducks on his return trip to Minnesota, which he claimed were for a friend. The explanation was not acceptable to the court here as it seemed clear that De Smidt had been making a practice of transporting game contrary to the state laws.

THREE MONTHS IN JAIL FOR AMERICAN

"Charles B. Pray of Flint, Mich.," Sentenced By London Court.

London, Sept. 18.—A sentence of three months at hard labor was imposed today on the American who, describing himself as Charles B. Pray of Flint, Mich., came to London in July and stated that he had escaped from a German detention camp. The man was arrested on Sept. 2 under the aliens registration act on the charge of giving a false name. It is said his real name is Curran.

The court also decreed that the prisoner should be deported upon the expiration of his term in jail. This measure was decided upon following the receipt of a message from the chief of police of Charleston, S. C.

NORTH DAKOTA PRAIRIE FIRE DOES MUCH DAMAGE

Sanish, N. D., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Over 3,000 acres of meadow land, and several hundred acres of cultivated land, were burned over by a fierce prairie fire south of here, which was quenched by the united work of scores of homesteaders.

The cultivated fields over which the fire swept were covered with grain shocks, and the loss is quite heavy.

WILL WIDEN TERRITORY

Tanlac Will Be Sold in All Parts of the Northwest.

Druggists in Smaller Cities Now Have Their Opportunity.

Now that Tanlac has become so firmly established in Duluth as a remedy for catarrh, stomach, kidney and liver troubles, plans are being made to widen the territory and include all of the smaller towns and cities adjacent to the Head of the Lakes.

It is always the policy of the Cooper Medicine company, when entering new territory, to take the larger cities first, and establish Tanlac in some central city or cities. Duluth was chosen for Northern Minnesota. Tanlac has been warmly indorsed by scores of well-known residents of both Duluth and Superior, and has proven its merits in the two cities at the Head of the Lakes.

With the backing of such hearty recommendations, Claude J. Meredith, "The Tanlac Man," is planning to establish agencies for Tanlac in every village, town or city in Minnesota.

"We have but one agency in each place," said Mr. Meredith. "We aim to get a reliable man and then give him the territory exclusively. Any druggist in any of the country surrounding the Head of the Lakes who wants the local agency for Tanlac, may find it very much to his advantage to write or telephone me. My headquarters are at 219 West Superior street, Duluth, and I can always be reached there by mail or telephone.

"Tanlac is one of the most widely advertised of remedies. The people of all this territory are familiar with its good qualities through reading the Duluth newspapers. We have proven our case in Duluth beyond question. The people in these smaller cities are waiting for a chance to buy Tanlac. I know from the number who have written to me for it, and if I were a druggist in any part of Minnesota, I wouldn't delay long about getting an agency for it."

Meanwhile the sale of Tanlac continues at the store of William A. Abbett, "the careful druggist," at 219 West Superior street, where Mr. Meredith or an assistant is in charge to explain its merits. Tanlac may also be procured at the Abbett branch stores, 101 West Fourth street and 932 East Second street.

STATE FIRE MARSHAL ORDERS SUPERIOR STREET BRICK BUILDING TORN DOWN

BUILDING ORDERED TORN DOWN.

Another well known building has fallen under the displeasure of the state fire marshall and has been condemned and ordered torn down within sixty days.

The latest building so marked for destruction by State Fire Marshal R. W. Hargadine is that occupied by the Troy Laundry at 22 East Superior street, and owned by Mrs. S. W. Clark of 1497 East Third street. Papers will probably be served today or Monday on the owners and occupants; and under the rules of the department it cannot be occupied longer than sixty days from the time of service, after which it must immediately be torn down.

In case the owner should refuse to tear down the building or unreasonably delay the work, the state fire marshal may order the work done and charge the expense up to the owner, and also levy a penalty for the neglect.

The Troy laundry building, as it is known, is one of the oldest business buildings on Superior street, and for years was a landmark. The building was erected by R. M. Costello, who then lived in Duluth, but afterward moved to Graceville, and died a few years ago. It is uncertain just when it was erected, but it was a good many years ago, for Mr. Costello has been away from the city for about twenty years. For a long period the building was used by Mr. and Mrs. Clark as a laundry, and when they retired from business, the present company took it and continued the business.

The fire marshal declares that the building is not only a fire menace to adjoining property, but is dangerous to the lives of the thirty people employed in it.

"This building," said Fire Marshal Hargadine, "is old and dilapidated and is very dangerous to the employes of the laundry, which, I understand, employs about thirty people. It is also a menace to adjoining property.

"Anyone caring to make an examination will find that the foundation and frame of this structure are in a very decayed condition and we feel it our duty to protect the lives and limbs of the occupants and also the property owners of the adjoining property."

The building is two stories in height, is of brick veneer and covers twenty-five feet frontage on East Superior street, running back to Michigan street. The ground is valuable for business purposes.

Mrs. Clark, owner of the building, declared over the telephone this morning that the fire marshal must have made a mistake; that the building is in good shape and fit for use for many years. She said that she has not yet been served with papers and did not know that the fire marshal had inspected the building or contemplated doing so. She declared that she would refer the matter to her attorney.

LITTLE HOPE OF SAVING MINISTER

No Report From Posses Searching for Rev. T. R. Sampson.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 18.—No report had been received today from the parties of foresters and guides, led by Frank W. Sampson, which went to Elites park two days to continue the search for Mr. Sampson's father, the Rev. Thornton R. Sampson of Austin, Tex. The elder Sampson disappeared more than two weeks ago somewhere in the rugged mountain country surrounding Elites park. Heavy snow has fallen in the region and the mountaineers believe the chance of finding the aged minister and educator alive is slight.

GREAT GERMAN ARMY FOR TURKEY

Enver Pasha Says It Will Soon Arrive in Ottoman Territory.

Berlin, Sept. 18, by wireless to Tuckerton, N. J.—A message from Constantinople, as given out here today by the Overseas News Agency, quotes Enver Pasha, Turkish minister of war, as saying that a great German army was to go to Turkey.

The news agency says:

"A Constantinople telegram states that at a review of troops held in honor of Duke Johann Albrecht of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, commander-in-chief of the Turkish forces at the Dardanelles, Enver Pasah said the presence of the duke was the forerunner of the arrival of a great German army."

MILITARY COURT HAS NEARLY FINISHED

Denver, Col., Sept. 18.—The military court of inquiry investigating charges against various officers of the Colorado National Guard expected to complete its hearings today. The court will make an exhaustive report to Governor George A. Carlson, with recommendations.

As the tribunal is merely an investigating body, its extreme recommendation in the event it should find the charges well founded, would be for the calling of a court martial to try the accused officers.

VETERAN CHICAGO TRADER AMAZED AT GROWTH OF DULUTH BOARD

Bought Car of Wheat Here When the Market First Opened—Is Bearish on Present Market.

I. Gifford of Chicago, one of the veterans of the trade there in point of service, was a visitor on the Duluth board of trade today. This is Mr. Gifford's first visit to Duluth since the early days.

"I bought a car of wheat here when your board was first opened for trading in futures back in 1884," he said. "It was the December future, and it graded No. 1 hard. There has been a vast change in the trade since and the Duluth market has attained a foremost place in the procession. More red wheat is grown now than was raised in the whole West then," he said.

Operators in Chicago are generally bearish on the wheat market situation, according to Mr. Gifford. It is conceded that with spring wheat selling at Winnipeg, at figures away under the American markets, the big Canadian crop will be moved out for export first before American wheat is touched by foreigners.

"The strength in the cash markets has been brought about through the long delay in the marketing of the winter wheat," he said. "Dealers sold heavily against expected receipts at the start, and then when the grain failed to come to hand they were obliged to pay several cents a bushel more out in the country for large tonnages than they were getting under their contracts. On account of the poor quality of the winter wheat coming to hand so far, millers have been coming into the market freely for spring wheat.

"The condition of the winter wheat crop is shown in the fact that only an exceedingly small proportion of the receipts to date have been of contract grade. In 112 cars received one day this week at Chicago not one was contract grade and in a run of 500 cars at Kansas City only 7 cars were up to the mark. On account of the deterioration that has appeared in the wheat standing out unthreshed in Kansas I think it safe to say that 1,000,000 bushels will not be fit for milling purposes. Some dealers place the figures as high as 2,000,000 bushels."

Farmers are showing increasing disposition to hold their wheat on account of the drop in prices, Mr. Gifford averred. They are willing to let it go at around $1, but prefer to take chances on keeping it in granaries rather than accept lower figures.

PEACE CONGRESS IN UNITED STATES

Belgian Says It Is Far Better Place Than The Hague.

Lake Placid, N. Y., Sept. 18.—Senator Henri La Fontaine of Belgium, winner of the Nobel peace prize last year, in an address at a meeting of the efficiency society urged on the ground of efficiency that the next peace congress be held in the United States rather than at The Hague. He said that because of comparative nearness to the scenes of conflict The Hague would be unsuitable as the place from which to launch a world-wide movement for peace, certain to follow the war.

WARNING ISSUED BY LONDON'S POLICE HEAD

London, Sept. 18.—London's commissioner of police, "in view of possibility of further attacks by hostile aircrafts," has issued a further warning to the people of the city, recommending that they remain indoors during any subsequent air raid and advising them to keep ready at hand, for dealing with incendiary fires a supply of water and sand, which he regards as "the best, simplest and most economical safeguard."

MILLIONS IN FALL STYLES

Duluth Stores Will Display Great Variety of Goods.

Great Crowds Along Superior Street to Witness Opening.

There will be $2,186,000 worth of fall fashions on display in the various Duluth stores during the Fall Style show, which opened this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Two store owners considered this a conservative estimate of the value of goods on display.

Duluth merchants, who have arranged the show, proceeded with the definite idea of giving an educational value to the entire display. It is claimed for the 1915 Duluth Style Show that it will prove of real value in teaching women how to dress themselves and their homes, while the men of Duluth have not been forgotten nor neglected in the least.

Fashions of the great world's war era will be largely displayed. Paris has given America special and peculiar attention in the matter of style designing, this season, reflecting the mode and spirit of the times. The somber styles and colors will predominate.

The style openings of Duluth stores have been arranged to form one big exposition of fashion. Thousands of examples of carefully selected models representing the most extreme as well as the more conservative fashion ideas, are on display.

Dressing Well.

"Duluth's style show of this year is bigger and better in every way than the one of last year," said a local merchant. "It will possess a real educational value, not only in instructing the women how to dress themselves, but also in buying for the home. It is human nature to want to be well dressed. It is the nature of women to desire new styles, and man's nature to admire well-dressed women. Duluth stores are offering a display of the latest styles that compare favorably with those of any store in the Northwest. Our stores are today selling style models that have received the stamp of approval of Paris. The city-wide display, therefore, possesses a real educational value."

Crowds were attracted to Superior street this afternoon, the thoroughfare being well lined with spectators some time before 2 o'clock, when the curtains on beautifully and artistically dressed show windows of the stores were raised at a signal from the telephone "centrals."

The show will be open this evening, the one evening display. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday will also be fall style show days.

SCENES FROM THE PLAY

INAUGURAL ATTRACTION

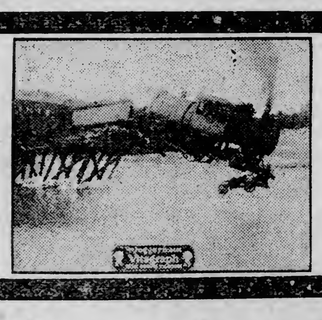

FRANCIS X. BUSHMAN

In George Barr McCutcheon's

GRAUSTARK

In this big production Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne are at their best. They both fit perfectly into the alluring atmosphere of the mythical, romantic kingdom created by George Barr McCutcheon, and as the fascinating story is told in the elaborate production, the charm and beauty and gallantry of love and romance casts a spell in which the work-a-day world is forgotten and life is, for a time, just as we would have it. Plays of this kind are good for us—they crack off the ice that is so prone to gather around the heart; they soften the hard veneer of reality and make us more human. "Graustark" might be called a wonderful fairy story for grown-ups, and like the fairy stories of youth, it catches with a pleasing hold and brings a sparkle to the eye.

ONE OF OLDEST AND FINEST DOCTORS' OFFICES

Equipped With the Latest Appliances That Science Invented to Assist Curing Various Diseases

The days where pills and powders were believed to do miracles are passing fast. No use in trying to deny the fact that the world has become disappointed in medicines. Science has come to the front in the treatment of disease and is displacing "dope" mighty fast. In former days, the doctor who could write the most compound prescription and would surround himself with a sufficient amount of mystery, was certain to gain the greatest fame. Today it is different. The doctor that is most progressive is the least content with a prescription, and so is the patient. The progressive doctor of today surrounds himself with scientific appliances and instruments that will get results and make his patients well.

Such appliances of scientific invention are to be found in the long established offices of the Specialists of the Progressive Medical Doctors at No. 1 West Superior street, Duluth. Such instruments are really scientific wonders, some of them developing a tremendous power that is trutly marvelous and that fills the Nervous system with a sensation which feels like Vitality itself. The doctors have spared no expense to equip their offices to a high degree of efficiency. Always on the square and conscientious in the treatment of their patients, they have succeeded in the cure of possibly thousands of men who are walking in all stations of life.

WONDERS OF ELECTRO-MEDICAL AND NATURAL TREATMENTS.

Experience, the greatest of all schools, has shown every true Specialist the way to successful cures. It's the Natural Method that has given the Progressive Specialists the greatest success. The Natural Method corrects the cause of the disease and thereby cures the trouble. Eminent Scientists have made the statement that "A man's brain and body is like a battery, and his nerves correspond to the wires." In the experience of the Progressive Medical Doctors, there is nothing that will help a man to his cure as quickly as the right application of the right Electro-Theraputic treatment, and the correct manipulation of his spine and the suffering nerves. Drugs are hit hard on all sides, and many an intelligent physician has almost entirely stopped his use in preference to other methods of "Drugless healing." The word "health" means a normal supply of electricity in the body and freedom of the nerves that are not affected by disease. The man that lacks his normal share of it also lacks his share of health, vitality and nervous energy. To these men, drugs are of little use; they do not remove the cause of the disease, because they stop the pain by stupefying the nerves. You can force a weak organ to act by giving it a powerful stimulant, but you can't restore its natural strength. That is why temporary relief is dangerous, and good specialists should be consulted.

STOMACH TROUBLES HARD TO CURE WITH ORDINARY MEDICAL METHODS.

"With a man's stomach, as the only electric battery, it is said that Dr. Albert J. Atkins and E. Louis charged an ordinary telephone apparatus so that it conveyed sound," said a San Francisco morning paper.

It demonstrates beyond a doubt that the human body has a great magnetic power which has to do with health and disease. There is nothing that will put a sick stomach as quickly into working order as does Electro-Therapy.

The man with a poor stomach has poor vitality and is living but a poor life, though he may be worth millions. Experience has enabled the Progressive Doctors to do wonders, often with only a few treatments. It seems as if that great Electric force is stimulating all the natural powers within the human body, so that healing takes place very rapidly in the sick and suffering organs. Try to explain this wonderful power as you like, you will fail in the end; we only know its wonderful workings.

Many a broken-down and discouraged man has come hundreds of miles for the cure of his stomach and bowels, and went home healthy and happy.

A PAINLESS METHOD FOR THE RADICAL CURE OF PILES, VARICOSE VEINS, STRICTURE AND RUPTURE.

It's quite a bloody affair if one reflects how piles are cut away in the usual way. A procedure of that kind seems cruel if one reflects for a moment on the fact that this world is so far advanced in everything else.

It's different indeed with the Progressive Doctors. They believe their method to be superior to all others, because it surpasses surgery. As a rule, almost all pile tumors are usually cured with one days treatment.

By direct medication, which is applied with mild electric current to the suffering parts, the pile is absorbed without having caused the patient even the slightest pain. Other rectal diseases, like Fissures and Fistulas are cured in the same way by the same painless method. This, however, is no "home-treatment" proposition.

Almost the identical method, slightly different though, is used in the cure of Strictures, Rupture, Piles and Varicose Veins of the Leg. Big knotted veins, such as you find in "bad legs" and open legs (varicose ulcers). In men such conditions often affect not only the leg but the most vital parts, in fact, the vital parts are often affected where the legs are completely free from it. It's the same tired feeling, the same drowsiness that one sufferer complains of as much as all the others.

During the course of the cure there is no detention from business, and that "tired feeling" leaves the patient, as new life and new vitality get into his blood and veins. Such a cure removes absolutely all cramps and puts the man in a "tip-top" condition. Such cures astonish people everywhere, for they think it's the most wonderful thing.

> Thomas A. Edison, the great "electrical wizard," is accredited to have said: "The German discovery for the cure of blood disorders is the most important achievement of the year 1911—and most of us have the disease and do not know it."

MEN AT 60 MADE TO FEEL YOUNG —ONE WHO GREW YOUNG AT 70.

When Mr. Sanford Bennet of California published his book of "Old Age and Its Prevention," the skeptics said, "it can't be done." Mr. Bennet did it, even after he was firmly held in the grip of old age at 50, and had prepared for death. He woke up to the fact that it was utter foolishness to die at such age, though all his forefathers, for 200 years back, died between 40 and 50, mostly of consumption. He made up his mind then and there to get out of weakness and disease, and to fill his body with new vitality. At 75 he is still the picture of a healthy man of 40, and at 70 won the foot race among young athletes.

There is no excuse for a man being old at 60, in his opinion, complaining about "pains in the back," "stiffness" in the shoulders and legs, or of being fat and "feeling tired." There is no excuse to have nervousness, indigestion, constipation and failure of vitality. "Nature started most men with a constitution that ought to hold good till about 80," says Bennet, "and you ought to feel like a man now. The reason you don't is that you have overdone some things and have neglected others that have wasted your vitality. You still have the constitution, but lack the force."

Wouldn't you like to be the man you were a few years ago? and have the same ambitious spirit, the strength and vitality that you used to possess? Wouldn't you like to be free from pains and aches, and feel that you are the equal of any man of your age? Probably you can be. Mr. Bennet got to be.

All that you lack is vitality—new life. You feel like an engine without steam. Anything that will restore your steam, your vital power, will make a new man of you. Don't try drugs to brace you up, they will sorely disappoint you. Come closer to nature, that will put new vim and vigor into your weak nerves; consult the Progressive Medical Doctors about your case, they will show you the way to health. They will put new life into your exhausted body.

"606" CURE FOR BLOOD DISORDERS THE GREATEST DISCOVERY.

Two months ago the greatest of all Scientists, the greatest inventor of our age, Dr. Paul Ehrlich passed. He spent his life's work in finding a remedy that has done more to relieve suffering than any other discovery of this or any other age. It is used with greatest success in a good many skin diseases. It's known as the best curative remedy for contracted and inherited Blood poison.

The Progressive Men's doctors of No. 1 West Superior street in Duluth have been cautious regarding Prof. Ehrlich's discovery until such time as the medical profession on both sides of the Atlantic had become a unit regarding its power to correct Blood Poison. The doctors say: "It is our custom to keep abreast of the times in everything that is for the good of our patients. Accordingly we fitted our laboratory with the necessary appliances according to the German method, so as to administer "606" and "914" correctly and with precision and so no mishap should ever happen.

You are assured of positively satisfactory results. The painful and other distressing symptoms disappear after the treatment is received directly into the blood and "Blood-test" in the Chicago Laboratories in order that you may know that every vestige of the poison is entirely eliminated from your system.

The fees of the Progressive Specialists are moderate indeed. They have always been found to be very conscientious and absolutely on the square, and always doing what is right. A painless and safe treatment is assured every patient and the genuine German remedy, given according to the great German Professors' latest instructions, until completely cured. You may consult the Doctors without being charged at their offices at No. 1 West Superior Street, Duluth. Those who can not call at once should write the doctors and they will arrange the time for examination to suit the patient.

PHARMACIST FOUND GUILTY

H. J. Schell of Proctor Convicted for Illegal Liquor Sales.

Prohibition Forces Win Victory Through Work of "Stool Pigeons."

A verdict of guilty was returned last night in the case of the state against H. J. Schell, prominent Proctor pharmacist, who was indicted by the last grand jury on a charge of having illegally sold intoxicating liquor Aug. 27. The penalty is a fine of from $50 to $100 or a jail sentence.

When Proctor went dry last spring the prohibition forces were happy and this was particularly true among the better class of railroad men, many of whom reside there. But shortly after the lid was clamped on, it began to leak and the reformers started to look for the defects. Stool pigeons were imported and placed at work within the confines of the railroad village.

On Aug. 27, after having been in Proctor nearly a week, the plain clothes scouts ran across John Anderson, a machinist employed in the Missabe shops. He was a good fellow and the "stools" made much of him. Claiming that they were nursing a fierce thirst, they induced John to go to the Schell drug store and purchase a pint of whisky. John had no trouble getting the booze and returned to his friends. Part of the whisky was consumed, about half of it being kept by one of the "pigeons" to serve as evidence before the grand jury and later in the trial of the case.

The defense made a strong attempt to show that Johnson had asked for a remedy for a cold and that Schell had given him a pint of whisky that contained asperin and other drugs. The bottle containing the "medicine" was labeled by the distillers "Green River whisky," and that was the only label used. Use of the word "medicine" was not allowed by the court. What the court wanted to know was if the amount of whisky containing the drugs that Johnson purchased was intoxicating. Expert witnesses said it was.

The prosecution made it plain that Schell being a pharmacist and not a doctor, had no legal right to prescribe a remedy for colds or any other sickness.

WANT SCHOOL OF THEIR OWN

Bay View Heights Residents Not Satisfied With New Arrangement.

Residents of Bayview Heights are not satisfied with an arrangement for the transportation of their children to West Duluth schools. An agreement for such an arrangement has not been made with the residents and many of them are opposed to it and wish the school opened.

"We have not agreed to the transportation of the children to the West Duluth schools," said Mrs. William Nyberg this morning. "We want the Bayview Height's school opened because this school is near the homes and convenient for the children."

According to members of the school board it had been planned to provide covered rigs to carry the children to and from school. This, say members of the board, will give the children an advantage of a thoroughly modern school and equipment at very little inconvenience and at a cost that will be little more than that of employing an additional teacher and heating the one-room school building.

WEST DULUTH MAN TAKES BIG MUSKELLONGE

What is probably the largest muskellonge taken from the St. Louis river in recent years was caught Thursday afternoon by Louis Lenro Seventy-second avenue west. The fish weighed thirty-one pounds and measured well over three feet long. Several large fish have been taken from the river this year, but as far as known, this is the largest that has been pulled out with a hook and line.

WILL LIGHT FIRES AT STEEL PLANT

Work of Drying Furnaces Will Begin Next Week.

Fires will be lighted early next week, according to present plans, in some of the open-hearth furnaces of the Minnesota Steel plant for the purpose of beginning the process of drying out the bricks. The drying process will take about a month.

Some of the furnaces are now said to be completed and others are being rushed so that they may also be complete by an early date next month. There are fourteen of these furnaces that will receive the molten iron from the blast furnaces and in which it will be converted from the iron to steel ingots.

Fires have been burning for some time in the coke ovens at the plant. Fuel oil is being used almost exclusively. Wood will be used in starting the fires in the open hearth furnaces and all waste planking and boards as well as brush and stumps from the grounds are being brought there for that purpose.

ACCOMMODATIONS FOR EMPLOYES

The comfort and care of employes is not to be overlooked when the big plant of the Universal Portland Cement company at Gary begins operations. A part of one of the large buildings, now almost completed, is being equipped with private lockers, one for each employe, porcelain wash bowls, shower baths and other conveniences.

The large room is being fitted up on recommendation of the sanitation committee of the company. Thorough investigation as to the need of providing such equipment for the employes has been made by this committee, and every comfort for the tired workman is to be provided at the local plant.

The room will contain hundreds of lockers. Here the workman, before going to his job, will be able to change his clothes and in the evening wash up or take a shower bath before proceeding home.

CONCRETE BEING LAID.

Work of Paving Grand Avenue Being Rapidly Pushed.

More than a block of concrete paving has already been laid by the contractors in charge of the paving of Grand avenue west of Eighty-first avenue west. The work is being pushed rapidly, a crew of men being employed at night to haul material for the job.

The roadway is very rough. Drivers say that if the city would place a couple of teams at work with a road drag it would help conditions a great deal and smooth the highway. At present a driver of an automobile is in constant danger of breaking an axle or having some dangerous breakdown.

Pleasantly Surprised.

Miss Hildeberg Ek, 6116 Worden street, was pleasantly surprised last evening by a number of her friends. Games and music featured the entertainment. The guests were Misses Diana Erickson, Alphilf Soderberg, Sigred Rodenius, Dalberg Erickson, Jennie Hoglund, Mabel Erickson, Helen Hedman and Messrs. Reginald Ek, Reginald Wickstrom, Erling Wickstrom, Clarence Huth, Theodore Hambly, Stanley Inglewaldson, Oscar Trombly and Manfred Malmros.

Will Boost Membership.

Degree of Honor lodge No. 85 will hold a special meeting Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Gilley's hall, 322 North Central avenue. Mrs. Elizabeth Schroeder of St. Paul, past grand chief of honor of the society, will be present and be principal speaker. Plans for an active campaign for membership this fall will be made.

Fear Firebugs.

Residents of Sixty-third avenue and Sixty-first avenue west are keeping a sharp lookout for persons believed to be implicated in setting fire to the boathouses recently. Fear that the setting of such fires might spread to their homes has caused them worry. No clews as to how the fire yesterday morning started have been obtained. This fire consumed two motor boats belonging to Robert and Harold Olson.

Who Threw That Ford?

Charles Stahl, desk man at the West Duluth police station, seriously injured his right arm while attempting to crank the Ford automobile belonging to the department late yesterday afternoon. The crank struck his wrist a severe blow, causing the injured member to swell in bad shape. Dr. David Graham, who attended the injury, is of the opinion that there is no bone broken.

Mr. Stahl is confined to his home at 108 North Fifty-eighth avenue west. He was unable to move any finger of the right hand today. It is probable he will be laid up for several days.

Form Mothers' Club.

A mothers' club of the Longfellow school was organized yesterday afternoon at a meeting attended by thirty mothers of children attending the institution. Plans for monthly social meetings, at which subjects of interest to the school and community will be discussed, were made.

The officers elected are: Mrs. T. F. Olsen, president; Mrs. Lessard, vice president; Miss Lillian Meinhardt, teacher of the third grade, secretary, and Mrs. A. Pearson, treasurer. The committees appointed were as follows: Program, Mrs. Frank E. Watson, Mrs. W. C. Kimball and Miss Genevieve Smith; resolution committee, Mrs. M. Roe, Mrs. Anna Grey and Mrs. Gordon Brooks.

A china shower for the school is planned for next Friday afternoon. It is expected in that manner to receive a sufficient number of white china cups and plates so that light refreshments may be served by members of the club following meetings.

West Duluth Briefs.

Fredhjem lodge, I.O.G.T., entertained last evening at the opening of its annual fall bazar at the Odd Fellows hall. The affair will close this evening.

Mrs. William Kilby, 307 North Sixtieth avenue west, returned yesterday from a month's visit with relatives on the range.

Mrs. J. L. Hickey of Yankton, S. D., is a guest at the home of Mrs. John Lledinger, 120 South Fifty-sixth avenue west.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cook, 314 North Fifty-third avenue west, are visiting relatives at Detroit, Bay City and other lake ports.

Station Robber Sentenced.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Sept. 18.—Robert Nichols, aged 25, of Port Dodge, Iowa, is the robber who held up the Soo Line station here Thursday. He pleaded guilty in court Friday and was sentenced to five years at the reformatory. He was identified as the robber who held up the Soo station at Waukesha, Wis., on Sept. 2, securing about $200.

Prisoner in Russian Camp.

Carrington, N. D., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Through the activities of the American consul in Siberia, Bernhard Kesselheim of this place learned that his brother, James Kesselheim, is a prisoner in a Russian camp at Yandi, Central Siberia, having been captured by the Russians last October, during the early stages of the war.

The Home Beautiful!

If the surroundings of your home are not desirable (for instance, cheap houses, unkempt lawns and gardens and unsightly grounds), it tends greatly to decrease the artistic beauty of your home no matter how elegant or perfect in itself. A small house can be made beautiful and artistic if built in a desirable location amidst attractive homes, lawns and gardens. We can sell you the location that contains absolutely everything necessary to make your proposed home beautiful. Beautiful view, beautiful homes, beautiful lawns, gardens, terraces. The lots themselves are the most beautiful and sightly in Duluth. They have paved streets, gas, water and sewer. Most important to you, however, is this: These lots are offered at 50% less than they are actually worth. All we ask is a chance to show you these lots and their surroundings. They are all in Hunter's Park—the most beautiful and desirable suburb in Duluth. The lots vary in price from $750 to $1,700, according to size. Only 10% cash and the balance in five years. Let us show you these so that you can compare them with anything else offered in Duluth. We are glad to show you and there is absolutely no obligation on your part to buy. It only takes a half hour of your time to run out and see these lots. Call for plats.

BIG CROWD AT FALL FESTIVAL

Flowers and Vegetables Make Fine Showing at Glen Avon Church.

The annual harvest home festival of the residents of Hunter's Park and Glen Avon was held last night at the Glen Avon Presbyterian church. The festival has been an annual event for many years, and each year finds some improvement.

A large crowd was present and the exhibit of vegetables and flowers in front of the church made an excellent appearance. The flowers were beautifully and artistically arranged and the vegetable exhibit showed off to great advantage. R. M. Hunter was the designer of the vegetable display and Mrs. McFarlane designed the flower exhibit.

After the exhibits had been inspected the women of the church served a supper, made up of the best of everything taken from the gardens in the community.

REUNITED BY HERALD "AD"

Duluth Woman Finds Sister After Separation of Fourteen Years.

After fourteen years apart, Mrs. Alma Erickson, 21 East Superior street, has been united with her "baby" sister, now Mrs. Henry Bergstrom of Staples, Minn., through a testimonial of a well-known remedy published in the Herald recently.

The testimonial was accompanied by Mrs. Erickson's picture, and Mrs. Bergstrom, while scanning a copy of the paper at her Staples home a few days later, was struck by the family resemblance, and wrote to Duluth.

Although she did not know of her sister's marriage, she was so impressed by the likeness that she also wrote to a brother, Henry Fosberg, living in Minneapolis.

"It all seems too good to be true," said Mrs. Erickson today. "Just to think that I am going to see her, and my brother, in a few days, makes me so happy that I don't know what to do. It has been fourteen years since I have seen either of them, and I don't know whether I will know them or not."

Fourteen years ago the three children were living at Hannaford, N. D. Upon the death of their father they were left orphans and were forced to start out in the world for themselves. It was a long period of hard work to make ends meet, and they drifted apart and became lost from each other.

Now both girls are married and have children, and the brother also is a father. They are planning to meet at Staples for a grand reunion within the next few days.

"SUING THE CITY" IS POPULAR SPORT

More Than a Score of Cases on the Current Calendar.

Suing the city has become almost epidemic.

At the present term of district court there are more than a score of cases against the city, most of them originating from injuries sustained by citizens on defective or icy sidewalks.

One suit is to recover for injuries sustained by a boy when fireworks left at the London road park grounds after the municipal Fourth celebration were discharged.

In addition to the personal injury claims, there are the usual number of appeals from awards in condemnation proceedings, and from sewer or paving assessments.

Mrs. Andrea Rude today filed suit to recover $500 damages for injuries sustained Sept. 5 when she tripped over a loose walk plank near the corner of Fifty-sixth avenue west and Elfnor street.

CHAPTER MASONS WILL INSTALL NEW OFFICERS

Newly elected officers of Keystone Chapter No. 20, Royal Arch Masons, will be installed Wednesday evening at the Masonic temple. Carl E. Lonegren, past high priest of Keystone chapter will act as installing officer. The officers to be inducted are: Stanley L. Mack, high priest; A. M. Frazee, king; E. H. Pfeiffer, scribe; J. P. Johnson, treasurer; Alfred Le Richeux, secretary; Thorwald Hanson, captain of the host; Charles B. Cannon; principal sojourner; David S. Horak, royal arch captain; C. F. Almy, master of the third vell; and Henry Van Brunt, sentinel. The retiring high priest is Dr. W. J. Works. The installation ceremonies will be open only to Chapter Masons and will be followed by a smoker and musical entertainment.

MARKET CONDITIONS NOT "DISGRACEFUL"

Charges that the condition of the West Duluth public market is "shameful and disgraceful," made by John J. Frey at the meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club last night, are without foundation, according to the club's committee, which investigated the market place last night following the meeting. The investigators, comprising R. J. Fisher, P. H. Martin, Emil J. Zauft, Angus G. Macaulay and several other members, gave it as their opinion that the market place was not only clean but that the lumber piled around the place was not in such condition as to hamper the farmers in getting in or out.

"We found the market very clean," said Mr. Fisher this morning. "It may be a little unsightly to see the lumber piled on the property surrounding the sheds, but it is not causing any inconvenience to the farmers. The market stalls probably should face on the street and many other improvements might be made to the place, but all in all it is kept clean and is a convenience to the farmers as well as to the public that patronizes the place. Members of the club who looked over the place are convinced that the charges are without foundation."

Mr. Fisher was elected secretary of the club during the business meeting. The secretaryship was made vacant when M. J. Murray moved to St. Paul following his appointment as deputy state fire marshal.

COURT WILL UNRAVEL IT

Municipal Judgeship Tangle Will Be Decided on Quo Warranto Proceedings.

Attorneys of Rival Claimants Conferring With Attorney General.

Preliminary steps to untangle the "who's who" knot in municipal court will be taken at St. Paul today, when Attorney H. H. Phelps, representing Judge W. H. Smallwood, and Attorney H. S. Fulton, representing Judge Windom, will confer with Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith.

To straighten out the difficulties, Mr. Smith expects to bring quo warranto proceedings against Judge Windom, to have him show cause why he continues to hold office, although the governor has appointed Judge Smallwood to the position.

Mr. Phelps will make a request that he be allowed to start proceedings, which would be brought by the state on behalf of Judge Smallwood. The action would be entitled State of Minnesota ex rel W. H. Smallwood vs. W. L. Windom.

Proceedings Refused Before.

Formerly, when Judge Windom took possession of the bench, Attorney Phelps tried to obtain the consent of the attorney general to a proceeding similar to the one which now will be started. Previous to the governor's appointment of Judge Smallwood, the attorney general would not allow a quo warranto writ to be issued against Judge Windom.

"Up to the time of my appointment," said Judge Smallwood today, "we had been working for several weeks to have a quo warranto writ issued against Judge Windom."

Judge Windom, in answering an open letter from Judge Smallwood, which proposed to "let the voters decide the controversy," declared a special election out of the question and said that quo warranto proceedings constitute the logical means of settlement.

If Attorney General Smith actually starts the procedure, Duluth will know who is municipal judge early in October, say lawyers. The case would be heard by the supreme court soon after it convenes for the fall term.

MANY EXPLOSIONS ON THE SANT' ANNA

Washington, Sept. 18.—In announcing to the state department the arrival at the Azores of the Fabre liner Sant' Anna from New York for Italy, American Consul Schultz stated that eighteen fuses had been found on the ship and that many explosions had occurred before she reached the Azores.

The substance of the dispatch as given out by the department follows:

"Sant' Anna, Fabre line, arrived Thursday evening. About midnight, Sept. 12, fire discovered the twelfth hold filled with general merchandise and baggage. Eighteen fuses found. Many explosions. Six hundred and five passengers, including women, children and aged transferred to the Ancona Sept. 13. She expected to proceed with 1,196 passengers Friday or Saturday. All passengers safe."

LAUDS POLICE DEPARTMENT.

Rogues' Gallery and Bertillon Praised By Fort Wayne Detective.

Duluth's rogues' gallery and police Bertillon department are far ahead of the average of cities of this size, according to Joseph P. Brennan, detective of Fort Wayne, Ind.

"To look at the gallery and general equipment here," he said, "you would think that Duluth was twice as large as it is."

Officer Brennan arrived here yesterday and will return today with Ernest Steil, 47, wife deserter, who was arrested aboard the freighter Smith Thompson after Chief McKercher had pursued the boat in a tug.

Steil is alleged to have deserted his wife, who is now confined to a hospital for the insane in Indiana.

ACCUSED OF CONSPIRACY

Former Manitoba Cabinet Members Have Their Preliminary Hearing.

V. W. Horwood, Former Provincial Architect, the First Witness.

Winnipeg, Sept. 18.—Much ground was covered yesterday in the examination by the crown of V. W. Horwood, former provincial architect, the first witness in the preliminary hearing of four members of Manitoba's last cabinet. The names of all the accused exministers were mentioned in evidence, in the crown's attempt to connect them with the charge of conspiracy to defraud the province.

Sir Rodmun Roblin, it was testified, had been concerned in some of the contracts for extras while acting at one time as minister of public works and to have been present at a private meeting just before the last session of the legislature when he asked Dr. Montague if everything was all right in connection with the parliament building contracts. Dr. Montague replied that everything was "fireproof."

"Very Strict" at First.

The witness stated that Dr. Montague when he first took office was "very strict," and put Horwood to considerable inconvenience through his scrutiny of estimates in which Horwood was seeking to conceal campaign fund items. Horwood said that Dr. Simpson saw the minister of public works and after that the witness claimed he found no difficulty.

George R. Coldwell, who was acting minister of education for a great deal of the time during the earlier work on the buildings, was stated to have instructed Horwood that he should be guided by Dr. R. W. Simpson in the granting of contracts so that the campaign fund might be raised from the parliament buildings.

James H. Howden, former attorney general, was mentioned less frequently. He was said to have been at the conference before the legislatures met and remarked that a letter from Architect Simon recommending the acceptance of Contractor Thomas Kelly's original tender "cleared up the whole situation."

Wanted Brick Used.

Thomas Kelly's part in the transactions about which Mr. Horwood was examined, was not inconspicuous, according to the evidence given. He recommended a change to brick in the foundation walls, largely, Mr. Horwood thought, because he had a large stock of brick on hand which he wanted to have used. When Horwood found it difficult to bring his figures up to the $215,000, which was the figure he had to submit for the grillage for the south wing, Kelly advised him to include $64,000 for concrete between the grillage. He did this, including also excessive amounts of steel and rivets, he said. He allowed for 190 tons of rivets alone. Mr. Horwood was unable to recall the amounts Dr. Simpson had given him in connection with the various contracts to be included for campaign funds, but he said it was his practice to add to the proper allowance of steel sometimes 25 per cent, sometimes 25 and 15 per cent and sometimes 25, 15 and 10 per cent.

FARRELL ROAD MAY BE OPENED SOON

Property Owners Waive Right of Awards; Plan Being Discussed.

The Farrell road, extending between Rice lake and Howard-Gnesen highways north of Duluth, may be opened soon despite the lack of funds in the work division treasury.

The improvement will cost about $3,000, it is estimated, and the outlay will be made jointly by the city and county, under the plan now being considered.

J. W. Hunt, attorney representing owners of land condemned by the city for the proposed road, yesterday told Commissioner Farrell that his clients were willing to waive the question of awards.

Recently the council met with property owners affected and agreed to exempt the land from improvement assessments, if the owners would waive the condemnation claims. The city did not have enough money to pay the compensation claims, according to commissioners.

Yesterday's announcement by Mr. Hunt was an acceptance of the council's proposal.

GOOD BALANCE FOR WORKS DIVISION

Sources of Revenues Are Shown in Second Monthly Report.

The second monthly report to be issued on public works division finances was made yesterday by F. E. Culver, secretary of the division.

Up to Sept. 1 the revenues of the division have been $113,447.86, while expenses up to the same date have amounted to $109,609.16 since Jan. 1. The balance in favor of the department is $3,838.70. Division assets on Aug. 31 were $124,256.20, according to the report and liabilities amounted to $120,114.82.

"This new system enables us to give the public ready and accurate information on the condition of our finances," said Works Commissioner Farrell. "Formerly we had to wait until the end of a fiscal year to get such information."

Some idea of the source of revenues used by the works division is given in the report. The income is divided as follows: General property tax, $134,358.26; wheelage tax, $18,158.21; mortgage tax, $411.30; crusher earnings, $6,479.70; restoring streets and alleys, $2,073.31; income from equipment, $2,214.33; truck earnings, $267.21; road roller earnings, $87.62; asphalt mixing plant earnings, $33,89; tamping machine earnings, $4.

The largest item of expese for the first eight months of the year is $31,187.93 for highway and sewer maintenance. Cleaning cost $22,860 and removal of ice and snow cost $9,158.71.

GOD IS PARTICULAR.

Written Word Cannot Be Substituted, Declares Pastor White.

"The unerring law of gravitation by which an infinite variety of words are, by the power of God's word, upheld in their various orbits with such delicate precision and never-varying accuracy, according to which man daily readjusts the best clockwork of human ingenuity, daily contradicts the specious plea of many theologians that God is not 'so particular.' The continuous propagation of species, with everything 'after his kind,' and the delicate coloring, size and shape of all colors of the grass, mutely testify to the particularity of the Creator in His dealings with the 'flower of the grass' in the spiritual realm," declared Pastor Stempple White last night at the Bible chaupie tauqua tent near the Y. M. C. A., where he spoke to the question, "Is God Particular?"

"A young prophet is sent to cry out against the altar and sun worship of the wicked Jeroboam. Fulfilling his errand, he returns home another way as God had commanded, and likewise refuses the hospitality of the king's table. He allows himself to be decoyed into sin by an old prophet who solemnly declares that an angel commissioned him to inform the young man to do just opposite and contrary to what God had previously instructed him. The young prophet goes back, eats and drinks, but it is his last meal. A lion slays him as he resumes his journey. This was written for our admonition. No heavenly intelligence ever would contradict the written word of God. God is particular. On the other hand, why is Old Mr. Carnality so particular in having his own way?"

Mr. White will speak Sunday evening on the question, "Are Other Worlds Inhabited?"

BRYAN CONSIDERS EUROPEAN TRIP

Has Under Advisement Proposition to Make Peace Tour.

Washington, Sept. 18.—William J. Bryan announced yesterday that he had taken under advisement a suggestion from editors of foreign language newspapers published in the United States that he make a trip to Europe as private peace envoy to the warring powers.

In a statement to a committee of the editors who, headed by Dr. William Fargo, urged him to undertake the task, Mr. Bryan indicated that he might at least visit neutral European countries in the hope of finding there sentiment to aid America in the "maintaining of neutrality and the prevention of a preparedness that provokes rather than prevents war."

Mr. Bryan's references to military preparedness attracted attention in the capital, in view of the possible effect of his attitude on some elements in the of his attitude on some elements in the gram for strengthening the national defenses is considered. Earlier in the day, Mr. Bryan had given out a statement declaring money for increased military expenditures would be difficult to secure, and adding:

"I do not see that there is any reason for changing the policy of the country in this respect. The preparedness which is now being advocated (by the national defense and navy leagues) not only cultivates the spirit which leads to war, but it involves an expenditure which the people will not submit to unless convinced that some nation is getting ready to attack us, and we can not single out nations and prepare against them without making hatred a national policy."

Mr. Bryan said if he decided to make the trip to Europe he would go, not as a spokesman for any political group, but "as a representative of the peace sentiment of the United States, which includes the vast majority of our people."

CLOQUET MOTHERS' CLUB WILL HAVE MEETING

Cloquet, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The initial meeting of the Mothers' club for this season will be held tonight at the Lincoln high school and the following program will be rendered: Song, Men's chorus; welcome to the teachers, Mrs. Z. B. Hoyt, president Mothers' club; response, Miss Billing; song, Jefferson school; talk, "The Panama-Pacific Exposition," Mrs. Peter Oleson; song, Miss Hazel Fauley; paper, "Tendencies of American Childhood," Mrs. J. ALLEGED FORGER HELD AT BRAINERD

Ashland, Wis., Sept. 18.—Chief of Police W. T. Blair has received word from Brainerd, Minn., that A. R. McFarlin has been arrested there and bound over to a higher court on a forgery charge. This was in answer to an inquiry of the chief in regard to McFarlin, who also goes under the name of Richardson. McFarlin, it is said, in a short time passed two forged checks here, both carrying the sums of $7.35. The victims of the bogus checks were West Miser and Cass Voschmik. One of the names forged on one check was B. Schwartz, proprietor of the Schwartz billiard and pool parlors. On the other check the name of an Antigo blacksmith was forged.

Aeronaut Killed.

Jonesville, Va., Sept. 18.—Ed Wheeler, an aeronaut, fell 900 feet to his death here today from an open parachute. His home was in Adrian, Mich.

Former Teller Indicted.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Sept. 18.—Leo L. Perrin, former teller of the Cedar Rapids National bank, was yesterday indicted by the county grand jury on the charge of embezzlement. At the time the embezzlement was discovered, Aug. 4 last, Perrin claimed that a lone bandit had robbed the bank of $20,000. Later he confessed to the police to having used the money over a period of two years in real estate speculation.

HOW BILL WAS FOOLED.

Some Republicans are expecting a landslide.—Washington Star.

Do you know that, incredible as it seems, there actually are such Republicans, even in this day and age and despite all the lessons of recent history? Despite the fact that the country turned against the Republican party and destroyed it for its sins; despite the fact that it is split, a yawning chasm separating conservative Republican from progressive Republican; despite the fact that no promising issue and no promising presidential candidate are yet in sight; and despite the fact that Wilson has made good tremendously, there actually are old-fashioned Republicans who expect the party to win in 1916, and who even talk cheerfully of a "landslide."

A little study of these interesting psychological phenomena discloses the fact that their assurance is based on the belief that the country simply can't get along without the Republican party to run it.

These ingenuous and sanguine partisans remind us of Bill.

Bill worked in a grocery—had worked there ever since he left school. He was bright, active, energetic, accommodating, and people liked him, and liked to trade with him. His employer thought there was nobody like Bill, and for a long time his employer's patrons thought so too. And so, finally, Bill got to thinking the same thing—and that was the undoing of Bill.

Bill got careless. He formed bad acquaintances, and got to running around with the sports. He stayed up late raising Cain, and got to the store late, his tongue hot and coated, his eyes bleared, his wits muddled. He was caught giving away the store's goods to some of his evil companions.

Bill's employer gave him a talking to, finally, and threatened to fire him. Bill said nothing, but within himself he thought: "That's all a bluff. You can't get along without me, and you know it." So Bill kept on in his bad ways, and one morning, when he showed up for work two hours late and in the usual dishevelled condition, he was fired.

Bill put on his coat and hat and went out around the corner and got a drink—then more drinks. Then he settled down to waiting till his employer got ready to call him back.

Meanwhile, of course, another man had gone on in Bill's place. He was a sort of dark horse, and at first there was some prejudice against him. But he was a worker, and it wasn't long before the grocer and his patrons got to thinking a lot of him. Indeed, it was only then that they realized that Bill had been going down hill a long time before they had noticed it, and the change from Bill to Joe—the new clerk—was soon generally considered a change greatly for the better.

But Bill didn't know that. His confidence in the belief that the grocer couldn't get along without him wasn't impaired in the least by the very obvious fact that he was getting along without him very well indeed. He didn't even bother to reform, but kept up his old ways, though he tentatively associated once in a while with decent folks just to show that he had no particular prejudice against them. To his friends in the barroom he said: "You just wait. That feller won't last. They can't get along without me, and they'll be sending for me pretty soon."

But at last accounts the new clerk was cemented firmly to his job, the grocer and his patrons were well content with him, and Bill, still jobless, was still waiting to be sent for, without the remotest chance in the world that the long-awaited word will ever come.

Our famous Twins are known outside the state. The Chicago News suggests that "possibly the commander of the submarine that chased the St. Paul thought he was the mayor of Minneapolis."

MUSIC IN LIBRARIES.

A special music number of the Library Journal brings the interesting intelligence that many of the libraries of this country, to stimulate and encourage the love of good music, are adding and developing musical departments in which good music is circulated precisely as books are circulated.

That this is so is a striking proof of the wholesome and welcome growth of musical appreciation in this country, and it is a tendency that deserves every possible encouragement. Whenever the obstacle of expense can be overcome, we hope to see the Duluth library expand this department from the excellent start that was made when the library came into possession of the varied and excellent Horace W. Reyner collection. Duluth is showing every sign of an encouraging growth in the appreciation of good music, and the work begun by the Scottish Rite Masons with their Sunday organ concerts and supplemented last winter by the excellent concerts of the Duluth Concert Orchestra is rapidly expanding. This work is admirably supported by the public library so far as its facilities will permit, and before long these facilities should be largely increased.

This contribution by the public library to the cause of good music is not new, though many libraries have only recently taken it up. The Brooklyn public library began it in 1882 with a collection of four hundred volumes, which since has grown to nearly five thousand volumes of music and twelve hundred books dealing with the history and theory of music. The Hartford library began in 1895 with a hundred and fifty volumes, and now has nearly two thousand volumes. The Haverhill library began with popular music only, and it is interesting to note that it was a public demand that broadened the scope of its work. The Forbes library at Northampton, Massachusetts, has more than ten thousand pieces of sheet music and four thousand volumes of piano, opera and orchestral music, with a circulation of about four thousand yearly. This library also owns four phonographs, which are loaned with the records to public schools. The Evanston library, besides a collection of music, also has a piano player and music for it. The Los Angeles library, in addition to a good collection of music, has a soundproof recital room and a piano for trying the music. The music room is almost constantly in use by professional and amateur musicians. The Morris Reeves library at Richmond, Indiana, has an enormous collection of piano player music. Starting in 1911 with eight hundred records given by a manufacturing company, the library has assumed the expense of buying additional rolls and now has about ten thousand, with an average circulation last year of nearly a thousand per month.

Uncle Sam will at least try to keep out of the war until T. R. gets back from Canada.

HOW THE SALARIED MAN CAN MAKE MONEY.

"How can anybody expect me to store up resources for old age?" asks a discontented salaried man. "I have no chance on earth to make money, and you have to make money to have it when you are old."

No chance to make money? You have a splendid chance to make money—better than any other way because other ways are invariably accompanied by risks, and this way has none.

You are getting, say, thirty dollars a week—and living on it. When you get twenty you lived on that. When you get fifty you will live on that; you are "just getting by" now, and when your salary is increased your wants will insensibly expand to absorb the increase.

Here's a way for you to make money—surely, and, after awhile, easily, though it will go hard at first:

Out of your thirty a week, cut five, and live on twenty-five. If your employer made it twenty-five you'd live on it, wouldn't you? Well, make it twenty-five yourself, and live on it. Put the five in the savings bank; and when you can spare a nickel or a dime or a dollar, add that to it.

When you have a hundred or so, buy a "baby bond" or a share of sound dividend-paying stock. Don't try to get over five or six per cent—that's all that's safe. When you have another hundred, buy another bond or another share of stock. Add the interest or dividends to your savings, and compound it. Get it started, and keep it up. When your salary is increased, put more in your investment fund. You'll find that you are making money—slowly, especially at first, but surely. And at that you'll make a lot more money than you will if you put your savings into speculative stocks like mining and oil stock.

Take a block of paper and a pencil, and sit down some evening and figure out where this process will land you at, say, sixty.

And then—you won't need the pencil and paper for this—figure where you will land at sixty if you keep on spending all you earn.

Let's see now: How many two hundred and fifty-dollar lectures could Bryan deliver for that ten million-dollar peace fund of Henry Ford's?

"THE PEACEFULNESS OF BEING AT WAR."

The old saying that "every cloud has a silver lining" is trite enough n all conscience, but true for all that. Not even war, hateful and destructive and demoralizing though it is, is without its compensations.

L. P. Jacks, principal of Manchester college at Oxford, England, has a striking article in the New Republic under the above caption, in which he declares that despite the burden and woe and terror of war, England is better poised, more peaceful of mind and more contented than she was before the war.

What brought this about was the unifying influence of a great national purpose. The man with a purpose is likelier to be happy than the man without a purpose; and so it appears to be with nations.

"When war broke out," says Dr. Jacks, "we were living, as a nation, without any end or aim. Whatever ideals existed had but a piecemeal existence; they waxed and waned, here today and gone tomorrow; they were at war with one another, and their devotees were mostly unconscious of any deeper principle on which they could unite. Our 'inner state,' in consequence, was marked by profound unrest. Rest for our souls was hardly to be found anywhere. In religion, in philosophy, in politics, we were all at sixes and sevens, fighting one another in the name of our ideals, or striving to rouse the lethargic masses who cared not a button for any of our idealism; and often, it must be confessed, we were in a state of chronic irritation; and to make matters worse a school of writers had arisen, represented by Mr. Bernard Shaw, who made it their business to irritate and, incidentally, to confuse us still further."

All this has changed. "I believe," continues Dr. Jacks, "that twelve months of war have brought to England a peace of mind such as she has not had for generations. In spite of all we have suffered and have still to suffer: the loss of our friends and kinsmen; the awful anxieties for those at the front; the knowledge of the immense miseries of the nations at war; the grave uncertainties of the future—in spite of this, and all else in the catalogue of evils, I am convinced that the mind of England is much calmer than it was twelve months ago."

It is simply that England, no longer distracted by aimless and futile controversy and vague discontent, is unified by a purpose—the high purpose of preserving England and democracy.

"It is nothing more or less," says Dr. Jacks," than the peace of mind which comes to every man who, after tossing about among uncertainties and trying his hand at this and that, finds at last a mission, a cause to which he can devote himself body and soul. At last he has something to live for; and though the living may be hard and costly he makes no complaint."

Though it cannot possibly compensate for the havoc of war, this state of mind which war has brought to England—and no doubt to the other countries involved as well—is a very real and very tangible offset—a brighter side of the ghastly picture of war.

The exactions of the world struggle compel heavy sacrifices—but most sacrifice is clean pain, wholesome and healthful. There is even a physical gain, since the demands of war expense make luxury a crime, and the result is plainer, simpler and hence more wholesome living.

Yet this interesting viewpoint must not be accepted as making war desirable. If the purpose of war can do this, would not a higher and finer purpose bring greater peace of mind? Though Dr. Jacks does not interpret the situation quite so concretely, what has brought peace to England is that in a large measure the crisis has driven out selfishness—and it is your selfish person who is always miserable. Your unselfish person with a high purpose is always happy, even though he be persecuted and despitefully used.

Stefansson reports having discovered new land, and as yet Peary has not spoken up.

THE GARY SCHOOL SYSTEM—AND OTHERS.

Nobody can study with an open mind the working of the so-called Gary system of education, we are sure, without finding it easy to understand why the officials of the new steel plant are anxious to see this system adopted at the Morgan Park school in Duluth.

And it will not be at all strange if those who come to the study of this interesting system with minds unclouded by conservative devotion to the conventional school system of this country leave it with a conviction that the real question is not so much whether the Gary plan should be adopted at Morgan Park, but whether the entire school system of Duluth should not be so thoroughly reorganized that fully seventy-five per cent of its activities shall take something on like the shape of the Gary system.

The Gary plan was devised not only with a view of meeting the special needs of an industrial community, but also with a view to meeting the recent and growing challenge of a school system which, contrived chiefly to prepare pupils for college, sends out the vast majority of its pupils at a very early age, equipped with little but a smattering of the three R's and with virtually no practical equipment for the business of life; in other words, a system that in a large measure sacrifices the ninety and nine for the benefit of the one in a hundred who can go on to the fulfillment of the course of which the public schools are only a part.

We have vocational training for lawyers, preachers, doctors, dentists, writers, etc.; why not vocational training for farmers, artisans, and those who are to lead commercial careers? Why should not the traditional studies even in the early grades take shapes that will lay the groundwork for vocational fitness later on? Why should not the work of the schools be correlated from the beginning to the lifework of the pupils?

The Nation publishes a review of Professor John Dewey's striking book, "The Schools of Tomorrow," in which he makes an earnest and effective plea for a change to some system which shall be better adjusted to the requirements of every-day life. He feels that a serious wrong is done to the large percentage of pupils who quit school at the age of fourteen and enter industrial positions for which they are not fitted. He advocates the forming of a cultural education, not out of the usual book learning, but from the materials of the nation's practical existence. We should revolutionize education from the first grade on, with the aim of making clear to students the relations of subjects taught to the possibilities that will confront them in after life.

It is becoming clearer every day that what is needed is not the addition of "vocational" schools and courses to the present public school system, but the complete revolutionizing of the whole system so as to make it minister more directly and more practically to the needs of the pupils and of society.

Incidental to its review of Professor Dewey's book the Nation gives a brief summary of the Gary experiment, as the most interesting of recent attempts along the line of his proposals:

> The Gary schools were founded to prepare the children of factory workers for useful citizenship, and, largely through the agency of the pupils, to better the condition of the factory workers themselves. This, obviously, could not be done unless the schools were seen to have practical value and became the accepted center of intellectual life.
> With these objects in view Mr. Wirt decided to throw over the bulk of the traditional system and start afresh. One of his most important features is keeping the school buildings open in the evening and on Sundays and holidays so that there may be public lectures and night classes for parents. He soon found that adults were relying upon the school to answer all manner of questions and were investing it with a community spirit.
> Instead of being confined mainly to book learning, the pupils, through the training they receive in shops, laboratories, etc., are educated to keep the entire plant running. In the machine and carpenter shops, for instance, they make the desks required in the classrooms. They are encouraged to put into practice the lessons dealing with the nutritive value of foods by selecting the menus and cooking the dishes for the school luncheon. Pupils attend to the bookkeeping and ordering of the school store. They apply their mathematics, among other things, in laying out and equpping playgrounds. They make plans of their parents' houses, and these are studied by all so as to learn the difference between good and bad arrangements, and perhaps dissuade their parents from renting houses which are undesirable.
> It must not be inferred that students are not drilled with textbooks, only lessons without application count for less than faith without works. By numerous devices knowledge is VITALIZED for old and young alike. * * * That Mr. Wirt makes knowledge attractive is attested by the number of his pupils who continue their studies after the legal age when they are free to retire, and by the considerable percentage of students who go from Gary to the state universities.
> Mr. Wirt's labors at Gary, so far as we can judge, have borne rich fruit. He is giving to children, often of foreign-born parents, an American self-reliance and is helping them to become useful citizens. By a system so flexible that it responds easily to the peculiar needs of the individual, be he dullard or prodigy, he is apparently able to keep all the students actively interested. A system which does this in days when even our colleges are complaining of the blase spirit of youth should not be lightly dismissed.

School, to the average healthy and normal child, is a bore. Is this not very largely because, unlike Mr. Wirt at Gary, our educators have failed to VITALIZE the course of studies—have failed to connect them up with life itself?

With all due respect to our public school educators, their viewpoint is likely to be prejudiced by the very natural and human conservatism which leads the majority to believe that whatever is is right, and that things ought to be kept on going the way they found them.

The Gary plan need not be adopted bodily, but it should be adapted. Its principle, or something like it, should enliven the school systems of this country in city and country. In the country, indeed, already something like it is working a silent revolution by correlating rural school work to rural life.

The schools should give the pupils what they need and what society needs them to have, not what conservative pedagogues dictate for them because it "has always been done that way." School systems tend to crystalize. What was good for one generation is likely to be forced on many succeeding generations; and that is precisely what is happening now.

Duluth should study the Gary system with an open mind. It should let the forces of pedagogic conservatism serve only to prevent undue haste or jumping to conclusions. It should not permit these forces to blind it to a manifest duty, or to withhold from it benefits that it will demand when it discovers them to be benefits.

Now watch the new styles torpedo the masculine attention, though hardly without warning.

A REAL PEACE SUNDAY.

There is talk of having a "peace Sunday" in the churches to celebrate the fact that this country has emerged triumphantly from its controversy with an European belligerent, and has won the greatest victory of the war without firing a shot.

That's a splendid and most fitting idea, and it is highly proper that it should be the churches that carry it out.

What this country has done, through its president, is the greatest triumph of and for peace in a generation.

It annihilates the arguments of those who have declared that nothing of any consequence could be done in this world without the use of arms.

It is a triumph of the God of peace, and the deathknell of the God of battles—a monstrous, unthinkable anomaly that never existed except in the belief of some people.

"I remember," says a Duluth man who thinks, "going to church some fifteen years or so ago to hear praise sung because our God had licked the Spanish God. What a monstrous idea that is! That kind of God is dead; praise God that it is so."

It was the God of peace that brooded over this country's victory, through President Wilson—a God whose power in the hearts of men is broadening every day.

By all means there should be a peace Sunday—a real peace Sunday with a real occasion for it—to celebrate not only the fact that this country has won a great victory without war, but the fact that the God of battles is dead and that the God of peace has come into his own.

The main difference seems to be whether we sell them the goods on long-time credit without interest, or lend them the money to pay cash and we get interest on the amount.

Any American who joins an alien army must take an oath which automatically stops his American citizenship. When he comes back he must come as an immigrant. So until it is fully established that such a process does not bar a native-born from seeking the presidency, it is futile to urge Col. Roosevelt to go and take part in the war.

Ruminations

By F. W. Fitzpatrick.

An Intelligent Move.

A recent order of Secretary McAdoo's directs one of the most intelligent moves ever made by the treasury department in regard to public buildings that heretofore have been one of the main sources of supply tapped by the notorious and indecent "pork barrel" legislation. Heretofore public buildings were erected and were made to cost where, when and how much congress directed, each building project was voted on and made the subject of trade and barter by congressmen. Strangely perverted morals made it so that the congressman was envied and admired and lauded who could swing influence enough to secure a $50,000 building for every "tank" town or village of 300 people in his district. He, indeed, was giving his constituents ideal and profitable representation. That it was unseemly extravagance at the cost of the whole country, a species of graft on a par with spending millions in doing fool work upon rivers that never were nor never will be navigable, was lost sight of utterly. Public morals are queer things at best and congress generally but reflects them—intensifies them.

If Secretary McAdoo can make his order stick in the face of the congressional opposition it is bound to meet, he will not only have the supervising architect's office producing sane and adequate buildings but at a greatly accelerated speed and will also come very near to securing us the much-to-be-desired "budget" system of appropriations.

His order is that buildings shall be in classes according to the postal receipts of the places receiving new buildings. Instead of slapping down just as much of a building, however much more of it than justified by the business at that point, as the congressman can hypnotize out of the government, a city or town doing such and such a postal business, judged by the postal receipts, is entitled to so much building only, class A, B or C, and nothing more.

Further, the supervising architect's office is away behind with the work and costs much more than it should because heretofore every building had to be specially planned and laboriously detailed to its minutest requirement. It mattered little how much it might resemble some other postoffice, it had to be all done in painful detail. Secretary McAdoo directs that economy be exercised and time gained by duplicating buildings where practicable, simply using the plans of one building for several.

Architects make their buildings enough alike anyway, so that this move of the secretary's will not be any great crime even against the canons and ethics of high art. Why shouldn't the postoffice at Suchaburgh, Mo., be allke unto that that does duty very satisfactorily at Wheatvale, Minn., towns of the same size and postal importance?

A difference can be made in color of materials, one a buff brick, the other a gray, for instance, that would "take off the curse," so to speak, even to a person going direct from the one town to the other. Of course, discretion and good sense will be used in the matter and similar buildings will not be erected in nearby towns, and, too, due regard will be given to climate and to having buildings conform in general terms at least to the geographic and vicinal conditions.

Certainly a move in the right direction, and Mr. McAdoo deserves congratulations for having done the perfectly obvious thing to do, what has so often been suggested to the department, but that no predecessor of his ever had the courage to do.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinlus, the Sunshine Man.

There shall no evil befall thee.—Ps. lxii, 10.

Whoso hearkeneth unto Me shall dwell safely and shall be quiet from fear of evil.—Prov. i, 33.

I ask not, "Take away this weight of care;"
No, for that love I pray that all can bear,
And for the faith that whatso'er befall
Must needs be good, and for my profit prove,
Since from my Father's heart most rich in love,
And from His bounteous hands it cometh all.

—C. J. P. Spitta.

Be like the promontory, against which the waves continually break; but it stands firm, and tames the fury of the water around it. Unhappy am I, because this has happened to me? Not so, but happy am I, though this has happened to me, because I continuee free from pain, neither crushed by the present, nor fearing the future. Will then this which has happened prevent thee from being just, magnanimous, temperate, prudent, secure against inconsiderate opinions and falsehood? Remember, too, on every occasion which leads thee to vexation to apply this principle: that this is not a misfortune, but that to bear it nobly is good fortune.—Marcus Antoninus.

I Remember! I Remember!

I remember, I remember,
The house where I was born;
The little window where the sun
Came peeping in at morn.
You'd hardly know the old place now,
For dad is up to date,
And the farm is scientific
From the back lot to the gate.

The house and barn are lighted
With bright acetylene,
The engine in the laundry
Is run by gasoline.
We have silos, we have autos,
We have dynamos and things;
A telephone for gossip,
And a phonograph that sings.

The hired man has left us,
We miss his homely face;
A lot of college graduates
Are working in his place.
There's an engineer and fireman,
A chauffeur and a vet.,
'Lectrician and mechanic—
Oh, the farm's run right, you bet.

The little window where the sun
Came peeping in at morn
Now brightens up a bathroom
That cost a car of corn.
Our milkmaid is pneumatic
And she's sanitary, too;
But dad gets fifteen cents a quart
For milk that once brought two.

Some Consolation.

Kansas City Star: A teacher in one of the primary grades of the public school had noticed a striking platonic friendship that existed between Tommy and little Mary, two of her pupils.

Tommy was a bright enough youngster, but he wasn't disposed to prosecute his studies with much energy, and his teacher said that unless he stirred himself before the end of the year he wouldn't be promoted.

"You must study harder," she told him, "or you won't pass. How would you like to stay back in this class another year and have little Mary go ahead of you?"

"Aw," said Tommy, "I guess there'll be other little Marys."

No Mote in His Eye.

Kansas City Star: "What are you studying now?" asked Mrs. Johnson.

"We have taken up the subject of molecules," answered her son.

"I hope you will be very attentive and practice constantly," said the mother. "I tried to get your father to wear one, but he could not keep it in his eye."

Woman's Better Sense.

Detroit Free Press: Women do queer things, but we never knew one to tip a waiter all the change on the little silver plate just for the sake of appearances.

Sisters of Cassandra.

How could King Priam's warriors ever have endured the presence of Cassandra during the fabled siege of Troy? The doleful croakings of this prophetess of evil were surely calculated to steal away the courage of everyone who listened to them. The morale of the whole garrison must have been sensibly lowered. The wonder is that some stout hero, with urgent and brave deeds calling him, did not stop long enough in his labors to wring the lady's dismal neck, on the ground of abating a public nuisance.

In Paris recently influential women have formed the Society for the Suppression of Pessimists. The organization is designed to stop persons, malicious or otherwise, from spreading broadcast rumors of disasters and reverses to the French cause that have no foundation in fact. The women claim that such groundless rumors of disasters not only tend to affect those persons having relatives and friends at the front, but exert a depressing effect on the nation as a whole. By running down such stories to their source, and by restraining, through the courts if necessary, those who start them, these patriotic women hope to serve their country as truly as if fighting in the trenches.

The role of the discourager is so ungrateful and useless a one that it seems strange any can be content to fill it. Yet some otherwise decent people habitually act the part. They seem able to look on no side but the dark one. Their influence is in the direction of doubt and never of hope. Continually they rob us of courage and of ambition. We leave their presence with a lessened sense of our own powers and opportunities. Our burdens and difficulties seem heavier than before.

There are, perhaps, some of these "croakers" among your acquaintances. To croak, the dictionary tells us, is "to complain unreasonably; to make a harsh sound, like that of a frog, or raven, or person afflicted with extreme hoarseness." Hoarseness gets into the dispositions as well as into the voices of croakers. The fog is in their minds as well as in the atmosphere. They carry their clouds with them.

It is the privilege of anyone to be an encourager rather than a discourager. Neither great gifts, wealth nor social prominence, must be possessed before one may practice and preach optimism. To speak a kindly word, to add an impulse of courage to the spent or down-hearted is not only a Christian privilege, it is a Christian duty. The prophet Isaiah describes ideal conditions when he relates of a people: "They helped everyone his neighbor; and everyone said to his brother, Be of good courage." No wonder that every noble enterprise flourished when such a spirit prevailed!

Anyone conscious of settling into the mental mood of Cassandra should take himself or herself resolutely in hand. The habit of pessimism must be fought like any other bad habit. It makes an untold difference in the happiness and in the popularity of the individual whether he learns to look on the bright side, or is usually wrapped in gloomy forebodings.

It is not impossible for even a chronic pessimist to gain the better outlook. The spirit of gloom may be cast out if we make up our minds to do it. Let us turn with determined purpose to the brighter side of life. Let us heartily believe in the friendliness of a universe in which "all things work together for good to them that love God."

How It Happened.

Philadelphia Telegraph: Senator Clarence D. Clark of Wyoming smiled the other day when reference was made to the bright sayings of the kiddie folk. He said he was reminded of a small party named Jimmy.

One afternoon little Jimmy had been playing rather strenuously in the street and when he returned to his happy home he had an overheated look.

"Jimmy," exclaimed his mother on seeing the youngster, "come here a moment."

"Yes, ma'am," obeyed Jimmy, quickly hustling to his mother's side.

"What in the world have you been doing?" demanded the fond parent. "Your head is all perspiration."

"That's all right, mamma," was the indifferent response of Jimmy. "My roof leaks."

Rotund.

Louisville Herald: An elderly woman who was extremely stout was endeavoring to enter a street car when the conductor, noticing her difficulty, said to her:

"Try sideways, madam; try sideways."

The woman looked up breathlessly and said:

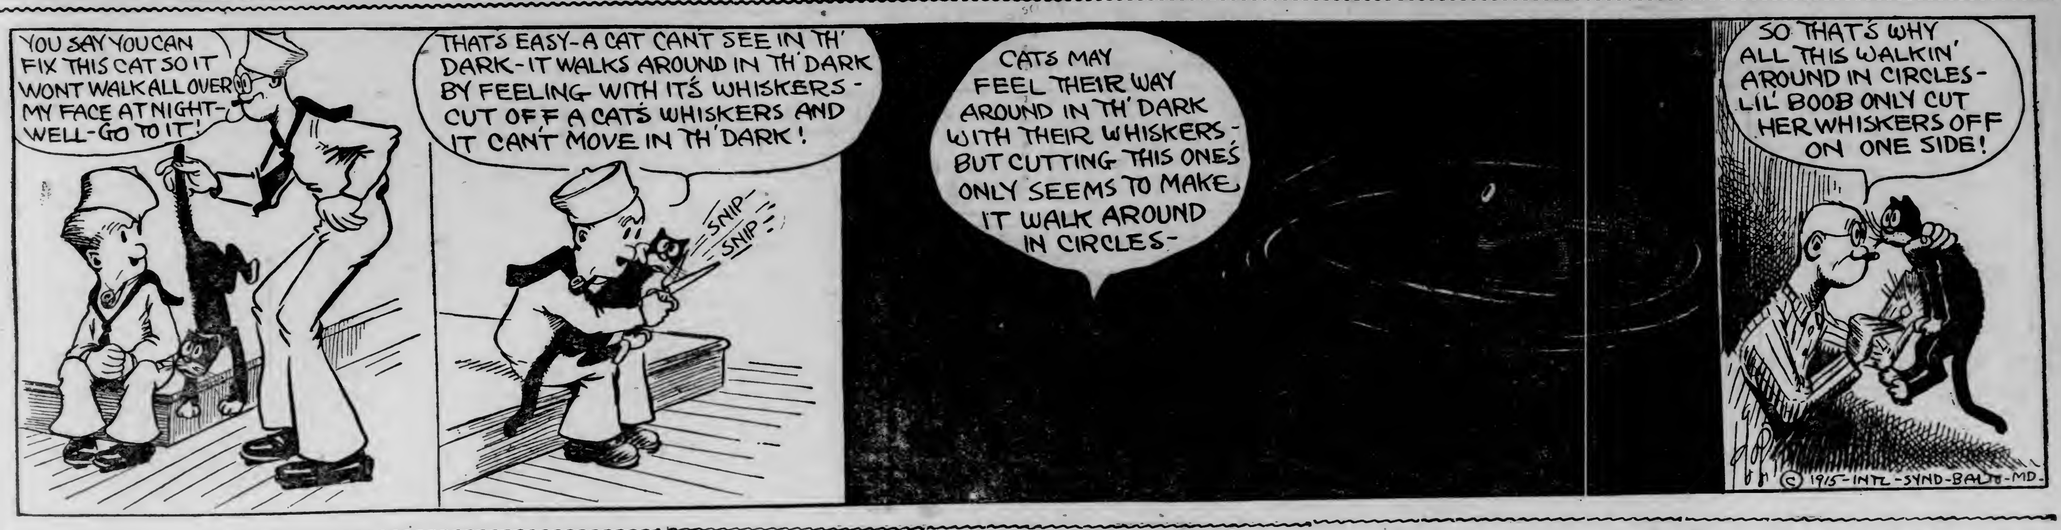

"Why, bless ye, I ain't got no sideways!"

Coincidence.

Chicago News: "Now, Tommy," said the teacher, "you may give an example of a coincidence."

"Why, er"—said Tommy, with some hesitation, "why—me fodder and mudder was both married on de same day."

DON'T GET EXCITED

By SAVOYARD

Washington, Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Col. Roosevelt, Senator Lodge, and Gussie Gardner, and many others, including some very great newspapers, are in a swivet about our military and naval "preparedness" for war with some foreign power or other, presumably Germany. The German empire is the most powerful military nation in the world, but at present she could visit no injury on us even if at war with us, and possibly that is the real reason we are not at war with Germany right now over the submarine squabble. At this moment Germany has on hand all the fighting she can do, and whether she emerges from the present war victor or vanquished, she will be in no fix to tackle the United States for a dozen years after peace shall come.

England is the only nation that could seriously injure us in a war, and there is little more danger of a war between the United States and England than there is of another war between the North and the South. Even in 1776 a majority of the people of England gave Washington moral and political aid. Edmund Burke kept up a friendly correspondence with Dr. Benjamin Franklin, and the earl of Chatham encouraged the colonies to resist their government to the bitter end. Charles James Fox, the most formidable parliamentary debater who ever spoke the English tongue, was a venomous "copperhead" during our war for independence and the entire Whig party was agreed with him.

And again in our war between the North and the South, an immense majority of the British people were for the Union. Had England harbored any guileful designs against us then was the time she could have ruined us. True, Gladstone, Palmerston, and Thomas Carlyle hoped the South would prevail. Possibly to these we may add Lord John Russell, then a prominent and a powerful statesman; but the queen, the prince consort, Derby, Disraeli and the great British public were for the Union. Henry Ward Beecher, Archbishop Hughes, and Thurlow Weed, who went to Europe to manufacture public opinion for the North, were everywhere hailed in Great Britain with enthusiasm, while Mason, Slidell, and Lamar were given the cold shoulder in London and in the provinces. True, we had to surrender Mason and Slidell; but that was on a point of honor, and Mr. Seward confessed that England was right and we wrong in that transaction. True, English interests sought to turn a thrifty penny fitting out the Alabama to prey on Northern commerce; but the fact remains that the British people were overwhelmingly for the American Union. Had they been for the South in the same ratio they were for the North, England would have interfered, broken the blockade, landed troops to reinforce Lee, and the Union would have been destroyed.

And so it is only truth to say that the great majority of the English people are and have been friends of the United States in a political sense all our national history. Then there is no occasion to "prepare" against England, and England is the only foreign power that can work us serious harm.

Just now England is fighting for political existence in the greatest war the world has ever known, and of course in such a conflict the innocent bystander is sure to get jostled and even hurt, just as the United States, when fighting for national existence in 1861-65, jostled and hurt England; but there is no danger of war resulting, and it is the very madness of folly to clamor for a navy strong enough to lick England's and an army strong enough to lick Germany's.

Suppose war with Germany should come over this submarine row. It would be a big piece of extravagance for us to raise an army of 1,000,000 men on that account. We would fight Germany commercially, so to speak. We would see to it that not a single cargo of American products went to Germany. We would confiscate all her numerous shipping in our ports. We would send commissions to neutral nations to see to it that our trade with them should be cut off entirely unless they took measures to prevent any of our goods, imported by them, getting to Germany, especially foodstuffs, cotton, copper, nickel, and other substances used for the manufacture of war material. Then we would open our strong box and lend the entente allies all the money they needed. About all the fighting we would do would be left to the navy, which would be dispatched to the Dardanelles to bear a hand there.

But at this reading it does not appear that there is serious danger of a war with Germany. If that war should come it will be of Germany's seeking. Wilson has held the country steadfastly in the middle of the big road of strict neutrality. What better evidence can there be of that than we see in the abuse of the administration by Col. Roosevelt for not challenging Germany and fighting her in behalf of Belgium and in the animadversions of the pro-Germans due to the failure of Wilson to take steps to lay an embargo on the exportation of munitions of war to the allies? Wilson's policy is to maintain as far as possible our neutral rights and the chances are that he will continue to do so to the end without resort to arms.

After the war is over will be plenty of time for us to "prepare" for the next one. All Europe will be a bankrupt and a cripple, and all mankind will have enough of war for a generation. This war is going to be fought to a finish. One side or the other will be completely prostrated before there is any peace.

Why not wait and see what we shall see? If the nations are not then tired of war, and set about preparation for another war, then it will be time enough to act, then we will have an immense advantage in our wealth, in our commerce, in our industries, and we can set about preparation with any of them.

Don't get excited. Keep your shirt on.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

The Appendix at Present

FASHIONS change from year to year in every line of human activity. Medicine and surgery are no exceptions. The appendix vermiformis at present is not in such bad odor as it was a decade ago. Surgeons are actually refraining from removing it in some cases of appendicitis.

It is abhorrent to our sense of decency to inflict statistics upon the anxious reader. And this is no subject for such figures, for, although the appendix is in better odor it is just as treacherous as it ever was in the palmiest days of fashionable appendicectomy. The motive of this philippic is simply to show that the pendulum is swinging back from the advanced position of immediate operation in every case diagnosed as appendicitis, to a more consistent position of watchful waiting.

Beyond the shadow of a doubt many unnecessary fatalities are caused by appendicitis without operation. At the same time hundreds of cases of acute appendicitis terminate in recovery without surgical intervention. But who is to say in advance whether a given case will pull through without a hypodermic of sterile steel at the right moment? Surely not the victim of the illness. As surely not the old fogy "yarb" doctor who doesn't believe in germs, surgery and such new-fangled things. Only a thoroughly trained physician or surgeon, or both, could be trusted to make this vital decision—that is, if it were our precious appendix at stake.

Under absolute rest in bed—and absolute rest means a trained nurse to do every little thing except breathe for you—and physiological splints for the alimentary canal—which means nothing taken into the stomach to start up peristaltic movement—for the first forty-eight hours, the average first attack of appendicitis is relieved. After recovery, if there is any reason to believe that the appendix has been damaged, or if any symptoms whatever remain, then is the ideal time to have a safe interval operation as a sort of life insurance against a second and always more dangerous attack. But this "interval operation" is a deplorably inadequate excuse to use for refusing to be speared when the doctor in attendance advises you to be opened, for a bad case may not reach an interval.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

When Castor Oil Is Anathema.

Mrs. H. J. W., a woman of firm convictions, writes: You are not an advocate of castor oil as a cathartic, I believe. Nevertheless we have warded off appendicitis by its prompt use on more than one occasion in our household.

Answer—If there is one occasion when this crude inheritance is anathema it is when there is suspicion or fear of acute appendicitis. Castor oil administered under such circumstances without the advice of a doctor has been the straw that turned the scales against recovery many a time and oft.

Explaining How It Was.

How was it, inquires another woman of mature age, that we never heard of appendicitis when we were young? Did the doctors discover the disease to take the place of "colds"?

Answer—Inflammation of the bowels laid under the green sod the poor wretch with appendicitis in the days before surgery. Now it is the fashion to get in and remove the festering appendix before the inflammation spreads all through the abdominal cavity and produces fatal peritonitis (inflammation of the bowels). As for "colds," show us a doctor who is content with such a diagnosis today and we'll show you some one who is taking life easy.

Dr. Brady will answer all questions pertaining to Health. If your question is of general interest it will be answered through these columns; if not it will be answered personally if stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. Dr. Brady will not prescribe for individual cases or make diagnoses. Address all letters to Dr. William Brady, care of The Herald. All questions will be answered, whether they come from people residing in Duluth or outside, provided they comply with the rules here stated.

THE FIGHT FOR BETTER HOMES

Movement Now Includes 188 Cities.

By JOHN IHLDER,
Field Secretary of National Housing Association.

(Exclusive Service of the Survey Press Bureau.)

Years ago Jacob Riis startled the country by his revelations of how the other half lived in New York. Due to these revelations and to the work of public-spirited citizens year after year, the other half lives better in New York today. New York did not like the revelations. It was inclined at first to call Jacob Riis a bad citizen. Later it changed the adjective to "best."

The rest of the country contented itself with exclaiming over New York's badness, and thanking Providence that it was different. But it wasn't different, except superficially. It had reason to be grateful that it did not have New York's tall tenements, solid rows of them mile after mile. But under different forms it had most of the things that made New York's tenements so bad. Philadelphia with its rows of little houses, Boston with its crowded north end, Chicago with its stockyard and West side districts only needed a Riis to point the finger of scorn at them. They did not have Riises, but they did have public-spirited citizens who began to understand and grapple with these conditions.

In Small Towns.

Then came the turn of the small cities and villages. They had thanked Providence that they were not as the big cities. But at last even small cities and villages are producing citizens who dare to look at their home conditions and say what they think.

Five years ago there were scarcely half a dozen American cities which realized they had a housing problem. Today there are 188 cities and towns which have awakened to the fact. Slums have been discovered wherever there has been an investigation. They are like weeds which grow wherever the farmers are shiftless. And no farmers ever were more shiftless than were our city builders, who seemed to think that city building was a case of everybody's business and consequently nobody's business. But that time is past in every section of the country—except the Rocky mountain states.

Bad housing has been recognized under all its disguises. In New England the wooden three-decker—the weed peculiar to that locality—is being fought. When the fight began, soon after the great Chelsea fire, the writer met an aggrieved builder of three-deckers. "This talk about fire hazard is all rot," he declared. "My family lives on the third floor of a three decker, and we are not afraid of fire." "Why did you choose the third floor?" I asked. "Because the light and air are good up there," he replied. And not until he had said it did he realize what he admitted. New England is beginning to realize that though the fire hazard is real and that though fires like those of Chelsea and Salem are spectacular, the constant, unrecorded losses to health, efficiency, morals which come through crowding families together in dark, airless rooms are much greater in total. So twenty-three towns and one city have already forbidden the erection of more three-deckers.

The Transplanted English Slum.

In the Middle Atlantic states bad housing takes the form of the English slum, closely packed little houses which fill nearly every foot of space within the blocks. Back yards are filled with double rows of tiny dwellings which can be reached only by means of archways under the street houses. There is no room in these little dwellings for proper sanitary appliances, so an outdoor toilet at the end of the passageway serves all families and one outdoor hydrant supplies all their water. In some of the older and most crowded sections of these cities there are large areas without sewers.

In the Middle West and the South, where land overcrowding has not yet developed to any such degree as it has in the Northern and Eastern cities there is bad housing under another disguise. The American wilderness was conquered by the rifle, the ax, the frying pan and the one-room cabin. The first two have gone out of general use, but the last two remain with us. The frying pan still works its will on digestions not fortified by a hardy life in the open. The one-room cabin still persists in the degenerate form of the board shanty in nearly all the states west of the Alleghanies—though even the Atlantic seaboard, which has not known the pioneer since the United States became a nation, has some of these reminders of him.

From Log Cabins to Flimsy Shanties.

In these shanties, flimsy boxes which lack everything that makes for decency and self-respect, live hundreds of thousands of Americans. Their children cannot escape the low standards of their environment. We have been told of the forlorn lives of the Southern mountaineers who live in log cabins. In the Southern cities and towns, and in those of Indiana, Ohio and Illinois, is an even greater population living in one, two and three-room board shanties. Poorly protected against the weather—for heat and cold have small respect for thin boards, they are crowded together on narrow, filthy streets and alleys and courts, instead of being scattered through the clean forests. Instead of pure spring water their supply comes from wells constantly liable to contamination.

The Southwest and the Pacific coasts are not free from bad housing. The corrals of Texas, the house courts of Southern California have already become well entrenched. And even the tenement or barrack dwelling has appeared. But it is in Northern California and further north that the tenement is the worst.

San Francisco rose from its ashes a city of wooden tenement houses. Its enthusiasts boast of it as the new Athens under the blue skies of a modern Greece. Its builders house people in dwellings from which no glimpse of blue sky may be seen. But in California there is a state commission on immigration and housing which is preparing for the expected immigrant tide by setting better standards for their dwellings.

In Los Angeles, and in some of the Texas cities, boards of health are demanding in the interest of the community that housing standards be raised. In some of the Southern cities there is progress. In the north-laws have been enacted, companies organized to build good, inexpensive dwellings. But all along the way there are practical problems. The experience of one city is needed to help another. A special opportunity for this interchange has been provided for the National Housing association has called a conference to be held in Minneapolis, Oct. 6-8, for those who are working to raise the standard the shoulders of others when all are to for American homes.

IN THE LITERARY WORLD

Very Palatable Sweetness.

MICHAEL O'HALLORAN. By Gene Stratton-Porter, author of "Freckles," "The Girl of the Limberlost," etc. Garden City, N. Y.: Doubleday, Page & Co. $1.35 net.

Morning: Get up early. Wash your face. Brush your clothes. Eat what was left from supper for breakfast. Put your bed to air and go out with your papers. Don't be afraid to offer them, or to do work of any sort you have strength for; but be deathly afraid to beg, to lie, or to steal, and if you starve, freeze, or die, never, never touch any kind of liquor.

Thus began the guide to life which orphaned Michael O'Halloran—whom we come to know more intimately as "Mickey"—found to be his sole inheritance from his dead mother; and this guide he is following when we meet him. This is just before he took over "Peaches," a crippled little girl whom he adopts and hides so that she shall not be taken to an orphans' home.

Mickey is an outstanding, bright, wise, keen, witty youngster—a wonderful boy—possibly too wonderful to be as true to nature as the flowers and birds that also figure in this tale of humanity and nature. This sunshiny child of "Sunshine Alley," in the slum of a great city, is the central figure in the story. But it isn't all about Mickey. There are Douglas Bruce and Leslie Winton, and the tangle of their love and Bruce's man-hunt for offending city officials; there are the sad, poor rich Minturns, and their hearts to be touched and opened; there are Peter and "Ma" Harding, whose warm hearts and delightful farm home open to take in Mickey and Peaches; there is "Junior" Harding, whose wistful ambition for city life is to be drilled out of him by Mickey, in return for which completely successful operation "Junior" puts Mickey through an appalling course of rural sprouts that nearly has a tragic ending; and there are other people.

And all of them are "nice." No matter how unnice they seem at first, when Mickey gets hold of them they turn out to be the nicest people in the world and some of them were dreadfully unhopeful cases, too, at first.

It is easy to criticize these tales, but what's the use? People read them eagerly in prodigious quantities, and it is easy to see why. They are throbbing with love—the love of nature and one's kind—and we'd a million times rather find the people with their hearts open to such influences as these than to find them merely learned in literary technique and skilled in cold-blooded literary dissection.

And if Mickey's miracles do strain credulity a little, through and above all is the charming intimacy of growing, living things and here the author is on sure ground.

The Other Side of the Fun.

THE INNER LAW. By Will N. Harben. New York: Harper & Bros. $1.35 net.

There was a hot strain of bad blood in the veins of Carter Crofton, a fine, upstanding young Atlantan inclined to poetry and letters and enabled to follow his inclinations by parental wealth. The men of his family—his grandfather, father, uncle and brother—had all distinguished themselves by riotous pursuit of women. But the flame had not burst out in Carter when he went to visit his uncle on his Georgia farm. But there was Lydia, a beautiful, ignorant child of a poor white family. He became interested in her, and started to teach her to read. They were both much alone, both young and healthy.

* * * * * * * * *

Carter returned suddenly to Atlanta, to find his father paying for his pleasures with paresis. The spectacle of his payment, fully described, isn't at all tempting to the pursuit of pleasure. Nor is the picture of the steady degeneration of Carter's brother Henry an alluring portrait of vice. And that is followed up by his uncle's revelation of the terrible story that made him a conscience-whipped miserable all the days of his life. Carter decided to "do the right thing" by Lydia, but the temptation of the gay and promising life ahead of him proved too much, and he went to Europe instead. There he wasted many years, returning a sour, brooding, morbid, self-lacerating specter of his former self. He was on the point of committing suicide when he met a fine young man who led him into the practice of doing things for others, and so to an unexpected development of the story.

Mr. Harben, in broadening his field from the Georgian rural district in which he is so much at home, has sought, apparently, to prove the truth of the good old saying, "be good and you'll be happy." Well, at least he has proved that if you aren't good you'll be punished, and that the worst punishment will be right within your own mind and soul. The story is somewhat melodramatic, somewhat morbid, somewhat preachy, often terrible; but it is tense and logical, and sensational enough to satisfy the most jaded taste.

A Pleasant Romance.

THE VALLEY ROAD. By Mary Hallock Foote, author of "John Bodewin's Testimony," etc. Boston and New York: Houghton Mifflin company. $1.35 net.

"John Bodewin's Testimony" was published in 1886—twenty-nine years ago. "The Led Horse Claim" preceded it by three years. Those who read these stories when they were new were young; now they are older, if not old. We don't know how the readers feel, but judging by this latest romance from Mrs. Foote her talent isn't a day older. If her novels are not read now as they once were, then this generation of readers is missing something fine and sweet and gentle and human. The story is about everyday people, and its progress is marked by pleasant old-fashioned leisureliness that is not at all without its vivifying incidents. A story that includes the outbreak of the war between Japan and Russia and a description of the San Francisco earthquake could scarcely be said to lack incident. Yet the chief interest of this most engaging book is in its refreshing picture of American family life and of the development of two captivating young people into healthy manhood and womanhood.

An Interesting Melodrama.

THE WAY OF THESE WOMEN. By E. Phillips Oppenheim, author of "The Vanished Messenger," etc. Boston: Little, Brown & Co. $1.35 net.

Abandoning for the moment the field of international intrigue in which he has occupied himself of late, Mr. Oppenheim returns to his old fashion of social melodrama in a story that, while technically not up to his recent standards, is certain to please his not too exacting audience—an audience that seeks thrills and sustained interest, not literary technique.

Lucille, the duchesse de Sayers, though French by name only, loved Jermyn Annerley with a passion truly Latin. When Sir Jermyn, a playwright, fell in love with Sybil Cluley, who acted his plays, she poked up the sluggish memory of the rakish Lord Lakenham, who vaguely recalled having met Sybil in some earlier period of her career, and who wasn't sure that she wasn't one of his innumerable conquests. Then, when Lakenham remembered, and his remembrance greatly alarmed Sybil, and, after Sybil and Lakenham had been together the latter was found murdered, she took advantage of the situation. Sybil thought Annerley had done the killing, and Annerley thought it was Sybil. The wicked Lucille forced Annerley to marry her by a threat to expose Sybil to the authorities unless he did. Meanwhile a great love still bound the actress and the playwright, and the successful villainess was left with an empty marriage ceremony to drive her almost mad.

The tale is ingeniously worked out, and will interest, even though the author violates the canons of melodrama by giving vice altogether too great a victory over virtue. The mystery is cleverly concealed till the right moment.

"Safety First" Stories.

SURE POP AND THE SAFETY SCOUTS. By Roy Rutherford Bailey, Yonkers, N. Y.: World Book company. 42 cents postpaid.

This book is the result of a decision by the executive committee of the National Safety council to put out a textbook on safety that would not only appeal to children, but would impress on their minds the "safety idea and habit." They secured the services of the author of the "Tickle-mouse Adventures," and the result proves the wisdom of their action.

Little Colonel Sure Pop appears in the very first chapter of the book, and the boy and girl to whom he talks are just like the boy and girl you are in the habit of seeing across the table from you at supper time.

Colonel Sure Pop is the first of the Safety Scouts, and he is an untiring and energetic little organizer. He points out the everyday dangers of life and how to avoid them, and all the time his story is in such form that children are bound to be interested.

The book would make admirable supplemental reading in public or private school work, and ought to be put within the reach of every boy and girl of the age of 10 or above.

THE ADVENTURE OF CHATTERER, THE RED SQUIRREL. By Thornton W. Burgess. Boston: Little, Brown & Co. 50 cents net.

THE ADVENTURES OF SAMMY JAY. By Thornton W. Burgess. Boston: Little, Brown & Co. 50 cents net.

Here are two more of the "Bedtime Story Books" by Burgess—additions to a series that would be hard to beat for little people's reading. They tell of the doings and adventures of the little creatures of forest and meadow, and Grandfather Frog, Danny Meadowmouse, Reddy Fox and others are found as companions to the old favorite, Peter Rabbit.

Mr. Burgess has hit upon one of the most unusual of combinations in his stories—interest, simplicity and wholesomeness. No child can defy their charm, and the lessons they teach are such as go to the making of an honorable man or woman.

No mention of the books would be complete without a tribute to the illustrations by Harrison Cady. They are bound to tickle the fancy not only of the little folks, but of their elders.

Practical Morals and Ethics For Boys.

THE SCOUT LAW IN PRACTICE. By Arthur A. Carey. Boston: Little, Brown & Co. 60 cents net.

Whether or not a boy is a "Scout," here is something that is bound to appeal to him more or less strongly. It is an exposition of the application of "Scout law" to everyday life. It takes up each principle in concrete, practical fashion, formulating from each a philosophy of daily conduct that is exceptionally worth while and exceptionally well put.

Chief Scout Executive James E. West of the Boy Scouts of America gives this indorsement to Mr. Carey's book:

In "The Scout Law in Practice" Mr. Carey has made a distinct contribution to the cause of scouting by making available to scout leaders his exposition of the scout oath and law. His keen interest in the character development of boys, his active participation in scouting in this country during the last five years, and the things for which he stands, make his interpretation a valuable aid to all interested in the development of boys' character.

To Boy Scout leaders the book would indeed seem invaluable. To parents and others to whom it falls to influence boys the book offers many suggestions that are decidedly worth while.

WILL CHANGE FARM SYSTEM

Ford Will Introduce Motor Tractor for Power Purpose.

New Invention Is Realization of Dream for Twenty Years.

Henry Ford, the largest automobile manufacturer in the world, has a new invention, which, he believes, will revolutionize farming in every part of the globe.

The invention is a motor farm tractor and is the result of a 20-year dream of the famous automobile manufacturer.

A description of the tractor from the New York Times, together with Mr. Ford's plans for its manufacture, follow:

"The Ford tractor, as it shortly will be introduced to the markets of the world, is a gangly-looking piece of machinery, and to a motor designer, with streamline effects in his brain, and body-finish and upholstery specifications crowding out the thought of the power under the hood, a first inspection of it brings to mind peculiar thoughts.

"Picture, if you can, a miniature traction engine, with a motor-car radiator, big, wide wheels, out of all proportion to the rest of the affair, with an arrangement of springs so simple that they are practically unnoticed, yet permitting the four-wheeled contraption to pass right over stumps, a chance harrow in its path, into marshes, over ditches, through gullies, and up the steepest declivities. Attached to it may be any of the many forms of farm machinery used in cultivation of the soil, it may be tamely tethered and used as a stump-puller; or, hooked up to any piece of machinery, be it cornshredder or a thrashing machine, it does its work uncomplainingly, just the same. That is what the Ford farm tractor is, and that is what it will be when it is introduced to the markets of the world.

"Efficiency, which has reached a high plane at the Ford motor works, has been the guiding motive in his designs for the tractor plant, the ground for which has been purchased. It is an irregular-shaped tract along the River Rouge, not far from the site of a shattered dream of industrial empire of twenty-five years ago, when Wyandotte, and not Pittsburgh it was hoped, was to be the center of the steel industry. The site was attracted to Mr. Ford for two reasons. It had all the natural advantages, and it was his play, hunting and fishing ground in boyhood.

"All the factory buildings, the shipyards, the turning-basin, and the tire factories for the motor works, which will be near the tractor plant, have been modeled in clay. Most of the buildings will be of one or two story construction, and three stories or higher will be the exception rather than the rule. Mr. Ford believes in plenty of daylight, and the architectural plan of the new buildings is along the same lines as the building at Long Island City, which the Ford Motor company now occupies as an assembling plant.

"Every man in the works, and there will be 20,000 employed within eighteen months, will receive a minimum wage of $5 a day. Tires for the Ford motor cars will be made there exclusively. An experimental tire plant within the present motor works has been operated for years, and it has been found that tires may be manufactured by Mr. Ford more cheaply than by purchasing them elsewhere. The Ford steamships to bring the ore from the Lake Superior beds to the docks along the River Rouge will be especially designed for traffic they must undertake. There will not be more than four or five of them."

thence to Newburgh and into New York. In those days there were no state roads along that course, nor along any of the routes for that matter, and very little macadam of any kind anywhere.

"The average speed of the 1907 run was 26.5 miles per hour, against 28.1 miles per hour obtained by the Packard. A marked feature of the Franklin performance at this speed was its freedom from delays on account of tire trouble, a single puncture being all that interfered.

"The history of the Chicago to New York record is an interesting one, dating back to 1903, when a twenty-four-horse power car established a mark of 76 hours. The same year the record was reduced to 72 hours. The record of 58 hours and 43 minutes set by Bert Holcomb in 1904, with a Columbia, stood until 1906, when Carris in a six-cylinder Franklin cut it to 56 hours and 58 minutes. In August, 1907, the record which has just been broken, was hung up by the Franklin."

FRANKLIN RECORD OF LONG STANDING

Mr. Peacha Compares That With Packard Claims.

"E. C. Patterson's record of 35 hours and 43 minutes from Chicago to New York in the Packard brings out the fact that the former record of 39 hours and 53 minutes set by the Franklin with a twenty-eight horsepower car has stood since August, 1907—eight years," says Joseph T. Peacha, Jr., local distributer.

"The route followed by the Franklin constituted 1,060 miles, 56 miles more than traveled by the present record holder. The most noticeable deviation from the route of 1907 was in Patterson's following the state road between Syracuse, Utica, Albany and New York, while Carris in the Franklin struck southeast from Syracuse to the Catskill mountains and Kingston,

THINKS KISSEL WILL SWEEP $1,000 FIELD

32-Four Invades the Lower Price Arena for First Time.

"The KisselKar 32-four is going to sweep the so-called thousand dollar field this year," says H. S. Daniels. He stated that his reasons for thinking so were based not only on the quality of the car, but on the fact that the Kissels for the first time have invaded the low priced field.

"As to the 42-six, it certainly was a good one last year and no changes have been made except in body styles and prices. The 36-four also is offered at a reduced price, but appears only in one touring body style—the two door corridor design which, by the way, was also an original Kissel conception.

"The three chassis models of pleasure cars are supplemented by a line of seven truck models ranging in carrying capacity from 1,000 to 12,000 pounds. KisselKar trucks are well known and popular and the small delivery model, the latest member of the line, is sure to have a great sale."

NEW MODELS SHIPPED DAILY TO BRANCHES

In addition to other shipments, Studebaker has adopted the plan of consigning two train loads of the new models each day to their branches, from which the cars are passed along to dealers.

Accordingly on last Monday two train loads of the new Studebaker models started, one for the Pacific coast and one for the Atlantic coast, for distribution among dealers tributary to those branches. Tuesday two more trains were under way for other branches, and on Wednesday another double train load was sent out, this program to continue until each branch house will have received its quota of cars.

The demand for 1916 models has been so great that, although working day and night, the enormous Studebaker plants at Detroit and South Bend have been unable to meet the situation.

ANITA KING MAKING CROSS COUNTRY RUN

The announced determination of little Anita King to drive her KisselKar across the continent alone and unattended, seemed on the face of it a very plucky feat to accomplish. There was considerable skepticism regarding Miss King's ability to accomplish what she had set out to do, more perhaps because of the fact that it was something new for a woman.

But if, for any reason, Miss King should fail, she still has hung up a record that will not soon be beaten—her drive from Los Angeles to San Francisco in seventeen hours and fifty-five minutes. This is a distance of 472 miles and some of the roads are exceedingly dangerous.

Among the larger cities along Miss King's route are Sacramento, Reno, Salt Lake City, Cheyenne, Omaha and Cedar Rapids. Arriving at Chicago, her schedule to New York will be arranged.

DULUTH-VIRGINIA ROUTE IS CHARTED FOR HERALD READERS

Another automobile route, with a complete road log, was prepared this week by the Duluth Automobile club, making the fifth mapped out during the last two months and published in The Herald.

The map and log road prepared this week give motorists a complete guide for a trip to Virginia, by way of Eveleth. The drive is 66.3 miles. The data was obtained by R. A. Hayes of the Goodrich touring bureau at the direction of Andrew Klenly, secretary of the Duluth Automobile club.

The road from here to Virginia is a good gravel highway and one of the best in the state. Its condition at present is better than ever, according to local motorists, who have made the trip.

0.0—Duluth. From Third avenue west, go west on Superior street.
1.2—Bear left, still upgrade.
1.6—Bear left on Miller Trunk road. (Route to Virginia via Biwabik goes straight here, on Rice Lake road).
2.4—Bear right with travel and left (2.5 miles).
3.0—Turn right around cement store, meet trolley.
3.2—Angle left at end of trolley.
15.1—Pass road on right.
15.3—Cross railroad.
16.7—Through cross roads.
16.8—Keep left at three forks.
19.8—Cross railroad and keep right. (Left fork to Floodwood, twenty-four miles).
23.0—Descend steep grade and cross iron bridge at Independence postoffice on right).
23.5—Angle right at irregular cross roads.
24.9—25.2 cross small iron bridge.
28.7—Canyon. Church on right; school on left.
39.1—Cross iron bridge.
40.8—Cross small iron bridge.
44.6—Cross railroad.
52.8—Cross bridge.
57.9—Lake St. Mary on left.
58.7—Brick cross railroad.
59.7—Bear left across small wood bridge; pass road on right.

60.6—Turn right on Grant street. (Station ahead on left).
60.7—Eveleth. First National bank on right.
61.0—Turn left off of pavement one block.
61.1—Turn right at end of street.
61.3—Bear right with travel and wires.
61.5—Bear left with wires.
63.8—Cross railroad.
64.5—Cross track; jog right and left on Virginia avenue.
65.3—Virginia. Chestnut street and Wyoming avenue.

CAR STARTED BY WIRELESS

Overland Put Into Motion Five Miles Away at Indiana Fair.

For the first time in the history of the automobile it has been demonstrated that a car can be started from a distance by means of the wireless telegraph.

This was proved at the Indiana state fair, where the motor of a model 83 Overland was started every five minutes by a wireless spark from the Overland headquarters in Indianapolis, five miles away.

A complete wireless outfit consisting of motor generator, transformer, relays and other paraphernalia was installed in the show windows of the city sales room. This was connected with an aerial on the roof of the building and by stepping the alternating current up from 110 volts to 16,000 volts the apparatus made it possible to send messages 300 miles.

The Overland car on exhibition at the fair grounds was fitted up with a receiving apparatus and the necessary automatic switches and relays for throwing on and off the electric current of the starter and magneto. An automatic switch was regulated so as to allow the car to run for forty-five seconds, after which the magneto was cut off. The operation of starting the car was repeated at five-minute intervals.

One of the most interesting features of the experiment was the fact that the entire operation of starting the car was accomplished without the aid of a human hand. A time switch, installed in connection with the wireless outfit in the city, controlled the entire operation. From the time Governor Ralston of Indiana put the car in operation the first time by touching a key at the sending station, until the last day of the fair, the starting and stopping of the car was taken care of automatically.

That the unique Overland exhibit at the fair attracted more than the usual attention was evidenced by the crowds of visitors who watched for the crackling spark, which was the signal for the car's motor to start going.

Fast Non-Stop Run.

A dispatch that has just reached here tells of a remarkable non-stop run by a Saxon roadster over Colorado roads. Setting out with Will Martin of Denver as driver and A. C. Newton, a newspaper man, as observer, this car averaged more than twenty miles per hour in 200 miles of non-stop running, thus winning a wager that it could successfully maintain this average.

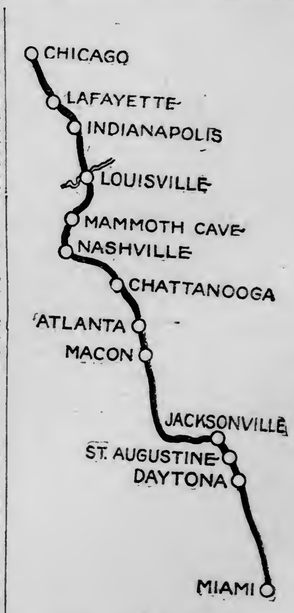

HERALD'S WEEKLY ROADS BUREAU AND BULLETIN

Under this heading The Duluth Herald is conducting a weekly column of information for automobile owners and drivers during the summer and fall months. If you are planning on taking a trip, write to the automobile department. All the information at our disposal is yours for the asking. Motorists outside of Minnesota are especially invited to make use of this department.

Duluthians planning long automobile tours this fall and coming winter, will do well to consider the new Dixie highway, which takes the motorist direct from Duluth to Miami, Fla., the southern terminus of the national road.

Although present plans bring the highway to Chicago, there is a movement on foot to extend it through to Superior and Duluth. From here the motorist can go through Superior, Spooner and Milwaukee, en route to Chicago. From the Wind City to the southern terminal at Miami, the highway is 1,600 miles. Detours are very few from the uncompleted plans of the Dixie roadway, while the hotel accommodations are good. The trip from Chicago to Miami will take about fourteen days, with stop-overs and side trips included.

The first day out of Chicago presents road conditions that are better than the average, with only a few bad sand stretches. Lafayette, Ind., is the logical stop for the first night. That makes the first day's mileage about 140 miles Indianapolis and Louisville are the next cities of importance.

DIXIE HIGHWAY, FROM CHICAGO TO MIAMI, FLA.

There are several short trips out of Chattanooga that invite the traveler in various directions. Atlanta, Macon and Jacksonville are next. The 300 miles from Atlanta to Jacksonville will require two days driving.

The drive down the Florida coast is one that can not be duplicated in this country. It leads through the heart of the fashionable winter resort country, and includes St. Augustine, Ormond Beach, Daytona, Rockledge, Fort Pierce, and Palm Beach, the most famous of them all. Peaceful Miami, with her white sand streets and sparkling blue bay, is the terminus of the tour.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Although the weather reports throughout the United States show an abnormal rain fall—in many instances the increase being more than 300 per cent—automobile touring has increased, over any previous year, for all sections of the country. The East continues to show the lion's share of cars from other sections, with New England maintaining its position in having cars displaying the license plates of nearly every state in the union.

Transcontinental touring also continues to grow in the number of cars en route. The various highway associations looking after the different routes have not let the weather discourage them and are continually at work repairing any damage to the roads caused by the rains. On some of them a patrol system is maintained and weekly bulletins issued showing exact conditions from point to point even where these conditions are not favorable.

"Fifty boys from the Connecticut reformatory are building a road between Milldale and the reformatory, and possibly will go on with the macadam in Cheshire," states E. Kent Hubbard of the board of directors of the reformatory to a representative of the National Committee on Prisons and Prison Labor. "We had a hard time getting the work started, as there was great opposition to it, but the board was determined to make the attempt and results to date promise success. When we began the work we expected that it would take six months, but now we look to see it finished in four."

Low Gear, Eveleth—What is the maximum speed allowed on highways in Minnesota?

Answer—Outside of cities, towns or villages, motorists are permitted to maintain a maximum speed of twenty-five miles an hour.

Some interesting road maps of short trips out of Superior have been prepared by officials of the Superior Automobile club.

PICKED UP ON "HIGH"

Being a Compilation of Happenings the Last Week Among Local Automobile Dealers and Motorists.

Duluthians, who have seen the show windows of the Interstate Auto company's new headquarters at 206 East Superior street, declare them to be the most attractive in the city. That they rank with any in the Northwest, is the general belief.

Striped curtains and draperies are used in the windows and on the rear wall, making an especially attractive setting for the new Franklin and KisselKar models. There is one car in each window.

FAIR PROVES BIG SUCCESS

Duluth Visitors at Lake County Show Marvel at Fine Displays.

Prize Winners in Livestock Displays at Fair Are Announced.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The ninth annual Lake county fair ended last night with the largest attendance since the fair opened Wednesday. During the entire afternoon and evening, with the exception of a short while at supper time, the buildings were crowded.

At 2 o'clock p. m. yesterday the Duluth special arrived and those who came on the train were given a royal welcome at the depot.

The Marine band met the train and led the procession to the fair grounds. Many were taken from the depot to the grounds by auto. It is estimated that about 200 Duluthians attended the fair yesterday, the most of this number making the trip by automobile. Duluthians expressed surprise upon seeing the wonderful agricultural display. Grains, vegetables and corn eight feet high and many other things which would open the eyes of those who did not know the agricultural value of Lake county soil.

The stock exhibitors were allowed to take their stock off the grounds at 6 o'clock last evening, but in all the other departments nothing was taken until about 10 o'clock.

Livestock Winners.

Horses—Best Frade stallion, James H. Lunz was the prize winner; brood mare, heavy draft, Charles Turnquist, first; Ernest E. Cavallin, second. Brood mare, light draft, Charles Wilkenson, first, Olof Nelson, second. Brood mare with colt, Charles Wilkenson; 2-year-old colt, C. V. Mayfield, first premium and August Tabor, second; 1-year-old colt, John Turnquist, first prize, and Louis Westerlund, second. Heavy draft team, James H. Lunz; light draft team Louis Westlund; best farmers' team, John Elkhart, Silver Creek, first; E. D. Anderson, second; driving horse, John Gustafson; saddle horse, W. L. Pearson.

Cattle—Holstein senior bull, William Cutliff, Drummond; Holstein junior bull, N. LaBounty, first; Archie Giddings, second; Holstein senior cow, C. V. Mayfield, first; William Cutliff, second; Holstein heifer, William Wade, first; William Cutliff, second; Guernsey senior bull, William Cable, first; Guernsey junior bull, Claus Carlson, first; Guernsey senior cow and junior heifer, William Cable, first; grade Guernsey senior cow, Andrew Johnson, first; John Gustafson, second; grade Guernsey heifer under 1 year old, William Cable, first; Christ Carlson, second; grade Guernsey heifer under 1 year old, Louis Westlund, first; Gust Anderson, second; grade Jersey senior cow over 2 years old, Mrs. Mary Johnson, first; Olof Nyquist, second; Alfred Johnson, third; grade Holstein senior cow over 2 years old, Mrs. John Ericson, first; Mrs. L. V. Anderson, second; Charles Wilkenson, third; grade Holstein cow under 2 years old, Charles Wilkenson, first; C. V. Mayfield, second.

Best Pure-Bred Herd.

The $25 prize for the best pure-bred herd was won by Cutliff Bros. of Drummond for Holsteins.

The first prize of $18 for the best grade herd on exhibition was won by John Elkhart of Silver Creek, and the second prize was won by Louis D. Rose.

In the swine department Garland McCoy, Archie Giddings, W. H. Rogers, W. J. Ungerford and Gust Strand carried off the first prizes.

In the sheep and goat department W. J. Ungerford took first prize for the best flock of sheep on exhibition. Gust Strand took first premium on pure-bred lambs and pure-bred ram.

Irene Olson won the premium for the best essay on the advantages of farming in Lake county and the agricultural possibilities of the soil.

TOWER STOPPING PLACE.

Rooms and Restaurant to Be Provided for Transients.

Tower, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—This city has been handicapped in the matter of taking care of visitors since the Vermilion hotel burned and the decision of Lofhotel burned and the decision of Lofgren & Olson to provide sleeping rooms and a restaurant is generally pleasing to the local people. That firm this week moved their stock of furniture from the second floor of their store building into the Fay building east of the store. Mr. Fay has vacated the garage, and the repair work will be done at the garage at the river. The storage of cars will be taken care of at that place also. The removal of the furniture has been made necessary by the decision of the firm to convert all of the second floor of the building into transient rooms and a restaurant.

Part of the building has been rented as furnished rooms to transients since the burning of the Vermilion hotel. The promoters have found it a lucrative business, and consequently decided to provide more room for the increasing demand. These are about the only steamheated rooms that the traveling public can secure and necessarily the few rooms did not supply the demand.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Olson will also vacate the apartments they have occupied in the building and are to remove to the M. E. Murphy cottage on North Third street. This will give the whole upper story of the building over to the rooming house and a small portion of it will be used as a restaurant.

Let Resinol Make Your Sick Skin Well

That itching, burning skin can be healed! The first use of resinol ointment seldom fails to give instant relief. With the help of resinol soap, this soothing, healing ointment usually clears away all traces of eczema, ringworm, rash or similar tormenting, sleep-preventing skin-diseases quickly and at little cost. Physicians have prescribed resinol ointment regularly for over twenty years, so you need not hesitate to use it freely. Sold by all druggists. For a sample free, write to Dept. 4-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

IS YOUR TOILET SOAP SAFE?

Many toilet soaps contain harsh, injurious alkali. Resinol soap contains absolutely no free alkali, and to it is added the resinol medication. This gives it soothing, healing properties which clear the complexion, comfort tender skins and keep the hair healthy.

MESABA RANGE IS REGULAR PARADISE

Conditions Way Ahead of That Found By Mining Man in Tennessee.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—H. E. Abell, for fifteen years a steam shovel engineer at Stevenson, has just returned from Eastern Tennessee, where he spent the last month assisting the Embree Iron company in perfecting their steam shovel organization. Mr. Abell found the conditions in Eastern Tennessee mining such that the Mesaba range looks like the best place on earth to him, he declares.

The Embree Iron company employs about 700 men and it is mining ore under very primitive conditions, with labor of a very inferior class. The ores lies in ribs on the mountain side and its formation is such that it appears to have slid down the mountain to its present position. It is not found in large bodies but a layer of a few feet in thickness will be underlaid with clay. The ore is of a low grade, 50 per cent ore being very exceptional. Most of it runs from 35 to 40 and is treated in log washing mills before it can be marketed.

Schools Very Poor.

All of the workmen employed are Americans—"poor white trash." They have been there for a hundred years and few of them can read or write. There is not a country school in Minnesota, Mr. Abell declares, so poorly equipped as the schools in these Eastern Tennessee mining districts. A man completes his college course when he learns how to tote a gun—and he matriculates at a very early age.

The wages paid make the Mesaba range seem a paradise. A large portion of the common labor is done by boys of 16 to 18 years of age. They receive $1.25 a day. Men get $1.50. Skilled labor commands $2. The foreman of the washing plant is paid $3 per day.

The mining is all open-pit mining but has been done for a long time under primitive conditions. The Embree Iron company is now making an attempt to introduce modern machinery and modern methods.

The roads are very poor and none of them are passable for an auto after a rain. There is no civic organization whatever and taxes do not bother the mining companies for there are no "local" taxes at all. The mining company owns practically everything in the community.

Recently considerable zinc has been discovered with the iron and about a carload of zinc is being shipped by the Embree Iron company daily in addition to its iron ore output.

ITASCA COUNTY FAIR WILL BE NEXT WEEK

Everything Indicates That This Year's Show Will Be Good One.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Everything is in readiness for the Itasca county fair to be held at the fair grounds here on Sept. 22, 23 and 24.

The stock exhibit will be the best ever shown at a county fair, according to Secretary Sisler. Judging from the number of inquiries being made in regard to the stock exhibit regulations.

Not only is there more and better stock in the county, but there is a better, more patriotic spirit, a spirit of pride in the ownership of good stock, which will bring out most of what is worth showing.

The program of attractions aside from the showing of stock, farm products and fancy and household goods and school work, promises to be most interesting. The committee in charge promises to keep something doing all the time.

Nashwauk-Keewatin Band.

The Nashwauk-Keewatin high school band will furnish the music. The band consists of about twenty-four pieces, being the pick of a squad of fifty-five from which only the very best will be taken. This band is sent over to advertise the villages of Nashwauk and Keewatin. Among the other attractions will be the fast harness races the last two days, the runing races, farmers' trotting races, baseball game between Grand Rapids and Deer River, tug of war between the patrons of the Deer River and Bovey creameries, big motorcycle races, relay races between the best sprinters of the villages of Grand Rapids, Coleraine and Deer River, and numerous other features.

MATHER SHOWS LANDS.

Duluthian Brings Possible Purchasers Into Deer River Section.

Deer River, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—O. L. Mather of Duluth was here this week showing some of his land to prospective purchasers. He had with him L. W. Carpenter and J. Spooner of Tama, Iowa. The party, accompanied by Ed Chill, went out into the north country, making around Jesse lake and Spring lake and back by auto in one day. Mr. Mather, who was one of the early settlers of Grand Rapids.

The boys and girls of Deer River who are attending various colleges, and those who are out teaching have all left. Frank Loisel who is attending the state university left the first of the month, and also at Minneapolis is Miss Stella Martineau, who is to teach in the city schools of the Mill City. Jack Blackhurst returned for his third term at Hamline university, and Stafford King enters his third term at the state university, while Arthur Baker enters this year for his second term. New Deer River students at the Hamline university are Dorothy Beall and Mary Williams, last year's graduates.

At the Methodist church tomorrow morning Pastor J. Blackhurst will have for the subject of his morning sermon, "The Discouraged Prophet." The subject for the evening service will be "Balaam the Soothsayer."

The ladies of the Methodist church will be entertained Wednesday afternoon next by Mrs. Al Jaynes and Mrs. T. A. Brown.

Sidney Argetsinger of Bigfork made proof of his homestead claim at the Cass Lake land office Wednesday, having with him as witnesses George Rouse and Mike Knudson.

G. E. Scott, the Leech river club house proprietor, was in the village this week.

Mrs. W. A. Ryan who has been spending the past two months at different points in Michigan visiting relatives, returned Thursday.

M. J. Thornton, chief forest ranger of this district of the state forestry department, has been enjoying a lay off for three weeks and went to Duluth to remain four days to finish up his vacation. Owing to a short appropriation made by the legislature the department has had to let off a number of the men, their time off ranging from twenty days to four months.

SALOON'S FINAL DAY IN WESTERN MESABA

Itasca County Will Soon Be Largely Dry By Government Orders.

Coleraine, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—This is the last day for the open saloons in Coleraine and Bovey. Deer River, Cohasset and Grand Rapids have already been closed and have become adjusted to the new conditions. It will only be a short time until Itasca will practically be "dry" territory without the expense and excitement of a county option fight as all of the villages of Itasca county are within the Indian treaty territory.

Coleraine has had only two saloons since a mining camp was located here ten years ago. It is reported that these have not been well paying business places.

Next Monday all saloons in the Canisteo mining district must close by the order of the Federal government.

COHASSET NEWS NOTES.

Former Depot Agent Weds Grand Rapids High School Graduate.

Cohasset, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Announcement has been received here of the marriage of Miss Vivian Cochran to Herbert Finney, both formerly of this city, at the Methodist Episcopal parsonage at Hibbing, Rev. R. N. Adair officiating. The bride graduated from the Grand Rapids high school this spring, attended summer school during August and was given a position near Coleraine. Mr. Finney was formerly employed in the Cohasset depot.

Mrs. G. A. Williams will entertain the altar society next Thursday.

The M. E. ladies' aid was entertained by Mrs. Fred Hursh of South Cohasset Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gary left Friday for Minneapolis, where they will make their home. They have been spending the summer with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Gary and were married there about a month ago.

HARRIS COMMUNITY FAIR

Settlement Near Grand Rapids Planning on Making Fine Showing.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald)—The community fair of the town of Harris, to be held at the Harris town hall Monday, promises to be one of the best of the rural community events of the kind to be held this fall. There is much enthusiasm among the Harris people, who want to make as good a showing as possible.

The fair is being held to assemble material for the township exhibit at the county fair here next week. Small premiums will be offered for the winning articles, and it is understood that these may be used as a part of the township exhibit. A special prize of $1 is offered to the exhibitor having the largest number of articles exhibited. W. J. Corwin will judge the exhibits.

LARGE POTATO YIELD.

New Farmers Near Cohasset Get About 200 Bushels Per Acre.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald)—Grober Bros., who have a large farm west of Cohasset, during the past week dug a couple of car loads of potatoes, which they have been disposing of on the market for the nearby towns. They report a yield of about 200 bushels per acre, and the prices they are getting are about 40 cents net. The Grobers have been farming their place only about a year, coming from California about a year ago. Last spring they put in about eighteen acres of spuds "just to try them." The patch should yield close to nine or ten cars, and G. A. Grober states that if they can market the potatoes as well as they have the two cars they have already sold, they will figure that the trial was a profitable one.

BOVEY MAN GIVEN STATE FARM WORK

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald)—Martin Christiansen of Bovey has been awarded the contract for the construction of the addition to the farmhouse at the state fair, and the large machinery shed which is being built at the farm. Work has started and is progressing nicely.

The contract for the root cellar has not yet been let, and Supt. Bergh is getting anxious for fear that the new root cellar will not be ready for the potato and other root crops.

BERGH WILL REPORT ON PEAT EXPERIMENT

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald)—Supt. Bergh left Friday for Detroit, Mich., to attend the annual meeting of the American Poet society, where he will make a report on the experiments which are being conducted on peat or bog lands on the state farm.

Sunday School Meeting.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 18.—The annual convention of the Itasca County Sunday School association will be held in the First Methodist church next Friday and Saturday. Mrs. Jean E. Hobart of St. Paul and other representatives of the State Sunday School association will be present. The residents of Grand Rapids will furnish lodging and breakfast to the delegates.

The officers of the county organization are Hart Geninger, president; and Miss Eleanor Hitchcock, secretary.

TO OPEN TOWER BANK.

Expectation Is New Concern Will Be Ready Sept. 20.

Tower, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Stanley Douglas has arrived from Marine, Minn., to assist in getting the new Merchants & Miners State bank in operation. Joseph A. Quinn, a local attorney, will be cashier, and Mr. Douglas will assist Mr. Quinn, to whom the work is new. N. C. Smith, who has solicited the stock sales is in the city, to remain a couple weeks looking after the bank interests and incidentally enjoying a few days' duck hunting on Lake Vermilion. The fixtures, with the exception of the safe and the vault door, have arrived and are in position. The articles missing are looked for daily, and it is hoped to have the place ready for business by Sept. 20.

UNKNOWN MAN KILLED.

Steps Before Passenger Train at Hibbing as If Courting Death.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—An unknown man, believed to be of Finnish nationality, was struck by the incoming Missabe passenger train, shortly after 7 o'clock last evening, and so seriously injured that he died immediately after being hurried to the Rood hospital. The accident took place just opposite the Standard Oil plant, not more than a quarter of a mile from the Hibbing depot.

A small time book was found on the body; also a piece of a Finnish newspaper. The latter had printed across it the name of Hjalmar Hill, which may or may not be the dead man's name. The time book contains no dates, but shows that its owner had worked for the Swan River Logging company.

The man was dressed as a laborer, was quite gray, somewhat bald and was apparently about 60 years of age.

He stepped on to the track not twenty feet in front of the engine facing the on-coming train in a crouching position. Whether he intended suicide or was simply confused or intoxicated is, of course, a matter of speculation.

VIRGINIA PERSONALS.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald)—J. Rutz and family of Aurora are here attending the Yom Kippur services at the Bhai Abraham synogogue.

Miss Agnes Lundgren is confined to her home on Cherry street owing to illness.

Miss Mildred Smith of Birch street was an Eveleth visitor last evening.

B. F. Botsford of the Pickands-Mather company, with headquarters at Biwabik, motored here Friday afternoon.

Gets Keewatin Contract.

Hill City, Minn., Sept. 18.—A contract to furnish 200,000 lineal feet of tamarack for mining timber has just been secured by Fred Fisher from the Keewatin Mining company. Mr. Fisher stated that his crews would start immediately getting out the timber to fill this contract.

Clear River of Logs.

Tower, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local boat men were busy Thursday clearing East Two river of sunken logs. The water is very low, and the larger craft could no longer make the trip up the river without encountering the sunken logs on the bottom. This condition was especially aggravated at the mouth of the river, more than one boat having been put out of commission at that point.

TWO HARBORS OLD RESIDENT CALLED

Death Ends Suffering of Mrs. Mathews After Long Illness.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald)—Mrs. A. Mathews, aged 66 years, an old resident, died at the Mathews home on Poplar street last evening at 8 o'clock after a long and lingering illness of over two years. She was the wife of A. Mathews, a real estate dealer, and was a member of the First Presbyterian church, having always been very active in church work.

Relatives elsewhere are expected to arrive here for the funeral, which will be held Monday afternoon from the First Presbyterian church. Rev. Mr. Sherwin will officiate and interment will be made in the Two Harbors cemetery. Besides a husband she leave a son, R. B. Elliot, of this city.

NIGHT SCHOOLS ARE LIKED IN HIBBING

Village and Local Institutions Are Steadily Gaining in Attendance.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The night school, the enrollment which was expected at the opening two weeks ago, to reach 700 during the season, is already close to the 500 mark. The enrollment last night in town was over 250 with better than 200 enrolled at the location schools.

Last year the night school idea was extended to several locations with good success.

This year a night school has thus far been organized at seven different locations: Alice, Brooklyn, Kitzville, Pool, Leetonia, Maple Hill and Little Swan. The Stevenson night school, which was large last year, has not been organized this year thus far owing to the complete shut down of mining operations at Stevenson.

Grown in Popularity.

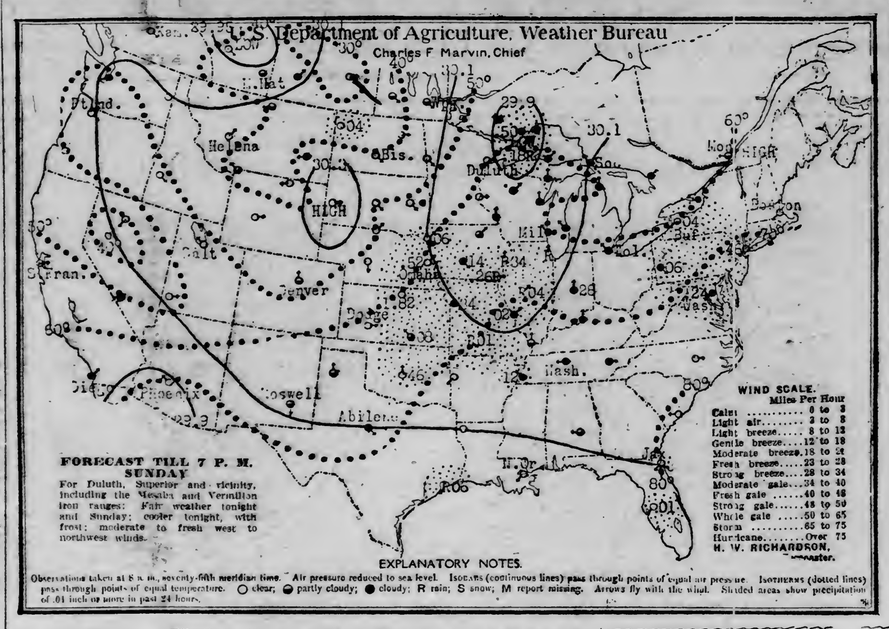

The night school has steadily grown in popularity in Hibbing and it promises to be a larger factor than ever in education here this season.

Classes are being offered in any subject whatever for which there is a sufficient demand. A notable instance is the organization of a class in printing, made up almost entirely of employes of the various Hibbing printing offices.

Aurora Church Banquet.

Aurora, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—A banquet was served last night by the Methodist church board to over 100 Aurora people. The work of the church and the affiliated organizations during the past was reviewed and the aims for the future were outlined. A splendid musical program was rendered and Rev. John W. Schonck, the local pastor, and Rev. Mr. Sidd of Chisholm made addresses.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

FAIR

Whether it endures or not, the weather furnished today is of the perfect fall kind that Duluth is accustomed to. It is warm, but not too much so, and the sunshine together with the bracing air, makes outdoor work or pleasure delightful. The prediction is for much the same tomorrow but with cool weather and frost tonight.

A year ago today was cloudy and cool. The sun rose this morning at 5:50 and will set this evening at 6:15, giving twelve hours and twenty-five minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Hot weather continues in Atlantic states. The temperature has fallen somewhat over the Ohio Valley states and the Northwest and has risen over the Upper Mississippi valley and Western Lake Superior. Frost is likely tonight over Northeastern Minnesota and Northern Wisconsin. Showers fell during Friday or last night over portions of the Lake Superior region, the Ohio, Middle Mississippi and Lower Missouri Valley states, New York, Pennsylvania, District of Columbia, Virginia, Southern Florida, Southeastern Texas and the northern portions of Saskatchewan and Alberta. Heavy rain at Concordia, Kan."

GRAND JURY ENDS IN ITASCA COUNTY

Some More Indictments Are Reported By Inquisitors.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The grand jury reported some additional indictments about 4 p. m. yesterday and adjourned.

The jury returned an indictment against Tony Mazza for assault in the second degree. Mazza is charged with having, on July 22, assaulted a companion, Tony Morzenti, with a club and chased him into a neighbor's house. He pleaded not guilty. A true bill was found against William Papas, James and Dennis Johnvaris and Anton Gligar, assault in the second degree. They are charged with having, on Sept. 6, attacked George Cochran with shovels, picks and spike mauls. It is claimed that the men resented the discharging of one of their number, hence the alleged attack. They were arraigned, but have not yet pleaded.

Gust Voit was arrested for assault in the first degree. He is accused of having, on May 3 last, sent a piece of poisoned cake to his step-mother, Mrs. Emma Voight, with the intent of poisoning her to death. This is the most serious case on the criminal docket at the present term.

Petit Jury Cases.

The case of F. A. Brusewitz vs. Town of Wirt, involving a road contract on which it was claimed $4,000 is due, which has been on trial in the district court since Thursday, went to the jury at about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The jury found for the plaintiff for $416.98.

The case of John Warra vs. Jalmer Helmo was ther taken up. This involved the rental of a building in Nashwauk. The case was concluded, the jury finding for the plaintiff for $45.25.

IRON RANGE ROAD OFFERS FREE SITE

Location for Proposed Tower Fish Hatchery Is Now Assured.

Tower, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The proposed state fish hatchery here, which has been delayed in construction, although the state appropriated $2,500 for the structure, because of inability to get a site at a reasonable figure, now seems assured as General Passenger Agent H. Johnson of the Iron Range railroad this week offered a site on East Two Rivers for ninety-nine years free of charge and it is expected the state will accept it.

This offer became known at the Commercial club meeting Wednesday evening when much business for the good of Tower was considered. Secretary G. C. Carlson of the club was directed to notify Carlos Avery of the state game and fish commission of the liberal offer. The site is considered ideal and is inside the city limits. Avery will be asked to come here at once and look it over.

Want Dam Built.

A committee of five members was selected to go to Vermilion dam to look over conditions relative to the proposed dam: Joseph A. Quinn, J. D. Murphy, Axel Lofgren, G. C. Carlson and J. B. Myer. Some time ago County Commissioner U. S. Grant McMahon got out material for the construction of the dam, but when Road Foreman Nick Nelson, who was to have charge of the work of building the dam had started to get the work under way, some objections had been raised as to its placing, and consequently the work was called off.

The Commercial club instructed the secretary to tender a vote of thanks to the Duluth & Iron Range railroad officials for their interest in advertising Lake Vermilion, the sowing of wild rice in it, and many other things they have done to better lake conditions.

TWO HARBORS WILL HAVE FOOTBALL SQUAD

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald)—A meeting was held at the Y. M. C. A. last evening of football fans, and it was decided to put a team in the field. Russell Rose was elected manager and Harry Johnson captain. The management has already started negotiations with the Duluth Central high school for a game to be played in Duluth either on Oct. 2 or 9. The following are the candidates for the team: Bob McCurdy, McLaughlin, George Coleman, A. Dalstrom, Art Christensen, Harry Freeman, Archie Peglow, Filiatrault, Ted Sullivan, Matt McCurdy, Harry Johnson, captain; Alex Johnson and Bud Ginter.

EVELETH PERSONALS.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—C. A. Perham was taken to the More hospital Wednesday suffering from an attack of appendicitis.

R. G. Murray, captain of Company F, Third infantry, M. N. G., left last Thursday for New Ulm to attend a meeting of the commanding officers of the Minnesota militia companies.

Israel Ohman has returned from Fergus Falls, where he attended to business matters connected with the S. H. & E. F. lodge of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell of Centerville, Iowa, are visiting their daughter, Mrs. H. J. Schultz.

E. J. Kane has returned from a trip to the Twin Cities, where he attended the auto race and the state fair.

George Dormer of this city and Frank Webb of Duluth have gone to Badger, Roseau county, to hunt prairie chickens.

J. Hultquist moved his family to Virginia. Mr. Hultquist has been with the firm of Boylan & Co. at Virginia since the first of the year.

Harold Mitchell is spending a two weeks' vacation in Michigan.

Miss Mary Donovan has gone to St. Cloud to attend the normal school.

COURT SCORES MAN SEEKING CITIZENSHIP

Gilbert Party Shows Lamentable Ignorance of Country.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Hughes read a lecture in district court today to an Austrian from Gilbert, who sought citizenship papers because the applicant was quite ignorant of our form of government. He did not know who was vice president of the United States or who would be president if the president and vice president were incapacitated. He was a blank on simpler subjects. The man has been in the country since 1912, and the court told him he should have availed himself of night school. He was told to go home and study for a year, then come back.

Others Turned Down.

Another applicant was turned down because he had been convicted of violating the liquor laws. A third was refused the boon because he had sought to renew an application for a foreign military permit. There were eighty-seven applications in all. Immigration Ispector Doe was on hand and questioned the applicants. The indications are that more than the three will fail before the day is over, as the government is making its requirements pretty strict.

BEGIN PROCEEDINGS AGAINST SQUATTERS

State Will Eject Two Who Are on School Lands Near Hibbing.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Attorney General Smith today instituted ejectment proceedings against Herman Korpi and Gas Latner, who have squatted on state school lands in the vicinity of Hibbing. The men have refused to obey the orders of State Auditor Preus to move.

According to the state legal department the two men squatted on the ground some years ago and have been creating considerable trouble by suggesting to near neighbors who are also squatters, that they defy the state and stay where they are.

VIRGINIA FARMERS' DAY BIG SUCCESS

Fine Display of Products of That Section Are Made.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the soil around Virginia is very fertile is evidenced by the splendid display of farm and garden produce made here at the Farmer day show today in the Curling rink. Farmers from as far north as Cook brought their products here to compete for the prizes offered. The judging was started this afternoon. The visitors are being well entertained and there are many here. A. B. Hostetter and County Agent Larson of Duluth will speak as will Lieut. Gov. Burnquist.

Commercial Club Smoker.

Tonight at Elks hall the Commercial club will have a smoker to celebrate the successful membership campaign and Lieut. Gov. Burnquist, President Murphy of the Commercial club and others will speak. The club gained over 150 members, making the membership close to 600, and it is now one of the largest of such organizations in Northern Minnesota.

ELY JOTTINGS.

Ely, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Paul Dahl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Dahl fell from a load of gravel at the sand pit and severely sprained his ankle. The wagon also went over his hip and he received several bruises on the head.

Anna Friedsburg left Friday for St. Paul to train to become a nurse. She will enter one of the sanatoriums at that place, where she will remain three years.

Mrs. C. D. Stillman left for River Falls, Wis., Thursday after spending the summer with her parents in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Fenske left for Mount Clemens for a month's visit with friends and relatives.

W. C. Buck, consulting engineer, was in the city the last of the week on business.

The ladies of the M. E. church held a pastry supper Friday evening at which there were many people.

Joseph Gerzin left Friday for Duluth, where he will spend a few days on business.

Mrs. J. Goldsworthy is spending a few days at Duluth.

RUSS OFFICERS HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

New York, Sept. 18.—Gen. Saposhnikov and Col. Joukowski, both of the ordnance department of the Russian army, were injured today when a big touring car bearing them and T. A. Gillespie, president of the Gillespie Powder company, and F. W. Williams, its vice president, crashed into a telegraph pole near Sayreville, N. J. The car was damaged badly, and the occupants were thrown into the road.

The Russian officers, who were detailed early in the war to inspect American manufactured munitions to be sent to Russia, were on their way from New York to the Gillespie plant at Parlin, N. J., when the chauffeur ran the machine into the pole to avoid a crowd of children playing in the road.

Gen. Saposhnikov suffered a cut on the head that required several stitches, and Col. Joukowski received cuts on the face and hands. The others escaped with bruises.

Rob Pool Room Inmates.

Spiritwood, N. D., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sixteen men in the Foster pool hall in this city were held up by four gunmen and robbed. Guarding the doors and lining the men up against one side of the room, the robbers searched each victim thoroughly, then escaped.

DRAMA | VAUDEVILLE | MOTION PICTURES

COMMENT ON PLAYS AND PLAYERS — WHAT THE PRESS AGENTS PROMISE

SCENE FROM "ON TRIAL" COMING TO THE LYCEUM. FISKE O'HARA COMING TO THE LYCEUM. SCENE FROM "SEPTEMBER MORN" COMING TO THE LYCEUM.

DULUTH'S "season" is about to open. Sunday Fiske O'Hara will be at the Lyceum for three performances, and he will be followed by the first musical comedy, "September Morn." The following week Duluth will get its first glimpse of "On Trial" which will remain for an entire week at the Lyceum.

Some excellent attractions are in prospect. They include: William H. Crane and an all star cast in "The New Henrietta," Ruth St. Denis, "Daddy Long Legs," "Twin Beds," "High Jinks" and Forbes-Robertson in his farewell tour. Early in the new year there will be a season of grand opera by that excellent organization, the San Carlo Opera company.

Monday the Orpheum-Strand will open its doors as a high class motion picture theater, playing big feature films, and with an excellent orchestra.

Meanwhile the New Grand continues to prosper with popular priced vaudeville, and the Rex, Zelda and Sunbeam theaters are well patronized by motion picture fans.

Duluthians who have complained of the quality of one-act plays presented in vaudeville, will have an opportunity to show what they can do. The Drama league has offered a prize of $50 for the best one-act play written by a member of the league. As the league is by no means an exclusive organization, this means that any Duluthian who is interested may compete. The rules of the competition were published in The Herald Wednesday evening. The best plays submitted will be presented at the Little theater and the audience will choose the winner. The contest should disclose any play writing ability Duluth has concealed.

New plays presented during the present week, follow:

"Hit-the-Trail Holliday."—A new American farce by George M. Cohan, from an idea suggested by George Middleton and Guy Bolton, with Fred Niblo in the principal role.

Ned Wayburn's "Town Topics."—The first of a series of musical reviews.

"Grumpy."—A brief engagement, with Cyril Maude in his famous characterization in the comedy by Horace Hodges and T. Wigney Percyval.

The list of attractions now running in New York includes:

"Ziegfeld Follies," June 21; "The Girl Who Smiles," Aug. 9; "The Boomerang," Aug. 10; "Under Fire," Aug. 12; "Some Baby!" Aug. 16; "Chin-Chin" (second year), Aug. 16; "Rolling Stones," Aug. 17; "No. 33 Washington Square," Aug. 23; "Common Clay," Aug. 26; "Cousin Lucy," Aug. 27; "Young America," Aug. 28; "The House of Glass," Sept. 1; "Ein Ritterspiel," Sept. 1; "Duke of Killicrankie—Rosalind," Sept. 6.

FISKE O'HARA IN "KILKENNY"

Popular Irish Actor Will Be at Lyceum Two Nights.

"Kilkenny," by Augustus Pitou, Sr., is the title of Fiske O'Hara's new play in which he will appear at the Lyceum theater tomorrow matinee and night, and Monday night.

The story is woven around characters and incidents that eixsted in Kilkenny in 1810. David Conway is the guardian of Moina Carroll, and was formerly her father's partner in the coal mines at Castlecomer. Moina was educated at a convent in France, from which country she returned to live at the home of her guardian in Kilkenny. Conway is anxious to marry his ward to Maurice Levine, a man of wealth but a profligate. Conway become involved through speculation and is facing ruin. He deceives his ward as to her true age to delay making an accounting of the fortune left her by her father. From 1803 to 1819 there existed in Kilkenny a company of amateurs, who gave performances for charity two weeks each year, in October, during what was then known as the "Kilkenny Carnival." Richard Desmond was the leading man, and Moina Carroll the leading lady of this company. They played many love scenes together, and naturally fell in love with each other. Conway discovers their attachment and is furious. At the suggestion of Levine he forbids Moina to appear at the theater the following night, when the last performance of the season is to be given. He asserts that Moina must obey him, as she is not of age, and that he is still her guardian. Richard rode to Castlecomer that morning, where he finds the record of Moina's christening in the chapel there, and discovers that Moina is a few months over 21, and her own mistress. Maurice Levine suspecting that Conway lost part of his ward's fortune in speculation, tells him that he will aid him financially, and proposes to him that they abduct Moina that night during the ball, carry her off to the convent in France and put a stop to the growing attachment between her and Richard. Mrs. Conway sees her husband take Moina into the garden, while the guests are dancing. She follows them, and sees Levine throw his cloak over Moina's head, force her into a coach, and drive off. Mrs. Conway gives the alarm. Richard and his freinds hurriedly mount horses, overtake the coach, and rescue Moina. In the last act Richard confronts Conway with the proofs of his deceit, tells him he will marry Moina with or without his consent, and that he will demand an accounting of his guardianship. Confronted with the proofs of his treachery, Conway, influences Levine to apologize to Moina and leave Kilkenny.

Mr. O'Hara will sing five new songs, especially written for the new production. He has been provided with a splendid supporting cast, including Mabel Juline Scott, Marie Quinn, Anna Nichols, Mary Downs, Lisle Bloodgood, Eliza Mason, William J. Morgan, J. P. Sullivan, James Edwards, Henry Duffy, J. E. Miller and William T. Sheehan.

"ON TRIAL" WILL BE HERE ONE WEEK

Familiar Theme Has Been Handled in Unique Way.

Cohan and Harris will present the sensational success, of the New York and Chicago season, "On Trial," at the Lyceum theater seven nights beginning Sunday, Sept. 26, including matinees Sunday, Wednesday and Saturday.

This promises to be one of the most novel offerings of the season. It will furnish the opportunity to see not only melodrama in its best, that is to say, its modern development, but the structure of the play is wholly individual. The theme of the story belongs to the much-repeated seven, which are said to constitute the basis of all dramas and all novels, but the handling of the theme is so different from anything hitherto attempted and the work is so faithfully and efficiently performed, that the audience is treated to a succession of thrills which stir the very soul.

It is commonplace for a man to rush widely out of his house to kill the man who wrongs his wife. That has been done so many times that the confirmed theatergoer does'n't care particularly for it unless some of the actors are famous. But in "On Trial" the commonplace has been reconstructed and re-dressed until it appears new and instead of a succession of yawns the audience meets the continuous series of exciting episodes with a series of gasps.

The curtain goes up on a court room. The scene is the trial of Robert Strickland for the murder of Gerald Trask. Mrs. Trask is called to the stand to testify to the events which took place in her home on the night of the murder. She barely begins her testimony when the stage is shrouded in darkness and the scene is shifted to Trask's home. Instead of the testimony the actual scene is enacted. When it is completed darkness shuts out the home, and as suddenly the court room reappears. Mrs. Trask completes her testimony and the trial proceeds.

These changes are made six times and this constitutes the effective feature of the play. A commonplace story is worked out so effectually and originally that the audience sees what takes place instead of listening to the testimony. And it is a pleasing variation of the old method of handling such a theme. It affords opportunity for strongly emotional scenes which are worked up to so naturally that they do not appear forced and which carry the audience forward so irresistibly that every person actually lives through the scenes with the actors. It would be difficult to conceive anything more calculated to stir the emotions of the audience.

MARION GALE,
In "The Sleep Walker" Now at the New Grand.

The author of the play is Elmer L. Reizenstein, a young man scarcely 23 years old when the work was completed. It was his first attempt and the play was accepted by the producing firm of Cohan and Harris, because of its fresh treatment of story and plot. The play has been running for months in New York and Chicago to crowded houses.

The special company selected to present the play here comprises people of exceptional merit.

COMEDY FILM AT ZELDA.

Gail Kane Will Appear in "Her Great Match."

Gail Kane in "Her Great Match" is the attraction at the Zelda tonight.

"Her Great Match" is a five-act drama, teeming with good situations, touching sentiment and charming romance. It was produced in pictorial form from the play by Clyde Fitch.

"The Earl of Pawtucket" will be seen at the Zelda on Monday and Tuesday only.

The play was written by Augustus Thomas and he wrote it especially for d'Orsay. He laughed himself all through the play and d'Orsay made everybody else laugh through it. It wasn't so much the things he did, or said, but the awkward way in which he said and did them.

Emily Stevens, the stage star, whose creation of the leading role in "Today" attracted much notice during its run at W. A. Brady's New York playhouse, will be seen at the Zelda theater soon in B. A. Rolfe's production of "Destiny, or the Soul of a Woman," one of the recent releases in the Metro program.

OVERFLOW HOUSES AT NEW GRAND

Breezy Program Offers Variety of Good Entertainment.

Overflow houses seem to be the regular thing at the New Grand these days. This speaks well for the class of entertainment offered at this popular playhouse. All the acts on the current bill are classy and full of ginger, and the photoplays are of a high standard.

One of the niftiest comedy sketches seen here for some time is "The Sleep Walker," the offering of Leffingwell and Gale, a combination of good wit and humor. The subject covered in this sketch offers a wide field for humorous situations and no opportunity for developing them has escaped these two clever players.

The Four Harmony Kings are a combination of singers and instrumentalists. A comedy vein runs through the offering, and there is plenty of life and spirit in every number.

Mac O'Neil, the boy in kilts, offers an original monologue in the character of a Scotch laddie. He has a refreshing and interesting offering and his material is well handled. A number of character songs are interpolated in a pleasing manner.

Rapoli and company are comedy and heavyweight jugglers. Everything from eggs and ping pong balls to ten-inch shells and cannon balls are juggled by Rapoli and in a way that brings thrill after thrill. He has excellent control and his clever routine is a demonstration of exceptional ability. Laughs are plentiful, also.

"The Offending Kiss," a two-reel Vitagraph star feature with Myrtle Gonzales in the leading role, heads the photoplay bill. Two comedies including a Charlie Chaplin film are among the other photoplays.

The Hearst-Selig News of events in the making of world's history completes the entertainment.

On Monday the new bill is headed by Welling, Levering troupe of cyclists and funmakers. Quigg and Nickerson in a comedy blackface offering; Field and Brown in a novelty singing, talking and dancing diversion, and Ed Gray, the tall tale-teller, are other vaudeville offerings.

The photoplay feature, "What Happened on the Barbuda," a three-reel romantic drama heads the photo-play program. "Sunny Jim and the Amusement Company, Limited," a comedy, and "His Singular Lesson," a drama, complete the bill.

"GRAUSTARK" AS INITIAL OFFERING

Francis X. Bushman Will Star at Orpheum-Strand Opening.

"Graustark," George Barr McCutcheon's famous romance, will bear the distinction of ushering in the regime of cinema at the Orpheum-Strand Monday evening. The story of love and intrigue will continue Tuesday and Wednesday evening, giving place on Thursday to the spectacular drama, "The Juggernaut," which will continue to and including Saturday.

Beginning Sunday, Sept. 26, there will be changes of bills thrice weekly, Sunday, Wednesday and Friday.

The opening attraction is well chosen. Not only was "Graustark" one of the six best sellers as a printed volume, but it earned nearly a quarter of a million dollars as a stage play, and its popularity is now enhanced by its projection on the motion picture screen with Francis X. Bushman in the leading role.

cate the favor with which "Graustark" has been received elsewhere:

"'Graustark' grips one with its dramatic interest. The theme is woven carefully about the thrilling situations, and the exceptionally clever acting of Essanay players brings out the intensity of the story."—Chicago Evening Post.

"'Graustark' is a magnificent production from a pictorial standpoint and bristles with exciting situations. Splendid acting, capably and laudably interpreting the play, surcharges the production throughout."—Chicago Daily News.

"All will revel in 'Graustark.' The production of the picture is elaborate, being made with an eye to effective and artistic values."—Chicago Herald.

FIRST MUSICAL COMEDY OF SEASON

"September Morn" Coming to Lyceum Next Week.

Next Tuesday and Wednesday with matinee Wednesday, the Lyceum theater will offer "September Morn," a clever stage melange—farcical comedy, travesty and pantomime, set to music and further enlivened by frequent dancing numbers, in which all the tango and one-step trots figure largely. The play is by Arthur Gillespie, who contributes the book and lyrics, and Aubrey Stauffer, who composed the musical settings.

It comes almost direct from the La Salle opera house, Chicago, where the piece established itself as a prime favorite in its long run covering 256 consecutive performances. The company is under the personal direction of Martin and Lemle and, with the exception of a minor change or two in its cast of principals, remains the same as that which gave the play its premier in Chicago.

It has been characterized by many clever reviewers as being "quite the brightest and breeziest musical comedy of the season."

On the whole, "September Morn" is for those who like exactly this sort of thing—"exactly this sort of thing" being, an evening of extravagant farce and travesty, at which one may laugh without being ashamed of themselves—music that slips along in a riotous tumble of melody, and dancing that is spirited and expert.

"September Morn's" company includes a double cast of principals and with its coryphees numbers over fifty people. Its girl chorus and corps du ballett were splendidly drilled by both Frank Tannahill, Jr., who staged the piece, and Virgil Bennett, the veteran maitre du ballet, who devised and arranged the dance divertissements. The chorus is said to be one of great beauty.

The piece will be given here with all the original costumes and stage embellishments.

THEDA BARA IN "DIFFERENT" ROLE

Famous "Vampire" Woman Will Be at Rex Next Week.

Theda Bara in a "different"role, George Beban in the character of Pietro, and Mary Pickford in the part of Esmeralda are coming next week to the Rex.

"The Two Orphans," in which Theda Bara is Henriette—the first time she has been seen in Duluth in an appealing part—is the screen version of d'Ennery's play, known to theater-goers for two generations. The beautiful girl trapped by a libertine, her blind sister victimized by an old harridan, the saving of their faith and their innocence, are the elements of which the powerful play is constructed. It is featured at the Rex Sunday and Monday. "An Alien" is to be given for the benefit of St. James' orphanage Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. This is a play of great pathos worked over by George Beban from his vaudeville sketch, "The Sign of the Rose." In the simple joys of his poor home, in the tragedy that befalls him when his little daughter is killed in the street, in the bitterness that overwhelms him when he is arrested for a pathetic mischance, the artist has built up a dignified type, a very human sort of a person.

Mary Pickford is always welcome. She is well placed in "Esmeralda," which is billed for Friday and Saturday. Surrounded by selfishness, she keeps her sweetness—it is the same story that was first told by Frances Hodgson Burnett—by her unselfishness" she wins over her mother's hardness and in the end she goes back happily to the dear old home and the dear old ways and to David, her own David.

At the Sunbeam.

The new Sunbeam theater has an excellent list of photoplays for its weekly program beginning Sunday. There will be four changes of program, Sunday, Monday, Thursday and Friday. Each program will offer two or more star features.

The Sunday show is especially strong. The noted serial Vitagraph photoplay "The Goddess," featuring Miss Anita Stewart, one of the Vitagraph studio's most charming players, and Earle Williams, will be continued. This time the eleventh chapter will be shown, and an exceptional good offering is promised. Miss Kathlyn Williams, the attractive star of the Selig company, will be seen in "Hearts and Masks," a three-reel detective drama of society life.

For Monday and Tuesday the display of fall and winter fashions by living models of the Pathe News will be an interesting feature. Many fetching gowns and hats will be shown in colors. One of the best features for these two days will be "The Insurrection," a three-reel feature Lubin photoplay. Earle Metcalfe, Ormi Hawley and Herbert Fortier are starred in this film.

Wednesday and Thursday "Ham" and "Bud", two of the familier comedy figures at the Sunbeam, will be seen in "A Flashlight Flivver," said to be a scream. Miss Blanche Sweet, one of the most popular of the "movie" actresses, will be seen in a D. W. Griffith production known as "Death's Marathon." This thrilling film-drama gives Miss Sweet a chance to do some of her best work. "The Way of the Transgressor," produced by William Humphrey, and featuring a Vitagraph cast headed by John Costello, is another of the excellent features.

Friday and Saturday will be shown the second installment of the series of soul-gripping problems plays entitled "The Pursuit of Pleasure" in the "Who Pays?" series The sex problem here is treated in a bold yet inoffensive manner. In this excellent Pathe feature Miss Ruth Roland and Henry King are starred.

Lyceum Notes.

As the attraction at the Lyceum theater three days in October, Selwyn and company, the firm that gave the stage such notable successes as "Within the Law," and "Under Cover," will offer their latest production "Twin Beds," Salisbury Field and Margaret Mayo's screamingly funny farce of life among the apartment dwellers, which has proved the laughing sensation of the season in New York, where it recently concluded a run of one whole year.

"Twin Beds" has been unanimously declared by the newspaper critics to be the cleanest and funniest farce the American stage has known since "Baby Mine," which also came from Margaret Mayo's pen, and its presentation here is certain to prove one of the delights of the year. Selwyn and company are sending an excellent cast which includes: Juliette Day, J. Morrill Morrison, Marion Lord, Paul Porcassi, Editha Maxham, William Weston, Susanne Morgan and others.

"Daddy Long-Legs," the reigning hit of last season in New York, has been booked for appearance at the Lyceum theater in November.

This dainty comedy from the pen of Jean Webster, a niece of the late Mark Twain, has proved the most sensational success of recent seasons both in the East and West. It was originally produced in Chicago early last summer and ran twenty-five weeks to capacity business. Within the last few weeks it has ended an entire year's run at the Gaiety theater in New York. Last winter the fascinating stage story was sent to San Francisco for a two weeks' engagement, but, to the amazement of the most seasoned theatrical managers in the United States, it ran five weeks to absolute capacity business, thereby shattering every theatrical record in the history of California. Wherever presented "Daddy Long-Legs" has broken records for big business and extended engagements.

When five stars of the reputation of William H. Crane, Thomas W. Ross, Maclyn Arbuckle, Laura Hope Crews and Mabel Taliaferro may be seen in the same performance for the customary high class theater price the bargain spirit of the times is certainly touching high spots, and the reminiscent playgoer will have to change his tune about the good old days. They are to appear in the delightful comedy, "The Henrietta," which was the pride and glory of Robson & Crane, the beloved firm of a generation ago, and which has been revised and infused with the galloping spirit of today by Winchell Smith and Victor Mapes. It will be at the Lyceum Nov. 12 and 13.

Arthur Hammerstein, who will send "High Jinks" to the Lyceum theater four days in October, enjoys the distinction of being the only musical comedy producer in the United States today who has never had a failure. He started his career brilliantly with "Naughty Marietta." Then followed "The Firefly," and after that came "High Jinks." Otto Hauerback is the author of the libretto and Rudolf Friml composed the score.

"The Light That Failed," one of the plays Forbes-Robertson will act during his farewell tour of America, which includes this city, is a dramatization of Rudyard Kipling's novel of the same title. It was first acted in London in February, 1902, when it ran for the entire season, being produced in America the following fall. The drama follows the novel in all the essentials of character and plot development, except for the denouement which has been changed to meet the requirements of the stage. The story tells of Dick Heldar, a war correspondent and artist, who loves a girl who aspires to become an artist and refuses Heldar's love as she fears it will interfere with her career. The play has to do with the struggle between Heldar's love and Maisie's ambition. In the course of the play Heldar goes blind as the result of a wound he had received during a skirmish in the Soudah. As Dick Heldar, Forbes Robertson is seen in one of his strongest roles.

When the versatile danse artiste, Ruth St. Denis and her company appear here, they will introduce many dances that will be entirely new. These dances, including Greek and modern, have all been created by Miss St. Denis and her clever dancing partner, Ted Shawn. Perhaps the most popular of the new modern dances is the St. Denis mazourka, which has already created a furore in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Portland and Seattle, and is now being featured at all the society dansants. Another of the new dances, a creation by Mr. Shawn, is the "Hawaiian hesitation," one of the most graceful of modern dances, and when danced to the native Hawaiian record music, creates a sensation. Some of the other modern dance numbers are "The Sea Gull Waltz," "The Shawn Step," "The Tokio Trot," and "The Canton Canter." These dances are all known as the "Denishawn dances," having received their premier at the Denishawn School of Dancing, Los Angeles, where Miss St. Denis and Mr. Shawn have established a permanent school for dancing and its related arts. New standard dances include such popular numbers as "The Balancello," "Le Rouli Rouli," the latest foxtrots and other new creations.

"ON TRIAL" A DARING PLAY

ONE of the greatest successes scored in New York in many years has been accorded "On Trial," which is the work of Elmer L. Reizenstein, a youth who has just turned his majority. The novelty of "On Trial" is found in the fact that it is written backward, the third act unfolding a story that occurred a dozen years before that told in the first act. Mr. Reizenstein's original and clever idea will probably be copied by unscrupulous contemporaries, but in the meantime "On Trial" is packing the playhouses in which it is presented. It will be seen here shortly. Cohan & Harris are the producers.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

Maude Adams is preparing for her season, which is to be devoted to a repertoire of plays by J. M. Barrie, "Peter Pan," "What Every Woman Knows," "Quality Street" and "The Little Minister" will be included, together with a new play called "The Ladies' Shakespeare," which has not yet been seen here.

* * *

The rumor gained currency last week that Julian Eltinge was to marry Pauline Frederick. Both the principals, however, deny the report, though they admit that they went to school together and had seen much of each other this summer in California.

* * *

Ethel Barrymore's season in "Roast Beef Medium" will begin on Oct 4, the piece receiving a try-out on the road before coming to New York for the metropolitan verdict.

* * *

Andrew Mack, who was famous as an Irish star for years, but has been in vaudeville of late, is to return to the legitimate this fall. He will play the hero in a new play of Erin interest.

Mary Garden is the latest grand opera star to receive an offer to act for the movies. If Miss Garden accepts the offer she will play in four films, one of which will be "Thais." Such an arrangement as this would fall in well with Miss Garden's plans, as she intends to come to America next season for opera. If she accepts the motion picture offer she will be the second prominent opera singer to take part in screen plays, Geraldine Farrar having recently concluded her activities before the camera in the West.

Owing to the illness of Miss Amelia Bingham, who was to have appeared for a third season in "The New Henrietta," Joseph Brooks has engaged Laura Hope Crews for the part of the widow, Cordelia Opdyke. She will complete the five-star aggregation, William H. Crane, Thomas W. Ross, Maclyn Arbuckle and Mabel Taliaferro, when "The New Henrietta" is presented tomorrow at the Cort theater, San Francisco.

Willard Mack's typical American comedy, "Kick In," has just been produced in London. The audiences are receiving it with a good deal of pleasure, but the critics proclaimed the fact that a dictionary of American slang expressions is needed to thoroughly comprehend the dialogue.

* * *

Gustav Kerker, composer of "The Belle of New York," is back in this country. He is now at work upon a new musical comedy. During his absence for the last few years Mr. Kerker has been active in London and Berlin.

* * *

Irving S. Cobb is to resume his lecture tour this fall, telling his experience as a war correspondent. He proved to be emiently successful in this capacity last spring, but his tour had to be cut short because of press of literary work.

* * *

Charles Meakins, who will be remembered as one of the exponents of the role of Prince Daniels in "The Merry Widow," is to be the star in one of the new comic opera productions which Henry W. Savage contemplates putting out later in the season.

* * *

For the cast of "Ruggles of Red Gap," Leonore Harris has been engaged to play Klondike Kate, John W. Cope to impersonate Cousin Egbert, and Louise Closser Hale to appear as Mrs. Effie. Ralph Herz will be the Ruggles, and Laurance Orabe the Honorable George. The New York production will be made late in September by William A. Brady, Ltd., at one of the Shubert theaters.

There will be three companies on the road this season presenting "Daddy Long Legs." The interesting announcement is also made that Jean Webster, the author of this charming tale, was married last week to Glenn Ford McKinney, a lawyer.

* * *

"Brother Bill," an Anglo-American comedy, with James J. Corbett in the leading role, opened at the Cort theater in Atlantic City recently. Thomas Louden, the author, has written a play that is a page from the life of the former champion pugilist. The story tells of an aristocrat who leaves his family and goes in search of adventure. Returning after he has won success in athletics and pugilism, he is ostracised by his family, and the play's principal theme is in his winning his way back into their graces.

Otis Skinner will be seen in a new play by Henry Arthur Jones, the title of which has not yet been determined upon.

* * *

Kenneth Douglas, English actor who was to have played the leading male comedy role in Grace George's company at the Playhouse, has cabled a request that he be released from his contract and this has been granted. Mr. Douglas was a passenger on board the Arabic, and when the vessel was sunk he not alone lost all his possessions, but was subjected to such physical hardships that he is averse to risking the possibility of their repetition. Miss George has engaged Charles Cherry to fill the vacancy, and he will make his first appearance in her organization as Sir Wilfred Cates-Darby in "The New York Idea," at the beginning of the Playhouse season, Sept. 20.

George Arliss, who controls the English and American rights to "Disraeli," has arranged with Louis N. Parker, the author of the piece, for a London production. As Mr. Arliss is to return to America to star under George C. Tyler's management, the title role will be handled either by H. B. Irving or George Alexander.

* * *

Charlotte Walker has been engaged as leading woman for E. H. Sothern, who has begun rehearsals of Alfred Sutro's "The Two Virtues," in which he will appear at the Booth theater in October. Margaret Dale, who was first announced as Mr. Sothern's leading woman, was taken suddenly ill last week in Atlantic City, so that she was unable to attend the first rehearsal of the play. Mr. Sothern was informed by her physician that she was suffering from auto intoxication and would not be able to act for several months. In response to an urgent wire from Lee Shubert, Miss Walker arrived in New York from Maine, where she had been spending the summer, and at once proceeded to the Booth theater, where she went over the play with Mr. Sothern.

Harvey Leon Wilson's book, "His Majesty, Bunker Bean," has been dramatized by Leo Wilson Dodd, and is to be presented during the coming season with Taylor Holmes in the principal role.

* * *

"Mr. Mdy's Mystery" closed at the Comedy theater in New York last week, after fourteen consecutive performances. The theater will be closed for a short time, while Taylor Holmes rehearses a repertoire of new plays in which he will be presented by Joseph Brooks.

* * *

Julie Herne has been engaged by John Cort for the leading role of Ruth Stanley in Charles Sumner's drama, "The Natural Law." Teresa Maxwell Conover, Howard Hall and Maggie Holloway Fisher, of the original cast, have been re-engaged for this season's tour of "The Natural Law."

* * *

Trixie Friganza, who has one of the leading roles in "Ned Wayburn's Town Topics" at the Century, New York, expects to astonish the first night audience with one of the finest sets of white fox fur ever seen in America. The skins themselves were obtained at Miss Friganza's order by Canadian hunters.

* * *

Leon Errol, the eccentric comedian who, in addition to staging the Ziegfeld "Follies," also played one of the principal roles, has been compelled to withdraw temporarily from the cast owing to illness brought about by overwork.

* * *

Florence Reed is to take a dramatic sketch into vaudeville when she gets through with her moving picture engagement. She will be ready for her new venture about the first of the year.

Puccini's opera, "Madam Butterfly," will be given a new premiere this season by the Boston Grand Opera company in a form in which it has never been given before. Its leading roles will be represented by singers of nationalities corresponding to those which John Luther Long gave to these characters in his story—Riccardo Martin, the American tenor, as Lieut. Pinkerton of the United States navy; Thomas Chalmers, the American baritone, as the United States consul; Elizabeth Campbell, the American mezzo-soprano, as Kate Pinkerton, and Miura Zukkury, the Japanese lyric soprano, as Madam Butterfly. Zukkury San (Miss), who was educated at the Conservatory of Music in Nagasaki, and who had her operatic training in Italy and Russia, sang the title role of "Madam Butterfly" in eight performances during the last Russian season at the London opera house.

"The Dummy," the detective play by Harriet Ford and Harvey J. O'Higgins, which had a run of two seasons, is to be presented in London during the fall under the direction of George Grossmith and Edward Laurillard. Lauri de Frece, who was seen in New York last winter in "Tonight's the Night," will play the part of the boy detective.

* * *

Molly McIntyre, late star of "Kitty McKay' and "Bunty Pulls the Strings," is the latest legitimate actress to succumb to the golden lure of the movies. The dainty little Scotch comedienne has signed a contract with the Equitable Motion Picture corporation to act the role of "Bunty," which she created in this country, in the feature picture which is to be made of the famous Scotch comedy.

* * *

Sarah Bernhardt is not likely to come to this country for her contemplated farewell tour. At any event, the plans whereby she was to begin her season at the New Amsterdam theater in New York have been changed. She was to have opened there on Sept. 20. It has been arranged, however, to present the war play, "Moloch," with Holbrook Blinn in the principal role, at that time. The piece was presented for a few preliminary performances last spring in Chicago and Cleveland, where it created a profound impression. Although not dealing specifically with the present European war, the timeliness of the subject matter lends peculiar interest to "Moloch." The character of the play is best indicated by the scenes. The prologue shows a country home before the war; the second act, a town house during the invasion; the third act, the firing line during a battle, and the epilogue, a country house after the war. In the cast are Holbrook Blinn, Edmund Breese, Lillian Albertson, Mrs. Thomas Whiffen, Creighton Hale, Louise Ruttey, Gareth Hughes, Ruth Benson, Paul Gordon and Cornish Beck.

McIntyre and Heath have arranged to play for five weeks in vaudeville on the Orpheum circuit, and perhaps for a longer period. They began their tour at Omaha recently.

* * *

Pedro de Cordoba, who has been supporting Geraldine Farrar in motion pictures, and who more recently appeared with Margaret Anglin in Greek plays at the University of California, has been engaged by Oliver Morosco to play the leading role of Prince Luigi Pallavicini with Marjorie Rambeau in Avery Hopwood's new play, "Sadie Love," which is scheduled for an early New York presentation.

* * *

Light opera, it seems, is to lose Ann Swinburne. She is to enter the concert field, making her debut in Aeolian Hall, New York, next month. Miss Swinburne's first big successes in opera were in "The Count of Luxembourg" and "The Madcap Duchess."

* * *

Margaret Romaine, who was to have been leading woman in the new play, "Alone at Last," was suddenly stricken with appendicitis last week, and had to retire from the cast.

* * *

David Powell has been signed as the leading man for Elsie Ferguson in "The Outcast" for the coming season. The company is to reopen some time late this month.

Oliver Morosco, through George Moser, has obtained the dramatic rights to Nina Wilcox Putnam's story, "The Impossible Boy," and will have a dramatization made without delay. He is seeking a starring vehicle for Peggy O'Neil. The principal role will be that of a gypsy "boy," who turns out to be a girl.

Charles Hopkins has selected Jules Eckert Goodman's dramatization of Robert Louis Stevenson's story, "Treasure Island," as the first play of the new season at the Punch and Judy theater in New York. The play is in four acts and six scenes. The settings will show the old Admiral Benbow Inn, the quay at Bristol, the deck of the treasure ship, Hispaniola, the stockade, Spyglass mountain and Ben Gunn's cave. The stage rights of the play were obtained by Mr. Hopkins from the Stevenson estate.

Henry W. Savage has been awarded $10,000 damages in a suit against William C. Karrer, who produced a photoplay entitled "Madame, a Modern Madame X." Savage claimed that this infringed upon his own play, "Madame X," for which he had refused $20,000.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreadful disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. How a Woman Saved the Day

We know a kind-hearted, open-handed man who couldn't save a cent. But his splendid wife, realizing his weakness, pressed him for a larger household allowance. Out of this she saved $20 a month.

Ten years later, in hard times, he lost his position. He hadn't a dollar. Idleness and want faced him. But his wife smilingly produced her Savings Bank book with $2,946 to their credit. She says it was fun fooling her husband and they never missed the money.

PARAGRAPHIC COMMENT OF THE SPORT PASTIME

BY BRUCE.

The Federal league magnates are considering playing baseball at night, which goes to show that they have the consideration of the fans at heart.

* * *

Napoleon Lajoie has played on major league baseball teams for nineteen years and one year on the Philadelphia team.

* * *

It required a lot of real effort for Hughey Jennings to get to the top. He started his career in a mine.

* * *

Fred Clarke has lived in Pittsburgh twenty-four years without any scandal being attached to his name. Baseball should erect a monument to Fred.

* * *

There is a deaf umpire in the Texas State league. He is said to enjoy his work immensely.

* * *

We made a mistake when we stated that a new world's record was created by presenting an umpire with a wreath of flowers the other day. An umpire was presented with flowers several years ago. They were to be used on his coffin.

* * *

Connie Mack has declared that war is one of the most terrible evils of the world. Some of the fans of Philadelphia disagree with him.

The fight game is flourishing in Mexico.

* * *

A New Jersey man sent a hive of bees by parcel post delivery as a present to his mother-in-law. Stung again.

* * *

Mike Gibbons declares that it was a great fight, which proves that Michael is not without a sense of humor.

* * *

The promoter of the Gibbons-McFarland bout had never witnessed a boxing bout. Maybe he will never witness another one.

* * *

There is absolutely nothing about the actions of Packey McFarland to suggest that he was born in the vicinity of the stock yards.

* * *

It begins to look as if the management of the Boston Red Sox will request the management of the Boston Braves for the loan of that brand new concrete baseball park for a few days during October.

* * *

Bob Fitzsimmons has been married four times. He will go down in history as a great fighter.

* * *

An umpire was assaulted by a deaf mute down in Pennsylvania. Evidently the arbitrater did not believe in signs.

As soon as boxers learn to eat with their forks there cannot be the least possible objection to the sport.

Some of the old time prize fight fans have taken to attending the suffragette meetings.

SHAPING UP FOR SEASON

Minnesota University and Conference Teams Begin Training Monday.

Doc Williams Has Promising Material; Smaller Colleges Have Veterans.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Although the conference rules prohibit official training until Sept. 20, Capt. Solon of the University of Minnesota football squad has had his men out for preliminary preparation for several days. Doc Williams, however, has remained in his office awaiting the official opening of the training season and devising new and ingenious formations with which to bewilder the other championship contenders in the many hard games that face the Gophers later in the season.

There is no lack of material and prospects are unusually bright. Even Coach Zuppke of Illinois says that Minnesota will have the strongest team in ten years and prophesies that the team that beats Doc Williams' charges will walk away with all conference honors. Nine of last year's first string men will be in the game again this year including Lorin Solon, all-Western fullback last year, who will be pushed for a place on the all-American team this year; Bernie Bierman, the reliable half-back who shared ground-gaining honors with Solon; Quist and Baston, the West's best ends, and Sinclair and Mayer, the huskie linemen.

Good Freshie Material.

To replace the loss of Capt. Rosenthal, Wallace Hamilton and Art Erdahl, Doc will have last year's powerful freshmen squad, who defeated the regulars two days before their brush with Illinois last year. The notable stars of the freshmen team are Pudge Wyman, a heavy and speedy back, Kieffman, a Hibbing boy who tore holes in the regular line last year, Vic Hauser who was a match for any of the regular lineman, and Theron Gerow a 210-pounder who has been out of the game for several years but who is coming back strong and in perfect condition.

Had Spring Training.

To overcome the handicap of a late start in the fall, Coach Williams gave his men daily training last spring and they will enter the fall practice with a fairly clear understanding of the science of the game, and this, combined with the summer training which they have all taken on their own account, will enable the entire squad to settle immediately into the hardest kind of preparation. The captain, coach and trainers are all optimistic and are out for positively nothing less than the conference championship with especial emphasis laid upon revenge for the defeat of last year by Illinois.

Plenty of Talent.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 18.—Warriors of the gridiron were mobilized this week at the Minnesota conference colleges, and after three days of rudimentary training, signal drills will be inaugurated next Monday at all four camps.

A wealth of veteran talent at each school presages a close race in the state conference, in the opinion of the coaches, and with the usual crop of freshmen, they expect to develop machines of more than average caliber.

Carleton college of Northfield is the most uncertain quality, as the usual censorship has been placed on all football news from that camp. The three St. Paul colleges in the conference—Hamline university Macalester college and College of St. Thomas—started the season's campaign Thursday. Six letter men are available at Hamline, eleven at Macalester and eleven at St. Thomas.

Comparatively weak in the past three years, due principally to scholastic inefficiency of a number of her stars, Hamline has made elaborate plans for the resurrection of the football spirit that for many years placed her in first or second position in teams' standing at the end of the season. Coach William Baird has the following veterans in this year's squad: Timm, Dow, Manning, Hopkins, Nielson and Lindgren.

Veterans Are Back.

Macalester, whose crushing defeat of St. Thomas last year was the climax of the closing season, has her most able players of the 1914 team back at school this year, and Coach Johnny McGovern, of All-American fame, assisted by several faculty coaches, hopes to develop another championship contender. McCallum, whose work at quarterback last season was a sensation of the conference, may be ineligible this season, as he has played four years. The ruling, however, limiting participation in college sports to four years was made after he had played one year, and the question of his status will have to be settled by the conference executive committee. Even without McCallum, the following veterans are available to McGovern: Capt. Ling, Guthrie, Christenson, Hunt, Ecklund, Flagstad, Robertson, Dierenfield, Johnson and Laird.

The principal task before Earl Pickering, former University of Minnesota backfield star and now coach of St. Thomas, is the development of a line, as only three of last year's forwards remain in the 1915 squad. They are Mahoney, Armstrong and Capt. Graham, veterans of three years' standing. The other returning veterans, all backfield and end men, are Connelly, Reagan, Sullivan, Gibbons, Ward, Conway, O'Connor and Dougherty.

POPULARITY OF BASEBALL SHOWN

President Wilson Pitches Ball at Amateur Game at Capital.

Washington, Sept. 18.—That the national game still holds a big corner in the hearts of Americans was never more clearly demonstrated than when a few days ago President Wilson pitched a ball out on the diamond at the opening of a game between amateur teams near Washington. The occasion was to raise funds for the entertainment of veterans at an encampment. Although matters of grave international importance had been discussed earlier in the day by the president and Secretary Lansing, both of them as well as other members of the cabinet drove to the grounds from their official quarters as though nothing but peace reigned over the entire globe. The weather was blistering hot, but President Wilson and the other visitors remained interested spectators throughout the game, frequently applauding as vigorously as though a world's series contest was being played.

TIGERS LOSE PRESENT CHANCE; SUPERBAS CLIMB

Slump By Red Sox Is Tigers Only Hope; Phillies Still Have Good Lead Over Brooklyn and Boston.

New York, Sept. 18.—The Detroit Tigers saw their chances of taking the leadership in the American league away from Boston in the present series vanish yesterday when they lo the second game to the Red Sox, who thereby resumed their former lead of two and a half games. Should the Tigers win the remaining two games they would still be five points behind the Boston leaders. A decided slump by the Red Sox while the Tigers run up a string of victories seems about the only hope now for the Northwestern team.

The Brooklyn Nationals shortened the distance between them and the Philadelphia team yesterday by winning from Chicago while Philadelphia lost to Cincinnati. The Phillies are now four and one-half games ahead of the Superbas and five and one-half games ahead of the Boston Braves, who took third place by losing the first game of a double-header to St. Louis and playing the second game to a tie.

CRACK SHOOTING AT EASTERN TOURNAMENTS

Atlantic City, N J., Sept. 18.—A new record for registered tournaments was made in the Westy Hogan shoot here yesterday by Lester S. German of Aberdeen, Md., the veteran professional, who completed his total of 500 targets with 499 breaks. The former record held by Charles Newcomb and R. Brun was 496.

F. S. Wright of South Wales, N. Y., former New York champion, won the Atlantic City cup competition by defeating W. H. Wolstencroft of Philadelphia in the shoot-off 20 to 19, after they had tied at 148 in the regular event.

Woolfolk Henderson of Lexington, Ky., was high gun among the amateurs for the three days with 493 breaks in 500 targets. Wright was second with 489 and Al Heile of Allentown third with 485. Mrs. L. G. Vogel of Detroit led the four women shooters with a total of 439 breaks.

Seagirt, N. J., Sept. 18.—Good shooting was seen here yesterday in the big Sadler trophy match which was won by the United States marines with a score of 1,651.

The Meaney match was won by Corporal F. B. Piper of the marine corps with 49.

The Wingate match was won by E. Minervine of the Italian Rifle association with a score of 90.

The Zetler Rifle club took first place with a score of 255 in the Old Guard trophy match.

H. W. Ford of the marines won the Spencer match with a score of 71.

DULUTH AND ST. PAUL TO MEET IN DIAMOND DUEL

Crack Baseball Teams Will Play Sunday in National Amateur Series.

Both Teams Have Hung Up Remarkable Records During Season.

Duluth will stage its first amateur "world's series" baseball contest at Athletic park tomorrow afternoon. It will be Duluth vs. St. Paul, with a national championship dangling luringly in the offing.

Men are working on the diamond at the park today in order that the grounds may be in shape for the big game. Yesterday afternoon Manager Norsted of the Edisons put his men through their final workout. The Edisons are fit for the onslaught of the crack Parkers. All that is needed is sunshine tomorrow.

In the matter of records, the teams that are to battle for national amateur baseball honors are singularly evenly matched. The Edisons won twelve games and lost but one during the season. The Parkers won twelve and lost two, fighting their way through every league in St. Paul and winning the final series in convincing manner.

Edisons Very Strong.

The ridiculous ease with which the Edisons won the pennant in the Duluth Amateur baseball league this season is an indication of the strength of the aggregation Norsted has collected. A bunch of sluggers, this team is liable to go in any frame and drive an opposing pitcher from the mound.

Early in the present season Edwin Norsted started lining up the present collection of players. Encouraged by Manager Van Bergen of the Duluth Edison company, who has stood behind the team from the first, Norsted went after the best players in the city. That he succeeded in getting them is best told by the remarkable record the team has made.

During the season the Edisons have made the greatest record ever established by a local team, and have, moreover, hung up the best record of any team in the Northwest.

One of the features of the play and a factor that has figured in the amazing string of victories, has been the pitching of Alder and Schaeffer. These mound stars have performed exceptional work and have repeatedly held the local teams to low scores.

Martin Hilber's brilliant playing has been another important fact. This boy has earned the distinction of being one of the best amateur infielders in the Northwest and, in addition, is the leading batter of the Duluth amateur league.

Team Is Balanced.

Starting with Burke and Anderson as catchers, the Edisons present a strong and evenly balanced lineup in every position.

Burke possesses a fine throwing arm and works the batters well. Ivor Anderson is an exceptional thrower, keeps the runners close to the sacks, and can belt the spheroid.

Alder is called the Mathewson of the Duluth amateur league. The big fellow has excellent control, a lot of smoke and has a zip to his fast one and a nice break on his curve ball.

Adam Schaeffer has done some remarkable work this season. Possessing an iron arm and plenty of speed, Schaeffer has established a remarkable mound record.

Art Olson is the other mound star of the team. This boy has the best control of any pitcher in the league and keeps the batters nibbling at the corner ball.

Walter Blaski is called the best amateur first baseman at the Head of the Lakes. In addition to his fielding ability, Blaski is a cleanup hitter, his stick work featuring many games this season.

Allen McDonnell at second is a flashy infielder and the fastest base runner in the league.

At shortstop Martin Hilber has made an enviable record. Followers of the game declare that this kid is the greatest amateur infielder that Duluth has produced in many seasons. Hilber has been one of the most consistent run scorers in the league, has stolen many bases and has covered acres of ground.

Arnie Olson, the star hockey player of the Adams and Duluth Curling club team, plays third base. Arnie possesses a remarkable throwing arm and was easily the class of the far corner infielders of the Duluth Amateur league. Added to this is the attribute of hitting.

Outfielders Are Fast.

Artie Anderson in left, William Olund in center and Walter Hilber in right compose a fast and hard-hitting trio of garden tenders. Anderson has a great whip and is a timely batter. Olund is fast, but is only a fair sticker. Hilber is a hard hitter and a fair fielder.

Against this team of the pick of Duluth amateur ball tossers the Parkers will present a very strong lineup. Holmgren, the pitcher who has been standing the crack amateur batters of four St. Paul leagues on their heads. Young Cook will catch the St. Paul mound star, and the visiting battery is rated as a remarkable combination. Like the Edisons, the Parkers are hard and consistent hitters. The game, from the dope that has been gathered on the two teams, promises to be hard fought.

If Duluth wins the game of tomorrow, the Edison crowd will leave shortly for Omaha, Neb., where the Omaha crack team will be played for the right to meet the crack Cleveland team.

Members of the St. Paul Parkers will arrive in Duluth this evening. The visiting ball players will stop at the Spalding. A number of St. Paul rooters are scheduled to make the trip here.

The game will be called at 3 o'clock. An invitation has been sent to the city commissioners. Commissioner Silberstein has been asked to pitch the first ball.

DULUTH PITCHER TO OPPOSE THE PARKERS

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Boardman Pitches Tie Game.

St. Louis Mo., Sept. 18.—St. Louis put a crimp in Boston's pennant prospects by winning the opening game of a doubleheader here yesterday, 1 to 0 and tying the second which was called at the end of the ninth. The score was 2 to 2. Doak opposed Nehf in a pitchers' battle in the first game, each following but four hits. In the sixth inning Bescher was safe on Maranville's fumble, Betzel sacrificed and Bescher stole third. Miller's single completed the run. In the second game Boardman, a recruit from St. Boniface, Man., held the visitors to two hits after relieving Meadows in the fourth. Scores:

First game—	R.	H.	E.

St. Louis .....000020000—2	4	0

Batteries — Hughes and Gowdy, Whaling; Meadows, Boardman and Gonzales.

Superbas Beat Cubs.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Brooklyn bunched five hits off Lavender in the first inning and this, coupled with a base on balls a wild pitch and an error, gave them a commanding lead and resulted in the defeat of the locals 7 to 5. Smith weakened in the eighth when Chicago rallied, and was replaced by Rucker. Daubert's catch of a line drive in this inning with men on second and third, saved the game for Brooklyn. Score:

Brooklyn .....005000011—7	9	1
Chicago .....002000120—5	12	1

Batteries—Smith, Rucker and McCarty; Lavender, Pierce, Standridge, Zabel and Archer.

Reds Defeat Leaders.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 18.—Errors by Stock and Bancroft and Toney's masterly pitching were responsible for Cincinnati winning the second game of the present series from Philadelphia yesterday 2 to 0. Demaree pitched good ball, allowing only six hits and giving no base on balls. The game was played in an hour and eleven minutes, which is the record time for this season on the home grounds. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Philadelphia ....000000000—0	3	2
Cincinnati .....00100100x—2	6	0

Batteries — Demaree and Burns; Toney and Wingo.

Giants Drop Two.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 18.—New York lost two games to Pittsburgh yesterday, the first 9 to 6 and the second 5 to 0. Cooper and Benton were both hit hard in the preliminary game, the locals bunching their hits better than New York. In the second game Hill was effective and allowed only four hits and no runs. McGraw and all the players not in the second game were

STOP CLIMB OF TIGERS

Red Sox Defeat Contenders in Second Game of Crucial Struggle.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 18.—The tables were turned on the Tigers yesterday, Boston defeating Detroit, 7 to 2. The Red Sox's victory again gave the local team the lead of more than two games, making it impossible for Detroit to displace them in the present series.

Leonard's pitching was the feature of the game. Ably supported by his fielders, he had the hard-hitting Tigers down to a single in the first eight innings. With the tension somewhat lessened in the ninth, he hit Vitt and grooved a ball for Cobb. The latter sent it flying to the right field stands.

As in Thursday's game the fine playing on one side was not matched on the other. James, Manager Jennings' first choice, proved a poor one, his six bases on balls giving Boston opportunities from which six runs were developed in the first three innings. Boland took his place and pitched a much tighter game. Score:

Yankees Win From Chicago.

New York, Sept. 18.—New York won another game from Chicago yesterday, the score being 3 to 2. New York won in the fourth inning, when Baumann hit a home run, and a wild throw by Blackburn let in Cook and Miller. Allen Russell, formerly of Richmond, pitched his first full game for New York and made a creditable showing, holding Chicago to six hits. Score:

Chicago ....1 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0—2	6	2
New York ...0 0 0 0 2 0 0 0 *—3	7	3

FEDERAL LEAGUE

Falkenberg Wins.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 18.—A pitching duel yesterday between Falkenberg and Davenport resulted in a 2 to 0 victory of St. Louis over Brooklyn. Each pitcher allowed two hits. In the eighth, with the bases full and two out, Meyers struck out. In the next half of the inning St. Louis scored two runs. Johnson walked and reached second on Davenport's sacrifice. Johnson then scored on Miller's two-base hit. Magee made a bad throw on Marsan's grounder and Miller scored the second tally. Score:

Pittfeds Beat Baltimore.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 18.—Pittsburgh won yesterday from Baltimore, 2 to 1, in a ninth-inning rally. Conley and Allen had a pitcher's battle, each allowing six hits, but Allen's support was the stronger and allowed the victory. Score:

WILL PLAY CHAMPION.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 18.—Clarence Griffin of San Francisco, who, yesterday, won the finals in men's singles of the tri-state tennis tournament, will meet W. S. McElroy of Pittsburgh, Pa., the holder of the tri-state championship, in the challenge round here today.

Miss Molla Bjurstedt, the Norwegian girl, who recently won the national tennis championship and who finished first in the tri-state competition in women's singles, will play Miss Ruth Sanders of Cincinnati, present tri-state woman champion in the championship round.

ASK YOUR DEALER FOR W-B CUT CHEWING TOBACCO. IT IS THE NEW "REAL TOBACCO CHEW"—CUT LONG SHRED.

Take less than one-quarter the old size chew. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just take a nibble of it until you find the strength chew that suits you, then see how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up. An excess of licorice and sweetening makes you spit too much.

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

"Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste."

CENTRAL ELEVEN BEST TEAM IN YEARS; MANY OLD PLAYERS BACK IN LINE-UP

With the close of the second week of practice and the approach of the first game but one week away, the Central high school football machine, under the careful tutelage of Coach C. S. Blake, is rapidly rounding into a combination that should make a whirlwind bid for the premier honors in Northwestern scholastic gridiron circles this fall. The new coach got an unusually early start and aided by good weather has had the men out every night, schooling them on every point in the gridiron catalogue.

Fine material is not lacking in the husky squad of more than three teams that has been out every night. With eight "D" men left from last year's aggregation, and with the possibility that there will be two more of these out next week, the squad of experienced men is one of the largest that the local school has welcomed back in several years. Capt. Phil Warner is back at his old post of tackle and is keeping his valuable toe warmed up with some drop kicks now and then. Several times last year, when it was found impossible for the red and white backs to smash through the opposing lines or for them to execute successful forward passes, Warner was called upon to save the day by dropping the pigskin over the goal posts, even though it was from some seemingly impossible angle near midfield. Reliable "Yid" O'Brien, a member of the squad three years, is holding down his old position at fullback in great style. Early in the season last year he was hurt and forced to drop out. This year his smashing drives will often be called upon to net the needed yards. George Lewis, a cousin of the famous Matt Brown, is playing again at right half, the same position in which he starred last year as one of the most consistent ground gainers on the team. George Lawson will undoubtedly have another great year as Lewis' mate at the other half-back post, and these two men, along with O'Brien, Central should boast of one of the best backfields in the Northwest. If an opposing back gets through the Central line, he should experience a great deal of difficulty in getting any farther, for these three backs can be relief upon to "nail" anything that is at all possible.

Quarter Position Uncertain.

The position of quarterback is still uncertain. "Johnny" Richards, who won his "D" as an end man last season, has been used considerably at that post and has proved to have a good "head" and is exceptionally fast on his feet. "Bill" McIntyre has also been used a lot, and will undoubtedly make a strong bid for the position. He broke his collar bone in the first game last year and was out for the rest of the season. Otherwise he would certainly have won a "D." There are a number of other exceptionally good men out for the coveted position.

Ben Rasmussen, one of the huskiest men on the team, is back again for another great season at guard. Sullivan, who was generally expected to come back and play the other guard, has not returned as yet. At present "Fat" Hall, famous as a member of the Duluth senior eight this summer, is playing as Warner's tackle mate. He is full of "pep" and looks good for the position, though there will be several other good men crowding him. Two "D" men are found at each of the end positions. Mann, who starred in the Superior game last fall, and Jentoft, one of the fastest and most sensational players on the team last year, will take care of the extreme positions, and opposing backs should find no small difficulty in getting around either of the ends. Both of these men are exceedingly good at receiving forward passes. "Bob" Walsh, a three-year veteran halfback, returned to school last week and is expected to be out next week. The position of center is being taken care of by Fred Denfeld, one of the biggest men on the team and a hard and consistent player. He had a brother on the champion aggregation of two years ago. In addition to the men already mentioned, the following candidates are in the squad: Cavanaugh, Karon, Alexander, McNulty, Strange, Blair, Goggins Henderson, Fisher, Conkey, Peterson, Patterson, Shaw, Rosenberg, Abbott, Hoyt, Price, Christoferson, Bush, Strand, Ryan, Fee, Morrison, Nott and Wyly.

Nothing very definite has been announced as yet in regard to the schedule. The first contest will be with the alumni on Sept. 25. The game is more for the purpose of allowing the coach to get a real line on his men. The alumni, under Bobbie Kerr, captain of last year's Central eleven, will be out next week for several practices, and a good game will undoubtedly result. Trips will probably be made to St. Paul and Virginia, both institutions claiming championship aggregations again this year.

Little Enthusiasm in Superior.

Because of the lack of interest among the Superior Central students over the gridiron game, there is a possibility that the school from across the bay will not have a football team this fall. Heretofore this has been looked upon by the local boosters as the big game, although it was not always the hardest on the schedule of the Duluth eleven. If the game is not played this year, the Red and White management will have to look to other sources for the big game of the year. St. Paul could probably furnish this, but the game is played so far away from home that it can be attended by very few local supporters. It is the ardent desire of the most earnest backers of the Duluth team that one or two of the best elevens in the Twin City scholastic circle be brought up to drill the local enthusiasts in a real game. Whether they win or not the rooters like to see a team up against a strong opposition.

Zim in More Trouble.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Heine Zimmerman's suspension from the Cub lineup was to have expired last night but a telegram from President Tener of the National league makes the suspension indefinite because of Zimmerman's verbal abuse of Umpire Eason last Tuesday.

CENTRAL'S NEW COACH STUDIED UNDER ZUPPKE

It looks as if Coach Blake of the Central football team is going to turn out one of the best elevens this year that has represented the hill top institution in a number of seasons.

Blake spent the past summer down in the Illinois football coaching school. He came into direct and immediate contact with the methods used so successfully in the West by Bob Zuppke, the remarkably successful coach of the champion Illinois conference team.

Those who have watched the preliminary work of Central's new coach have left Athletic park boosting the stock of Blake. It is said that Blake is the type of high school football coach that knows his business and employs the proper methods to gain results.

DALTON AND KORBY WORK

Kid Billings and Little Italian Warm Up at Kane's.

O'Dowd Picked to Beat Monahan in Approaching Mill.

Kid Billings of Superior and Jerry Dalton gave a house warming party yesterday in the new Superior street gymnasium. Prof. Edward Kane held the watch and acted in the roguish role of master of ceremonies.

During the approaching week several of the boxers that are to appear on the approaching boxing card of the Duluth Athletic club, will complete their training at the new gymnasium.

Steve Gardner will take several workouts in the new place, in order that the fans may get a line on his glove progress. Dalton will also work on this side of the bay, while the first part of the week will bring O'Dowd and Monahan to Duluth.

O'Dowd Is the Star.

St. Paul Mike is the piece de resistence of the approaching card. He is the flavoring extract, so to speak. Like the handsome leading man with a heroic countenance, O'Dowd is featured.

This Mike clouts with either hand and hurts when he lands. He is always coming and possesses the lust for battle in his soul. Advance dope predicts a win for O'Dowd over Monahan.

Billy Whalen and this Dalton kid, a swarth-countenanced little son of Italy, are expected to mix heartily. Whalen is clever and possesses a nifty left hand. Dalton is expected to carry the boxing to the St. Paul boy.

Billy Hoke to Referee.

Billy Hoke of Minneapolis will be the third man in the ring. Hoke is one of the state referees and is considered cool and competent.

During the coming week all of the boxers will gather in our midst and taper off. Gardner and Billings are reported in good shape. As both Steve and Korby are exceedingly anxious to capture the local olive wreath, the meeting between the twain is expected to furnish some flustrations.

Walter Monahan is due here Monday, according to Boxing Impresario Ed Whalen. This bucko gave O'Dowd a tough and wilting bout at Hudson, as an interest gatherer for the Gibbons-McGoorty go, and is expected to make even a better showing here on Thursday evening.

MILITIA TARGET STARS TO MEET

Local militia men are planning a big competitive team shoot to be held on the Duluth rifle range, near the boulevard, Sunday, Sept. 26.

The best militia teams in the state will be invited to take part in the tournament. The crack rifle team of Co. C, Third Wisconsin National Guard has already been asked to compete.

Some of the teams that are expected to enter are: Co. C team of Duluth; Co. E and the field staff and band of the local Third infantry company; Co. C team of the First infantry of St. Paul, the best team of that city, and Co. F of the First infantry of Minneapolis.

Co. C team defeated Co. F team by 1 point at Lake City early in the summer. All of the teams that have been asked to compete represent the best shooters in the state militia. The contest is expected to bring out some fine target work.

GOOD CLOSING RACES.

Syracuse Grand Circuit Sees Some Surprises But No Records.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 18.—Three amateur and three professional races made up the program of the closing day of the Grand Circuit meeting at the state fair yesterday afternoon.

Although no records were broken there were several surprises, chief among which was the victory of Lizzie Brown in the 2:09 trot. Finishing sixth in the first heat, Valentine took the bay trotter out in front in the next three heats and was never headed, although Murphy, with Mirthful was a contender all the way.

In the 2:10 pace, Queen Abbess won in straight heats after finishing second in the first heat. Jean and Ashlook were the contenders. Ames' Al Bingen cleverly piloted by Lon McDonald, won the 2:16 trot without trouble in straight heats.

The three amateur races were keenly contested and with the exception of the free-for-all trot, brought out good fields.

RACING ARRANGEMENTS MADE IN MEXICO

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 18.—Completion of arrangements for a new race track at Tijuana, Lower California, just across the border line with 100-day annual meets, is announced here.

Agreements were said to have been reached as to the concession, with various warring Mexican factions.

KAWS ATTACK BRAVES' MONEY AT ST. LOUIS

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 18.—Boston's share of the gate receipts for the St. Louis-Boston Nationals double-header here yesterday were attached by deputy sheriffs.

The attachment was in suit for $9,000 filed by the Kansas City Association club against the Boston Nationals. The Kansas City club asked in its suit $4,000 alleged to be due for Player Bash Compton and $5,000 for the non-delivery of two players, Lawrence Gilbert and Richard Crutcher.

The funds will remin in the custody of the court until the suit is decided.

WINS COLLEGE TITLE.

R. Morris Williams Triumphs Over Princeton Man at Tennis.

Philadelphia, Sept. 18.—R. Norris Williams, representing Harvard, won the intercollegiate lawn tennis singles championship on the courts of the Merion Cricket club at Haverford yesterday by easily defeating Leonard Beekman of Princeton in the final round. The scores were: 6-2, 6-1, 6-2.

Williams held the intercollegiate title in 1913. Last year it was held by George M. Church of Princeton, who has since graduated from college.

Williams played his best tennis of the tournament in the second set, and showed flashes of the form that earned him the national honors a year ago. Beekman kept trying all the time, but never had a chance to turn the tide in his favor.

BEGINS COACHING.

Stanley Dougan Starts Work at Jamestown, N. D., College.

Jamestown, N. D., Sept. 18.—Stanley Dougan, coach for Jamestown college athletic teams, who was sold by the Winnipeg Northern league club in 1914 to the Cincinnati Reds, has arrived to open the season's work here.

Dougan did not report to the Cincinnati club this season on account of undergoing an operation last spring, and was not physically fit for the season's grind. However, he will report next year to the Reds. During his work in the Northern, Dougan showed well, being one of the league's star heavers.

ASSISTANT COACHES OF GOPHER FOOTBALL SQUAD

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 18.—Boleslaus Rosenthal and John Fitzgerald were appointed asistant football coaches to Dr. Williams at a meeting of the university board of control yesterday. Allen McBean and Dr. L. J. Shook left last night for Chicago to attend the meeting of the Big Nine basket ball coaches and managers.

James Is Pensioned.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 18.—William James, the pitcher, who was a large factor in the success of the Boston Braves last year, and whose lack of condition has handicapped them this season, has been sent home for the remainder of the season, according to dispatches from St. Louis. He was paid his year's salary, although he has been with the club only a few weeks during the season.

Baseball Pool Indictment.

Philadelphia, Sept. 18.—The United States grand jury here yesterday returned an indictment against Samuel Delk, publisher of a weekly paper in New York, charging him with violating the Federal statutes in conducting a baseball pool. He is charged with giving prizes on the results of baseball games in connection with the distribution of his paper.

N. D. Football Begins.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Football practice at the University of North Dakota was launched yesterday afternoon. Ten men reported to Coach Gill the number including Capt. Lynch, Flint, "Bob" Lowe, Fimgerson, Mann, and several of the second string men of last season. Coach Gill returned to the city several days ago to prepare for the opening of the season.

ADDITIONAL SPORTING NEWS

TY MAY MAKE NEW RECORD

Cobb Three Short of Milan's Stolen Base Mark of 1912.

Georgia Peach Recovers Batting Eye—Doyle Still Leads National.

Chicago, Sept. 18. — Tyrus Cobb has recovered his batting eye, according to averages published today. He is making his daily hit or two and this work will be of great help to the Tigers in the struggle to overhaul Boston in the American league pennant race.

Although far from the .400 mark which he established some weeks ago, Ty has added 7 points to his mark of last week. He still is in the lead with an average of .377. Speaker of Boston is the runner-up with .326, and Jackson, Chicago, next with .319. Others following this trio are: E. Collins, Chicago, .315; Crawford and Veach, Detroit, tied with .313; McInnis, Philadelphia, .311; Fournier, Chicago, .310; Trunk, Philadelphia, .301; Howard, St. Louis, and Kavanaugh, Detroit, tied with .296; Gainor, Boston, .295.

May Establish Record.

Cobb's chances to establish a new batting mark for the season are slim, but he is almost certain to establish one new mark this year. He is only three bases shy of tying the American league stolen base record—58—made by Milan of Washington in 1912. Cobb is leading the league with 85, including games of Wednesday. He also leads in runs scored with 133 and number of hits made with 189.

Detroit also claims another headliner in Sam Crawford, who leads in total bases with 253. He has made 31 doubles, 19 triples and 4 homers.

Burns, another Tiger, who has been holding the lead in home runs, has been tied by Oldring of Philadelphia. Each had five.

Detroit leads in club batting with .268; Boston is second with .264, and Chicago with .259 is third.

The leading pitchers are: Foster, Boston, 18 won, 6 lost; Ruth, Boston, 16 and 6; Shore, Boston, 17 and 7; Leonard, Boston, 13 and 6; Dauss, Detroit, 21 and 10; Coveleskie, Detroit, 22 and 11; Boland, Detroit, 12 and 6; Scott, Chicago, 21 and 11; Faber, Chicago, 22 and 12; Fisher, New York, 18 and 10; Ayers, Chicago 14 and 8; Johnson, Washington, 22 and 13; Gallia, Washington, 14 and 9; Dubuc, Detroit, 17 and 11.

Doyle Leads National.

Doyle of New York continues at the head of the National league batters. He is leading with 162 hits for an average of .319. Others are: Luderus, Philadelphia, .316; Snyder, St. Louis, .314; Daubert, Brooklyn, .311; Griffiths, Cincinnati, and Lond, St. Louis, tied with .308; Hinchman, Pittsburgh, and Merkle, New York, tied with .306; Groh, Cincinnati, .295; Robertson, New York, .294; Collins, Pittsburgh, .291; Fisher, Chicago, and T. Clarke, Cincinnati, tied with .290; Cravath, Philadelphia, .286.

Cravath holds the lead in total runs scored with 79 and in total bases with 234, and also the home run column with 22. Carey, Pittsburgh, leads in stolen bases with 36.

St. Louis is first in club batting with .259. Cincinnati is next with .257.

The leading pitchers are: Toney, Cincinnati, 13 won, 4 lost; Alexander, Philadelphia, 27 and 9; Mamaux, Pittsburgh, 20 and 7; Pfeffer, Brooklyn, 16 and 9; S. Smith, Brooklyn, 12 and 7; Pierce, Chicago, 11 and 7; Dale, Cincinnati, 18 and 12; Standridge, Chicago, 3 and 2; Ragan, Boston, 16 and 11; Coombs, Brooklyn, 13 and 9; Vaughn, Chicago, 17 and 13; Mayer, Philadelphia, 19 and 14.

In the Federals.

The leading batteries of the Federal league are: Kauff, Brooklyn, .350; Magee, Brooklyn, .342; Fischer, Chicago, .322; Rousch, Newark, .316; Campbell, Newark, .315; Bent, St. Louis, .314; Flack, Chicago, .312; Konetchy, Pittsburgh, .311; Kenworthy, Kansas City, .307; Dalton, Buffalo, .306.

Kauff leads in stolen bases with 47; Magee with 86, leads in total runs scored, and Chase, Buffalo, leads in total bases with 252 and in home runs with 17.

The leading pitchers are: McConnell, Chicago, 22 won and 9 lost; F. Allen, Pittsburgh, 21 and 10; Crandall, St. Louis, 18 and 10; M. Brown, Chicago, 14 and 8; Anderson, Buffalo, 17 and 10; Reulbach, Newark, 17 and 10; Schulz, Buffalo, 20 and 12; F. Smith, Baltimore, and Brooklyn, 10 and 6; Cullop, Kansas City, 18 and 11; Plank, St. Louis, 16 and 10.

Association Leaders.

The leading batters in the American association are: Lellvelt, Kansas City, .345; Compton, Kansas City, .343; J. Beall, Milwaukee, .339; Rondeau, Minneapolis, .337; Cashion, Minneapolis, .327; Hinchman, Kansas City, .326; Corriden, Louisville, .326; Platte, Louisville, .321; Clemons, Louisville, .312; Jennings, Minneapolis, .311; Chappelle, Milwaukee, .310.

Altizer, Minneapolis, leads in runs scored with 113; Lellvelt leads in total bases with 277; Riggert, St. Paul, is still tied with Compton for home run honors with 9 each and Kelly, Indianapolis, leads in stolen bases with 61.

Pitchers leading the league are: R. Williams, St. Paul, 15 won, 6 lost; Hall, St. Paul, 24 and 10; Schardt, Indianapolis, 21 and 11; Northrop, Louisville, 22 and 13; D. C. Williams, Minneapolis, 27 and 16; Yingling, Minneapolis, 19 and 12; Danforth, Louisville, 12 and 8; James, Cleveland, 19 and 13; Delhi, Kansas City, 21 and 15; Tipple, Indianapolis, 12 and 9.

In the International league, Gilhooley of Buffalo, tops the batters with .337 and Beebe also with Buffalo, with 25 victories and seven defeats is leading the pitchers.

Hendrix of New Orleans with .331 is leading the batters in the Southern association. Cunningham of Chattanooga is the leading pitcher. He has won 23 and lost 12 games.

SPEEDY DULUTH PACER TO CONTEST IN IRON RIVER RACES

JIM HENDERSON, 2:21.

This speedy stallion is owned by James Henderson of this city and will start tomorrow afternoon in the races to be held at Iron River, Wis. Among the other starters will be Ella M., 2:04¼; Roy Wilkes, 2:04¼, and Banzye, (trial in 2:06¼). There are twenty-five pacers and trotters in the paddock at Iron River and all will race tomorrow. Many Duluth and Superior people will attend.

BURMAN MAKES NEW MILE RECORD

Tears Loose on New Providence, R. I., Speedway.

Providence, R. I., Sept. 18.—Bob Burman broke a world's record in the first of the automobile events on the new speedway here today, covering a mile in 45.73 seconds. This was .47 of a second faster than the record made by Louis Disbrow at St. Louis in August, 1914.

Fourteen drivers, including several racers of national prominence, were entered for the 100-mile sweepstake, arranged among the entrants were Ralph De Palma, Bob Burman, Harry Grant, Ralph Mulford, Paul Sartori and Tom Alley.

FASTEST TRACK AT SHEEPSHEAD BAY

Speed of Almost 120 Hours an Hour Is Expected.

New York, Sept. 18.—Since 1910, when the last of the Vanderbilt cup contest was decided over the Long Island roads, no auto race of national importance has been held in the vicinity of New York. Today, however, when the new Sheepshead Bay speedway and sports arena will be formally opened, the Eastern owners and drivers of high speed racing cars will be afforded an opportunity of testing what promises to be one of the fastest tracks in existence. After an automobile parade, under the auspices of the Motor club of New York, has reached the course, today there will be time trials and record tryouts over the new two-mile course, which has a surface of wood in preference to one of brick or concrete. Engineers and racing autoists believe that the smooth surface and the curved banks will induce a speed of almost 120 miles an hour on this track, which has been constructed by men who had the advantage of studying the construction of the Chicago, Indianapolis and other new tracks throughout the country.

The first big prize to be contested for over the course will be the Astor cup, a silver challenging trophy, donated by Vincent Astor, for which there will be five annual competitions at Sheepshead Bay.

Each year the cup will be entrusted to the custody of the entrant of the winning car for twelve months. At the end of five years the cup will be awarded outright to the entrant whose cars shall have earned the greatest number of points during that period in the annual races. In addition to this trophy cash prizes amounting to $50,000 will be divided among the placed drivers in the event, $20,000 in gold being apportioned as the winner's share.

Two weeks hence, Saturday, Oct. 2, the initial Astor cup contest will bring together thirty-two of the fastest cars ever built. They will be manned by foreign and American drivers whose skill and daring are unquestioned and experts predict that the Astor cup inauguration race of 350 miles at Sheepshead Bay will be the greatest of all speed struggles during which new records will be established.

It is expected that the average speed of the winning car will exceed 100 miles an hour—something that has not, as yet, been seen in the East. The elimination trials have been set for Sept. 24, 25 and 27 over the two-mile circuit, which is made up of two straightaways and two curves of a half mile each.

THREE-CUSHION CAROM BILLIARDS

Slosson Will Enter Coming Tournament at Three-Cushions.

New York, Sept. 18.—George F. Slosson, the veteran billiard player, whose balk-line cue work has won him an enviable reputation internationally, has decided to enter the ranks of the three-cushion carom players. He will represent New York in the Interstate league contests which will begin next week and continue until early in May, next year. In addition to his strong balk-line play Slosson for many years has been considered a master cuelst at single cushions, and his many friends predict that at three cushions he will prove to be equally adept.

The entry of "The Student," as Slosson is familiarly known in the world of billiards, will add a great deal of interest in the coming tournament, which opens with games at Cleveland, Indianapolis, Milwaukee and Pittsburgh next Monday night. In all twenty-five players will take part in the tourney which will consist of over 600 games, representing fifteen cities. In addition to those named the itinerary includes the following cities: Chicago, St. Louis, Detroit, Cincinnati, Toledo, Buffalo, Rochester, Boston, Philadelphia, Brooklyn and New York.

GREAT RECORD OF TENNIS CHAMPION

William M. Johnston Played 269 Games of Which He Won 163.

New York, Sept. 18.—In winning the national tennis singles title at Forest Hills recently, William M. Johnston of San Francisco played seven matches in eight days, defeating in turn H. H. Hackett, C. C. Pell, D. A. Watters, K. Behr, C. J. Griffin, R. N. Williams and M. E. McLoughlin. At the beginning the youth from the Pacific coast found himself in one of the hardest sections of the draw and his feat in coming through and winning the championship left no question in the minds of tennis followers as to his right to the ranking of foremost player of the year.

A study of Johnston's section of the draw and the record he made therein shows that he played and won seven matches against the best of the Eastern and Western racquet wielders. During these matches Johnston faced opponents in twenty-seven sets, of which he captured all but six. Reduced still further the score sheets prove that his progress through the tournament was accomplished by playing 269 games, of which he won 163 and lost 106.

The complete record of the tournament which opened with an entry of 128 players showed three defaults in the first sixty-four matches, after which every contestant was on the baseline when the umpire called "play." As a result there were 124 matches held, aggregating 445 sets and 4,183 games.

WONDERFUL ABILITY OF TY COBB SHOWN

New York, Sept. 18.—The complete record of Ty Cobb's ten years in major league baseball is a clear index of the wonderful ability of this diamond star. Cobb joined the Detroit club on Aug. 26, 1905, and during the decade in which he has played for the Tigers has rolled up a grand batting average of .358 in 1,239 games. In this period Cobb went to bat 4,685 times, making 1,729 hits and 875 runs. He also has 485 stolen bases to his credit, an average of 48 and a fraction a year.

DR. DUMBA LEAVES NEW YORK BAG AND BAGGAGE

New York, Sept. 18.—Dr. Constantin T. Dumba, the Austro-Hungarian ambassador, it was learned today, left his hotel here at midnight last night. According to the hotel officials Dr. Dumba gave up his suite, took all his baggage with him and declined to state his destination. It is believed, however, that he went to Washington. Mrs. Dumba is in that city.

NEW PORTRAIT OF GERMANY'S HERO

GEN. VON HINDENBURG.

This new portrait of Germany's hero is accompanied by a message which may be translated freely, "May the spirit of 1914-15 remain with us!" There have been reports that Hindenburg had fallen into disfavor with the kaiser but these seem to be contradicted by the fact that one of Germany's new warships just launched has been named after him.

PROCTOR DRUGGIST'S FATE UP TO COURT

H. J. Schell May Not Escape With Payment of Fine.

Whether H. J. Schell, the Proctor pharmacist, who was convicted of illegally selling intoxicating liquor, by a jury in Judge Fesler's court yesterday, will have to go to jail or not remains with the judge. It was learned this afternoon that the minimum sentence is $50 and thirty days in the county jail. Mr. Schell will be brought in for sentence next Monday along with Onni Maki, who was convicted this week of third degree robbery.

William Larson, the Rice Lake farmer who was convicted of assaulting Christ Melin with a jug of whisky during an altercation following a somewhat tumultuous school meeting in the Rice Lake district last July, was brought into Judge Fesler's court this morning and sentenced to pay a $200 fine, which he will do.

Monday morning the case of the state against Charles E. Pearson, charged with forgery, will go to trial before a jury in Judge Dancer's court. It is alleged by the state that Pearson testified falsely last spring during the trial of a civil action in Judge Fesler's court.

WILL EXTEND MANY MAINS

Council Will Pass on Work Costing About $15,000.

Sewer, gas and water extensions involving about $15,000 will be passed upon, to come up for consideration at the regular meeting of the city council Monday afternoon.

Most of the resolutions prepared by City Clerk Walter Borgen for their first reading are from the offices of Works Commissioner Farrell or Utilities Commissioner Merritt. Little of moment will be brought up aside from these improvement contracts.

Commissioner Farrell will ask for $300 to be used in constructing an iron stairway on the east side of the Lake avenue viaduct, to connect with the sidewalk on the south side of Michigan street. This will cover half the expense, the other half to be born by the Crane & Ordway company.

This work is the first step towards a system of viaducts and approaches in the wholesale and commission district. Eventually Commissioner Farrell plans to have a complete chain of viaducts from Lake avenue to Sixth avenue west.

Three hundred dollars also will be sought for a concrete bridge over the interscection of Columbus avenue and Hardy street.

A contract for furnishing fifty tons of asphalt cement, probably will be awarded to the Barber Asphalt Pavement company on their bid of $21.30 per gross ton. The sum of $1,200 is to be appropriated for purchasing asphalt.

Three sewer jobs will be considered. They call for a sewer in Seventeenth street between Seventeenth and Eighteenth avenues east, in Water street from Twenty-third to Twenty-fourth avenues east and in Eleventh street from Seventh to Eighth avenues east.

ELEVATOR S MAKES UNLOADING RECORD

Averages More Than Thirty-One Cars Per Hour.

Great Northern Elevator S at Superior yesterday established a new record for unloading wheat from cars, when 423 cars were unloaded in thirteen and a half hours, or an average of 31.33 cars per hour. The former record for this house is 28.8 cars per hour. Both were made in the regular course of business and both are world records, so far as known.

The 423 cars contained 537,989 bushels of wheat, or an average of nearly 1,272 bushels per car.

In the process of unloading after the cars are "spotted" at the pits, the grain doors are removed from one side, the grain shoveled out with power shovels, the cars swept and the grain doors from both sides reclaimed by the McNulty company, after which the empty cars are sent on their way back to the prairies for more grain.

The Great Northern railway yard service is given a large amount of credit for the manner in which the cars were handled, the remarkable part of it being the fact that the 423 loaded cars were all "spotted" at the elevator pits and the empty cars taken away by one switching crew.

This elevator is receiving from 300,000 to 500,000 bushels daily, and in judging the speed of its work it should be remembered that like amounts must be shipped daily, otherwise the house would "plug."

SUPERIOR

Tag Day for Children.

Today is tag day in Superior. The proceeds will go to the Children's home at Billings park. The city is being thoroughly canvassed by workers, who have the city divided into ten districts. The committee in charge hopes to realize a large amount toward the support of the institution during the day.

County Fair Opens Tuesday.

The fifth annual Douglas county fair will open Tuesday in Superior. A large amount of livestock as well as products of the soil is expected to be exhibited. Practically all available space at the exposition building has been taken, according to L. P. Lord, secretary of the fair association.

SAYS AMERICANS FIRED FIRST SHOT

Carranza Agent Declares Troopers Shot at Mexicans.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Col. Blocksom, commanding the border patrol on the scene of yesterday's firing near Brownsville, reported to the war department today saying:

"It was evident that the attack was made by Carranza soldiers, and that their commander endeavored to make it appear that our soldiers fired first."

The Carranza version of the affray, as given in dispatches to the agency here, is that the Mexicans were watering horses when they were fired upon by American troopers, and that the Mexicans did not return the fire. The agency announced that Eliseo Arredono, the Carranza agent, would ask the state department to investigate and take steps to prevent American troopers from firing across the border.

WILL BE GIVEN CONSIDERATION

Germany Will Carefully Look Over Evidence Concerning Arabic.

Berlin, Sept. 18, via London.—The German government will give its careful consideration to the evidence concerning the circumstances which attended the sinking of the steamer Arabic, submitted by the American government through Ambassador Gerard. Gottlieb von Jagow, the German foreign minister, made a statement to this effect in an interview last night with the Associated Press.

BRAINERD DAMAGED BY SEVERE STORM

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald)—A severe storm near midnight tore down trees, broke electric lights and wires and plunged the city into darkness. Rain fell in torrents. The North side and business sections had light restored, but the South side continued dark all night. Two Finns were shocked but not killed by contact with live wires.

RUSSIAN POSITIONS TAKEN BY GERMANS

Front Also Broken Up at Several Points Near Vilna.

Berlin, Sept. 18, via London 5:30 p. m.—Russian advanced positions have been taken in an attack on the Dvinsk bridgehead and the Russian front has been broken through to the south at several points between Vilna and the Niemen river, it was officially announced by German army headquarters today.

The text of the statement follows:

"Western theater of war: Enemy ships that appeared off Dunkirk were attacked by our airmen and one destroyer was hit.

"On the western front the French vainly attempted to retake a portion of the trenches near Perthes.

"Eastern theater of war:

"Enemy attacks near Szhick have been repelled.

"Our attack on the Dvinsk bridgehead continues. A portion of the enemy advanced positions has been taken.

"Near Vilna our troops continue to advance. Between Vilna and the Niemen river the Russia front has been broken through at several points. Since early this morning the enemy has been in retreat. The captures made were 26 officers, 5,580 men and 16 machine guns.

"The right wing of this army and the army group of Prince Leopold of Bavaria has sent strong forces across the Szczara. The enemy is weakening.

"Army group of Field Marshal von Mackensen:

"In the region of Telechany-Logischin, south of Pinsk, the enemy has been further driven back. In the pursuit from Pinsk the number of prisoners has been increased to 21 officers and 2,500 men, while nine machine guns have been taken.

"Southeastern theater of war—The Russians are in retreat before the German troops."

FORMER MAYOR PLEADS GUILTY OF EMBEZZLING

Ansonia, Conn., Sept. 18.—Former Mayor Franklin Burton pleaded guilty in the city court to a charge of embezling $36,000 of the funds of the Savings Bank of Ansonia, of which he was treasurer. The directors stated today that all claims against the institution would be met and that the surplus of $80,000 will more than cover any shortage.

Between 250 and 300 Delegates Expected at Duluth Convention

Federated Luncheon Will Be Chief Social Affair of Week---Many Interesting Speeches on the Program---Friday Will Be "Play Day."

Delegates will arrive Monday to attend the twenty-first annual convention of the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs.

Any interested woman may attend any session and take part in the discussions but only accredited delegates will be entitled to voting privileges. The local committee on arrangements extends to the men of the city an invitation to attend the evening programs at which talks will be made by prominent women of the state and country and musical numbers given by members of the Matinee Musicale. The sessions will be held at the First Methodist church where luncheon will be served by the women of the church Tuesday and Wednesday from 12 to 1 o'clock and dinner will be served Wednesday evening from 6 to 7 o'clock. There will be exhibits of community houses, useful birds and other things of interest in the church parlors.

Convention Headquarters.

The Spalding hotel, will be the convention headquarters. Here will be held the executive board meeting Monday evening and the federation luncheon and the reception to delegates, visitors and Duluth club women Thursday afternoon.

The Thursday evening session will be held at the Masonic temple.

Isabel Pearson Fuller, musical director of the Matinee Musical, has prepared a program for the convention; several numbers will be given at the Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evening sessions.

The chief social affair of the week will be the federated luncheon. As between 250 and 300 delegates are expected, many of whom will want to attend the luncheon, it is necessary that reservations be made early. Tickets that have not been paid for by Wednesday noon will not be considered sold. The members of the luncheon committee, Mrs. F. J. O'Donnell, Mrs. Fred Sermon and Mrs. R. Spiegel will be at the church in the room marked "federation luncheon committee" all day Tuesday, Tuesday evening and until noon on Wednesday to give out the tickets. Some of the best talks of the convention will be made at this luncheon. Immediately after it the reception will be held in the Spalding parlors.

Friday as "Play Day."

Friday, which has been proclaimed as "play day," will be as full of recreation as the other days will be full of interesting and instructive addresses and discussions. For the morning the Commercial club has arranged a boat trip up the river to the Spirit Lake branch of the boat club, where the women will take the train to the Model City and the steel plant. At 1 o'clock the Commercial club will give a luncheon at the country club for the delegates, including delegates from Duluth clubs. Others who wish to attend this luncheon may make arrangements with Mrs. R. N. Marble. At 3 o'clock there will be an automobile drive over the boulevard and to the city and county work farm. "Play day" will be brought to a close with the Greek pageant, which will be given at the curling club at 8 o'clock at which national and state officers will occupy boxes and for which many organizations have reserved either boxes or blocks of seats.

Among those who will serve as ushers at the regular sessions and social functions are:

Mesdames—
Jack Sneve, Rene Hugo, G. B. Gifford, S. E. Atkins,
Harry Sleepack, T. L. Chapman, W. H. Rattenbuy.

Misses—
Helen Fraker, Helen Williams, Ramona Hoopes, Mildred Washburn, Hope Washburn, Margaret Elder, Esther Coffin, Madeline Miller, Helen Potter, Mary Emily Merritt, Juanita Williams, Lydia Nelson, Gladys Segog, Helen Mahon, Dorothy Crosby, Martha Wall, Buelah Magner, Jane Van Bergen, Merlin Magner, Addie Smith, Helen Smith, Chelsie Final, Dorothy Baker, Marie Clark, Margaret Florada, Elsa Bieberman, Buelah Hubbard.

Suffrage Talks.

Members of the Minnesota Woman's Suffrage association and the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage will give a series of talks at the headquarters and at street meetings. Ten will be served Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons at 5 o'clock at 205 West Superior street, members of the local suffrage association acting as hostesses. Among the speakers will be Mrs. Andreas Ueland of Minneapolis, president of the state suffrage association; Mrs. Gertrude S. Hunter of Minneapolis, secretary of the Minnesota branch and national organizer of the Congressional union, and Mrs. Benton MacKaye of Minneapolis, formerly of Washington, D. C., a member of the advisory council of the Congressional union.

Mrs. C. L. Atwood of St. Cloud, the state president, is hoping for some fruitful discussions at the council meeting, which will be held Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock. New matters for which there will be little time at the regular sessions may be presented and threshed out at this meeting. Topics that seem especially pertinent to the president and on which discussion is invited are:

1. "How to make committee work more effective."
2. "Plans for increasing the federation's usefulness to the club specializing in a single subject."
3. "How we may keep clubs from becoming discouraged by the presentation of so much work."
4. "Practical work in county federations and for county fairs."

Conditions Governing Drama League Contest

The following are the conditions governing the contest for the $50 prize offered by the Duluth Center of the Drama League of America for the best one-act play:

No limitations are imposed as to the types of plays to be submitted, except that each play must run from fifteen to thirty minutes. Adaptations, translations and sketches with musical features are not desired. No plays previously staged will be considered. Competitors must be members of the Duluth center of the drama league. Each play submitted must be signed with pseudonym only and accompanied by a sealed envelope, bearing on the outside the title of the play and the author's pseudonym and inclosing the author's real name and address. Manuscripts must be clear typewritten copies sent by mail, addressed as follows: "Manuscript for Drama League play contest, the Northern National bank, Duluth, Minn."

Plays may be submitted at any time between Sept. 16 and Jan. 1. Each competitor may submit as many plays as he chooses. Competitors are requested to keep copies of their plays. Unavailable manuscripts will not be returned unless accompanied by postage. Upon receipt, each manuscript will be stamped with a number and the accompanied sealed envelope containing the author's real name will be stamped with the same number. All sealed envelopes so received will be deposited with the Northern National bank and none opened until after the prize play is chosen. The two or three most actable plays received will be staged by the Drama league players at the Little theater in February, the exact date to be announced later. All members of the Drama league who are present at this performance will pass in signed votes for the prize play. These votes will be counted and announcement of the winning play made the same evening. Each competitor is requested to keep secret his competition in order that votes may be cast without knowledge of the authorship of the plays. In this way the contest will be unquestionably fair. If no play of requisite merit is received there will be no performance or award.

PERFECT BEAUTY

The fashion of the present day requires that the complexion of the well-groomed woman shall be clear and of snowy whiteness. The regular use of will bestow the charms that are so admired. Gouraud's Oriental Cream is a liquid powder, far surpassing the dry powders that have to be applied so frequently to gain the desired effect. It whitens, softens and clears the skin. It is absolutely free from grease and consequently does not encourage the growth of hair.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Public Service Question.

Looking over the periodicals of the country and the daily headlines in the newspapers one cannot fail to note the passion for public service and betterment that is firing the thinking portion of our people. Admittedly our cherished systems of education have fallen far short of the mark. The heads of our great industries complain that our young men are only lukewarmly loyal to the interests they represent and mildly interested in their vocations. Some of these leaders have advocated the development of vocational schools for the proper training of young men after the manner of these schools which have been highly successful in Germany.

A mass of verbiage and red tape, at first, these movements for improvement and reform and for amelioration seem to be getting down to a more practical basis and to achieve results. In a few years we may hope that it will not take $100 in official salaries and intricate bookkeeping to do $20 worth of good, and that various abuses of this sort will be conspicuous by their absence.

But the millennium will not come all at once, and we suppose that as heretofore the best efforts of the most single-minded reformers will be well nigh swamped at some stage by the crowds of apparent co-operators who clamber on to the band wagon, and with an eye to self-advertisement toot merrily on their own trumpets.

To anyone who has been a little on the inside of these humanitarian movements, this is a discouragement to make the stoutest wring his hands as he sees his beloved plan for the saving of the race shrivel and wax feeble and distorted in the baleful air of the personal jealousies, dishonesties and vanities of its shouting votaries.

But undaunted will power to handle men and genuine devotion to the cause will avail much, if allied to practical methods, in overturning this clog to the progress of true reform. There then remains another serious obstacle, requiring patience to surmount. It is the callousness or crass ignorance or indifference of the objects of reform.

Franklin School Will Have Mothers' Club

E. A. Mooney, principal of the Franklin school, is making plans for the organization of a Mothers' club before the beginning of the convention of the Minnesota Federation of Women's clubs Monday evening.

An attempt was made to organize a Mothers' club at Franklin last year but as the building was crowded it was impossible to use any of the rooms for a meeting before 4 o'clock, which was too late. Mr. Mooney hopes, by a great deal of shifting in the classes, to make it possible for meetings to be held at 3:30 o'clock.

HOW WAR AFFECTS WOMEN'S STYLES

Students of style and its development are interested at present in the marked effect which the war continues to exert on styles in women's apparel. There will be many illustrations of this in the fall opening exhibit (beginning at 2 o'clock today). The above sketch illustrates the military tendency which seems to be gathering momentum rather than losing it as the war goes on. This model features navy blue gabardine, high martin collar in the new choker style, with seven rows of military braid edging the coat and cuffs. The jacket is full and "flarey," with the popular box swing. Frogs on the front of the coat heighten the resemblance to a man's uniform.

Church Meetings.

The quarterly rally of the Philathea union will be held at the First Presbyterian church Monday evening at 7:45 o'clock.

The Philatheas have invited all the Baraca classes of the city to be present, also all adult classes interested in the Baraca-Philathea work.

The report of the delegate to the Worldwide Baraca-Philathea convention at Los Angeles will be given. Miss Alice Fogerty, Miss Jessie McGhie and J. R. Batchelor will sing some of the convention songs with Miss Lillian Macaskill as accompanist.

The Philathea union banner will be awarded to the class having the largest percentage present, and plans will be discussed for this year's work.

Miss Berg and Miss Gonska Open New Piano Studio

Miss Frances Berg and Miss Ethel Gonska, who formerly attended the College of Music of Cincinnati, have opened a piano studio at No. 2 Edison building. Miss Berg was graduated from the College of Music in June with the highest honors; Miss Gonska received a certificate as teacher of piano and took a course in normal training. Both studied piano with the well-known instructor, Albino Gorno, and theory with the composer, Louis Victor Saar.

In connection wtih their private work they will have classes in elementary harmony, ear training and sight singing.

Doll Collection Is Feature of Bazar

Babies, fashionable women and representatives of foreign countries will be among the dolls which will be sold by the Junior Guild at St. James at the bazar, which will be held all next week at the auditorium for the benefit of St. James' orphanage. The chairmen of the Junior guild are Miss Marie Craig, Miss Margaret Comstock and Miss Eunice Brotherton. In addition to dolls, flowers and cretonne covered boxes of homemade candy will be sold at this booth, and in connection with it will be an ice cream booth, decorated with snowballs, which will be in charge of Mrs. John Comstock.

Mrs. George E. Vincent, wife of President Vincent, of the University of Minnesota has sent a doll to represent the state university. There will be a baby doll from the White House, a "mammy" from Mississippi, twins, "Duluth" and "Superior," a doll from the San Francisco exposition, one from Sioux City, Ia., twelve dressed in the habit of the Little Sisters of the Poor, a Red Cross nurse, a Scotch lassie, a Belgian girl, a Polish pensant, a Japanese child and three dressed in the Villa Scholastica colors.

The up-to-the-minute representatives of dolldom will include the one on display in the Glass Block window, the gift of Mrs. William Hobe; a Chicago model; the "flirt," given by Miss Anna Fitzpatrick, and a woman of fashion, given by Miss Winifred Burns, and dressed in a copy of her Mayflower gown.

Greek Pageant Planned for Entertainment of Club Women Arousing Widespread Interest

The city-wide interest in the Greek pageant has resulted in enlisting most of the organizations of the city in the success of this, the first big social event of the season, and at the same time in giving all the young people an opportunity for doing something for the Minnesota State Federation of Women's Clubs.

The 200 participants have been chosen for fitness and ability. The first stage rehearsal was held this morning at the curling club. The Nymphs, whose pictures are published tonight, are candidates for first honors, as today's rehearsal found them almost perfect. Their dance, a beautiful symbolic series of tableaux, expresses the worship of Diana, goddess of the hunt, and will be given to Hoffman's "Tales from the Venetian Woods."

"Box Row," of three sections of twenty boxes each, which has been built into the rink, has also proven its popularity during the week, all of the boxes in two of the sections being disposed of. Most popular of all has been the school pupils concession, which allows every pupil the privilege of leaving school in time for the matineee Friday afternoon. The matinee will begin at 3:30. Over 100 patrons and patronesses from Duluth, Superior and the range towns are lending support and backing to the pageant. Many of them are box holders, or will have a row of seats. The delegates to the state convention will have a whole section reserved. Dinner parties will precede the pageant and after theater supper parties will be enjoyed in the "Tea Shop," in charge of the women of the Baptist church. This will be made gala with brilliant decorations, and attractive girls assisting the hostesses.

Mrs. C. T. Mears is general chairman of the "Tea Shop." Col. and Mrs. Graves were the first to reserve tables at the "Tea Shop."

The patrons and patronesses of the pageant are:

Normal School Notes

The registration at the Duluth Normal school this week has reached 311, many new pupils having entered late.

* * *

Miss Maude Amberg of Grand Rapids, who has been teaching at Trout Lake for the past two years has returned this week to enter the senior class.

* * *

Miss Zeolide Borge of Osseo, Minn., returned the first of the week, illness having prevented her from returning sooner.

* * *

Other students registering during the week were: Helen Greely of Virginia, Minn.; Nina Olmsted of Eagle River, Wis.; Helen Dryer of Duluth, Edith McComber and Jean O'Brien of Kenwood, Marguerite E. McCann of St. Paul, Elizabeth Pfautz and Marian C. Fitger of Duluth.

* * *

Miss Agnes Kinsman of Buhl, Minn., has withdrawn from school because of illness.

* * *

The Misses Amy Zakariasen, Mae Keenan and Mabel Surrat of the training department are taking charge of the first and second grades this week during Miss Brown's absence.

* * *

Rev. R. S. Stevenson of Bellefontaine, Ohio, visited school on Wednesday. He was a guest of Miss Horne for lunch at Torrance Hall.

* * *

Mrs. Helen Shores Savage and Mrs. A. E. Walker were dinner guests on Tuesday evening at Torrance Hall. After dinner in the club rooms at Washburn Hall Mrs. Savage gave the girls a lesson in social dancing, which was thoroughly enjoyed.

* * *

All those interested in glee club work met with Miss Melvia Danielson, supervisor of music, last Thursday at chorus period. About fifty young women were present, which promises a year of good work.

* * *

It has been the custom of E. A. Van Cleef, instructor in geography and physics, to supplement his classroom work by excursions. Last year this divergence from the regular routine proved to be very popular among the students. On Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 15, the first excursion of this year was held, about fifty being in attendance. The destination of the excursionists was the Lyceum theater, where the Lyman H. Howe pictures are being shown this week. Special rates were secured through the efforts of Mr. Van Cleef.

The new sewing room in the basement at the east end of the school building has been equipped, and regular classes began Monday of this week. This is in the new addition built last year, but has not been used until this term. It is a great improvement over the old room on the third floor and can accommodate a great many more students. The new cooking laboratory and dining room are also in that part of the building, but they will not be ready for use for six weeks. Until then classes will meet in the old department on the third floor. The cooking classes began this week with canning fruit and next week the students will make jelly.

The maximum attendance of the kindergarten, which is forty, has been reached. Twelve students have been enrolled in the junior kindergarten training class, this being the limited number admitted. The girls have been making dolls, prepared for doll day on Friday. Dolls of all nationalities were represented and the day was very interesting to the little ones.

* * *

Miss Ghering, supervisor of the kindergarten department, has recently returned from a summer spent in California, where she attended the International Kindergarten convention, which met at the exposition in San Francisco. Miss Ghering went as a delegate from the Duluth-Superior Kindergarten branch.

* * *

All of last year's graduating class who desired to teach this year, were successful in obtaining positions. Miss Mary A. Boyle of this city is teaching the second grade at Sauk Center. Miss Grace McDonald is employed in the Villard schools; the Misses Edith Ressler and Edith Curtis are at Warba; Miss Alice Pastoret is one of the kindergarten teachers at Aurora, and the Misses Rose Buckley and Ruth Lindale are working in the kindergarten department at Ely. Announcements as to where other members of the class of 1915 are employed will be made later.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Classes and Organizations at Central School All Active—Spectator to Appear Next Week—Cadets Will Begin Year's Work.

The close of the second week at Central high school finds the students well settled after their long vacation. The usual preliminary work has been well disposed of and the school will soon settle down into the regular routine. The several established organizations of the school are beginning to reorganize, and there will as usual be a few new ones. The election of officers of the several classes will also be one of the features of the first month, the seniors having already had theirs. Outside of their studies, the chief interest of the students seems to center in the approaching football season, the most popular phase of athletics in the school.

Members of the senior class met in the assembly hall Monday following the close of school and held their annual election of officers. Willard Thorp was re-elected president; Margaret Randall succeeded Helen Wannebo as vice president; Ila Whiteside was chosen for the position of secretary, and Phil Mars was selected again as the treasury head. Henry Jenswold and Edward Smith were elected sergeants-at-arms, and Albert Armstrong was made mascot.

Next Monday afternoon the members of the junior class will elect officers for the year, the meeting having been called by their last year's president, George Lawson. The following Monday the sophomores will elect, and the week following that, the freshmen will hold their initial meeting. In the meantime the freshmen have been urged to be considering their selections for the first year.

The Zenith board was unusually active during the week just closed. The members of the board have an extensive advertising campaign ahead of them, and to carry it out they will have to have some money. Several good ideas have been used by them to raise funds, the most noticeable of which was the sale of old Zeniths in chapel yesterday morning. Zeniths, dating as far back as 1902, were wrapped up and sold to the students for 10 cents each. Nearly $40 was realized in the few minutes it took to sell the books.

The board plans to allow the students credit in buying the books. Slips will be issued to the students upon their promise to later pay the required amount. This will probably be done in November. Another sale for cash will be held some time after the beginning of the second semester. Work is already being done by the students and the prizes will soon be announced. The book will be printed again this year by the manual training department, under the supervision of Robert Rankin.

Editor Garon has an unusually active board. They have been divided into committees and the majority of the work will be done in that manner. The regular meetings of the board will be held about once a month, there being, of course, causes for special meetings between. The members of the board, divided into their respective committees, are as follows: Chronicles, Irving Auld, Ruth Coe, Willard Thorp; individual write-ups, Eleanor Currie, Pearl Deathrage, Inez Haugsrud; organizations, Norman Tuffy, Katharine Birch, Lucille Collins; features, Ruth Hoxie, Margaret Jeffrey, Edwin Pearson Eva Tarbutton; executive, Sam Gofen, Ben Rasmussen, Skull Hrutford.

The first number of The Spectator, the new school paper, will make its appearance next Wednesday. This will be in the form of an introductory issue, and one copy will be given to each student. Subscriptions will be taken next week, although several of them have already been received. The subscription price is 50 cents a year, this to include both the newspaper and the special magazine or feature numbers. The paper will contain four pages and will be issued once a week. The pages will be 8 by 12 inches and will contain three columns. It is the decision of the members of the staff that no expense will be spared to keep the paper up to the very best standards, both in news and attractiveness. It is the hope of the staff to get at least half of the students in school to subscribe for the publication, thus assuring it a success financially.

With one exception the board remains as originally selected. Beatrice Miller was appointed to the position of society editor, following the resignation of Mildred Wahl. The members of the staff, therefore, are as follows: Lawrence Moore, editor-in-chief; Jacob Garon, newspaper editor; Willard Thorp, magazine editor; Edwin Pearson, business manager; Galen Pearsons, assistant business manager; class reporters, Allace Cowen, Evelyn Ahlen and Earl Hanson; sporting editor, Lawrence Moore; society editress, Beatrice Miller; exchange editor, Sam Gofen; art and photo editors, Clinton Brooke and John Miller; literary editors, Katharine Birch, Grace Russell, Juanita Small; alumni editress, Vina Walz; debate editor, Max Goldberg; humorous editors, Irving Auld and Sarah Weinberg.

The musical organizations of the school had their first rehearsals last week, and promises are evident of a very successful season in musical circles. Mrs. Dixon has charge of the boys' and girls glee clubs and of the choir. Under the direction of E. R. Hodson, it is expected that this year's orchestra will be one of the best that the school has ever had. A large number reported for the initial rehearsal and there will be several more new members out next week.

* * *

The first meeting of the cadets was held at the old armory following the close of school Wednesday. The meeting was not very well advertised and there were not very many in attendance. It is the plan of the leaders, however, to organize into two or three companies as soon as possible, and then the rifles and ammunition may be obtained. Last year was merely an experiment, and the results gained were entirely satisfactory. Under the tutelage of Col. C. C. Jones, the boys became well versed in the various maneuvers incidental to preliminary training. This year it is planned to accomplish greater results. As soon as the rifles are obtained, target practice will be held on the local rifle range and more outdoor work will be done.

OLD-FASHIONED WALTZ AND TWO-STEP RETURNING TO FAVOR

The old-fashioned waltz is coming back.

And so is the two-step, with a few variations, according to L. C. Coffin, local dancing instructor, who says that the popular dances of the last few years are fast disappearing.

"Throughout the East the old-fashioned waltz is being received with open arms by those who have been unable to master the new steps," said Mr. Coffin, "and as a result programs that formerly contained nothing but hesitations and one-steps, now include three or four waltzes. The fox trots, so popular in the East and at fashionable resorts last summer, are merely the old-fashioned two-step, with a few variations and side steps."

Mr. Coffin said that at a convention of dancing masters in New York recently it was predicted that the old-fashioned waltz would in a short time replace the hesitation altogether, while the two-step will return with a few variations, including one-step movements that are so popular with the dancers today.

Because the tango has been so vulgarized by cabaret dancers, instructors throughout the country propose to create a new dance for those desiring fancy steps for the ball room, Mr. Coffin said. It will be a combination of the one-step, fox trot and some tango turns.

COVER YOUR PLANTS! FROST IS PREDICTED

Weather Forecaster Richardson announced this morning that anybody who has plants worth protecting had better pay attention to them, for tonight there is a frost due.

"Light frost or better," is the way he puts it, instead of "light or worse."

This frost is predicted for Northeastern Minnesota and Northern Wisconsin, and in the opinion of the weather observer, is likely to be a heavy one.

CLASS TRIES ITS HAND AT JOURNALISM

Last evening the Philathea class of the First Methodist church gave a banquet to the Baraca class, and "got up a newspaper." The plunge into journalism had no deteriorating effect on either class or their personnel, but, on the contrary, added to the pleasure of the affair. As a whole the banquet was a success and a very delightful affair, and many pleasing things were indulged in, but the piece de resistance was the newspaper stunt. Everybody took a try at it, and some choice bits of news-getting and writing formed the result.

Every department of a modern daily was attended to, including foreign news, sporting, woman's page, editorials, want ads, lost and found, and the comics. Each department was given about fifteen minutes for writing and assembling and then the result of the labor was read aloud. Five judges awarded prizes to the following departments:

First, foreign news; second, sporting section, and third, editorial; the latter even though the editors wrote on both sides of the paper.

BELIEVE BERGMAN MURDERED BY YEGGS

Robbers Thought to Have Slain Man to Secure His Car.

The funeral of Gustav Vern Bergman, aged 24, whose body was found six miles from Buffalo, Minn, last Monday, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the First Swedish M. E. church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street. Rev. C. W. R. Wermine will officiate. Interment will be in the Union cemetery at Hermantown.

No new clues have developed in the mystery. Postoffice and store robberies that occurred early in August in Wilkin, Wadena, Grant and Todd counties have caused the police officials to believed that yeggmen may have murdered the man in order to get possession of his automobile. In four villages of these counties residents report having seen four men in a new Ford. The theory that the yeggmen are Bergman's murderers was advanced yesterday by Symphony D. Brown, superintendent of the office of the Minnesota Bankers' Protective association at Minneapolis. Six robberies in August committed, it is alleged, by men seen in an automobile, are cited by Brown in support of his theory.

WEST END WOMAN STRUCK BY TRAIN

Mrs. Joseph Zywicki Sustains Serious Injuries; Now in Hospital.

While picking coal in the railroad yards of the Soo line near her home early last evening Mrs. Joseph Zywicki, aged 33, No. 2106 West Michigan street, was run down by the east-bound passenger train of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic. Her left arm was badly mutilated, necessitating amputation at the socket.

Mrs. Zywicki's condition is reported critical at St. Mary's hospital this morning, owing principally to the shock and the loss of blood. Hospital attendants are optimistic in the belief that she will recover.

Train No. 8 was leaving the city on its night trip to the East. In the dusk it is believed the woman failed to notice the approach of the passenger train, and she was not seen until too late by the train crew.

The woman's husband is employed at the Clyde Iron works. He was immediately notified, and assisted by Police Lieut. Holmstrom he put her in a jitney car and rushed her to the hospital. Dr. C. L. Haney attended the case.

CATHOLIC PARISHES TO OPEN BIG BAZAR

Effort Will Be Made to Clear Debt of St. James' Orphanage.

Catholics of the diocese of Duluth will join next week, beginning Monday, in holding a bazar, Sept. 20 to 25, for the purpose of raising $13,000 to pay off the indebtedness of St. James' orphanage. The bazar will be held at the Auditorium, which is considered well located for the affair.

It is expected that every town, village and parish in Northeastern Minnesota will co-operate. Men, women and children of the diocese are working to make the affair a success with the hope of leaving the home to the children free from all indebtedness.

Since the beautiful home at the end of the Woodland car line was erected five years ago, every possible effort has been made to clear it of debt, and this work has been helpful in reducing the debt. It is planned now to wipe out the last obligation of the home.

Articles from every part of the diocese have been pouring in for some time, and the booths will be filled to overflowing before the opening day.

PREPARING FOR PROTECTORATE

United States Formally Recognizes New President of Haiti.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Formal recognition has been accorded by the United States government to the new government in Haiti, headed by President D'Artiguenave.

Charge Davis of the American legation at Port Au Prince, cabled the state department that he had conveyed notice of recognition to the Haitien government.

This action, which will materially strengthen the position of the existing government is in line with the purpose of the Washington administration to negotiate a treaty by virtue of which the United States will assume a virtual protectorate over Haiti, protecting her financial and police administration. The treaty is now before the Haitien congress for ratification, and its negotiation could not be completed without recognition of the government.

Although the convention has been vigorously opposed by some elements in the country, assurances now have been received that ratification will be given shortly. In the meantime Rear Admiral Caperton, with his force of more than 2,000 marines and bluejackets, will continue to keep the situation on the island in hand, and to administer the customs houses, all of which have now been taken over.

The protectorate treaty is expected to cover a period of at least ten years.

FIVE SCIENTISTS COME OUT OF THE FAR NORTH

Nome, Sept. 18.—Five members of the Smithsonian institution expedition which left Seattle under command of Johann Koren, the Norwegian naturalist, in June, 1914, to collect specimens in the Arctic, returned to Nome yesterday aboard the power schooner Eagle from the Siberian coast. They were Copley Amoraut, Benjamin Alexander, Alexander Handmark and Alfred Anderson, naturalists, and Harold Wickhoff, photographer. Koren and other members of the expedition remained in Siberia, where they will spend another winter conducting scientific investigations.

The scientists, who came out on the Eagle, brought a large collection of Arctic fossils and birds.

AMBASSADOR DUMBA VISITS VON BERNSTORFF

New York, Sept. 18.—Dr. Constantin T. Dumba, the Austro-Hungarian ambassador, whose recall has been asked by President Wilson, visited Count von Bernstorff at his hotel late yesterday, and remained with the German ambassador for more than an hour. When Dr. Dumba left, he declined to discuss his visit or any other question.

Through his secretary, Count von Bernstorff said he wanted it understood that Dr. Dumba had not held a conference with him, and that, being an old acquaintance, the Austrian ambassador had merely dropped in to pay a friendly call.

Asked if Dr. Dumba's call was in the nature of a final adieu, the secretary answered, "Not at all."

Inquiry at steamship offices in this city brought out statements from officials that no reservation had as yet been made for Dr. Dumba for any steamer leaving this port in the near future.

DRUGGIST MAKES FIRST DEPOSIT

H. J. Jeronimus Eagerly Awaits Opening of East End State Bank.

When the East End State bank, 504 East Fourth street, Duluth's newest financial institution, opened its doors to the public for the first time this morning, H. J. Jeronimus, Fourth street's leading druggist, was waiting at the door with $100 for deposit. If the example set by Mr. Jeronimus is followed by the other business men of that district, the new bank will undoubtedly have a very successful career from the beginning.

The capitalization of the bank is $25,000 with a surplus of $5,000. The enterprise is expected to serve the interests of the Hillside district and be supported by the business people there.

The building is modern in every particular, being finished in mahogany and contains the latest style of steel safe deposit vaults. Fourth street business men will find the institution a convenient place to transact their daily business.

NEW CLOQUET INDUSTRY, BUILT IN ELEVEN MONTHS, OPERATING

SULPHITE PLANT OF NORTHWEST PAPER COMPANY, ONLY ONE IN MINNESOTA.

Cloquet, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—A new industry for Cloquet and the state of Minnesota was put in operation here yesterday when the new sulphite plant of the Northwest Paper company made its first "cook" of wood sulphite. It was just eleven and a half months ago that the ground was broken for the erection of this factory and construction work has been in progress without interruption since.

Commercial sulphite, the product of this plant, is a necessary ingredient in paper making, and is used to give strength to the finished sheet. It is produced by "digesting" chipped spruce wood in sulphurous acid, the resultant pulp containing the unbroken fiber of the wood. This is mixed with ground wood pulp in a ratio of two of sulphite to eight of ground wood.

Only One in State.

This is the only sulphite mill in Minnesota and is complete and of the latest pattern in every detail. The acid used is manufactured at the mill in four mammoth concrete towers 100 feet in height. The capacity of the new mill is 100,000 pounds of sulphite per day, it being operated the full twenty-four hours.

An interesting feature of the construction of this mill was that in all other sulphite plants in America certain of the mechanical equipment used was manufactured in Germany. The present European war prevented the importation of these machines from that country and they were made in the United States—the first ever to be so manufactured.

SPECIAL CORN BELT BULLETIN

Farmers Urged to Save Good Seed for Next Year.

Washington, Sept. 18.—The bureau of crop estimates of the department of agriculture has issued the following special corn bulletin:

Owing to the generally backward state of this year's corn crop in many of the northern but important growing sections of the belt, there is danger of injury to the crop by killing frost, the occurrence of which may be expected at any time.

It is therefore important that every effort possible be made to secure good seed for next year's crop. Where any of last year's corn is left, it should be gone over and the best ears saved for seed.

Moreover, as corn matures unevenly, it is possible to secure seed from the early ears before the rest of the crop is matured.

AIR ATTACKS PROVE FUTILE

Little Damage Done in Zeppelin Raids Over London.

Almost All Who Suffered From Bombs Were Non-Combatants.

London, Sept. 18.—An official description of some of the facts of the last Zeppelin raid on the London district, written by an impartial observer at the request of the home secretary, Sir John Simon, and issued last night for publication, follows:

"The home secretary takes this opportunity of stating the total casualties resulting from these air raids have been correctly stated in all cases. The information is based upon an exhaustive inquiry by the police.

"In a letter, some months ago, First Lord of the Admiralty Balfour set forth the reasons which prevented the government from disclosing the exact localities in which damage has been done in the various Zeppelin raids. These reasons remain valid.

Grossly in Error.

"The experience in the raids of last week, combined with German official reports, demonstrate that commanders of German air craft often are grossly in error as to their movements, and they have no means of estimating the effect of their promiscuous bombardments, materialy or morally.

"In every case where damage has been caused, it was private property which suffered. Almost all the unfortunate people who have been killed were noncombatants of a class which hitherto, in the honorable practice of civilized warfare, have been exempt from attack—women, children, small shop keepers, workingmen—the sacrifice of whose lives serves no military purpose, either morally or materially.

"The fact is that no public institution of any kind was hit, nor was any power station or arsenal. No damage was done affecting the use of any building directly concerned, or indirectly, with the conduct of the war.

Curiosity Rather Than Fear.

"So far as the moral affect of the raid is concerned, it is feared that from the standpoint of Berlin, it was a complete failure. The feeling everywhere aroused was interest and curiosity rather than fear.

"Here are a few pictures of the effect accomplished by the officers and crew of the last airship which visited the London district:

"Somewhere in London there is a little street with a public house at the corner. Outside it, Wednesday evening, after the place was closed, a man and woman stood talking. While the woman went away to buy supper, the man waited for her and there fell at his feet the first explosive bombs.

"They killed the man outright and blew pieces of the paving stone onto surrounding roofs.

Bomb Drops on Roof.

"In another part of the area over which the airship passed there is a big block of workmen's dwellings which are crowded day and night with children. A bomb dropped on the roof.

"Directly under the roof was a little flat in which four children had their sleeping quarters. After being put to bed, two of them got up secretly to make tea in an adjoining room.

"The bed they left is a mass of charred and blackened sheets with the mattress torn to pieces. They escaped by a miracle, but in a small bedroom adjoining the other, two children were instantly killed. That was all that was happening when the captain of the German air craft professed to think he was visiting docks and vitally damaging the port of London.

Horses Saved.

"At another place, an incendiary bomb dropped through the roof of a stable and fired a motor car into which it fell. The stableman and his wife, in spite of the fire which immediately became serious, turned loose eleven horses which were in the stable. A watch dog also was rescued, as was a caged bird kept on the first floor above the fire, although while bringing it downstairs, the stableman's wife was blown off her feet by the explosion of a bomb in a neighboring courtyard.

"The only casualty in this case was a bantam rooster. In such a case as the last, the futility of the enemy's attack was merely ridiculous, in other cases it was tragic.

"These incidents alone will sufflce to show what was the nature of the success attending the attack upon London. The net results of the week's raids upon the London district were thirty-eight killed or died of injuries and 124 injured. Two policemen and one army man were among the victims, but no other person in uniform was killed or injured."

ACCOUNT FOUND OF BOONE'S MARRIAGE

Discovered in Missouri Catholic Church, Wrecked By Tornado.

St. Charles, Mo., Sept. 18.—An account of the marriage of Daniel Morgan Boone, eldest son of Daniel Boone, the famous pioneer of the Ohio valley, was found today in the vaults of St. Charles Borromeo'i Catholic church here, which was wrecked by a tornado July 7.

The account of the wedding was written by Father Leander Lusson, priest of the church at the time of the marriage.

The account says:

"On March 2, 1800, have appeared before me, Frere Leander Lusson, recollect priest and pastor of St. Charles parish in Missouri, Daniel Morgan Boone, the legitimate and oldest son of Daniel Boone and Rebecca Bryan, his lawful wife, living at St. Charles, in Missouri, on the one side, and on the other Sara Griffin Lewis, a younger and legitimate daughter of John Baptist Lewis and Elizabeth Harvey, his lawful wife, her parents living at the port of St. Andrew. The which parties have declared to me their intentions to bind themselves with the mutual pledge of marriage. After giving their oath on the Holy Bible to answer truthfully to all the points on which I must interrogate them, they have consented to answer.

"Being asked what religion they professed, the said Daniel Morgan Boone said he was a Presbyterian and the said Sara Griffin Lewis said that she professed the Protestant religion. Being asked if they would promise to bring the children born of this union to the church of the place near their future dwelling to be baptized, and send them to be instructed in religion, they answered, 'Yes.'

"Being asked if their parents were related within the forbidden degrees, so that, according to their religion, they could not contract marriage, they answered 'No.' Being asked from what country they came, the said Daniel Morgan Boone replied that he was a native of Virginia in the diocese of Baltimore, and that he was living here with his parents; and the said Sara G. Lewis replied that she was likewise a native of Virginia and that she lived with her father and mother.

"Being asked whether their parents gave their consent to their marriage, their fathers and mothers, being present, answered, 'Yes, sir.' Being asked if they had been constrained by violence or threats or by force of authority to pledge their troth in marriage, they answered, 'No, sir.'

"After the aforesaid information and after the publication of bans on eight consecutive Sundays at the door of our church of St. Charles and also at the house of Mr. Mackey, commandant of the said village and post of St. Andrew, the said Daniel Morgan Boone has, in my presence, taken the said Sara Griffin Lewis for his lawful wife and pledged to her his marriage vow. And in return the said Sara Griffin Lewis has taken the said Daniel Morgan Boone for her lawful husband and plighted to him her troth. And I have received their mutual consent and united them in bonds of matrimony."

LOUIS HILL FIXES UP BALKY TRACTOR

Railroad Official Pulls Coat and Helps Out Farmer.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—A bucking, two-horse power gasoline engine occupied a full hour of the time of Louis Hill of the Great Northern railroad, during his visit here for the annual meeting of the Great Northern Veterans' association.

For an hour, with his coat off, his sleeves rolled up Mr. Hill tinkered with the gas machine, owned by Charles Skormicka, a farmer residing several miles east of the city, and who had been completely baffled in his efforts to start the engine.

Hill and friends chanced along in Hill's automobile, making a short tour of the farming district surrounding Grand Forks. Hill was attracted by Skormicka's unsuccessful efforts to start the engine.

Hill Tackles Job.

"Let me take a hand at that," said Hill, and he pulled off his coat and was at the job in a minute.

Monkey wrenches, pinchers, screw drivers and various other implements used in coaxing a stubborn gas engine to activity, were plied.

Finally, a twist of the wheel, a few chugs, and the gas engine was again merrily pounding away at its task.

Not till then did the farmer learn that the chairman of the board of the Great Northern railroad and the volunteer engine expert were one and the same persons.

MERCHANTS ORGANIZE.

Retail Dealers of Staples Form an Organization.

Staples, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sixteen of the business men of this city have become members of what is known at the Retail Merchants' association of Staples with the following officers: President, Paul Read; vice president, Thomas Eddy; secretary-treasurer, G. A. Rots.

James McCabe, a railroad man, who for some time has been making a stubborn fight against cancer of the stomach succumbed to that disease here. He leaves a wife and an adopted son. The remains were taken to Brainerd for burial after religious services had been held at Sacred Heart Catholic church.

Andrew Munson resigned as special officer for the Northern Pacific at this place in order to accept a good offer in St. Paul where he will take charge of construction work for the Reliance Iron Works.

Miss Nellie Archer returned to Faribault after visiting a couple of weeks with Staples relatives.

Mrs. Allen Gates and children returned to their home at St. Paul Thursday after visiting a week with the former's parents.

DULUTH BOOSTERS ARE BUSY BUNCH

Visiting Eleven County Fairs and Traveling Many Miles.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Seven representatives of the Duluth Commercial club, who visited Bemidji this week have laid out a tour of 1,400 miles in order to view the exhibits at eleven county fairs in Northern Minnesota. Incidentally they will show that Duluth has a real interest in the development of Northern Minnesota, which is of the greatest importance to the industrial and commercial development of Duluth.

Those in the party were: F. X. Gravel of Stone-Ordean-Wells company; H. P. Gowan of Gowan-Lenning-Brown company; E. A. Ridson of F. A. Patrick & Co.; C. H. Kelley of Kelly-How-Thomson company; H. D. Final of Marshall Wells Hardware company; F. E. Halbert of Northern Shoe company, and George D. McCarthy, assistant secretary of the Commercial club of Duluth.

Every Settler Asset.

"Every settler brought into Northern Minnesota is an asset for Duluth, for he is an addition to the population which Duluth seeks to serve as a distributing center," said Mr. McCarthy. "In like manner every advance in agriculture which adds to the wealth of this territory is of primary importance to Duluth. Our object in visiting these county fairs is twofold—to learn through the county fair exhibits what is being done agriculturally, and also to cement the pleasant between Duluth and the other cities in Northern Minnesota.

The Duluth visitors, though few in number, were noticeable from the fact that they wore white felt hats with the word "Duluth" printed on blue ribbons, and carried canes and Duluth pennants.

Mr. McCarthy, who is also secretary of the Northern Minnesota Development association, said that he expects that the meeting here Dec. 9 and 10 will be one of the best in the history of that body.

DENIES GOPHER POISON KILLED PRAIRIE CHICKENS

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The excuse of hunters, coming home with small bags of prairie chickens, that many of the birds were killed by gopher poison this season, is a mighty poor one according to Prof. W. B. Bell, entomologist of the agricultural college.

"There are still several million of acres in North Dakota which have not been poisoned over for gophers," says Prof. Bell, "and it is to be noticed that the prairie chickens in these localities are just as scarce as anywhere else in the state where the weather conditions in the spring were unfavorable to the birds. The shortage is not confined in any way to the poisoned areas.

"Another fact, which is more conclusive and is not generally known, is that prairie chickens, sharp-tailed grouse and domestic chickens are practically immune to the action of strychnine when taken in any ordinary quantity into the digestive system with food."

CROSBY JOTTINGS.

Crosby, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Editors Marc Atkinson and H. L. Nicholson and families motored to Aitkin Tuesday in the former's car, and attended the Aitkin county fair.

George Clarke and Joe Caine, who were held in the city jail the fore part of the week for having yeggmen supplies in their possession, were released Wednesday after a jury trial, and were immediately ordered out of town by Acting Marshal Clarence Young.

J. B. Haskell returned Wednesday night from a four days' hunting trip with three Canadian geese and a couple of ducks. He hunted several miles north of Emily.

The Friday Study club held their first meeting of the season with Mrs. B. B. Gaylord.

E. W. Hallett and family motored to Aitkin Wednesday to attend the Aitkin county fair.

The Altar society of the Catholic church met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Joseph Bellefeuille.

Mrs. Erick Bjorklund of Cuyuna visited friends and relatives here Thursday.

John Gutenkauf this week purchased a Briscoe automobile from Brainerd parties.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Romain announce the birth of a boy, born to them Monday.

John Adlesich, formerly bookkeeper of the First National bank, is now assistant cashier of the First National bank of Ironton.

Bruno Almquist accompanied by a few friends motored to Aitkin Wednesday to the fair.

Ben Frodl returned the middle of the week after a ten days' outing at the Twin Cities.

PABST MINE ADDS MANY MORE MINERS

Large Additional Force Put to Work in Ironwood Property.

Ironwood, Mich., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Oliver Iron Mining company put between 350 and 400 extra men to work on the night shift at the Pabst mine this week. The Pabst has been employing about 375 men on the day shift, and the force added this week will about double the crew.

Oxnam & Son have entered into a contract with the Oliver Iron Mining company for the construction of sewers in the North Aurora location. The work will be started at once.

NORTH DAKOTA FUNDS ARE MUCH DEPLETED

Flickertail State Running Behind; Bond Issue Looming Large.

Bismarck N. D., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The general fund of North Dakota is again depleted and state officials, employes and institutions are guessing where the funds are coming from for maintenance during the remainder of the year. There was on hand in the general fund Thursday $29,044.73 and if the expenditures for the last four months of the year are as great as those of the last eight months, there will be required $638,654 to meet the expenditures from the general fund until Jan. 1, 1916.

During the last four months of 1913 there was received into the general fund of the state from all sources $231,960.43. Unless the expenditures during the next four months are greatly curtailed there will be a deficit in the neighborhood of $400,000 Jan. 1, 1916. Just how this is to be overcome without a bond issue is a question which is perplexing state officials.

A year ago the general fund was short during the corresponding months, but the deficit was not so large. The fund was tided over by allowing vouchers to accumulate. The deficit is so large this year that it seems probable that some other means will be resorted to.

PINE COUNTY FAIR MAKES GOOD SHOWING

Auditor Preus and Secretary of State Schmahl Speakers.

Pine City, Minn., Sept. 18.—The Pine county fair opened here Thursday and will end today. There has been a good attendance and some fine exhibits of Pine county products.

The Brookpark, Hinckley and Pine City schools made quite commendable displays. The Brookpark band played Thursday. Charles Elmquist of the state railroad commission spoke Thursday, State Auditor Preus yesterday, and Secretary of State Julius Schmahl will speak today. The aeroplane flights are a feature of the entertainment. The stock pens are well filled, and farmers on the whole have made fine displays.

CAMELS ORDER BARRED.

Not Permitted to Do Business in State of Michigan.

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 18.—State Insurance Commissioner John T. Winship advised Prosecuting Attorney W. J. Galbraith that the fraternal order known as the Camels of the World is not licensed to do business in Michigan. Accordingly, a warrant was issued from Justice Little's court in Houghton for the arrest of W. R. Hampden, an organizer for the Camels, who has been in the Copper country for the past two months. The examination has been set for Sept. 27, the defendant furnishing bonds in the sum of $200.

At the request of a number of Houghton county citizens, Prosecuting Attorney Galbraith communicated with the state insurance commissioner, requesting information on the status of the organization.

GOVERNOR AT PRINCETON.

There to Speak at the Mille Lacs County Fair.

Princeton, Minn., Sept. 18.—The Mille Lacs county fair opened auspiciously here Thursday and will conclude this afternoon. The exhibits of the products of the county are representative. There is also a fine school exhibit. The poultry display is considered good.

Senator Knute Nelson spoke Thursday afternoon to a large audience. This afternoon Governor W. S. Hammond is to speak, and the indications point to a large number being on hand to hear the governor.

LUMBERMEN WILL CUT LITTLE BADGER HEMLOCK

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 18.—The hemlock lumber cut in the northern woods of Wisconsin and Upper Michigan during the coming winter will be the lightest in many years, according to an announcement made at the close of a meeting of the Hemlock Lumbermen's association last night. Hemlock lumbermen are over-supplied. The increasing inroads of Canadian yellow pine and fir was blamed for the condition at this time. Free admission of Canadian lumber to the United States under the present tariff law makes the reduction in the cut necessary, they say. The claim they are selling hemlock lumber below the cost of production, but that the Canadian yellow pine salesmen are underselling them at every turn.

CASS COUNTY SUNDAY SCHOOL MEETING HELD

Backus, Minn., Sept. 18.—At the annual convention of the Cass County Sunday School association held here recently, two of the state workers, Dr. Bowden and Mrs. Hobart, were present and spoke. Over $35 was pledged by schools and individuals to carry on the work of the association. Officers were elected as follows: President, Mrs. N. V. LaDue, Pine River; vice president, Wm. J. Lobb, Mildred; secretary, Mrs. A. L. Miller, Backus; treasurer, E. D. Boyce, Cass Lake; elementary superintendent, Mrs. J. R. Pound, Remer; secretary, Mrs. P. Palmer, Backus; adult, Mrs. Frost, Cass Lake; home department, Mrs. S. Hawkinson, Walker; missionary and temperance, Rev. G. M. Peacock, Cass Lake; teacher training, Mrs. W. H. Hayes, Backus.

YEGGS ABANDONED JOB.

Give Up Attempt on North Dakota Bank After Digging Into Wall.

Langdon, N. D., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—An attempt was made to burglarize the Farmers' State bank at Alsen, a small town on the Soo railroad near here.

The yeggmen first broke into the Soo section house and stole a quantity of tools that were used in the attempt on the bank vault. Whether the burglars were frightened away or whether the approach of daylight disturbed their operations is not known, but they abandoned their operations after digging out a large amount of brick from the vault wall.

LEAP FROM MOVING TRAIN COSTS BOTH LEGS

Sanborn, N. D., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Martin Nettwood of Kimball Prairie, Minn., had both legs cut off under the wheels of a Northern Pacific freight train here, when he attempted to leap from a rapidly moving train.

A special train carried him to Valley City, where he is in a hospital and probably will die.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Iron Mountain—Byron N. White, a former prominent iron and copper man, died last Sunday at Spokane, where he has been located for a number of years. He was 69 years of age. Mr. White was well known to many Iron Mountain people, and once was largely interested in the development of the Menominee iron range.

Crystal Falls—Philip Suraskey, aged 35, a resident of Crystal Falls, last Monday night took a large dose of carbolic acid in place of medicine prescribed by his physician, and death followed in a few hours. Suraskey had been ill for several weeks, and not wishing to disturb the members of the family, he arose late at night and drank of the poison which he supposed to be the medicine.

Iron River—The Bates mine, a new Iron River property, is making its first shipment of ore to the docks. The company has between 35,000 and 40,000 tons on the surface, and it is the intention to forward it to Escanaba before the close of navigation.

Marquette—The jury in circuit court returned a verdict in favor of the defendant in the case of August Bel Boca, administrator, vs. J. R. Thompson and J. S. Kennedy, suit having been brought for the death of Eugene Bel Boca, 23 years old, who was killed by a fall of ground in a mine owned by the above named defendants in Iron county, Wis.

Palmer—The Palmer Athletic club was organized here with twenty-five charter members. Fred Gibbs was chosen first president of the club, Lawrence Collins was elected secretary and Ben Ronan, treasurer. An entrance fee of $5 will be made and a monthly fee of $1.

Negaunee—Joe Nedeau and Fred Vizina, who were implicated in a robbery which was committed in March, 1914, have been bound over to the circuit court. They were arrested a few weeks ago and have been held at the city jail pending an investigation by Prosecuting Attorney M. J. Kennedy and the police. In a statement made a few days ago, they acknowledged assaulting a Negaunee man, but claimed they did not commit robbery.

Ishpeming—Rocco Corelli, a resident of the Junction location, died in the Ishpeming hospital Wednesday. He had been in ill health for some time, and was stricken while down town Tuesday. He was 30 years old and is survived by his widow and three children and mother.

Escanaba—Arrangements are being made here for a girls' conference to be held this winter under the auspices of the Camp Fire Girls of this city. This is the first conference of girls ever held in the upper peninsula.

Calumet—Dan Cusick returned Thursday from a month's visit in Duluth, Milwaukee and Iron River. Mr. Cusick while in Duluth attended a reunion of his sons, Walter of Laurell, Mont., Dan of Duluth, Arthur of West Superior and Chester of Virginia, Minn.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Long Prairie—A law and enforcement league has been formed here with these officers: President, A. D. Day; secretary, Rudolph Lee; treasurer, J. W. McKellip; executive committee, Daniel Sutton, M. L. Dahle, A. B. Murphy, J. P. Shaver and J. W. McKellin.

Blackduck—Anton Hurtz, who has lived in this village for a number of years, died at his home here of apoplexy. Funeral services were held from the Catholic church and conducted by Fr. Bertrand.

Princeton—Owing to the large enrollment at the Princeton schools, additional room had to be provided, and at a special meeting of the school board the armory was rented at $65 per month.

St. Cloud—Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock there will be a special Harvest Home service in commoration of the abundant harvest, in the Maine Prairie church.

Cass Lake—A business meeting of the Cass Lake Library association was held last Wednesday evening. Mrs. W. H. Smith was re-elected for president, as was Mrs. Harding for treasurer. WHEAT PRICES WEAKEN ON BIG SELLING PRESSURE

Market Slumps on Withdrawal of Support; Heavy Receipts Expected.

Flaxseed Sells Off Slightly on Light Volume of Trading.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 18.—The bears had their innings with a vengeance on the wheat markets today. Heavy selling pressure developed right after the opening, and in the windup quotations recorded a drop of 3¼c in the near future.

Weakness had been predicted by operators generally, and they had felt surprise that the upward movement that set in ten days ago had been so well sustained. Today's break was brought about through a falling off in the demand from elevators and millers to fill outstanding contracts that had been the sustaining factor of late. Furthermore advices received by operators were to the effect that heavy receipts might be looked for next Monday. Threshing has been proceeding freely during the last few days on account of favorable conditions over the Northwest. A better winter wheat movement is also expected. Receipts here today were 620 cars against 609 last year, and at Minneapolis there were 452 cars compared with 470 a year ago. That the Canadian West is beginning to assume momentum was attested in marketings of 743 cars at Winnipeg today.

A feature of today's market locally, was the breaking down in the cash premiums. One northern sold at 2c over September, and cash durum at 1c over.

September wheat opened ¾c off at 97½c, and it closed 3¼c off at 95c bid. December opened ⅝c off at 91⅞c, and closed 2¼c off at 90c bid. May opened ⅜c off at 96⅝c, and closed 1⅝@1⅞c off at 95¼@95⅝c asked.

Acute weakness was in evidence in durum. September durum opened ¾c off at $1.01½, and closed 2⅜c off at 99c. October opened ⅛c off at 98c, and closed 2½c off at 97c. December closed 3c off at 92¾c asked, and May 1 c off at 98¾c.

Flaxseed Off Too.

Trading in flaxseed was quiet and its market shared in the wheat weakness to the extent of 1@1¼c. Trades put through during the session were only in small lots.

September flax closed 1c off at $1.66 nominally. October opened unchanged at $1.67 and closed 1c off at $1.66 bid. November opened unchanged at $1.67 and closed 1c off at $1.66. December opened unchanged at $1.66½ and closed 1¼c off at $1.65¼ asked.

At Winnipeg, October flax closed 1½c off at $1.45¼ bid, and December 1c off at $1.46.

At Buenos Aires, flax closed 1c up at $1.24¾, and London unchanged at $1.92¾.

Oats closed ¼c off at 32⅜c for on the track, rye unchanged at 91c for on the track, and barley unchanged at from 43c to 53c for on the track.

At Winnipeg, October oats closed ⅛c up at 35⅝c.

A Philadelphia wire said: "The Canadian wheat is offering strong now. Our markets will feel effect quick. Looks like they got all they need for their early sales, and will have to hunt buyers now."

At Minneapolis there was a good cash demand. One northern blue stem sold at 4 to 7c over September and velvet chaff at 3½@4½c over. Modcrate flour sales were reported. Domestic buyers are holding off for lower prices.

It is reported that 207 threshing machines were at work in a distance of ninety-five miles in one division of the Soo line yesterday.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Wheat was dull with an easy undertone influenced by weakness in Winnipeg and indications of larger American shipments as shown by Bradstreets. Spot market was irregular, unchanged to 1¼c lower with pressure in Manitobas, which were freely offered. Cargo

SERVICE

Success in any business is measured by the value of its Service.

The essentials that go to make Service of value to investors are the ability to advise intelligently the excellence of organization and the equipment for the execution of orders.

But back of Service should be financial soundness, known integrity and established confidence. These do not come over night but are the slow growth of years.

For a quarter of a century we have been in close and active touch with the security and commodity markets. We have always been in position to give the best possible Service because we have spared no effort or expense to secure from reliable sources, information of value to investors.

The present offers excellent opportunities for the investor but, at the same time, conditions do not warrant indiscriminate commitments in the markets and the need for guidance is imperative. We invite inquiries, personal or by correspondence.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Sags on Reports of Canadian Cargoes Offered at Liverpool.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Wheat prices underwent a decided sag today, influenced by reports that Canadian cargoes were being freely offered in Liverpool at declining quotations, and to American mills as well. The market here was also bearishly affected by the high freight rates demanded on vessels from United States ports for Europe. Rainy weather appeared to have lost effect as an argument for the bulls. Opening prices, which ranged from ⅛c to ⅜@⅝c lower with December at 94⅝@95c and May at 97⅝@98c, were followed by a slight rally, and then a fall lower than before.

Subsequently a fresh decline in sterling exchange acted as a further discouragement to the bulls. The close was weak at 1½@1⅝c to 3c net decline, with December at 93⅛@93¼c and May at 96½@96⅝c.

Corn trading was small in volume. Prices tended downward with wheat. After opening a shade to ⅛@¼c off, the market suffered moderate additional losses.

Increased notices of rural consignments kept the market depressed. The close was weak at ⅜@½c to ⅝@¾c under last night.

Oats followed the course of other grain. Pit speculators, however, were inclined to take the buying side on declines.

Weakness in the hog market carried down provisions. The setbacks, though, were not of a drastic sort.

BETTER TRADING IN THE COPPERS

Trading in mining stocks was in better volume today. At Boston advances were the rule around the opening, but weakness developed later owing to uncertainty regarding the outcome of the negotiations over the loan to England and France.

Butte & Superior closed unchanged at $60; Butte & Ballaklava, 25 cents up at $3.63; American Zinc, 38 cents up at $52.87; Calumet & Arizona, 25 cents off at $61.25—Granby, $1.25 up at $85.50; Greene-Cananea, 25 cents off at $38.75; North Butte, 25 cents up at $29.50; Osceola, $3 off at $81, and Shattuck, 50 cents off at $24.50.

An important mining deal has been closed up on the Cuyuna range in the acquiring by the Onahman Mining company of the Duluth-Brainerd mine.

The property acquired is regarded as a prospective producer of manganiferous ore of excellent grade. It is learned that the Onahman company has obtained a very substantial royalty concession from the price which the Duluth-Brainerd had undereaken to pay. Not only this, there is a good demand for the manganiferous ores of the Cuyuna range, with prospects of improving demand, and the Onahman company will further enjoy the advantage of entering upon property which is already developed to the producing stage, and with an estimated tonnage located by drills to the amount of 1,000,000 tons.

Commenting upon the situation in mining stocks, Skillings' Mining and Market Letter of today says:

"The market continues in a waiting attitude, and may continue to be exceptionally sensitive to any unfavorable news, and any condition brought about by the war which may threaten to involve, or embarrass this country. But the Mining Letter maintains that the coppers should be bought. Not for a small turn, but to hold until a strong upturn takes place, or put away for investment. The copper companies are making big money, and so are the zinc producers. The coppers, however, seem to offer the best attraction at this time for a permanent investment."

ADVANCES IN RAIL SHARES

War and Automobile Issues Still Occupy First Place.

New York, Sept. 18.—Stocks of leading railways figured importantly in today's short but active session, after lagging behind at the opening. Advances ranged from 1 to 3 points. War issues continued to occupy first place, however. Automobile issues attracted renewed attention, General Motors gaining a total of 10 at 290 and Studebaker advancing 6¼, making a new record of 125¾. There was a further rally in the final dealings. The closing was strong. Bonds were steady.

War shares, and motor stocks which came within that class, were again the features of interest at the opening of the market today. Motors gained an initial advance of 5 points to 285; Studebaker made a new high quotation on its rise of 1¾ to 120¾, and Great Northern Ore, which led yesterday's market, gained 1⅛ to 47½, its high price in some years. Colorado Fuel, Crucible Steel, American Steel Foundries and others of that group rose from fractions to a point. United States Steel moved within narrow limits on small dealings and railways showed no appreciable change. General Motors and Great Northern Ore made further advances in the first half hour.

COPPER PRICES WILL BE HIGH FOR YEARS TO COME

Metal Statisticians Are Unanimous in This Belief—Big Ledge Being Developed on a Vast Scale to Furnish an Exceptionally Heavy Tonnage

BY GEORGE REID.

Heavy demands for copper are world-wide and for years following the end of the world's greatest war copper will continue to command high prices. This is the unanimous belief of copper metal statisticians everywhere. With full knowledge of these conditions, the Big Ledge Development company is developing its large and tremendously valuable holdings in the Black Hills range of Arizona on a vast scale with a view to furnishing an exceptionally heavy tonnage of high grade copper ores for many years to come.

J. H. Shockley, the noted mining engineer of New York city, consulting engineer for the Big Ledge company, arrived at the mine this week and is making a thorough inspection of all the workings. He is much pleased with the progress and showing in the Bee shaft, which is reaching out for the 200-foot level. Work on this shaft is being rushed, and as soon as it can be done with safety to the shaft, cross-cutting will be commenced. Before starting the work of cross-cutting, Engineer Shockley will be certain that cross-cutting can be done without endangering the shaft.

Drill on Copper Springs Claim.

An important work at the properties this week consisted of starting the additional drill to work on the Copper Springs claim, 1,500 feet south of shaft No. 1. This drilling is part of the general plan outlined in these columns to block out at the earliest moment an immense tonnage of commercial ore which Engineer Shockley is convinced is contained on this section of the Big Ledge properties. Mr. Shockley believes that in the near future the shafts and drills will have proved up a body of 100,000,000 tons of copper ores averaging better than 4 per cent.

The tunnel being run into the Mountain View claim, from all indications, is nearing the ore body. This tunnel is being watched with unusual interest, since, encountering the ore body at this point, it will add a tremendously large tonnage to the ore reserves already proved up. Important developments are expected in Engineer Shockley's report to the home office in the Sellwood building, next week.

In a special daily mining report Irving K. Farrington & Co., 30 Broad street, New York city, specialists in copper shares, wrote to their clients this week: "It is not necessary to state that we would like to have every reader of our Daily Market Letter carefully analyze Engineer Shockley's report on the Big Ledge Development properties, with the view of making investment commitments as early as possible.

Big Advances Predicted.

"Our prediction of coming price levels to $5 per share for Big Ledge may be accepted as ultra-conservative. In fact, we think this stock will move to $4 within the next two weeks. At $5 the results of present developments will commence to show, and it is merely a matter of mine judgment to predict that as 'in sight' mineralization becomes 'blocked out ore' this stock will sell through $10, $15 and $20.

"As a matter of fact, the time to buy any copper stock is when development conditions are the same as they are today in the Big Ledge. It is usually customary on a million dollars capitalization to figure that each million tons of 'blocked out ore' adds $1 per share to the value of the stock. The company estimates from twenty to thirty million tons of possible ore at this writing, and if you will compare this estimate with Mr. Shockley's conclusions, you will note that he states there are two areas favorable for underlying copper deposits—one the Bee claim vicinity, 500 by 2,000 feet, would contain at 200 feet in thickness 15,000,000 tons.

"Mr. Shockley's recommendation is all that could be asked for, and we might say here, that some very important developments have just taken place in Big Ledge and wishing to keep in touch with development conditions Mr. Shockley has gone to the mines in Arizona. We advise the purchase of Big Ledge without delay as this inspection should be responsible for the placing of some very large orders for shares in this market."

CAMP ON THE COPPER SPRINGS CLAIM, BIG LEDGE COPPER PROPERTIES, IN THE BLACK HILLS RANGE, ARIZONA—ANOTHER BIG DRILL HAS BEEN SHIPPED FROM NEW YORK AND PUT TO WORK ON THE COPPER SPRINGS CLAIM.

AT THE LAKE COPPER MINES

Mohawk Will Soon Be Using New Steel Rockhouse.

Tamarack Orders Regrinding Mills for New Plant at Hubbell.

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mohawk in about thirty days will be using the new steel rockhouse at No. 5 shaft. The old house had been outgrown by the increasing tonnage and the new structure is thoroughly up to date. This shaft is very important as it has since the ledge was first broken at the surface been the best shaft for copper values, although No. 6 is now about its equal. The lower levels are sending up high grade rock which is due to a great extent to the closer selection in breaking it down and in sorting it that is now being practised in many of the Lake Superior mines.

Allouez.

Allouez hoisted about 49,000 tons in August in twenty-six working days, 1,885 tons a day. That rate was a trifle higher than that of July, and will be practically maintained this month.

Tamarack.

Tamarack has ordered the regrinding mills, for its new regrinding plant at Hubbell. It is understood that at present only the number sufficient for regrinding the tailings coming from the mills will be installed and that none will be provided at this time for the sands on the shore of the lake.

Calumet & Hecla.

Calumet & Hecla's average tonnage for last month was 10,800 tons a day and it is running about 200 tons less just now. The record for about four months is higher than ever before. This, of course, comprises only the rock from the Calumet conglomerate and the Osceola amygdaloid lodes. Six more regrinding mills, the Hardinge conical tube, which have just been set up, will be started up next week at the No. 2 regrinding mill. In a short time the conical tube mills will begin to replace gradually the thirty-eight Chilean mills, a step that will be of great advantage to the cost sheet as the former require little repair, having so few parts. The big Bucyrus dredge is handling more sand from the shore of the lake, but its capacity has not by any means been reached as more mills are yet to be set up. The steel building for the leaching plant has been put up very rapidly and is now all roofed in. The turbine at the Ahmeek mill is furnishing some of the electric power used in conjunction with the turbine at Lake Linden.

New Arcadian.

New Arcadian has very good stamp copper in the width of four feet in the bottom of the test pit 1,800 feet south of the New Arcadian lode. The depth of the pit to the lode was thirty-two feet and six feet has been blasted out since and the lode has widened from two to four feet. There is considerable water which is bailed out. The disclosure is very satisfactory, as it is uniformly distributed. The width of the lode in the workings up to this time varies from 3 to 16 feet and it is narrower in several places than at this opening. The important fact is the continuance of the high-grade mineralization so far distant from the other openings. The vein with depth will show its average width of from 9 to 10 feet in all probability and a shaft will be sunk. There will be a great advantage here by beginning on the top of the lode and thereby dispensing with the 150 feet long crosscuts that have to be cut at the shaft where the mining is now being done, and saving not only the expense of driving these openings, but also that of tramming rock so far. Of course, in the shaft now in use these crosscuts could not have been avoided as the shaft was placed on one lode between two others at about the same distance and it was not the most promising of the three. There are now eight drills in action and another will soon be put in operation in the test pit. The lode will be probably reached at the 1,050-foot level about the first of next month. The other openings are revealing the same good values.

Houghton.

Houghton Copper will take about two weeks in preparing for sinking the winze from the tenth to the twelfth level on the lode. The copper now being taken from the sixth level south is improving considerably. One drill will be used in the winze. No cars have been obtainable for ten days on account of the great demand for them from the other mines on the railroad.

Lake.

Lake in a short time will begin some exploration work on the two South lodes of the South Lake that its workings are located. Its rock has been giving a yield of about twenty-five pounds of refined copper a ton and the tonnage is 7 to 8 cars, 280 to 320 tons a day. Previous to the last shutdown during the strike only two-men drills had been used, but now the Ingersoll-Leyner is being substituted and fourteen have been put in operation and others will be as soon as they arrive.

Wyandot.

Wyandot has in its winze from the ninth level, which is down about thirty-five feet, quite a stretch of barrel copper mixed with stamp, the whole disclosure being of a very good quality. On account of the difficulty of hoisting while the sinking is going on, only one drill is being employed in the drifts working alternately. The values in the drifts are very fair in quality.

Tremont-Devon.

Tremont-Devon, which comprises the next section with adjoining "forty" south of the Victoria, 680 acres, probably in a short time will diamond drill across the strike of the Baltic lode and adjacent formations. This is really virgin territory and offers great possibilities. Its directors all are local men. Charles Smith of Lake Linden being the president and Charles D. Hanchette of Hancock the secretary-treasurer. Its capitalization is $250,000 with 10,000 shares of a par value of $25. Very little previous work has been done and that in shallow shafts near the center of the property, where copper was taken out to the extent of 500 tons per fathom of ground broken, which was better than twenty-five pounds of finished copper a ton.

Franklin.

Franklin's yield is increasing as the quantity of amygdaloid diminishes and that of the conglomerate grows larger and is now quite satisfactory. In a short time the broken down amygdaloid will all be hoisted and the conglomerate will not only make up the deficiency, but begin to exceed the present volume of the amygdaloid and conglomerate combined. The new electrical haulage system is running very smoothly.

Algomah.

Algomah has made the extension of its skiproad to the bottom and is beginning to sink the shaft, which will probably be carried down quite a distance before any crosscuts are made to ascertain the condition of the mineral at depth. It is thought the black oxide may increase in amount sufficiently to give a profit or that it may change into native copper.

Victoria.

Victoria was thoroughly inspected by President F. H. Williams, Treasurer; J. P. Graves and Director A. W. Chesterton on Sept. 13. On the twenty-sixth level there are three wide stopes, each having a width on the lode of thirty feet and it is 300 feet from the extreme limit east to the extreme limit west of these stopes. A local mining man thoroughly informed on our amygdaloid lodes, who examined this stretch, strongly affirmed the statement of Supt. George Hooper that it was a remarkable exhibition and that as in the twenty-fourth level there was a great quantity of heavy mass copper. The lode with this striking run of values, after over 500 feet had been passed through, stopped abruptly on both ends, but was picked up again to the east in about a fortnight almost as rich as ever. The key to the system of faulting lode formation has not been found yet by the many geologists, who labored over the problem, but there are certainly long stretches of fine rock at the bottom of the mine in the eastern side.

Isle Royale.

Isle Royale is hoisting from the upper levels at the No. 1 shaft both from the Isle Royale and Portage lodes. In both cases the rock is that which was broken down before the fire in 1903. Undoubtedly there are some very good stopes still remaining on the Isle Royale lode here. The repairs are completed down to the thirteenth level and the bottom, which has been mostly cleaned out, is being used as a sump or drainage basin. The rock that is hoisted has a good quality of copper. The work of sinking two shafts side by side at No. 7 shaft next to that already sunk, so that the permanent shaft can be placed diagonally across the three on the angle of the lode, is progressing very successfully. About 2,200 tons of rock are being hoisted daily, which is about the same as for the last two months.

Michigan.

Michigan has opened the Butler shaft down 227 feet and is now stripping it wide enough for a modern shaft of two compartments. Sinking is carried on at the same time. Considerable copper has been found in the foot-wall where most of the stripping is done, both small mass and stamp. The boilers are on their foundations, a double one straight-face hoist, good for 1,500 feet will soon be in position, both a large and small compressor are ready to be hauled to the house, and the house is being erected out of old material. There are now about forty-five men at work.

Contact.

Contact is now down about 1,500 feet with its diamond drill and it is meeting with a number of amygdaloids and a few conglomerates, but with nothing of structural or mineral importance. The only noteworthy feature of the drilling is the great regularity and the unbroken condition of the whole series as far as penetrated.

Ahmeek.

Ahmeek has been running its second stamp of the new addition of its mill about two weeks, and it is now crushing as well as any of the five others. This sixth stamp will be equipped with a set of Nordberg crushing rolls and another set is on the way, so that with the two now in commission there will soon be a total of four. The present capacity, actual working capacity I mean, is about 4,100 tons daily, and with the two new sets of crushing rolls should be about 4,450 tons. At present not enough rock is being sent to keep the stamps busy, but it is expected, beginning with the 20th, that the mill will have all the rock it can handle. Back upon the hill about a quarter of a mile, a dam is being constructed on the Hungarian creek to furnish water for fire protection, and as it has about the same pressure as the Lake Linden service it will be united with it. This is being done by the company at its expense. No order has been given as yet for the other two stamps, which will make eight, the number planned for.

Keweenaw.

Keweenaw Copper has an extent of about 200 feet on the sixth level on the footwall side where the best ground yet laid bare in the mine was discovered by an oblique drift. This ground is still revealing the same excellent values and is also being encountered with similar grades by two other drifts that are being pushed out into it. An old adit, or tunnel from the open, on which are located the shafts B and A, is now being opened for the 2,800-foot cut through long ago, and the remaining 208 feet to the Ashbed will soon be passed through and the lode examined there on the hanging wall side about a quarter of a mile east of the Phenix, or working shaft. The width established by the oblique drift on the sixth level is being maintained on the other two drifts that are being driven to the foot-wall good ground. The openings on the hanging-wall side of the lode are disclosing the same average as already found on that side.

COPPER MASS UNDER HOUSE

Excavating for Cellar Workmen Discover Red Metal Deposit.

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 18.—A remarkable discovery of copper was made last week on property on Seventh street, East Houghton, owned by the Detroit & Northern Michigan Building & Loan association. A mass of copper aggregating several tons is in sight in small excavation that has been made to enlarge the cellar under the house, which is occupied by James Gilbert, a miner employed at the Isle Royale.

The mineral rights on this property are owned by J. H. Rice and the Chadbourne estate and arrangements have been made with these interests whereby the building and loan association will remove the copper as far as it can be removed conveniently.

The top of this huge mass of copper was almost flush with the surface, the house having no cellar. Almost with the first shovelful of earth taken up the workmen struck the mass of copper, which is in a thick, flat form, pitching toward the south.

DECREASE SHOWN BY EAST BUTTE

Butte, Mont., Sept. 18.—The August production of the East Butte Copper company was 1,785,000 pounds of copper, compared with about 2,000,000 pounds—the high record—in the previous month, 1,500,000 in June and 580,000 pounds in May.

Last month's profits will not be known until later in the month. The July profits were about $125,000, in June $120,000 and in May $58,000, a total of $303,000 for ten weeks' operations.

By Dec. 1, on the present selling price for copper, East Butte should show earnings for six months' operation in excess of its $600,000 debt, which was outstanding when the mine resumed operations May 19 last.

The present output at the rate of more than 20,000,000 pounds of copper per annum is the result of extensive improvements to the plant during the past year, and compares with 9,175,579 pounds, the actual output in 1914, and 14,401,108 pounds in the previous year.

BUTTE MINES GRADUALLY INCREASING THEIR OUTPUT

Total Still Below Figures of a Few Years Ago.

Butte & London Shaft Unwatered and Sinking Has Started.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 18.—Although the Butte mining companies paid in wages in August about $350,000 less than they did in July, nevertheless the payrolls last month aggregated $1,700,000. July was the biggest month in the history of the Butte mines, so far as the payment of wages is concerned, although the output of copper and the net earnings were not nearly so large as during some previous months. There are fully 13,000 men employed in the Butte mines and the rate of wages fell from $4 to $3.75 per day because copper sold under 17 cents in August, the rate of wages being based on the price of copper. The Anaconda company alone paid out $1,150,000 for wages in August. The Butte & Superior paid out $170,000, which was about $5,000 less than in July, and the North Butte paid $93,000, the East Butte $90,000, the Butte-Ballaklava $15,000 and the Clark properties $60,000. It is estimated that the mining companies and other employers of labor in Butte pay out a total of $2,600,000 in wages each month.

The mining companies have been gradually increasing their output of copper but the total is still far from what it was a few years ago. The Anaconda company official report of August production shows the output to have been 22,800,000 pounds, the largest production of any month this year, and that includes the output of the North Butte company, nearly 1,800,000 pounds, and some other custom product. In August of last year the output was but 14,750,000 pounds, and in 1913 it was 22,500,000, in 1912, 25,250,000 pounds. The copper producing companies now are the Anaconda, North Butte, East Butte, Butte-Alex Scott, Elm Orlu, Davis-Daly, Butte-Ballaklava, Pilot-Butte and Tuolumne. About the only development company operating in Butte at the present time is the Rainbow, a Cole company, which is engaged in developing the Rainbow and Butte & London properties. Sinking was resumed in the Rainbow shaft a few weeks ago and in the Butte & London last week.

Butte & London.

Unwatering of the Butte & London shaft was completed last Saturday and sinking was started on Monday last. A new electric pump has been installed at the 1,100-foot station and the smaller pump at the 800 has been disconnected. It is expected to make ten feet per day in sinking and that the 1,600-foot point will be reached in November, when the station will be put in and the work of cross-cutting the property both north and south will be started.

Butte & Superior.

The Blackrock mine of the Butte & Superior company was closed for four days last week to permit of some needed repairs and the suspension will probably show a decrease in the September spelter output of the company. It had been more than a year since the last repairs were made in the shaft and some trouble was experienced recently. The mine had been run at capacity for many months and no opportunity given to make needed repairs so that it became necessary to close the mine for several days, which was done when the Labor day holiday came around.

By an order of the district court a few days ago, the $1,000,000 mortgage on the Butte & Superior property was canceled, the mortgage having been satisfied by the exchange of bonds for stock in the company. Shaft-sinking is going on in the Black Rock shaft, which has now reached a depth of 1,750 feet, and a station is being cut at the 1,700-foot point. The shaft is being sunk in the vein and all the way in a high grade of ore, which seems to be increasing in value with depth. At the 1,600-foot level, from which point the sinking was started, the ore carried but 18 per cent zinc, but where the station is being cut the zinc content is 27 per cent. The shaft will be sunk to a depth of 1,900 feet and a new level opened there. Early in the developent of the Black Rock it was the general opinion of mining men as well as of the management that the mine would turn into copper with increasing depth, but so far there is no indication of a lessening of the zinc content or an increase in the copper assays. With the opening of the deeper levels the Butte & Superior will have new zinc ore reserves that will provide a tonnage for years to come.

Bullwhacker.

The Bullwhacker mining property has again been shut down, and negotiations are on for a resumption of operations with the leaching plant which was installed some years ago, but never proved profitably successful. Experts who have examined the plant claim that within a few changes the plant can be made to work successfully. With the completion of the acid producing plant at the Washoe smelter, it will be possible to purchase acid for leaching purposes at less than half what it formerly cost the Bullwhacker and the Butte-Duluth companies.

Ore By Parcel Post.

Seven tons of gold ore from a mine at Elk City, Idaho, contained in 280 sacks, was received in Butte by parcel post several days ago. The postoffice authorities have made new rules for the regulation of such parcel post business, and it will have the effect of making ore shipments unprofitable, and force miners to continue patronizing railroads and express companies.

STARTS WORK ON NEW SHAFT

Lath Shaft to Be Sunk By Adbar Development Company.

Good Reports From Drilling at Buckman Property at Barrows.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Adbar Development company of Deerwood has broken ground for the new shaft in the north half of the northeast quarter of section 22, township 45, range 30, situated four miles east of Brainerd and a mile south of Woodrow. Capt. William J. Treloar will have general supervision of the mine and also the Adams mine at Oreland. W. J. Nicholas of Brainerd will be directly in charge. A lath shaft will be sunk, the surface being about 100 feet. The Adams mine will be pumped out as soon as the new electric pump arrives. The Cuyuna Range Power company will furnish power to both mines.

The Rowley Mine.

Shaft sinking is being accomplished very satisfactorily under the Rowley patent at the Rowley mine in Barrows. Over a foot a day has been averaged in sinking since the first operations commenced on Aug. 23.

The Brainerd-Cuyuna mine in the city of Brainerd is installing a second electric pump. The first heavy flow of water encountered has moderated and today the water is handled with ease.

Good reports from drilling are received from the C. B. Buckman property at Barrows. It is situated near what was the Barrows mine of the M. A. Hanna company, and continued drilling there has revealed entirely new bodies of ore. The Duluth Diamond Drilling company is working on its ninth hole.

Cuyuna-Duluth May Resume.

It is reported that the Cuyuna-Duluth mine in Ironton is to resume operations very soon. Moe Bros. have placed a drill on the Erickson farm in section 2, in Deerwood township. This makes two drills on the property which will thoroughly explore it.

The Cuyuna-Sultana loaded ore Thursday. The concentrator is working well. Forty men are employed. The Breitung company is putting down a three-compartment shaft with Capt. Jule in charge. A depth of forty feet has been outlined. The shaft will be sunk, it is reported, 240 feet before drifting is started. The Pennington is shipping from 65 to 70 cars a shift. At this mine and the Armour No. 4 there are employed 110 men. Four drills are working ahead of the shovels.

AUGUST RETURNS OF BARNES-KING

Tonnage at the North Moccasin Cut to Low Point.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 18.—The estimates of the cleanup during the month of August at the properties of the Barnes-King Development company have been given out. At the North Moccasin mine at Kendall no mining was done in the disputed ground during August. While the management of the company feels absolutely certain that it has been entirely within its right, President Goodale thought best to avoid mining in that part of the property, where the Kendall company claims rights.

The result was a reduction in the output of the mine to 1,464 tons as against a former average production of from 4,000 to 5,000 tons per month.

The estimated receipts from bullion are $14,500. This will show an extraction of about $9.90 per ton for the ore mined and milled. The bullion was shipped to the Helena assay office.

The August cleanup at the Diegan-Gloster made a much better average showing than that for June and July. Estimated receipts from the mill are $16,000. This was from approximately 1,800 tons of ore run through the mill for the month. The tonnage is still far below the capacity of the mill.

Good progress is being made in the sinking of the Shannon shaft. It has obtained an approximate depth of 100 feet. The shaft is sunk from the old tunnel level which was itself down a distance of about 175 feet, making the present total depth about 275 feet. The vein showing in the shaft is of a satisfactory grade. As to the extent of the ore that will be determined by later development work.

ORE HOLDING OUT IN THE COLORADO

Have Drifted Seventy-Five Feet—Vein Eight Feet Wide.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 18.—Drifting on the 2,500-foot level of the Colorado mine on the Hesperus vien has continued steadily during the past week and they have gone seventy-five feet in ore with no indication of it giving out. The ore has been of fine quality and the vein is about eight feet wide.

The Davis-Daly stock has strengthened almost daily as a result of the showing on this vein and yesterday in local circles it was selling at $1.50 to $1.75 a share. In speaking of the prospects of the big vein one of the miners said:

"The fact that the Davis-Daly encountered the No. 1 vein at just about the point and about the time predicted nearly two months ago by the engineers shows that they had a good line on it. There is very little doubt that this ore body will prove to be as extensive and rich in copper as the most optimistic of the miners had expected.

"It will be fully another month before the extent of the ore body will be proved so that definite conclusions will be certain, but from present indications there will be a huge tonnage of first-class commercial ore available. After drifting seventy-five feet the ore was making a stronger showing than at any time since the vein was encountered. The ore will average fully 5 per cent. There is considerable copper glance in it. The tonnage has been increased and we are taking out about eighty tons of ore a day now. All this is coming from the sill floor and is being taken out in the course of development. Stoping has not begun."

PRODUCTION OF NORTH BUTTE

Butte, Mont., Sept. 18.—The output at the North Butte mine is now in excess of 2,000,000 pounds of copper per month and from present indications the output for the year will far exceed that of 1914, when the total production was as follows: Copper, 18,421,761 pounds; silver, 1,092,300 ounces; gold, 1,107.6 ounces.

While the production during the first months of the present year was only about 50 per cent of normal, it has been steadily increased until at the present time it is close to the capacity of the mine.

Between 750 and 800 men are employed, as against less than 500 six months ago. The daily tonnage is about 1,200 tons, and from this close to 80,000 pounds of copper is realized.

The new Granite Mountain hoist is working splendidly and has enabled the North Butte Mining company to make a reduction in the cost of handling the ore.

Production is not yet back quite to the average of 1913, when the ore hoisted averaged 1,342 tons per day and over 28,000,000 pounds of copper was produced. At that time the average number of men employed was 880.

BUILDING BUSINESS IS ABNORMAL FOR SEASON

Permits Issued Show Unusual Activity for This Time of Year.

Many More Plans Being Prepared and Figures Asked For.

Construction Work Under Way Is Making Good Progress.

With thirty permits issued during the present week, involving improvements estimated to cost $48,825, it was demonstrated that the volume of building operations is being well maintained in this city.

Architects and contractors agree in the view that the building outlook for this city and district was never more promising than at the present. Many house plans will go out for figures yet this fall and architects aver that they have more prospective work in sight than perhaps at any time in their experiences at this season.

"In my opinion no person connected with the building trade has any reasonable cause for complaint this season," said C. E. Nystrom, architect, today. "Contractors are all busy and labor is well employed this fall. A feeling of confidence is spreading, and it looks now as if a number of projects that had been held up will be proceeded with in the near future. I look for considerable work to develop after the beginning of the new year."

More Home Projects.

Home projects in the newer residential districts continue to materialize. The latest announcement in that connection is that a modern frame and stucco house is to be built for Donald Westbrook at Waverly park, sketches for it now being prepared by A. N. Starin, architect.

C. E. Nystrom, architect, will take bids next week on a superintendent's house and a laundry to be built at the St. Louis county poor farm. The house is to be of brick and concrete construction, two stories in height, and the laundry will be a one and two-story structure.

The same architect is taking bids on the heating and plumbing work at F. E. Carlson's new home at Nineteenth avenue east and Third street, and for the electrical work at Mrs. A. Leith's double house at Nineteenth avenue east and Third street.

Plans for the superstructure of the J. A. Todd home at Waverly park will go out for figures next week from the office of P. M. Olsen, architect. Grant & Jackson have completed the foundation.

* * *

The exterior work at the new armory on London road has been completed by the contractors, George H. Lounsberry & Co., and a substantial proportion of the interior has been plastered.

* * *

Bids are being taken by the Hanford Construction company on the plumbing and heating and the electrical work at the house being built for N. H. Witt at Thirteenth avenue east and Second street.

A permit has been taken out for a residence for J. W. Sheridan on Third street, between Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth avenues east, to cost $12,000. The plans were prepared by F. G. German, architect.

The general contract for the Edward F. Chapin, Jr., home on First street, east of Congdon park, was awarded today to J. F. Fredin. It will be of brick and stucco, and will cost approximately $12,000. Arthur N. Starin was the architect.

Oscar Berglund has been awarded the contract by the same architect for a garage to be built at the home now under direction for W. H. Kilchli on the Hawthorne road, Congdon park.

Jacobson Bros. have taken out a permit for $10,000 to cover the erection of an additional story on the Anderson Furniture company's building at Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street. With the completion of this work, it is conceded that the block will rank as one of the best laid out for commercial purposes in the West end business district.

REALTY DEALERS REPORT WEEK OF FAIR ACTIVITY

Revival of Interest in West Duluth Properties in Evidence.

Dealers Willing to Keep Their Pinehurst-on-Lester Lots.

Without anything startling transpiring, a fair number of realty transactions were recorded during the present week. The business closed up was nearly all in the way of house properties or building lots mainly in the newer residential districts.

A revival of interest in West end and West Duluth properties was reported. That was due to the near approach of the time when the Minnesota Steel company's plant will be set in operation, and to improving business conditions in the western portion of the city.

It is said that some prominent Eastern realty operators have been asking for offers lately on business sites on Superior street in the central district and in the West end and West Duluth. As the prospective investors are apparently fully in earnest, hopes are entertained that some large transactions will be closed up in the near future.

An interesting business property transaction was the purchase by the Cameron Furniture company of the premises occupied by it at Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street. The property has a frontage of fifty feet by a depth of 140 feet. Included in the deal is an agreement for the completion of the additional story now under construction upon the building at a cost of $10,000.

The addition will be arranged for office suites and the premises are to be equipped with electric freight and passenger elevators.

Gratifying inquiry for properties in the high-grade residential districts was advised by Stryker, Manley & Buck. Sales effected during the week included a lot at Second street and Thirty-first avenue east.

Though the opening sale of Pinehurst-on-the-Lester tracts was balked by unfavorable weather conditions last Saturday afternoon, the success of the project is assured. Members of the Duluth Real Estate exchange who underwrote the proposition are expressing their readiness to retain the lots obtained by them in the drawing as they believe that present asking prices will be substantially advanced by next spring. Twenty-two of the thirty-eight lots in the plat have been already disposed of and negotiations for others are in progress.

The Harris Realty company reported the sale of house No. 1 East Sixth street for Philip Malbury to F. W. Carlson at $2,650. House No. 12 East Sixth street was sold for the same owner to Edward Egeland at $2,650.

The A. A. Fider company sold to Mrs. M. Casber house No. 1019 East Eighth street at $2,800. The company bought from Mrs. Andrew Iverson, ten Home Acres tracts over the Duluth Heights at $500.

* * *

Sales of eight lots in Gary Central division were reported by the Gary Land company. Five were to outside and three to Duluth investors. The company is receiving an increasing number of responses to prospectuses recently issued by it, and encouraging reports are being received from salesmen.

* * *

A. W. Taussig & Co. advised sales of four Central Acres tracts. Proposals were received this week for two large tracts of land in St. Louis county to be utilized for colonization purposes.

* * *

Two lots in the Park Drive division were sold by the Hoopes-Kohagen company. It is expected by that office that the erection of four additional homes will be proceeded with up there this fall by recent purchasers of lots.

The Benjamin F. Schweiger company reported the sale of a small house and lot at No. 2126 West Third street, for Sophia Kron to Christina Ramsey, at a consideration of $1,700.

The following farm land sales were made by Ebert-Walker company this week:

To F. O. Brown, s½ of se¼ of 9-46-18, one mile from Nemadji, at $22.50 per acre; to J. P. F. Kern, 160 acres in Aitkin county at $18 per acre; to Andrew Salaka, twenty acres near Knife River; to O. E. Johnson, twenty acres within one mile of Knife River; to Matt Spellum, forty acres two miles north of Knife River; to I. E. Thobieson, twenty acres one and a half miles from Duluth Heights; to Alfred Brassard, forty acres in section 34-50-16; to William Craig, forty acres in section 19-52-14.

All of the above purchasers are buying for immediate development and for future homes. Improvements have already been started on the most of these lands.

The same office also reported the sale of a tract of 300 acres on Rainy lake for M. Stenson to M. D. Woods. This is speculative property, located on the shore of Rainy lake, that will perhaps be divided in a short time and put on the market for summer outing purposes.

The company besides have sold to Tony Brair, lot 8, block 5, Bryant's addition to Duluth, a six-room house, purchased for a home. The price is $1,700. The Wheeler Agency represented the purchaser.

HOUSING IS GARY PROBLEM

People May Have to Live in Tents Unless Building Is Done.

Heavy Demand and Inadequate Supply Makes Conditions Serious.

Urgent necessity for additional housing accommodation at Gary is agreed to exist, and it is said by persons in close touch with existing conditions out there that unless house building is taken up on an extended scale in the near future, numbers of persons will be compelled to live in tents.

An official of the Central State bank said yesterday that the bank is receiving fully ten calls for houses a day, and it is his firm belief that if 100 additional houses were available, they could be easily filled inside of ten days. As an instance of the eagerness to obtain houses it was mentioned by him that a dozen calls were received for one house that became vacant this week. More than the rental price was bid for it, so eager were the applicants to obtain it.

It was intimated recently that the management of a building company has under consideration a project for the erection of sixty comfortable frame houses this fall. It is fully recognized that with hundreds of additional employes to be put on as soon as the plant goes into operation, an exceptionally attractive building investment opportunity will be afforded.

CITY HOMES

An exceptionally well built six-room house with city water, gas, paved street, sidewalks, centrally located, with 33, 70 or 100 feet of land, in other words, a double corner and a good home which will in a few years sell for more than double the price asked. Will consider a vacant lot and cash for the first payment. Terms can otherwise be arranged to suit the purchaser. Price about $3,000.

A twelve-room house made into two flats or can be used for a single large family or for a clubhouse. Absolutely new and built by day labor. Hardwood floors throughout, two complete bathrooms with wash basins, attic boarded in and light and cheery; large rooms with delightful wood finish; will sell a large plot of ground or an ordinary building lot. House facing macadamized improved avenue with all conveniences in and paid for. Also overlooks one of the nice West end parks. The porch is a large veranda and affords the finest view possible. Location in the West end in rapidly growing section where land will bring a great deal of money in a few years. The owner has told us to sell this property at the best prices and terms possible. Only a half block from school and a short distance from the car line, and the big West end industrial section. Must be seen to be appreciated, and is indeed, the most desirable property viewing it from a delightful place to live as well as from the future prospects of increase in value.

A four-room house nicely finished, close in, this side of Tenth avenue east, and not far out, $2,200. Terms easy.

ACRES

We have a few very desirable five and ten-acre tracts of land for sale, north of the Lakewood pumping station, as well as some acres in and around Lakewood, for sale at attractive prices. Of all the sections where small tracts of land may be had, we have for years considered this section not only the most desirable, because it has practically street car accommodations, but actually telephone and telegraph facilities, so you are not depending on livery or auto, if you wish to camp or even stay at the cabin in the woods for winter or summer. If you buy one of those four woodland acre tracts you are almost in the city and yet in the country among the pines.

Forty-acre tracts with beautiful birches, pine and cedar trees, will divide into two, three or four parts on the community plan. The best possible way to get more land for considerable less money. Now is the time before the real activity, if not the boom, begins along the north shore. Its new clubhouse, Congdon park, Canadian highways, etc. We have persistently recommended the buying of acre tracts and land in that section.

LOTS AND MORTGAGES

Anyone desiring building sites, no matter where in the city, we can be of great service to you. There is no question but the property is increasing in value, and now is your time.

PARKLAND DIVISION
ON THE CHESTER.

We regretfully call your attention to the fact that there remains only five lots with city water and gas, beautiful view, etc., in this most delightful subdivision at the end of Ninth street car line. Prices around $330, and upon very easy terms. See this gem of all subdivisions, then telephone us, and we will cheerfully explain to you who have bought there.

A chance for you to make money. To any one furnishing such a desirable subdivision, where the purchasers have been so satisfied, and have been able to make and save money, we will cheerfully give our check for $250.

HOTEL ASSURED FOR GARY SITE

George A. Pine of Bayfield Having Plans Prepared in Duluth.

A three-story hotel to contain between forty and fifty rooms and to cost approximately $30,000, is to be built at One-hundred-and-first avenue west and Gary street, Gary. The structure is to be of brick and hollow tile and is designed to be as nearly fireproof as possible.

The site was purchased recently by George Pine of Bayfield, Wis., from the Gary Land company with the building of a hotel in view.

Announcement was made by him today that the project will be proceeded with, and that it is proposed to bring the structure to completion at the earliest date possible. The plans are being prepared by Vernon J. Price & Co.

ONE-DAY RECORD AT SAULT BROKEN

Last Thursday 118 Vessels Were Locked Through American Canal.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 18.—When the last of the 118 vessels and small boats locked through the American locks Thursday all daily records during the histry of the locks had been smashed. The number passing through the Canadian locks was not taken into consideration. Forty-eight boats passed through the Poe lock and seventy through the Davis lock.

The largest number previous to this was ninety-two for the Poe lock, and one day in 1895 an even 100 craft of all kinds locked through the Weitzel lock. Owing to the fact that the autumn rush is now on in the freight carrying business on the lake this season is the busiest so far this year. Nearly all the available freight bottoms are out and tonnage is moving at a rapid clip.

ORIGINAL SAULT LOCKMAN IS DEAD

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 18.—Colixte D. Bernier, aged 68, a lockman at the St. Mary's Falls canal for forty-three years, and, with Joseph Campbell, the last member of the origginal crew which operated the first lock built, died suddenly at his home yesterday.

Mr. Bernier also carried mail by foot between the Sault and Marquette and between the Sault and Saginaw before the stage coach appeared in these parts.

WOMEN TO BE PAID SAME RATES AS MEN

London, Sept. 18.—Women engaged in the manufacture of war munitions will be paid the same rates as men on piece work and arrangements are under way for the establishment of day rates for women on the basis of equal pay for equal work. This announcement was made in a letter from David Lloyd-George, minister of munitions read at the national conference of trades unions concerned in munitions work. It is regarded as a victory for former militant suffragists, who recently have conducted an agitation calling upon the government to pay women the same rates as men for the same work.

COLLEGE ATHLETICS

By DR. SAMUEL G. DIXON, Commissioner of Health for Pennsylvania.

Many a boy and girl entering college dream not alone of success as students, but are anxious to gain recognition for athletic achievements.

To warn the young is like casting water on burning oil and yet it were well for the students who contemplate severe training to seriously consider as far as possible their probable occupation through life and if it is to be sedentary they should refrain from hard competitive athletics which will develop the muscles to a degree that cannot be kept up by the successful lawyer, doctor, teacher, or the majority of those engaged in business.

Over-training in youth is almost certain to result in physical deterioration in after years. The full value of athletics is obtained by the individual who achieves a rational all around development. Such a training is far more apt to stimulate one in after life to continue those athletic exercises which are available to the business and professional man and woman.

No occupation should prevent the student or the professional man from taking a reasonable amount of outdoor exercise daily. If nothing else a good swinging walk, say five to ten miles a day in the open air will always prove beneficial not only during youth but to a less degree in old age.

The young woman who goes in for athletics should be particularly careful. If indulged in to a reasonable extent under the supervision of a properly trained director of athletics, exercises and sports of a not too violent character will be a benefit.

Over-exertion is apt to incur a serious penalty with either sex but is perhaps more harmful for women than men.

The fact should be kept in mind that exercise is a means to an end and properly indulged in it should stimulate the body and react healthily on the process of the brain.

For the college man or woman this is the practical side of athletics and the one which should be kept in mind.

Considers Burke Candidate.

Minot, N. D., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Col. John Bloom, editor of the only Democratic daily newspaper in North Dakota, believes John Burke will run for the United States senate on the Democratic ticket in this state, and while on a business trip here voiced such anticipation. He also indicates the possibility that Halvor L. Halvorson of Minot will be groomed as a gubernatorial candidate.

LEGAL NOTICES.

Garnishee Summons and Notice.

State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis —ss.

District Court, Eleventh Judicial District.

The Kenilworth company, a corporation, Plaintiff.

vs.

George T. Eagling, Defendant, John Heitmann and Duluth Van & Storage company, a corporation, Garnishees.

The state of Minnesota, to John Heitmann and Duluth Van & Storage company, a corporation, above named garnishees.

Whereas, The affidavit of Robert Jaques, one of the attorneys for the above named plaintiff, has been made and filed with the clerk of said court at his office in the said county, in an action therein pending; wherein the said The Kenilworth company, a corporation, is plaintiff, and against George T. Eagling, defendant, stating that he believes that said John Heitmann and Duluth Van & Storage company, a corporation, garnishees, above named have property, moneys and effects in their hands and under their control, belonging to the above named defendant, and that said garnishees are indebted to said defendant, and that the value of said property and effects and each of the same exceeds the sum of twenty-five dollars, and the amount of said money exceeds the sum of twenty-five dollars, and the amount of said indebtedness exceeds the sum of twenty-five dollars.

Therefore, You, the said garnishees, are hereby required to appear before the clerk of the above named court, at the Court House, in Duluth, in the County of St. Louis, and State aforesaid, on Saturday, the 16th day of October, 1915, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, and then and there answer, under oath, such questions as may be put to you, the said garnishees, touching your indebtedness to said defendant and as to any property, money or effects of the defendant in your possession or under your control.

And if you neglect to appear at the time above specified, or within two hours thereafter, you will be defaulted and judgment will be rendered against you for the amount of the damages and costs recovered by the plaintiff in the action against the defendant.

Dated Sept. 8, 1915.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage duly made, executed and delivered by Joe L. Lonegren, a single man, mortgagor, to L. R. Martin Timber Co., mortgagee, bearing date the 18th day of April, 1911, and with a power of sale therein contained, which mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 2nd day of November, 1911, at eight o'clock A. M., in Book 291 of Mortgages, on page 313 thereof, and which said mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was thereafter duly assigned by said L. R. Martin Timber Co. to Anna J. Mark, by an instrument of assignment dated the 29th day of July, 1914, and duly recorded in the office of the said Register of Deeds on July 24th, 1915, at nine o'clock A. M., in Book 306 of Mortgages, on page 285 thereof, and which said mortgage was thereafter assigned by said Anna J. Mark to Ophelia S. Leithhead by an instrument of assignment dated July 10th, 1915, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds on the 29th day of July, 1915, at three o'clock P. M., in Book 305 of Mortgages, on page 344 thereof.

That such default consists in the non-payment of eight semi-annual installments of interest, which became due and payable as follows, to-wit: Thirteen Dollars and Fifty Cents ($13.50) on October 18th, 1911; Thirteen Dollars and Fifty Cents ($13.50) on April 18th, 1912; Thirteen Dollars and Fifty Cents ($13.50) on October 18th, 1912; Thirteen Dollars and Fifty Cents ($13.50) on April 18th, 1913; Thirteen Dollars and Fifty Cents ($13.50) on October 18th, 1913; Thirteen Dollars and Fifty Cents ($13.50) on April 18th, 1914; Thirteen Dollars and Fifty Cents ($13.50) on October 18th, 1914; Thirteen Dollars and Fifty Cents ($13.50) on April 18th, 1915, and also in the non-payment of taxes for the year 1913, amounting to Twelve Dollars and Thirty-nine Cents ($12.39), and for the year 1914, amounting to Twelve Dollars and Twenty-eight Cents ($12.28), which taxes the mortgagor stipulated in said mortgage to pay, but which became delinquent, and which the assignee of said mortgage was compelled to pay and did pay on July 28th, 1915, and that by reason of such default the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative.

That said mortgage contained a provision authorizing the mortgagee or its assigns to declare the whole sum secured by said mortgage to be due and payable, in case of default in any payment of interest, and that the assignee of said mortgage has elected to declare, and does declare, the whole sum secured by said mortgage to be due and payable.

That the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage, and that is actually due thereon, at the date of this notice, is Five Hundred Sixty-seven Dollars ($567.00), principal and interest, and Twenty-four Dollars and Sixty-seven Cents ($24.67) taxes paid by said mortgagee and its assigns, amounting in all to Five Hundred Ninety-one Dollars and Sixty-seven Cents ($591.67), and that no action or proceeding has been instituted at law or otherwise to recover said debt or any part thereof.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in said mortgage, to-wit: All that tract or parcel of land lying and being in the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: Lot number twenty-two (22) of Block twenty-eight (28), First Glen Avon Division of Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds, St. Louis County, Minn.; that said sale will be made by the Sheriff of St. Louis County, at the Sheriff's office in the Court House in the City of Duluth, in St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 4th day of October, 1915, at ten o'clock A. M., at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt with interest, taxes with interest, and attorney's fees, charges and disbursements allowed by law, and stipulated in said mortgage, and subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale, as provided by law.

Dated August 18th, 1915.

SUMMONS.

State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis—ss.
District Court, Eleventh Judicial District.

Scott-Graff Lumber company, a Corporation, Plaintiff,

vs.

H. C. Foster, Bessie L. Foster and Margaret D. Edwards, Defendants.

The State of Minnesota, To the above name defendants:

You, and each of you, are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above entitled action, which complaint has been filed in the office of the clerk of said District court in the courthouse in the City of Duluth, County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, and to file your answers to said complaint with said clerk within twenty days after the service of this summons upon you, exclusive of the day of such service.

You, and each of you are hereby notified that this action is brought to foreclose a certain lien for the sum of two hundred sixty-four dollars and seventy-four cents ($264.74) with interest thereon at the rate of 6 per cent per annum from January 2nd, 1915; that the premises to be charged are situated in the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, and are described as follows, to-wit:

Lots nineteen (19) and twenty (20), Block three (3), Colman's Third Addition to Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof.

That such lien is claimed by virtue of certain building materials furnished at the request of the defendant, H. C. Foster, in the construction and improvement of the certain frame dwelling house situated upon the premises above described; said materials having been so furnished between July 21st, 1914, and January 2nd, 1915, both dates inclusive.

If defendants fail to answer to said complaint within the time and in the manner aforesaid, plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in the complaint.

CITY HOMES

An exceptionally well built six-room house with city water, gas, paved street, sidewalks, centrally located, with 33, 70 or 100 feet of land, in other words, a double corner and a good home which will in a few years sell for more than double the price asked. Will consider a vacant lot and cash for the first payment. Terms can otherwise be arranged to suit the purchaser. Price about $3,000.

A twelve-room house made into two flats or can be used for a single large family or for a clubhouse. Absolutely new and built by day labor. Hardwood floors throughout, two complete bathrooms with wash basins, attic boarded in and light and cheery; large rooms with delightful wood finish; will sell a large plot of ground or an ordinary building lot. House facing macadamized improved avenue with all conveniences in and paid for. Also overlooks one of the nice West end parks. The porch is a large veranda and affords the finest view possible. Location in the West end in rapidly growing section where land will bring a great deal of money in a few years. The owner has told us to sell this property at the best prices and terms possible. Only a half block from school and a short distance from the car line, and the big West end industrial section. Must be seen to be appreciated, and is indeed, the most desirable property viewing it from a delightful place to live as well as from the future prospects of increase in value.

A four-room house nicely finished, close in, this side of Tenth avenue east, and not far out, $2,200. Terms easy.

ACRES

We have a few very desirable five and ten-acre tracts of land for sale, north of the Lakewood pumping station, as well as some acres in and around Lakewood, for sale at attractive prices. Of all the sections where small tracts of land may be had, we have for years considered this section not only the most desirable, because it has practically street car accommodations, but actually telephone and telegraph facilities, so you are not dependent on livery or auto, if you wish to camp or even stay at the cabin in the woods for winter or summer. If you buy one of those four woodland acre tracts you are almost in the city and yet in the country among the pines.

Forty-acre tracts with beautiful birches, pine and cedar trees, will divide into two, three or four parts on the community plan. The best possible way to get more land for considerable less money. Now is the time before the real activity, if not the boom, begins along the north shore. Its new clubhouse, Congdon park, Canadian highways, etc. We have persistently recommended the buying of acre tracts and land in that section.

LOTS AND MORTGAGES

Anyone desiring building sites, no matter where in the city, we can be of great service to you. There is no question but the property is increasing in value, and now is your time.

PARKLAND DIVISION
ON THE CHESTER.

We regretfully call your attention to the fact that there remains only five lots with city water and gas, beautiful view, etc., in this most delightful subdivision at the end of Ninth street car line. Prices around $330, and upon very easy terms. See this gem of all subdivisions, then telephone us, and we will cheerfully explain to you who have bought there.

A chance for you to make money. To any one furnishing such a desirable subdivision, where the purchasers have been so satisfied, and have been able to make and save money, we will cheerfully give our check for $250.

HOTEL ASSURED FOR GARY SITE

George A. Pine of Bayfield Having Plans Prepared in Duluth.

A three-story hotel to contain between forty and fifty rooms and to cost approximately $30,000, is to be built at One-hundred-and-first avenue west and Gary street, Gary. The structure is to be of brick and hollow tile and is designed to be as nearly fireproof as possible.

The site was purchased recently by George Pine of Bayfield, Wis., from the Gary Land company with the building of a hotel in view.

Announcement was made by him today that the project will be proceeded with, and that it is proposed to bring the structure to completion at the earliest date possible. The plans are being prepared by Vernon J. Price & Co.

COLLEGE ATHLETICS

By DR. SAMUEL G. DIXON, Commissioner of Health for Pennsylvania.

Many a boy and girl entering college dream not alone of success as students, but are anxious to gain recognition for athletic achievements.

To warn the young is like casting water on burning oil and yet it were well for the students who contemplate severe training to seriously consider as far as possible their probable occupation through life and if it is to be sedentary they should refrain from hard competitive athletics which will develop the muscles to a degree that cannot be kept up by the successful lawyer, doctor, teacher, or the majority of those engaged in business.

Over-training in youth is almost certain to result in physical deterioration in after years. The full value of athletics is obtained by the individual who achieves a rational all around development. Such a training is far more apt to stimulate one in after life to continue those athletic exercises which are available to the business and professional man and woman.

No occupation should prevent the student or the professional man from taking a reasonable amount of outdoor exercise daily. If nothing else a good swinging walk, say five to ten miles a day in the open air will always prove beneficial not only during youth but to a less degree in old age.

The young woman who goes in for athletics should be particularly careful. If indulged in to a reasonable extent under the supervision of a properly trained director of athletics, exercises and sports of a not too violent character will be a benefit.

Over-exertion is apt to incur a serious penalty with either sex but is perhaps more harmful for women than men.

The fact should be kept in mind that exercise is a means to an end and properly indulged in it should stimulate the body and react healthily on the process of the brain.

For the college man or woman this is the practical side of athletics and the one which should be kept in mind.

Considers Burke Candidate.

Minot, N. D., Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Col. John Bloom, editor of the only Democratic daily newspaper in North Dakota, believes John Burke will run for the United States senate on the Democratic ticket in this state, and while on a business trip here voiced such anticipation. He also indicates the possibility that Halvor L. Halvorson of Minot will be groomed as a gubernatorial candidate.

ONE-DAY RECORD AT SAULT BROKEN

Last Thursday 118 Vessels Were Locked Through American Canal.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 18.—When the last of the 118 vessels and small boats locked through the American locks Thursday all daily records during the histry of the locks had been smashed. The number passing through the Canadian locks was not taken into consideration. Forty-eight boats passed through the Poe lock and seventy through the Davis lock.

The largest number previous to this was ninety-two for the Poe lock, and one day in 1895 an even 100 craft of all kinds locked through the Weitzel lock. Owing to the fact that the autumn rush is now on in the freight carrying business on the lake this season is the busiest so far this year. Nearly all the available freight bottoms are out and tonnage is moving at a rapid clip.

ORIGINAL SAULT LOCKMAN IS DEAD

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 18.—Colixte D. Bernier, aged 68, a lockman at the St. Mary's Falls canal for forty-three years, and, with Joseph Campbell, the last member of the original crew which operated the first lock built, died suddenly at his home yesterday.

Mr. Bernier also carried mail by foot between the Sault and Marquette and between the Sault and Saginaw before the stage coach appeared in these parts.

WOMEN TO BE PAID SAME RATES AS MEN

London, Sept. 18.—Women engaged in the manufacture of war munitions will be paid the same rates as men on piece work and arrangements are under way for the establishment of day rates for women on the basis of equal pay for equal work. This announcement was made in a letter from David Lloyd-George, minister of munitions read at the national conference of trades unions concerned in munitions work. It is regarded as a victory for former militant suffragists, who recently have conducted an agitation calling upon the government to pay women the same rates as men for the same work.

CLAIMS INDIAN LAWS OF 1889 ARE VIOLATED

Washington, Sept. 18.—Secretary Lane, Indian Commissioner Sells and John Burke, treasurer of the United States, were cited in district supreme court to show cause on Oct. 1 why they should not be enjoined from paying any part of $160,000 which the Chippewa Indians of Minnesota claim under a law of 1889.

The suit was filed through J. G. Morrison, president of the general tribal council of the Chippewas. It is contended that terms of the act have been violated.

Fuentes President.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage duly made, executed and delivered by Joe L. Lonegren, a single man, mortgagor, to L. R. Martin Timber Co., mortgagee, bearing date the 18th day of April, 1911, and with a power of sale therein contained, which mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 2nd day of November, 1911, at eight o'clock A. M., in Book 291 of Mortgages, on page 313 thereof, and which said mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was thereafter duly assigned by said L. R. Martin Timber Co. to Anna J. Mark, by an instrument of assignment dated the 29th day of July, 1914, and duly recorded in the office of the said Register of Deeds on July 24th, 1915, at nine o'clock A. M., in Book 306 of Mortgages, on page 295 thereof, and which said mortgage was thereafter assigned by said Anna J. Mark to Ophelia S. Leithhead by an instrument of assignment dated July 10th, 1915, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds on the 29th day of July, 1915, at three o'clock P. M., in Book 305 of Mortgages, on page 344 thereof.

That such default consists in the non-payment of eight semi-annual installments of interest, which became due and payable as follows, to-wit: Thirteen Dollars and Fifty Cents ($13.50) on October 18th, 1911; Thirteen Dollars and Fifty Cents ($13.50) on April 18th, 1912; Thirteen Dollars and Fifty Cents ($13.50) on October 18th, 1912; Thirteen Dollars and Fifty Cents ($13.50) on April 18th, 1913; Thirteen Dollars and Fifty Cents ($13.50) on October 18th, 1913; Thirteen Dollars and Fifty Cents ($13.50) on April 18th, 1914; Thirteen Dollars and Fifty Cents ($13.50) on October 18th, 1914; Thirteen Dollars and Fifty Cents ($13.50) on April 18th, 1915, and also in the non-payment of taxes for the year 1913, amounting to Twelve Dollars and Thirty-nine Cents ($12.39), and for the year 1914, amounting to Twelve Dollars and Twenty-eight Cents ($12.28), which taxes the mortgagor stipulated in said mortgage to pay, but which became delinquent, and which assignee of said mortgage was compelled to pay and did pay on July 28th, 1915, and that by reason of such default the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative.

That said mortgage contained a provision authorizing the mortgagee or its assigns to declare the whole sum secured by said mortgage to be due and payable, in case of default in any payment of interest, and that the assignee of said mortgage has elected to declare, and does declare, the whole sum secured by said mortgage to be due and payable.

That the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage, and that is actually due thereon, at the date of this notice, is Five Hundred Sixty-seven Dollars ($567.00), principal and interest, and Twenty-four Dollars and Sixty-seven Cents ($24.67) taxes paid by said mortgagee and its assigns, amounting in all to Five Hundred Ninety-one Dollars and Sixty-seven Cents ($591.67), and that no action or proceeding has been instituted at law or otherwise to recover said debt or any part thereof.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in said mortgage, to-wit: All that tract or parcel of land lying and being in the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: Lot number twenty-two (22) of Block twenty-eight (28), First Glen Avon Division of Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds, St. Louis County, Minn.; that said sale will be made by the Sheriff of St. Louis County, at the Sheriff's office in the Court House in the City of Duluth, in St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 4th day of October, 1915, at ten o'clock A. M., at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt with interest, taxes with interest, and attorney's fees, charges and disbursements allowed by law, or as may be stipulated in said mortgage, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale, as provided by law.

Minnesota Farmers Are Busy Banking Profits

FARMS

Get Your Farm or Acre Tract This Fall

ACRE TRACTS.

WE HAVE A FEW

Five and ten-acre tracts left in the Fourth addition to Sunnyside, which we will sell on payments of $5 and $10 per month. These berry, truck and poultry farms are only four miles from Superior, and offer advantages for the small farmer that cannot be found anywhere else at the Head of the Lakes.

Two paved automobile roads into Duluth and Superior; three railroads with a dozen trains daily; daily mail delivery; well-drained land, absolutely free from rock, that can be cleared ready for the plow, at from $12.50 to $20 per acre.

There is good money in raising berries, truck and poultry at Sunnyside. Fred Thias, probably the best known poultry man at the Head of the Lakes, has selected ten acres at Sunnyside for his future poultry farm. Mr. Houghton of Duluth, a well-known nurseryman, has also picked out ten acres at Sunnyside on which he will locate his nursery for raising northern-grown shrubbery, berry plants, seeds, bulbs, etc. These two men know their businesses and what is required for their success; they selected land at Sunnyside because they secured advantages there in the way of good roads, shipping facilities, soil, etc., that could not be found elsewhere.

We are encouraging everyone at Sunnyside to get started raising small fruit just as fast as they possibly can, for the reason that we have the very latest berries grown in this district and can get big prices for them. This year our strawberries sold for $2.25, gooseberries at $1.95, currants at $2 and raspberries at $2.75 to $3 per crate. Can you ask for anything better?

A few dollars laid aside each month will buy a farm at Sunnyside that will make you an independent living, and the land can be bought at $67.50 per acre at this time. Write for our free literature telling of "What Others Are Doing at Sunnyside." A postal card will get you this information. It tells of people who have taken off better than $1,000 an acre on strawberries, and other information of much value.

If you are interested in this class of farming, you surely want to know all about Sunnyside. Our automobile is at your service, and we will be glad to take you out and show you the crops growing in the fields.

FARM AND FRUIT LANDS.

MINNESOTA FARMERS ARE PROFITING BY THE EUROPEAN WAR. ARE YOU?

80-acre improved farm near Brimson, Minn.; log house, 4 rooms, woodhouse, granary, log barn, 20 by 30, room for 6 head of stock and 6 or 8 tons of hay; good henhouse; 15 acres under plow, 20 acres more nearly all cleared; well and new pump; about 4 acres seeded to clover; soil is heavy sand loam with clay subsoil, and is in good community, only 1½ miles from town, with several large improved farms adjoining. Price $1,400, half cash. This farm is all ready for occupancy, as the buildings are in good condition and are now occupied.

Near Grand Lake, less than one mile from railroad station, 120 acres, 60 acres of which are cleared; good log house, large new roothouse, large barn with hay shed, good well, 1 mile of fence, including farm wagon, disc harrow, plow, potato planter, potato digger, cultivator, sleigh; also includes large amount of hay already in barn, potato crop. Must all be sold before Oct. 1. A good proposition for stock farm.

Good 80 acres, 4 miles from Nemadji, must be sold before Oct. 1. Will make low price of $12.50 per acre, terms. Don't delay if you want something good and cheap.

Fine 40-acre tract 3 miles from Moose Lake, surrounded by nice farms; some hardwood; very cheap at $15 per acre.

MONEY ON HAND FOR FARM LOANS.

EBERT-WALKER COMPANY,
Farm Land Men,
315-16 Torrey Building,
Duluth, Minnesota.

TWENTY-ACRE TRACTS.

Only eight 20-acre tracts left. Another week and your chance to get one of these at rock-bottom prices will be gone. Every tract is a beauty; absolutely stoneless, lies well, just a gentle slope, and can be cleared for $10 an acre. It is the best farming land at the Head of the Lakes. You can go on this land this fall, build a small house (we can help you get the lumber), and get your fall plowing done. You will then be ready in the spring. A few chickens, hogs and cows will easily and surely make you independent. You don't need then to worry about a job; you are your own boss. Every tract faces on a good road, and they are only six miles south of the new steel plant and new steel city. Consider the market you will have here. The tracts are only 14 miles from Duluth. You are buying right in town when you get a farm here. Excellent road right into the center of the city. Get a place where you can feel independent—something you can fall back on if hard times come. These tracts are only $650 for a 20-acre tract. Land just three miles from it is being sold at $200 to $500 a lot. Think of this. It won't be long before this land is selling for ten times the present price. Call on us and see photographs of this land and surrounding farms.

FOR SALE—REAL ESTATE

COLLECT PROFITS DUE ON THESE LOTS AT HUNTER'S PARK.

A 25 to 33 1-3 per cent increase in value is being sacrificed by the estate that is closing out this property.

Absolutely without question these lots are by far the best values in the city at the prices asked—$635 to $750, on terms of $25 down and balance monthly.

If you want a safe, sure, profitable investment, get one of these lots.

If you intend to own a home in Duluth, you could choose no better site than one of these lots.

A comparison of real estate values in this section of Hunter's Park will dispose of any doubt you may have as to the values offered.

Make appointment now to have us take you out to this property.

W. M. PRINDLE & CO. Lonsdale Bldg.

THE HOME BEAUTIFUL!

If the surroundings of your home are not desirable (for instance, cheap houses, unkempt lawns and gardens and unsightly grounds), it tends greatly to decrease the artistic beauty of your home, no matter how elegant or perfect in itself. A small house can be made beautiful and artistic if built in a desirable location, amidst attractive homes, lawns and gardens. We can sell you the location that contains absolutely everything necessary to make your proposed home beautiful—beautiful view, beautiful homes, beautiful lawns, gardens, terraces. The lots themselves are the most beautiful and sightly in Duluth. They have paved streets, gas, water and sewer. Most important to you, however, is this: These lots are offered at 50 per cent less than they are actually worth. All we ask is a chance to show you these lots and their surroundings. They are all in Hunter's Park, the most beautiful and desirable suburb in Duluth. The lots vary in price from $450 to $1,700, according to size. Only 10 per cent cash and the balance in five years. Let us show you these, so that you can compare them with anything else offered in Duluth. We are glad to show you, and there is absolutely no obligation on your part to buy. It only takes a half hour of your time to run out and see these lots. Call for plats.

PASSENGERS BRING UNCENSORED STORIES OF LONDON AIR RAIDS

Those on Orduna Tell of Havoc Caused By Zeppelin Bombs.

Entire Block of Warehouses Destroyed By Fire During Raid.

One Explosive Shattered Tenement House, Killing Dozen or More.

New York, Sept. 20.—An incendiary bomb, dropped during the first Zeppelin raid over the heart of London, on the night of Sept. 8, destroyed by fire an entire block of warehouses within five minutes' walk of St. Paul's cathedral, arrivals from England on the steamship Orduna said today.

An explosive bomb ripped through a six-story tenement in the center of the city, shattering the building from top to bottom and killing a dozen or more men, women and children as they slept.

Several bombs, according to eye witnesses, fell near three hospitals in a cluster, the central one of which was the Opthalmic hospital, full of wounded soldiers. All three buildings were rocked to their foundations and not a pane of glass was left intact. The patients had to be moved into the street, where they lay for hours on their cots while the damage was repaired.

Millions Watch Spectacle.

The passengers on the Orduna said that millions watched the thrilling fight in the sky between the invading Zeppelins and British aircraft which defended the city. They gave details of the damage inflicted which had hitherto been suppressed by the British censor.

There were said to be three Zeppelins in the fleet, although those who

DIETRICH ENDED HIS LIFE BY SHOOTING

Racine, Wis., Sept. 20.—Announcement was made today by Coroner W. F. Kisow that Charles M. Dietrich, prominent real estate man whose death occurred on Saturday last, had committed suicide by shooting himself through the heart. At the time of Dietrich's death it was said that he had died of an internal hemorrhage. Depression over financial difficulties is believed to have caused the act.

Dietrich was well known in Wisconsin real estate and fraternal circles.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 20.—The International Engineering congress convened here today and will continue in session until Sept. 15. Maj. Gen. G. W. Goethals, builder of the Panama canal and honorary president of the congress, was to deliver the principal address at the general session.

BANKERS FACE NEW PROBLEMS

American Finance as Affected By European War Discussed.

President of Investment Bankers' Association Makes Annual Address.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 20.—The problem of American finance, as affected by the European war, was discussed here today at the opening of the convention of the Investment Bankers' Association of America, by A. B. Leach of New York, president of the association.

The speaker also devoted some time to railroad securities, public service companies and "blue sky" regulations. Touching war finance, he said:

"As investment bankers, we face the problem, that the capital which has been expended for the development of this country, derived in the past from Europe, will not be available. We therefore must devise ways and means to furnish monies for these developments from home capital. This is a broad opportunity, it is a great responsibility, but I feel that the investment bankers will measure up to it, not only so we will serve our country successfully and faithfully, but so we shall find success in our business.

Can Take All Securities.

"Again, there will be resold to this country in enormous volumes—they are coming every day—securities which have been placed in Europe. We could not have them presented to us at a better time. Never before in the history of the country have we been in position where they could be absorbed and repurchased as they

John D., Jr., Makes Trip at Request of "Mother" Jones and Others.

Will Inspect Properties of Colorado Fuel & Iron Company.

Trinidad, Colo., Sept. 20.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., arrived here at 8 o'clock today for an inspection of the properties of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company. Mr. Rockefeller and his party probably will spend two or three weeks in Colorado.

No definite itinerary has been planned. It is expected that the program will be arranged from day to day in accordance with Mr. Rockefeller's wishes and convenience.

The Colorado visit of Mr. Rockefeller, as active representative of the principal owning interest of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company, has been planned since early in the year. It had its inception at the New York hearings before the Federal commission on industrial relations.

ARCHIBALD DENIES ANY WRONGDOING

Says He Had No Knowledge of Contents of Dumba's Message.

New York, Sept. 20.—James F. J. Archibald, the American correspondent who was intercepted by British authorities, while carrying a message from Dr. Constantin T. Dumba, the Austro-Hungarian ambassador, to Vienna, arrived here today on the liner Rotterdam.

Several secret service men boarded the Rotterdam at Quarantine early today, immediately went to Archibald's stateroom and questioned him for some time. The secret service men were reported to have searched Archibald, his baggage and the stateroom and to have taken away a cane belonging to the correspondent. Archibald denied this and would not admit having even talked to the secret service men.

After leaving Quarantine, Archibald said:

"I do not know anything about the situation here. If there is any contemplated prosecution of me it is perfectly unjust.

"I took the letter which caused the trouble, from Ambassador Dumba without knowledge of its contents and entirely unwittingly. That is all I care to say at present."

Archibald then said he would issue a longer statement after landing. As he walked down the gangplank, however, he met a man he described as his secretary. The man said he was Charles Mercer. Archibald and Mercer held a short conference and Archibald then announced he would defer the issuing of an additional statement. He said he expected to go to Washington soon, but other than that had no plans.

STEAMSHIP BURNS IN MID-OCEAN; ONLY ONE PERSON LOSES LIFE

Greek Steamer Athinai Destroyed By Fire While at Sea.

Anchor Line Freighter Tuscania Rescues 408 Passengers.

Steamer Roumanian Prince Saves Lives of Sixty-One Others.

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 20.—The Greek steamer Athinai was destroyed by fire at sea with the loss of one life, according to a message received by the marine department today. The steamer Tuscania rescued 408 passengers and members of the crew and the steamer Roumanian Prince sixty-one others.

The message from the Tuscania was dated at 7 a. m. today and was the first official word received from the liner since the wireless report last night that the Athinai was afire and the Tuscania had rescued the passengers. The origin of the fire was not stated in the message, which read:

"Heard distress call at 8:30 a. m. yesterday. Arrived on spot at noon and sent line across to help them. Transferred passengers about 4 p. m. Athinai was abandoned about 8:30 p. m. We rescued 408 passengers and crew and the Roumanian Prince rescued 61. There was only one life lost, that of a man who jumped overboard. We left the wreck burning fiercely in Numbers 1 and 2 holds at 10:30 p. m.

ERB HAS EXCELLENT CHANCE TO RECOVER

Now Passing Through Critical Period From Taking Poison.

New York, Sept. 20.—Newman Erb, wealthy railroad organizer, was today reported to have an excellent chance to recover from the effects of the two poison tablets he swallowed by mistake last Tuesday. Mr. Erb, at his summer home at Deal, N. J., is now passing through the final hours of the critical period in this form of poisoning.

The four physicians attending the financier report he is not suffering any pain or discomfort; that his pulse and temperature are normal and that unless he exhibits some marked symptoms indicating the presence of a considerable quantity of poison in his system, during the next eighteen hours, Mr. Erb undoubtedly will recover.

CARRANZA MONEY INCREASES IN VALUE

Meeting of Pan-American Conference Has Its Effect in Vera Cruz.

Washington, Sept. 20.—Advices from Vera Cruz to the Carranza agency here today said the meeting of the Pan-American conference in New York Saturday materially increased the value of Carranza currency.

Gen. Carranza and his military leaders were reported much encouraged by the conference announcement that time for recognition of a government in Mexico had arrived. Reports were current in official quarters that Villa had indicated he would accept Gen. Obregon, Carranza's commander-in-chief, for provisional president of Mexico. It was reported that Villa representatives had told Obregon recognition probably would be accorded him by the United States if he formed a coalition with the other groups in Mexico.

Carranza agents here declared they had no doubt of the loyalty of Gen. Obregon.

FIGHTING ALONG ENTIRE BATTLE LINE IN FRANCE IS INCREASING IN FURY

French Blow Up Munitions Depot Within German Lines Near Perthes.

Works of Enemy in Artois District Violently Bombarded By French.

Heavy Artillery Fighting Is Sustained at Many Other Points.

Paris, Sept. 20, 2:30 p. m.—The official statement of the French war office this afternoon describes great activity on the part of the French artillery at various points along the battle line in France.

A depot of munitions within the enemy's line near Perthes was blown up. The text of the communication follows:

"In the Artois district our artillery last night delivered a violent bombardment against the works of the enemy and interfered with their provision trains. The German batteries showed particular activity in the environs of Arras and on the front along the Crinchon river.

"The firing of the enemy was also fairly well sustained in the regions of Foucaucourt, Herleville and Tracy-Le-Val and brought out an energetic response from our side.

Artillery and Rifle Fighting.

"In the vicinity of Berry-au-Bac last night saw fighting with bombs and artillery and rifle firing. On the canal between the Aisne and the Marne we took possession of a German listening post.

"In the Champagne district our artillery replied to a bombardment of our positions to the north of Camp De Chalons and checked the fire of the German heavy artillery. To the north of Perthes a depot of munitions within the enemy's lines was blown up.

"Between the Aisne and the Argonne district the artillery of the enemy maintained its activity during all last night. This fire was answered with energy.

"In Lorraine our batteries continued their destructive fire upon the works of the enemy."

RUSSIAN MINISTER CONFERS ON FINANCE

Paris, Sept. 20.—Pierre L. Bark, Russian minister of finance, arrived in Paris today and conferred with Alexandre Ribot, French minister of finance. He will subsequently meet Reginald McKenna, British chancellor of the exchequer, either here or in London. At these conferences the financial problems of the entente powers are to be taken up.

LEASES ARE PROTECTED

Attorney General Decides Mining Companies Have Preserved Rights.

Auditor Has No Authority to Confiscate Hibbing Properties.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Attorney General Smith has held that the several Hibbing mining companies, which recently paid into the state treasury $67,000 in taxes, are within their rights as far as the protection of their state leases are concerned. The opinion was given in answer to a query put by State Auditor Preus.

Mayor Power of Hibbing, in calling the state auditor's attention to a violation of the leases by the mine owners in failing to pay their taxes, demanded that the state auditor proceed and confiscate the property. This could only be done after the filing of a twenty days' notice. Attorney General Smith's ruling is that if the taxes are paid within the twenty-day period that such is sufficient.

MANY DELEGATES TO IRRIGATION CONGRESS

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 20.—About 200 delegates were here today to attend the San Francisco sessions of the International Irrigation congress, sessions of which were held last week in Stockton, Fresno and Sacramento. Ancient and modern irrigation and drainage systems were to be reviewed today at a session in which the national drainage congress was to participate.

Among the speakers on the program were Myron T. Herrick of Ohio, Governor Hiram W Johnson of California, and Senators James D. Phelan of California and Francis G. Newlands of Nevada.

CHICAGO BUSINESS MEN TURN SOLDIERS

Chicago, Sept. 20.—Six hundred business and professional men from Chicago and other Middle West cities laid aside their civilian clothes today for the uniform of the United States army. They started a month's course in military instruction at the training camp established at Fort Sheridan.

GERMANS ATTACK SERBIANS.

Berlin, Sept. 20, via London.—Announcement was made by the war office here today of an attack by German forces on the Serbians. It was said the Serbians were driven back.

London, Sept. 20.—The Russian army, menaced since the fall of Vilna by the German encircling movement, is estimated variously at 250,000 to 500,000 men.

The conditions under which the Russians are attempting to extricate themselves furnish a striking parallel to those which followed the capture of Warsaw. They may precipitate one of the greatest, if not the greatest, battles which have been fought on the eastern front.

Although no official confirmation has been received in London from Petrograd this morning of the fall of Vilna, the British press has accepted the German claim readily in view of the situation that had been developing. Concern is expressed for the retiring Russian forces. So far as can be judged, Field Marshal von Hindenburg's troops have flung a loop about the Russians over a front of some 200 miles and are not only in their rear but are menacing seriously the single railway line and the few available wagon roads stretching to the south.

As was the case of Warsaw, the number of Russian prisoners left behind with the evacuation of Vilna was not great. Apparently the only way in which the retiring forces may ameliorate the seemingly bad situation is by a counter blow.

There is a great deal of speculation as to the German objective. Opinion is divided whether von Hindenburg will seek merely to close his gap, thus capturing the army within the net, or, not content with this, will press eastward toward Minsk and from the west through Slonim in an effort to reproduce the encircling movement on a more gigantic scale and again try for a decisive victory. Similar tactics attempted after the fall of Warsaw met with failure.

The Russians are employing their familiar rear guard tactics, and the hope is expressed in the British press that they will be able to fight their way out without shattering losses.

Next to Warsaw, Vilna is the most important town in Western Russia.

MORE SUCCESSES CLAIMED BY TURKS

Official Statement Says Enemies' Positions Bombarded With Good Effect.

Constantinople, Sept. 20, via London.—A statement issued by the Turkish war office says:

"Our reconnoitering parties near Anafarta on Saturday night drove away similar parties of the enemy and successfully threw bombs into the enemy's trenches.

"Our artillery successfully bombarded Saturday the enemy's camp near Kemikle Liman.

"Near Seddul Bahr our artillery silenced the enemy's guns which had bombarded the center of our positions."

"Our reconnoitering detachments approached the trenches of the enemy near Kerevignedere, which was successfully attacked with bombs.

"On Saturday forenoon, our coast batteries bombarded the Caman positions of the enemy's artillery and infantry near Seddul Bahr. In the afternoon, a warship of the Patrie class, and hostile batteries on the mainland near Seddul Bahr, shelled our coast batteries for one hour without damage."

Uncle Sam: "Still, Some People Would Like to See Us Mixed Up in the War."

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

Concern is expressed in London for the safety of the Russian forces retreating from Vilna, estimated to number from 250,000 to 500,000.

Foreign military observers mention the probability that one of the greatest battles of the war in the east will develop from the efforts of the Russians to extricate themselves from the German net.

Petrograd correspondents express confidence that the Russian armies will be safely withdrawn.

A dispatch in a Petrograd newspaper from Kiev contains a statement that the evacuation of this important city of Southwestern Russia is proceeding normally.

Paris reports intense activity by artillery along the Franco-Belgian line. The reports mention the blowing up of a munitions depot within the German lines near Perthes.

Conferences on the financial problems of the entente allies have begun in Paris between Pierre L. Bark, the Russian minister of finance, who has just arrived in Paris from Petrograd, and Alexandre Ribot, the finance minister of France. Similar conferences will be held by M. Bark with Reginald McKenna, British chancellor of the exchequer.

DEATH WAS HIS SOLUTION

Eugene Glanz Tried to Solve Problem That Confronted Him.

Wife Wanted Divorce—He Was Old and Weary of Struggle.

Tired of living, and anxious to save his wife the expense and trouble of going into a divorce court, Eugene Glanz, 60, tried to commit suicide by gas poisoning in his room at Second avenue east and Second street this morning.

"I sent you back that blue paper. I want a rest," wrote Glanz in a lengthy letter to his wife found on the table in the room when Officer Fred Dinkel broke in and found the man unconscious on the bed.

The fact that Glanz removed the key from the door after locking it probably saved his life, for escaping gas attracted others in the house and they called police. One end of a gas tube was in Glanz' mouth when he was found.

"She is suing for divorce," said Glanz at headquarters, "and I thought I'd save her the trouble. I don't want to live anyway. What's the use. I haven't had anything to eat for three days and I'm out of a job. I'm too old to work anyway."

For more than an hour before his attempt on his own life Glanz sat in the little room and tried to write his wife in Minneapolis. A painfully scribbled three-page letter was found by Officer Dinkel giving reasons for his attempt, and telling of domestic duties which he had left undone.

The letter was addressed to Mrs. Dora Glanz, 1608 Second avenue south, Minneapolis. It read as follows:

"Dear Dora—Your two letters received when I landed here. I got sick the next day, so in fact I worked only about three weeks, then I got into trouble about work with the foreman and got fired, so I didn't work the last two weeks.

"I wanted to come home every day but the nervousness is getting so bad that I was not able to pack my trunk. I am getting nearly 60 years old and it is nearly time for me to retire from work, so I made my mind up to make an end out of it.

"My leg is crippled and I had no chance to sit down. I don't want to fall a burden to you or the children, so I think it the best way to make away with me. I can't do you much good any more. I know I done my duty and I send you that blue paper back again. Give it to Jack. Tell him to bring them back again where he got them.

"At the same time I sent you two tickets from a pawnshop for my ring and watch. It is only $4.50. It is worth $50. Little stuff I put in the satchel so it won't get lost whatever they do with me. I don't care. My gold glasses are at Moreau's. They only cost $1.50 for repairs and they fit you.

"This is about all I can say. It is no use to fight any longer for an existence. I want a rest. It is no use to ask what the rest are doing, so I wish you all good-by. Yours forever,

"EUGENE GLANZ.

"I am terrible nervous and can't write any more. You know the umbrella I took apart and put in the trunk and some other little things. I got all my senses and trying to do a good finish."

On orders of Police Surgeon Harry Klein, Glanz will be cared for at police headquarters temporarily. If allowed to go free, authorities fear he may repeat the attempt at suicide.

WHEN DULUTH'S POPULATION GREW AT RATE OF 3500 PER CENT IN YEAR

Letters Written By Richard H. Eldridge in 1869 and 1870 Give Interesting Sketch of Boom Days When Railroad Came.

Boom days in Duluth in 1870, when the population had increased nearly 3,500 during the preceding twelve months and the ten hotels of the town were filled with travelers and settlers, are interestingly described in letters written by Richard H. Eldridge, one of the early residents here, and just found by his son, C. H. Eldridge of Amsterdam, N. Y.

The elder Mr. Eldridge was accompanied by his son, who was then a youngster, the pair making the trip here by boat and later going to St. Paul in a stage coach. During the early boom days, when there was constant talk of railroads coming to the Head of the Lakes, Mr. Eldridge bought considerable property on Rice's point. He later sold his property, consisting of 349 lots, to railroads and dock companies.

In a letter to The Herald, Mr. Eldridge describes Duluth in its early days and tells of the old Clark house, the city's fashionable hotel at the time, the stumps in the streets, the railroad track running to the dock outside Minnesota point and the Indian tepees beyond the canal.

Two of the letters written by his father, while visiting Duluth, to members of the family living at that time in Lafayette, Ind., follow:

SUPERIOR HOUSE,
M. L. Avery, Proprietor,
(West End of Lake Superior.)
"Superior, Wis., Aug. 1, 1869.

"My dear F.:

"I left home on the 27 of July, (Lafayette, Ind.), and reached this place this morning in a heavy rain storm and got a comfortable soaking on my way to the hotel. Had a pleasant trip by rail and boat, particularly the latter.

"And now for the reason of my coming. A company is building a railroad from this end of the lake to St. Paul, on the Mississippi river, and last week I received a letter from the agent of the road saying that they wanted title to two blocks of forty lots in the town of Rice's Point, belonging to me, where they wished to establish their depot and shops. E and I have 349 lots on the point where they terminate the Lake Superior & Mississippi railroad. They are building extensive docks.

"Tomorrow, if it clears, I shall go to DuLuth, at the head of the bay, seven miles from here, and next day up the St. Louis river twenty-five miles to Fond du Lac, at the foot of the rapids. Everything here and at DuLuth is crowded with newcomers, and 900 men are working on the road at this end. I intend returning by the way of St. Paul, three days staging, unless the roads are bad.

"Sincerely,
"RICHARD H. ELDRIDGE."

(One Year Later.)
DuLuth, Minn., Aug. 7, 1870.

"Dear F.:

"We have now been here ten days and may remain until Sept. 1, depending on the information we receive of the state of the weather in Indiana. We have had some days here when it has been quite warm in the sun in the middle of the day, but always cool and pleasant in the shade, and the nights are glorious for sleeping.

"At the Clark house, where we are domiciled, we have as fine accommodations as I have ever had anywhere. A front, corner room on the second floor, nearly as large as my parlor at home, fine Brussels carpet, two marble top wash stands, marble top center table, marble top bureau with mirror, wardrobe, handsome lounge, etc. The principal parlor is 40 by 60 feet, and the registered arrivals yesterday and today were sixty each day. The house is more than full, and it is only one of ten or twelve in the place, where a year ago, when I was here, no hotel was completed and accommodations could hardly be had of any kind, and I made my stop at Superior, seven miles from here down the bay.

Astonishing Growth.

"The growth of the place is astonishing. Last year in April the number of inhabitants was 100. Now the U. S. marshal, who has just finished the census, makes it 3,600. Extensive docks have been constructed, a large grain elevator equaling anything in Chicago, warehouses, (all the foregoing outside the point on the lake front), passenger depot for railway, etc.

"They are opening and grading their streets, and two handsome churches are erected, Presbyterian and Episcopal, and the Methodist, Baptist and Catholic have theirs under way. Last Sunday we attended the Presbyterian and today the Episcopal. Were invited into the basement when we first arrived here, where ex-Governor Smith of Vermont, president of the Northern Pacific railroad, was addressing the Sunday school. A good talker and a fine looking man.

"If a person wishes to get out of the confines of civilization, let him come out here. The stumps are standing all around the houses and in the streets, and two hundred yards from the hotel you strike into a dense forest of white birch, pine, hemlock, balsam, fir, etc. Down on Minnesota point, which separates the waters of the lake from the bay, the houses and plank walks extend for about a mile, and then you step off into the natural growth of timber, where you can gather whortleberries or wintergreen to your heart's content.

"One day we spent at Superior, between which and this place a steam ferry runs. We contemplate taking a trip to Agate bay, thirty miles up the north shore, to gather agates, and a trip up the St. Louis river to Fond du Lac, the head of navigation. Excursion boats are running every week.

"The only thing we lack here in our fare is good vegetables. All except potatoes are brought up on the boats from Detroit and Chicago, and, of course, become rather stale. A few years hence, however, will remedy that.

"We often wish some of you could be here with us to enjoy the experience of seeing a country in the building.

"Affectionately yours,
"RICHARD H. ELDRIDGE."

HAD SUPPLY OF ALIASES

Alleged Forger Said to Have Operated on Wholesale Scale.

Held in Superior But Is Also Wanted in Duluth.

Wallingford's best scheme to gather in the elusive dollar has been overshadowed by Emmet Kennedy, 32, who has swindled Duluth citizens out of several hundred dollars in the last two months, it is charged.

Kennedy, now under arrest in Superior for passing worthless checks, is the cleverest forger who ever operated in Duluth. He lived at 528 West Second street and at various times was known as J. M. Jamieson, John R. Powell, Roy S. Gorman, Simon R. Peters, M. J. Pierce and John R. Hayes.

Best known in Duluth as Peters, the man made a specialty of buying articles offered in the "For sale" columns of newspapers, and tendering a worthless check.

Here is a record of a few of his many "purchases," which have been checked up by police:

On Sept. 4, as Jamieson, he wrote a check for $21.07 for groceries and passed it on E. W. Stevens, 529 West First street.

A few days earlier, as S. R. Peters, he purchased from Mrs. Julia S. Judd, 1224 East First street, a typewriter. He tendered a $25 check, and sold the machine to the Duluth Typewriter company for $5.

Under the name of Roy S. Gorman he answered an ad inserted by Miss Ella E. Jenson, 314 South Sixty-first avenue west, and purchased two guns, giving a check for $22.50 in payment.

As John R. Hayes he made a check for $12.80 to John R. Powell and as John R. Powell cashed it with L. Paretta.

As M. J. Pierce he purchased a stove advertised in the "For sale" columns and gave a check for $25 in payment. He sold the stove to a second-hand dealer next to the police station.

As John R. Powell he wrote a check for $25 to M. J. Pierce, signed the name "M. J. Pierce" and cashed it.

"There are various deals in which he probably figured," said Lieut. N. U. G. Terry, "but we have not checked up on them as yet."

Kennedy, as he is known in Superior, will be tried there, and not brought to Duluth, unless he is held after the Wisconsin authorities are through with him.

WILL BEGIN PROBE OCT. 1

Expert Will Examine Office Records of Walter Richeson.

Books From Aug. 1, 1914, for Whole Year Following Will Be Gone Over.

Examination of Walter J. Richeson's municipal court records will begin about Oct. 1, according to an announcement made today by Commissioner Voss, head of the finance division.

Oscar B. Thayer, expert accountant, who created the new auditing system for the public works division, has accepted the offer of the finance commissioner to examine the court records of Mr. Richeson from Aug. 1, 1914, until Aug. 1 last, in order to ascertain the exact shortages alleged in his accounts. A letter was received Saturday from Mr. Thayer, who states that he will arrive here about Oct. 1 to begin the examination. He is now teaching accounting at the Wisconsin state normal school at Whitewater and is waiting for the arrival of his successor before he leaves.

The examination of the court records was ordered by the council at a special meeting last Tuesday morning and Commissioner Voss was authorized to take the necessary steps toward ascertaining the exact shortages alleged in the Richeson accounts. In case any are found the National Surety company, which bonded the former court clerk, will be asked to balance the accounts and make good any loss to the city.

The resolution ordering the special audit was introduced by Commissioner Silbersteln. It follows:

"Resolved, That the commissioner of finances be and hereby is instructed to take such steps as are necessary to ascertain the amount of shortage of funds, if any, existing in the office of the clerk of the municipal court, and that he be authorized to employ competent auditing help to assist him in so doing."

Booze Victim to Asylum.

Pembina, N. D., Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. Miles Phillips, once a well known practicing dentist of Emerson, Manitoba, was committed to the North Dakota asylum for the insane by the Pembina county board, and was taken yesterday to the asylum at Jamestown. Phillips is a victim of liquor, and for several years he had practically been destitute.

DAIRY COW ON THE JOB

Members of County Fair Party Amazed at Farm Progress.

Complete First Tour and Start on Their Second.

The committee of Duluth men, who spent last week visiting the county fairs in Northern Minnesota as representatives of the Commercial club, returned to the city Saturday evening. Tomorrow morning they will start on their second trip, which will wind up next Saturday evening.

The first trip included visits to fairs at Bagley, Park Rapids, Aitkin, Barnum, Pine City and Princeton, with incidental visits to Bemidji, Wadena, Carlton, Rush City and Cambridge. The trip beginning tomorrow will take in fairs at Mora, Cambridge, Grand Rapids and Little Falls, with incidental visits to Cass Lake, Wadena and Brainerd.

"No man interested in the development of Northern Minnesota can fail to be impressed by the displays at the county fairs in this section of the state," said George D. McCarthy, assistant secretary of the Commercial club, speaking for the party this morning. "Even the most elementary student of the problem of development in Northern Minnesota knows that our future hope lies in the dairy cow, and our trip convinced us that the dairy cow is on the ground to bear the burden and that she is fully able to sustain it.

Results Are Shown.

"Year after year we have heard the representatives of the state and Federal departments of agriculture and other enthusiasts preaching the gospel of good dairy stock in Northern Minnesota. The slow progress was at times discouraging, but it is so no longer. The stock displays at the county fairs in Northern Minnesota are proof that the constant preaching has brought results. Some of the finest animals to be seen anywhere are on display. The dairy cattle run mostly to Guernseys and Holsteins, with the latter perhaps most numerous in the displays. Some Red Polls and other dual purpose animals are also shown.

"An indication of the effect of the insistence upon good dairy stock is seen in the other animals on display. Good breeds, adapted to this country and the best of their type obtainable, are included in every display. Swine, sheep and poultry are becoming more numerous from year to year at county fairs, and all shown are of good breed. A representative of the state agricultural college phrased the situation for me. He said that the farmer who starts keeping and breeding first class dairy stock will soon become so proud of his high class possessions in that branch that he will tolerate nothing but high grade stock of any kind upon his place.

Vegetable Displays.

"The vegetable displays this year were astonishing, in view of the alarming stories of frost and backward conditions. In Pine, Mille Lacs and Isanti counties we saw plenty of corn that will or should mature. At every county fair and in the fields in every county we saw unprecedented crops of grains, grasses, potatoes, cabbages and other staple vegetables. The farmers of Northern Minnesota will share the general prosperity of agriculturalists this year. In fact the only crops that can be said to be below normal are corn and vine crops. Potatoes make up in quantity for their present deficiency in price.

"The county fair as an institution is growing in Minnesota. The crowds at every place were large. The number of automobiles was astonishing. Horse races and other amusements are incidental to the main object, the display of farm products. We learned much and we found that our interest was appreciated. We believe that such visits are of incalculable value to Duluth."

Those in the party were F. X. Gravel of Stone-Ordean-Wells Co., chairman of the trade extension committee of the Commercial club; H. D. Final and R. T. Close of Marshall-Wells Hardware company; E. A. Risdon of F. A. Patrick & Co., C. H. Kelley of Kelley-How-Thomson Co., F. E. Halbert of the Northern Shoe company, H. P. Gowan of Gwan-Lenning-Brown company and Mr. McCarthy.

told the story today had seen but one. They circled over the theater and hotel district of London, dropping explosive and incendiary bombs.

Pieced together from accounts given by the Orduna's passengers the story of the raid was as follows:

The raid occurred between 10:45 and 11:15 o'clock on the night of Sept. 8, a raid the previous night having reached the eastern section of the city but not the heart. Persons asleep in the Metropole, the Victoria and other hotels in the center of the city were awakened by the incessant whirr of aeroplane engines as the British air fleet took wing to repel the invaders. Just as the Zeppelins appeared over the Strand, most of the theaters were pouring their crowds into the street.

Panic Impends.

There, according to some passengers, a panic impended when the first word of the approaching aircraft was passed from mouth to mouth in whispers. The lights were turned off and men and women in evening clothes fought for taxicabs and other vehicles to take them home. Other passengers said there was no panic but that a great wave of fear seemed to engulf this section of the darkened city before the anti-aircraft guns began to pop away.

Suddenly from every section of London the sky was swept by long white beams from scores of searchlights. The tops of these beams were not long in resting upon what they sought. When the Zeppelin was found, a dozen or upon it, stretching back to scattered points in the city like the long white ribs of a fancy fan.

Two searchlights finally centered on the one Zeppelin while the others continued to search the sky for more aircraft. Already the air was dotted with aeroplanes which could be seen frequently as they crossed the searchlight beams, circling upward. The roar of guns from the city was punctuated at intervals by the explosions of bombs which fell in Newgate street, not for from St. Paul's cathedral in Holborn, in Cheapside, in Bloomfield street, not far from the Liverpool street station, and near the water front of the Thames river in that section of the city in which St. Paul's is located.

Looked Like Fat Sausage.

"The Zeppelin seemed to float lazily above us," said Miss A. S. Tatham of Sydney, Australia, who was staying at the Victoria hotel, near Charing Cross. "It reminded me of nothing so much as a great fat sausage."

"My wife and I watched the Zeppelin from a balcony of our hotel, the Metropole," (which is near the National Gallery and the Strand), said Alexander McNab of Bridgeport, Conn. "It went directly over the hotel and dropped bombs around us."

There was hardly a space of five seconds during the ten minutes or more that the searchlight beams rested on the raider, eye witnesses said, that the sky was not lightened by flashes of exploding shells. As the noise of cannonading grew louder those who had fled at first to cellars gained courage and came out into the streets. They were in almost every stage of undress and thousands of men, women and children walked the streets, or stood in groups, gazing upward, dressed only in their night clothes.

Shatter Into Sudden Fire.

The bursting shells, lighting the sky like meteors, shattered into sudden fire all around the Zeppelin. The spits of flame seemed to be finding their target. Meanwhile the Zeppelin maneuvered over the Holborn section of London, circling at least twice. These maneuvers ended when a shell burst almost directly under the aircraft's bow.

A swerve, a sudden dip and the searchlight lost the Zeppelin. They were on her a moment after and it was seen that she appeared to be going down by the head. For a few seconds she hovered as if uncertain what to do, then righted herself, pointed her nose slightly upward and ascended so rapidly that within a minute or two the searchlights could find her no more. There were no further bomb explosions thereafter.

London went to bed that night with hot wrath, but not in fear, the passengers said. The next day they went out to see what damage had been done. Having noticed that the sky in the vicinity of St. Paul's cathedral had been tinted red, as if by the glow of a great fire, they went in that direction first.

Recruits Appear.

They passed by recruiting stations which had been empty the day before. On this morning there were long lines of men waiting outside, eager to join the army. Back of the cathedral where there are many warehouses near the river front they came upon the first visible effect of the raid.

An entire city block was in ashes with only the smudged shells of buildings left standing. The sightseers heard that the burned buildings had been big warehouses, filled with clothing and other supplies for the British army. There were no munitions in the buildings, however, it was said.

At the Opthalmic hospital, a small building whose exact location none of the passengers knew, except that it was without fifteen minutes ride of the Metropole hotel and in the central section of the city, they found that considerable damage had been done by a bomb which had fallen about a block away. This building and two others converted into hospitals for wounded soldiers had felt the force of the explosion as if it had been at their doors.

Cavity Thirty Feet in Diameter.

In Bloomfield street, two and one-half miles from Trafalgar square, a row of dwellings had been damaged as if by artillery fire. The damage extended over an area of about three blocks. There was a cavity in the middle of the street, thirty feet in diameter and about eight feet deep.

Guides in motor buses were carrying steady streams of sightseers to the various points where the greatest damage had been wrought. At one place about fifteen minutes ride from the Victoria hotel, a six-story tenement had been demolished. The sightseers heard that five persons had been killed in their beds in this building and that more than twenty had been hurt. Altogether, it was officially reported, approximately forty persons were killed by bombs and 200 or more wounded. About half of these, it was said, were women and children.

No Government Buildings Hit.

Not a government building, nor a church, nor an arsenal, a dock or a hospital had been reached by a bomb, the Orduna's passengers were informed. The greatest material damage they said, was the destruction by fire of the block of warehouses near St. Paul's cathedral. The chief result of the raid, however, was to swell the number of recruits by many thousands.

Miss Ethel B. Davis of Bryn Mawr university, near Philadelphia, who was returning home from hospital duty in Paris, saw the raid. She was at the Lyric theater when the Zeppelin reached the heart of the city. This theater is within a short distance of Trafalgar square, and a few minutes walk from Waterloo bridge and the Charing Cross station.

"They were singing in Trafalgar square as the Zeppelin floated over them," she said. "I could hear them, and and then, during seconds of silence between firing. I couldn't make out what the tune was but I was told that they were singing 'Tipperary.'"

Sight Never to Be Forgotten.

The steamship Rotterdam which also arrived today, brought scores of passengers who witnessed the air raid. They, too, said that they had seen but one Zeppelin, but that it was a sight never to be forgotten.

They told of a bus in Cheapside blown to pieces by one of the Zeppelin bombs, virtually obliterating its sixteen occupants.

How the American ambassador, Walter H. Page, and his family watched the Zeppelin from the steps of the embassy in Grosvenor square was told by Frank C. Page, the ambassador's son. The airship was about 8,000 feet up, Mr. Page said, and looked like a silver cigar as it floated in the night sky outlined by the searchlights. The ambassador's son said they were startled by the boom of an explosion and all went to the street. Passersby were looking up and no one seemed frightened. What alarmed him most, he said, was the sudden discharge of an anti-aircraft gun, which had been concealed in Grosvenor square itself.

Could Hear Cheers.

"We could see the smokepuffs from scores of anti-aircraft guns beneath the Zeppelin," said Mr. Page. "Instead of being alarmed you could hear from the watching people a cheer whenever one of the shots exploded near the Zeppelin."

The greatest damage, the Rotterdam passengers said, was done in the industrial section of the city, located near St. Paul's cathedral, particularly in Newgate street. Cheapside and Wood street also bear the scars of the explosions. There was but one large fire and this was back of St. Paul's cathedral. One passenger told of seeing in Trafalgar square an unexploded Zeppelin bomb on exhibition in a shop window which the shop keeper advertised as having been picked up in the square.

Frederick R. Coudert, a well-known New York lawyer, said he saw the Zeppelin from Edgerton place, where he was visiting Sir Phillip Burne-Jones, the artist. He climbed the pedestal of a lamp post to get a better view and subsequently gave up the vantage place to J. Austen Chamberlain, the British secretary for India, who lived nearby and was among the many residents of the district who flocked into the streets instead of seeking their cellars.

Gunners Slow.

"The first thing I saw after hearing the explosions," said Mr. Coudert, "was a searchlight sweeping across the sky. Finally it settled on the Zeppelin which was visible for five or six minutes. The anti-air craft guns were very slow in firing. The English guns are far from being as rapid as the French anti-airship guns, which are now so effective that, I understand, this is the one reason why the Zeppelins do not attack Paris. Here was a virtually stationary mark but none of the projectiles took effect, as far as I could see. I heard, though, that the British are about to adopt a new gun.

"The way the people took it was a typical example of British phlegm. It was like watching a shooting match at Wimbledon and caused just about as much excitement as a fire in New York."

Mr. Coudert located the position of the aircraft just behind St. Paul's and about half a mile or so from the government buildings. The fact that the bombs dropped in an industrial section of the city, virtually unoccupied at night, was one reason, he thought, why there had not been an even larger death list.

ROCKEFELLER VISITS MINES

viously had invited to call upon him and talk over the Colorado labor situation.

"After we have our conference," said "Mother" Jones, "I want you to come out to Colorado with me and see the things I have seen. I am sure what you see will make you do things and will make you one of the greatest men."

Rockefeller said he might go to Colorado with "Mother" Jones.

The next day Mrs. Jones issued a statement in which she expressed the hope that Mr. Rockefeller would visit Colorado "while the ashes of Ludlow are still hot."

Urged by Others.

Other labor leaders present at the industrial relations hearing urged Rockefeller to visit the scenes of the recently ended Colorado coal miners' strike, and it was agreed that he would make the trip as soon as business and other affairs would permit him to leave the East. The trip was planned for April, but the death on April 16 of Senator Nelson W. Aldrich, Mr. Rockefeller's father-in-law, forced a postponement. Other causes of delay prevented Mr. Rockefeller starting for the West until last week.

Asked about a recent rumor that J. J. Hill interests were negotiating for the Rockefeller holdings in the Colorado Fuel & Iron company, Mr. Rockefeller said:

"If there is anything in this report, I know nothing about it."

Denied at St. Paul.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 20.—Reports that the J. J. Hill interests were negotiating for the Rockefeller holdings in the Colorado Fuel & Iron company were declared unfounded at Mr. Hill's offices here today.

Mr. Hill, who had just returned from New York, where he took an active part in the final conferences with the Anglo-French commission, declined to discuss the Colorado rumor or to comment upon it. His secretary, however, stated that the report was without any foundation whatever.

STEAMSHIP BURNS IN MID-OCEAN

Position, latitude 40.54 north, longitude 57.47 west."

Officials of the marine department awaited further word early today of the loss of the Greek steamer Athinai, which was burned and abandoned in mid-ocean last night. The Athinai sailed from New York last Thursday for the Piraeus with a few passengers and a heavy cargo of general merchandise

News From Anchor Liner.

News of the abandonment of the vessel came in radiograms late last night to the marine department from Capt. McLean of the Anchor line freighter Tuscania, which had responded to the Athinai's wireless call for assistance. Capt. McLean's first message said that fire had broken out in the forward hold of the steamer and that he was standing by prepared to convoy her to this port. Apparently the spread of the flames was rapid for a short time afterward another message from the Tuscania, relayed through the Cape Race station, said the Athinai had been abandoned.

Believed Passengers Saved.

Nothing was said regarding the fate of the passengers and crew of the burned vessel, but marine officials were hopeful that all hands had been transferred safely to the Tuscania, as the weather was fair and sea conditions were believed to be favorable.

The Tuscania is bound from Glasgow for New York, but it was thought possible she would bring the shipwrecked men to this port before proceeding to her destination. The position of the Tuscania as given by her captain was latitude 40.54 north, longitude 58.47 west.

Sailed Last Thursday.

New York, Sept. 20.—The Athinai sailed from this port last Thursday for Piraeus. She carried only a small passenger list, but had a large cargo of general merchandise and many bags of mail. The Athinai was of 4,405 tons and belonged to the National Steamship Navigation company. She plied between Greece and ports in the United States.

have today: it will make probably, not a creditor nation, but certainly a nation very much nearer that point than ever before. The interest and dividend monies which have been going to the other side will be paid to our own people, in a larger measure than before.

"We also face the problem as to what will be the price of money, the return on bonds and stock investments. After the close of the war, when the time of readjustment comes, this vast volume of paper which is now being used in Europe to finance the war will have to be redeemed, and we will get back to a gold basis.

Complex Problem.

"The problem is so complex that it is difficult to prophesy, but I believe that this reconstruction period will be faced by the American investing public with a smaller loss and that we will come out of it in the best position of any country in the world. I have heard it prophesied by the very wise, that at the end of the war, we would face a financial catastrophe, that wreckage and repudiation would be worldwide. I do not believe this. This regeneration work in business, this calling in of credits will be gradual, the nations must face a long period of economy, they must face a long period of high taxation, Europe will not repudiate its indebtedness, Europe will be able to pay, and if we must bear a share of the terrific destruction, I believe that America will come out richer and in a stronger financial and business position than ever before."

Mr. Leach questioned the value of physical valuation of railroads, remarking that the report would be obsolete by the time it was completed.

Time to Forget.

"I could name a long list of railroads which have fallen by the wayside, and are now in the hands of receivers," he said. "And although I will agree with the most radical as to the mistakes or errors—and crimes, if you will—that have been committed in the handling of some of these properties, I will say to you nevertheless, that today is the time to forget; let us leave the past behind and forget what has been done."

"Blue sky" laws, the speaker asserted have in many instances been made so broad that they impede legitimate investments. Public service commissions, he thought, were prone to grant lower rates with too little regard for the rights of the companies affected. As with the railroads, he opined that the public service commissions pay too much attention to physical valuations in basing rates of return on investments.

EFFORTS OF RUSSIANS TO EXTRICATE ARMIES

situated on the Warsaw-Petrograd railway line, has fallen before the attack of the German forces under Gen. von Eichhorn, it was officially announced yesterday, and the Russians "have been forced to retreat as quickly as possible along the entire front."

With the capture of Vilna, the Germans seem likely to find the way more easily opened to Dvinsk, virtually the entire railroad line leading northeastward to that city now apparently being in their hands.

After the fall of Kovno, to the northwest, and Grodno, to the southwest, no fortress barrier remained before the Germans moving on Vilna, but stubborn defensive measures were taken by the Russians to hold back the Teutonic advance, Vilna, with a population of more than 170,000, being the northern key position on the important strategic railway line, running southeastward to Rovno, which the Russians were striving to retain. It was on this line, running through Lida, that the defenders of Vilna apparently had their sole opportunity to retreat along ready routes when the German offensive recently developed intensive force, the lines southwest of the city and those to the north and east having been cut.

Fall Anticipated.

The fall of Vilna had been anticipated for several days, the German encircling movement having developed sufficiently to make it apparent that its abandonment was only a question of time. Last week Petrograd dispatches stated that Vilna, as well as Dvinsk, another of Field Marshal von Hindenburg's objectives, had been emptied of stores and abandoned by government and private institutions. It was declared that neither point was regarded as of further strategic importance, except as a section of the general front, and that it was not the purpose of the Russian general staff to defend Vilna at all costs.

Vilna has been an important industrial and trade center in the midst of a region studded with lakes, forests and marshes. Recent estimates said that about half the population was Jewish, with only a small native Russian element, it being the home of numerous Lithuanians and Poles as well.

Russian Statement.

Petrograd, Sept. 20, via London.—The official communication issued by the war department says:

"West of Dvinsk and in the region of the lakes stubborn fighting continues. Violent enemy attacks in the region of Illukst were repulsed and the enemy was thrown back on his trenches with heavy losses.

"Following very violent artillery preparations, the enemy attacked and occupied the village of Slocikli in the region west of Illukst.

"In the region between Lakes Tchitchiayet and Oville, the enemy made sudden attacks against the village of Imbrody. Our entrenchments were destroyed and the detachments occupying them thrown back. Enemy cavalry which attempted to cross the River Driswiatitsa, in the region of Lake Boginskoie, between Koupichiki and Kozlany was thrown back. A detachment of the enemy attempted to occupy Molodetchno station, but was repulsed. In a fight near the village of Sely, on the Novo Vilelsk-Molodetchno railway, the enemy was dislodged from the village. In many places on the middle Villya river, in the region of Vilna, Germans crossed to the left bank.

"Numerous enemy attacks on the front west of Trencon on the Blyonkoni-Lida railway, were repulsed with severe enemy losses.

"On the right bank of the Lebeda there were some engagements of a local character. Fighting occurred at many places on the Sharia river for possession of the river crossings.

"Near Poretchie, north of Slonim, our artillery destroyed the enemy's pontoon bridge, the greater part of which sank, and enemy troops making a crossing were taken prisoner. Enemy troops who crossed south of Slonim and near the Richtchitcha farm have been attacked.

"We profited by the necessity of the enemy to launch attacks, by small detachments.

"The enemy maintains the territory he occupied on the right bank of the river, but he sustained appreciable losses in the fighting in which a great number of Germans were bayoneted.

"The village of Logichine, in the same region, has been occupied by the enemy."

SAYS AUTOS CAUSE 80 PER CENT OF FATAL ACCIDENTS

That eighty per cent of the 2,051 fatal accidents in the state the last year were directly attributable to the automobile is the statement made by former police surgeon, Dr. I. J. Murphy.

Automobiles figured in eighteen of the twenty-six accidents that occurred in Duluth from Aug. 1 to Sept. 15. Twenty-nine people were injured, twenty-one suffered in automobile accidents, two of which were fatal. The other three fatalities come under the head of drowning.

Dr. Murphy who is now connected with the Minnesota Public Health association, says that most of the auto accidents could be easily avoided by the drivers exercising a little judgment and care.

Catarrh a Blood Disease S. S. S. Drives It From Your System

Because catarrh affects the nose and throat, causing sores in the nostrils, stoppage of air-passages and gathering in the throat, it has been common practice to treat catarrh by lotions, washes and sprays applied to these parts. This mode of treatment is entirely wrong. It cannot give permanent relief, and it is liable to irritate and aggravate the trouble. Catarrh cannot be trifled with. If allowed to run on it will disease the bronchial tubes, settle on the lungs, the stomach—indeed it is a very serious disease. Don't treat it locally. The fact that it causes headaches is proof that it is caused by impure and diseased blood. The one treatment that has proved effective in the treatment of catarrh is S. S. S., it is the greatest blood purifier and blood tonic known. It relieves the cause of catarrh by the process of renourishing the blood, renewing its strength and vigor, giving new life to the red blood corpuscles, and stimulating the flow so that it has the vitality to throw off the poison and germs from the system. It is literally a blood bath. You quickly feel results. Headaches disappear, the gathering in the throat stops, the nostrils heal—before you hardly realize it you are well. S. S. S. is a natural blood tonic and has proven effective in the treatment of all blood affections. Eczema, tetters, rash, scrofula. Get S. S. S. at your druggist's. SUNDAY SERMONS IN DULUTH PULPITS

IS DAUGHTER OF IGNORANCE

Antipathy to Any Race Due to Misinformation, Says Pastor.

Knowledge, If Rooted in Broad Sympathy, Brings Love.

"The Freedom in Truth" was the subject of the sermon by Rev. George N. Gebauer at the First Unitarian church yesterday.

"The man who has taken even a passing glance into the marvelous workshop of nature and has realized the mysterious forces therein, knows only one stupendous miracle, and that is nature herself," he said. "The words 'preternatural and supernatural,' as understood by our fathers, have lost their meaning to him. And all the fears and apprehensions, which these words called forth, and which were the exhaustless source of cruelty and distress have either been cast by him upon the dumpheap of error, or put away in the dark corner of the garret of his mentality. The true free-thinker is the man who has thought himself out of superstition, out of the belief in the accidental and arbitrary, into the conviction of a perfect law, proclaiming highest wisdom and power and love. Such freedom from superstition is truly salvation to the mind. The man who has shaken off the shackles of fear, who feels that life itself is divine and good is a free man in God.

"But there is another aspect of saving truth, which is closely joined to the cultivation of the mind, but rests in the culture of the heart, and gives us the freedom of the moral life. Herbert Spencer is indeed quite right in his claim, that scientific knowledge is the only right one, because it gives to the heart a clearer and truer 'object of affection and worship.' Yes, the more we know, the better we understand, the more truly may we love and find in that love our freedom. We speak of things and men growing on us; it might be better to say that we grow into them. We make them our own by our knowledge, we identify ourselves with them by our understanding. You indeed only own a thing so far as you know it and love it. Mere possession of a thing is not ownership. A rich man may have in his gallery a painting of Corot or of Millet, but he only 'owns' it when he has learned to look at it with eyes of understanding and appreciation.

Liking Grows With Knowledge.

"And so it is in the moral realm, the social life of men. With our knowledge of men will also grow our regard for them. The more we know about a people the more apt we are to give it our kindly regard. If you have some strong dislike for some people the reason generally is that you know but little about it, for in every nation there is more of good than evil. Antipathy, generally speaking, is the daughter of ignorance and misinformation. How often do we not hear, 'I used to dislike the Jews or the Italians or the French so much, but I tell you when I came to know them I found among them mighty nice people.' Thus put your hand wherever you will and wherever you touch truth you will find love also. Knowledge will at-one us with things and people. But now this knowledge itself must root in a larger sympathy if it will produce the fruits of kindly regard. If our sympathies are not large and deep then our very knowledge may only lead our souls into deeper bondage. What better example for this than the literature about men and women and nations, which today fill the pages of our 'best magazines.' Suddenly you see the searchlight of knowledge turned upon peoples, for whom you had at one time a friendly regard by what little you knew about them. And now that new light does not quicken new love in you, but something causes you distress and pain and loathing. What has happened? Well, just what happened at the time of our civil war, when strong national feelings shattered all normal morality. Then men of great repute here and abroad in England would hold up the mirror of truth to the North in which it saw itself as a frightful monstrosity and Lincoln as the son of Belial. The terrible things which were said about the wicked North were not without some truth, but that truth was distorted, exaggerated, as is the picture you see of yourself in a convex mirror. And so it is today; some men of unquestionable morality in normal times have lost their larger sympathy with humanity, which includes the enemy, their ability to state the truth. They are perverters of truth and the knowledge which should lead them into salvation loads them into the bondage of greater hatred and error. Knowledge indeed leads to love, but he who wants the truth must look for it with single eye, with a heart that is in deep sympathy with humanity. Thus head and heart must ever go together in search of the kingdom of heaven."

Minnesotan Drowned.

Jamestown, N. D., Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Papers found in clothes located near the body of a floater picked up in the James river, near here, identified the drowning victim as Charles Vallette of Simpson, Minn. The manner of Vallette's death is uncertain, but it is believed that he was stricken by heart failure while bathing, for the water is only a few feet deep, and Vallette's lungs were empty of water. A sister, teaching at Sentinel Butte, was notified of his death.

PUT IDEALS INTO DEEDS

Refusal to Work for Better City Is Atheism, Says Dr. Hoffman.

Church Not for Hearing Sermons But Active Religious Work.

In his sermon on "The Prepared Church" yesterday morning, Dr. John W. Hoffman, pastor of the First M. E. church, urged his congregation to put their religious beliefs and ideals into deeds. He said in part:

"It is comparatively easy to reduce Christianity to an idea, an emotion, or a ritual. The experience of God may be divorced from the broad activities of human welfare. Gregorian chants and Ambrosian prayers, beautiful, refining, elevating, are neither Christianity nor a test of rightness of heart. The skilful mechanic is one who does. The successful physician is one who applies wisely the principles of healing for the cure of the body. Religion must issue in action, heroic, intelligent, timely. The final worth of creed is conduct. The valid criterion of a church is what it does, not what it believes.

Must Take Part in Life.

"The church must therefore act in the vast concerns of life. Its conduct must be wise, courageous and just. It has but one mission—to create a world in which goodness is reverenced, love is practiced, and righteousness dominates all. Its great business is not to make our political creeds nor to determine our economic programs, but to inspire these with a resolute decision to serve justice, truth, humanity. The prepared church has but one goal—the Christianizing of all life. It has but one slogan—a better humanity. It has but one ambition—a career that benefits all men and honors God.

Work for Moral Standard.

"The church exists not to hear sermons, be thrilled by noble anthems and moved by the exquisite strains of the great organ, but to develop in men a veritable passion for moral excellence. Men must acquire skill in morals as well as in mathematics and mechanics. Efficiency in religion is of far greater importance than in merchandising. The moral bungler is a travesty as well as a tragedy. The church is a school as well as a sanctuary. To develop logic will make the expert but not the man of holy life. God is essential for that. A new tool does not make life sweet and just, if it did the sewing machine would make every home chaste and the loom every factory holy. Every man needs the drill of religion if he is to be of larger value to society.

"Prepared for work, the church mobilizes its members for social service. Sacred as is the right of private judgment, it must never subordinate duty to rights or public welfare to private opinions. The urgent need of the church today is to learn the fine art of social action. Religion suffocates and dies when separated from the struggle for better industrial conditions and more righteous commercial ideals. No matter how historic and orthodox one's creed, to refuse to join forces with others in the campaign for a better city, saner reforms, higher social ideals, is to be guilty of atheism.

Striving for an Ideal.

"Never will the evils of civilization be eradicated, wrongs righted, and truth enthroned until men have faith in God and strive as one for an ideal broad as every human need and enduring as eternity. The issues of human life are tremendous, its problems are colossal, its sufferings are appalling, and its discontent like the rumbling of an approaching storm. We need men of heroic mold, with social vision clear, with a faith invincible, with a devotion to Jesus Christ unsurpassed and intelligently trained."

ADVOCATES EARLY TRAINING.

Rev. W. W. Lawrence Urges Need of Moral and Physical Restraint.

Training a man from youth to avoid later reformation was advocated by Rev. W. W. Lawrence of the Glen Avon Presbyterian church in a sermon on "Squaring of a Rounder," at the regular services yesterday morning.

"By training a man from early youth," said the pastor, "it will not be necessary to reform him in later years.

"A young man should have moral and physical restraint and should have his religious obligations impressed upon him. He should have a daily round of routine to attend to and should not lead a loose, haphazard existence. If every man did this, there would be no rounders to square."

RECLAIM BIG AREA IN CARLTON COUNTY

Carlton, Minn., Sept. 20.—The National Construction company, through President O. F. Doyle, appeared before the county board and reported that it had completed county ditch No. 2. This ditch drains about 50,000 acres of valuable lands south of Corona in Carlton county. It was started three years ago and was the first work on a large scale in this county in the reclaiming of the swamp district.

Forty-six miles of main ditches and laterals have been constructed at a cost of $92,000 and the drainage of this area has been successful. For the first time the farmers have well trained fields and excellent crops were raised this year on land which three years ago was under water. The county board set the hearing for Oct. 4.

MANY KINDS OF BURDENS

May Prove Opportunities or Dead Load, Says Dr. Hovis.

Urges Congregation to Great Activity and Accomplishment.

In his sermon yesterday morning, Dr. William Forney Hovis, pastor of the Endion M. E. church, preached on "The Burden of the Church," taking as his text, "Get you unto your burdens." He said in part:

"A burden is either a duty, care, charge, responsibility, or a grievous, wearisome, oppressive load. The former suggests an action, the latter a condition. When an individual or an institution is busy with a burden as a task, there is no time or occasion for thinking of a burden as a load. In proportion as the sense of burden is the recognition of a charge, there is little danger that it shall be regarded as a trying, irksome cross. It is when one grows weary in well-doing that his burden becomes a galling weight. Burden, in the sense of opportunity, is a spur to high achievement, but looked upon as luggage, it invites a sure defeat. Success or failure is largely dependent on the estimate of burdens. The church is burdened in a double sense. Its task is its chance; its weakness is its load.

Burden of Church.

"If by 'the burden of the church' we mean its burden in a general way, without regard to name or place, we have simply uttered a platitude which lacks the directness of a case in point, but, if we mean by 'the church', our church, Endion church, then we raise a question of responsibility from which none of us who belong to this congregation can well escape.

"For what does this fine building stand? What is the meaning of the services held within its walls one day in every seven? What is the meaning of the multitudinous activities which center here? Is this merely a house of entertainment where a cultivated prophet speaks in silvered words of pleasing, polished speech; where trained singers warble in high but frigid art? Or, is this a house of worship, built in honor of the Prince of Peace, whose message bends in kindness and bristles with the truth; whose music is rich with a wealth of skill, but warm with the heat of a burning love? Does this institution have any positive relation to the community; any duty to the home? What are the facts of its environment? Do people in comfortable homes need no ministry from the church? A study of the field will show it white with harvest and the laborers too few.

"The burden of the church, whether with preference to work to be done or loads to be carried, must always be the burden of the individual. A church cannot rise above the character of the elements which compose it.

"Theoretically, the burden of the church is the salvation of souls—the saving of people from a bad life to a good one, or what is still better, the saving of the young to a life of goodness. The original intention of the Founder of the church was that its motto should ever be 'others.' The command, 'Go ye unto all the world and preach the gospel to every creature,' presupposes not only a readiness to start but a willingness to go. The average churchman seems to have a vague idea that that commission is related in some way to the matter of foreign missions and fails to understand that 'beginning at Jerusalem' so far as he is concerned, means doing his duty in his local field. Paradoxical as it may seem, it is indeed true that one saves his life only in proportion as he gives it out in service.

"It is too often true that the inherent condition of the church comes to be such that it is compelled to adopt the motto, 'Self.' Essential weakness changes the burden from the objective to the subjective. With the many institutions, the necessity of a fight for life makes it impossible to work with robust strength. A sick soldier cannot do much at marching until he gets well; he cannot do much at fighting while he himself is struggling to live. In my judgment, the church has dissipated its energy in an excessive attempt to multiply by division. The children of the world are wiser than the children of the kingdom. The gigantic commercial enterprises are made possible by the pooling of interests. I am not speaking against the establishment of small missions where mission work is needed. I am simply calling attention to the utter foolishness of having a half-dozen churches of different denominations gasping for a breath of life where one could do a more efficient work. It must be said to the credit of the mission workers in the foreign fields that they avoid the overlapping of their work.

Real Burden of Church.

"Practically, 'the burden of the church' is its own disease. The burden of sickness is harder to bear than the burden of work. The pathological conditions in the spiritual organism of the church are caused by indifference, lack of loyalty, instability, inflexibility of conscience, failure to recognize the authority of God's Word, and a prevalent spirit of unbelief and a positive recklessness in the pursuit of pleasure at the expense of principle. Many of the things which divert the attention of the heart from the deeper things of worthy life are not 'in toto' evil in themselves. Men are simply mad with luxury and dizzy with the spell of worldly delights. Oh, church of God, be not weary nor disheartened at the sins of saints in a land of peace, nor yet with the pestilence that walketh in the land of war. God will yet make the wrath of man to praise him.

"The hope of the situation lies in the fact that the disease is not incurable. There are two specifics which will remedy the case—right medicine and proper exercise. The medicine is the power of God, and the exercise is goodness in motion. The lamentable thing lies not in the sickness, but in the apparent unwillingness to be cured.

Work and Weakness.

"The church here, as everywhere, has its burdens—burdens of work and burdens of weakness. The church has ever been the salt that has given savor to the world. It is the greatest uplifting and conserving agency on the earth. Without it, the race would relapse into barbarism and press its way to perdition. Its province is not only to offer salvation in the future, but to teach men how they ought to live. It is not a gallery for the exhibition of eminent Christians, but a school for the education of imperfect ones. Its problem must ever be how to care for its weak ones, heal its diseased ones, and at the same time maintain enough strength to be a militant minister in a needy world. Led by its Founder, it will not fail nor be discouraged until it hath set judgment in the earth and the isles will wait for its law. Grumble not because it has burdens of weakness and burdens of work. The burden of the church is your burden. If it fails, you have contributed to the failure. Will it fail? 'Get you to your burdens.' It shall not fail."

OTHER WORLDS ARE INHABITED ALSO

Adventist Pastor Declares This Alone Once Belonged to Satan.

At the Bible chautauqua tent last night, Pastor Stemple White, Adventist, preached on the subject, "Are Other Worlds Inhabited?" He said, in part:

"All the treasures of the universe will be open to the study of God's redeemed. Unfettered by mortality, they wing their tireless flights to worlds afar, worlds that thrilled with sorrow at the spectacle of human woe, and rang with songs of gladness at the tidings of a ransomed soul. With unutterable delight the children of earth enter into the joy and wisdom of unfallen beings. They share the treasures of knowledge and understanding gained through ages upon ages in contemplation of God's handiwork. With undimmed vision they gaze upon the glory of creation—suns and stars and systems, all in their appointed order circling the throne of deity.' These words of a well known writer, all of which is clearly borne out in Holy Scripture, suggests a wonderful depth and height in God's eternal purpose in Jesus Christ that few have little dreamed of.

"God's throne and the headquarters of the universe is, no doubt, in the center, from which His power upholds in their orbits infinite world systems. Job was shown that the earth is merely on the outskirts. Not one of the host of heaven falleth, and so the Creator's original purpose with this earth will be consummated through Christ in spite of Satan's rebellion. Other worlds are inhabited, and until Jesus had actually paid the price of redemption on Calvary's cross, Satan represented this planet at heavenly councils as is plainly stated in the first two chapters of Job. Adam, to whom this world had been given, sold out through sin, lost his home and his life, and was laid away in death. Satan represented this world before the representatives of unfallen worlds as an 'accuser of the brethren.' After Calvary had demonstrated God's love, and the price had been paid whereby the renewed man may be restored the renewed earth, Satan was never again allowed to further attend such heavenly councils. Jesus now represents this revolted world, not as an 'assuser,' but as our 'advocate' and 'mediator.' Satan is confined to this earth—is putting up a same fight but with all opposers of the law of God, will be destroyed. God will have a clean universe, and in the ages to come, Jesus will show forth the trophies of his grace to all the unfallen worlds. In this little speck of a revolted world be true to God's Word, and thus line up with God's great universal majority."

Mr. White will conduct "A Bible Fox Hunt" tonight at the chautauqua tent.

WOULD RECRUIT FROM LAKE VESSELS

Commander Eaton Suggests Plan for Building Up Naval Militia.

Plans to recruit naval reserve cadets from Great Lakes merchant vessels' crews are favored by Guy A. Eaton, commander of the Minnesota naval militia. The idea has been started by the U. S. Navy league.

"The league certainly may look to us for assistance," said Commander Eaton. "Although we have plenty of men to keep our membership up to full quota, I am sure all other men attached to the naval militia will be with me in giving the Navy league earnest support. When the officials start recruiting in Duluth they may look to us for anything we can do, for I believe the plan to be as good as any yet formulated."

According to the idea as advanced, able seamen on the Great Lakes will be asked to enlist in the reserve. Under the new navy department ruling it will not be necessary for the members to see two months of active service on the sea each year as formerly.

There will be places for nearly 100,000 men in the navy, should the United States become involved with any other country. Most of these would be placed on trawlers and other auxiliaries and it is believed that ordinary seamen would be as efficient as men who have seen service on men-of-war.

EXPERT TO WATCH SURFACE LAYING

Asphalt Company Furnishes Inspector for Paving Work, Gratis.

Asphalt surfacing on new pavements will be inspected by a supervisor, who will serve the city without charge.

Commissioner Farrell, head of the works division, announced yesterday that the Barber Asphalt company will supply the city with a supervisor of surfacing without cost to make certain that its material is applied on new pavements in the proper manner. The new official will start at once and inspect the surfacing of Sixth street from Fifteenth to Eighteenth avenue east, and Sixteenth avenue east from Sixth to Eighth street, where the & Son will start today laying the asphalt surface.

When the surfacing material was sold to the city several weeks ago, the company agreed at the time to furnish an expert supervisor to inspect the work.

CURVES TO REPLACE ANGLES IN STREETS

Sharp corners at important street intersections are being replaced by wide curves.

Increase in traffic and the predominance of automobiles have caused Commissioner Farrell to make provision for round corners in new pavements now being laid, while sharp angles on other street intersections will be replaced with curves.

"Automobiles," said the commissioner, "have longer wheel bases than horse-drawn vehicles and they must have wider curves for turning in order to avoid danger and congestion."

In point of tonnage the Kaiser Wilhelm canal ranks third among the great canals of the world.

Law Should Stop Sale Of Elastic and Spring Trusses

Such Misery-Causing Makeshifts Are the Ruptured Man's Worst Enemies

Depending on elastic or spring trusses like shown above is little less than slow suicide. Such contraptions are almost sure to shorten your life.

It's hard to make them hold, even when drawn so tight that they scarcely give a minute's peace. They are simply a curse to wear.

And because they nearly always let their victims get worse all the time, they are yearly forcing thousands of people into risking their lives by undergoing operation.

These unscientific makeshifts cause so much misery and such a shameful waste of money that the law should put a stop to their sale.

Don't Buy Anything For Rupture Without Giving It a Thorough Test.

There's only one reason in the world why you or any one else ever gets saddled up with good-for-nothing makeshifts—

It's simply because you trust to a mere try-on or hasty examination instead of first making a thorough test.

A truss or so-called "appliance" may seem alright when you first try it on and afterward prove utterly worthless.

The only way you can ever make sure of exactly what you are getting is by sixty days trial—a thorough day-after-day test.

And there's only one thing of any kind whatever for rupture that you can get on such a long trial—

Only one thing good enough to stand such a long and thorough test.

That's our guaranteed rupture holder.

Only Thing Good Enough To Stand A 60-Day Test

We'll make you a guaranteed rupture holder—make it to your measure—and let you give it a thorough 60-day test without asking you to risk a cent

If it doesn't keep your rupture from coming out or bothering you in any way, no matter how hard you work or strain—if it doesn't prove every claim we make—then you can send it back and it won't cost you a single penny.

See What It Does

This guaranteed rupture holder—the famous Cluthe is made on an absolutely new principle. It is far more than just a truss.

Instantly and automatically protects you against every strain, so your rupture can't possibly come out.

And in addition to constant holding—without which you can never get well or even get better, just as a broken bone can't knit unless constantly held together—in addition to that the Cluthe provides the only way ever discovered for overcoming the weakness which is the real cause of rupture.

Just how it does that—entirely automatically—is explained in the free book which the coupon below will bring you.

Will Save You From Operation

The Cluthe has such a remarkably strengthening and beneficial effect that it has completely cured hundreds and hundreds of people whose cases seemed almost hopeless.

It has so thoroughly proved its merits that many physicians in all parts of the country now recommend it instead of advising operation.

No Belt—No Leg-Straps—No Springs

Does away entirely with the curse of belts, leg-straps, and springs. People say it is as comfortable as their clothing. It is water-proof—will hold in the bath. Also perspiration-proof and easily kept clean.

Get World's Greatest Rupture Book

There are so many wrong ideas about rupture that we have taken the time to sum up in a book all we have learned during forty years of experience.

This remarkable book—cloth-bound, 96 pages—is full of facts never before put in print.

It shows why depending on elastic or spring trusses is about the worst thing you can do.

It exposes the humbug "appliances," "methods," "plasters," etc.

It explains the dangers of operation. And shows you why, if you manage to live through it, you may have to keep on wearing a truss.

And it tells all about the famous Cluthe — how simple it is—how it ends constant expense—how you can test it on sixty days trial without having to risk a penny, and how little it costs if you keep it.

Also gives voluntary endorsements from over 5,000 benefited and cured people.

The minute it takes to write for this book may make a big difference in the rest of your life. Don't fail to get it—just use the coupon or simply say in a letter or postal "Send me your book."

SUMMONED TO APPEAR

Quo Warranto Writ Is Served on "Judge" Windom.

Duluth's Municipal Court Travesty Due to End Soon.

"Judge" W. L. Windom today was served with a copy of a quo warranto writ issued oy the state's attorney general Saturday, calling upon him to present himself before the supreme court and show cause why he continues to hold office.

The writ specifies that "Judge" Windom shall appear on Oct. 5 or before. It was served upon him in the municipal court civil chamber by V. C. Pidgeon, deputy clerk of the supreme court, and was signed by I. A. Caswell, clerk of court. The writ was certified to before Calvin L. Brown, chief justice of the state supreme court.

The action, entitled State of Minnesota ex rel W. H. Smallwood vs. W. L. Windom, is unique in nature, and will bring a speedy end to the municipal court "off again, on again" travesty which has furnished Duluthians with amusement for several weeks.

The writ says that on Sept. 13, and for a long time prior thereto, there was a vacancy in the office of municipal judge of the city of Duluth.

On Sept. 13, it alleges, Governor Hammond appointed "Judge W. H. Smallwood to fill that vacancy, and that on Sept. 14 "Judge" Smallwood filed his bond and qualified for the office.

Since Sept. 1, it says, "Judge" Windom has usurped the office, without having any claim or right to it.

"I welcome this action," said "Judge" Windom, "for I am as anxious to have this matter settled as any one else. This is what the governor intended should happen, when he appointed Mr. Smallwood, and in this way the whole matter can be threshed out before the supreme court and settled with but little further ado.

"As far as the writ is concerned, it merely means that I, or my representative, should appear before the court on Oct. 5. At that time the case will be assigned to one of the commissioners, and a date for the hearing will be set."

PIPESTONE COUNTY LIKELY TO APPEAL

Commissioners Do Not Like Recent Decision Giving "Drys" Majority.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Pipestone county, which recently voted on the wet and dry question and which Judge Quinn ruled "went dry" in a contest which was entered by the drys, will likely appeal to the supreme court. Attorney General Smith today ruled that the county attorney of that county may make an appeal if such is demanded.

In the election, the county canvassing board holds for the wets by a majority of four. A contest was entered by the drys and Judge Quinn ruled in their favor, holding that the majority for the drys was three. George P. Girling is attorney for Pipestone county and he has been asked by the county commissioners to appeal from the court's findings.

HARNESS HORSE FANS RETURN FROM IRON RIVER

Many Duluth harness horse fans returned last evening and this morning from Iron River, Wis., where they attended the Bayfield county fair races yesterday afternoon and saw Ella M., 2:04¼, owned and driven by Paddy Chantelois of Iron River, lower the track record from 2:14 to 2:09¼. This wonderful performance was accomplished in the third heat of the free-for-all race in which were entered Banzye, Boy Prince and Debently.

Great crowds from Ashland, Superior and Washburn attended the fair, most of them going to Iron River in automobiles.

Jim Henderson, 2:21, owned by James Henderson of this city, gave an exhibition race in company with an Iron River pacer.

BILLION-DOLLAR GOLF MATCH IN MINNEAPOLIS.

A golf game wherein the players represented institutions whose capitalization was one billion dollars was played on the Minikahda links last week.

Six railroad presidents competed, the combined capitalization of their roads being $1,044,444,000. C. H. Markham of the Illinois Central; W. A. McGonagle of Duluth, president of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern; W. A. Gardner of the Northwestern; F. A. Banks of the Elgin, Joliet & Eastern; C. G. Goodrich of the Twin City Electric lines and Edmund Pennington of the Soo Line were the players, with W. W. Walker of Duluth, vice president of the South Shore; A. M. Marshall, G. G. Hartley, George H. Crosby of Duluth, Don McLennan and Wally Winter, the famous old Yale football player, as spectators. She was some game, when it came to financial ranking.

SUPERIOR

TAG DAY RECEIPTS MORE THAN $1,200

More than $1,200 was realized by the tag day in Superior Saturday, according to reports that are being turned in by superintendents of the various districts. The largest individual collection for the Children's home was made by Mrs. Rose Freel, who collected more than $40 during the day. Mrs. A. J. Wenzel, in charge of the sixth district, reported the greatest amount for any of the districts. The sum of $432, which is $75 more than collected in that district last year, was received.

Child Hurt in Collision.

Mable Bloodworth, the 11-year-old son of A. J. Bloodworth, 2215 John avenue, was painfully injured in a collision with an automobile. The boy was riding a bicycle at the time. The accident occurred at Seventeenth and John streets. No bones were broken.

Pupils Plan Publication.

A monthly magazine, which will be known as The Student, will be published by the students of the Superior high school this winter. The school has a fully equipped print shop, and all of the work pertaining to getting out the publication, will take place within the building. Donald Fowler was elected editor-in-chief, and Francis Madden, business manager, at a meeting of the students held Saturday.

FIRE BROKE OUT ON SHIP FRIDAY

Agents of Athinai, Burned at Sea, Get Message From Captain.

New York, Sept. 20.—The local office of the National Steam Navigation company of Greece, agents for the steamer Athinai, received a wireless message today from Capt. Boglazides saying he had abandoned the Athinai at sea owing to the fire which was destroying the ship.

The captain's message said all passengers and crew had been saved. The British steamer Rumanian Prince had sixty-one survivors on board, the others, including the captain, were on the Anchor liner Tuscania. The fire broke out in one of the forward holds at 4 p. m. Friday. This was slightly more than twenty-four hours after the vessel had sailed from New York for Greece.

COOLER WEATHER IS PREDICTED FOR EAST

Washington, Sept. 20.—Cooler weather in the East is predicted by the weather bureau to follow in the wake of a storm central this morning over Lake Superior. The storm warnings were ordered up for Lake Huron, Eastern Lake Superior and all Lake Michigan except the southern portion. Rains south as far as the Ohio valley region are expected to follow the storm, which probably will pass out to sea through the St. Lawrence valley.

Freight Hearing Begun.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—An interstate commerce commission hearing before Examiner E. W. Hines, supplementing the Western freight rate advance case, was begun here today. Rates on commodities which were entered too late for the regular hearing are to be considered. The principal ones are furniture, farm implements, poultry and canned goods.

WHEAT CROP BIGGEST EVER

Three Canadian Provinces Will Produce Increase of 100,000,000 Bushels.

Wealth in Grain Helps Offset Slump in Other Lines.

W. E. Blachley, district passenger and freight agent of the Pennsylvania lines at Winnipeg, declared here today that Canada this year would produce 100,000,000 more bushels of wheat than last year. The grain crop this year, he stated, would be by far the greatest in the history of the three great Western Canadian provinces, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

"There will be an average of more than twenty bushels of wheat to the acre," said Mr. Blachley. "There have been instances of fifty-six bushels to the acre. This is of course an exceptional yield, but it nevertheless goes to show that this is a great grain crop year for Canada.

"While this is an off-year for Canada, business suffering a severe depression because of the war, if there is a good price offered for Canadian grain, there is every reason to believe that business in the dominion, especially the western part, will receive a decided stimulus.

"There is an increase in both passenger and freight receipts. This is invariably a healthy indication of increased business. Conditions in Winnipeg and other Western Canadian cities are not to be compared with several years ago. But with a record crop there is reason to believe that the business will take on some real improvement."

C. L. Kimball, assistant general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania lines, with headquarters in Chicago, was also in the city Saturday.

WANT EMERGENCY AMBULANCE.

Local Physicians Will Organize to Secure Conveyance for Public.

An emergency ambulance association whose object will be to place in service an automobile ambulance which will be at the beck and call of anybody at any time of the day and night, is being formed in Duluth among the local physicians. C. M. Frane and Dr. C. M. Seeley, who recently organized a similar society in Minneapolis, are in Duluth today. Dr. A. W. Coventry is the present business manager for the organizers. A meeting of the physicians is planned for Thursday evening, Sept. 30, at the Y. M. C. A., at which time the question of forming the association will be taken up.

STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE, INJURIES NOT SERIOUS

Struck by an automobile as he was crossing Superior street near Second avenue west this morning, A. A. Friss, 419 First avenue west, was taken to St. Luke's hospital in the car which hit him.

C. E. Beahn, 4616 East Jay street, came to police headquarters and reported the affair after a cut across Friss' forehead had been sewed up by attending physicians.

He was not held by the police.

HAS NO RIGHT TO LEASE ISLANDS

Circuit Judge Rules Against Forestry Commission of Wisconsin.

Rhinelander, Wis., Sept. 20.—Circuit Judge Reid rendered a decision today holding that the state forestry commission had no authority to lease islands for a number of years and in the case at issue declared that the property reverted back to the original owner. The decision will have a wide influence on state-owned lands under control of the forestry board.

In 1913 the board gave a twenty-year lease on a strip of land known as Crescent Isle, south of this city, to L. P. Tradewell of Antigo, for summer resort purposes. The island had been for many years occupied by George Weaver, who refused to give possession and Tradewell brought suit. Weaver demurred to his complaint on the ground that the forestry board had not been granted authority by the legislature to lease forest reserve lands for such purpose. The court sustained the demurrer. Attorney General Owen had recently rendered an opinion to the contrary. It is said that more than 100 leases similar to the one given Tradewell were granted in the forest reserve region in Vilas, Oneida and other counties.

SALOON MAN MUST PAY WIDOW $1,166

Bemidji Woman, Whose Intoxicated Spouse Was Killed, Wins Verdict.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Helena Klyberg was awarded $1,166.66 in a verdict this morning in district court in her damage case against M. M. Sullivan, a former saloon keeper of this city and his bonding company, the Fidelity & Deposit Company of Maryland, for the alleged sale of intoxicating liquors to her husband. Mr. Klyberg became intoxicated and while in that condition was killed by an automobile. The original amount asked from Mr. Sullivan was $5,000. She brought three other suits against three other saloon keepers for $5,000 each, all of which have been dismissed. E. E. McDonald, attorney for the defendant, says that the Sullivan case will probably be appealed.

Mrs. MacKaye, who is a prominent member of the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage, will speak to the voters of the city tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. Lynn Rood Is Her Sister's Matron of Honor

Mrs. Lynn Rood of 810½ East Fifth street was one of the matrons of honor at the wedding of her sister, Miss Gertrude Dunlop, to David Richardson Woodcock which took place Saturday evening at All Saints' Episcopal church in Minneapolis. Mrs. Arthur J. Walker of Minneapolis, another sister of the bride, was the other matron of honor. Miss Charlotte Keller of Minneapolis was the maid of honor. Robert F. Dunlop, brother of the bride, was the best man and the ushers were Lynn Rood of Duluth, Arthur J. Walker of Minneapolis and Walter Crosby of Willmar, Minn.

The bride wore a gown of white satin made with a full skirt that was draped in princess lace. The bodice was cut low and elaborated in pearls and finished with long sleeves. Her tulle veil fell to the hem of her court train from a cap of princess lace and pearls. She held a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley, white sweet peas and orchids.

The matrons of honor wore their bridal gowns. Mrs. Walker's gown was of ivory satin trimmed with Chantilly lace and pearls. The gown worn by Mrs. Rood was of white satin, with a court train and draped in princess lace. They wore gold bands with gold butterflies in their hair and held arm bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums tied with yellow tulle. The maid of honor wore a gown of changeable yellow taffeta made with a short full skirt and cut on empire lines. She wore a band of gold with gold butterflies in her hair and held a bouquet of white sweet peas and asters tied in yellow tulle.

Following the ceremony there was a reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Gordon Dunlop.

The bride is a graduate of National Park seminary in Washington, D. C. Mr Woodcock is a graduate of the University of Minnesota, and is a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity.

Minneapolis Wants to See Duluth Pageant

The pageant on Friday night, dedicated to the visiting club women of the state of Minnesota, promises to set a new standard in indoor pageantry for Duluth.

Negotiations are on to produce the pageant in the big Minneapolis auditorium early in October. Pageant preparations Saturday furnished the groups work of the caste. The court of Minerva, in which the worshippers will pay homage to Athena, was arranged at the Spalding ball room rehearsal of the afternoon where more than 100 went through the symbolic dances of the second half of the program. For this set the selections are Misses Edna Mortenud, Lois Trot, Margaret Johnson, Marjorie Bailey, Eleanor Nelson, Jessie Brown, Olive McTague, Adele Johnson, Roberta Ritchie.

At the Spalding hotel Saturday evening the Knights of Jean du Luth, a social set, which will assist in the processional of the pageant, were organized. The organization is intended as a permanent club of the younger men who will be ready, in cases of civic affairs, to assist as a body. Their first appearance in the handsome costume of the voyageur, will be at the Greek pageant on Friday night. The personnel includes: Messrs. Willard Thorpe, Russell Duncan, William Sebenius, Franklin Neff, Wilfred Jaques, Duncan Frick, Kenneth Jones, Lawrence Grannis, Howard Strange, John Richards, Norman Tufty.

The last section of boxes, and the side sections of seats went on sale this morning at pageant headquarters, 205 West Superior street.

Fee-Traphagen Bridal Party Is Announced

Miss Lois Fee, whose wedding to Arthur D. Traphagen, will take place Monday evening, Sept. 27, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fee, 2006 East Third street, has chosen as her matron of honor, Mrs. Frederick Carroll Elston, a sister of the bridegroom, as bridesmaids Miss Cornelia Hallam of St. Paul and Miss Jeannette Smith of Youngstown, Ohio. Mrs. William Pitt Abbott and Miss Dorothy Baker will stretch the ribbons. Frank Fee, the bride's brother, will be the best man.

Miss Fee will be the matron of honor and Miss Smith will be the bridesmaid at the wedding of Miss Hallam to Stanley Ferguson Miller which will take place Sept. 29, two days after the Fee-Traphagen wedding.

Duluth Women Go to State Golf Tournament

Mrs. T. F. Cole, Mrs. Edward Windon, Mrs. Alexander W. Hartman, Mrs. James E. Gardner, Jr., and Mrs. R. N. Marbla left this afternoon for St. Paul, where they will represent the Northland Country club in the first women's state golf tournament ever held in Minnesota. Play will begin tomorrow on the links of the Town and Country club with a match team with four women from each club. Wednesday morning the players will qualify for the championship, and playing will continue until Saturday afternoon.

The Duluth women will try to bring home the cup which has been put up by the Northland club. There will be between 90 and 100 contestants.

A number of informal social affairs will be given for the players.

Church Meetings.

Circle No. 4 of Pilgrim Congregational church will meet at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon with Mrs. C. E. Wallace of 2101 East Fourth street. Members are asked to take the articles they are making for the Christmas bazar.

* * *

The fall quarterly rally of the city endeavor union will be held Friday evening at the Second Presbyterian church, Fifteenth avenue west and Superior street. A. E. Manthey will preside, and Rev. H. W. Knowles of Superior will be the principal speaker. Societies from twelve churches will attend this meeting. A meeting of the executive committee will be held tomorrow evening at the First Presbyterian church to plan full details for this gathering.

Nora lodge, No. 4, Daughters of Norway, will give a card party tomorrow evening at Woodman hall. The members of the committee are Miss Haugen, Mrs. L. Jentoft and Mrs. Edward Peterson.

Mrs. MacKaye Will Speak to Voters Tuesday

Mrs. Jessie Hardy MacKaye of Washington, D. C., who has been spending the early fall in Minneapolis, will speak to the voters tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock at the suffrage headquarters, 205 West Superior street. Mrs. MacKaye will explain how all political parties will be forced to put a suffrage plank in their 1916 platform as a political expediency.

"I shall tell what we expect to do in the sixty-fourth congress to get through the Federal amendment for woman suffrage," Mrs. MacKaye said this morning. "We feel that the time has come for all the women of this country to be enfranchised. Women vote in one-fourth of the states and there is no reason why those in the remaining three-fourths should not vote; they are all the same kind of women.

"To the fifteenth amendment of the constitution, which provides that the right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude, the amendment for which we are working would add the word "sex," so that no matter what restrictions of property and education any state would place upon its citizens the idea of sex would be absolutely eliminated from voting qualifications."

Mrs. MacKaye is a member of the advisory council of the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage and was formerly the national press chairman of the union.

In addition to tomorrow's meeting there will be meetings Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons at 5 o'clock at the headquarters to which all men and women of the city are invited. The speakers will include besides Mrs. MacKaye, Mrs. Andreas Ueland, president of the Minnesota Woman Suffrage association, and Mrs. Gertrude S. Hunter, state secretary of the Minnesota branch and national organizer of the Congressional union; both are from Minneapolis.

Members of the local suffrage association who will be hostesses at the meeting tomorrow afternoon are Mrs. Guy Diehl, Mrs. Harold Crasswellor, Mrs. Samuel E. Atkins and Miss Esther Coffin.

Would Lead Women Between Battle Lines

MME. SCHUMANN-HEINK.

Mme. Schumann-Heink, the famous singer who will appear in concert Tuesday, Sept. 28, at the Grand opera house in Superior, thinks the women of the world have the power to stop the European war.

"I would gladly lead a band of women between the battle lines if I could help end this frightful war," she said. "I am not a politician, and I am not discussing the rights or wrongs of the causes leading to this frightful war. I am only a woman, but I am a mother, and as such I protest with my heart and soul against this wicked, horrible war. We call ourselves civilized, and we coolly invent and build these weapons which now mow down rows upon rows of living men. This is not war. It is slaughter, horrible and unthinkable. And they say the war is hardly commenced. What unspeakable suffering are we to endure before it is over?"

Club Women Will Arrive for Convention

Delegates to the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs and prominent club women from many parts of the country will arrive this evening to attend the convention which will begin tomorrow. The executive board will meet this evening at the Spalding hotel and tomorrow morning at the First Methodist church, committees will gather and there will be a council meeting. The convention proper will open tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the church with the call to order by Mrs. C. L. Atwood, the state president. Rev. John W. Hoffman will pronounce the invocation and Mrs. J. L. Washburn will give the address of welcome which will be responded to by Mrs. J. M. Schwartz of St. Paul.

The state officers and the presidents of districts will give their reports at the session tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker of Austin, Tex., president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and Miss Lutie E. Stearns of Milwaukee, a director of it, will be guests of Mrs. J. L. Washburn of 101 Oxford street.

Tickets for Federation Luncheon.

The committee in charge of the federation luncheon which will be given Thursday at the Spalding hotel are anxious to impress upon those who are planning to attend that tickets which have not been paid for by Wednesday noon will not be considered sold. In order to make it easy for those who have made reservations to pay for and get their tickets Mrs. P. J. O'Donnell, Mrs. R. Spiegel and Mrs. Fred Sermon will be in the room marked "federation luncheon committee" at the First Methodist church, where the convention will be held, all day tomorrow and until noon Wednesday. All tickets must be called for not later than noon Wednesday.

Silver Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Wasson of 1814 Woodland avenue entertained Saturday evening to celebrate their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. The rooms were decorated with sweet peas, dahlias and golden glow.

Famous Women of Japan.

The members of the Duluth Woman Suffrage association were entertained Saturday afternoon by Mrs. Frank Barker at her Japanese tea house, O Matsu Chaya, 2401 Lake avenue south.

Mrs. Barker spoke of the famous women of Japan saying in part:

"As if statecraft, literature and scholarship were not enough in which to express herself, the Japanese woman went into the masculine occupation of war. The first captain who led the Nippon forces beyond the seas, and with success, was the Empress Jingo.

"The first Japanese romances was written by a woman, Lady Murasakino-Shikibu, whose clever sayings have been compared to La Rochefoucauld, and who might easily be mistaken for a woman of the French salon. The Japanese have been named the 'French of the East' and the study of Japanese writers convinces one that this is true."

Mrs. Barker was assisted in receiving by Mrs. W. W. Lawrence, president of the suffrage association. Misses Eloise Lawrence, Theresa Flobiger and Katherine Thwing acted as Japanese maids and Masters Edward and Lloyd Hostatter as pages.

Former Chicago Society Woman Dies in England

New York, Sept. 20.—The death of Mrs. Maldwin Drummond, formerly Mrs. Marshall Field, Jr., of Chicago, at her estate, Cadland, near Southhampton, England, was announced in a cablegram received here yesterday.

Marshall Field, III, her son and his wife sailed from here Saturday on the liner St. Louis for Liverpool. Mrs. Drummond was once a social leader in Chicago, as the wife of Marshall Field, Jr., who died some ten years ago of a pistol wound inflicted while he was preparing to go camping. She was Albertine Huck, daughter of Louis Huck, a wealthy real estate dealer, and neighbor of the Field family. After the death of her husband, who was the only son of Marshall Field, Sr., she traveled a great deal in Europe and there met Mr. Drummond, an officer in the British army. Mrs. Field was married to Lieut. Drummond seven years ago this month.

Mrs. Drummond had three children while the wife of Marshall Field, Jr., two sons, Marshall Field III and Henry, are principal heirs to the large estate of the first Marshall Field and are among the richest young men in America. The third child is a daughter, Gwendolyn Mrs. Drummond's mother lives in Chicago. Her father died more than ten years ago.

News of Mrs. Drummond's death, which occurred Saturday, was received here in a cable message by Charles H. Marshall, whose daughter is the wife of Marshall Field, III. Mrs. Drummond was 42 years old. It was said here that she would probably be buried in England.

Mrs. Drummond continued, almost to the last, personal supervision of the Red Cross hospital into which, at the outbreak of the war, her home was converted. She gave her time to nursing hundreds of wounded men back to health. Her death occurred after a painful illness.

HELD AS RECKLESS DRIVER.

P. Aubin Will Be Given Hearing on Sept. 30.

Palidore Aubin, aged 57, of Superior, arrested Sunday afternoon by Officer Fred Dinkel on a charge of reckless driving, was arraigned in municipal court today, but will be given a hearing Sept. 30.

Aubin, driving west on Superior street near Sixth avenue west, crashed into the car of A. Phillips, 2215 South street, and damaged it badly, according to the officer. The running board right rear fender and body of the Phillips car, a Ford, were scratched and bent.

The occupants were not injured.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Baseball a Great Game.

In some of the large modern baseball stadiums in the cities in the major leagues it is not an uncommon sight nowadays to see a crowd of over 30,000 at a game. And the attendance is by no means confined to the male sex, as there is a most liberal sprinkling of women in the grandstand cheering their favorite team to victory or feeling blue over a defeat. Baseball is truly the great American game and in a few weeks men and women alike will have the keenest interest with the younger generation in the outcome of the world's series between the winners in the American and National leagues.

Assuredly a part of the women who one sees at the games are baseball enthusiasts, won to an interest by a husband, a sweetheart or very possibly a father, as was a certain young lady acquaintance of mine. Palpably others have assumed an interest in the national game to propitiate a particular member of the sterner sex bound firmly by its fascination. You can tell this by their air of studied application and the care they take not to ask any "fool questions."

Personally baseball only appeals to me as it gives me an opportunity to observe men acting as foolishly as women appear to men under certain conditions to the world feminine. When I see a man acting in any particular in the manner they are wont to describe as "ridiculous" in women, then I am interested and I am pleased. And a ball game, of all places, is the ideal one to observe man in ecstacies over nothing.

If I do not appreciate the points of the game of baseball, I can do justice to its benefits to the men folks in all walks of life who let themselves loose on these occasions and enjoy unalloyed several hours of the most absorbing pleasure. As a man answering some of my argumentative objections explained to me: "It does us a lot of good. The very fact that we do appear like lunatics, that we get so wildly enthusiastic, proves the worth of the sport. It is a safety valve to many a hard working business and professional man.

Never have I seen a body of women as wholly absorbed in any of their distinctive pleasures as may be witnessed of men at a baseball game. This is to be regretted, as it surely must be a great relaxation.

ORPHEUM-STRAND WILL OPEN WITH FRANCIS X. BUSHMAN IN "GRAUSTARK"

SCENE FROM "GRAUSTARK."

Tonight the Orpheum-Strand will throw open its doors to the public as the home of the best in the realm of motion pictures. Francis X. Bushman is the star and George Barr McCutcheon's famous romance, "Graustark" is the play.

Duluthians are much elated by the fact that this city is the only one outside of the very largest communities to house a playhouse devoted to the cinema such as the Orpheum-Strand. It places the Zenith City in a class with Chicago with its Orchestra hall, now the Strand.

From all indications the seating capacity of the Orpheum-Strand will be tested to its utmost this evening on the occasion of the inauguration of the new policy.

PRESIDENT WILSON HEARS DULUTH GIRL SING IN LIGHT OPERA AT WASHINGTON

MISS EDNA MUNSEY.

Miss Edna Munsey, a Duluth girl, received the greatest ovation of her career when she opened the theatrical season at the Belasco theater in Washington last week as the star in "The Only Girl," an opera by Victor Herbert.

An audience of unusual brilliance, even for Washington, was on hand to greet the star. President Wilson honored the performance by his presence the opening night, the others in the presidential box being Miss Helen Woodrow Bones, Private Secretary Tumulty, and Dr. Cary Grayson. Leaders in diplomatic, official and social circles graced the occasion. The importance of the presentation, from the viewpoint of management, is evidenced by the fact that Victor Herbert came down from New York city to direct the music.

Miss Munsey has an unusually large following in Washington, where she became well known socially as a student at a girls' school for three years. As a result she was lionized throughout her engagement, just closed.

Dramatic critics, even at the risk of losing their reputations for originality, were unanimous in praise of the play and its beautiful "leading lady." Miss Munsey, they said, has a wonderful voice which, accompanied with her other charms, assures her a long and brilliant career on the stage.

During her brief stay she renewed old friendships and upon the special invitation of National Park Seminary, motored out to the seminary and revisited the scenes of her school days.

ZELDA—Photoplay.

FISKE O'HARA GIVEN HEARTY WELCOME

Irish Tenor and Fine Company Play to Large Lyceum Audiences.

Fiske O'Hara and his excellent company of players appeared before large crowds yesterday at the Lyceum in "Kilkenny," a comedy of the real Celtic type, by Augustus Pitou, Sr. Mr. O'Hara, while being the star attraction, is ably assisted and the whole company was warmly received both afternoon and evening.

Mr. O'Hara, a big, jovial Irishman with a rich tenor voice, gives the production a fine Celtic atmosphere, and his encores were so numerous last night that the audience forgot to count them. At the close of the second act his listeners became clamorous, and he was compelled to make a curtain speech. After a few remarks containing genuine Irish wit, he sang the song hit of the evening, "While the River Shannon Flows On." Even Mr. O'Hara's curtain song was encored several times.

Mr. O'Hara has appeared in Duluth several times before, but he has improved both as an actor and a singer. Among his song hits last night were "Contrary Mary Clary," "Mother Mine" and "Girl o' My Heart." All of these songs are new and have been arranged especially for Mr. O'Hara.

The plot of "Kilkenny" is a mere thread upon which hang a number of charming episodes and pleasing situations portraying Irish life and character. The play hinges on the melodrama order, but is somewhat toned down, and more suited to the present-day tastes than would the effusive blood and thunder type of melodrama in vogue a half dozen years ago. The play's most charming characteristics are its wholesome humor, simplicity and originality. The characters were not mere "types," but real men and women.

Mr. O'Hara takes the hero role and fits the part admirably. As Richard Desmond, an ambitious young painter, he falls in love with his neighbor's ward, Moina, who was bethrothed to Maurice Lavine, a deep-dyed "villain." Of course, Richard "beats the villain to it" and captures the girl and Lavine is shot while attempting to abduct Moina.

Marie Quinn as Kitty O'Toole was decidedly the most lively and engaging personality on the stage excepting the star. Every word and action was spontaneous and natural, and she evidently knows just how an Irish lassie should dress. Her love scenes with Lieut. Donnell, Henry Duffy, were a mixture of fine comedy and real sentiment, making a clever combination. Miss Mabel Scott made an excellent Moina, being pretty and well poised. William J. Morgan as the "villain" did his part well, making the most of an unpopular role. J. P. Sullivan as a gruff Irish doctor made himself popular. James Edwards as Moina's guardian did very capable work and Anna Nichols, his wife, played very acceptably.

Mr. O'Hara and his company will present "Kilkenny" again this evening. Tomorrow and Wednesday "September Morn" will be the attraction.

Theater Gossip.

The new season of 1915-1916 is now in full swing, and an exceptionally entertaining bill has been provided for patrons of the New Grand the first half of this week.

NEW SHOW AT THE GRAND.

Heading the new bill is the Welling, Levering troupe of cycling comiques, a troupe of clever artists who ride a varied assortment of wheels, including egg-shaped bicycles, one built to look like a bed, one ten feet tall, and another without rims at all. This is one of vaudeville's most unique features and can always be relied upon to hold up the comedy and spectacular end of a program.

Another big asset to the entertainment is Fields and Brown in a series of dances, a repertoire of classy songs and a line of witty chatter. Both are said to be artists of exceptional ability and their offering is picturesque and novel.

Ed Gray, the tall tale teller, is a versatile monologist and good humorist.

One continuous burst of merriment is promised in the offering of Quigg and Nickerson, blackface comedians, in their latest success, "The Aristocrat and the Big Eyed Coon." The offering is of the comedy musical variety with plenty of good wholesome fun and a repertoire of classy musical numbers.

The photoplay feature, "What Happened on the Barbuda," tells a romantic story in three reels and features Pat O'Malley, the debonaire care-devil, and dainty, winsome, Gladys Hulette in the leading roles. There is added interest in this feature in that the ship used was the actual German ship—the Magdeburg—which has figured so theatrically in this present war.

Two sterling comedies complete the entertainment.

"EARL OF PAWTUCKET" AT ZELDA.

Lawrence d'Orsay, the English comedy star, will be seen at the Zelda for two days, beginning tomorrow, in the comedy, "The Earl of Pawtucket." This play is one of the biggest comedies ever seen on the screen. It's riotously funny. D'Orsay created the role of the earl in the original production and those who have seen him in his screen conception declare that he is just as funny as he was in the initial presentation.

Harry Myers is responsible for the staging of the piece and those who know of his work appreciate what it means when the Universal stamps this as one of the finest productions he has ever staged. Myers not only directed the acting but took one of the roles in the piece.

Rosemary Theby is seen as Harriet Putnam, and as the American heiress. She has never been seen in a better role. She does some fine acting in this piece and there is no doubt but what she is today one of the best actresses in the moving picture world.

WICKED BEAUTY AT THE REX.

Theda Bara, who has been the wicked beauty in several picture plays, is seen at the Rex today as a sorrowful beauty in "The Two Orphans." The blind sister is portrayed by Jean Sothern.

The pictures are finely done, whether the scene is the cathedral of Notre Dame in a snow storm, with the two girls crouching from the bitter wind, or the banquet in the palace, for which Rector's furnished the background.

But the scenes are only the background for some of the best acting that has been thrown on the screen. In the suspense, the tension and the final joyful thrill it is a Fox masterpiece.

Barnhart Pleads Guilty.

Waukesha, Wis., Sept. 20.—George Adler, alias John W. Barnhart, Forest City, Ark., banker, pleaded guilty today to forgery. Judge Milo Muckleston deferred sentence until Friday. The defendant is alleged to have amassed almost a million dollars by a forgery scheme worked in almost every state in the Union.

SUITCASE WELL "LOADED."

Eleven Pints of Whisky Found; Owner Sent to Work Farm.

A walking drinking emporium was Lester Heino, 42, who had eleven pints of whiskey in his suitcase, each wrapped separately in a newspaper, when arrested Sunday by Officer J. Callahan.

Heino had been wandering up and down west Michigan street in a suspicious manner for several days, and when the officer started asking him questions, the answers were anything but satisfactory.

He was taken to headquarters and booked as a "vag". When the whiskey was found, police at first planned to charge him with selling liquor without a license, but today he was arraigned under the original charge.

Pleading guilty, he was sentenced to the work farm for thirty days.

FIFTY MILLIONS COLLECTED FOR RELIEF OF BELGIANS

Greatest Relief Movement of History Presents Complete Report.

Necessity for American Charitable Support Not Yet Over.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, Sept. 6.—The first complete report of the Commission for Relief in Belgium, covering the first eight months of its existence, reveals that in income and expenditure the organization forms the greatest relief movement of history. The commission has collected and disbursed fifty million dollars, fifteen million of which has been contributed in the form of money or gift food by the people of the United States and the British empire and Belgium itself. The bulk of the income has come from other than purely philanthropic sources, but the raising of this enormous sum has been exclusively the work of the commission, which by financial arrangements with Belgian individuals and institutions, exchange of currency with Belgian and a system of providing the solvent Belgian inhabitants, has maintained the entire population of a nation for almost a year.

Belgians Help Themselves.

A remarkable feature of the report which has hitherto received but little notice is the effort being made by the Belgians to help themselves. Over 50 per cent of the money expended by the commission in benevolence is being supplied by Belgians abroad, and a large amount also is being supplied by Belgians in Belgium.

In discussing the report, Herbert C. Hoover, chairman of the commission, said: "It may cause more surprise among Americans, who believe that the United States is provisioning the Belgian and French people in the track of war, that only something over $6,000,000 in food, clothes and money have come from the United States. However, the American public should realize that the commission in its organization, working personnel and political aspects is distinctly American. The American charitable support, so early and promptly given, came at the very inception of the movement when such backing was vital to the success of the organization in giving it time to build. This support gave the commission its foundation from which it acquired the moral prestige that enabled it to secure vitally necessary concessions from the various belligerent governments.

Support Still Needed.

Nor is the necessity for this valued support at all over. The problem becomes more difficult every day for the number of destitute has increased from 1,000,000 last October to 2,750,000 in June, and now grows at the rate of 200,000 a month. And our resources, large as they are, cannot keep pace with the need if the charitable public loses interest in our work. Moreover, the continued support of American institution which it now possesses in the sight of the warring powers, and the maintenance of this prestige can only be secured by the continued sentimental and practical backing of the American people."

The report includes detailed statements of the commission's work, such as complete accounts of the disposition of 195 cargoes of food stuffs and clothing and other statistical data, as well as a general survey of the situation in Belgium. It is pointed out that the organization as it stands now is the result of constant up-building, a feature of which has been the organization of local relief committees in practically every commune with a federal system of district and provincial committees with the Comite National at the apex. The relation of this structure to the commission is one of joint endeavor and the membership of Americans entirely interlocks the organization.

Three Classes of Work.

The relief operations are divided into three classes, one to provision the entire population, another to conduct financial relief and exchange operations; and a third to care for the destitute.

"The provisioning department," says the report, "is charged with the duty of revictualling the whole 7,000,000 people with necessary imports and up to June 30 had either delivered or had in stock over 600,000 tons of foodstuffs for the Belgian section to the gross value of over $15,500,000. The whole of these foodstuffs are resold to the population through a broad system of reticulation, and the profit earned on these operations is devoted to the support of the destitute. Such profits have been made possible by the volunteer executive, commercial and transportation services, and the amount of these profits—about $4,500,000 to date—is the measure of the value of such voluntary service."

After referring to the work of the financial relief and benevolent departments, the committee states that half a million people who might otherwise have fallen into destitution have been provided for through the remittances made available by this department, which to June 30 totaled about $20,000,000.

Support of Destitute.

"Through the benevolent department," the report continues, "the charity of the world and of the Belgian people themselves is mobilized to the support of the destitute, and through it over 2,750,000 persons are now being assisted in some measure with food and clothing. The total resources made available to the commission from abroad for the support of the destitute was over $31,000,000 to June 30, and the expenditures from these sources was at that date $25,000,000, and is now proceeding at the rate of about $5,000,000 per month. Beyond this expenditure lies local charity, now exceeding $10,000,000. The Belgian people have risen to an unprecedented emergency with the utmost devotion and aside from local charity about 50 per cent of the charitable funds of the commission from abroad are provided by Belgians and Belgian institutions.

"The response of the American, British and other people to the plea on behalf of the Belgians has been without parallel in international philanthropy—amounting today to nearly $15,000,000 in cash, food and clothing.

Problem of Unemployment.

"The growing and gloomy problem is one of unemployment, for month by month a larger proportion of the industrial mass of over 3,500,000 people falls further and further into destitution.

"Generous as the resources placed at the commission's disposal are, they are pitifully small when spread over the number who are now wholly dependent or who are becoming dependent with increasing frequency. It will appear from this report that the commission is transmitting $5,000,000 a month from the outside world for the destitute, yet this sum divided over those now unemployed and destitute would average less than 5 cents per day. It is evident that the commission's work has been only supplementary to individual resources, and these can abviously but diminish throughout the period of the war unless something can be done to at least overcome the industrial stagnation."

In addition to the Belgian people, the commission also supplies the French population within the German occupied territory, which number about 2,300,000. The cost of supporting these people amounts to about $4,000,000 a month, and is accomplished entirely without recourse to charity by financial arrangements which the commission has instituted whereby the towns in the occupied zone secure loans from the banks of Paris.

NEWSBOYS LOSE FRIEND

Harry Moore, Counselor and Helper of "Kids," Dies at Hospital.

Big Heart Declared to Be Chief Cause of Dwindled Fortune.

Newsboys are mourning the loss of one of their best friends today, for Harry A. Moore is dead.

The urchins who sell papers were always welcome at his store, 210 West Superior street, and at various times Mr. Moore has distributed barrels of apples and peanuts and large quantities of candy, to the youngsters.

"Fill your pockets, kids," he would say, and the boys, with a yell, would respond with a vengeance. Often the boys would bring their disputes to him for settlement, for they knew "Harry" would insist upon fair play.

At one time wealthy because of his success in stock deals, Mr. Moore's circumstances were limited at the time of his death, and friends say his liberality and big heart were the causes of his diminished fortune.

H. A. Moore was born near Rochester, N. Y., June 1, 1871. He came to Duluth in 1899 and resided at the home of Mrs. W. H. Millner, 23 West Second street, during all of the time he was in the city.

For a number of years he was connected with local wholesale grocery firms, withdrawing three years ago to enter the retail cigar trade at 210 West Superior street. Two months ago he sold his business. He had been ill about three weeks, and died at St. Mary's hospital Saturday evening.

Funeral services were held this afternoon at 2:30 p. m. from Grady & Horgan's chapel. Rev. A. W. Ryan officiated. Mr. Moore left no near relatives.

ST. LOUIS COUNTY GOOD FOR STOCK

Zumbrota Breeder Buys Farm Five Miles From Woodland.

Attracted by the possibilities of St. Louis county as a stock raising center, H. August Lohmann, stock breeder of Zumbrota, Goodhue county, has decided to locate in the vicinity of Duluth. Mr. Lohmann has purchased land on the Howard-Gnesen road five miles out from Woodland and is moving on the place this week.

Mr. Lohmann brought to Duluth from Zumbrota a herad of purebred Holstein-Friesian cattle, which have just been shown at the Goodhue county fair where some blue and red ribbons were captured in prizes. Mr. Lohmann is starting in with a herd of six animals, but expects to increase it in size as soon as he gets well established here.

TIME EXTENDED IN TELEPHONE CASE

First Under Law for Physical Connection of Competing Lines.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state railroad and warehouse commission today announced that an extension of time to Oct. 1 has been granted the Northwestern Telephone Exchange company and the Tri-State Telephone & Telegraph company in which to answer the petition of the Owatonna city council for physical connection of the two competing lines under the Minette telephone law enacted by the last legislature, after a fifteen-year fight.

The petition, which is the first to be filed under the new law, declares that connection of the lines is a public need. The law places the burden of proof upon the telephone companies, and empowers the commission to order connection if, after a hearing, it is found advisable.

It is predicted by some officials that a legal battle will result if the commission orders the connection made.

CARRANZA PROSPECT LOOKING BRIGHTER

Chances for Recognition By United States More Favorable.

Washington, Sept. 20.—Prospects for the recognition of Gen. Carranza, it was admitted in official quarters, are much more favorable than they have been at any time since the American government began to exert its influence toward the establishment of a central government in Mexico.

The decision of the Pan-American conference in New York to study within the next three weeks "the material and moral capacity" of the elements aspiring to recognition, has led to the general belief here by officials that unless the military situation in Mexico was much changed in that period, the recognition of the Carranza movement is practically certain.

The United States and the several governments which have taken the situation under advisement, intend, however, to investigate carefully the physical state of affairs in Mexico to learn whether the faction in military supremacy gives promise as well of creating a stable government.

To demonstrate in the meantime that the Carranza movement does not control the territory it claims in Mexico, will be the object of a delegation of Villa-Zapata followers expected to arrive here this week. They will be heard by Secretary Lansing, as will the representatives of Carranza.

To supplement their argument here that the Carranza movement should not be recognized because of an alleged lack of moral capacity the Villa party is planning an extensive guerilla warfare.

MANY GOING FROM DULUTH.

Danish Brotherhood Will Hold National Convention at St. Paul.

Dania lodge, No. 65, Danish Brotherhood of America, will send a good-sized delegation to the national convention of the order, which will be held in St. Paul Oct. 11 to 16. Several members of Dannevirke lodge, No. 35, Danish Sisterhood, will also attend. Olaf Hanson is the accredited delegate from Dania lodge. The national meeting of the brotherhood is held every four years. Mayor Powers of St. Paul will give the address of welcome.

"Y" BOYS PLAN ELECTION

Will Choose Officers for Year and Fill Cabinet Vacancies.

Members of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. will hold their annual election of officers tomorrow evening at the home of Dr. J. J. Eklund, 224 Twenty-fourth avenue east.

In addition to choosing officers for the ensuing year, the boys will fill ten vacancies in the cabinet, caused by the departure of the members for schools in the East. Plans and activities for the coming winter will also be made during the evening.

Yesterday afternoon the Knights of Sir Galahad reorganized, the membership being open to any boy over 12 years of age. Features of the new organization will include gymnasium work, a monthly dinner, field meets, a summer camp, outings and lectures.

Old Pioneer Dead.

New Richmond, Wis., Sept. 20.—Oscar Hemenway, since 1859 a resident of the town of Star Prairie and the city of New Richmond, is dead following an illness resulting from several strokes of paralysis during the past year. Mr. Hemenway was born in Rockford, Ill., in 1839. He served during the civil war in the Tenth Vermont infantry. His widow survives.

HUBBARD COUNTY FAIR PROFITABLE

Park Rapids, Minn., Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The greatest and most successful fair in the history of the Hubbard County Fair association is at an end. While the entries were not as large as at some former fairs, the quality was far above the preceding exhibits. The county is going more into stock and diversified farming. The management is to be congratulated on the excellent program which was carried out without a hitch. The attendance exceeded any previous fair and every inch of space was filled, with the result that the association will come out with a large surplus to its credit. Many new buildings have been built and ample space was given every department, so there was no crowding of exhibits.

Next year a new grandstand will be erected and the ball grounds will be improved.

The pearls found in Australia are of many shapes and sizes.

NOTE—So much comment has been aroused among cigarette smokers by the sensible suggestions in this advertisement that we have received several letters from Duluth men, suggesting that the advertisement be reprinted for the benefit of those who missed seeing it in last week's papers. Clip this out and keep it as it will not appear again.

LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

Find "yours"

Get all the smoke-pleasure you pay for. Find the right cigarette—a SENSIBLE one that fits your own likes and dislikes.

It may or may not be Fatima

—but this will help you find it.

Tastes differ—in fashions, foods and pretty girls.

Also in cigarettes.

A cigarette that started out to please every man's taste would end up by pleasing none.

Most of us like our cigarette smoke deliciously cool and refreshing. The Mexican likes his hot and dry, with a nice little peppery sting in it.

Some men like a cigarette wholesomely, fragrantly mild. Others of us hunt for a cigarette almost as heavy as a black cigar.

Most of us want an "easy" cigarette—a SENSIBLE one, so that no matter how steadily or how many we smoke, we'll feel as fit as a fiddle. Other men, though, don't care about that. They smoke only a few—so they want a kick like a mule's in each puff.

All of us want our smoke "full-bodied"—it must satisfy that smoke-hunger. But the cigarette that just fills the bill for you may not do at all for your next-door neighbor.

Somewhere—among all the brands on the market—is the one just-right cigarette for YOU!

Maybe it's the very one you have now in your pocket—but are you SURE? Maybe it's some entirely "different" cigarette—it may or may not be Fatima.

But "find it!" Until you do, you're cheating yourself out of a whole lot of smoke-pleasure. Also you're wasting some money.

How to Find "yours"

To avoid blindly trying too many different cigarettes, ask yourself, first of all, this question:

"Just what do I like in a cigarette?"

If you smoke only a few every day, you may prefer a cigarette which is rather rich or heavy and "oily." Or you may like one which has a rather strong "oriental" taste with a pungency almost like perfume. Or you may want a cigarette with that noticeably "sweetish" Egyptian flavor. But if you smoke quite often—if you would like to smoke whenever you feel like it and without any effect on the tongue or throat or any fear of a heavy or "heady" feeling afterwards—then you should choose some cigarette such as Fatima, a cigarette composed of all-pure tobaccos of considerable aroma, mellowed by being aged and carefully blended to produce a fragrant and wholesomely mild, yet "full-bodied," smoke. And the smoke must be noticeably COOL. For otherwise your tongue or your throat will soon signal you to stop smoking so often.

If you will ask any Fatima smoker, he will tell you that Fatimas never make him "feel mean"—no matter how many he smokes.

That is why Fatimas are considered the most sensible cigarette by such a large majority of smokers. And that is probably the main reason why hardly any Fatima smokers ever switch! They like a sensible cigarette—and one with a good, pure taste to it.

But the Taste is up to You

All cigarettes are pure, but when it comes to the taste, nobody can help you choose. You simply have to decide for yourself.

Of course, Fatima's taste may not appeal to you. But most men who try Fatimas like the taste so well that they seek no further—otherwise Fatimas could never have won and held their enormous and growing leadership amounting to over one and a half BILLION cigarettes a year.

The one purpose of this advertisement is to ask you in a fair and square way to give Fatimas (20 for 15c) a good trial. If they don't happen to suit your taste, you'll quit smoking them of course. But if you like Fatimas as well as MOST men do, you'll be mighty glad you read this advertisement—and ACTED ON IT!

Below are two simple tests which you can easily make and which may help you find your sensible cigarette.

It may or may not be Fatima. But be fair to yourself and find "yours."

TWO TESTS FOR ANY CIGARETTE

The taste of the cigarette—according to a leading tobacco journal—is up to the smoker. But there are other qualities that you should look for in the cigarette that you are going to stick to for your steady smoke. Here are a couple of tests that may help the average smoker to choose more wisely between different kinds of cigarettes.

The first test is for coolness, which means more comfort to the throat and tongue. Light any cigarette. Draw in a cloud of smoke—a small, ordinary puff is not sufficient to make this test. Hold it in your mouth for a few seconds. Let it "float" around against your tongue and throat. Now blow out the smoke. If the cigarette contains a high grade of mild tobacco leaves, combined in just the right proportion, it will always feel cool and smooth both to your throat and to your tongue.

On the other hand, if the proportions are not right and if the cigarette contains inferior grades of tobacco or hidden strands of rank, oily leaf, you will feel a nipping sting at the tip of your tongue or that "sandpaper tickle" in your throat.

Test number two—How do you feel after smoking all day?

If the tobaccos in the cigarette include a correct proportion of mild grades—and if all of the various grades have been properly mellowed by age—and if they have been so blended as to bring out the best qualities and to neutralize any unpleasant qualities in each of the different types of tobaccos, you will be able to smoke practically whenever you feel like it through the day without feeling any effect from it.

But with another cigarette in which the blend is less skillful, even though the tobaccos are of the highest grade, you will find along towards the end of the day that you are likely to have that feeling of having "smoked too much."

Clip out these tests and try them on Fatima

SMOKE INSPECTOR USES CAMERA TO PROVE HIS CASES IN COURT

EXHIBITS "A" AND "B."

Court witnesses usually are paid $1.12 a sitting for their services, but City Smoke Inspector John W. Schneider has an expert witness on smoking chimneys who doesn't charge a cent.

"The cheapest witness you ever saw," says the inspector. "No mileage and no fees and its testimony stands up in court."

So in his campaign against smoking chimneys Mr. Schneider is accompanied by his camera.

The two pictures above were taken at the Peavey elevator Sept. 13 recently and will be used before Judge F. H. Cutting in municipal court to help convince the judge that the smoke law was being violated.

On the back of the first picture Mr. Schneider has written: "Taken at the P. V. elevator, 2:26 p. m." and the second bears the inscription: "P. V. elevator, 2:38 p. m."

S. F. Staples, representing the elevator company, appeared in court Saturday and entered a plea of not guilty to the charge. He will appear for a hearing Sept. 30.

"Duluth's smoke law is going to be rigidly enforced," declared the inspector today, "and I believe the camera is going to be a great help to me in enforcing it."

RALLY AT CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH

Pupils Promoted and Varied Program Is Rendered.

Rally day featured the services for the Sunday school of the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, yesterday morning. The promotion of children from the primary to the junior, the junior to the intermediate departments were among the features of the program.

The principal address was given by Rev. Carl E. Oberg, city missionary for the Baptist denomination in Duluth. He spoke on "Minnesota Baptist Missionary Work." Rev. Milton Fish, pastor of the church, and E. E. Churchill, superintendent of the Sunday school, also spoke to the children.

The school has an enrollment of 264 pupils. A campaign to increase this to 300 before the end of the year was started. The program yesterday also included recitations, by the children, a reading by Miss Dorothy Patton, organ selections by Mrs. C. W. Bartow and choir numbers.

SIN AND DEVIL AWFUL REALITIES

Selfishness and Rebellion Against God Scored By Pastor Nelson.

"What Is Sin," the fifth of a series of sermons on "Paradise Lost and Regained," was the subject on which Rev. Swaney Nelson, pastor of the First Swedish Baptist church, spoke on last evening. The pastor said that sin and the devil were awful realities.

"Sin is the enthronement of self and setting the human will against the will and law of a righteous God," he said. "Sin appeared to our first parents in its most charming and deceitful manner.

"In spite of some of our modern theologians, Adam and Eve trifled with sin and found that God meant just what He had said, that 'in the day ye eat thereof, ye shall surely die.' Those who hear the gospel message of salvation and believe not in the only name given under heaven among men, will have to take the consequences, as did our first parents.

"The lust of the flesh appeals to the baser nature of men. The appetite for strong drink conquers, although man knows it will be his ruin. Immorality follows in the same procession, as do also the drug and cigaret habits.

"Second in the program of sin is the lust of the eye. Worldly power, that which make a fine appearance and dazzles the eye is continually sought for. Men are chasing the soap bubbles of life and finding nothing but emptiness and disappointment.

"Thirdly, men pride themselves on what they know, their intellectual power. Reason is enthroned and God is dethroned. The French revolution is a sad example of this pride. As in the lives of nations so in the lives of individuals.

"The climax of sin will appear in the man of sin; the anti-Christ, who opposeth and exalteth himself above all that is called God, or that is worshiped. The extent of sin reaches the whole human race. All have sinned and come short of the glory of God.

"No man can enter a plea of not guilty in the presence of the Judge of all the earth. Children who have not reached the age of accountability belong the kingdom of heaven and are included in the atonement made by the Son of God on the cross. Those who hear and believe not must suffer. The wages of sin is death, but to him who believes the promise is sure ,the gift of God is eternal life."

DECLINES CALL TO TRINITY PASTORATE

Rev. A. Theodore Ekblad, pastor of the Pilgrim Swedish Lutheran church of Superior, has declined the call to become pastor of the Trinity English Lutheran church, Twenty-seventh avenue west and Third street. In a letter to the congregation, which was read from the pulpit yesterday, the pastor set forth his reasons for declining.

He stated that although the Trinity church offers one of the best opportunities in the Augustana synod, and wishes the work all possible success, he feels that it is his duty and place at present to remain with his charge in Superior, and therefore must decline the offer at this time.

Another meeting of the congregation will be held the latter part of the week for the purpose of sending a call to another pastor. The pulpit becomes vacant on Jan. 1, 1916, when Rev. F. O. Hanson, organizer and present pastor of the church, will leave for Des Moines to take charge of the Des Moines English Lutheran church and the synod's hospital in that city.

CONFERENCE FOR WEST END DISTRICT

The annual district Sunday school conference for the West end district, comprising the Sunday schools of this end of the city between the Point of Rocks and the ore docks, will be held tomorrow afternoon and evening at the First Norwegian Danish M. E. church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street. Dr. R. W. Bowden of St. Paul, secondary superintendent for the state Sunday School association, and Mrs. Jean E. Hobart, of St. Paul, superintendent of missionary work for the association, will be the principal speakers.

The afternoon session will begin at 3 o'clock. This session will be devoted exclusively to talks of interest to Sunday school workers and parents. The evening session will be in the nature of a Sunday school rally.

A large attendance is expected at the meetings owing to the contest for the district banner. The prize banner is now in possession of the Sunday school of the First Norwegian Danish M. E. church, which has won it two times in succession. If this Sunday school again wins, the flag will become the permanent possession of the school. The winning school is determined by the greatest percentage of attendance of officers and teachers of the school at the convention.

"TRINITY" HIS THEME.

Rev. Milton Fish Says Only Real Life Is Godly One.

Taking for his text "Trinity," Rev. Milton Fish delivered an excellent sermon at the Central Baptist church last evening before a large congregation. He said there was only one real life of happiness and that was of God. His sermon follows:

"Life holds greater satisfaction than the knowledge of God. In fact intimate acquaintance with Him to the only real life of man.

"The investigations of human mind and the reaches of consciousness become noble as they approach the shining mystery of the God head. Ultimate questions of science, and deeper problems of history and fundamental principles of our daily duties all lead to the throne of God.

"The fullest appreciation of the one true God is in terms of the Adorable Trinity. We are now on holy ground where we consider Him, as truly as was Moses where he stood before the burning bush in the wilderness of Sinai.

"The Biblical report of Creation is Monotheistic, nevertheless the Trinity is implied in the record. The spirit of God moved on the chaos of the universe. In creating most of the universe He spoke creatures into being. In creating man He said 'Let us make man in our own image.' This is explained by John and Paul who taught that God, the Father created through God, the Son. It suggests his higher truth. God is a society. Man made in His image is not complete apart from social relations. All that man should be is in God as source and type.

"The Old Testament within referred their paises in three fold measures Holy, Holy, Holy.

"The so-called baptismal formula is a condensed form of early confessions of the Father, Son and Holy Spirit. So early Christians were baptized into 'name not into the names of the God head.' One God is one not three.

"A man who has had Christian experience of grace cannot express his experience apart from reference to 'the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Spirit.' In fact a fair reading of the New Testament account of gospel experience reveals the sublime mystery of Father, Son and Holy Spirit, coequal, coeternal.

"The Father is not God without the Son and the spirit. Nor is the Son, God without the Father and the spirit. Nor is the spirit God without the Father and Son.

"Each have a peculiarity incommunicable to the others yet all are one, not modes of function or of action. The Father loves the Son, and the Holy Spirit glorifies the Son. The Son prays to the Father.

"We are concerned not with three wills or three set of affections but with one. Neither mathematics nor philosophy nor science but Christian experience makes necessary this teaching. It is a truth marking a mile post of progress into the experience of God. It is the theme of the praise whereby Christians ascribe glory to the one before whom angels sing Holy, Holy, Holy."

LADIES' AID PLANS SOCIAL PROGRAM

Members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Trinity English Lutheran church, Twenty-seventh avenue west and Third street, will entertain at a social in the church tomorrow evening. The women in charge are Mrs. A. Lofgren, Mrs. J. W. Ekblad, Mrs. R. J. Crowley, Mrs. L. T. Peterson, Mrs. A. J. McCulloch and Mrs. O. F. Wennerlund.

The program will include the following: Vocal solo, Mrs. Neil Morrison; reading, Miss Gertrude Fahrman; violin solo, Mrs. E. G. Pash, and vocal solo, Mrs. Neil Morrison.

ELIHU ROOT, A FITTING CANDIDATE FOR 1916.

Is Elihu Root to be the Republican candidate for president against President Wilson in 1916?

There is every evidence that since his striking speech in the New York constitutional convention, organization Republicans the country over have seen in him a straw of hope, at which they are grasping with the eagerness of drowning men.

Despite his own repeated explanations of the impossibility of his being a candidate, the impulse to make him a candidate has approached closely to the stage of an organized movement.

He is old, but he is able—doubtless the ablest man in the Republican party today. He has had and profited by a lifelong association with the sinister elements that led to the destruction of the Republican party; but his Albany speech was an attack upon those elements, which he arrayed as "the invisible government." His culpability is a thousand times aggravated by his very ability; yet, it may be argued from his Albany speech, he has repented.

Mr. Root himself has upon at least two occasions placed his nomination in 1916 beyond the bounds of possibility. In the senate nearly two years ago, in response to the suggestion that he might become the Republican candidate in 1916, he said:

> My friends who have made these kindly suggestions forget that before this administration comes to a close I will have reached the age of seventy-one years; that before the next administration could complete its service, I would have reached the age of seventy-six. It would be manifestly impossible that I should be president of the United States. I could not render service. I would not undertake it. I would not accept the nomination, and I could not accept the office. Suggestions of political advancement for me are merely expressions of friendship and approbation from my friends. My political and public career is now drawing to a close. No political ambition whatever finds a place in my mind.

In the climax of his Albany speech was this fine peroration, which is a harmonious sequel to his senate utterance of two years before:

> Mr. Chairman, there is a plain old house in the Oneida hills, overlooking the valley of the Mohawk, where truth and honor dwelt in my youth. When I go back, as I am about to go, to spend my declining years, I mean to go with the feeling that I can say I have not failed to speak and to act in accordance with the lessons that I learned there from the God of my fathers.

Though the alloted three score years and ten are behind him, Elihu Root, by his service in the constitutional convention just adjourned, revealed himself as an able man with undiminished powers. What he has said about his age and the impossibility of his becoming a candidate for the presidency may truthfully reflect his own inclinations, and yet be no insuperable bar to his nomination. Other men have felt that their years put them beyond the capacity to serve, yet have been called and have served well. Other men have put away the cup of ambition, and yet have been summoned again to service and have obeyed the call.

Woodrow Wilson will be the Democratic candidate to succeed himself. Unless some untoward fate yet lurks to destroy him—and though Fate has contrived its subtlest schemes to destroy him, he has triumphantly overcome them all—he will present a virtually impassable barrier to Republic success in 1916. To meet him the Republicans must present their best.

None need marvel that organization Republicans are looking to Root, despite his age, despite his disclaimer, despite the tired longing with which he regards that plain old house in the Oneida hills.

Though Root, all his life long, has stood for, co-operated with and been supported by the very forces of reaction, of government by the few for the few, that destroyed the Republican party, still he is the ablest man in the party, and doubtless the most fitting candidate it could present. For when the Republican party reorganizes in convention in the summer of 1916, it will be discovered that the forces of which Root offers the highest type are in the ascendent, and the platform and the candidate will have their sanction or there will be no platform and no candidate.

Worse things for the country could happen than Root's nomination. Indeed, it would be hard to imagine a better. It would make the issue clear again; and of late the issue between progress and reaction has been obscured by the anomalous temporary injection of progressive sentiments into the rank and file—and some of the leadership—of the Republican party.

With the field Elihu Root against Woodrow Wilson the issue would be clear, and the country could take its choice with full knowledge of the dividing roads before it: a choice between government by the few for the few, ably and respectably typified by Root, and government by the people for the people, splendidly, sanely and constructively typified by Wilson; between policies whereby prosperity would be strained to the people through the thin meshes of private aggrandizement, and policies aimed to achieve the common welfare with all sharing justly therein.

No nomination against Wilson could more surely and clearly frame this issue before the people than that of Elihu Root. Therefore, and because Root is able and respectable and because if the people should choose to let their share of prosperity be crumbs from the rich man's table he would give them the strongest and soundest imaginable government of that sort, we sincerely hope that the hopeful Old Guard Republicans who are grasping at the Elihu Root straw will close their eager fingers upon it, and that he will be the Republican nominee against Woodrow Wilson in 1916.

THE TRAGIC PITY OF IT!

An English boy died in the trenches in France last May. In his pocket was found this letter, written to be sent only if he was killed:

> Dearest Mother:
> We are in for a very big fight tomorrow, so I am going to leave this note in my pocket and it will only get to you if I am knocked out. I just want to say good bye, mother dear. I have had a very happy time of it and the nicest lot of near relations that a man was ever blessed with. Don't be sorry for me—it is not every one who has the privilege of dying for all he thinks worth while in the world, and this old world without British influence for good and without you dear people would be a poor place to live in. We are fighting for very high ideals—justice, honesty and fair play as among nations, for the teaching of Christ as against those of the devil.
> It is an unselfish cause and one for which I am very proud to be fighting. I know you will be sad and I would not have it otherwise, but you can comfort yourself with the thought that you too have had to make a sacrifice for the noblest possible cause.
>
> My best love to Father,
> Your very loving son.

"It is an unselfish cause, and one for which I am very proud to be fighting."

Doubt it not that it is in this spirit that men all over Europe are fighting and dying—not Englishmen alone, but Germans, Austrians, Hungarians, Irish, Scotch, Welsh, Belgians, Frenchmen, Russians, Italians, Serbians—all of them.

Right or wrong, illumined by truth or deluded by falsehood—for not all can be right—these splendid human beings, with all their potentialities of companionship and use, are fighting and dying by the millions; and if they were not actuated, every army of them all, by some such ideals as these, the war could not last a week.

The pity of it! The tragedy of it!

STILL HARPING ON THE ONE-TERM PLANK.

The Washington Star notes a revival of the one-term plank talk, and goes on to say that the generally accepted theory of this plank is that Mr. Bryan, when he decided to throw his strength to Wilson in the Baltimore convention, conceived of the one-term plank as part of a scheme to enable him to succeed Wilson at the end of his term.

We don't know whether that is so or not. Probably it isn't. The plank itself doesn't support the idea, because it isn't a declaration against Wilson's having a second term but a declaration for a constitutional amendment limiting presidents to one term.

But whoever conceived it, it's a perfect folly. There never was a better example of the folly of it than the Wilson administration. Let those who believe that President Wilson has risen to heights of possibilities in the presidency reached by only two other presidents, imagine how they would feel if the Constitution made it impossible for them to vote for his re-election.

We don't care a cent what party had it in its platform, or who put it there—it's folly just the same.

If it did come from Mr. Bryan—the fact that it did is clearer than the theory that he did it in the interest of his own ambition—it comes strangely indeed from a man who professes himself to be a democrat and to trust the people—as a democrat must. It is born of a distrust of the people, and the fear that the people will be so swayed by blind devotion to an individual that they will keep on electing him president until he turns the republic into a monarchy. Only some such fantastic theory as this can justify its support by anybody. Yet Mr. Bryan and those who support the one-term idea profess to trust the people!

The people will settle this one-term question easily enough if they make a mistake in electing a president. They always have and they always will—just as easily and just as certainly as they settled the three-term question in 1912.

Tinted Polygamy.

Case and Comment: The old negro had been arrested for "having more than one wife," the last woman being the complainant. He happened to be well known locally and an orderly character.

"How many wives have you had?" demanded the judge.

"Six, yo' Honor," was the reply.

"Why couldn't you get along with them?" the judge insisted.

"Well, suh—de fust two spiled de white folks clothes when they washed 'um; de thud worn't no cook; de fo'th was des nacherally lazy—en' de fif—I'll tell you, Jege—de fif, she—"

"Incompatibility?" the court suggested.

"No, yo' Honor," said the old negro, slowly, "it worn't nothin' lik' dat. Yo' jes' couldn't get along wid her onless yo' wuz somewhars else."

The Kind She Wanted.

Kansas City Star: The much traveled young man had just returned from foreign climes, and, of course, he must entertain his rich old aunt (with whom he was in favor) with stories of the wonderful sights he had seen.

"Yes," he said, in the course of his remarks, "there are some spectacles that can never be forgotten."

"Dear me!" exclaimed the absent-minded old lady; "I do wish you would get me a pair of them, John."

The New English War Song Is Also Irish

London Letter in the New York Herald.

"It is splendid," said King George, "and I will give it to my daughter to play over for me."

It was at the close of a great Red Cross concert in the Albert hall, when Sir Frederick Bridge presented to the king a copy of his song, "Michael O'Leary, V. C.," which had just been sung for the first time in London by Ben Davies, a Welsh tenor, amid tremendous enthusiasm—such a scene, in fact, as those who took part in it declare they never witnessed in the great hall before.

The words of the song were composed by a well known Irish author, John McGrath, complimentary to Lance Corporal Michael O'Leary of the First Irish guards, perhaps the most lionized of all the winners of the Victoria Cross who have come back from the front "on short leave."

The story of the young Irish soldier's bravery already has been fully told; but it may be recalled that it was at Cuinchy on Feb. 1, this year, when forming one of the storming party which advanced against the German barricades, he dashed to the front and, single-handed, killed five Germans who were holding the first barricade, after which he attacked a second barricade about sixty yards further on, which he captured after killing three Germans and making prisoners of two more. He practically had captured the German position by himself, and prevented the rest of the attacking party from being fired upon.

Ben Davies had no sooner sung the song than its success was assured. It is a remarkable coincidence that a year ago the whole British army marched to battle singing the Irish song, "It's a Long Way to Tipperary," the popularity of which has never waned. The recruiting bands of London still play it every day as they march through the streets. Now, a year later, the bands have taken up another new Irish song, "Michael O'Leary," which has been arranged by Percy E. Fletcher as a march, entitled "The V. C. March," with a suggestion of that old inspiring Irish air, "The Minstrel Boy," thrown in.

The song opens with a line from the well known Irish-American poem, "The Fighting Race," and the first verse runs:

Kelly and Burke and Shea,
Flannigan, Doolin and Geary.
Very good men in their day—
But nothing to Michael O'Leary!
There was the black barricade,
Germans all fixed with their rifles,
Shells, and the grim cannonade;
"Tut," says O'Leary, "they're trifles."
There is the barricade grim.
Manned by the truculent German,
What is the business of him,
O'Leary?—to kill all the vermin!
Forward, O'Leary! They're there;
Don't you forget the old sheeling!
Mountains of Cork may be bare,
Nothing but furze and good feeling.
Yet you raise boys that are men
Out on those mountains of heather,
Up from the hill and the glen,
Old Inchageela, they gather.
REFRAIN.
Michael O'Leary! they cry,
Here's to the health of our brother;
Raise his fame up to the sky,
And the fame of his father and mother!

Sir Frederick Bridge, principal organist at Westminster cathedral and composer of oratorios and cantatas, never before wrote a song of this character, but, captivated by the words and inspired by the bravery of the young Irish guardsman, he wrote this.

Mr. Taft's Olive Branch

New York World: The terms of peace which, on behalf of the Republicans, Mr. Taft offers to the Progressives, are unlike the extravagant proposals that emanate from time to time from the European belligerents. As the leader of his party, there can be no question of his authority to speak for it. When he says that reunion is possible only as Progressives become Republicans and abandon the seriocomic program to which they subscribed at Chicago, he emphasizes an obvious fact.

Republicanism has become a fixed belief. It is not the same as the Republicans of Lincoln's day, when it was leavened with Free-Soilism and Democracy, and no amount of Progressive oratory will make it so. It is the party of Hanna, McKinley, Quay and Aldrich. It stands boldly for certain inalienable rights of the favored and powerful, for government in partnership with big business, for just enough concessions to discontent to assure to the dominant class steady incomes, good digestion and restful slumber; but as for social justice and such things, there is no nonsense about it.

While there are no Progressives in the Republican party, there are plenty of good Republicans in the Progressive party, and that is why, if any reunion is to take place, it must be upon the lines laid down by Mr. Taft. The remnant of Progressivism which may not be able to return to the older organization will have to stand alone or make an honest and sensible choice between out-and-out Socialism and out-and-out Democracy. There isn't going to be any Armageddon.

An English View of Mr. Bryan.

Sydney Brooks in the London Mail: I do not wonder at his immense popularity. Put Gladstone's or O'Connell's tongue into the head of the average Sunday school teacher, and you not only get Mr. Bryan, but you get a mixture that always and everywhere appeals to the taste of the masses. Mr. Bryan has stirred up many questions, but he has never yet found the right answer to any of them. He has proved himself an effective voice of protest against social and economic inequalities and injustice. But he has proved himself nothing more. If his intellectual equipment were as great as his sincerity and his sensitiveness he would be a statesman. As it is he has been hampered by a flat inability to rise above the most elementary level of reflection, insight and comprehension. He would have cut a most imposing figure in the French revolution, when rhetoric, shallow metaphysics and a readiness to make a new heaven and a new earth every other week were supposed to qualify a man for the business of government. But in such a land as the United States and at such a time as the present, supreme power is forever barred to him. At the bottom of their minds the American people distrust his capacities.

The Latest Thing in Fools.

Good-by to the fool with the empty gun;
Forgotten his bid for fame.
Though he kills his friend, it only counts one,
And that, nowadays, is tame.

The fool who playfully rocks the boat
Is on the front page no more.
He may rank high with the fools afloat,
But his glory is gone ashore.

There's the fool with women, the fool with wine,
And the fool who games with strangers.
And the joy-ride fool (he does well in his line
By combining these ancient dangers.)

But they're all still down in the primer class,
Mere novices taking a flyer.
Compared with the prize-taking criminal ass,
The fool in the woods with fire.

A few hearts break for the deeds they've done
In their pitiful amateur way.
But fire slays dozens where they slay one,
And scourges a state in a day.

For the ruined home and the smokeless stack
And the worker unemployed
Know a hundred years shall never bring back
The things that his match destroyed.
—E. T. Allen in the Portland Oregonian.

Thanks to Watertown, N. Y.

Editorial in the Saginaw News.

Now that Robert Lansing is one of the leading hitters in the World Diplomatic league there naturally results the controversy as to who discovered the sensational recruit. Some say it was President Wilson of the United States club, while others claim the credit is due Former Manager Bryan. Anyway we know who was primarily the cause of his getting a chance in the majors. It was Watertown in the New York league for it was not long ago that Lansing was among the bushers. The 1910 census gave Watertown a population of 26,750 so it must be in about a Class D circuit.

It all happened like this. Robert had been cutting some figure in amateur circles and the fans demanded he be given a try-out with the Watertown professionals. His friends thought he would be able to hold down the mayor's position capably and he made a game fight for the place, but when the official scorers and statisticians completed their tabulations it was found that a newspaper circulation solicitor had hit over .500 and Lansing had to go back to the sand lots with the consolation that it is always hard for a youngster to make good in his home town.

Soon after a big league scout got a peep at him and saw the makings of a star. He was quickly signed and warmed the bench for a long while, looking after the bats and such things. John Bassett Moore, a veteran, retired early in the season of 1914 and Lansing got his place, being a sort of utility man. At this job he got plenty of opportunities. One of the stars, William Jennings Bryan, who hit the liquor signs nearly every time he came to bat, was often away playing exhibition games with the chautauqua barnstormers. Lansing showed real class in every chance he got and became very popular with the rooters. He got so strong that on a few occasions during the series with the great German club, President Wilson sent him in as a pinch hitter in place of Bryan and each time the recruit came through with a safety.

Pretty soon Bryan disagreed with the judgment used by Wilson against the Tirpitzites. The president was having speedy balls with sharp curves put over the plate, but Bryan argued that they should be lobbed over despite the fact the opposition might hit them a mile. As Wilson was president and he only manager, Bryan decided to withdraw from organized ball. Lansing was immediately put in to fill the vacancy and soon after Wilson told him he would give him a regular berth as long as he was running the club.

Since then Lansing has been burning up the league. He works well with his boss and consequently the German series was put on the right side. He has been holding his own with Britain, keeping down the Austrians and playing good ball against the Mexicans, picking up a number of likely recruits in South America especially for that series.

His great success in the big show has caused the natives of Watertown to look on him in amazement and they are sorry they did not keep him, but the 26,750 fans of the New York town did the other 99,973,250 rooters of the United States a great turn when they let him get away. Lansing is of big league caliber.

The Strap-Hanger Girl

Herbert Kaufman in "Neighbors" (Doran): That's right—dive on through the crowd and get in front or you won't find a seat. It's 6 o'clock and the shops are out. If you wait for the women to get aboard, you'll have to stand up all the way home. There's a vacant place! Shoulder past that girl—you're stronger. You did it! Now, lean back and have a comfortable half-hour with the news.

Why does she moon at you with such tired eyes? It's unfair to make you uncomfortable—mask your face with the paper—she can stand as well as you—better. She's had more practice—that's all she has done all day long. So a little while longer won't make much difference to her. If women will insist on going home just at the time men leave their offices, they mustn't be querulous if they find the cars crowded.

The old ideas about courtesy and chivalry are getting to be moss-grown poppycock. They were well enough in the romantic age, but this is the business epoch.

Meanwhile Maggie hangs onto the strap and wearily shifts her weight from one tired foot to the other. She doesn't resent your boorishness—she's growing used to it—lots of ideals get nicked when women go to work.

She left home yesterday morning, three hours earlier than your wife arose. It was dark in the room when her 99-cent alarm clock tattooed her out of bed.

She had to light the gas to find her clothes—the water in the pitcher wore a skim of ice—(they don't build stationary wash basins with hot and cold water faucets in three-dollar-a-week "boudoirs").

All day long (and all days are long in the shops) she was standing, stretching, bending, smiling—please don't forget the smile—perhaps you noticed it the last time you came to her counter. You smiled, too. Hers, however, was a different sort—it's one of the requirements—Rule 27—"Be cheerful."

Yours was more of a social grin—a knowing, engaging, subtle, inviting affair. Oh, "they can't tell you anything about these shop-girls."

But it may be worth while to learn something about them. And when you do, chances are that you won't smile in quite the same way.

John Sobieski, American.

Chicago Tribune: Regardless of whether or not by his becoming an American citizen John Sobieski bettered his personal state, the fact remains that that picturesque American, at the age of 73, stands as a striking embodiment of loyalty to ideals which need profound emphasis in these troublous times. The European that leaves the land of his birth and becomes an American citizen has taken one of the most solemn steps of his life. As an individual he has shared in that great political forward movement which was formally instituted by this nation's forefathers 139 years ago with blood and travail of soul. For political principle they gave up an old loyalty for a new, and so should every adopted American who makes bold to share in the heritage which they bequeathed.

The fiery Pole with royal blood in his veins has undergone an inner transformation, a political conversion, which makes royalty and title as nothing compared with the principles of freedom for which he fought here in the '60s. Those Americans from other shores who have sincerely sworn allegiance to the United States do not forget that oath in these trying days, when sympathy and love for the old land are deeply stirred. Various as have been the achievements, and as great as is the debt of the United States to European countries, the government and principles of this nation take precedence over them all, in the hearts of its citizens, else their loyalty is a mockery and an iniquitous deception.

Reassuring Mother.

Youth's Companion: Edmund had just begun to attend the public school, and had found a new friend, a child of whom Edmund's mother had never heard.

"Who is this Walter?" she asked. "Is he a nice little boy?"

"Yes, ma'am, he is!" replied Edmund, enthusiastically.

"Does he say any naughty words?" pursued his mother.

"No," replied Edmund, with emphasis, "and I'm not going to teach him any!"

Correct Again.

Life: Teacher—What zone is this in which we live?

Johnny—Temperate.

Teacher—Correct. Now, what is meant by a "temperate zone?"

Johnny—It's a place where it's freezin' cold in winter an' red hot in summer.

We don't know the difference but have had some experience with the I. O. U. which we would be glad to explain if it will help you any.

Who'll Bell the Cat?

Wabasha Herald: The Duluth Herald says that there are several things wrong with Carranza besides his whiskers. They, together with his aspirations, ought to be plucked.

Shouldn't, But Was.

Red Lake Falls Gazette: "Gen. Wood's trouble regarding T. R. seems to have been that he didn't know he was loaded," says The Duluth Herald. But it shouldn't have been necessary to tell Gen. Wood that.

Even the Wild Things Know Duluth Is the Place to Come.

Stillwater Gazette: At Duluth it is necessary to drive the wolf from the door, as three cases have been reported where wolves called, without invitation, and were driven away. Duluth is a growing city all right, but there is no room for wolves.

Duluth's Way Is at Least Harmless.

Wabasha Herald: Minneapolis has a county option committee, St. Paul a vigilance committee and Duluth a proposed candidate for governor. The "big towns" do manage to keep in the limelight.

North Dakota Notions

Various Views Expressed by Newspapers of That State.

Why Not Make a Conundrum of It?

Valley City Times-Record: When money makes the man he is a poor specimen, but when man makes the money he is a rip-snorter.

Their Qualification.

Devils Lake Journal: Four Ohioans are unannounced but none the less real candidates for the Republican presidential nomination. As usual they are running principally on the fact that they are residents of Ohio. Nobody knows whether they are for anything except whatever the Republican platform makers decide shall be the issues.

Could Hardly Do Better, Could They?

Cooperstown Sentinel-Courier: North Dakota Democrats are appealing to the Progressives of the state to aid in the re-election of Woodrow Wilson. The Progressives might do much worse.

As to the Foreign Loan.

Grand Forks Herald: Under the circumstances it is legitimate, and wise, and proper from every standpoint that efforts should be made to arrange for the desired line of credit on a safe and sound basis in order that we may not lose customers for the goods that we need to sell and that millions of people may not be deprived of the goods which they need to buy.

What About the Women? They Should Vote, Too!

Devils Lake Journal: By all means let us have a referendum before war is wished on the public, and let the vote be cast with the understanding that no one will vote for war unless he is ready to enlist.

But Think How Pleased They Are.

Minot Optic-Reporter: A good many self-made men are the only ones who are pleased with the job.

A Tip to South Dakota.

Bismarck Tribune: South Dakota believes in tackling a problem at the source of the evil. It has been discovered that there are two unmarried men in the state to every unmarried woman. State statisticians are inclined to blame this condition largely for the decrease in population during the last five years.

Whether South Dakota girls have been so popular with non-residents as to disturb the proper ratio no one seems to know. Surely the state administration can evolve a plan to equalize matters. There are states in the Union where conditions are just the reverse.

If South Dakota properly advertises her predicament, together with her crop yields and other resources, the next five years should show an increase in the population.

Old Friend Heard From.

Litchville Bulletin: We are in receipt of a copy of the Mayville Tribune, which is now edited by E. D. Lum, formerly of this city. It's brim full of live news and editorial comment and makes a welcome addition to our exchange department. Success and good luck to you, Brother Lum.

High Summer.

Pinks and syringa in the garden closes,
And the sweet privet hedge and golden roses,
The pines hot in the sun, the drone of the bee,
They die in Flanders to keep these for me.

The long sunny days and the still weather,
The cuckoo and blackbird shouting together,
The lambs calling their mothers out on the lea,
They die in Flanders to keep these for me.

All doors and windows open; the south wind blowing
Warm through the clean sweet rooms on tiptoe going,
Where many sanctities, dear and delightsome, be,
They die in Flanders to keep these for me.

Daisies leaping in foam on the green grasses,
The dappled sky and the stream that sings as it passes;
These are bought with a price, a bitter fee,
They die in Flanders to keep these for me.
—Katharine Tynan in the New Witness (London).

Where Psyche Was Executed.

New York Times: A New York man was recently acting as guide through an art gallery for a friend from the country. As they paused before a statuette, the guide said:

"That is Psyche. Executed in terra cotta."

"What a pity!" said the rural one. "How barbarous they are in those South American countries!"

Twenty Years Ago

From The Herald of this date, 1895.

Advocates of the building of an independent water plant flocked to the United States hall last night to hear Henry Truelsen and S. D. Allen speak on that side of the question. W. W. Allen was made chairman. Others on the platform were Gust Bergquist, T. T. Hudson, Frank London, L. A. Erlenson, John Beckman, John Peterson, Harry Forman, Charles S. Pierce and S. H. Eckman.

The board of trade has completed its list of delegates to the waterways convention at Cleveland, and the delegation now stands as follows: Ex-Governor A. H. Burke, chairman; Capt. A. B. Wolvin, Ward Ames, George Spencer and Secretary Frank E. Wyman.

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today, 64; maximum yesterday, 64; minimum yesterday, 53.

State Labor Commissioner Powers, accompanied by United States Labor Commissioner Carroll D. Wright, will arrive in the city tomorrow. Their reception has been delegated to the Trades assembly, and a committee consisting of Messrs. McCallum, McDowell and Twomey will meet the visitors and escort them to the range.

Fred Wightman and R. N. Wood, doing business at 119 West Michigan street, gave notice that they have sold their interests to the Elroy Produce company, incorporated.

Rev. F. H. Roberts and wife, parents of Mrs. J. J. LeTourneau, arrived yesterday from Vermont for a few weeks' visit.

Miss Nettie Conklin of Fond du Lac, Wis., is in Duluth on a visit to Mrs. Charles A. Stark.

The Athene Chautauqua Literary and Scientific circle met last night at the First Methodist church and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Watson Moore; vice president, R. R. Briggs; secretary and treasurer, Lillian A. Miller.

Editor Joseph A. Wheelock of the St. Paul Pioneer Press will leave soon on a six months' visit to Europe.

Judge Humphrey, a prominent jurist and ex-congressman of Hudson, Wis., and wife are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Olund at West Duluth.

The Ironton Structural Steel company has shipped two 18-inch beams twenty-eight feet in length to West Superior, where they will be used in the erection of a building.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinlus, the Sunshine Man.

"Yet many years didst Thou forbear them, and testified against them by Thy Spirit."—Neh. ix. 30.

Spirit of Christ, teach me the prophecy of glory that lies in my own unrest. When I am appalled by the impurities of my past life, tell me that the eye which reads the impurity has received its light from Thee. When I stand afar off and beat upon my breast and say, "Unclean, unclean!" tell me that this is the time in which I go down to my house justified. Thou never lovest me more than when Thou chidest. Thou never holdest me dearer than when Thou chastisest. When Thou testifiest against me, I know that Thou art bearing with me.—"Day Unto Day."

Behold, the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world!—1:29.
Behold him now where he comes,
Not the Christ of our subtle creeds,
But the Lord of our hearts, of our homes,
Of our hopes, our prayers, our needs.
—Richard Watson Gilder.

Dayton, Ohio.

What He Might Have Been.

Emporia Gazette: "When Elihu Root, standpat servant of the Republican leaders, pupil of Boss Tweed in his early manhood, 'little brother of the rich' all his life, rises in the New York constitutional convention and declares that for forty years New York hasn't had representative government, and fights for the short ballot and warns the New York leaders against the sullen resentment of a people that have suffered from misrule for forty years—when Mr. Root does this in the seventy-first year of his life, having served unrepresentative and merciless misgovernment all his days, he proves that a man can come back," asserts Henry Allen in the Wichita Beacon. "He proves that the strongest thing in a human heart, after all, is the love of righteousness, and that however that may be warped, however departed from, however stunted, there will come a day toward the sunset of life when the things that are non-essential are pushed back to their unimportant place and things that are essential come forward and take control of a man's motive and for the moment when they operate, at least, regenerate his life. Elihu Root pleading for the short ballot, pleading for primary government, pleading for a chance in which the people might have a voice, is merely a fleeting glimpse of the Elihu Root we might have had throughout the past forty years if in his early days he had not been captured and turned athwart by the undemocratic influences that seized upon his activities."

As to Cages for Stenographers.

Brooklyn Eagle: We don't know that women would not make good voters and good legislators, but if they win such recognition we trust that Mrs. Charlotte Smith will fail to get into the Massachusetts general assembly as a representative of the sex. Here is a gem of stateswomanship from the distinguished president of the Women's Homestead association:

> I would have a law passed that no man can have a female stenographer in his office, without a wire cage surrounding her.

Most of the stenographers, wild or tame, that we have met, would sweep a wire cage away with one hot blast of indignation. The wire would melt. The employer might get badly burned. Wire cages would be as popular with girl stenographers as the cooler is with Warden Osborne's charges. The girl stenographers realize no need of protection. They are not, most of them, neurotic women who imagine that men are pursuing their innocence and beauty with subtle and persistent machinations.

Women in business must be human beings. Accuracy, faithfulness, good humor, and unvarying self-respect compel the respect of any employer. Mrs. Charlotte Smith's proposed law is a worse affront to business women than most of them ever experienced from a man. Cages are for birds and untamable animals, and convicts and bank cashiers. Common sense is not wholly to be ignored in the suggestion of new legislation.

Things That Are No More.

Portland Press: Speaking of school beginning Monday, where are the old-fashioned boys:—

Who used to climb in through the window at 7 o'clock in the morning in order to preempt the back seats.

Who used to line up in front of the entryway to size up the new teacher and determine how many it would take to lick him.

Who used to sprinkle cayenne pepper around in the aisles in order to start an epidemic of sneezing and distract attention from lessons.

Who used to plan on throwing the teacher out of the window the second or third week of the term.

Who sometimes miscued and got thrown out themselves.

Who used to plan on stuffing the stove funnel full of paper at least once a term in order to smoke the school out.

And who went to school for anything but to do some studying.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

THE AMERICAN SYSTEM OF NATIONAL DEFENSE

To the Editor of The Herald:

The American policy of national defense having proved a success whenever it has been tried, why should we abandon it to adopt the Old World method of national defense which is invariably a failure and has now completely collapsed?

Look at the conspicuous example of the Alabama dispute. Privateers were fitted out in England for Confederate purposes, contrary to international law and treaty provisions. The British government obligingly shut its eyes.

Why? British sentiment was with the South. High minded men like Gladstone believed the South should not be coerced into staying in the Union; British capitalists had invested a billion in Confederate bonds and sympathy follows the funds; Manchester was starving on account of our blockade against cotton.

The best we could get from Great Britain during the war was a promise to try not to let it happen again. There were those who then thought we should make war on England. But Lincoln took a tone of patient remonstrance that would disgust Theodore into epithets if it was done now.

After the war we presented our claims, called the Alabama claims, and England turned them down cold. Lose all that money in the war, lose all that trade and manufacture during the war and then pay a bill for damages besides! Preposterous.

We endured the affront. Grant, after Lincoln, put up with it in the same unclamorous way. Somehow nobody has called Grant a coward, notwithstanding his patience.

After a while the British administration changed—it happens it looked squally in Europe at that time and England wanted friends — whereupon the new man intimated that the claims might be entertained. The difference was submitted to arbitration and disposed of in the American way of peaceful negotiation.

It was a severe test. England was irritated, the United States exasperated. The United States, fighting for its existence, was being knifed in the back by a friendly power. And we stood for it. When peace returned we submitted our grievance and were affronted. And we stood for that.

We waited for the time when England wanted friends and took advantage of that time to write a new clause into international law. What we gained in that episode was not merely $15,000,000—that would not be worth quibbling over. We gained the greater respect of Europe, the better friendship of England, and we gained the reward of the meek.

If Grant could afford to take that course, some of us who are less famous fighters can afford to follow his successful policy of maintaining and defending our rights.

THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER.

THE CURSE OF GOLD.

To the Editor of The Herald:

"What becomes of the balance of trade?" asked a man in the audience.

"It is paid in gold, sir," replied Maj. McKinley in ringing tones. "In pure gold."

Maj. McKinley undoubtedly believed what he said for he was incapable of telling what he knew to be untrue. Nevertheless all those years we were not only exporting more than we imported of goods but we were exporting gold also. The protective theory was that it should be paid in gold and then we should all be rich.

Until now it never did come true. But during the war we have attained the paradise of the protectionist—nothing but goods going out, nothing but money coming in.

And now we have reached this paradise we don't like it. We complain that with reduced imports the public revenue is reduced. We blame the ridiculous Democrats for not preventing this shrinkage in revenues.

Still more surprising we find that gold is not clear profit, that there is as much profit in trading both ways as one way. We find that this burden of gold is more a menace than a help to our trade. We find that everything the protectionists told us is as shimmery a dream as was that naive statement of McKinley's about the payment of the balance of trade in gold.

The war in its effect on trade is the protectionist's paradise. The quicker we get back to earth, the happier for all of us. IGNORAMUS.

MRS. BRADLEY REFUSED TO LEAVE DULUTH

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have read your tribute to my aunt, Mrs. Maria Bradley, and wish to thank you for its gracious note.

Will you, however, be kind enough to make a little statement to the effect that Mrs. Bradley was not neglected by her family. Her loyalty to Duluth made it impossible for her to live elsewhere; so, for nearly fifteen years, I have sent money to her to meet her needs, amounting in all to more than $5,000. As the contribution of this money has not always been easy for me, it seems a bit cruel that those who know me in Duluth should be led to believe that I would neglect a relative of such advanced age, and one who could not possibly provide for her own livelihood.

Upon receipt of the news of Mrs. Bradley's death, I dispatched her funeral expenses. It is kind and gracious of her old friends to offer their help, and I thank them for it. Very sincerely yours.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This department does not pretend to be infallible. It will endeavor, however, to answer questions sent to it by readers of The Herald to the best of its ability, reserving the right to ignore all that are trifling or of concern only to the questioner, or that ask for advice on legal or medical questions.

To receive attention, every inquiry must bear the name and address of the person sending it. This is not wanted for publication, but as an evidence of good faith.

David J. Gravelle.—Would you kindly answer the following questions in your Open Court? How much does an alien have to pay for a hunting license for small game in Minnesota? Does a minor need a license to hunt small game in Minnesota?

Ans.—If you are a resident of Minnesota the license will cost you $1. There is nothing in the law compelling a minor to have a license.

Ashland Team Strong.

Ashland, Wis., Sept. 20.—Forty men out for the football squad was the record at the high school athletic field. This is the largest squad that has been out for years. Four teams were organized, and the squad was so large that Coach Chase had to call out Manager Hill as an assistant coach. Though yet early in the season, the material is rounding well into condition. Brensiki, of basket ball fame, promises to be one of the crack men of the team, even though this is his first year out. Anderson and Thew are showing their old form in the backfield, and Smith is falling into the position of quarterback admirably. Manager Hill asserts that this year's team will be the heaviest and strongest in recent years. The first game will be played with Washburn Oct. 2 at Washburn.

JUST SAY SIMS

YOU have often heard of Sims—the new breakfast food made of selected Northern wheat and roasted barley malt. But have you tasted it yourself?

¶The roasted barley malt which shows in little brown particles in the food gives Sims a new satisfying flavor which no one can forget.

Sims is the concentrated essence of the two richest cereals—wheat and barley. It is manufactured in a new sanitary factory and is not touched by human hands. Sims comes in paraffine covered, air-tight, waterproof packages.

Until you have tasted Sims yourself you are not a judge of breakfast foods. Why not ask your grocer to send you a package today?

Sims may be prepared in a great many new delicious ways. Just try some of these and surprise your family.

RECIPES

SIMS FOR BREAKFAST

To 5 cups of boiling water add 1 cup of Sims and ¼ teaspoon salt, stirred in slowly. Boil 10 to 20 minutes, preferably in double boiler. Serve hot with sugar and cream.

SIMS WITH RAISINS OR OTHER FRUIT

Prepare Sims as directed for "Breakfast Food". After five minutes, or when mush is well thickened, stir in a cup of seeded raisins. Serve as breakfast food, or with cream for dessert or luncheon. This preparation may be moulded in cups and served as a delicious cold dessert with cream, plain or whipped or with fruit sauce.

SIMS INDIAN PUDDING

Beat 2 eggs with 2 tablespoons molasses, 4 teaspoons sugar, 1 teaspoon ginger, 1 of cinnamon and ½ teaspoon salt. Into 1 quart of hot milk stir ½ cup of Sims and let it come to a boil, stirring constantly. Add this to the egg mixture, stir and turn into a buttered pudding dish, add 1 cup of raisins, if desired. Bake for half-hour and serve with cream, sweetened with brown or maple sugar and slightly flavored with vanilla.

SIMS NUT BREAD

Mix thoroughly ⅔ cup of Sims, ¼ cup of white flour sifted with 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup of sugar and ½ cup broken or sliced nut meats. Beat an egg and to it add ½ cup of milk. Add milk and egg to dry mixture, then beat in ½ tablespoon of melted butter. Beat well and pour into a buttered bread tin; allow to stand 10 or 15 minutes and bake until done (40 or 50 minutes) in a moderate oven.

LARGE CROWD SEES DISPLAY

More Than 500 Attend Harvest Festival in Woodland District.

Many Fine Exhibits of Fruits and Vegetables Shown.

Visited by more than 500 persons, the Harvest Home festival of the Woodland Neighborhood club Saturday evening at the E. R. Cobb school marked the close of a most succesful season for the homecrofters of Woodland and Hunter's Park. The agricultural and poultry exhibit, staged under the auspices of the club, was one of the features of the festival. Another was a supper—one cooked from Woodland grown garden products—which was served to more than 200 persons during the evening.

The basement of the Cobb school, which was used for the exhibition, was suitably decorated with ferns, tiger lilies, gladioluses and other home-grown flowers. After the supper and exhibition the younger people danced in the school assembly hall. The program for the festival was carried out under the direction of C. Francis Colman, H. H. Brown and C. E. Roe. No prizes were put up, but many of the homecrofters sold their garden truck to visitors.

Carrots, turnips and radishes and many other vegetables raised on seed imported from England were shown by William C. Atherton, proprietor of Ye English inn. The St. James orphanage also displayed a fine exhibit and much of the produce was sold at fancy prices. Mr. Roe, chairman of the exhibit committee, who is proprietor of the Greysolon nurseries, with Louis Christenson and Peter Larson, also of the Greysolon farms, contributed expensive exhibits. Mr. Roe demonstrated what could be done in the line of raising corn despite the cold, unfavorable weather.

Another interesting exhibit was that shown by Mrs. E. H. Caulkins, who displayed a variety of canned goods, garden truck and flowers, and a fine display of growing raspberry bushes. Some fine home-grown apples were shown by Mrs. C. R. Stai and Mrs. F. Schubisky. Celery from Mr. Colman's place was also shown.

The Woodland Neighborhood club, which had charge of the affair, was largely responsible for its success. The organization is now one of the livest sectional clubs of the city and has done much to further the community spirit at Woodland during the last few years.

Stock Wisconsin Streams.

Bayfield, Wis., Sept. 20.—The Badger fish car No. 2 left Bayfield yesterday with a consignment of Rainbow trout fingerlings for lakes on points south on the Soo line. The fish will be planted at once in streams and lakes near Mellin, Marengo, Glidden and Butternut.

Missoula, Mont., Sept. 20.—Alex Dumba, brother of the Austrian ambassador at Washington, is a section hand at St. Regis, Mont., for the Northern Pacific. Alex said he was denied the advantages and education his famous brother received. Alex was angered when he learned of Ambassador Dumba's recent trouble.

More Land for Settlers.

Couderay, Wis., Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Upper Wisconsin Land company of Ladysmith, has purchased 10,000 acres of cutover hardwood lands from the Arpin Hardwood Lumber company of Grand Rapids, Wis., for colonization purposes. This tract of land is west and south of here and includes the town sites of Yarnell and Lemington in this township and Weirgor in township of Weirgor. This same firm purchased 10,000 acres in township of Weirgor two years ago.

Wrestling Boxing

MANY BOXERS TO INVADE DULUTH DURING WEEK

O'Dowd, Whalen and Monahan Due Here—Billings, Dalton and Gardner Hard at Work—It Looks as If Boston and Philadelphia Will Compete for World's Title—Duluth Edisons Make Splendid Record.

BY BRUCE.

ALL the boxers that will figure in the coming show of the Duluth club are expected to be in the city tomorrow. Dalton, Billings and Gardner have been working in Duluth for nearly a week. O'Dowd, Whalen and Monahan are expected here early this week.

As has been stated several times, O'Dowd is doing his conditioning work at the Gibbons gymnasium in St Paul. Mike has plenty of boxing material to work on in the Apostle City and should be in great shape when he reaches the Head of the Lakes.

Like O'Dowd, Whalen is working at the Gibbons boys' muscle haberdashery. Whalen worked with Kid Williams while the little Baltimore Dane was preparing for his boxing contest with Ertle and was in corking good shape before he started preparing for his bout with Dalton.

"Wop" Dalton looks and acts like a boxer ready now to box. The diminutive Italian will work today at Professor Kane's place and will finish off his work with a hard workout tomorrow. The little dark-skinned son of sunny Italy will taper off Wednesday.

Gardner is working in the Moose hall, while Billings has been alternating between Superior and Duluth. In the matter of condition it looks as if there will be little to choose between the two boys.

Friends of Billings have made overtures of friendly warning to that young man in the shape of advising him to keep a wary watch of the right hand of Gardner. This diplomatic note is supplemented by a statement upon the part of Gardner's friends, which runs to the effect that Stephen also possesses an effective left.

John Reddy, pilot of Mike O'Dowd, argues that his man will lick Monahan. O'Dowd had the better of the bout at Hudson with Monahan, when the boys appeared on the card of the Gibbons-McGoorty setto, and John figures that Mike has improved considerably more since that evening that Monahan has.

The Same Old Trip.

EASTERN fans, hark ye, come hither—it looks like world's series bugs will take the same old trip this year, stop at the same old places—but cheer for two different teams.

Last season it was Philadelphia and Boston in the mad gallop for the world's highest baseball honors and the great divide, meaning, of course, the well known mazuma.

This season it appears—though baseball be uncertain—that Philadelphia and Boston will again be the hero and hissing villain in the great baseball drama—but a different Boston and Philadelphia.

It was the Boston Braves last year, as some of your 4-to-1 losers jolly well recall. Also it was the Philadelphia Athletics last season, as some of you heavy winners gleefully recollect. Well this season the same old cities look like repeaters, with two different teams.

All this should make some of the other municipal centers of the country rejoice exceedingly—not. Earlier in the season there were a number of Duluthians who made early plans for a later start for Chicago, in the firm belief that the White Sox would be one of the teams to compete for the universal title.

Others have completed plans and packed a preliminary portmanteau with its terminus marked Detroit. Some of these Western adherents are still fondling the Detroit idea. But as tempus fugits the idea of Detroit lacks symmetrical proportions, as well as fullness and strength.

It looks at this stage like Boston and Philadelphia again, with Old Man Mack and George Stallings paying their way into the game. If the Boston Red Sox and the Phillies do clash this year in the fall baseball roundup, comparatively new baseball pilots will bask in the glow of national attention.

Pat Moran, a warmup catcher, and Bill Carrigan, another catcher, have achieved great records during the present season, even though they are nipped at the wire.

Moran, should the Phillies win, will have achieved what has been considered in the past in the line of the impossible. If Grover Alexander and his assistants cop the bunting in Quakertown, they will have won the first pennant in the history of the National league club of that city.

Red Dooin, much better known than Moran, failed to make the sparkling record that Moran has achieved with the Phillies. Jake Stahl was the last pilot to cop with the Red Sox. Jake was well known in the baseball hall of fame; much better known than Carrigan, who stepped into the baseball breach when Boston owners became embroiled in a grievous misunderstanding with the temperamental Jake.

The Crack Edisons.

YESTERDAY'S defeat of the champion Parkers of the combined amateur baseball leagues of St. Paul by the Duluth Edisons, marks the greatest achievement ever performed by a Duluth amateur team.

Few of the followers of the electric team gave them a serious chance against the invaders. It was believed that a faster grade of baseball was played down below and that the Parkers would gallop gayly away with the game.

It was the somewhat ancient story of the prophet being accorded a severe slap on the wrist by his home folks. Now Duluth gets the opportunity to trek down to Omaha and play another round in the world's amateur championship.

Ed Norsted is deserving of a lot of credit along with the splendid work accomplished by his team. Edward has selected a real team and displayed real talent in running it.

CARTRIDGES

For Rifles, Revolvers or Pistols

The most accurate shooting rifle, revolver or pistol made will do unsatisfactory work unless the cartridges used in it are as accurate as the arm. For that reason it is important when buying to get cartridges that have an established reputation for quality. Winchester—the W brand of cartridges in all calibers from .22 to .50 are unexcelled for accuracy, penetration and uniform shooting qualities. They cost no more than inferior makes and are for sale everywhere. If you want to get the most satisfactory results with your rifle, revolver or pistol, always use Winchester ammunition. Do not simply ask for "some cartridges" when you buy, but be sure to specify Winchester make and look for the bold W on the box.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Two Good Games.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 20.—After Alexander had won his twenty-ninth game by defeating St. Louis, 6 to 2, in the first game of a doubleheader here yesterday, Ames pitched his teammates to a 1-to-0 victory over Philadelphia, allowing them but one hit in ten innings.

In the first game, the locals gained but four hits off Alexander. Of these, one in the fourth and two in the eighth combined with infield errors, gave the locals their two runs. Ames' game was almost perfect. The lone hit off him was a pop single to center by Whitted in the eighth. Only thirty-one men faced him and but three reached first base, not one getting to second. Chalmers lost his own game when, with one out in the tenth, Huggins singled and went to third on a wild pitch. Bescher's single to right scored him with the winning run. Scores:

First game—								R.	H.	E.
Philadelphia	0	0	0	3	3	0	0	0	6	8	3
St. Louis	0	0	0	1	0	0	1	0	2	4	1

Batteries—Alexander and Burns; Robinson and Snyder.

Second game—										R.	H.	E.
St. Louis	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	1	7	0

Batteries—Chalmers and Burns; Ames and Snyder.

Braves Beat Reds.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 20.—Boston won the first game of the series from Cincinnati here yesterday, 3 to 2. It was a pitcher's battle, Rudolph and Schneider both working well, the former, however, having a shade the better of it. In the fifth inning, Rudolph hit Clarke, who later scored on Maranville's error, and Schneider's single. A baso on balls and two singles in the sixth netted Boston two runs. Mollwitz made a home run in the eighth, tieing the score. Gowdy singled in the ninth and Fitzpatrick ran for him. An out and Moran's double scored the winning run. Score:

										R.	H.	E.
Cincinnati	0	0	0	0	1	0	0	1	0	2	6	1

Batteries — Rudolph and Gowdy, Whaling, Schneider and Clarke.

Grab Game at End.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—Bert Humphreys was hit hard yesterday and New York beat Chicago in the first game of their farewell series here, 7 to 1. Humphreys worked in fine form, until the eighth, when the visitors stepped out and won the game by hitting him hard. Robertson led the attack for the visitors, having a perfect score of four hits in as many times up. One of his hits was a homer. Score:

										R.	H.	E.
Chicago	0	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	1	4	2

Batteries — Stroud, Benton and Schang; Humphreys and Archer.

AMERICAN ASS'N.

Post-Season Series.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 20.—The champion Minneapolis team finished the season yesterday by dividing a double-header with Cleveland, the home team losing the first, 4 to 1, and winning the second, 8 to 3. The pennant winners will open a post-season series against the St. Paul club in Minneapolis next Friday. Scores:

First game—										R.	H.	E.
Minneapolis	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	—	1	5	1

Batteries—James and Blackwell; Hopper and Sullivan.

Second game—										R.	H.	E.
Cleveland	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	3	0	3	6	1
Minneapolis	0	0	0	1	3	0	0	4	x	8	13	2

Batteries—Valden and Devogt; Bentley and Gharrity.

Recruits Are Puzzles.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 20.—Recruit pitchers worked by Milwaukee baffled Louisville in the final games of the season here yesterday. Milwaukee won the first game, 2 to 1, Miller's fumble letting in the winning run, and tied the second, 1 to 1. Scores:

First game—										R.	H.	E.
Louisville	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	5	3

Batteries—Rhoades and Brannon; Northrop and Crossin.

Second game—										R.	H.	E.
Milwaukee	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	—		1	6	2
Louisville	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	—	1	7	1

Batteries—Faeth and Brannon; Danforth and Crossin.

Senators Beat Kaws.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 20.—Columbus closed the season with a 7-to-4 victory over Kansas City yesterday in seven innings, the game being called on account of darkness. A bunch of five singles in the fifth inning destroyed the early lead which the visitors had obtained by hitting O'Toole hard and Steil's errors in the third. Score:

									R.	H.	E.
Columbus	0	0	0	1	4	0	2	—	7	10	3
Kansas City	2	0	2	0	0	0	0	—	4	7	1

Batteries — O'Toole and Coleman; Pennybaker, Saunders and Gelbel.

St. Paul Takes Two.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 20.—St. Paul closed the local baseball season yesterday by taking both ends of a doubleheader, winning, 3 to 2, in a pitchers' battle in the first game, and 5 to 3, in seven innings, in the second, which was called on account of the state law. Scores:

First game—									R.	H.	E.
Indianapolis	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	—2	7	4
St. Paul	2	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	—3	2	1

Batteries — Aldredge and Gossett; Leifield and Marshall.

Second game—									R.	H.	E.
Indianapolis	0	2	0	0	0	0	1	—	3	3	3
St. Paul	0	3	0	0	2	0	0	—	5	8	2

Batteries—Dawson and Blackburn; Steele and Marshall.

FEDERAL LEAGUE

Whales Take Two Games.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—Chicago's timely batting won two games from Buffalo here yesterday, the first, 3 to 1, and the second, 3 to 0. Good support behind Brown won the first. McConnell's pitching was the strong feature of the second, the visitors making but four hits off him. Scores:

First game—									R.	H.	E.
Buffalo	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	—1	9	0
Chicago	1	0	1	0	1	0	0	x	—3	8	1

Batteries—Anderson, Schulz and Blair, Allen; Brown and Wilson.

Second game—										R.	H.	E.
Chicago	0	0	0	0	0	3	0	0	x	—3	8	0

Batteries—Schulz and Allen; McConnell and Wilson.

Goes Twelve Innings.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 20.—A series of singles, together with St. Louis' errors, gave Baltimore the first game of a double-header with St. Louis here yesterday, 12 to 9. The visitors won in the twelfth inning after almost three and one-half hours play. The second game was called during the third inning on account of darkness, neither side having scored. Score:

											R.	H.	E.
Baltim're	0	1	0	3	0	1	2	0	2	0	3	—12	20	3
St. Louis	0	4	0	0	2	3	0	0	0	0	0	— 9	14	5

Batteries—Johnson, Young, Conley, Le Clair and Owens, Russell; Davenport, Crandall, Plank and Chapman.

Newark Takes Both.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 20.—Newark won the two final games of the series from Kansas City yesterday, the first, 4 to 0, and the second, 6 to 4. The first was a victory for Kaiserling, who allowed the locals but two hits and no bases on balls. The second game was a hard hitting contest. Scores:

First game—										R.	H.	E.
Kansas City	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	2	3

Batteries—Moran, Moseley and Huhn; Packard and Brown.

Motorcycle Record.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 20.—Martin Graves of Denver won a 100-mile motorcycle race on a one-mile dirt track at the state fair grounds here yesterday, setting what is claimed to be a world's record for the distance. His time was 1 hour 24 minutes and 41 seconds.

Seattle Wins Pennant.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 20.—The Northwestern league closed its season yesterday, Seattle winning the pennant.

DULUTH EDISONS WIN FROM FAST PARKER TEAM

First Round in National Baseball Series Captured By Locals, 2 to 0.

Older Pitches Effective Game and Is Accorded Brilliant Support.

Surprising even their followers by fast and snappy playing, the crack Duluth-Edison baseball team yesterday defeated the strong Parker-Rexalls of St. Paul in the national amateur championship series by the score of 2 to 0.

Bob Alder was on the mound for the electric team and was opposed by Holmgren, the star twirler of the visiting aggregation. Alder had the better of the hill duel, allowing but four bingles against the seven collected by the home bludgeon wielders.

Besides allowing fewer hits Alder was also accorded almost perfect support. The fielding of his mates bordered on the sensational at times. Young Iver Anderson behind the bat, as well as Martin Hilber at short and Arnie Olson at third pulled some real big league plays.

Duluth counted in its first score in the initial round. Arnie Olson walked, pilfered his way to second and came all the way home when the visiting second baseman and shortstop got mixed on who was to take the throw. Martin Hilber singled after two were gone in the fifth. Andy Anderson cracked one down the right field foul line, sending Hilber over with the second and final run of the game.

It looked like the Rexalls would tie up the count in the sixth round. The work of Catcher Anderson probably saved the day for Duluth.

Outfielder Anderson of the visitors singled with one down in this frame. Gray hit an infield offering that should have retired Anderson at second, but Schaeffer dropped an easy throw from Hilber. Lundeen beat out an infield hit and the bases were loaded. Ivor Anderson made a beautiful throw to third, catching St. Paul Anderson off the bag. Holmgren walked and would have forced in a run, but for Anderson's remarkable throw. McMahon offered an easy infield hit, retiring the side.

By winning the early round in the amateur national championship play Duluth gets the sought for opportunity of playing Omaha in the next round. The game is to be played next Sunday in the packing city. Manager Norsted will keep his boys in training during the early part of the present week, the members of the team planning to leave here Wednesday evening or early Thursday for Omaha.

TENTATIVE DATES FOR WORLD'S SERIES.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 20.—August Herrmann, chairman of the national baseball commission, in a statement issued last night, said that the world's series would probably start on Saturday, Oct. 9. Mr. Herrmann said that the championship season in the East does not close until Oct. 7 and it is the custom to give the contending teams a day to get ready for the big event.

BRITISH SPORTSMAN KILLED AT DARDANELLES

New York, Sept. 20.—News of the death of Brig.-Gen. P. A. Kenna of the British army, in an assault on the Turkish defenses at the Dardanelles, was received here yesterday in a cable message from Lord Decies in London, to the secretary of the National Horse Show association.

Gen. Kenna was one of the best known officers of the British army owing to his interest in sports and his prominence in horse racing, horse shows, polo and fox hunting. He came to New York with Lord Decies to compete in the national horse show

By Your Lathe

You need skill of hand, a keen eye and steady nerves, and when you get a crackerjack chew or smoke you know how it helps all three. Nothing like tucking good old PEERLESS into your pipe, or taking a man's size chew, to hold you steady and put gimp into the job.

PEERLESS

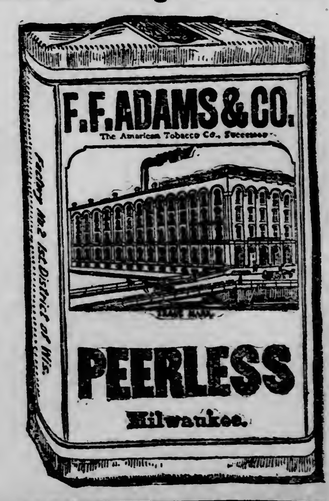

Long Cut Tobacco

is a substantial, satisfying, rich tobacco—made for real men who like the honest taste of real tobacco.

Manly men cannot get satisfaction out of insipid mixtures, any more than they can make a meal off of marshmallows. You go to PEERLESS to satisfy your tobacco hunger, just as you go to a beef-steak to satisfy stomach hunger.

We make PEERLESS out of pure Southern Kentucky leaf. We age it three to five years—so as to make it rich, ripe and mellow—naturally sweet, juicy and pleasing. It's got the snap and taste to it.

For over fifty years the big, two-fisted men that have "built the country" have used PEERLESS, because it is the one tobacco that always satisfies them. You try PEERLESS for a week, and you'll always keep it on the job. Sold everywhere in 5c packages.

CITY HALL NINE HAS CLEAN SWEEP

Undefeated This Season—Star Pitching and Playing Saturday.

City hall ball players have gone through the season without a defeat.

Last Saturday afternoon they won the final game by defeating the courthouse nine, 9 to 6, at the grounds at Forty-seventh avenue east and Superior street. Features of the contest were the pitching of Burnett, the city hall slugger, the batting of City Clerk Borgen, who had 1,000 per cent, and the home run of Anderson, also of the winning nine.

During the past season the city hall players have defeated the patrolmen, work farm nine and the courthouse. The batteries last Saturday were: City hall—Burnett and Anderson; courthouse—Benson and Tarmouski.

MITCHELL AND LUTES ARE TIED

Even Score Results in Match Against Bogey at Northland.

Pentecost Mitchell, president of the Northland Country club, and J. S. Lutes tied Saturday at three up in the handicap match play against bogey. Walter W. Croze and M. J. O'Brien staged another pretty battle for second place honors, tieing at two up.

The match was one of the best that has been played over the Northland links during the present season. There is a large amount of interest manifest over the playoff for possession of the cup. It is expected that the contest between the contestants tied for honors Saturday will be witnessed by a large gallery.

The day was perfect and the links in the best shape of the season.

FEDERALS CHALLENGE O. B. TO CHAMPIONSHIP SERIES OF GAMES

Name President Wilson and Chicago and New York Mayors to Distribute Its Share of Money to Some Charitable Organization.

New York, Sept. 20.—The Federal league, through its president, James A. Gilmore, has addressed a challenge to the national baseball commission for participation in the world's series of 1915. The executive of the independent organization requests a series between the winner of the Federal league pennant and the winner of the series between National and American league contenders. The challenge follows:

"Gentlemen: On behalf of the Federal league, I hereby challenge the winner of the series between th National and American leagues of 1915 for a series of as many games as you may suggest, for the baseball championship of the world, the Federal league's share of the receipts, win or lose, to be turned over to any charitable organization selected by a committee composed of Hon. Woodrow Wilson, Hon. William Hale Thompson, mayor of Chicago, and Hon. John Purroy Mitchel, mayor of New York.

"In my unanswered challenge of 1914, to you, I fully elaborated on why the world's championship in baseball could not be properly decided without the Federal league being represented. Therefore, there is no necessity of again outlining my rasons.

"I am sure that the American public want an undisputed champion of the great national game, and not an alleged world's championship team."

FLAG RACES NEARING END

Looks Like Phillies and Red Sox, But Not Settled Yet.

Superbas and Braves Tied; Detroit Still Has Chance.

New York, Sept. 20.—The pennant races in both major leagues are near a decision. In fact, it looks as if the pennant in the National league was already fairly well within Philadelphia's grasp, while, with the important American league series in Boston nearly over, it seems probable that the Red Sox will see the fruition of their hopes.

The course of the Phillies around the National league circuit in the West, where they have so far justified the expectation of their followers that they would continue their pennant-winning gait, and the battle royal at Fenway park between the two remaining contenders for the flag in the younger organization, have absorbed the attention of fans during the week.

Chief interest centered in the Boston series, where the lead was at stake when the Detroit team arrived.

The Tigers opened nobly with an assault on three of Manager Carrigan's star pitchers, which gave them a 6-to-1 victory. Thus they worked to within a game and a half of the leaders. The next two days, however, told a different story. Leonard, for Boston, held the Tiger sluggers in such effective check on Friday, that they gathered only three safe hits and two runs, while Boston had rolled up a seven-run lead.

Most Notable Game.

The best of the three games, and one of the most notable ever played in the American league, followed. It was witnessed by a record crowd of more than 37,000 persons, lasted for twelve innings, and was won by the Red Sox by a 1-to-0 score. The contest sparkled with brilliant plays, and remarkable pitching by Covaleskie and Shore.

Thus the Red Sox have won two of the three games, with one more to go. Even should the Detroits win that, they will be no nearer the leaders than they were when they landed in Boston. At present they are three and a half games behind.

In the three games, the Bostons outscored, out-hit and out-fielded their rivals.

The National league race is still more a complex affair, although it is hard to figure, with the teams playing at anywhere near their present gait, how the Phillies' excellent lead over both Brooklyn and Boston is to be overcome. Neither one of these teams is ready to admit defeat in the struggle, however.

Phillies Playing Well.

Philadelphia continues to play its usual game, its only defeat during the week being two shutouts, one at the hands of Cincinnati, and the other by Pittsburgh. The opposing clubs scored a total of three runs in these games. The Quakers' twirling staff is holding up well, Alexander having accounted for two victories during the week, and for another yesterday, while Chalmers and Mayer scored one each.

The Brooklyns kept pace with the Quakers during the week, their twirlers too, showing general effectiveness, the two-time victor of the squad being Jack Coombs, who beat the Chicago Cubs Saturday, on his first appearance in the box against them since he defeated them against the Athletics in the world's series of 1910. As for the Braves, their double victory over St. Louis Saturday came opportunely to save them from making a poor record for the week, while their success in winning from Cincinnati yesterday tied them with the Brooklyns for second place. Rudolph pitched them to two victories, while Tyler, although beaten, had only one run scored against him. The team, for the most part, is hitting well.

St. Louis, Cincinnati, Chicago and Pittsburgh are engaged in a neat little fight for first division honors, with only a few points separating them.

In Other Leagues.

Pittsburgh increased its lead in the Federal league race during the week, and looks to be the winner in the Gilmore circuit. Chicago went into second place by taking a doubleheader from Buffalo yesterday, while St. Louis was losing to Baltimore. Newark and Kansas City are having a close fight for fourth position.

Interest in the American association race pennant practically ended yesterday when Minneapolis clinched its hold on first place. St. Paul could not overtake them by taking all the remaining games to be played. Indianapolis and Louisville are third and fourth, respectively.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF THE MITT WEARERS

Kearns Writes Some News From the Never-Never Land; Brown to Box Whitney; Mark Shaughnessy a Real Fellow.

BY BRUCE.

Jack Kearns took pen in hand, or possibly dictated to some blonde stenographer, tosend us aline concerning boxing in general in Australia and the doings of his stable of mitt slingers in particular.

Kearns declares that boxing is not prospering in the land of the hopping kangaroo at the present time. War is given as the gloom contributor and mirthless distributor.

It requires some fleeting time for a letter to reach Duluth from the antipodes. In his epistle Kearns states that Fighting Billy Murray and Les Darcey "are booked to meet Sept. 4." Little if anything has been heard of the meeting in this country.

Red Watson, according to Kearns, is creating a sensation. One would gather that the sorrel-topped youth is taking on weight, as Kearns stated the natives want Watson to fight one of the prominent middleweights on the yonder side of the world.

Right here premit us to state there were some predictions cast up in distinct moulds, proclaiming the prediction that Watson would come back from "down under," a middleweight. Cyclone Johnny Thompson went over there a lightweight and returned a heavyweight. Whether it is the chuck or the atmosphere, there is something in the never never land that makes 'em heavy.

Along this line, Kearns states that 160 pounds was too light for Eddie McGoorty in the Les Darcey battle. We sat at the Hudson ringside and watched Edward amble along at a fiery gait with 158 the poundage notch. Eddie, like others, must have taken on avoirdupois.

John Barber Writes.

John J. Reisler, known in exclusive sporting circles under the nom du guerre of "John the Barber," scribbles a few lines to the news effect that Young Brown is to box Frankie Whitney before the Minneapolis club, Oct. 1.

Reisler calls Brown a lightweight. The Minneapolis scribes called the New Yorker a good sized welter. Looks like another boxer was endeavoring to infringe on the rights of Packey McFarland and fight lightweight battles at a weight notch soaring around the 140 pound notch.

Regarding Mark Shaughnessy.

Many stories have been bandied hither and thither concerning Mark Shaughnessy, the matchmaker of the Minneapolis Boxing club. Suffice it to say that this Irishman is a real man, a chap who prides himself on the worth of his word, and a bucko who has gone to the mat with many of the rough places of this old pig iron world and has won more than he has lost.

Shaughnessy fought back in the days when many of the present followers of the boxing game were learning that cat is spelled with a c and not a k.

Kid Lavigne, Tommy Ryan, Duluth Jimmy Murphy, a great fighter, by the way, and others of that sterling ilk, were contemporaries of Shaughnessy. When Shaughnessy came to Minneapolis some were disposed to laugh at him, toss him airly into the "nut" category, and remark that another bloomer has been exploited in our midst. There is a distinctly different attitude toward Shaughnessy since the first fight in Minneapolis. He made good every single statement he issued and, moreover, showed that he knew the difference between the stalling boxer and the little brother of the padded mitt who really fights to the best of his ability.

Shaughnessy has had a varied and adventurous career. His best recommendation is that those who know him intimately speak the highest of him.

SEA GULL WINS THE FINAL RACE

Dr. Frank Lynam's Feather Loses Close Sailing Contest.

The last official sailing race of the present season was won at the boat club Saturday by the Sea Gull, Walker Jamar's craft finishing just forty-five seconds ahead of Dr. Frank Lynam's worthy Feather.

Dr. Lynam's boat led at one time by an eighth of a mile. The Feather retained its lead nearly to the finish line. A short tack lost heavily for Lynam's boat, the Sea Gull coming on and passing the Feather before Skipper Lyiam could recover his lost ground.

The contest was one of the most interesting of the entire season. A strong breeze made sailing conditions ideal, while the close finish added to the sporting qualities of the race.

EQUALS CASTING RECORD.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 20.—Walter D. Mansfield of the San Francisco Fly Casting club, equaled the world's salmon fly casting record yesterday with a cast of 162 feet. The cast was made under championship conditions. The world's record that Mansfield equaled was made by Fred N. Peet of Chicago, at the Panama-Pacific exposition tournament last month.

Mansfield also beat, by five feet, the National Association of Scientific Angling club's record of 116 feet for distance casting with a five-ounce rod.

Katour Wins Yacht Race.

New York, Sept. 20.—The schooner yacht Katour won the 24-mile race to Brennon Reef light and return yesterday, by crossing the finish line more than twenty minutes ahead of the schooner yacht Atlantic. The race was for the Brennon Reef cup.

Californians Win Again.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 20.—William M. Johnston and Clarence Griffin, both of San Francisco, yesterday defeated R. A. Holden, Jr., and Truax Emerson of Cincinnati in the finals of the men's doubles, 8-6, 4-6, 6-1, 6-4, in the Tri-State tennis tournament.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Twenty Years Behind the Times

HEIGH—OH! What do you think of this? Here we have been busily casting ridicule and invective upon the grandmothers, figurative and literal, and endeavoring to sit in judgment upon the status of affairs medical, and now along comes a judge of a higher court and pronounces us twenty years behind the times.

It was this way. While the office stenographer was out matching up some ribbons we scribbled off a short article entitled "Calomel, the Doctors' Obsession," and boldly mailed it to the editor of the greatest medical journal in this or any other world. A few days later, much to our horror, back came the contribution with a kindly letter from the famous editor, who explained that, while the manuscript contained much that was instructive, etc., still it did not quite, etc.,—you know what we mean. Then the editor went on to say that the article would have been very appropriate twenty years ago, but did we not realize that calomel is almost tabooed by the younger generation of medical men today?

Well, sir, you could have knocked us over with a post-card message. Wonder if the editor could have been trying our own medicine on us? If so, it is mighty unpleasant medicine and we don't blame our victims for getting as mad as they ofttimes do. We were mad ourself. We were real angry, and we sat down and pounded off a scathing rebuke to that editor—some one in his office had committed the unpardonable crime of mutilating the manuscript by punching pinholes through it, a thing no editorial office can do with our manuscripts without hearing from us.

But anyway it is pleasant to know that the younger generation of medical practitioners is able to keep house without calomel. The young men are the ones that count in modern medicine. Nowadays, doctors do what they think is right, not what their medical ancestors believed was right. Calomel is on the scrap-heap, alongside of castor oil, where we think it belongs. The world revolves. It will arrive somewhere after a while. Medicine is a progressive art, though you would never suspect it by reading the patent medicine advertisements.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Miuim Means Drop.

What is the meaning of the term minim?

Answer—A minim is approximately one drop.

The Brown Haired Lady Rises to Speak.

Have a heart. What of the brown haired readers whose locks are turning gray—would you leave us alone with our sorrows? Are the raven haired ones to monopolize your interest? A husband's thatch may be scanty and white as Father Time's, but does he really admire silver threads among the brown? Nay, nay. Time was when the way to keep a husband was to feed the brute, but in these days of affinities, the first commandment for successful housekeeping is "Doll up." So, please, dear doctor, open your big Irish heart and help restore our brown crown of glory.

Answer—We have it direct from Ponce de Leon: Boil to the consistence of an ointment 2 ounces of corticis fructus juglandis, half an ounce of galla contus, half an ounce of sodium chlorate, one ounce of orange peel and a quart of water. To dye the hair brown, saturate a cloth and pull a few strands of hair at a time through the cloth. Try it where it won't show at first, before you plunge. You know, there are divers shades of brown.

FOOTBALL ON THIS WEEK

High School to Play Strong Alumni Team Saturday.

Duluth Independent Team Will Start Season Against Indians.

When the last ball was thrown in yesterday's baseball game at Athletic park, Duluth bid farewell to the diamond pastime for the present season. Today the pigskin-chasers come into their own. Summer sport has been waved to the exit; football has the center of the stage.

Coach Blake will put his high school football candidates through some real work this week. Also it might be mentioned that Coach "Corkey" Caulkins, one of the star gridiron performers of old Central, will also shape his Duluth football team for its first game of the present season.

Central will take on the heavy alumni team next Saturday. The grads, also delighted to administer a licking to those they were in the habit of frowning upon in the past, are said to be getting ready for a surprise.

With Bob Mars, one of the greatest ends ever turned out by the hilltop school, and Bobby Kerr, Roy Kent, Crassweller and a host of other good men to draw upon, it looks as it Coach Blake's boys will inaugurate the local season with a regular football battle.

The new football mentor is supplied with some experienced material. There is the added recommendation of weight behind many of this season's team candidates. The prospects for a great team at Central are brighter than for some years back. With the glow that has been imparted to the team's prospects has grown an enthusiasm that bids fair to make the present season one of the best from every angle that the old pile of masonry has enjoyed in many moons.

The Duluth Football Team.

As Saturday will mark the preliminary football engagement of Central high school, so will next Sunday usher in the 1916 season of independent football.

The team that is to represent Duluth this season is known as the Duluth football team. Little Caulkins, one of the best high school quarterbacks ever turned out in these parts, played three years on the crack University of North Dakota team after getting the rudiments of the game drilled into his system here. Caulkins will coach the Duluth team and will also play quarter.

De Long, the big tackle star of last year's Adams, will again be out for a line position, while Schram, a youth making the scales screech and groan at 225 pounds, will be another candidate for the first line of defense.

Little Jimmy Barry, one of the greatest running backs ever developed in Duluth, along with Carey, Daugherty and Briggs will be backfield candidates. Caulkins expects to be able to weld these boys into an effective backfield.

The Odanah Indians, which are being coached by Chief Williams, will be the first opponents of Duluth. During the present week long hours of practice will be spent in perfecting the play of Duluth.

DR. DUMBA WILL NOT BE HURRIED

Statement Made By Austrian Ambassador Will Cause No Change.

Washington, Sept. 20.—High officials indicated last night that no further steps were contemplated against Dr. Constantin T. Dumba, the Austro-Hungarian ambassador, on account of his letter to Secretary Lansing criticising the treatment accorded him by the American government in connection with the request for his recall. It was stated the possibility of hastening the diplomat's departure from the country by handing him his passports had not been considered.

Dr. Dumba's letter was received at the state department and was the subject of a conference between President Wilson and Acting Secretary Polk. No announcement was made, and at that time officials had no idea the ambassador intended to make the communication public as he did Saturday night in New York.

The official view as authoritatively explained, that part of Dr. Dumba's letter in which he sought to show that he had not been guilty of improper conduct, warranting a request for his recall, is that the ambassador only partially stated the case and "set up a man of straw to knock it down." The letter defended at length the right of the ambassador to inform nationals of his country that they were violating Austro-Hungarian laws in working in plants turning out munitions of war for the allies. It was pointed out by officials that this point was not in issue, but that the reason for the Washington government's action was the following statement in the intercepted letter to his foreign minister:

Statement in Letter.

"I am under the impression that we could, if not entirely prevent the production of war materials in Bethlehem and the Middle West, at any rate strongly disorganize it, and hold it up for months, which, according to the statement of the German military attache, is of great importance, and which amply outweighs the relatively small sacrifice of money."

State department officials have not been informed of Dr. Dumba's plans for leaving the United States, although it is known that he has asked his government to order him home to make a personal report on his case. So long as he quits the country and does not appear again as an envoy in Washington, it is understood the United States government will not be disposed to question the manner of his going or the nature of his orders from Vienna.

James Archibald, the American newspaper correspondent, who figured in the Dumba case, is expected in Washington this week to explain to the state department his action in carrying messages for a foreign government while traveling under an American passport.

BRIEF BY LIND TO BE SUBMITTED

Will Uphold the Weeks-McLean Federal Migratory Bird Law.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—A brief upholding the Weeks-McLean Federal migratory bird law is being prepared by John Lind of Minneapolis, at the request of the Minnesota Game and Fish Protective league, and will be submitted to the United States supreme court this week, it was announced here today.

The statute was attacked in Arkansas, and the courts there decided the law unconstitutional as a violation of state rights. Proponents of the law carried the case to the supreme court, which is expected to render a decision within the next two months.

Minnesota's brief in the case is only a part of a campaign the American Game Protection and Propagation association is making throughout the country, in an effort to prove to the supreme court that a large majority of states are in favor of the new bird law.

One of the principal features of the law is the prohibition of spring shooting of migratory birds. Although Minnesota for several years had prohibited spring shooting, several Southern states have not taken such action.

An increased number of ducks breeding in Minnesota last summer was reported to the state fish and game commission, following enforcement of the Federal statute, and this year even more native ducks were found, authorities say.

This is attributed to the halt in spring shooting in the South.

Chalmers Six-40

$1350 Seven Passenger

You ride in the Chalmers Six-40—not on it

THERE may be those who take "with a grain of salt" the statement that a $1350 car can be made to ride as easily and be as comfortable as a car selling for $6000 or more.

Nevertheless, it is absolutely true that no car, at any price, rides any easier or is more comfortable than this $1350 Chalmers Six-40, and a ride in it will thoroughly convince you of this fact.

Comfort must be built into a car, but it is not difficult if you know how.

The seat backs and side walls of the Six-40 are built for comfort—according to scientific principles that years of experience have taught us.

The seats and side walls are deep and roomy, the upholstery is luxurious and is of full leather. The leg-room is ample.

Truly, you ride in this car—not on it.

The rear springs are 57 inches long—the longest on any car in the world at the price. Aside from the great comfort they give you will find that their resilient action will save you tire bills.

And, finally, there is always in the Six-40 the comfort of steady power—the quick acceleration—the easy, vibrationless pull of the marvelous valve-in-head overhead camshaft motor.

Let us show you some real motor car comfort. Let us do it to-day.

LEWIS PRODS UP FARMERS

Prominent Fargo Man Says Growers Are to Blame for Conditions.

Improved Selling Methods Instead of Terminal Elevators Advocated.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—"Teach the farmers of North Dakota to market one-twelfth of their grain each month, make it possible for them to practice this system of selling and then arrange it so they can use their own screenings on the farm and know exactly what kind of cleaned grain they are shipping to market, and a great many of the troubles that are bothering the farmers at the present time will be eliminated," says R. S. Lewis, former lieutenant governor and member of the state board of control.

Mr. Lewis does not think that a terminal elevator at St. Paul, Minneapolis, Fargo or any other point, state-owned or otherwise, is going to better conditions of marketing. He believes that the millers should be continually reaching out for the farmers' wheat and that the only way to make them do this is to sell to them only when they have immediate need of the grain.

EX-LIEUT.-GOV. R. S. LEWIS.

"There has been much said recently about establishing a terminal elevator at Fargo instead of St. Paul," Mr. Lewis said. "It does not make much difference where it is established, although there is no doubt but that it would be a good thing for Fargo. But that isn't helping the farmer. It has been said that with a terminal elevator at Fargo the grain could be cleaned here and the screenings fed. That is true, but to whose cattle would they be fed? The farmer's? No! The farmer must feed his cattle on the farm. Could he ship in his grain, have it cleaned and ship the screenings back to the farm? He certainly could not, for there is a different classification of freight rates and any profit he might make by feeding his own screenings to his own cattle would be eaten up by the freight.

"It must be made possible for the farmer to have his grain cleaned at or near his home. He would then not only get the screenings, but he would know exactly what he was shipping to market."

Mr. Lewis does not seem to think that the marketing system in this part of the country is so far wrong as is the system of selling used by the farmer himself, and he thinks that when the farmer learns, or it is made possible for him, to hold the crop, marketing a twelfth of it each month, that he will get a better price for it the year around.

BARKSDALE POWDER PLANT ON THE JUMP

Ashland, Wis., Sept. 20.—Because of rush ammunition orders for the allies, the Barksdale plant of the Dupont Powder company will use 250,000 more horse power furnished by the Ashland Light & Power company, according to advice received from Du-Pont headquarters at Wilmington, Del. Since the war orders were received the plant has been using 500,000 horse power days and 250,000 nights. The last order swells the night current used also to 500,000.

The Barksdale plant is seven miles from this city. Two thousand men are employed, who work in three eight-hour shifts. The addition of power will take effect at once.

E. G. Hudson's Statement.

E. G. Hudson, Chamblee, Ga., writes: "Last year I bought and tried Foley Cathartic Tablets. I have tried many cathartics, but for a thorough cleansing movement of the bowels without the slightest inconvenience or sickening, I believe the Foley Cathartic Tablet the best on earth. It's a perfect cathartic, with no bad effects." Everybody suffers occasionally from indigestion or constipation, so Mr. Hudson's experience is worth remembering. Stout persons say these tablets relieve that "heavy" feeling. Sold everywhere.

TO SPEND $200,000 FOR NEW HIGHWAYS

Cass County to Let Contracts This Week for 100 Miles of Road.

Walker, Minn., Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bids are to be let this week for the construction of over a hundred miles of highway in Cass county, connecting the county seat with all the six villages of the county. The bids are for two main roads, one being 76 miles in length and the other 28 miles, at an estimated cost of over $200,000. The county has bonded itself to finance the work, and it is expected that grading will commence as soon as the bid is accepted, there being scores of horses, dredges and other road-construction equipment already on the ground to commence operations. One of these highways will shorten the distance by auto road to the cities from Cass, Hubbard and Beltrami counties by eighteen miles.

FARMERS TAKE KEEN INTEREST IN FAIR

Beltrami County Association Breaks All Former Records.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The biggest and best fair in the history of Beltrami county came to a close Saturday evening.

Friday, which was known as Bemidji day, was a record-breaker for attendance, and the records at the gate showed that more than 4,000 persons visited the grounds during the day.

The exhibits were the best in the history of the fair, exhibits from the country schools and farmers' clubs featuring. The blue ribbon for the best farm club exhibit was won by the Better Farming club, composed of farmers who live southwest of Bemidji, with the Summit Farmers' club of Blackduck second.

Another feature of the fair was the stock exhibits, at which many thoroughbred and grade animals were shown. It was about five years ago that the first grade animal was introduced into Beltrami county, and since that time many thoroughbred and grade animals have been purchased. In some cases the farmers' clubs have purchased sires as an organization, and the stock exhibit at the county fair is rapidly growing.

The poultry exhibit was the best in the history of the fair, this being caused by the boys' and girls' poultry contest. So great was the increase over last year that before the end of the first day of the fair several men were building additional cages to take care of the extra exhibits.

UPPER PENINSULA BOOSTERS ACTIVE

Development Association Revived and It Is Planned to Raise $25.000.

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 20.—Roger M. Andrews is back and as a result the Upper Peninsula Development bureau is beginning to wax more active. Mr. Andrews is in Houghton on his way home from a meetinug held at the Soo in which the Soo and Chippewa county businessmen were induced to take a more lively interest in the development bureau.

He has arranged for a meeting in the Baraga county seat the latter part of the present month. At this meeting several prominent directors of the bureau will make speeches. At Houghton, at the meeting of the Upper Peninsula group bankers in mid-October, it is expected that the bureau can arrange to have speakers present to urge upon the bankers the desirability of giving the bureau aid and encouragement.

The Menominee live wire said yesterday that the Upper Peninsula Development bureau is growing more active, has a better prospect this year than ever before. He says also that the directors are confident the bureau can raise $25,000 for its purposes in 1916.

PAINESDALE HAS NEW I. O. O. F. TEMPLE

Painesdale, Mich., Sept. 20.—The laying of the cornerstone of the new I. O. O. F. temple at Painesdale was appropriately carried out Saturday. The exercises were very interesting and Prof. F. A. Jeffers, superintendent of the Adams township schools, pleased his audience with his eloquence. F. W. Denton, general manager of the copper Range company, placed the cornerstone in position. The C. and H. and Quincy bands furnished music for the affair.

KOOCHICHING'S FAIR TO BE AT NORTHOME

Will Be Three Days This Week With Prospects of Success.

Northome, Minn., Sept. 20.—The annual Koochiching county fair will be held here next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday and indications point to a most successful display of the products of this county.

Heretofore the fair has been held but two days and as the first day is usually taken up with receiving and entering exhibits the fair board decided this to have a three days' fair.

Prior to the fair a year ago a suitable tract of land was purchased just outside the village limits and a main exhibition building erected for housing the exhibits.

Grounds Improved.

Since then another adjoining building has been constructed, considerable clearing done to the grounds and other improvements made that will make things more comfortable for the exhibitors and those who attend.

The officials have carefully revised the premium list and with the liberal prizes offered and favorable weather they look for the most successful fair ever held.

The woman's department is planning on a big day on Wednesday when a baby contest will be held and an interesting program given.

Capt. Kelliher of the Northome ball team is making arrangements for ball games all three days of the fair.

BOY KILLS COMPANION.

Shooting at Rat to Get State Bounty, He Slays Youth.

Saulte Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 20.—The state law which grants a bounty of 5 cents per dead rat figured in the accidental shooting and death of Jerome Robinson, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Robinson, by Cecil Osterman, who is 12 years old.

Osterman had a new 22-caliber rifle and he and a number of other boys, including Jerome, decided to try out the weapon in the Osterman barn and at the same time collect some rat bounties. They hid in a dark corner, awaiting the appearance of a rodent.

The Robinson youngster, who was holding the ammunition, dropped a cartridge on the floor. In his search for this he crawled away from the corner, directly in the path of the rifle. A rat appeared and Osterman fired hastily. The bullet struck the Robinson boy in the breast.

The boy died within five minutes after the accident.

DYNAMITE THIEVES STIR UP CROOKSTON

Crookston, Minn., Sept. 20.—Two hundred pounds of dynamite was stolen from the powder house one mile north of the city and near the fair grounds Saturday and a reward of $50 has been offered by the owners for information leading to the arrest of the parties.

City and county officials are busily engaged on the case at present and developments of a sensational nature are expected.

Get the Habit of Drinking Hot Water Before Breakfast

Says we can't look or feel right with the system full of poisons.

Millions of folks bathe internally now instead of loading their system with drugs. "What's an inside bath" you say. Well, it is guaranteed to perform miracles if you could believe these hot water enthusiasts.

There are vast numbers of men and women who, immediately upon arising in the morning, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is a very excellent health measure. It is intended to flush the stomach, liver, kidneys and the thirty feet of intestines of the previous day's waste, sour bile and indigestible material left over in the body which if not eliminated every day, become food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels, the quick result is poisons and toxins which are then absorbed into the blood causing headache, bilious attacks, foul breath, bad taste, colds, stomach trouble, kidney misery, sleeplessness, impure blood and all sorts of ailments.

People who feel good one day and badly the next, but who simply can not get feeling right are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to make anyone a real crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

Just as soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and freshening, so limestone phosphate and hot water act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. It is vastly more important to bathe on the inside than on the outside, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.

CAR TURNS TURTLE, THREE BADLY HURT

Walker, Minn., Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. M. S. Morical was perhaps fatally injured, while Mrs. Archie Lavigne and Mrs. Charles Bibeau received serious injuries, as the result of an automobile turning turtle while going at a high rate of speed, Saturday night. Owen Morical, who was driving the car, received lesser injuries and is rapidly recovering, but all three women, who are at present in the Walker hospital, were picked up unconscious. Mrs. Morical, whose condition is quite grave, is nearly 70 years old, and aside from the shock, suffers wounds about the head and chest. The other two are considered out of danger though still in a precarious condition. The car was going thirty-five miles an hour on a good road, at the time of the accident.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Calumet—The hearing of John Rozman, charged by Marco Marino with assault and battery, was adjourned by Justice Fisher until next Tuesday. The defendant has demanded a jury trial, claiming that he has been wrongly accused.

Houghton—Capt. T. S. Smith of the Houghton Light Infantry selected the following team to represent his company at the Michigan National Guard rifle competitions in Detroit this week: John Kangas, first sergeant; Fred Krellwitz, sergeant; D. Caspary, corporal; John Stevens and E. Bard, privates. The team left Saturday.

Hancock—Mrs. Elsie M. Martin, librarian at the Hancock public library, has resigned to become librarian at the Minnesota Agricultural college, an appointment by President Vincent of the Minnesota State university.

Houghton—Bankers of practically every town and city north of the straits are preparing to come here Oct. 14, when the first annual meeting of the Upper Peninsula bankers takes place in the Houghton club.

Calumet—Rev. Dr. John Sweet, formerly pastor of the Calumet M. E. church and later district superintendent of the Detroit district of the Detroit M. E. conference, is critically ill, and probably will never be able to attend another conference meeting. This announcement was made at the session of the Detroit conference at Port Huron.

Lake Linden—Mrs. Albert Brisson died here Sept. 15 at her home. She was 65 years of age and is survived by her husband. She had been a resident of this district for twenty-five years. The funeral was held Saturday.

Hancock—Ralph Mugnani, who now conducts a store in a building near the car barn in West Hancock, has let a contract for a building he will have erected on the vacant property at Sullivan's.

Escanaba—The second large black bear which they have caught within two weeks was presented to the Johnson menagerie in North Escanaba by Albert Rivet and David Murray of Spalding. The bears were caught in heavy steel cages not unlike huge rat traps.

Hancock—Superintendent of Schools Lee has started a campaign in Hancock to compel local dealers to obey the stringent anti-cigarette law, which provides a heavy penalty for selling cigarettes or "makings" to minors.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Oconomowoc—Officers elected at the third Wisconsin Volunteers annual reunion are: President, Peter Crave, Beloit; vice president, J. F. Carle, Janesville; secretary, Lawrence Post, Madison; treasurer, C. W. Page, Waupun. The 1916 reunion will be at Beloit.

Milwaukee—Emil Heth, charged with being the keeper of a gambling house on Lisbon avenue, was found guilty when arraigned in District court Friday morning and fined $100. Four inmates were each fined $10.

Neenah—Joseph Gazecki, a Menasha motorcyclist, collided with a horse and buggy on the Appleton road with near disastrous results. Mr. Gazecki's wooden leg was badly smashed in the accident.

Madison—The supreme court granted a motion made by the Fred Miller Brewing company of Milwaukee for dismissal of the appeal brought by the city of Milwaukee in a suit by the company against the city growing out of the viaduct case.

Green Bay—Brown county's largest judgment for damages for a death was ordered by Judge Henry Graass of Circuit court, when judgment for $10,000 was entered against the Milwaukee road in favor of Mary O'Connor, administratrix of the estate of Frank J. O'Connor. O'Connor was killed north of Pembine when a passenger train was wrecked.

Grantsburg—Conrad Granland, who some time ago was arrested and pleaded guilty on a charge of forgery, and who was a trusty at the county jail, has taken French leave. Police of the Twin Cities and Twin Ports have been notified to look for him.

Grand Rapids—The annual report of Wood county shows that there are nineteen cheese factories in this county valued at $141,400.

Green Bay—Mr. and Mrs. Peter Vander Geeten, well known residents of the north side, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary at their home on Saturday. Both were born in Nethen, Belgium.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Minot, N. D.—Edwin Trefz of Washington, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of America, will visit the Minot Association of Commerce Sept. 30.

Grand Forks, N. D.—The funeral of Capt. John Hayes, who died suddenly at Cohasset, Minn., Wednesday, which was to have been held in Grand Forks Saturday, has been postponed until Monday at 10 o'clock. Lieut. Phillip Hayes, son of the deceased, who is stationed at West Point at present, was unable to reach Grand Forks in time to hold the services Saturday.

Fargo, N. D.—The two negro suspects held by the sheriff of Becker county at Detroit, Minn., as characters in the shooting affair on the Northern Pacific tracks at First street Tuesday afternoon, were released after they had been closely questioned by Chief Troyer and Officer McDonald.

Bismarck, N. D. — Out of an enrollment of 210 in the high school, there are forty-three non-resident pupils. This is a considerably higher percentage than in former years and is considered quite remarkable by high school instructors.

Fargo, N. D.—That Fargo city bonds are considered gilt edge securities by financiers is made evident by the fact that the Minnesota Loan & Trust company of Minneapolis, was seeking to purchase another big block of them and was much disappointed when it found that City Auditor Watkins had no more to sell.

Lisbon, N. D.—That North Dakota land is in demand among Iowa farmers, is evidenced by the fact that Chisman & Conboy, a local real estate firm, in one day closed the sale of over $130,000 worth of Ransome county land to Clay county, Iowa, farmers, who will all become permanent residents of the county.

Hebron, N. D. — N. Hass of the last class in the Chicago theological seminary was ordained and installed pastor of the Congregational church in this place Wednesday night. The service was one of great interest and was very well attended, the church being filled to overflowing.

Grand Forks, N. D. — The work of excavating for the basement of the addition to the Y. M. C. A. building is completed. Material for erecting the building has been placed on the grounds and work will be pushed.

Devils Lake, N. D.—A shipment of 35,000 black bass and yellow perch was received Friday from the St. John hatcheries and sent down to the biological station under the care of A. Eastgate.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Red Lake Falls.—Work has been commenced on a large, modern elevator to be erected on the Northern Pacific right-of-way in this city. Men are now at work on the foundation and several cars of lumber are on the grund. The building is being put up by the Red Lake County Grain company.

Willow River.—The recent rains that were so badly needed have freshened up the pastures and put the fields in shape for the plow.

Perham.—The directors of the Perham Agricultural association and members of the building committee decided to begin the construction of a second building at the fair grounds. The work will be pushed and if possible the building will be completed by fair time.

Remer.—On account of the early frosts and the financial condition of the fair association, it was decided to hold only one day of the fair and settlers day, Sept. 25, and serve a public dinner. No premiums will be paid this year, although premiums will be awarded on the exhibits entered.

St. Hilaire.—Mike McAndress, stockman and farmer, has closed the Thief River north road to public travel by stringing a wire fence across it and posting trespass placards. The attorney for the village has taken steps to secure a restraining order prohibiting the closing of the road.

Onamia.—The second annual fair at Onamia last Monday and Tuesday was well attended and a very interesting lot of exhibits was displayed. Thomas D. Schall, who will represent this district in the next congress, was the chief speaker.

Brainerd.—Mrs. Mary Craig, aged 82, a pioneer resident of the city, passed away Sept. 17. She is survived by these children: John Ovig of Merrifield; Mrs. J. P. Jensen of South Long Lake; Richard Ovig, Miss Inga Ovig, Edward and Ole Ovig of Brainerd. The funeral will be held Monday afternoon.

Crookston.—The sophomores and freshmen in the high school have elected officers as follows. Sophomores: President, Albert Mills; vice president, Raymond Lanctot; secretary, Mildred Strander; treasurer, Vernon Busterud; member of athletic board, John Getty. Freshman: President, Elvira Peterson; member of athletic board, Roland Riggs.

Little Falls.—Hubert Friesinger, Northern Pacific special agent, found a suitcase on the railroad track between here and Darling Friday. The lock had been cut out and the contents removed. The ownership of the suitcase has not been established.

Crookston.—The county commissioners of Polk county and Johannes L. Beim, engineer in charge, have made final inspection of ditch No. 91, near Oklee. The ditch was completed several weeks ago after two dredges had been kept busy on the work for months.

Bemidji.—Edward Page, Sunday school missionary, who has been in Bemidji for the past year, left Friday for Montana, where he will have charge of the Northeastern part of Montana and as far as Yellowstone park.

Badger.—R. O. Holland and crew have finished one mile of grade from the river south, on the state road. It is one of the best pieces of work in this part of the country.

MAYOR POWER TELLS HIS STORY IN DISTRICT COURT

Defends Hibbing Village Officials Against Charges of Extravagance.

Many Affidavits Read in Court Upholding Paving Contract.

Severely arraigning the officials of the Oliver Iron Mining company, the Shenango Furnace company and the Mahoning Iron & Steel company as destructionists, detractors and falsifiers, Mayor Victor L. Power of Hibbing, in a lengthy affidavit, which he read in District Judge Fesler's court late Saturday afternoon before a crowd of interested auditors that packed the room to the witness chairs, swore that the present indebtedness of Hibbing, $1,572,691.65, is due solely to the conduct of the officials of the mining companies and particularly those of the Oliver Iron Mining company.

In his affidavit, which contained thirty-three typewritten pages, he took up every phase of the complaint of the mining companies that are opposing the village officials and seeking a permanent injunction to restrain the defendants from laying a bitulithic pavement on 3,960 feet of Third avenue, the principal thoroughfare of Hibbing. The contracted cost of this pavement was fixed at about $55,000, and the contract for the work was let some time in August to the E. W. Coons company.

Declare Conduit Necessary.

In the 260 odd affidavits which he presented to the court were the sworn statements of seven prominent Minnesota engineers, everyone of whom said that the paving of Third avenue should be done as soon as possible and that the construction of the concrete conduit to carry off the refuse and sewage in Penobscot creek was absolutely necessary to the health of the people living in the neighborhood. Among these engineers were John Rundett, for twenty-two years city engineer of St. Paul; Andrew Rinker, for twenty-five years city engineer of Minneapolis; John Wilson, city engineer of Duluth, and A. E. Dwyer, former county surveyor of St. Louis county.

Three prominent ministers of Hibbing, Rev. John E. Idstrom, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church; Rev. Frank E. Coolbaugh, rector of the Episcopal church, and Rev. R. W. Adair, pastor of the First Methodist church, all swore in their affidavits that Third avenue is not in fit condition for travel, that they have found it uncomfortable in riding over the road during funerals, and that a good substantial pavement is the only solution of the difficulty.

Menace to Health.

Sworn affidavits from various citizens stated that between twenty and thirty children in the Penobscot location died in one year as a direct result of contamination coming from sewage and refuse deposited in Penobscot creek. Eight years ago, it was sworn, the mining companies acknowledged that it was necessary to the health of the public that the conduit be built, and recommended that it be constructed two feet greater in diameter than its present dimensions.

Mayor Power in his affidavit showed the importance of Third avenue and explained that it was the principal business artery of the village and that along this thoroughfare are located the three banks of the village, the Lincoln high school, the Missabe and Great Northern railway stations, the municipal cemetery, the city hospital, supply house of the town of Stuntz and Bennet park, the principal place of recreation in the village, through which park are many drives.

The great white way, the new water system, the new baseball park, the metropolitan police force, the giant village payrolls and all of the other features of financial extravagance alleged by the mining companies and characterized by them as wild expenditures and as abuses of public funds, were taken up, one by one, and strict accounting given for each in Mayor Power's affidavit.

Summarizes Hibbing's Activities.

Standing at the end of the attorneys' table, half facing Judge Fesler, Mayor Power read his affidavit in a loud, clear voice, giving special emphasis to every remark that pertained to the mining companies activities in and about Hibbing covering a period of years. He showed how the first pavement constructed on the Mesaba range was built by the Oliver Iron Mining company at Coleraine and how the first white way was installed on the range was set up at Coleraine by the same company.

"Considerable reference is made in the complaint to this enormous white way system," read the affidavit. "The first poles that were purchased in the village of Hibbing for the construction of this system of lighting were purchased by the water and light board, consisting of William J. West, general superintendent of the plaintiff, Oliver Iron Mining company; William Werne, general superintendent of the Lauma mine, and Bert Angst, then general superintendent of the Buffalo & Susquehanna mine. These three gentlemen constituted the water and light commission of Hibbing. One hundred poles were purchased and were delivered to the village and were paid for by the present council.

"The Oliver Iron Mining company, or the United States Steel corporation, is now constructing what is known as the Model City located near the steel plant in or near the city of Duluth and every street and avenue, every alley throughout this village, or location as it might be called, has been concreted. It is apparent that the Oliver Iron Mining company, or the United States Steel corporation, in the conduct of its own affairs, believes that it is economy to pave in the first instance rather than to put in some other substance and later have to tear it out, reconstructing with permanent pavement.

The water, light and building commission of Hibbing is a separate and distinct legal body from the village council and it has absolute charge of the different departments of the government coming under the head of water, lighting and building, and the white way system referred to in the complaint was constructed by the water, light and building commission."

Police Force Small Enough.

Speaking of the allegation in the complaint that Hibbing has a force of from thirty-two to forty policemen, Mayor Power said that the force actually consists of thirty-two men and that the previous council, which was commonly known in Hibbing as the "Mining Company Council" maintained twenty policemen.

"Since that council went out of office the village has practically doubled in territory of acreage and has practically trebled in platted territory," says the affidavit. "Since then the street car line or interurban line, running between different towns on the range, has been operating its cars and trains down through the principal streets of the village, upon which franchises were granted by the former or mining company council; that the streets of Hibbing are rather narrow and that owing to the fact that this created a congested condition it was necessary to increase the police force by seven or eight men as traffic policemen; that the village of Hibbing proper is restricted to less than three forty-acre tracts; that upon this affiant feels it safe to say, there are over 10,000 people; the lots are but twenty-five feet wide and there are very few lots in this territory that are not built upon. This makes a very congested condition, as is apparent from these facts.

"There are today, according to the records of the office of the secretary of state, pretty close to 600 automobiles owned in Hibbing while there are but 1,200 owned in the whole city of Duluth. With these 500 automobiles running upon the streets of Hibbing within these three forty-acre tracts, with five schools in the same territory, with all the delivery wagons, the street car line and all of the outside traffic from the mines and from the surrounding locality, the court can at once see the necessity for traffic policemen.

Village of Alice.

"Then there is added to this territory the whole of what was originally the village of Alice—a town of the present population of upwards of 2,000 people. This has to be policed and the village of Brooklyn, a portion of the village of Hibbing, which is separate and distinct from the village of Alice and from the principal portion of the village of Hibbing, a town of 1,500 inhabitants, having materially grown in the last two years, necessitated policing and certain of the mining locations needed policing. Besides this there were open pits being cut right into the streets of the village of Hibbing, where children were about, where travel was taking place constantly, and it was necessary, for the protection of these children and the people traveling about the streets, to keep policemen for a considerable portion of the time about the edge of these pits. This is especially true while the process of stripping is going on. Thus with the territory practically doubled and the platted territory practically trebled the police force of Hibbing has only been increased by twelve men. Every policeman who is on the force is a necessary incident to the proper conduct of the policing of Hibbing. This is apparently true when it is a fact that, in addition to this police force the Oliver Iron Mining company, believing that it was inadequate, had practically twelve men of its own, deputized by the local sheriff, and dressed in uniform, patrolling the several mining locations. This is called the Oliver Iron Mining company police force. If the police force we have is not necessary, then why is it necessary for the Oliver Iron Mining company, within the limits of the village of Hibbing, to police its own territory with twelve or more of its own policemen?

Heavy Traffic on Streets.

"I recall one day of noting the traffic at one corner, where we maintain a traffic policeman and found that 3,300 vehicles passed that corner, which is a corner where the street car line also passes, in twelve hours."

Speaking further on the police, Mayor Power says that much of the land between Hibbing and Alice is not occupied and that many people travel this road going to and from Bennet park, the principal amusement place of the village, and two patrolmen are stationed there to protect the men, women and children.

As regards the large number of men on the payrolls of the village, Mayor Power says that during the winter of 1914, after conferring with the complaining mining companies, it was decided to construct a sewer connecting Hibbing with Alice and that this work was begun at that time to afford employment to many men who had been working in the mines which had shut down. He says the mining company officials asked him to try to take care of the men who were idle.

The plan of putting in the conduit was first taken up by the Oliver Iron Mining company in 1907, according to Mr. Power. At that time they employed Burns & Macdonald, engineers of Kansas City, Mo., to look over Penobscot creek and the plaintiffs, themselves, paid the expense. Later, one of their own engineers, A. P. Silliman, drew plans for the conduit at the instigation of the Oliver Iron Mining company. His plans were for a conduit five times as long as the present conduit.

Mr. Power stated that he is in no way trying to improve his personal property by the expenditure of municipal funds and that if any money has been expended in connection with Park addition in any manner that has not been expended in any other territory within the village limits, that it was not with his consent and he stands willing to pay the money back.

Sewage in Creek.

Mayor Power says in his affidavit that the bottom of Penobscot creek is covered to a considerable depth with sewage and during the spring season, when the water is high, this sewage is carried over the banks of the creek and deposited upon the banks, giving a most unbearable odor and having been the cause of several epidemics.

In reference to the much-discussed water system, Mr. Power says: "Previous to the year 1911 the village of Hibbing owned its own electric light plant and its own water plant. In the year 1911 the officers of the Oliver Iron Mining company, who were then in charge of the municipal government of the village, illegally destroyed the water system of Hibbing by digging close to the wells of the village an open pit mine, known as the Hull-Rust. This drained away the water from the wells which were put a distance of four or five hundred feet from this open pit.

"At that time the general superintendent of the Oliver Iron Mining company in the Hibbing district was a member of the water, light and building commission. E. Hibbing, having charge, as such commissioner of this very water and light plant. Such destruction necessitated the village of Hibbing for the last few years of buying its water from the Oliver Iron Mining company and other mining corporations and necessitated the buying of electric power from the Great Northern Power company. Thus Hibbing was placed in the unique position of owning its own water and light plant, yet buying its electricity from the Great Northern Power company and its water from the Oliver Iron Mining company.

"In reality, this enormous expense, which is referred to in the complaint as a large expenditure, was caused by the illegal and improper conduct of the plaintiff, Oliver Iron Mining company, and the contract mentioned was the direct result of the recommendation and suggestion of the said plaintiffs and others. The original cost of the plant that was so destroyed was approximately $500,000."

City's Payrolls.

Mayor Power denies that the average number of men on the city payroll is 855 and alleges that at no time did the number of men exceed 576, and that 146 of these were employed on the new water contract, which was entered into at the request of the plaintiff companies. He says that the purpose of giving the number of men employed by the city in connection with the number of votes cast is to give the impression to the court that a large portion of the population of Hibbing was in the employ of the village, which he says is incorrect.

Mr. Power cites the following as a report made by the Oliver Iron Mining company as to the population of the range communities with respect to non-voters: "On June, 1909, this company had 14,029 employes on the entire range, of whom 23 per cent were Americans, 32.5 per cent Austrians, 15.8 per cent Finnish and 28.4 per cent others. Nationalities that showed an increase over 1907 were Austrians, Finns and Poles. Those that decreased were Americans, Germans and Scandinavians. Data compiled on May 1, 1907, showed that of the 10,114 foreign born men, 15.4 per cent could not speak the English language, and that only 42.9 per cent of those who had been in the United States five years or over had availed themselves of citizenship through the naturalization laws. This shows that the majority of the men employed by the mining companies are not voters but are foreigners."

Per Capita Tax.

Referring to the per capita tax, which the plaintiffs allege is $211 in Hibbing, Mayor Power says this is done by leaving out numerous figures that would show to the court actual facts. "They say that while the per capita tax of Hibbing is $211 that the per capita tax in Duluth is only $11," says Mayor Power. "They do not call the court's attention to the fact that the city of Duluth has a bonded indebtedness of $6,000,000, has a special assessment roll of approximately $500,000 and a tax levy per annum of $914,000 and other revenues of $190,000, while Hibbing has an indebtedness of only $600,000 over and above its present taxes due, as against this enormous indebtedness of the city of Duluth.

"The interest on Duluth's bonded indebtedness is $264,195 per annum, while Hibbing's interest on its debt would not exceed $42,000 per year. It would be necessary for the defendants to lay out large sums of money to collect statistics in connection with some matters alleged in the complaint; this the village of Hibbing is unable to do for the reason that the plaintiffs in this action have illegally and, for the purposes of gaining control of the municipal government, refused to pay their just and legal taxes."

Mr. Power disposes of the $10,000 baseball park complaint by stating that this park was built by the park board and not by the village council and will be paid for by the village and by School District No. 27, in which Hibbing is located. He says this park, which is a combination affair, took the place of a former park that had to be disposed of for the reason that it was built upon a public street and the people petitioned for its removal. The new park, he says, was built for the use of children of the village. It is an athletic park, a baseball park and the municipal skating rink and buildings are there. Children play baseball, football, basket ball, hockey and hold their field and track meets there. He says the municipal skating rink project was originally instituted by the plaintiff companies through their council in 1911.

The reading of affidavits in the case took up nearly all of Saturday night, when Judge Fesler adjourned the hearing until Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock. Only a flash or so of oratory has been, so far, injected into the proceedings, but the heavy guns are expected to be brought into play in the arguments which will follow the reading of the remainder of the affidavits.

DO YOU DREAD THE COLD?

Some people enjoy cold weather, take pleasure in winter sports and the keen air calls the pink to their cheeks and the red to their lips. Others shrink from cold and turn blue at the least exposure to frosty air.

The difference is in the blood. Rich, red blood warms the body. Every long breath of pure air increases the oxygen it carries to every part of the system. Thin blood is unable to take up the life-sustaining oxygen. The body lacks nourishment and the sufferer is always cold, takes a chill easily and is miserable all winter.

Thin blood is largely the sufferer's own fault. It results from neglect, because the blood can be built up. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills supply the elements that the blood needs to make it rich and red and to enable it to carry more oxygen. Building up the red portion of the blood is simple but because thin blood does not call attention to itself it is often neglected. Have you seriously considered taking a course of treatment with these blood-making pills? If you are in doubt write for information.

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., will send you a booklet "Building Up the Blood" free on request.

MANY TWINS ARE BORN.

Carrington, N. D., Disputes Claims of Montgomery, County, Mo.

Carrington, N. D., Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—High Point, Montgomery county, Mo., which in recent press dispatches has been laying claim to being the original twin factory is not in the running when Carrington is considered.

The Missouri town claims twelve sets of twins have been born there since the place was founded, but one Ion man, like the Weeks man, had discovered a movement to place Roosevelt's name on the primary ticket, and, again like the Weeks man, he said that if this could not be prevented Roosevelt would get the delegation.

The third report arrived in the shape of a letter stating that Roosevelt's name was to go upon the Republican primary ballot in Washington and quoting Senator Wesley L. Jones of that state as saying the colonel would sweep the Washington primary.

REMOVING LANDMARK

Last Service Is Held in Pilgrim Congregational Church.

Was First of Big Houses of Worship in Duluth.

After having been dedicated in 1887 and serving as the house of worship for twenty-eight years, the Pilgrim Congregational church, a $55,000 Mankato stone structure standing at the corner of Lake avenue and Second street, was forever closed yesterday noon after Rev. Charles N. Thorp, pastor, preached a sermon on "The Church of the Living God."

Workmen, under the supervision of Anderson & Gow, contractors, will begin this week razing the structure and the material will be sold either in bulk or piecemeal to various Duluth building supply concerns.

Pilgrim Congregational church was the first of the really large houses of worship to be erected in Duluth and was preceded by a smaller frame church and parsonage that stood at the corner of First avenue east and Second street. The old church was torn down, but the parsonage still stands and is occupied as a dwelling by William Beatty and family.

Plan New Church.

Plans for a new Pilgrim church are now in the hands of Architect F. G. German, and it is probable that it will be known this week just what the style and cost of the building will be. It is believed that the new structure will be of Colonial style and will be built of brick with stone trimmings. The cost is not determined upon, but it is assured that a handsome church will be erected.

"Our new church will be built on lots which the congregation owns at Twenty-third avenue east and Fourth street, which face 150 feet on the street and have good depth," said Rev. Charles N. Thorp, pastor, this morning. "A parish house, for social gatherings, will also be built on the same site and the architecture will conform to that of the church.

"Just what the new church and parish house will cost I cannot say until the plans are out. We received $35,000 for the sale of our property on Lake avenue and have besides this amount $70,000 subscribed.

"Next Sunday we will hold our Sunday school services in the Masonic temple at 9:45 and our morning service at 10:45. Our evening services will probably be held in the Plaisdan church, corner of Eighteenth avenue east and First street. I do not believe that our new church will be ready for occupancy before the latter part of 1916."

The Y. M. C. A. is now the owner of the Pilgrim site at Lake avenue and Second street and will build a boys' branch Y. M. C. A. building there, commencing work this year.

ROOSEVELT SEEKS G. O. P. CANDIDACY

"Gets Jump" in Three of the Early Primary States.

Chicago, Sept. 20. — A Washington special to the Tribune says: Col. Theodore Roosevelt is a candidate for the Republican nomination for president.

While the colonel is having a bully time hunting up in Canada his lieutenants have perfected arrangements to place his name on the Republican ballots in nearly every state possessing the direct primary system.

This information reached Washington today from three sources not friendly to Roosevelt.

The first news came from an organizer who has been scouring the West in the interest of the Weeks of Massachusetts boomlet. He came directly from Minnesota to Washington and sought a conference with the Burton of Ohio supporters. He said he had found indisputable evidence that Roosevelt's name is to go upon the Republican primary ticket in Minnesota, and, he added:

"From all I learned, Roosevelt will carry the primary of that state just as sure as the Great Jehovah made little apples."

Quickly following this a Burton emissary arrived from Montana. In that state Burton has the support of the ablest of the old line Republicans. They are openly for him. But the Burton man, like the Weeks man, had discovered a movement to place Roosevelt's name on the primary ticket, and, again like the Weeks man, he said that if this could not be prevented Roosevelt would get the delegation.

The third report arrived in the shape of a letter stating that Roosevelt's name was to go upon the Republican primary ballot in Washington and quoting Senator Wesley L. Jones of that state as saying the colonel would sweep the Washington primary.

GEOGRAPHY SHOULD BEGIN AT HOME

Knowledge of Local Conditions Most Important, Says Prof. Van Cleef.

Geography should begin at home, according to Prof. Eugene Van Cleef of the Duluth normal school faculty.

"In the Duluth schools and in the normal work," he said, "we commence with Duluth and the adjoining country, not only in the matter of locality, but in political, economic and physical geography. The phenomena, which are presented by the topography of St. Louis county, are taught first hand by inciting to observation, with the idea in mind that an understanding of them is essential to a proper understanding of other and differing phenomena elsewhere.

"It is not particularly valuable to know the name of some obscure ruler over a tiny principality, and its location on the map unless the knowledge is accompanied by an understanding of what he and his principality stand for, what the climate is, what the resources are, to what changes they are liable and susceptible, and their economic relation to the rest of the world."

Prof. Van Cleef is the author of "A Geographical Study of Duluth," which was printed serially in the American Geographical magazine and which has since appeared in book form.

ALLEGED LAND FRAUD WARRANTS ISSUED

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 20.—Warrants were issued Saturday, upon complaint of Dr. Ralph Elmgreen, Milwaukee, for Charles E. Fowler, former president of a bank of Gary, Ind., and H. F. Donnelly and R. G. Ingersoll, Chicago real estate agents, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses and larceny as bailee in connection with a big land deal in Arkansas. Many thousands of dollars is said to be involved.

"ON TRIAL," A PLAY TEEMING WITH EXHILARATING ACTION

"On Trail" is a marvelous play with an unusual plot. Much of its cleverness is due to its mechanical ingenuity. But it is its acting virility that makes the piece stand out in bold relief among recent productions.

"On Trial" is from the pen of Elmer L. Reizenstein. "It is his first play effort, but judging by its reception in New York and Chicago, this author will have to be reckoned with as a future contributor to the contemporary stage. The play deals with the actualities of life, so true, it is said, that audiences are electrified by its reality and stirred to acclamation by its tremendous climax.

"On Trial" is a wonderful play, wonderful in its technique; wonderful in its staging, and wonderful in the interest it arouses, and its production in this city is an event that theatergoers can't afford to ignore.

PANAMA CANAL AGAIN BLOCKED BY SLIDE

Panama, Sept. 20.—A serious slide in the canal occurred Saturday north of Gold Hill on the east bank. There had been a previous slide at this point, but the new movement is much greater. The mass almost entirely fills the channel, so that the earth shows above the water where ships ordinarily pass. General opinion is that it will be a week at least before vessels, even of light draft will be able to pass through.

TWO MORE TOWNS GET A RAILROAD

Beach, N. D., Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Twenty-five miles of the Northern Pacific extension south from this city will be turned over to the operating department of the railroad by the contractors this week, the job being completed. The line will serve the towns of Ollie and Golva.

Construction work will be continued rapidly, the principal crews now being located at Carlysle. It is expected that the entire line will be in readiness to handle practically all of this year's grain crop. The line taps a very rich district.

FROM RICHEST OF VILLAGES

Indorsement of Tanlac Comes From Mayor Power's Bailiwick.

Stomach Troubles Have Bothered Hibbing Man More Than Tax Troubles.

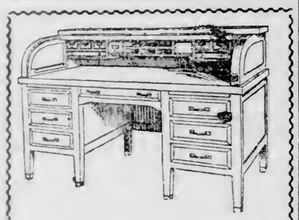

From "The Richest Village in the World" comes the latest indorsement of Tanlac.

Hibbing has been advertised far and wide because of its tax controversies with the mining companies. Tax troubles were not worrying E. M. Griffith nearly as much as stomach troubles, however.

Mr. Griffith resides at the Mahoning location in Hibbing, where he has kept a hotel for miners. He is well known to nearly all the employes of the mines at Hibbing. Naturally he gave some attention to the tax controversy, but he had an internal controversy of his own which appealed to him more directly until he found Tanlac.

"I suffered intensely from griping pains in the stomach," he told The Tanlac Man. "I saw Tanlac advertised in the Duluth papers and bought some. The pains in my stomach now trouble me but little, and I believe Tanlac is helping me greatly. I freely recommend it because of what it has done for me."

Tanlac may be purchased in Duluth from the store of William A. Abbett, "the careful druggist," at 219 West Superior street, where Claude J. Meredith, "The Tanlac Man," or one of his assistants is constantly in charge to explain its merits. Tanlac may also be procured at the Abbett branch stores, 101 West Fourth street and 932 East Second street.—Advertisement

MUCH MISSIONARY WORK IN STATE

West Duluth Baptist Pastor Says There Is Plenty to Do.

The Baptist Home Missionary society is finding plenty of work to do in Minnesota, according to Rev. Herbert Ford, pastor of the West Duluth Baptist church, Fifty-ninth and Grand avenues, who spoke yesterday on "A Christian State." He said that although the time had passed when Christians confine their activities to their own state, there is still great need of such work in Minnesota.

"Our denomination has a society organized for doing missionary work just within the state of Minnesota," he said, "and they find ample opportunity for it; in the cities, among the miners, among the immigrants in their own tongues, and assisting in maintaining weak and struggling churches that cannot entirely support themselves."

"Jesus spent all His time doing missionary work within His own small section of country, many times smaller than the state of Minnesota," he said. "So far as the records show, He was never outside of Palestine but once, when He was carried, without His consent, to Egypt. But that does not mean that Jesus was provincial or restricted in His outlook upon life. Hise native land was in the very center of world affairs, being on the main commercial routes from east to west. Young people of His day had a rare opportunity to learn of world affairs and to become acquainted with people of many races.

"Jesus restricted His activities for other reasons: in order to lay a strong foundation before attempting to spread His gospel over too wide a territory, and in order to get His followers well established in the faith. Later He gave them the command to go into all the world and preach the gospel to every human creature."

"Let us give what we can," he said, in speaking of financial needs for the work in Minnesota; "even deny ourselves in order to do it. It is an investment that pays dividends in lives, not in dollars."

FIND POKER GAME INSTEAD OF WHISKY

Police Raid Gary House and Arrest Six for Gambling.

Believing that a "blind pig" was being operated at the home of Dan Mickovich, 1315 Ninety-ninth avenue west, Lieut. Robert McDermott and his force of New Duluth patrolmen yesterday afternoon raided the place but found a poker game instead of an illicit still. Five men besides the proprietor of the house were arrested in the raid.

The men playing gave the names of Jake Bogich, 30; John Mickovich, 23; Peter Bolch, 23; Mike Medlnich, 25, and Amiel Polich, 22. A sum of $2.65 was said to have been in the "pot" at the time the officers descended on the place.

The men were arraigned before Judge H. W. Lanners of the West Duluth court this morning. All pleaded not guilty to the charge of gambling and a hearing was set for Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. Each of the men put up $15 bail for his appearance.

Lieut. McDermott said he had received a report that a "blind pig" was being operated at the house. He sent a man to the place with a marked $1 bill for the purpose of purchasing whisky. The man got the whisky all right, but later the lieutenant found that one of the men who are alleged to have been playing poker, was sent out to get the booze. It is now probable that a warrant will be issued for the man who sold the liquor.

PLAN TO HOLD RALLY.

Westminster Sunday School Will Give Program Oct. 10.

Plans for a rally day to be held on Sunday, Oct. 10, by the Sunday school of the Westminster Presbyterian church, Fifty-eighth avenue west and Ramsey street, were discussed yesterday at a meeting of the teachers and officers of the school. A program of music, recitations and other features will be given.

The program committee consists of Mrs. William Hankins, Miss Florence Salter and Miss Minnie Blakney. The decoration committee comprises R. T. Smallidge, Rolland Clark, Wallace Haskins, Miss Murne Murray, Miss Ethel Schober and Charles I. Towner.

WIN SECOND GAME.

Tigers Capture Contest From Maroons on Gridiron.

The Tigers won their second game of football this season yesterday by defeating the Maroons by a score of 42 to 0. The game was played on the Fifty-second avenue grounds. Abe Peterson, fullback for the Tigers, played a star game, scoring four of the touchdowns for his team. Fox, Angelo and McNulty also each scored a touchdown.

Roy Butler, manager for the Tigers, would like to hear from some team in the 135-pound class for a game next Sunday. The games can be arranged by calling Calumet 242-M.

CURLING DUE SOON; THOMAS QUINN RETURNS

An inevitable sign that the curling season is close at hand has made its appearance. The sign, according to Frank H. Wade, president of the Western Curling club, is the return of Thomas Quinn to the city. Mr. Quinn is an enthusiastic lover of the sport and returned yesterday from Hibbing where he has been spending the summer.

"You can say I have got back and intend staying in town to play this winter," said Mr. Quinn this morning. "I am going to organize an all star curling rink this year and am not going to miss the bonspiel this winter if I can help it."

Mr. Quinn got his reputation as a curler at the Northwestern Bonspiel two years ago when he walked away with the Consolation event.

BIG PAYROLLS.

Steel Plant Will Pay 1,350 Employes; Wages $2.50 and Up.

Approximately $60,000 is being distributed in cash in the western end of the city today. The sum represents the semi-monthly wages of about 1,350 employes of the Minnesota Steel plant. The pay day at the plant is the biggest disbursement of money made by any concern in the city. Wages of employes range from $2.50 upward. The pay days are the fifth and twentieth of each month.

On Friday of this week the 200 employes of the Universal Portland Cement company will be paid off. The employes at this plant are paid on the tenth and twenty-fourth of each month. The payroll amounts to about $8,000.

ESCAPES FROM WORK FARM.

Prisoner Held for Assault of His Wife Makes Get-Away.

Louis Mantich, aged 35, prisoner at the St. Louis county work farm, escaped from the institution some time last night, according to report given the police this morning. Mantich was sentenced from the West Duluth police court on Sept. 7 for a thirty-day term.

Mantich was arrested on a charge of assault in the third degree. He was charged with having beaten his wife while she was working for a family on South Fifty-sixth avenue. Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the assault. West Duluth police have been warned to be on the lookout for him.

Misses Bertrand Entertain.

Misses Ruth Bertrand, Helta Bertrand and Myrtle Beaudin, entertained Saturday at the home of the former, 513 South Sixty-fifth avenue west. Saturday evening in honor of M. Bertrand. Games and music featured the entertainment. The rooms were decorated in blue and white, asters, sweet peas and roses being used effectively. The program included musical numbers by Joseph Janowski, William Ekholm, E. Ryan, J. Morarity, Oscar Sundquist and Carl Anderson.

Benefit for Orphans.

A benefit performance for the St. James' orphanage will be given tomorrow evening at the Alhambra theater, 321 North Central avenue. The proceeds from the admissions will be turned over for the benefit of the home. A good program has been promised by the management for the evening.

WILL WED ON THE GOPHER

Duluth Will Witness Its First Naval Marriage Ceremony.

While several military weddings have been featured in Duluth in the years gone by, Duluth will have its first naval nuptial ceremony this evening at 8 o'clock, on board the naval training ship Gopher, when Miss Eleanor Bell Stone will become the wife of William Grear Moffatt, seaman in the United States navy. Naval uniforms will be worn and many of the officers of the Gopher will be in attendance, attired in their official dress.

The name of the bridesmaid could not be learned this afternoon but the bridegroom will be attended by Guy Turner, gunner's mate in charge of the ordnance. Rev. R. Edward Sayles, pastor of the First Baptist church, will read the service and music will be rendered by an orchestra of three pieces.

Many invitations have been sent out and it is expected that at least fifty couples will be present. After the ceremony the wedding party will go by boat to the naval militia boathouse on Park Point where a wedding dinner will be served, followed by dancing.

Miss Stone, the bride-to-be, resides in Duluth with her mother, her father being a resident, during the summer months, of Isle Royale. Mr. Moffatt is, at present, shipkeeper of the Gopher.

VILLA ANNOUNCES CARRANZA DEFEAT

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 20.—Villa sources today announced the defeat of forces of Gen. Calles, Carranza commander at Paredes, and in the Canyon de San Antonio later yesterday by Gen. Maytorena's troops.

It was said 4 officers and 35 men were the Carranza losses at Paredes, and 8 officers and 18 men killed at Canyon de San Antonio. The Carranza forces are reported on the defensive at Divisa de Ros, near Naco.

DULUTH'S INFORMATION BOOTH ATTRACTS WIDESPREAD ATTENTION

Duluth's friendly spirit of welcome extended to strangers and visitors through the little information booth which the Commercial club has established on the corner of Fifth avenue west and Superior street is receiving nation-wide comment. In a letter received this morning by Secretary R. V. Eva of the Commercial club from Richard B. Watrous, secretary of the American Civics association of Washington, D. C., the letter states that he has been most favorably impressed with the social and business importance of the Duluth booth and asks that a photo of it be sent him so that he can run it with a story in one of the papers published in the national capital.

Mr. Watrous' attention was attracted to the booth by an article written by George D. McCarthy, assistant secretary of the Duluth club, and which appeared in the September number of "Town Development," published in New York city. Mr. McCarthy's story states that an average of 250 people daily sought information at the booth last year and that it is expected that the figures will be much increased this year.

Anent the booth, the following editorial appeared in the Washington Times of Sept. 14:

Making the Visitor Feel at Home.

"Duluth has a new municipal idea which other cities which make an appeal to the sightseer and visitor, and especially, Washington, might well adopt.

"In Duluth, on a prominent corner, at a point near the railway station, which strangers are likely to pass, a bureau of free information has been set up by the city where visitors can get any information they may wish about street cars, public buildings, hotels and sightseeing.

"Aside from the utility of such a bureau its effect on the visitor would make it worth while. Policemen may answer many questions, but they are not always equipped to give detailed information. The stranger entering Duluth is confronted with the pleasing impression that the city expected him, made provision to welcome him and is ready to place information that will help him at his disposal.

"In Washington the opportunity for such a bureau is obvious. Placed in front of the Union station it would reach the great majority of the visitors who come here. If the city could not establish it a private organization might start it. The idea is worth the consideration of the Chamber of Commerce and the Board of Trade."

CAN'T PLAY THE CORNET NOW; WANTS $500 FROM RAILROAD

Time was when C. T. Christensen of Two Harbors was adept in playing the cornet, and although C. T. was not a professional musician he found the instrument to be a source of pleasure both to himself and his friends.

But since Sept. 30, 1914, he has not been able to play. This he attributes to the fact that he was severely injured while in the employ of the Duluth & Iron Range Railroad company and because of his alleged incapacity he wants the company to pay him $500. His case is on trial today before Judge Fesler and a district court jury.

Christensen was employed at the Two Harbors railroad shops as a boiler washer last September when he met with the accident complained of. He alleges that while attempting to lift a "crown sheet" onto a scale, he severely strained and ruptured himself. The "crown sheet" weighed about 1,000 pounds, he says.

Christensen is asking $10,000 general damages and $670 special damages, of which $500 is for his alleged disability in blowing his cornet. He also asks $170 for doctor's bills.

DULUTH WATER PLANT MANAGER HAS EYES OPENED BY "REAL" RESERVOIR

New York city is now erecting one single reservoir and an accompanying dam to cost $4,400,000, with a total capacity of 39,000,000,000 gallons of water, according to D. A. Reed, manager of the water and light department, who returned yesterday from Gotham, where he attended the annual convention of the New England Water Works association there last week. Mr. Reed was accompanied by Mrs. Reed, who returned with him yesterday.

This single reservoir will cost more than Duluth's entire water and light plant, while the capacity will be 1,000 times greater than all the reservoirs in this city, Mr. Reed pointed out in comparison.

An inspection of this monster reservoir was one of the features of the convention, a special trip having been made by all the delegates. A descriptive paper on the reservoir was read by Wilson Fitch Smith, division engineer of the board of water supply of New York city. The reservoir is located at Kensico dam at Valhalla, N. Y.

During the convention Mr. Reed took part in several discussions, leading in the argument on water rates and methods of charging. He also explained the proposed change in Duluth water rates, announced in a recent issue of The Herald. This change provides for a "demand" charge on all meters and a flat rate for water, there being no sliding scale as at present.

The convention took place at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, the gathering continuing for three days. Entertainments for the visiting women included theater parties, excursions up the Hudson river, a sight-seeing trip about New York and daily luncheons.

SUPERVISED INDOOR PLAY

Duluth's First Community Center Will Open at Bryant School.

Winter Sports Will Also Be Conducted on City Playgrounds.

Duluth's first community center under municipal supervision will open on Oct. 1 at the Bryant school.

J. R. Batchelor, recreational director, announced this morning that the indoor activities of the city would begin Oct. 1, with the organization of the various classes, clubs and societies at the Bryant school. As soon as work is under way at that institution, similar organizations will be perfected at other schools and wherever supervised work is desired. Mr. Batchelor's assistants will take charge of the various classes and societies.

It is Director Batchelor's aim to conduct classes in physical culture, domestic science and communal work, in addition to the outdoor sports during the winter months. These latter include skating, coasting, tobogganing, hockey and skiing.

Tomorrow afternoon the grade school league football team will be organized at the council chambers of the city hall, where representatives of the various institutions will meet with Director Batchelor. The meeting will begin at 4:30 o'clock.

Supplies for the league have already been purchased and games will begin within the next week, Mr. Batchelor announced. The three public playgrounds at Chester and Harrison parks and Fifty-second avenue west will be used for the outdoor sports and the football league as long as the weather permits, after which they will be flooded and used for ice skating.

IRONWOOD HAS PRETTY WEDDING

Ironwood, Mich., Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the prettiest weddings solemnized in Ironwood for some time took place at the Swedish Mission church when Miss Amy Erickson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Erickson, Ayer street, became the bride of Clarence Hult, the eldest son of Marshal and Mrs. Swan Hult. The Rev. Carl Johnson, pastor of the church, read the ceremony.

Immediately before the entrance of the bridal party into the auditorium of the church, Arvid Hult of Ishpeming, sang "O Promise Me," while Miss Eva Liljegrten played at the piano. Miss Jennie Nyberg acted as maid of honor, while the Misses Ella Brenzel and Ellen Gustafson were bridesmaids. The groom was attended by his brother as best man, and Harold Hult and Hjalmar Larson were ushers.

The church was beautifully decorated in yellow and white. The bride wore a gown of white crepe de meteor en train, trimmed with lace and pearls. She wore a bridal veil of tulle and carried a large shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Nyberg's dress was embroidered net. She wore a large yellow hat and carried an armful of yellow roses. The bridesmaids were dressed in gowns of yellow crepe de chine and trimmed with lace. They wore yellow bonnets and carried bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums. After the ceremony a wedding supper was served to the members of the immediate families at the home of the bride's parents. The bride is one of Ironwood's popular young ladies. She is a graduate of the local school with the class of 1908, and of Stout university in 1911. Mr. Hult is the son of the marshal of this city and is a graduate of the Ironwood schools, and now holds a responsible position in the general offices of the Oliver Iron Mining company in this city.

A. C. Gillette was appointed by Judge Gilpin in probate court today as administrator of the estate of his father-in-law, the late William White, who died at the age of 67 on Aug. 20 last, leaving an estate valued at upwards of $85,000. The heirs are William D. White, son; Mrs. Anna W. Gillette, daughter; and Margaret Dale Ames, grand-daughter.

MANY SPECIES OF BANANA.

London Chronicle: The banana as a substitute for the potato would have one drawback. It has been found that those who live mainly upon this article of diet soon tend to become what is politely called "tubby." The banana with which we are all familiar is only one of many useful species. Cochin China produces a single fruit that is an ample meal for three men, and in East Africa an intoxicating drink is made from the native banana.

ORDINANCE IS CURATIVE

New Measure Intended to Correct Defect in Many Ordinances.

Penalties Must Not Exceed the Three Months' Limit.

An ordinance regulating fines and penalties in the municipal court of Duluth will be introduced this afternoon by Commissioner Silberstein, head of the public safety division.

The measure is expected to cover discrepancies in all other city ordinances. Recently the district court ruled that a fine of ninety days is in violation of the statutes, which prohibit sentences over three months, and as many of the ordinances contain this provision, the new measure is expected to protect the city from losing cases in the future. Judge Cant has ruled that more than ninety days may be more than three months, thus making the ordinances in violation of the statutes. In addition, the safety commissioner will introduce an ordinance amending the gambling ordinance passed Jan. 7, 1895, providing for a fine of $100 or eighty-five days instead of ninety days.

The new ordinance on fines permits an imprisonment for a period not exceeding three months in default of the payment of the maximum fine of $100. The measure follows:

"Section 1. That no greater fine, penalty or punishment shall be imposed for the breach or violation of any ordinance of the city of Duluth, in the municipal court of said city, under or by reason for any ordinance of said city, than a fine not exceeding the sum of $100, or imprisonment for a period not exceeding three months, or such imprisonment in default of such fine.

"Section 2. That so much of any and all ordinances of said city as provide for any fine, penalty or punishment, upon the breach or violation of said ordinance, in excess of a fine of $100 or imprisonment for a period of three months, or such imprisonment in default of such fine, are hereby repealed. Provided, that this section shall not be construed as to limit or affect in any wise the power of said municipal court to impose such fine, penalty or punishment as may be provided by any ordinance of said city not exceeding a fine of $100 or imprisonment for a period not exceeding three months, in the discretion of said court, or such imprisonment in default of such fine.

"Section 3. That where in any ordinance heretofore passed by the city council, no penalty has been fixed in default of the payment of any fine imposed under the provisions of such ordinance, the person so in default may be imprisoned until such fine is paid."

DUMBA ENGAGES PASSAGE HOME

Austrian Ambassador Will Leave United States on Steamer Rotterdam.

New York, Sept. 20.—It was learned today that Dr. Constantin T. Dumba, the Austro-Hungarian ambassador, whose recall was asked by President Wilson, has reserved passage on the steamer Rotterdam which sails from this port Tuesday, Sept. 28.

The reservation was made today. The Rotterdam's port of destination is Rotterdam, Holland, whence the ambassador may travel through neutral territory into Germany and thence to Vienna. The Rotterdam will make on this trip her usual call at Falmouth, England, but it is assumed that the ambassador has received assurances through the United States government that his safe passage is guaranteed.

"WINTER CITY OF THE CONTINENT"

Former Duluthian Now Working to Advertise San Antonio.

San Antonio, Texas, is seeking publicity as the "Winter City of the Continent," according to Edwin H. Lee, associate manager of the St. Anthony hotel of that city, but formerly managing director of the Spalding hotel of Duluth. Mr. Lee, while in Duluth, sought to make this city known as the summer city of the continent.

In a letter to The Herald Mr. Lee declares that San Antonio has everything necessary for a winter city except golf for the tourist, and he is now active in a campaign to secure two eighteen-hole golf courses and a six-hole practice course. The city already has two golf courses, he says, but these are club property and not open to the public.

Mr. Lee also tells of a campaign now under the direction of the Thousand club, which is planning to advertise the city of San Antonio as widely and favorably as possible. Nearly the whole of a $10,000-fund has already been raised for the purpose, he says.

WILL CELEBRATE EMANCIPATION DAY

Colored People of Duluth Arrange Program for Wednesday Night.

Colored people of Duluth have perfected plans for a celebration of Emancipation day, which will take place in the Owls' hall, this city, Wednesday evening. The speaker of the evening will be Charles W. Scrutchin of Bemidji, well-known attorney of that part of the state. The aid society of the Calvary Baptist church has the program in charge.

J. H. Harris, colored attorney of this city, is now busy working on a plan to bring to Duluth a large number of the better class of negroes, who would probably be interested in farm lands and make some investments. He also plans on having some of the prominent colored lecturers of the country come here during the winter months to address the negroes of Duluth.

Sykeston Has $8,000 Fire.

Sykeston, N. D., Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The R. J. Atchison harness and furniture store was destroyed, and the Sykeston News building and postoffice were badly damaged by fire that originated in the Atchison place. The city's fire fighting facilities were inadequate and that fact permitted the rapid spread of the flames. The total loss is about $8,000. The cause of the fire is not definitely ascertained.

DANTE MONUMENT TO BE MADE INTO CANNON

Rome, via Paris, Sept. 20.—The Tribuna announces that the monument erected in Trent to the memory of Dante, and considered to be a masterpiece of sculpture has been demolished by the Austrians in order that the bronze may be used for making cannon.

YOUNG GARDENERS SURPRISE BRAINERD

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 20.—School children of Brainerd are making a surprising record as market gardeners in a contest soon to be closed and their exhibits are displayed on a long table at the chamber of commerce rooms.

Eighty-five exhibitors are represented with from one to five vegetables each.

Premium ribbons will be awarded exhibitors of the best vegetables, while a prize will be given the school whose pupils win the most number of points. The judges are Carl Zapffe, D. A. Haggard, W. A. M. Johnstone, N. H. Ingersoll and William McCloskey.

The contest is being held under the auspices of the social welfare committee of the Brainerd Musical club, of which Mrs. W. C. Cobb is chairman. Free seeds were distributed last spring to all who had gardens.

SHOCKED THE MINISTER

Wife Returned With Friends During Progress of House-Warming.

Husband Says She Pawned Wedding Rings to See White Lights.

Brightly lighted cafes and cabaret shows always appealed to Clara Erickson, the pretty young wife of John Erickson of Proctor, more strongly than the quietude and drudgery of house work, he alleges.

Mr. Erickson realized this soon after he had married bu it was never more forcibly impressed upon him than it was on one occasion last January when the young wife broke up a housewarming affair at which the pastor of the parish was one of the invited guests. Mrs. Erickson and two girl companions, all of whom were intoxicated, Erickson claims, staged a dance which highly mortified both Erickson and his guests. He was obliged to call an officer and have them ejected.

In district court this afternoon, Erickson, through his attorney, E. L. Fogarty, filed suit for divorce from his wife, Clara, on the triple grounds of cruelty, desertion and adultery. Mrs. Erickson is only 20 years old and Erickson is 40.

The Ericksons were married at Proctor on June 19, 1913. From the date of their marriage, he alleges, she has habitually treated him in a cruel and inhumane manner. Among other things, he says, she has called him vile and abusive names, has remained away from home for long intervals without cause and has neglected her household duties.

Erickson alleges that her conduct has been such that it has caused much talk and scandal and that it has greatly humiliated him. In July, 1914, he says, she left her home in Proctor and came to Duluth, where she stayed a week. When he found her at the home of her sister, he discovered that she had pawned their wedding ring. She at first refused to return with him but finally yielded. She returned for two weeks and then returned to the bright lights. Since that time, she has never lived with him, although he has made repeated efforts to have her do so.

Mrs. Erickson's call at the housewarming party in January of this year was entirely unexpected. Mr. Erickson has built an addition to his house and had invited a few friends, including the pastor, to spend the evening with him and to celebrate the occasion. She evidently heard about the affair and decided to enliven the party by her presence. Erickson alleges that she was drunk when she came and that he was obliged to call an officer and have her taken away. After being put out of the house, he claims, she went to a Proctor hotel in company with a male companion and there continued her disorderly conduct until she was also ejected from that place.

On March 5 last, Erickson alleges, his wife was arrested on a charge of residing in a house of ill fame and that on June 25, last, she was apprehended on a disorderly charge and was sentenced to serve thirty days in the county jail. The sentence was suspended upon her promise to leave the city. She failed to obey the mandate of the court and when she was arrested on Sept. 1 last, she was again sentenced to thirty days in jail and was committed. The divorce papers were served upon her Saturday at the jail.

Beavers May Build.
Duluth lodge, No. 155, Benevolent Order of Beavers, will initiate a class of twenty-eight candidates this evening at a meeting to be held in Moose hall, 224 West First street. The lodge members will also discuss plans for building a new hall. Several sites in the West end are under consideration.

Begin Fall Program.
With an entertainment and dance in Forester's hall, Sept. 28, Imperial camp No. 2206, will begin its fall and winter activities. Music and speeches will be features of the evening.

Auto and Car Collide.
Last evening as Ernest Hallock was driving along Superior street with his family, his auto was struck by a street car and badly damaged. Mr. Hallock was proceeding west and just passing the turning circle at Eighth avenue west when a car turned in without warning, he claims, striking the auto on the side, smashing the fender and doing other damage. The glass in the front of the street car was broken. The motorman claims he did not see the auto. No one was seriously injured, but the occupants of the auto were badly shaken up.

Sidewalk Victim Flies Claim.
Mrs. Andrea Rude filed a claim with City Clerk Borgen this morning for $500 damages as the result of an alleged fall on the corner of Fifty-sixth avenue west and Elinor street on the evening of Sept. 5. The accident, the complaint states, was caused by the plaintiff's tripping over a loose plank. H. H. Phelps is her attorney.

Curfew Ordinance Printed.
Copies of the new curfew ordinance have been printed by City Clerk Borgen and may be obtained by any person interested in the measure. The ordinance was passed on Sept. 1 and will become effective Saturday, Oct. 2.

Wife Gets Divorce.
In district court Saturday afternoon Mrs. Ellen Johnson was granted a divorce from Elnar Johnson on the grounds of desertion. The Johnsons were married on Jan. 4, 1913, and according to the story told by Mrs. Johnson, she was abandoned after they had lived together four months. There are no children. The decree was granted by Judge Dancer.

Petitions for Paving.
Petitions were filed with City Clerk Borgen this morning for the paving of Twenty-fifth avenue east, from Sixth to Seventh streets, and the installation of a sanitary sewer in the alley between Parkland avenue and Chester Park way. They will be presented to the council this afternoon.

Victory for Veterinarian.
In district court this afternoon, a jury returned a verdict in favor of Dr. James G. Harris, veterinary surgeon, for $38, and against Joseph Kaneski, who sued the veterinarian for $275 damages for alleged malpractice on a horse. The verdict was a complete victory for Dr. Harris. He was represented by Whipple & Randall. Andrew Nelson appeared for the plaintiff.

On Trial for Perjury.
Charles Pearson was placed on trial this afternoon before Judge Dancer and a jury on a charge of perjury. Pearson was indicted by the September grand jury on a charge of having given false testimony while being examined as a witness in a civil action tried at the May term of court before Judge Fesler.

Touring Cuyuna in Auto.
Former State Senator S. A. Stockwell of Minneapolis, accompanied by L. A. Day, E. H. Day and Paul Day, also of Minneapolis, was in the city for a short time this morning. They came by auto through the Cuyuna country, and left in their machine this afternoon for the return to Minneapolis.

POET'S BROTHER IN FORESTRY SERVICE

Benton Mackaye, brother of Percy Mackaye, the poet and dramatist, is in Duluth today in connection with the forestry service of the Federal government. His work is the inspection of the cut-over lands of Northern Minnesota and Northern Wisconsin. Later he will make a report of his findings and the government will make up a program for the development of such lands throughout the country.

Mr. Mackaye just arrived from the Twin Cities, where he passed some time studying the forestry reports and interviewing the state forestry officials. From Duluth he will go to the northern part of the state, returning here in a week or so.

Mr. Mackaye said today that the lands in this part of the country had wonderful possibilities, and would undoubtedly be greatly improved within the next few years.

Unlike his famous brother, Mr. Mackaye does not woo the muse, but confines his labors to the practical problems of land development.

Heart Fails During Fight With Burglars

MRS. JAMES E. NICHOLS.

Mrs. James E. Nichols, the widow of a millionaire grocer of New York, was killed recently by three men, who had come to her apartment to rob her. She died of heart disease while struggling with them. Her footman, Onnie Talas, confessed that he let the three men in and that one of them was a former employe of Mrs. Nichols.

NOT ENTITLED TO SOLE POSSESSION

Court Denies Injunction to Lessee of Land Tract in Section 36.

Although B. Christensen is in possession of a state grass and pasturage lease covering forty acres of land in section 36, 67-17, he is not entitled to exclusive possession of the land as against the rights of a lumber company with a lease for building sites and a contract to cut and purchase state-owned timber.

This was the gist of a ruling made by Judge Dancer in district court today. The court filed an order denying Christensen's application for a temporary injunction against the Virginia & Rainy Lake Lumber company. Christensen sought to have the company enjoined from trespassing on his land and maintaining camps there.

The company filed an answer to the application for an injunction and set forth that it was in lawful possession of the land.

HUNTERS SPOT BROKEN RAIL

Give Warning in Time to Prevent Wreck of Train.

Ladysmith, Wis., Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The discovery of a broken rail by a party of hunters north of here last evening averted a serious wreck of the Velvet special, the night train that operates between Duluth and Chicago. The hunters were walking along the track when the damaged rail was discovered. The railroad authorities were warned of the danger and the broken rail replaced before the arrival of the train from Duluth. But for the timely warning of the hunters it is believed that a serious wreck would have occurred.

MAMMOTH SYNDICATE TO FLOAT BIG LOAN

Will Handle "Billion Dollar" Credit and Will Be Nation-Wide.

New York, Sept. 20.—The largest underwriting syndicate the western world has ever known was in process of formation today to handle the proposed "billion dollar" credit loan to Great Britain and France, which has now shrunk, it was said, to a sum yet to be determined, between $600,000,000 and $800,000,000.

This mammoth syndicate, according to tentative arrangements said to have been agreed upon, will be nation-wide in its character and will comprise national and state banks and trust companies from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

CLAN STEWART WILL RESUME ACTIVITIES

Clan Stewart is planning on a great social year and has decided to give its first program next Wednesday night when an oldtime concert will be celebrated. It is now several months since the women have had a chance to visit the Clan hall and it is expected that they will come out in large numbers on that evening. Excellent music has been arranged for and the concert will be followed by dancing. There will be no charge for this concert and refreshments will be served free.

The regular October meetings of the Clan will be followed by concert programs but it has not yet been decided whether the monthly dances, which have been held on the second Wednesday of each month, will be featured during the coming year.

SLAVE OF DUTY.

Sunday Magazine: The passenger on the little jerkwater railroad was impatient at the crawling speed. He summoned the porter.

"Sam," he demanded, "can't you make better time than this?"

Sam smiled broadly.

"Yes, sah," he said, "Ah sure can, sah, but Ah just hatter stay wid dis yer train twell we reach Jackson, sah."

ALL DULUTH IS SHOPPING

Wind and Rain Fail to Detract From Fashion Show.

French Ideas Prevail But Style Dictators' Sway Is Ended.

When Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont or Sylvia Pankhurst discover a way of interesting the fair sex in the ballot as much as they are in gowns, lingerie and boots, the votes-for-women fight will end.

At least that is the contention of Edward G. James, professor of political economy and Eastern educator in Duluth today.

"It is truly remarkable," said the professor. "Women will throng the stores and stand before a window display, forgetful of rain, wind, fire, or anything else."

On the second "fall opening" day at downtown mercantile establishments the stores were crowded with admiring crowds who inspected the new gowns with many "Ohs" and "Ahs."

But one thing could detract their attention from the windows and show rooms, and that was someone in their midst attired in an ultra-modern suit or gown.

"It's a funny thing," said one saleslady. "Everybody is shopping today. They want to look at the extreme suits and gowns—the Frenchy ones that they never would wear themselves."

Hundreds of members of the fair sex, accompanied by embarrassed husbands, thronged Superior and First street Saturday night during the opening of fall style week, and accumulated ideas for their guidance in preparing for the fall season.

Despite the war, French ideas seem to prevail in many of the modes. The day of style dictators is at an end, in the belief of many Duluth matrons, for no two costumes are alike. There are long skirts and short ones, straight coats and flaring, light shades and dark, high waist lines and long bodices, anything Milady may desire.

Arrayed in costumes personifying the best artistry of America and Europe, Dame Fashion is making an unusual appeal. Mere changes in style, to attract because of their differences, have been disregarded. Art and history have been studied by designers this year, and the effect has surpassed expectations.

Bustle and panier gowns, recalling the frivolities of the court of Louis XV, Tyrolean scarfs, Puritan hats, Tartan plaids and Queen Victoria hoops, are shown. Every corner of the globe, it seems has been scoured for ideas to be used in the adornment of Milady's person.

TWO MORE PAVEMENTS

Council Will Let Contracts for More Improvements.

Resolutions awarding the contracts for two more pavements to be laid this fall will come up for consideration at the regular council meeting this afternoon.

In addition, the commissioners will order the construction of a bridge at the intersection of Columbus avenue and Hardy street, and the extension of sewer mains involving a total expenditure of approximately $2,500.

Commissioner Farrell will introduce the resolutions awarding A. Hedenberg the contract for paving Fifty-eighth avenue west, from Elinor to Eighth street, on his bid of $4,079 for one-course concrete, and J. D. O'Donnell the contract for paving Third avenue east from Seventh to Eighth street, on his bid of $2,706 for class C macadam. The contracts will be awarded to Mr. O'Donnell today, and Mr. Hedenberg next Monday.

No action will be taken on the Exeter street storm sewer assessments at the meeting today and it is probable that the resolution confirming the assessment will be laid over for another week. City Attorney Greene has suggested that a special election be called to vote on an amendment authorizing storm sewer assessments and the council may decide to postpone action on the Exeter street matter pending the decision of the voters at the election, which is generally favored by the commissioners.

New Sewers.

Sanitary sewers will be ordered in Magellan street, from Forty-first avenues west; in Seventh street, from Seventeenth to Eighteenth avenue east; in Water street, from Twenty-third to Twenty-fourth avenue east, and in Eleventh street, from Seventh to Eighth avenue east.

Ordinances appropriating $1,200 for the purchase of fifty tons of asphalt, authorized in a special resolution, $300 for the construction of the Columbus avenue bridge and $300 for the construction of an iron stairway on the east side of the Lake avenue viaduct, will be introduced by Commissioner Farrell.

Mayor Prince will introduce an ordinance granting the Soo railroad permission to construct and maintain over-head steam pipes from its power house to the tracks for the purpose of heating coaches. The pipes will cross Nineteenth and Twentieth avenues at a distance of twenty feet above the ground.

Olson & Johnson will be granted an extension of time to Oct. 1 for completing the pavements in Exeter street and Twentieth avenue west.

BRAINERD BOY KILLED BY TREE

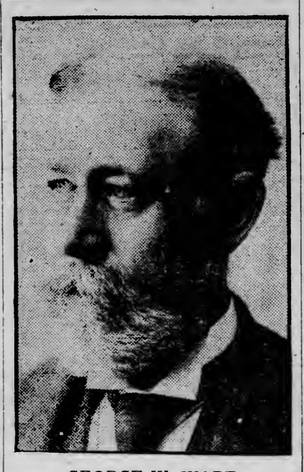

Brainerd, Minn. Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Whipped by a wind storm a section of a poplar tree in the business section of Brainerd crashed down and instantly killed 8-year-old Frances Lidenburg, a son of Henry A. Lidenburg. The lad had been at his father's creamery and was carrying home a bottle of milk. The tree crushed him while within half a block from the creamery.

IT ALL DEPENDED.

New York Times: During a famous trial in Chicago two Irishmen, standing on a street corner, were heard to discuss the trial. One of them was trying to enlighten the other concerning the functions of a jury.

"It's this way," he said, "Ye're arristed! Thin, if ye gets the smartest lawyer, ye're innicent; but if th' other man gets the best lawyer, ye're guilty!"

MAKES BUSINESS OF FORECASTING SEISMOLOGICAL DISTURBANCES

GEORGE W. WARE.

George W. Ware is the only forecaster of earthquakes in the world. For ten years he has been charting the movements of the planets and naming approximate dates for seismological disturbances and his predictions have been verified. Not long ago he gave a New York paper a forecast of a quake and the disturbance arrived on time. Thereupon he foretold another earthquake for the tenth of the month; and on that date Italy was shaken up. Unfortunately Mr. Ware is not able yet to localize the quakes he foresees. Mr. Ware was born in St. Louis in 1840 and is a graduate of the scientific department of Washington university. He has had an adventurous life, as a pioneer in Montana, a developer of coal and iron mines near Birmingham, Ala., and as buyer for the friends of Mexico. He has made a study of astrology, occultation and kindred subjects for thirty years.

WILL EXTEND PAVEMENT

Minnesota Avenue Will Be Improved to End of Line.

The Minnesota avenue pavement from Thirty-eighth to Forty-third street will be extended this fall.

Commissioner Farrell, head of the works division, made this announcement following a conference of the commissioners with Floid M. Fuller, general manager of the Park Point Traction company, shortly before noon today. At the regular meeting last Monday the council decided to postpone action until Mr. Fuller could explain his stand against the proposed extension. He asked that the improvement be postponed until next spring.

"Property owners want the pavement extended this fall," Commissioner Farrell explained, "and the improvement will not injure the company's tracks in any way. Mr. Fuller has agreed to a 15-foot pavement, and the right-of-way of the tracks will be filled in with sand from the other side of the street. Trolley poles can be erected without any difficulty on private property, the owners all consenting to this, and there is no reason why we should wait until next spring."

About a month ago the council ordered the extension of the Minnesota avenue pavement to the end of the car line at Forty-third street, so that property owners would not have to depend on the street car during the winter months. The pavement from Twelfth to Thirty-eighth street will be opened to traffic next Saturday.

Commissioner Farrell said this afternoon that bids will be advertised for at once and that active construction will start as soon as possible, so that the improvement can be completed before the cold weather sets in.

The conference of the commission was called by City Attorney Greene for the purpose of discussing some of the district court cases in which the city is involved, and when he finished, Mr. Fuller asked that he be heard. He protested that the laying of the tracks several feet nearer the bay side would bring the right-of-way up to private property, thus preventing the discharge of passengers on that side and the erecting of poles, unless they were placed on private property.

BRITISH INTERN BARON VON BISSING

Will Be Kept in Islington Workhouse During Rest of War.

London, Sept. 20, 3:47 p. m.—Baron von Bissing, half-brother of Gen. von Bissing, German military governor of Belgium, and a naturalized British subject, after fighting for months for his liberty, has been interned. He was mysteriously spirited away today from his luxurious home in Kensington by detectives, who left a battalion of newspaper men on guard over an empty shell. It is reported that the Islington workhouse will be the baron's domicile during the remainder of the war.

SUBORNATION OF PERJURY IS CHARGED

Trinidad, Colo., Sept. 20.—Horace N. Hawkins, chief counsel for John R. Lawson, union leader convicted on May 3 of the murder of John Nimmo, a deputy sheriff, during a battle near Ludlow on Oct. 2, 1913, was served today with a capias charging him with subornation of perjury in relation to the affidavit of Grover Hall, a member of the jury in the Lawson case.

HOW TO BUILD A CAMPFIRE.

Outing: By nothing so much as his skill in firemaking is the true woodsman to be known. This skill is compounded of two elements; knowing what sort of fire you want and knowing how to get it. Many a tenderfoot will pride himself on the dispatch with which he has created an enormous blaze only to have to sit down in chagrin for half an hour to wait for it to dwindle to a usable size. As a general rule, the smallest fire that will do the work is the best.

For a noon halt, gather a couple of heaping double handfuls of dry twigs about the size of a lead pencil. If there are no legves at hand for tinder, shave a few of the twigs as finely as possible with a sharp knife, leaving the shavings attached to the twig at one end. As a support for the kettle, set two flat stones on edge at an angle about two sides of the fire with their rear edges touching so as to keep the "fireplace" from collapsing. The bright blaze which this little fire gives at the start will get up steam in short order and the glowing coals which it leaves will be just right for frying. If no stones are "handy," the kettle may be swung from a forked stake driven into the ground at an angle so that it will jut over the fire.

Where more time is available the fire may be built up by the addition of larger stuff, but even for the night's camp the first consideration is to get the kettle singing and this can be done quicker over a small fire than a big one. When the cooking is over is the time to build a bonfire, not before. The one exception to this rule obtains where a reflecting baker is used. This needs a high, bright flame to do good work.

Before leaving the campside burn all refuse and then make absolutely certain that the fire has been put out. Thus will you retain the good-will of your fellows.

SON OF THE DUKE OF AOSTA MAY ENTER A MONASTERY

PRINCE AIMONE.

It is reported from Italy that Prince Aimone the son of the duke of Aosta may enter a monastery. His mother is very religious. The prince's elder brother is serving in the Italian army as a soldier.

ALLIES' WARSHIPS BOMBARD WESTENDE

Withdraw Before German Fire, Says Official Statement From Berlin.

Berlin, Sept. 20.—The official statement issued by the war department today follows:

Western theater of war: Enemy ships which bombarded Westende and Middelkerke (on the Belgian coast) without result withdrew before our fire. Some of these ships were struck.

"Along the front there were no special incidents.

"Eastern theater of war: Army group of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg: In the vicinity of the bridgehead at Dvinsk, the enemy was forced to retreat from Novo Alexandrovsk (about twenty miles southwest of Dvinsk) to a position further to the rear. We took 550 prisoners. The enemy attempted to break through our lines at Orgon. The attempt was repulsed.

Following Retreat.

"The attack on the opposing forces which are retreating from the district of Vilna is proceeding further to the south. Our troops are following the retreating enemy. We reached a line on the Niemen. The enemy offered temporary resistance at a few points only.

"The army group of Prince Leopold has reached the Golozadz district at Dworzec and the region southeast thereof, while its left wing is approaching the Myschiaka district.

"Army group of Field Marshal von Mackensen: The enemy has been forced further back everywhere.

"Southeastern theater of war: During engagements of minor importance German troops took 100 prisoners.

"On the northern bank of the Danube German artillery engaged in battle Serbian positions south of the river near Semendria (twenty-four miles southeast of Belgrade). The enemy was driven off. His artillery fire was silenced."

HOW A SMALL BOY BOOSTED STATE'S CROP

Stanley Johnson in the American Magazine: Jerry Moore, a 15-year-old boy of South Carolina, established a world record for corn growing, with the result that an awakened interest in corn growing in the state increased the annual output of South Carolina, from 17,000,000 to 50,000,000 bushels a year. All of this work has been carried on in boys' and girls' corn clubs and other agricultural clubs, under the direction of the department of agriculture:

"Jerry raised a little over 228 bushels of corn on one acre of land.

"His achievement was established in the archives of the agricultural department in a way that satisfied the incredulous. But his influence brought a tremendous army of boys in the Southern states to attention, with their hands on the plow. The year following there were 75,000 boys and girls (mostly boys) enrolled in club activities. Jerry Moore had been 'toted' from Boston to Seattle by various organizations. He was the biggest human advertisement ever let loose. His harrow was a sacred exhibit at the national corn show and other kindred gatherings.

"Every farmers' boy saw a chance, an opportunity that had never before been dreamed of. Up in the Northern states, where the club movement was not started until 1913, they were envious, because corn does not grow so abundantly up there. In a Sunday school in another state, when a boy was asked if he knew about Jeremiah, he replied he did not.

"'But I know all about Jerry Moore,' he added. The Southern railroads used him to attract settlers. Within three years the corn crop of South Carolina jumped from 17,000,000 bushels a year to 50,000,000! The corn crop of Mississippi has doubled, and the yield per acre, in every one of the fifteen Southern states, has increased since Jerry Moore's exploit!"

Sometimes at the birth of a Japanese baby a tree is planted, which must remain untouched until the marriage of the child. When the nuptial hour arrives the tree is cut down and a skilled cabinet maker transforms the wood into furniture for the house of the young people.

LEGAL NOTICES.

Sale of School and Other State Lands

State of Minnesota, State Audit Office.

St. Paul, Sept. 1, 1915.

Notice is hereby given, That on Oct. 20, 1915, at 10 o'clock a. m., in the office of the County Auditor at Duluth, St. Louis County, in the State of Minnesota, I will offer for sale certain unsold state lands and also those state lands which have reverted to the state by reason of the non-payment of interest.

Terms: Fifteen per cent of the purchase price must be paid at the time of sale. The balance of purchase money is payable in whole or in part on or before forty years from date of sale; the rate of interest on the unpaid balance is four per cent per annum, payable June 1 in each year.

Appraised value of timber, if any, must also be paid at time of sale.

Lands on which the interest is delinquent may be redeemed at any time up to the hour of sale, or before resale to an actual purchaser.

All mineral rights are reserved by the laws of the state.

All lands are sold subject to any and all ditch taxes thereon.

Not more than 320 acres can be sold or contracted to be sold to any one purchaser.

Agents acting for purchasers must furnish affidavit of authority.

Appraisers' reports, showing quality and kind of soil, are on file in this office.

Lists giving legal descriptions of lands to be offered may be obtained of the State Auditor or the State Commissioner of Immigration at St. Paul, and of the County Auditor at above address.

J. A. O. PREUS,
State Auditor.

FOOTBALL SEASON IS ON AT HIBBING

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The 1915 football season in Hibbing was inaugurated Saturday when the high school team was defeated by the alumni by a score of 13 to 0.

Both alumni touchdowns, one in each half, were the result of straight football, with Adams the chief ground gainer, assisted by Webster and Johnson. Twice the high school braced on the goal line and took the ball from the old heads by excellent defensive work. Two forward passes were successful for the alumni, gaining fifteen and twenty yards.

The high school showed to much better advantage on the defense than on the offense, the line men breaking through frequently and holding up the play before it was well under way.

Kaiser at quarterback displayed ability and speed in handling the ball and promises well. In Murphy, Cook, Besey and Nord there is abundant material for the backs, while the line is big and capable of developing into a fast charging bunch.

The lineup:

WOMAN COULD HARDLY STAND

Because of Terrible Backache. Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I suffered from displacement and inflammation, and had such pains in my sides, and terrible backache so that I could hardly stand. I took six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now I can do any amount of work, sleep good, eat good, and don't have a bit of trouble. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to every suffering womam."—Mrs. HARRY FISHER, 1625 Dounton St., Nicetown, Pa.

Another Woman's Case.

Providence, R. I.—"I cannot speak too highly of your Vegetable Compound as it has done wonders for me and I would not be without it. I had a displacement, bearing down, and backache, until I could hardly stand and was thoroughly run down when I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helped me and I am in the best of health at present. I work in a factory all day long besides doing my housework so you can see what it has done for me. I give you permission to publish my name and I speak of your Vegetable Compound to many of my friends."—Mrs. ABEL LAWSON, 126 Lippitt St., Providence, R.I.

Danger Signals to Women

are what one physician called backache, headache, nervousness, and the blues. In many cases they are symptoms of some female derangement or an inflammatory, ulcerative condition, which may be overcome by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thousands of American women willingly testify to its virtue.

"FALSE PATRIOTISM" BURNQUIST'S THEME

Lieutenant Governor Talks to Virginians on Better Citizenship.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lieutenant Governor J. A. A. Burnquist addressed 150 Commercial club members at the jollification "smoker" at the Elks' hall, Saturday night, and made a stirring plea for good citizenship. He opposed the entrance of church, race or color as factors in politics and placed much responsibility on the public schools for cultivating a new spirit among foreign-born students.

"In the foreign countries the subjects of kings are taught to hate residents of other nations, and as a result there is a spirit of militarism abroad," declared the speaker. "The foreigners do not make friends of strangers. They have a false patriotism, something which should be avoided in this country."

Rev. Hans J. Wolner of the St. John's Episcopal church was in his

REV. HANS WOLNER,
Virginia's Clerical Wit.

wittiest mood and kept his hearers busy getting his points. Described by President M. A. Murphy of the Commercial club as the most humorous speaker in St. Louis county, Rev. Wolner lived up to his title.

"We entertained 25,000 visitors during this year," said Lawrence M. Barrett, father of the membership campaign, the close of which was being observed at the smoker. He told of the tournaments and conventions that had been entertained by the club in 1915 and of the work of the organization in getting $35,000 additional from the county for highway work in this district.

"For next year we plan to secure a union depot, better physical connections between local railroads, a potato warehouse and a work farm," Mr. Barrett continued. "We deserve an experimental farm and expect to be in our own quarters in the near future. One of our committees is trying to establish better credits for farmers and is working with local banks on the matter. We need a paid secretary and an agricultural expert. The Sons of Norway and Modern Woodmen conventions are coming here next year. Our club should be a civic clearing house and I believe it will be. I believe Virginia will grow, but it will be just what we make it, and no more."

President Murphy presided at the smoker and introduced the speakers.

Among the Eveleth residents who attended the smoker were Supt. Burton O. Greening of the schools, Dudley W. Freeman and Commissioner Samuel Owens. Several Cook residents were also present.

WEDDING BELLS RING FOR FOUR

Two Harbors Is the Scene of a Pretty Double Wedding.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—A double wedding occurred here Saturday evening at 7 o'clock at the Norwegian Lutheran parsonage, when Fred Nelson and Miss Ella Hedin, and Frank Peterson and Miss Grada Olson were married by Rev. K. P. Karlson. Only a few relatives and close friends were present at the ceremony. Later the couples left for Stewart where a large number of friends and relatives were waiting for them at the Farmers' club hall. On their arrival a banquet was served, followed by dancing. The young couples were presented with many beautiful gifts.

Fred Nelson is an employe of the grocery department of the Scandinavian store and Mrs. Nelson is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gust Hedin of Stewart, and has lived here all her life. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson will make their home on Ninth avenue.

Frank Peterson has been a resident of this city for the past five years, coming here from Norway. He is employed in the bridge and building department of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad. Mrs. Peterson is the sister of N. O. Olson of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Peterson will make their home in Skibo, Minn.

Virginia Child Buried.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 20.—Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock for Rhode, the 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grabowski of this city, who died after an illness of only a few hours. Rev. J. Emmett Porter of the First Methodist church officiated and interment was in Greenwood cemetery.

MORE MINES IN SHIPPING LIST

Chisholm Property Adds to Ore Flood—Season's Total Large.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—With shipments of ore from the Mesaba range at high tide, preparations are also well under way for adding additional mines to the shipping list. Section 27 at Chisholm is shipping two or three cars a day, although just opened this summer. Butler Bros. at Nashwauk today began the contract of stripping the Mace No. 2 at Nashwauk. They have shipped in for this purpose the biggest steam shovel ever seen on the Mesaba range. It is a leviathan and its shovel will handle yards of ore as easily as the ordinary shovel handles 2½ yards. The work of stripping the Mace No. 2 will be pushed rapidly.

Increased forces have also been put on at the Morris pit and at the Glen mine. The Morris began last Thursday with a night shift in addition to its day force and next to the Hull and the Mahoning is the heaviest shipper on the range today. The Glen mine has finished its stockpile and is shipping night and day from the shaft. The Morton and the Leetonia are both expected to begin shipping again this week.

The new Butler washing plant, just out of Nashwauk, completed last month, is not yet in full operation, but is washing from 12 to 14 cars of ore per day.

The Hull and the Mahoning pits at Hibbing are very heavy shippers this season. The Hull is now loading 750 cars of ore, about 36,000 tons, each twenty-four hours. Six shovels are used in the day time and five at night. This includes some Sellers ore, all of which goes out through the Hull. The Mahoning, which ships over the Great Northern, has been loading 350 cars a day the past week, but with plenty of cars in sight will come up again this week to 450, its normal level this season. The Mahoning, which has shipped in the neighborhood of 1,500,000 tons for several years past, will have an output of 2,500,000 tons this year, it is expected. The Hull, whose best previous record was a little better than 3,000,000, will probably ship over 4,000,000 tons this year.

NEW OFFICERS FOR ORDER OF MOOSE

Two Harbors Lodge Is Assisted in Ceremony By Duluth Members.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The installation of officers of the local Loyal Order of Moose was held last evening at the Iron Dock hall. Duluth lodge, No. 505, had charge of the initiation work. About 100 Moose attended the ceremony. Following the work a smoker and social session was enjoyed.

The following officers were installed: P. L. Fullerton, past dictator; M. P. La Fleur, dictator; Sam Johnson, vice dictator; John McFarlane, prelate; Alfred L. Gow, secretary; Earl Snyder, sergeant-at-arms; Charles McMains, inside guard; Emil Gingrass, outside guard; Ike A. Hegge, trustee for one year; P. J. Cunningham, trustee for two years; Morten Woollen, trustee for three years.

The campaign for membership which has been going on for the last few months will be continued indefinitely. The local lodge now numbers seventy-five members.

BUHL BONDS MAY BE AWARDED TODAY

Buhl, Minn., Sept. 20.—Bids on the bonds of the village of Buhl will be opened at a special meeting of the village council at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The issue is for $70,000, and was authorized by voters at a special election Sept. 1. The vote was three to one in favor. The bonds will mature at the rate of $10,000 a year, beginning in 1917, the rate of interest being 7 per cent.

With the money received from the sale of bonds the council plans to take up the greater part of outstanding warrants and will carry out improvements in paving and sewer work planned for next spring.

GILBERT ADDS TO CITY HALL SITE

Gilbert, Minn., Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The negotiations over the site of the new village hall have been finally concluded, the council making terms with Gust Kussisto for the purchase of his lots. Kussisto owned the property adjoining the site of the village hall and has erected on it a building in which he conducts a saloon. The arrangements made for the purchase of the lots include an obligation on the part of the village to move Kussisto's building east one lot and place it on a foundation.

The acquisition of these lots was necessary in order to give a full fifty-foot front for the new village hall and to allow the building to stand on the corner of the block.

MORE DRILLS IN THE McKINLEY DISTRICT

McKinley, Minn., Sept. 20.—Six additional drills have been started in the McKinley district during the past week which with the twenty drills already at work gives this village the largest volume of exploration work now being done at any place on the Mesaba range.

This increased activity is taken by the residents of the village as confirmation of the report recently circulated that when the immense ore bodies on the Higgins land are developed, a start will be made from this end of the line.

A rumor has been current all week that the first shaft would be sunk this fall. Mining officials fail to corroborate the report.

VIRGINIANS TOO HEAVY FOR GILBERT

High School Football Teams Open Season With 116-to-0 Game.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local high school football team opened the season here Saturday by defeating the Gilbert high school, 116 to 0. The game was staged at Oliver park.

William Rooney and Spain were Virginia's ground gainers and alternated, with Joseph Rooney, Klinkand and others in scoring touchdowns. Quarterback Cusson was also a consistent ground gainer. Forti, who substituted in the back field in the final half, also scored a touchdown.

The visitors fumbled frequently and all their misplays were costly. The locals kicked off to the Gilberites five times in the first half and after carrying the ball for a few yards on each return, the visitors fumbled, only to have a Virginia player fall on the pigskin. The second half was a repetition of the first period of play. A few substitutes were used by the locals.

AURORA WATER TROUBLES AT END

Aurora, Minn., Sept. 20.—The new well, which has been sunk in Aurora is so successful that it has been followed by the ordering of plans for a brick pumping station and a concrete reservoir which will have a capacity of 100,000 gallons.

Two 600-gallon pumps will be installed and the successful bidder on these will be obliged to accept in exchange the 250-gallon electric pump now owned by the village. The water supply has been a problem in the village for several years, and the complete plant which will be ready with the installation of the pumping station and reservoirs is a great source of satisfaction.

Tests made during the week showed a constant flow of from 172 to 180 gallons per minute for thirty hours. The quality of the water has not been determined, but samples of it have been sent to the state board of health at St. Paul for analysis. The water is apparently of excellent quality.

HIBBING "OLD TIMERS" WIN BASEBALL GAME

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Old Timers, all former members of the Hibbing baseball club, defeated the regular nine yesterday afternoon by a score of 6 to 4. They turned the trick in the fifth inning with a single, a two-bagger, one three-bagger and two home runs. Reigher pitched for the Old Timers and had his opponents fanning the air most of the time. The Old Timers lined up as follows: Reigher in the box, "Red" Carroll catching; Frank Kleffman at first; Burrows at second; "Dode" Keer at third; Register of Deeds Calligan in the short field, and Jack Burns of Eveleth, Dwight Booth and Bob Geiselman in the field.

BUHL TO HAVE NEW COMMERCIAL CLUB

Buhl, Minn., Sept. 20.—Local business men have decided to organize a new commercial club and a meeting will be called early this week. Editor Craig of the Buhl Advertiser is the leader of the movement and has been given many promises of support.

Indications are that the club will have a large membership and will be able to do much toward increasing the activities of the village.

Improve Summer Camp.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 20.—Before closing Camp Mishawaka for the summer, George F. Green of Washington, D. C., made considerable repairs and extensive improvements to the property. This camp is for the sons of wealthy Easterners who pass three months here each season, being largely from St. Alban's cathedral school for boys in Washington. Fifty young men passed this season at the camp and more are expected next year. The athletic grounds were enlarged and graded and additional buildings were completed.

Checking Up Defectives.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 20.—School Physician Dr. Michelson has started the medical examination of 3,000 pupils at the Virginia schools this year and for the greater part of the next seven or eight months he will be compelled to give the greater part of his time to examination of youngsters for defects. The examinations cover the head, eyes, ears, throat, nose, teeth and general condition. Especial emphasis is being laid this year upon proper dental treatment for children whose teeth are in bad condition.

Woodmen to Celebrate.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 20.—Members of the Virginia camp of Modern Woodmen are completing plans for a celebration in this city Sept. 27, when it is expected that State Deputy John L. Sundeen of Minneapolis will pay a visit to the lodge. There will be an initiation ceremony, at which Sundeen will preside. The members of North Star and Lincoln camps, Royal Neighbors, will assist.

Football at Gilbert.

Gilbert, Minn., Sept. 20.—Gilbert football players plan a strong independent football team this fall, and there is a strong probability that the first team tackled will be the strong city team of Hibbing. The local boys have been organized, with Alex Sharp as captain, and were out for practice twice last week. Fifteen men turned out for the first call, and this number has been increased. If the Hibbing game is scheduled, it probably will be played there Sept. 26.

Chisholmites Marry.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The marriage of Odin A. Sundness and Miss Olive Strand occurred last week at Fergus Falls. Mr. Sundness is chief chemist for the Shenango Furnace company in Chisholm. His bride formerly taught in the local schools. They are enjoying a trip down the lakes on an ore boat and will return to Chisholm about Oct. 1. They will make their home at the Shenango mine location.

New Marble Teachers.

Marble, Minn., Sept. 20.—When school opened in Marble for the present term, it was found that only Mr. Wickman and Miss Glenn of last year's teaching staff had returned. Those who will have charge of classes for the next term are Frank G. Jones, Elizabeth Dockeray, Margarie McDonald, Anna Rudow, Ethel Greene, Ruth McCreary and Clara F. Wanamaker.

Squatters Must Move.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—No less than seventy property holders find themselves compelled to move their houses from the Shenango mine property, which is being made ready for underground mining. The tract is situated at the south end of town and has been occupied by squatters. These have been given thirty days' notice to move.

Football on at Chisholm.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Alumni eleven was victorious over the high school team in the first football game of the season on Saturday afternoon, the score being 13 to 1. The high school boys put up a good game, and with several days of hard practice, will, it is expected, give a better account of themselves in the game with Eveleth next Saturday.

Keewatin "Drys" Active.

Keewatin, Minn., Sept. 20.—The women have taken a hand in the closing of saloons and several petitions have been signed and forwarded to the Indian bureau of the department of the interior at Washington, requesting that the saloons here be closed at once. This village escaped the recent closing orders sent to Coleraine and Bovey by Chief Deputy H. A. Larson at Denver, Colo.

Plan Winter Logging.

Tower, Minn., Sept. 20.—Officers of the local sawmill have announced they would log this winter and are planning to that end. At a meeting of the Trout Lake Lumber company and the Cook & Ketcham company recently, the following officers were elected: W. H. Cook, president; E. R. Cook, vice president, and J. G. Ketcham, secretary and treasurer.

Train Victim Identified.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The unknown man, who was killed Friday night by the Missabe passenger train as it was pulling into Hibbing, was John Hakkala, an employe of the Swan River Loggin gcompany. No relatives have been found. Sufficient funds for interment were found on the body.

Funeral For Infant.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of the 8-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Enrico, whose death occurred Friday morning after a short illness, was held on Saturday afternoon, Rev. E. F. Stidd of the M. E. church officiating at the services. Interment was made in the local cemetery.

Virginian on Tour.

Thor Ristberg, Martin Halverson and Alfred Solberg of Virginia are in the city today on an extended automobile trip. They intend visiting the Twin Cities, Fargo, Moorhead and other Western cities. They will be gone from home about a week.

HYDE PARK SALE.

Sixteen Tracts Out of Forty-Seven Are Disposed of.

The sale of tracts in Hyde Park at Lakewood resulted in sixteen tracts out of a total of forty-seven being taken. All of the tracts fronting on the proposed Congdon boulevard except five were sold.

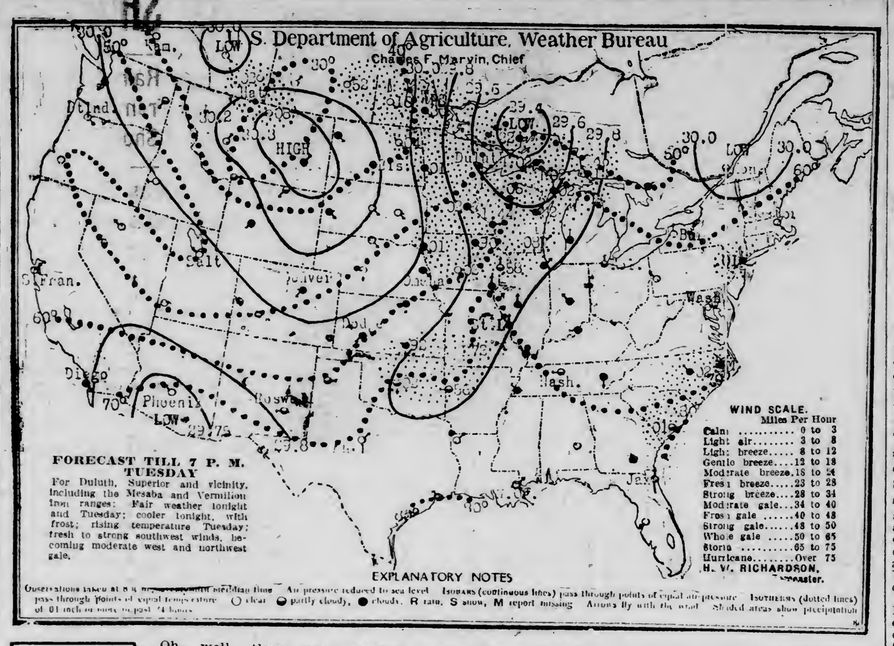

The Richardson, Day & Cheadle company, who placed Hyde Park on the market, and Charles L. Hyde of Pierre, S. D., who owns the property, are very much pleased with the outcome of the sale, as this is the first property on the proposed boulevard to be offered in small tracts.

ANOTHER TOWN FOR CARLTON COUNTY

Carlton, Minn., Sept. 20.—At the meeting of the county board Saturday twenty-four residents of Congressional township 49, range 19, filed a petition with the board asking that it be made a separate town to be known as the Stony Brook. The easterly fifteen sections of this town are now a part of the town of Perch Lake and the balance is the town of Red Clover.

The board ordered a hearing on the petition at the November meeting. The petitioners allege that it is inconvenient for them to attend meetings in the other towns and that because of the rapid increase in population it would be better for them to have a township organization of their own.

Shaded areas show precipitation of .01 inch or more in past 24 hours.

FAIR

Oh, well, these things must be expected once in a while, and the fact that a Sunday, out of a long list of beautiful ones was nasty should not produce too much objection. Every Sunday cannot be beautiful, any more than every woman can. Part of the day was fine at that, the late afternoon permitting walking and driving, so that outdoor exercise was not entirely shut off. Today is really nasty, however, being cold and rainy.

A year ago today was fine. The sun rose this morning at 5:52 and will set this evening at 6:10, giving twelve hours and eighteen minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"A disturbance of considerable intensity is centered over Lake Superior. During the last twenty-four to forty-eight hours rather general precipitation has resulted in the upper lake region, Upper Mississippi valley states and the Northwest, and fresh to strong southwesterly winds on Western Superior. Heavy rain fell at La Crosse. The temperature has risen somewhat over the western lake region, Upper Mississippi valley, and a turn to cooler has occurred over the Northwest. Freezing weather prevails in Montana, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Western Manitoba. Temperatures 90 deg. or higher occurred Sunday in Nebraska and many of the Southern states."

General Forecasts.

Many Complaints Heard.

This summer seems to have produced an unusual amount of sickness. Many complain of headaches, lame backs, rheumatism, billousness and of being "always tired." Aches, pains and ills caused by the kidneys failing to do their work and throw the poisonous waste from the system yield quickly to Foley Kidney Pills. They help elimination, give sound sleep and make you feel well and strong. They are tonic in action. Sold everywhere.

EIGHT DAYS OF FEASTING

Sukkoth Will Be Observed By the Jews of Duluth.

Is Thanksgiving Festival Marking Close of Harvest Season.

Sukkoth or the Feast of Tabernacles, the last holiday in the Hebrew holy season, will be observed by Duluth Jews for eight days beginning at sundown Wednesday. Sukkoth is in reality a Thanksgiving festival, marking the close of the harvest season.

Dr. Maufice Lefkovits will preach at Temple Emanuel, Seventh avenue east and Second street, at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, when the opening day of Sukkoth will be observed. Similar services will be held at the Adas Israel synagogue on Wednesday evening and again Thursday morning, Thursday evening and Friday morning. A special program of music will be a feature at the Temple Emanuel services on Wednesday, Dr. Lefkovits preaching on "The Festival of Happiness."

The Hebrew holy season begins with Rosh Hashanah, or New Year's day and closes with Sheminl Atzereth, the feast of conclusion, which falls this year on Oct. 1, the last day of Sukkoth.

Sukkoth Festival.

An explanation of the Sukkoth festival is embodied in the following statement issued by the Central Conference of American Rabbis:

"The Sukkoth festival is meant not as a season of self-congratulation on having garnered in the product of the farm or the gains of business, but as time for thought on the larger-scoped social interests of men in the national and international life. The Jews are the first to have organized political economy as the field where religion and morality must operate for the good of men.

"In its modern form the suggestiveness of this truth of the Sukkoth festival is made more effective by the fact that it occurs at the beginning of the autumn, coincident with the increased activities of the economic agencies. It is, as it were, a timely lesson for each one to interpret his life as of larger scope, related to the national life and made possible in fullness only within it.

"The 'dwelling in booths' as characteristic of the Biblical phase of the festival and observed as an archaic symbolism nowadays, is suggestive domestic ritual which reaffirms the lessons of the Jewish household. The five symbolic plants, bundled together, hint that, as the gifts of God in nature vary and in their totality make human life sweet and satisfactory, so the difference among men, as to service and character, may serve to make 'society' an organization in which each one of us has a place and can make a helpful contribution. Some more effective, some less; some noble, and some commonplace; some for the day and some for all time, according to what they do and what they are.

"The Sukkoth festival is the culmination lesson of the series of holidays of the month. It addresses itself to the facts of life which we might, otherwise, leave sordid. It widens the horizon of our vocations and labors not when they bring private satisfactions but when they vitalize our common humanity and make us more efficient in the work upon which depend the weal, the place and the joy of the community."

BLOSSOMS AND FRUIT ON SAME APPLE TREE

A seven-year old apple tree in the orchard of Allen Shaw, 721 East Second street, is attracting a great deal of attention for the reason that it has blossoms on several branches and apples on others. Mr. Shaw says the tree has been bearing for three years but this is the first time that it has ever threatened to deliver a second crop. People who have seen the tree say it is the first time they have ever seen blossoms and fruit on a single tree.

CONSCRIPTION IS TO BE CONSIDERED

Canadian Trades Union to Take Up Question at Meeting.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 20.—Although not included in the set program, P. M. Draper, secretary of the Canadian Trades Union congress, which convened here today for its thirty-first annual session, said today that the possibility of conscription in Canada and other questions in which labor might be affected by the European war, probably would be given attention by the delegates.

Attorney General Bowser was on the opening program to deliver an address of welcome on behalf of Premier McBride prior to the first business session which was set for 2 p. m.

Among the matters to be taken up were the proposed eight-hour day, workmen's compensation acts in various provinces, amendments to the industrial and investigating acts, fortnightly payment of wages on all railways and proposed amendments to the Federal elections act.

MASONS TO ESTABLISH A NEW FOUNDATION

Boston, Mass., Sept. 20.—Definite action on the establishment of a great Masonic charitable foundation in the United States is expected to be taken at the one hundred and third annual session of the supreme council, Scottish Rite, which will be held here this week. The plan of the foundation contemplates the administration, without charge of the estates of all widows and orphans of Masons who apply for its aid.

Committee work preparatory to the opening of the council on Tuesday was expected to occupy most of the day.

CLAIM JOHN ANDERSON IS NOT MACHINIST

Le Roy Chadwick, recording secretary of Proctor lodge, No. 615, International Association of Machinists, has written to The Herald denying the statement by John Anderson, in the recent Schell trial for selling liquor without a license, that he (Anderson) is employed by the Duluth, Missabe & Northern road as a machinist. Mr. Chadwick says Anderson is not a machinist and the members of Lodge No. 615 do not wish the impression created that he is a member of their lodge.

WHEAT SHOWS NERVOUSNESS

Several Changes in Market Condition During Day's Session.

Flax Strong for Most of Session But Turns Weak.

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 20.—Covering to anticipate possible light receipts between days caused the wheat market to firm up at the close. September wheat closed ¼c up; December ⅞c up, and May ⅝c up.

Durum was in fairly good demand, particularly the nearest and farthest options. September durum closed ½c up; October 1½c off; December 2¾c off, and May ½c up.

Before the close, support was withdrawn from flax, and the price settled from its high point. September closed ½c off; October ½c off; November ½c off, and December ¼c off.

Oats on track closed unchanged, and so did rye and barley.

Wheat had several ups and downs today, opening slightly weak and fractionally off from the Saturday close, later gaining strength on the fact that the heavy receipts over Sunday did not materialize. The market closed weak on Saturday on that expectation, for it was rather expected that there would be a good deal of a deluge over the week end. The receipts, however, were about normal, and really less than those during the corresponding period last year.

Further strength was given the market on the news that came from several sources to the effect that indications favor Bulgaria joining the German-Austrian-Turkish alliance, which would further complicate matters at the Dardanelles.

A rumor to the effect that the big loan to the allies had been decided upon also served to bulge a little, and September wheat sold up to ⅝c over Saturday's close. However, toward the closing hour, shorts who were covering here and in Chicago evidently had their wants filled for a stop came to the advance of the market and it softened considerably, going below Saturday's close. Certain Chicago interests also sought to make bear capital out of the loan to the allies, but as a rule, the traders did not pay much attention to this, the loan being regarded as a bullish factor if it goes through.

Flax in Demand.

Flaxseed held steady all morning. There was not much stirring at the opening of the market, but trading developed later, especially in the near future and in the December option, which strengthened up. Crushers are in and so are other interests. The weather conditions helped strengthen flax considerably.

SERVICE

Success in any business is measured by the value of its Service.

The essentials that go to make Service of value to investors are the ability to advise intelligently, the excellence of organization and the equipment for the execution of orders.

But back of Service should be financial soundness, known integrity and established confidence. These do not come over night but are the slow growth of years.

For a quarter of a century we have been in close and active touch with the security and commodity markets. We have always been in position to give the best possible Service because we have spared no effort or expense to secure from reliable sources, information of value to investors.

The present offers excellent opportunities for the investor but, at the same time, conditions do not warrant indiscriminate commitments in the markets and the need for guidance is imperative. We invite inquiries, personal or by correspondence.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Undergoes Setback After Show of Strength at Opening.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—Notwithstanding a show of strength at the outset, the wheat market today underwent a decided setback, influenced by the relative cheapness of Canadian prices and by the unpromising outlook for any immediate enlargement of export business from the United States. The temporary strength at the start was due to unfavorable weather, but the effect soon wore off. Much stop-loss selling ensued. The opening, which varied from ⅛@¼c off to ⅜@½c. The opening, which varied from ⅛@¼c off to ⅜@½c up, with December at 93 to 93½c and May 96⅝ to 97c, was followed by some moderate gains and then a sharp general decline.

Assertions that the Anglo-French loan had been virtually assured resulted later in a rally. There was also purchasing because of reports of an alliance between Bulgaria and Turkey. The close was unsettled at the same as Saturday night to ⅜@½c higher with December, 93½@93⅝c and May 97c.

Predictions of frost failed to give corn a lasting prop. The market succumbed to the weakness of wheat. After opening at a range varying from ¼c lower to ⅜c advance, the market sagged heavily all around.

Subsequently, when wheat developed fresh strength, corn took an upward swing. The close was firm, unchanged to ⅜c higher.

Rainy weather made oats rather steady as compared with other grain.

Provisions sympathized with the lower quotations for hogs.

COPPERS SHOW UP BETTER IN TRADES

The copper market took on new life today, and while there was no heavy trading in stocks, there was more than for some time. The various stocks were stronger and more active than for some time. It is expected that the cause of better conditions is that copper metal is selling well at 18 cents and it is expected that it will go higher than that very shortly.

Granby was the feature of today's market, selling up to 87¼ and closing at 86¾. Greene-Cananea sold up to $40.

* * *

North Butte, too, was strong, the reason being that a 50-cent dividend was declared today, which is 10 cents higher than the last, three months ago, and brings the dividend back to the old figure of $2 a year.

ADVANCES IN SPECIALTIES

New Records Are Made and Market Strong and Broad.

Heaviest Trading of the Month and Closing Is Strong.

New York, Sept. 20.—Higher prices and greater activity in railways, which characterized last week's final operations were resumed today, New York Central, Chesapeake & Ohio, and Reading being the most conspicuous. As usual, however, the more substantial advances were confined to war shares. General Motors rose seven points to 295, Studebaker 3¼ to 132¾, Bethlehem Steel 6 to 350, New York Airbrake 3½ to 148½ and Willys-Overland 3 to 196. Other stocks of this class advanced 1 to 2 points with light gains for the oil and miscellaneous issues. United States Steel opened ⅜ up at 76⅛, but soon fell back, while Motors added to early advances.

General Motors made a new record at 295 on this morning's stock market and unprecedented quotations were also registered by Studebaker which extended its gain to 139¾, Willys-Overland to 200; American Woolen 2¾ to 49¾ and United States Alcohol 1⅜ to 90½. These quotations were materially reduced later, however, Studebaker losing 4½. The movement in other specialties became more irregular, Colorado Fuel declining 2⅜ to 53 and Great Northern Ore 1¾ to 44¾. Airbrake touched 155½ and Goodrich rosee 5½ to 71¾. Active railroads declined more or less generally under Saturday's final quotations but rallied later with other former leaders.

Bonds were firm.

Greater breadth was shown in the afternoon with further recoveries from morning declines. United States Steel advanced to 76½c, Colorado Fuel regained 3 and other minor specialties as well as coppers were higher.

The heaviest trading of the month featured today's strong and broad market with new records for specialties.

Manipulation was again apparent in the later dealings, specialties like Continental Can and Federal Mining being advanced materially. The closing was strong.

FOR SALE—REAL ESTATE

THE HOME BEAUTIFUL!

If the surroundings of your home are not desirable (for instance, cheap houses, unkempt lawns and gardens and unsightly grounds), it tends greatly to decrease the artistic effect of your home, no matter how elegant or perfect in itself. A small house can be made beautiful and artistic if built in a desirable location, amidst attractive homes, lawns and gardens. We can sell you the location that contains absolutely everything necessary to make your proposed home beautiful—fine lake view, handsome homes, well-kept lawns, gardens and terraces. The lots themselves are the most beautiful and sightly in Duluth. They have paved streets, gas, water and sewer. Most important to you, however, is this: These lots are offered at 50 per cent less than they are actually worth. All we ask is a chance to show you these lots and their surroundings. They are all in Hunter's Park, the prettiest and most desirable suburb in Duluth. The lots vary in price from $750 to $1,700, according to size. Let us show them to you, so that you can compare them with anything else offered in Duluth.

FARM AND FRUIT LANDS.

TWENTY-ACRE TRACTS.

Only eight 20-acre tracts left. Another week and your chance to get one of these at rock-bottom prices will be gone. Every tract is a beauty; absolutely stoneless, lies well, just a gentle slope, and can be cleared for $10 an acre. It is the best farming land at the Head of the Lakes. You can go on this land this fall, build a small house (we can help you get the lumber), and get your fall plowing done. You will then be ready in the spring. A few chickens, hogs and cows will easily and surely make you independent. You don't need then to worry about a job; you are your own boss. Every tract faces on a good road, and they are only six miles south of the new steel plant and new steel city. Consider the market you will have here. The tracts are only 14 miles from Duluth. You are buying right in town when you get a farm here. Excellent road right into the center of the city. Get a place where you can feel independent—something you can fall back on if hard times come. These tracts are only $650 for a 20-acre tract. Land just three miles from it is being sold at $200 to $500 a lot. Think of this. It won't be long before this land is selling for ten times the present price. Call on us and see photographs of this land and surrounding farms.

CLUB WOMEN OF STATE GATHER IN DULUTH FOR THE OPENING OF THE FEDERATION CONVENTION

REPORTS OF YEAR'S WORK PRESENTED

May Change Constitution to Permit Two Officers in One District.

Three Candidates in the Field for Office of President.

Mrs. Atwood Opens Convention; Mrs. Washburn Welcomes Delegates.

Preliminary meetings of the twenty-first convention of the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs, which began last evening with a meeting of the executive board at the Spalding hotel, were continued this morning when committee meetings and a council meeting were held at the First Methodist church, the headquarters of the convention.

The convention was opened this afternoon when Mrs. Clarence L. Atwood of St. Cloud, the state president, called the meeting to order. Rev. John W. Hoffman, pastor of the First Methodist church, pronounced the invocation and Mrs. J. L. Washburn gave the address of welcome, to which Mrs. J. M. Schwartz of St. Paul gave the response.

Business Is Begun.

Following these addresses the real business of the meeting began and reports were given by the state officers and the district presidents.

At the meeting last evening Mrs. Peter Olsen of Cloquet, president of the Eighth district, proposed striking out that part of article V of the constitution which says that two women from the same district shall not have state offices.

The proposed change of the constitution is of special importance, coming, as it does, this year when a president is to be elected.

Mrs. P. L. De Voist of Duluth, former vice president, will not be eligible to the office, unless the proposed change is carried, as Mrs. F. L. Barrows, the state treasurer, is also from this district. The other candidates are Mrs. V. C. Sherman of Minneapolis, recording secretary, and Mrs. W. T. Coe of Wayzata, president of the Tenth district.

How Districts Will Line Up.

The general opinion is that the Eighth district will be divided, the clubs outside Duluth supporting Mrs. De Voist and the clubs of the city dividing their support between Mrs. De Voist and Mrs. Sherman. Mrs. Sherman will have a strong support from the Fourth district, and the Fifth district will split on Mrs. Sherman and Mrs. Coe. The Tenth district will be for Mrs. Coe. It is understood the First district, which wished its president, Mrs. George J. Allen of Roches-

INSPECTION IS THOROUGH

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., to Visit Underground Workings of Colorado Mines.

Calls on Various Miners at Their Homes in Berwind.

Trinidad, Colo., Sept. 21.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., visited the mines of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company at Frederick and Segundo on the second day of his inspection of Colorado coal properties.

He also examined the "stone wall" public road recently improved through the expenditure of funds contributed by the Rockefeller foundation for the relief of unemployed men after the calling off of the coal strike.

Before the party left Trinidad it was expected that Mr. Rockefeller would be taken into the underground workings during the day, probably at Frederick. E. H. Weitzel, manager of the fuel department of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company, officiated as guide for Mr. Rockefeller, President J. F. Welborn having returned to Denver.

TEUTONS BEGIN DRIVE THROUGH SERBIA AND BULGARIA TO TURKEY

RETIRING PRESIDENT OF STATE FEDERATION

MRS. CLARENCE L. ATWOOD
Of St. Cloud.

Austrians and Germans Commence Bombardment All Along Line.

Believed They Will Follow Down the Broad Morava Valley.

Railroad Line to Bulgaria and Turkey Runs Through Here.

Berlin, Sept. 21, via London.—Official reports from Austrian and German headquarters and dispatches from the Balkan capitals show that the long expected Teutonic campaign against Serbia has now begun. Austrian and German artillery today is bombarding Serbian positions south of the river frontier at various points along the hundred-mile front between the mouths of the Drina and Morava rivers.

This action undoubtedly is intended as a cover to the throwing of a force across the river and the seizure of a bridgehead, whence the new "steam roller" can be started. Just where a crossing will be attempted is unknown.

The shortest route to Bulgaria would lead through the northeastern corner of Serbia, where barely thirty miles of Serbian territory intervenes between the Bulgarian and Hungarian borders. The difficult mountainous country, the absence of railroads and the proximity of the Roumanian frontier, however, speak in favor of the old route of the crusaders further to the west, through the broad and fertile Morava valley. Through this valley runs roads and a railway line to Bulgaria and Turkey. This railway reaches the Danube at two points —Belgrade and Semendria—both of which are under bombardment today.

To Lift Quarantine.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 21.—Federal and state authorities, it was announced here today, have agreed to lift tomorrow the foot and mouth disease quarantine which has been in force at the Herr's Island stockyards for almost a year. By this action livestock can be received from free area for all purposes, where heretofore it has been received for immediate slaughter only.

BRYAN TO CALL ON PRESIDENT

Former Secretary of State Requests Interview With Executive.

Believed Proposed Bryan Peace Mission Will Be Discussed.

Washington, Sept. 21.—William J. Bryan will hold a conference tomorrow with President Wilson, and official Washington, while not knowing, expects that the two men will discuss the recent proposal that Mr. Bryan go to Europe to talk peace and urge acceptance of his peace commission treaty by Germany.

Mr. Bryan's announcement of opposition to any increase in the national defenses may be touched upon, too.

The engagement was made today at the White House at Mr. Bryan's request. It will be the first time the former secretary of state and the president have met since Mr. Bryan quit the cabinet three months ago because he was not willing to follow the president's policy in the German submarine crisis.

It has been reported in administration circles that Mr. Bryan will use his wide influence in congress to oppose the president's national defense program if it contemplates any material increases. Some of the closest observers have professed to believe that before congress meets the president would outline his plans to Mr. Bryan, and that they would be of such a nature as to command the support of the noted pacificist, and thus put the united strength of the Democratic party behind them.

AGAIN ADVISED TO MARK SHIPS LARGER

German Ambassador Instructed to Convey Information to All Neutrals.

Washington, Sept. 21.—Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, has again been instructed by his government to advise neutral shipping that when neutral markings of colors are painted on the sides of vessels they should be sufficiently conspicuous to be seen from a distance. Many neutral ships, it is said, carry markings which are too small.

"The German government," said a state department announcement today, "suggests that the foregoing be brought to the attention of American shipowners in their own interest."

The German admiralty made the same request several weeks ago and the state department gave it wide publicity.

STATE AUDITOR PREUS DECLINES TO SEIZE ORE OR STOP MINING WORK

Tells Mayor of Hibbing Nothing Would Be Gained Thereby.

Enforcing of the Taxes Devolves Upon the County Officials.

Not Duty of State Auditor to Prosecute for Non-Payment.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—State Auditor Preus yesterday afternoon notified Mayor Power of Hibbing that he must again decline to take the action requested by him to seize mineral ore and stop mining by the companies until they have paid their taxes. He points out that nothing would be gained by such a course; that the mining companies, like all other taxpayers, are entitled to have their day in court to test the validity of their taxes; that the enforcing of taxes devolves upon the county officials, and that it is not the duty of the state auditor to prosecute taxpayers for the non-payment of taxes. Incidentally, Mr. Preus points out that he has not received many of the letters and telegrams which Mayor Power has publicly stated he sent and that requests for copies of them have brought no reply from the Hibbing mayor.

The State Auditor's Reply.

Following is the text of the state auditor's letter:

"Hon. Victor L. Power, mayor, Hibbing, Minnesota—My dear Mr. Power: On Aug. 30th you wrote me, stating that you had sent me a previous letter, wherein you laid before me the matter of the tax controversy of the village of Hibbing and certain mining

DUMBA'S SUCCESSOR IS ALREADY CHOSEN

Former Ambassador to Rome Will Probably Come to the United States.

Budapest, Hungary, Sept. 21, via London.—A Vienna dispatch is published here today saying it has been learned in diplomatic circles at the Austrian capital that the government will not await the arrival of Dr. Constantin Dumba from the United States before appointing his successor. The new ambassador, it stated, will be named at once.

The dispatch says that Kajetan von Marczynski, former Austro-Hungarian ambassador at Rome, has been selected for this place.

ONE OF CHIEF ADVISERS OF CROWN PRINCE AT THE FRONT

GEN. VON MUDRA.

Gen. von Mudra is one of the chief advisers of the crown prince of Germany in his operations at Verdun on the Western front.

RICE LAKE, WIS., MAN ACCIDENTALLY SHOT

Former State Treasurer Peterson Dies From Wounds While Hunting.

Rice Lake, Wis., Sept. 21.—Sewell A. Peterson, 56, former state treasurer and until recently connected with the Citizens' State bank here, died last night from gunshot wounds in the stomach accidentally sustained while hunting five miles from here late yesterday.

Mr. Peterson with his son, Raymond, left a thicket of woods to start home. He reached his automobile left standing nearby. Raymond, some distance behind, heard the shot. He rushed to his father, placed him in the machine and started for Rice Lake. Mr. Peterson died before aid was reached.

He served four years as state treasurer. A son and two daughters survive.

TEUTON NET PROVES TOO WEAK TO HOLD MUSCOVITE TROOPS

Brilliant Movement By Von Hindenburg Equalled Famous Coups of Stuart and Sheridan in Civil War.

Simultaneous Advance of Prince Leopold and Field Marshal Von Mackensen Has Not Resulted in Success.

London, Sept. 21.—Latest reports from the Vilna fighting zone indicate that the Russian army there has escaped the coils which Field Marshal von Hindenburg threw about it. By cavalry raids, as brilliant as the famous coups of Stuart and Sheridan in the American Civil war, a screen of German horsemen swarmed about both flanks of the retreating Russians and stood astride their main lines of communication. It now appears to be probable, however, that these encircling forces are too weak to impede Gen. Ruzsky's veterans.

The simultaneous movement by Prince Leopold and Field Marshal von Mackensen has not resulted in the expected advance, especially by the latter, who has not been able to link his scattered troops after their march through the Pripet marshes.

Deep Breath of Relief.

If it be true that the defenders of Vilna have escaped, Russia has cause to draw a deep breath of relief; for it is apparent that the cautious strategy of Grand Duke Nicholas was abandoned for the moment and that Gen. Ruzsky's troops remained in Vilna so long that Field Marshal von Hindenburg's plans for a junction of his wings seemed for a time certain of success. North of Lida the railway is in German hands but the main forces of the Russians are south of that point.

The domestic situation in Russia, owing to the strict censorship is still a matter of mystery. When the duma was prorogued, numerous strikes were declared. In many cases the men are still out. Others returned to work and as the stoppage was in the nature of a protest no long-continued trouble is expected.

New Ministry Needed.

The Zemstvo conference at Moscow this week will express agreement in the national crisis with the duma majority, and will likely urge upon the highest authorities the necessity of appointing a ministry trusted by the people. The long expected offensive against Serbia is said to have begun, with a storm of artillery fire designed to cover crossings of the Danube and Save. The Teutons evidently expect to push a way toward Constantinople along the road opened by the Crusaders.

Along the other fronts nothing new has developed except the growing intensity of the German reply to the allies' artillery on the western line.

French Statement.

Paris, Sept. 21, 2:37 p. m.—An artillery bombardment, in which both sides took part, to the north of Arras and to the east of Noulette and of Lorette, is recited in the French official communication on the progress of hostilities, given out in Paris this afternoon.

Further activity in which artillery and infantry took part, has taken place at other points in the front in France.

The text of the communication follows:

"There was yesterday a bombardment of continued violence in which both sides took part to the north of Arras and to the east of Noulette and of Lorette. In the sector of Neuville French batteries yesterday directed an efficacious and concentrated fire on the positions of the enemy to the

CLEAR SAILING FOR BIG LOAN

Negotiations for Its Flotation Rapidly Nearing Conclusion.

Several Minor Matters Only Remain to Be Decided Upon.

New York, Sept. 21.—Negotiations for the flotation of a credit loan to Great Britain and France of $600,000,000 to $800,000,000 are rapidly nearing conclusion, it was reported today. Announcement that a definite agreement had been reached was expected by the American financiers within a few days, possibly by the close of the week.

There are several minor matters yet to be decided upon. One of the chief of these was said to be the next amount of the loan. No decision, it was reported, had been reached as yet upon this point. Several matters still undisposed of, will enter into the decision as to the amount and this may not be agreed upon till the last minute.

Continue Negotiations.

The Anglo-French financial commission continued today its negotiations with American bankers. One of the chief subjects said to be under discussion was the inclusion of the conversion privilege in the five or ten-year bonds to be issued by Great Britain and France for the loan. Plans were said to be in the making of converting them into British and French joint 4½ per cent bonds of a longer term at the maturity of the short term bonds.

Will Not Run Fifty Years.

The life of the long-term bonds, it

GERMAN SUBMARINE SUNK IN BLACK SEA

Part of Underwater Flotilla Sent By Germany to Turkey By Sea.

Odessa, Sept. 21, via London—Russian ships have sunk a German submarine which has been operating recently in the Black sea.

The Russian war office said on Sept. 11:

"Enemy submarines have been reported in the Black sea near the coast of Crimea. Destroyers and submarines have been sent to pursue them."

A subsequent dispatch from Petrograd said a submarine of the new German type had exchanged shots with the Russian coast guard on the Kerch peninsula, in the Crimea. The size and type of this boat and the interruption of land communication between Germany and Turkey made it appear that the underwater flotilla had been sent from Germany to Turkey by sea.

TWO MORE SPIES ARE CONVICTED AT LONDON

London, Sept. 21.—Two more spies have been convicted by court martial. Official announcement was made today that a man and a woman of German origin, whose names were not given, were found guilty yesterday of attempting to communicate information concerning the fleet.

The man was sentenced to be shot. The woman, who is said to have been under the influence of the man, was sentenced to ten years in jail. Both will be permitted to appeal.

ITALIANS CALLED FOR MILITARY DUTY

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 21.—All male Italians over 19 years old in Western Pennsylvania and Northern West Virginia have been called to report for examination for military duty. The order was received late yesterday by Joseph Natalie, the Italian consul, and today was communicated to young men it affects.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

While the Russian armies retreating from the Vilna region apparently are not definitely out of danger from the German encircling movement, military observers in the capitals of the Entente allies expressed confidence that the ultimate escape of Gen. Ruzsky's forces is assured.

The German censor has passed a dispatch from Berlin which records the beginning of the expected Teutonic drive through Serbia. It is indicated that the aim of the Austro-German armies will be to force their way toward Constantinople through the Morava valley in which railway lines lead to Bulgaria and Turkey.

In view of the commencement of the Teutonic advance to the aid of the Turks, the definite announcement of Bulgaria's attitude is awaited with deep interest in the allied capitals.

A German submarine, which has been operating in the Black sea recently, has been sunk by Russian ships. It is announced in Odessa.

Off the British coast the British steamer Linkmoor, of 4,048 tons, has been sunk, presumably in a renewal of the German submarine operations.

Austria-Hungary is to appoint at once a successor to Dr. Dumba, as ambassador to the United States, according to advices through Budapest. The new ambassador, it is reported, will be Kajetan von Marczynski, former Austro-Hungarian ambassador at Rome.

CONFERENCE WILL BE HELD WEDNESDAY

Large Attendance Expected at Annual District Meeting.

The annual district conference for Sunday schools of West Duluth will be held tomorrow afternoon and evening at the West Duluth Swedish Mission church, Fifty-ninth avenue west and Green street. The sessions will begin at 2:30 and at 7:30 o'clock.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Swedish Mission church will serve supper in the church parlors between 5:30 and 7 o'clock.

It is expected that about 200 Sunday school workers will be present during the afternoon and evening sessions. A tally service will feature the evening's program.

MISSABE ROAD BREAKING RECORDS

September May Surpass Even High Mark of August.

Two records broken last month by the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad bid fair to being equaled during September. The month of August broke all former monthly records for ore hauling and also resulted in the biggest monthly pay roll in the history of the company being distributed among the employes.

During the month the company hauled approximately 2,668,000 tons of ore. This represents 829 trains of ore with an average of sixty-five cars to the train and fifty tons to the car. The daily average of ore trains hauled exceeded thirty-one per day for the twenty-six working days of the month. From present indications it is expected to break all previous yearly records in ore hauling by the railroad. With the new steel ore dock the facilities for handling and storing the ore have been greatly improved and trains are unloaded at the docks in record time. Boats are also being loaded faster, it is said.

GRAND AVENUE WILL BE PAVED NEXT YEAR

West Duluth is practically assured of having Grand avenue east of Forty-fourth avenue west paved next spring. Almost enough property owners have already signed petitions for the improvement, and these will be ready to file with the department of public works this fall.

In order to prepare for the improvement, water and gas mains and conduits are to be laid in advance. The Duluth Telephone company is now laying its conduits in the street, and expects to have the job completed within the next three weeks.

Twelve-inch water mains are already on hand, and it is probable that the work of laying these will be started in sufficient time ahead of the paving in order to allow the dirt to settle.

Conduits will also probably be laid in the street this fall by the Duluth Street Railway company and the Zenith Telephone company.

SECOND MEETING OF PROTEST CALLED

Residents of Bayview Heights will hold another meeting this evening for the purpose of protesting to the school board for not having opened the Bayview Heights school. With the beginning of the third week of school, the residents say that they have neither the building opened nor has the board provided conveyances for taking the children to any of the West Duluth school buildings.

All parents of children residing in the Bayview Heights district are expected to be present at the meeting this evening. The committee recently appointed has requested some members of the board to be present to hear their argument for the opening of the school. Just which members will be present has not been ascertained.

Farewell Surprise.

Miss Helen Bemis, 525 North Fortieth avenue west, who will leave tomorrow for Maplewood academy for the winter, was pleasantly surprised by a number of her friends at her home last evening. She was presented with a handsome bracelet.

Games and music featured the entertainment. The guests were:

Misses—
Theresa Newman, Lucile Buffer,
Grace Thayer, Gladys Girard,
Ruth Gibson, Ruth Anderson,
Rose Rosen, Anna Westling,
Dorothy Shaw, Catherine Hunt.

Messrs.—
Joseph Gibson, Hugo Redeen,
Stuart Shaw, Constantine Cobar
George Hunt, Fred Newman
Leslie Goodhand, Ramah Newman.

Entertain for Friends.

Misses Ruth Bergland, Helga Bergland and Myrtle Beaudin entertained for a number of their friends at the home of the Misses Bergland, at 513 South Sixty-fifth avenue west, Saturday evening. The rooms were daintily draped in blue and white, and decorated with roses, sweet peas and asters.

Games and music were the main features of the entertainment, music being rendered by Joseph Janoski, pianist, and William Ekholm, violinist, and several vocal selections by James Ryan, Joseph Janoski, James Moriarity, Carl Anderson and Oscar Sundquist.

The guests were Misses May Terrace, Emma McClelland, Lillie Huber, Lillian Johnson, Myrtle Beaudin, Anna Evanson, Agnes Anderson, Jennie Olson, Ruth Bergland, Sophie Anderson, Olga Anderson, Helga Bergland, Pauline Carlson, Gertrude McDonald, Katherine McDonald; Messrs. Joseph Janoski, William Ekholm, Bert Gustafson, Al Anderson, Benny Anderson, James Moriarity, Oscar Sundquist, Carl Anderson, Al Johnson, Russell Broman, Joseph McNamara of Ashland; James Ryan, Frank Lyons of Ashland, Helmer Bergland, Hjalmer Vangen, Willard Beaudin, Mark Patnaude, Harry Roberts, Luke Marvin, and Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Anderson. The out-of-town guests were Messrs. Frank Lyons and Joseph McNamara.

Evangelist Will Speak.

W. W. Smith of Dayton, Ohio, a traveling evangelist, will speak this evening at the Bethany Norwegian Danish M. E. church, Sixty-fifth avenue west and Polk street. The subject of his address will be "The Prodigal Son." His address will be illustrated with twenty-five life-size paintings. Mr. Smith is a forceful speaker and a good singer.

Social for Yeomen.

Following the business meeting of Non-Excelled Homestead, No. 4276, B. A. Y., a social has been planned by the members.

The affair will be for Yeomen only. The committee in charge consists of: Miss Anna Duggan, Mrs. Fred Brassard, Mrs. T. F. Olson, Mrs. Ella Fortier and Mrs. A. Renaud. Cards and music will feature the program.

Left $3,747 Estate.

Mrs. Anna Gulbrandson and Mrs. Mary Strid, both of West Duluth, will each pay $26.21 on their inheritance from the estate of their brother, Charles Johnson, who died Sept. 25, 1914. Johnson left an estate valued at $3,747.70 which was divided equally between his two sisters. The inheritance tax was determined by Judge Gilpin in probate court today.

West Duluth Briefs.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Asbury Methodist church will be entertained tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. B. Mitchell, 208 South Sixty-second avenue west.

Mrs. P. F. Casey and two children of Eden Valley, Minn., who have been guests at the home of Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Boerner, 911 North Central avenue, left for their home this afternoon.

Mrs. Emma Ketchmere of Howard Lake, Minn., is expected to arrive this evening to spend a week visiting at the home of her brother, Dr. E. W. Boerner, 911 North Central avenue.

Mrs. G. W. Lothrop of Grand Rapids, Minn., who has been spending a week visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. O. Winton, 611 North Central avenue, left for her home today.

ORPHEUM-STRAND PLEASES CROWDS

New Mark Set in Presenting Motion Pictures at This Theater.

A new high mark of excellence was set yesterday in the presentation of photoplays when the Orpheum-Strand theater opened under a new management. Thousands of dollars had been spent in making over and redecorating the building, and the artistic and cleanly appearance of the house, the excellent photoplay attractions and the twelve-piece orchestra all combined to make a remarkably good impression upon those who were there yesterday. The theater was well filled at every performance, and the success of the opening day augurs well for the future success of the playhouse.

Manager D. J. Robson, who by the way has been in the motion picture game every since the photoplay craze struck the country and the first machine was invented, showed his good judgment in the selection of the first program. Francis X. Bushman, who is proclaimed the David Warfield of the "Movies" and undoubtedly the most popular of the present film stars, appeared in a six-part spectacular production of "Graustark," the romantic story of love and adventure by George Barr McCutcheon. The story when written in dramatic form for the legitimate stage had a tremendously successful career, but its run on the screen will undoubtedly be even more popular.

At the opening of the program and before the main picture was presented, Manager Robson presented a single view of surpassing beauty. It was a nature scene in colors, with the sea in the foreground and mountains rising in the background in gold red and purple light.

The orchestra under Director Michaud rendered a pleasing musical program, which was one of the big hits of the day. The orchestra is well trained and comprises the pick of concert orchestra of last year. Manager Robson is planning to have one more instrument, a harp, added to the orchestra, making thirteen pieces.

It is the plan of the management to keep the Duluth Orpheum-Strand on a footing with the Strand of Chicago and New York, which set a high water mark in motion pictures in the United States. Manager Robson is arranging to bring some of the best and latest films to Duluth. If possible, no film will be brought here that is more than thirty days old. Nothing but the best in the motion picture field will be brought here.

The remodeling of the house has made the theater very attractive. The color scheme is in ivory and gold. The wall lights are shaded in old rose, which blends perfectly with the decorations.

The screen is in the center of an elaborate setting. It shows a latticed pavilion on one side and the entrance of a colonial house on the other. The back drop is a woodland scene.

"The Juggernaut," featuring the two Vitagraph stars Anita Stewart and Earle Williams, will be the chief attraction beginning Thursday.

After this week the pictures will be changed each Sunday, Wednesday and Friday. There will be four performances daily, at 2 and 4 p. m., and at 7 and 9 p. m.

LARGE CROWDS AT GRAND.

Excellent Vaudeville and Picture Program Pleases Audience.

A lot of good comedy and a wide variety of features both in a vaudeville and motion picture way delighted the large audiences at the Grand yesterday when a new bill began a three-day engagement at that popular playhouse.

One of the cleverest cycling acts that has ever been seen at the Grand is that of the Levering troupe of cycling comiques. Some of the funniest stunts were the riding of an old-fashioned wheel ten feet tall, the riding of an egg-shaped wheel and another built like a bed. Many other "peculiar bikes" were ridden, and the riders proved themselves masters of the art.

Fields and Brown offered a classy repertoire of songs and dances that were unusually pleasing. They are both good entertainers and possess much originality and skill in putting over their act.

Ed Gray, the tall tale teller, is well known to theatergoers, having been on the vaudeville stage many years in the capacity of story teller. He has many new stories this season in addition to many of the best of his old line.

Quigg and Nickerson, blackface comedians, in an act entitled "The Aristocrat and the Big-Eyed Coon," have a clever turn, full of jest and parody.

The photoplay features are good throughout, and offer a variety of subjects. "What Happened on the Barbuda" relates a romantic tale in three reels, starring Pat O'Malley and Gladys Hulette. Several other motion pictures of real merit are shown.

Today and tomorrow "The Diamond From the Sky" will be an added attraction.

Theater Gossip.

If the modern motion picture industry has developed a screen production that inspires loyalty to America and love for the Stars and Stripes and what the flag represents, that production is "The Melting Pot," featuring Walker Whiteside, which will be seen for three days commencing tomorrow at the Zelda theater. In these days when Europe is engaged in a tremendous struggle, when homes are wrecked and families scattered, and when America is the one country that offers protection and the right to enjoy life and liberty to the people of all the world, a play like "The Melting Pot" appeals to the very heart strings of everyone. Especially must this be true to him who once was subjected to the cruelties and injustices similar to those depicted in the picture and came to America to enjoy that freedom of thought and action he was denied elsewhere. No American born man or woman can see "The Melting Pot" and especially the climax without being thankful that they are citizens of a country where freedom is guaranteed. People who have seen this subject, found themselves involuntarily cheering the emblems of freedom so deftly woven into the play by flag and statue of liberty and the American eagle and other symbols of the United States.

"MELTING POT" COMING TO THE ZELDA

"September Morn," a rollicking musical comedy by Arthur Gillespie and Aubrey Stauffer, produced originally in Chicago at the La Salle opera house, where it made a successful run covering 256 performances, comes to the Lyceum today and tomorrow. It possesses much of the spectacular aspects of the Broadway "review," although distinctly a "Made in Chicago" brand of musical farce. The company to present it numbers fifty and among its principals will be found Harry Fields, Jacque Brazee, Harry Jones, Maxwell Sargent, Ernest Marx, Vernice Martyn, Mildred Goodfellow, Helene Hardy and May Bell Shearer. It will be given here with all the original costumes, scenery, chorus and a large ballet corps.

"SEPTEMBER MORN" AT THE LYCEUM

The organization is meeting with remakable success on its tour. It is quoted as being one of the positive hits of the present season.

Today at the Zelda theater the English comedian, Lawrence d'Orsay, will be seen in the film version of "The Earl of Pawtucket."

LAWRENCE D'ORSAY AT ZELDA

Lawrence d'Orsay was seen in "The Earl of Pawtucket" in Duluth a number of years ago and probably is well remembered for his splendid work. In the film version he has more opportunities to show his cleverness as a droll comedian. As the earl he is continually saying the wrong thing, and doing the wrong things, but with all his faults he is well loved. Rosemary Theby and Harry Myers support Lawrence d'Orsay.

ORPHANAGE BENEFIT WILL BE GIVEN AT REX

The 6-Year-Old Actress Who Is "Dorothy Griswold" in "An Alien."

Young Griswold had to raise $10,000 quickly.

Seeing how his little niece was frightened by the rough looking Italian who brought a Christmas tree suggested a scheme.

He arranged that the little girl be kidnaped and that a Black Hand letter be sent demanding $10,000 for her ransom. The man who would communicate with the father could be known by the Sign of the Rose.

Meanwhile the Italian, Pietro Massena, was making his simple preparations for Christmas for his own little Rose. Coming home with his poor presents, he was met by the news that she had been killed in the street by an automobile.

All he could give for her burial, he was so poor, was one rose. At the florist's when he asked for the rose, by a hideous mistake, he was apprehended as the man who wrote the Black Hand letter.

The story is appealing, the character is a fine piece of realism, the presentation is most pathetic.

"An Alien" will be given at the Rex this evening, also Wednesday and Thursday as a benefit for St. James orphanage.

SAY BOTH LED DOUBLE LIFE

E. J. Poole and "Wife" Said to Have Been Married Before.

Edward J. Poole, held for trial on a charge of murder, and Ida E. Poole, also colored, the woman he shot and fatally wounded, were both leading a double life, according to information which has reached the authorities since the death of the negress and the arrest of her alleged slayer. The shooting took place on Aug. 21 last and the woman died two weeks later.

Poole is believed to have a wife living in Pittsburgh and the woman he shot also had a husband living. It is understood, however, that although neither secured a divorce from their respective spouses, that no deception was practiced, and that they never regarded each other as lawfully wedded.

Mrs. Poole was formerly known as Mrs. Ida Johnson. Her first husband fell into trouble a number of years ago and was sentenced to a term of years in prison. During his incarceration, she went to live with Poole, who had abandoned his wife back East. Poole and the woman lived here as man and wife for the last five years.

Mrs. Poole had a daughter by her former marriage, now aged 15, who is residing at St. Louis, Mo., with her grandmother. The daughter has been notified of her mother's death.

When the Poole woman died creditors of her estate besieged the probate court, but no one could be found who wanted to be appointed administrator. Several furniture firms were permitted by the court to remove furniture which she had started to buy on the instalment plan. After this had been removed there was little left in the estate except a few personal effects, which will probably be collected by some person authorized by the court and forwarded to relatives in St. Louis. Poole is asserting no claim to the property.

Dandruff Soon Ruins The Hair

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.—Advertisement.

THINKS SCIENTIFIC CUTTING POSSIBLE

State Auditor Preus Does Not Agree With State Timber Board.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—State Auditor Preus is not quite agreed with those members of the state timber board who contend that scientific cutting of state timber is impossible under the present timber laws. The state auditor said today that he thought he saw a way out of the difficulty.

"When permits are made out for the next sale," said Mr. Preus, "I think I can arrange them so that young and immature trees will be saved. There are provisions in the law which I think will permit this. I make out the permits and I shall certainly see that the state interests are protected."

Attorney General Smith, who pointed out the air-tight features of the law, was of the opinion that they could not be changed. Mr. Preus thinks some provisions have been overlooked which can be called into use if desired. It is possible that there will be a meeting of the state board to consider this question.

Duluth Firm's Bid Lowest.

Carlton, Minn., Sept. 21.—The Pastoret company of Duluth was the lowest bidder on the new Carlton water supply system, which is to be completed this fall. When completed Carlton will have about two miles of mains along all the principal business and resident streets. The water will be taken from Otter creek, which has been tested and found pure.

Moorhead Bank Expands.

Moorhead, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The First State bank of Moorhead has increased its capital stock from $25,000 to $60,000. The increase was made by a vote of the stockholders. The capital stock in the institution is now composed of 800 shares at $100 per share.

New School for Moorhead.

Moorhead, Minn., Sept. 21. — The Moorhead board of education has appropriated $10,000 from next year's general taxes for the new high school building fund. The matter was considered at a meeting of the board several months ago but no definite action was taken until the meeting yesterday.

Heavy Liquor Shipments to Ward County May Involve Railroads.

Minot, N. D., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Investigation conducted by the state's attorney of Ward county has revealed the shipment to Sawyer, near here, of vast quantities of liquor within the last few weeks, and the delivery of such shipments to several different Minot men.

Findings to this effect have been certified to the attorney general, who may take action in connection with the injunction against the railroads operating in the state, by which they are restrained from handling shipments of liquor intended to be used for illegal purposes.

In one instance, the officials found that forty-eight cases of liquor to one consignee was established. Other excessive deliveries to single consignees also are indicated.

The authorities have also found that liquor was consigned to men who had no knowledge that their name was being used for the purpose of obtaining liquor.

The liquor, it is alleged, was shipped to Sawyer, and thence transported into Minot to be sold by "piggers." This step is taken by the law violators because of the vigilance of officials about the local depots.

W. D. Mahon Re-Elected at Biennial Convention at Rochester.

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 21.—President W. D. Mahon was re-elected president of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes at the closing session of its biennial convention here. Next to Samuel Gompers, he is the oldest international labor leader in point of service. Vice presidents and members of the executive board were also chosen.

Providence won out in a fight with Cleveland for the next convention. It was voted to make the Detroit headquarters permanent. President Mahon, Treasurer O. R. Orr, William Taber and John McGrath, were named as delegates to the American Federation of Labor convention in San Francisco this fall, and Frank O'Shea, Jerry Dineen, J. B. Wiley and A. S. Minot Plans Winter Fair.

Minot, N. D., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The week of Feb. 14 has been picked by the committee in charge of the Northwestern Mid-Winter fair as the dates for that annual event and preliminary plans for the event have been laid. It is proposed to make the fair the biggest of any of those held here in past years. There will be a big exhibit, a program covering six days, and a boys' section, conducted under the direction of W. A. Peck, county farming agent.

A Good Way to Increase Weight

Thin Undeveloped People Should Make Their Food Produce More Flesh.

Most thin people eat from four to six pounds of good solid fat-making food every day and still do not increase in weight one ounce, while on the other hand many of the plump, chunky folks eat very lightly and keep gaining all the time. It's all bosh to say that this is the nature of the individual. It isn't Nature's way at all.

Most thin folks stay thin because their powers of assimilation are defective. They absorb just enough of the food they eat to maintain life and semblance of health and strength. Stuffing won't help them. A dozen meals a day won't make them gain a single "stay there" pound. The fat-producing elements of their food just stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste. What such people need is something that will prepare these fatty food elements so that their blood can absorb them and deposit them all about the body—something, too, that will multiply their red corpuscles and increase their blood's carrying power.

For such a condition the use of a single Sargol tablet taken with every meal can be strongly recommended. This well known preparation is a combination of recognized assimilative agents of highest value. It is harmless and wonderfully effective and a tablet allowed to digest with the food often has the effect as many reports testify of increasing the weight of a thin man or woman from three to five pounds a week. Sargol is sold by Boyce's Drug store and other good druggists everywhere on a positive guarantee of weight increase or money back.

NORTHWESTERN ORE BUSINESS HEAVY

Ashland, Wis., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two hundred and fifty ore cars from points on the Mesaba and Cuyuna ranges passed through Ashland yesterday on the way to Ironwood, where they will be put into service on the Northwestern.

Considerable ore is now being stored in cars to be utilized as it is needed. To carry out this plan the Northwestern railway found itself short of the number of cars desired and as a result made a call for more.

It is expected that the shipments will be increased during the remainder of the season. Officials of the Northwestern docks state that the ore shipments this season will approximate 4,000,000 tons.

INSANITY VICTIM WORRIES OFFICERS

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Clarence McCord, who escaped from the North Dakota asylum for the insane last May, and who subsequently was arrested and committed to the Minnesota asylum at Fergus Falls, is again in the hands of the Grand Forks police.

McCord was freed by the Fergus Falls officials on the representations of R. A. Dalby of Inkster, N. D., that he would care for him. Now McCord has again been taken over by the authorities and the question arises as to the disposition of his case.

North Dakota officials believe McCord is a legal resident of Minnesota, and want the Minnesota officials to take care of him.

Plan Big Elevator.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 21.—A modern, fireproof elevator with an increase of 500,000 bushels' capacity probably will be built by the Northwestern Elevator company to replace the wooden structure at the Minnesota Transfer, which burned Saturday, with a loss estimated at $110,000, Charles A. Magnuson, president of the company, announced. It will be of the most modern type of elevator construction. The old elevator's capacity was 1,000,000 bushels.

MARINE

VESSELS ARE STILL SHORT

Heavy Demand and Higher Rates Fail to Produce Boats.

Coal Cargoes Becoming Easy—Ore Shippers After Ships.

The heavy demand for boats to carry ore is rapidly being augmented by a demand for boats to carry coal. On the other hand the supply of tonnage is fast being reduced by grain. A larger tonnage has been chartered for fall grain than shippers of other commodities are willing to admit; but most of the shippers are beginning to find there will be a large number of vessels withdrawn from the ore trade to connect with grain charters.

That the supply of grain tonnage for the last six weeks is very much limited was evidenced yesterday when brokers sought boats to work on 3¼ cents for the last ten days of this month and 3¾ cents for the last half of October. No charters were prepared at the higher rates, but business was done at 3 cents for the last ten days of this month, 3½ cents for the first half of October and 3½ cents to unload at Buffalo and loading the last ten days of November. The boat that was placed for the last ten days of November was a small carrier.

Coal cargoes are becoming rather easy. A number of owners have contracts upon which shippers are able to give them cargoes, but with every inducement to get through with their ore, the boat managers want to shift as much low-priced freight as they can. Then, too, some of the shippers have orders for more coal than they are producing. The all-rail demand is cutting into the lake business and if the shipping orders for lake continue to come in as they have since the first of the month, some of the shippers will have a number of cargoes to ship toward the end of the season, to catch up with the orders they are unable to fill now.

STEAMER ASHORE IN DANGEROUS POSITION

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 21.—The steamer Collingc, Capt. Peterson, loaded with coal and bound from Oswego to Toronto, went ashore during a storm, on a bar a few miles west of Charlotte early this morning. All efforts to release the steamer were unavailing early today and more tugs have gone to her assistance.

Should the storm develop it is feared the steamer will go to pieces as she is full length on the bar.

FORAGING GOOD IN "SPUD" FIELDS

Patrick Gleason Admits Theft; Many Potato Patches Raided.

Patrick Gleason, 55 years, digs potatoes from outlying fields and peddles them at bargain day prices among unsuspecting housewives. The proceeds from his sales he spends over inviting thirst bars and drinks beer while discussing the crop outlook and intensified agriculture with boon companions.

In the meantime Duluthians who have potato patches on various vacant lots around the city and along the country roads have been missing their "spuds." One man, employed as switch light tender for the Duluth & Iron Range road and who has a patch of potatoes near Twenty-fifth avenue east and Water street, has had sixteen bushels of potatoes stolen in the last couple of weeks.

Late yesterday afternoon Jailer Louis Johnson found Gleason wandering through the East end of the city, carrying on his back a half bushel sack of potatoes. He asked Gleason where he got them and Gleason said he stole them, but could not tell where. He was brought into the station and this morning was arraigned before Judge Cutting on a charge of vagrancy. This was done to hold him for a hearing this afternoon when it is expected witnesses who have been robbed of potatoes will appear and testify against Gleason.

Railroad Traffic Improves.

Fred Lyons, district passenger agent of the Rock Island, with headquarters in Minneapolis, is in Duluth today. Mr. Lyons is one of the veterans of Northwestern service in point of years of service and has been coming to the Head of the Lakes for nearly thirty years.

Travel to the West is showing an increase, according to the statement of Mr. Lyons. More coaches have been placed on west bound trains while local travel over the Northwest has also shown an improvement, with prospects for a very heavy month during October.

Hurt By His Own Auto.

Baudette, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. W. Collins, a well-known resident of this place, was painfully hurt while fixing his auto truck. Not knowing the clutch was on, he started cranking the engine. The truck moved toward him and knocked him against a building nearby, cutting a gash to the bone. Doctors Osborne and Stuart were called, and Mr. Collins seems to be suffering no bad effects from the wound.

Fall Exhibition—Window No. 1

These Fall Opening Days find us ready to show you what is what in Hatdom. Our customers are the representative citizens of Duluth, especially the young men and those of the older set who refuse to grow middle-aged. The new things are here while they are fresh and in vogue.

There is not any one style for young man and his grandfather here, but many different ones in both soft and stiff hats and a mere technical description of crown and brim would not tell you much. To inspect, to try on, to look in the mirror is the better way to be informed. Some have full round crowns, some slightly taper, some are set flat—some are very chic, others more conservative.

The early Autumn days are soft hat time—Light weights are favorites, in either light or dark gray, olive or dark green. Also in navy and brown.

Our biggest assortment is at the popular $3 price. Others at $4 and $5.

The Columbia's unwritten guarantee—good as an American Dollar—is attached to every hat we sell. You can't see it, but you can realize on it if anything goes wrong.

THE "EDEN"

Electric Washing and Wringing Machine

should be in every home

YOUR WASH DAY —IF YOU DO YOUR OWN WASHING—It means getting up early, with dread in your heart for the long, hard day ahead of you. A day full of the meanest kind of drudgery and back-breaking toil — a hasty lunch — and you finish at 4 or 5 o'clock with tired feet and aching body.

IF YOU EMPLOY A LAUNDRESS — Think of the uncertainty of whether she is coming or not—scrimping on the wash for fear she will be dissatisfied—meals to get for an extra person — waste of soap and abuse of the clothes — with only partly clean clothes as a recompense.

IF YOU EMPLOY SERVANTS — The constant strain of keeping them satisfied—the extra cost if they do the washing and oftimes extra help to assist them—the loss of time from other duties.

IF YOU SEND IT OUT — The unnecessary wear and tear—the chance of your clothes coming in contact with germ-laden clothes from some other home —careless handling in an unsanitary washroom — the excessive cost.

"EDEN" WASH DAY —NO NEED TO WORRY—Plenty of time in the morning—about 8 o'clock get the clothes together, put them in the "Eden" with hot water and soap. The "Eden" is always ready—it does not care how many clothes you wash nor how soiled they are—it washes them and wrings them, too, ready for the line.

OH! HOW DIFFERENT—You don't have to do any heavy work — a few cents worth of electricity and the "Eden" has relieved you of all the laborious drudgery which has caused so much discontent among housewives and housemaids—the best of all, the "Eden" washes everything from the finest lingerie to the coarsest clothing, beautifully clean and without the slightest wear or injury—just as your mother would wash a fine piece of lace by sousing it up and down in hot suds and water.

WITH THE "EDEN" IN YOUR HOME—You will be the envy of your neighbors. At 10:00 or 10:30 in the morning your washing is on the line—and you, perfectly fresh and carefree, are ready for other household duties—your washing has been accomplished in a scientific and sanitary manner, just as it should be in every good American home.

This Is Your Opportunity

We will demonstrate in your own home, without expense or obligation to you how

THE EDEN—Saves you hours of back-breaking drudgery.

THE EDEN—Makes your washable clothes last four to five times as long.

THE EDEN—Pays for itself out of the money it saves you.

Don't let another wash day pass without taking advantage of this generous offer.

AMENDMENTS PRESENTED

Six Additions to City Charter Suggested to Commission.

Two From Old Charter—Argument Over Right to Order Sewers.

Six amendments to the city charter, two of which were turned down by the charter commission last spring, were placed before that body at a special meeting in the city hall last evening.

Five of the amendments included in the resolution adopted by the council yesterday afternoon were explained by City Attorney Greene, a member of the commission, while the sixth, pertaining to the adoption of a new election system, was brought up by H. H. Phelps, one of the members. At the suggestion of T. W. Hugo, the chairman, T. T. Hudson was authorized to appoint a committee of five to make a study of the six amendments and report at a meeting subject to his call.

Members of the charter body present last night were: T. T. Hudson, chairman; C. A. Congdon, John G. Williams, T. W. Hugo, H. H. Phelps, M. B. Cullum, J. H. Crowley, S. A. Foster, C. R. Haines, C. F. MacDonald and Henry F. Greene. Absent members were: E. A. Silberstein, William E. McEwen and Thomas Olafson.

List of Amendments.

The six proposed amendments proposed follow:

Granting the council power to order the construction of storm sewers.

Provision for a storm sewer fund to be raised by an additional 1-mill tax levy.

Raising of the non-advertised purchase limit from $100 to $500.

Changing of the membership of the board of tax review to include the mayor, assessor and commissioner of finance in place of the former two and the city clerk.

Granting the city council authority to call special elections for municipal judges.

Adoption of a new voting system in place of the preferential ballot declared illegal by the supreme court.

The first two amendments are taken from the old city charter, while the second and third were turned down by the charter commission last spring. The fifth and sixth are declared necessary in view of the situation that has arisen as a result of the supreme court decisions over the municipal court controversy.

C. A. Congdon, a member of the commission, raised an objection against the amendment granting the council power to order storm sewers, his contention being that the body has a general power on all civic matters, unless expressly prohibited.

Amendments Unnecessary.

"These amendments are unnecessary," said Mr. Congdon. "The purpose of this charter is to give the council all the power allowed by the state Constitution. This body can take any action whatever pertaining to the city's welfare, unless the power is expressly withheld in the charter.

"When we framed the charter it was our purpose to get away from the old charters, which make provision for every single power or grant. Of course, it was necessary to express the exact powers, as the legislative bodies were large and there was no centralization of authority. However, our council has but five members and for this reason we decided to give them unlimited power, since it would be easy to trace the responsibilities. Unless expressly prohibited, the council can take any action it desires."

Mr. Congdon's contention was supported by H. H. Phelps, another member of the commission.

"There is no need of giving the council power to build storm sewers since it already has power to make any improvement whatever," he said.

Henry F. Greene, city attorney and a member of the commission, contended that the council should have the specific power expressed, in order to avoid court proceedings. Regarding the amendment providing for a storm sewer fund, he explained that the present 13-mill tax limit allowed in the charter would be too small to cover sewer construction work and that another mill will have to be authorized, the fund to be used only in the construction of storm sewers. Unless this was done, he said, the cost would have to be paid by the property owners, assessed according to benefits derived from the improvements.

Protest Raising Tax Levy.

Several of the members objected to the raising of the tax levy, although it was agreed that storm sewers should be paid out of general taxation and not by special assessments. In explaining the fifth amendment, City Attorney Greene said that should the supreme court rule that Judge Windom is the hold-over official or that Judge Smallwood is the temporary officer legally appointed by the governor, then the council will have to call a special election for the purpose of selecting a municipal judge. Members of the commission suggested that this amendment should make provision for any special election whatever.

After considerable argument on both sides, the charter framers agreed to submit the matter to the committee, which T. T. Hudson, chairman of the body, was authorized to appoint. The members of the committee will confer with the city commissioners as to the finances of the city, before framing the proposed amendments.

The five amendments included in the council resolution follow in full:

Resolved, That the charter commission be requested to submit to popular vote the following amendment to the charter of Duluth, to be numbered 60a, "in addition to the other powers granted it by this charter, the city council shall have the power, by a four-fifths vote of all its members, whenever funds are available for the purpose, to cause to be constructed in any of the streets, avenues, alleys and public places of the city, storm sewers for the purpose of carrying off the surplus water upon and draining such streets, avenues, alleys and public places and the territory adjacent thereto, and preventing damage to persons and property by floods and washouts. Before causing any such storm sewer to be constructed and before deciding upon the location, size or character thereof, the city council shall cause a careful survey of the territory proposed to be drained to be made by the engineering department of the city and shall secure the approval in writing of the city engineer or the officer in charge of the engineering department, to the location and plans of the sewer so proposed to be constructed.

"The work of constructing any such storm sewer may be done in connection with the work of improving the street in which the same is located or independent thereof. The cost of constructing and maintaining all such storm sewers shall be paid out of the storm sewer fund established at the time of the adoption of this amendment and no assessment for benefits for any such improvement shall ever be made."

Also the following amendment, to be known as sub-division 11 of section 54.

"There shall also be a storm sewer fund, out of which shall be paid the cost of constructing and maintaining all such storm sewers as shall be constructed pursuant to the provisions of section 60a, adopted with this amendment.

"The city council shall annually levy for the support of this fund a tax of not to exceed ——— mill on the dollar on the assessed valuation of all taxable property of the city. No money shall be paid out of this fund for any purpose except for the construction and maintenance of storm sewers as herein provided."

Also the following amendment, to amend section 31 of said charter so as to read as follows:

"In all cases of work to be done by contract, or of the purchase of property of any kind, when the amount involved is more than $500, unless the council, by an emergency resolution, shall provide otherwise, it shall advertise for bids in the official paper of the city. When such probable expenditure shall be more than $500, and less than $1,000 in amount, such notice shall be published once in said official paper, and when more than $1,000, the same shall be published in at least two issues of said paper. Contracts shall be let to the lowest responsible bidder, and purchases shall be made from the responsible bidder who offers to furnish the article desired for the lowest sum. The council may, however, reject any and all bids; and nothing contained herein shall prevent the city from contracting for the doing of work with patented processes, or from purchasing patented appliances. The council shall regulate the making of bids and letting of contracts by ordinance."

Also a proper amendment allowing the calling by the city of Duluth of special elections for judges of the municipal court.

Also the following amendment, to be numbered 59a:

"The mayor, who shall be chairman, the commissioner of finance and the city assessor, shall constitute a board of equalization, who shall be sworn according to law as such board and shall meet at the city hall on the fourth (4th) Monday in June of each year and shall continue in session until the Friday next preceding the first (1st) Monday in July to review, amend and equalize the work of the city assessor, pursuant to the general laws of the state.

"Said board shall elect one of its members as secretary, who shall keep a record of its proceedings; and it is hereby vested with all the powers which are or may be vested in the county boards of equalization under the general laws of the state, but shall not be restricted by any limitations in respect to reducing the aggregate sum of real or personal property as returned by the city assessor."

WILL ASK VIEWS OF GOVERNOR

Efficiency and Economy Commission to Hear Governor Hammond.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new efficiency and economy commission appointed by the last legislature to study the various state departments with a view to reorganizing some, consolidating others and eliminating still others will meet Nov. 1 and receive reports from the head of each department and bureau.

The commission, which is to submit its report to the next legislature, probably will request that Governor Hammond appear at the coming meeting and outline his views relative to the proposed reorganization.

SCORE INJURED IN BURLINGTON WRECK

Chicago, Sept. 20.—Between fifteen and twenty persons were injured, three seriously, in an unusual train wreck early last night at Western Springs, Ill., thirteen miles southwest of Chicago.

The Missouri limited of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad, bound for Kansas City, was about to pass a freight train going the other way on another track, almost opposite the station. A defective truck on one of the freight cars caused the freight train to leave the track, and one of the cars jumped across in front of the passenger train. The engine of the limited struck the car, jumped the track and turned over. The baggage car, mail car and smoking car also were overturned. Almost a block of track was torn up.

CATARRH GERMS EASILY KILLED

Only Way to Stop This Disease Forever Is to Destroy the Germs That Cause It.

If you have catarrh and want to get rid of it you must kill the germs which cause catarrh. Stomach dosing, ointments, sprays, creams, douches, etc., fail because they overlook this fact. They all help by giving temporary relief but they do not reach the germ life that has found lodgement in your head, nose, throat, and could not, destroy it if they did.

The best known way of destroying the dangerous germs of catarrh and consequently ending the disease itself is to breathe into the air passages of your nose and throat the pleasant, penetrating air of Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me). Hyomei is made from purest oil of Eucalyptus combined with other powerful healing, antiseptic and germicidal ingredients. You breathe it through a little hard rubber pocket inhaler which comes with every complete treatment. Every time you inhale the sweet, fragrant air of Hyomei through this little device you are drawing into your swollen, inflamed, germ-laden membranes a vapor which will not only reduce the swelling and inflammation and open your clogged nose and stopped up air passages but will absolutely and positively destroy every trace of Catarrah germ life it reaches. Boice Drug store and many other leading druggists in this vicinity are so sure of the blessed lasting relief that Hyomei brings to catarrh sufferers that they sell it invariably on a positive guarantee that money paid will be refunded if successful results are not secured from its use. Right now, while you have the matter in mind tear out this notice and take it into your druggist the next time you pass his door. Be sure to get the complete Hyomei outfit which includes the "inhaler." This makes it easy to breathe the Hyomei way up into the air passages and you can begin at once to drive this dangerous, disgusting disease from your system forever.

GREAT CROWD AT THE BAZAR

St. James Orphanage Fair Has Big Opening Attendance.

Patrons See Pretty Girls, Handsome Booths and Fine Displays.

Crowds of smiling men, women and children surged over the spacious floor of the Auditorium, corner Third avenue east and First street, last evening taking in the sights at the Roman Catholic bazar which is being staged all this week for the benefit of St. James' Orphanage of this city.

First nighters saw many novel booths, decorated in odd designs, made resplendent with special electric effects and presided over by many pretty girls who charmingly offered for sale various kinds of needlework, household necessities, toys, books, etc. Many of the booths contain good things to eat and these received a most liberal patronage. Guessing contests for prizes ranging from an ordinary handkerchief to four tons of coal are rife in every part of the large auditorium. Last evening a pig weighing exactly 9 pounds and 14 ounces was offered as a prize in one contest.

Among the booths, one of Grecian design, presided over by young girls of the St. Jean Baptiste church, in the West end, is very pretty. It is under the direction of Mrs. A. V. Ouellette, Miss Delia Chevrette and Mrs. Joseph Chamberlain. This booth is all white and had many pretty pillars, surmounted by pretty globular lights. Fancy dishes, fancy needle work, Belgian hand made lace and fancy Russian linens are for sale here.

Orphanage Guild.

The five circles of the orphanage guild are represented by as many booths and all are very pretty. No. 1 is a rose arbor in charge of Mrs. John Murphy and displays much fancy work and imported dishes. Cedar and roses predominate in No. 2 where Mrs. T. G. Harrie presides over fancy work. The handkerchief booth, which is No. 3 is in charge of Mesdames C. J. Nunan, J. B. Sexton and E. J. Donahue while No. 4 which could not get started in business last evening will open tonight. Irish women preside over No. 5 where home cooked preserves and canned goods are sold.

Three booths opened by the junior guild are presided over by the Misses Margaret Comstock, Marie Craig and Eunice Brotherton. A doll shop, home made candies and ice cream are the features of these booths. The booth of the Cathedral Sodality girls is one of the prettiest in the building where are shown some pretty paintings, fine needle work and embroidery. A large booth where candy, fruits and ice cream are sold, is in charge of the members of St. Peter's Italian church, while the ladies of St. Anthony's German church feature cooking and the women of St. Mary Star of the Sea Polish church specialize in fancy needle work. Mesdames Paul Blaski, J. P. Zyamanski and Martin Cole are in charge. Autumn leaves and flowers decorate the booth where the women of St. James church sell fancy needlework. The Ladies' Aid Society of Woodland has a pretty booth decorated in white and yellow. Flowers and vegetables are sold here.

Fish Pond.

The fish pond, in charge of Christine Hayes and Elizabeth McKeever, members of the Children of Mary Cathedral society, was the gathering place for many indoor anglers who found that the "fish" were biting fine. Mrs. Charles F. Haley presides over the Japanese tea rooms where fortunes are told by cards and tea leaves. Madame Cazzasrina, greatest living palm reader in captivity, drew a strong patronage as did the paddle wheels, the doll house and the cane racks.

A special musical program has been arranged for this evening when Paul Van Koven, tenor, will sing "A Perfect Day," by Carrie Jacobs-Bond and "Forgotten," Mrs. Jane Everington Scully, soprano, will render "Carissima," by Clark and "In the Land of the Sky Blue Water," by Cadman. On Wednesday evening Miss Mae Lyndon, soprano, will be the soloist when she will sing "I Hear You Calling Me," by Charles Marshall and "Macushla," by Dermott MacMurrough. On Thursday evening, Charles Young, tenor, will sing "The Little Grey Home in the West," by Lohr and "A Little Bit of Heaven," by Ball. Friday night Mrs. Edward P. Kreimer will be the soloist. Miss Theresa Lynn will be the accompanist.

Tomorrow and Thursday "An Alien" will be given at the Rex for the benefit of St. James Orphanage.

SURGERY IN THE HOSPITALS

Grand Jury's Report Discussed By State Medical Journal.

The Journal-Lancet, the journal of the Minnesota State Medical association, discusses in its last issue the recent report of the St. Louis county grand jury with regard to malpractice in hospitals. It says, in part:

"There is much to be said as to the charge brought against hospital authorities, and it is perfectly true that incompetent, inexperienced, and so-called surgeons are permitted to operate in various hospitals who have no business to do so. We think there can be no dispute that many hospitals and staff men will realize that occasionally a poor surgeon, sometimes a bad surgeon, gets into the hospital, but he does not get on the staff. Any hospital of repute has on its staff only men who are competent to do its work; and there is just as much care in the selection of the staff as there would be in the selection of associates in any kind of business. However, the fact remains that poor surgery is done by poor men in hospitals, and it is very difficult sometimes to eliminate this factor. As a matter of fact, it is not the fault of the individual who chooses the surgeon, but it is the poor surgeon's who is not wise or gracious enough to admit his limitations. The result is that he undertakes something that he is fully unfitted for.

"Minneapolis hospitals have had the same experience that has been commented upon in Duluth. Incompetent surgeons have operated until their death-record was so high that either the chiefs of staffs or the combined staff of directors of the hospital have had to request them to discontinue operating. * * * Some time ago in an adjoining state, a prominent surgeon was sent to investigate the status of small hospitals and he chanced one day to find the chief surgeon of a hospital operating upon a hernia case. After the operation was over, the operator turned to the visiting surgeon and said: 'Doctor, what is the average mortality in hernia cases like this?' The visitor very frankly replied that the mortality of patients operated upon as he had done was from 95 to 99 per cent, but ordinarily from 2 to 3 per cent.

"In Canada, in the principal hospitals, a staff is carefully selected, and every patient who goes into that hospital is obliged to select some member of the staff as his surgeon. The patient does not have the privilege of calling in his own physician or surgeon, but must depend upon the services of the regularly appointed and carefully selected staffmen. This, of course, causes a little unpleasantness on the part of those who are not on the staff, but the mortality records of the hospital are invariably better than when anyone and everyone is allowed to operate in the hospital."

DULUTH'S FIRST NAVAL WEDDING

Miss Eleanor Stone and W. G. Moffett Married on U. S. S. Gopher.

Standing between two three-inch guns in the forecastle of the U. S. S. training ship Gopher, Miss Eleanor Bell Stone last night was wedded to William Grear Moffett, shipkeeper. Rev. R. Edward Sayles read the ceremony at 8 o'clock.

It was Duluth's first naval wedding. Officers and members of the crew of the Gopher in attendance were attired in their naval uniforms. Fifty couples witnessed the ceremony, and later adjourned to the marine boathouse on Park Point for a banquet and dance.

Stewart Ranges have been sold right here in Duluth for thirty years and we have yet to hear a complaint against one. You do not have to pay more for a Stewart Range, as we have a large variety, ranging upward in price from $25.00.

Our $25 range is similar to the illustration shown here.

Any old heater will do the work all right for one or two winters, but after that the joints open up letting in cold air, which wastes coal. These heaters will then begin leaking gas. Don't be deceived. Insist upon having a guaranteed Stewart. They are gas tight and economical in the use of fuel. There are more Stewart stoves in use at the Head of the Lakes than all the other makes combined. Stewart Base Burning Heaters range upward in price from $25.00.

PLAN MEETS WITH FAVOR

Voss Would Abolish Half Mill Tax Levy for Utility Fund.

Would Make Any Increase in 13-Mill Limit Unnecessary.

Commissioner Voss' plan to abolish the one-half mill tax levy for the water and light department interest fund each year is now favored by city officials and members of the charter commission, who would place the sum in the permanent improvement fund each year for the purpose of paying for storm sewers.

It was pointed out at the meeting of the charter commission last evening that an additional 1 mill would have to be added to the tax levy for the storm sewer fund. Officials are inclined to oppose any increase of the 13-mill limit allowed in the charter, and the plan proposed by Commissioner Voss in The Herald early last summer is now meeting with approval. It was pointed out by the finance commissioner this morning in further explaining his plan, that should the half-mill levy for the water and light interest fund be abolished, the council will have approximately $27,000 each year for storm sewers. It would do away with any necessity of assessments, he said.

Opposed to Increase.

"I am opposed to increasing the 13-mill limit," Commissioner Voss said this morning, "especially when the water and light department is able to pay its own interest, without embarrassing itself or increasing the present water rates. The charter does not require the levy, although it has been made in order to help the water and light department in reducing its bonded debt. If we utilize this money for a storm sewer fund, it would save the necessity for assessments or an increase in the 13-mill levy."

In 1911 Duluth voters authorized a $300,000 bond issue for the water and light department. Only $200,000 of the issue was sold at the time and when the commission took charge in 1913 the matter was again brought up and a request made by the water and light department for the sale of the remaining $100,000 in bonds. Commissioner Voss suggested the sale of certificates over the counter, the amount being returnable in $20,000 lots each year for five years. He agreed to include the half mill levy to retire the certificates each year and pay the interest charges, although the new charter made no such provision. Of this amount $40,000 in certificates have already been retired by the annual levies.

The charter commission may take up Commissioner Voss' suggestion, when final action is desired on the proposed charter amendment creating a special storm sewer fund. In preparing next year's budget Commissioner Voss said today that he will make provision for this storm sewer levy, doing away with the levy for the water and light department, leaving the question with the commission for final settlement.

SPOON SERVES AS GAVEL FOR MADAME PRESIDENT

Mrs. Atwood Proves to Delegates Just How Domestic She Is.

A small spoon, of the ordinary table variety, so far from being silver that it almost was in the kitchen class, was honored beyond its rosiest expectations this morning at the First Methodist Episcopal church, where members of the Minnesota Federation of Women's clubs assembled.

At best, the spoon would have been fortunate (he thought) if he could stir the tea of some worthy matron, but the gods ruled otherwise, and when the meeting was called to order, the spoon found himself on the desk used by Mrs. C. L. Atwood, president of the organization.

"I haven't a gavel," said the president, "and just to prove that I am domestic, and just to show how domestic I am, I am going to use this spoon as a gavel."

Therewith she held up to the gaze of the throng the proudest little near-silver spoon in all Duluth, and probably in all the world, unless it be that Kaiser Wilhelm has a pet "loffel."

More man, he who claims that woman forgets the home when she has too many clubs, probably now is deprived of his fondest argument.

Zeppelins More a Spectacle Than Menace, Says Actress

EDNA MAY LEWISHON.

The beautiful Mrs. Oscar Lewisohn, once well known to the stage as Edna May, arrived in New York recently with her husband, Mr. Lewishon comes here to see his racing horses run. Mrs. Lewisohn says the people of London are quite unafraid of the Zeppelins and regard them rather as a spectacle than as a menace.

AND STILL APPLICANTS FOR SIGN INSPECTOR'S JOB COME

When Sam Kielley, city building inspector, facetiously advertised for an electric sign inspector he did not know that his humor was going to bring him more or less worry. After receiving 1,984 applications from various unemployed men in different cities of the country and having the door to his office blocked every morning for a week with gracious, athletic looking men in search of work, Mr. Kielley thought that the fun was over. Many nights he was aroused from his slumbers to answer telephone calls from applicants who had been steeplejacks, aeronauts, trapeze performers, high-wire impresarios and high divers and who said they were certain they would be delighted to inspect the elevated electric signs of the city.

So far the out-of-town applications have come from the East, North and South, the West having been a bit backward on account of the employment of all hands in the harvest fields. Now that the wheat crop is nearly all gathered in the idlers in the Dakotas are beginning to get busy.

This morning Chief of Police McKercher received a letter from R. W. Greenfield of Wahpeton, N. D., in which the writer states that he would like to inspect the electric signs of Duluth and feels sure that the amount of wages could be easily arranged. This letter has been turned over to Mr. Kielley.

LIVING COST LOWER HERE

Building Inspector Lauds Conditions in Duluth After Trip South.

Lower Taxes, Rent and Gas Here Than in Other Cities.

Duluth—

Pays less rent for dwellings and stores.

Its tax rate is lower than other cities.

It pays less for gas than most large cities.

Its housing code is the best in the country.

It will never have congested residence districts like the large cities of the East.

All this Building Inspector Kielley learned on his trip to Atlanta, Ga., where he attended the annual convention of the National Building Owners and Managers held there last week. He returned home yesterday.

"I investigated conditions in Chicago, Cincinnati, Chattanooga and Atlanta on my way to the convention," Mr. Kielley said this morning, "and I found that in comparison Duluth pays less rent, lower gas rates and lower taxes.

Best Housing Code.

"Although our housing code is rather stringent and strict, I think it is the best in the country. It is going to keep Duluth from becoming a congested city, full of dangerous tenements and objectionable buildings. Duluth pays a tax of 39 mills on 35 per cent of the total real and personal property, while Chicago pays 56 mills on 35 per cent, Cincinnati, 28 mills on 45 per cent, and Atlanta, 12½ mills on 66 per cent.

"One thing at the convention that interested me was the address of Dr. F. H. Millener of Omaha, Neb., experimental engineer for the Union Pacific road, who urges better equipment for elevators, so that building owners might eventually do away with elevator insurance altogether. Duluth building owners might take this advice, for it will not only save them money, but protect the public."

Mr. Kielley left in company with Whitney Wall, Fred Buck, Charles West and A. G. Grant, local realty men. They joined the Chicago delegation at the Windy City, the building owners going in a body to Cincinnati, where they joined the Ohio party. They spent a day sight-seeing at Chattanooga and Chickamauga, continuing down to Atlanta a week ago Sunday, the convention opening there the following day.

AD MEN WILL REASSEMBLE

Dr. Maurice Lefkovits will speak on the subject of advertising copy at the meeting of the Duluth Ad Men's club this evening. The meeting will be held at the Commercial club. Alfred Hanchett will also speak on the same subject.

In addition to the main subject of the meeting there will be a number of routine business matters acted upon. The meeting scheduled for this evening is the first to be called since the summer recess of the club. It is expected that there will be a large attendance.

PRAISE FOR N. Y. SYSTEM

Dr. Fahey Favors Garbage Disposal Ideas in Vogue at Rochester.

Incinerator and Reduction Systems Give Excellent Satisfaction.

Rochester's garbage disposal system is more favored by Health Director Fahey than any other in the East. He returned yesterday afternoon from the New York city, where the forty-third annual convention of the American Public Health association was held Sept. 6 to 10, and made an inspection of incinerator plants on his way home.

At Rochester the city officials operate both an incinerator plant and a reduction system, although the latter is handled by a franchise company. In this way, those in charge are able to dispose of all the refuse in the ovens, making use of reducing articles and old rags, cans and paper.

"Officials told me that the plants are self-sustaining," said Dr. Fahey this morning, "and there is a movement on foot now for the city to take over the reducing plant from the franchise-holding company. The plants are operated in a systematic manner and no time is lost anywhere. Arrangements are so complete that there is no odor, as in many other plants I visited."

In addition to visiting the Rochester plants, Dr. Fahey inspected the institutions in Kingston, N. Y., Buffalo, Detroit and Chicago. A new incinerator oven is now being built in Chicago, he said, and from indications it will be the most modern in the country.

At the convention in Rochester, the delegates discussed questions pertaining to milk and its supply, death rates, habit-forming drugs, infectious diseases, industrial hygiene and public nursing.

WILL DISCUSS LABOR PROBLEM

Welfare Organizations Will Meet to Consider Unemployment.

In order that the various organizations of the city interested in the problem of the unemployed, which has frequently faced Duluth, may get together in an attempt to work out the best solution, the Associated Charities has issued a call for a meeting to be held at the Commercial club Friday at 12:15 p. m.

Fred Ward, superintendent of the county work farm, has a plan which he will submit and it is expected that others will also present suggestions. Representatives of the various organizations are expected to constitute themselves as a committee.

The organizations asked to attend the meeting are:

Bethel, work farm, county poor commission, Humane society, welfare department, Salvation army, Duluth Gospel mission, Commercial club, West Duluth Commercial club, West End Commercial club, Inter-church council, Y. M. C. A., Rotary club, Associated Charities, Trades and Labor assembly.

Bishop James McGolrick of the Duluth Catholic diocese has also been asked to attend.

WISE TO THE TABLEAUX.

Philadelphia Telegraph: At a dinner party some time ago, reference was made to the country cousins, when this little anecdote was related by Congressman Harvey B. Ferguson of New York.

One evening, not long since, a charming young matron was preparing to receive company when the door bell rang and the maid admitted Aunt Harriet, whose home was down in the ensilage zone.

"Had to come to town to do some shopping," announced Aunt Harriet, as her pretty niece rushed to greet her, "so I thought I would start early, stay all night, an' git at it the first thing in the morning."

"I am so glad you came!" exclaimed the niece, charmingly, if not sincerely. "You are just in time. We are going to have tableaux tonight."

"Yes, I know," was the prompt response of Aunt Harriet. "I smelled 'em cookin' as I come in the door."

HITS AND MISSES OF THE THEATRICAL SEASON

In a Season That Follows No Precedents, Unknown Playwrights and Newly Arrived Producers Have Made Fortunes for Themselves, While the Veterans of the Theatrical Game Have Met With Failure and Financial Loss.

Picking a winner on Broadway is a sporting proposition. Theatrical managers, like other human beings, have a habit of attributing good luck to brains—their brains, of course. They pride themselves on their ability to feel the public's pulse—when they talk for publication. But among themselves the more honest of them admit that when it comes to play-producing the Goddess of Chance still rules their destinies.

The theatrical season of 1915 furnishes striking evidence of the truth of the above statement. Dozens of productions, written by experienced dramatists and staged with great expenditure of thought and money by veteran theatrical managers, have failed to earn a dollar, while others from the pens of hitherto unknown authors and inexpensively staged by newcomers in the producing game have made hundreds of thousands.

Unquestionably the biggest dramatic success of the season is "On Trial," the work of a hitherto unknown playwright. This drama, which has already played more than seventy weeks on Broadway to an average weely business of $10,000, was picked by Arthur Hopkins, youngest producing manager in America.

This success coupled with that of "It Pays to Advertise," have made Cohan & Harris the biggest winners of the season among theatrical firms.

Society - Women's Clubs - Music - Drama

AT THE session of the M. F. W. C. which will be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the First Methodist church, Mrs. Clarence L. Atwood of St. Cloud will give the president's annual message. The other address will be made by Mrs. Philip North Moore of St. Louis, who will have for her subject "The Normal Girl." Mrs. Moore will speak in the time previously allotted to Mrs. Fannie French Morse of Sauk Center for "The Delinquent Girl." Mrs. Morse has been prevented from attending the convention on account of illness. The complete program for this evening appears elsewhere in this edition.

All meetings are open to any woman who wishes to attend and a special invitation has been extended to the men to attend the evening meetings.

New York Fashion Show For the Greek Pageant

This morning a telegram from New York put the last touch on pageant preparations, and confirmed the report that the J. M. Gidding Fall Fashion show displaying the latest Paris and New York creation would be displayed on living models or manequims at the Greek pageant.

The J. M. Gidding Fashion show at Long Beach, Castles by the Sea, recently, was the talk of New York. It netted several thousand dollars for the French seamstresses besides setting a pace in fashions throughout the East.

At the Greek pageant some of the gowns worn at the Long Beach show will be shown. Others, later arrivals and creations, will make the Fall Fashion show here rival those of Chicago and New York.

The latest additions to box row this morning were reservations of 100 seats for the Duluth state normal girls; also the C. A. Duncan box and one block of 100 seats for the matinee.

The curling club has been transformed into a Grecian garden and on the stage and on box row promenade the fashions will be displayed.

In addition to the names already published the following were selected for the Zephyrs: Misses Mildred Eaton, Carolyn Magie, Muriel Hanna, Dorothy Branckman, Eleanor Prosser, Gertrude Wahl, Lenora Carpenter, Olga Wangenstein, Hope Anderson, Geraldine Butler, Myra Edwards, Marion Young.

Suffrage "Parade" Attracts Attention

To have been in a strenuous suffrage parade since yesterday and still look enthusiastic and trim is the record that has been made by twenty-four converts of "votes for women," who are in the show window at suffrage headquarters, 205 West Superior street.

Twelve dolls, dressed in white with yellow bands bearing the slogan, "Votes for Women" worn around their hair and across their shoulders, lead the parade. Each "woman" carries a yellow flag with black lettering showing which state she represents.

Next in the line is a "man," dressed in furs and representing Alaska.

Norway, Finland, Denmark and Iceland, in native costumes, follow their American sisters and in turn are followed by the representatives of the British colonies where the franchise has been extended to women—New Zealand, Australia and the Isle of Man.

The rear of the line is brought up by the campaign states, New Jersey, New York, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania. The campaign dolls wear yellow frocks and black hats.

The "silent speaker" is doing its share to make suffrage headquarters one of the attractions of Superior street. This silent speaker is a chart, which when turned, page by page, by one of the suffragists, a real one, this time, who stands back of the window, points out a few of the reasons for the enfranchisement of women.

It is a case of "'Will you step into my parlor" said the suffragist to the ant," for within, at 5 o'clock this afternoon, talks were given by Mrs. Jessie Hardy MacKaye of Washington, a member of the advisory committee of the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage; Mrs. Charles P. Noyes of Minneapolis; Mrs. Andreas Ueland of Minneapolis, president of the Minnesota Woman Suffrage association, and Mrs. Gertrude S. Hunter of Minneapolis, state organizer of the congressional union.

Talks will be made this evening at 8 o'clock at Second avenue west and Superior street by the four speakers of this afternoon, Mrs. Hunter to be the principal speaker.

Music Conference of Much Interest

The music conference which will be held at 4 oclock tomorrow afternoon at the First M. E. church will be of great interest to musicians and those who have not a technical education, as the principal address will be made by Prof. George Lansing Raymond of Los Angeles, who at one time held the chair of comparative esthetics at Princeton university. His subject, "How Music Can Fulfill Its Purpose in the Educational While," will carry out the general subject for the conference which is "The Place of Music in the Public Schools." He will demonstrate the fact that music is an educational subject.

Prof. Raymond is the author of "Proportion and Harmony of Line and Color," "The Genesis of Art Form" and a number of books on related topics.

Prof. Raymond's address will be followed by a general discussion led by Mrs. Ann Dixon.

Miss Carlotta Simonds will tell of the convention held by the General Federation of Musical Clubs in Los Angeles last summer and will dwell especially on the public school music of that city which is considered a model in this line.

Bardon-Higgins.

Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Winifred Emily Bardon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Bardon of Superior to Raymond Walter Higgins of this city, which will take place at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning, Oct. 5, at the St. Francis Xavier church, Superior. The ceremony will be followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents, 225 West Fifth street. Mr. Higgins and his bride will make their home at 2401 East First street, this city, after Dec. 15.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Employers, Not Taskmasters.

Women employed in minor positions where things are at a tension most of the time, fail in large numbers to grasp their duty to their employer. They do not seem to realize that the success of the enterprise depends upon the united efforts of all employes toward the one end. Many a so-called inconsequential interference of office routine has resulted far more seriously to the interests of the business than those at the head have made known.

A humble little girl clerk having a few moment's leisure may see no harm in using the office telephone in arranging a meeting with a bosom friend. It makes little difference that she is brief, if during that time the business head desires to get into communication with another on a matter of urgent importance. She discommodes him and his business just that much.

A certain business house with which I am familiar has been having difficulties about the use of telephones and friends calling on employes during business hours. It amounts to an epidemic and may be traced to the rather easy-going treatment which the entire force receives at the hands of those responsible for their employment. It isn't every man and woman whom you can treat with consideration and obtain a due amount in return, and often times comparative freedom from restraint breeds thoughtlessness and a disregard for details which is unintentional.

Naturally one might expect that women who do not have to work for a living would have sense enough not to invade the premises where one of their friends is regularly employed unless a pressing matter forced the intrusion. The duty of the one so employed lies plain before her and consists of telling her caller that she cannot entertain her in her employer's office, or during his working hours.

No head of a business will refuse any necessary outside communication among his assistants. Many dislike to even hint that more discretion be used in the small matters that can occasion so much annoyance and injury for fear of being thought hard taskmasters. So if you would not have several rigid rules framed to meet your particular needs, look to the small details of your office conduct and improve them where they are lax and thoughtless.

"Farmer's Wife" Not Mere Cog in Washing Machine

Miss Lutie E. Stearns Hotly Resents Distinctions Between Country and City Women.

When talking to a farmer's wife discuss Ibsen, Dante, the drama, or social uplift and forget about washing machines, patent incubators and darning processes.

Miss Lutie E. Stearns, former Milwaukee librarian, director of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and noted suffragist, fresh from several months' study of suffrage benefits in California, told 350 members of the Minnesota Federation of Womens Clubs at the First Methodist church this morning that the farmer's wife was a much abused personage, rarely understood or appreciated.

"It makes my blood boil when anyone speaks of 'farmer's wives' with a rising inflection, as opposed to 'city wives,' with the opposite inflection," Miss Stearns said, jumping to her feet in the course of a general discussion of rural development.

Talk About Human Beings.

"Stop talking about the farmers' wives and the city wives! Talk about human beings for awhile. Don't isolate the farmer's wife, for she is more fortunate than you, under ordinary circumstances.

"The homely ladies' magazines and the farmer's journals are all wrong," she continued, hotly, "you can't pick up one that doesn't prescribe a new patent washing machine for a farmer's wife.

"The city wives are different, though—far different. The editor tells them of new ideas for soirees, fashion hints for automobile tours and of the thousand and one other things dear to a woman's heart.

"The popular impression seems to be that a farmer's wife has to neglect her washtub to attend a club meeting, but they are no more handicapped than is her city cousin.

"Why," she said, her voice rising, "in Milwaukee we have one of the largest women's clubs in the United States. There are 650 members. The president of the club is a farmer's wife. A real one who tends to the churning and helps with the chickens.

"She served one term, guiding the city wives, and they re-elected her unanimously because of her remarkable showing. That's what one farmer's wife has done."

Preceding Miss Stearns' impromptu talk, members of rural clubs throughout the state told of the work they had been doing to interest their husbands in improvements and help the community.

MISS LUTIE E. STEARNS.

Omit Hostesses' Ball.

Minneapolis society will omit the Hostesses' ball again this winter, according to plans which have been made. For years the Hostesses' ball has been one of the most elaborate and interesting social events of the season and it was customary for a time for debutantes to be presented on that evening. The Minneapolis society women decided to omit the ball again this year because of the tragic conditions in Europe.

Minneapolis Wedding.

Of interest in Duluth society circles is the announcement of the wedding of Miss Katherine Lawler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Pennington of Minneapolis to Robert L. Brooks, son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Brooks, also of Minneapolis, which will take place at the Pennington home on Oct. 27. The wedding will be witnessed by 350 relatives and friends.

I wish to announce that my general opening will be held on one day only, Friday, September Twenty-fourth, instead of on two days as originally planned.

Biggest Convention Yet Held By State Federation

Nearly 400 Women in Attendance at Opening Session---Yellow Ribbons in Evidence Everywhere.

Yellow ribbons are everywhere in Duluth today, for the city is host to the largest convention of women ever assembled for an annual meeting of the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs. It is the twenty-first annual convention of the organization.

"Yellow ribbons don't mean that we're suffragettes, though," as one home-loving delegate hastened to explain to the mere man who was questioning her.

Russet and gold are the organization colors, and the anti-suffrage members of the organization are explaining why the ribbons are a suffrage yellow rather than a Federation gold.

It was a representative throng which gathered at the First Methodist Episcopal church shortly after 9 o'clock this morning for the first meeting of the convention. Nearly 400 persons were in atterdance, including women nationally known for their educational, social and club work.

Prominent in the groups were Miss Lutie B. Stearns of Milwaukee, and Mrs. Philip North Moore of St. Louis. The former is a director of the general Federation and the latter is a former national president. Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker of Chicago, head of the general Federation, arrived late this afternoon.

List of Delegates.

Shortly after noon today there still were many delegates who had not registered, according to those in charge of the booth. The list of Minneapolis and St. Paul visitors is exceptionally large, including: Mrs. J. E. Brant, Mrs. Letta G. Brown, Mrs. F. A. Wood, Mrs. M. L. Wildes, Mrs. V. C. Sherman, Mrs. H. D. Day, Mrs. C. M. Ferguson, Mrs. H. S. Godfrey, Mrs. E. H. Parker, Mrs. C. A. Vandevere, Mrs. G. H. Dreey, Mrs. A. F. Owen, Mrs. Gertrude S. Hunter, Mrs. H. W. Mills, Mrs. G. H. Chilton, Mrs. Franklin Hynes, Mrs. A. F. Palmer, Mrs. William H. Ritchie and Mrs. J. F. Willis, all of Minneapolis; and Mrs. Albert R. Hall, Mrs. J. M. Schwartz, Mrs. H. R. Tomlinson, Mrs. N. M. Thygeson, Mrs. J. M. Quise, Mrs. T. L. Rypens, Mrs. Ernest F. Leighton, Mrs. Samuel Goldstein, Mrs. Edwin W. Osborne, Miss Emily H. Noyes and Miss M. S. Lamb, all of St. Paul.

From the smaller cities and towns are: Mrs. George J. Allen, Rochester; Mrs. E. A. Beck, Rochester; Mrs. W. D. Abbott, Winona; Mrs. W. E. Matheson, Mrs. W. W. Cook, Marshall; Mrs. W. T. Coe, Mrs. J. E. Springer, Wayzata; Mrs. C. K. Bennett, Owatonna; Mrs. Clarence L. Atwood, St. Cloud; Mrs. A. G. Whitney, St. Cloud; Mrs. H. N. McKusick, Stillwater; Mrs. E. J. Lewis, Sauk Center; Mrs. C. E. Conant, Wells; Mrs. L. D. Brown, Little Falls; Mrs. C. B. Watkins, Mrs. Peter Olesen, Cloquet;

There's all the difference in the world between Hawaiian Canned Pineapple and the green fruit you call "fresh."

Hawaiian Canned Pineapple

is picked only when it is perfectly ripe and full flavored. It is packed immediately in its own natural juice—the genuine pineapple flavor is retained. There's nothing more delicious.

The big, tender slices are ready to serve for dessert the moment they come from the can. They may be used in countless ways—in pies, cakes, fritters, salads, puddings, ices, sherbets, etc. A medium-sized can is plenty for six people.

10c to 25c a can according to size of can and grade of quality—cheaper than it's ever been before. Just ask for a can of Hawaiian Pineapple.

Church Meetings.

The Circle Auxiliary of the First Presbyterian church will meet in the Edison room at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

Duluth Musician On Successful Tour

Miss Elizabeth Maddox, daughter of Mrs. Nannie B. Maddox, 222 Fifth avenue east, is winning recognition with her violin and vocal solo work with the Frank Winninger Musical Comedy company. Concerning her work, a Minnesota paper says: "Miss Elizabeth Maddox, the violinist and soloist, won the house by her clever renditions. Her violin selections were clear and sweet and showed a technique which was rare. Her voice also proved that she is a singer of ability."

Bundle Shower.

Miss Jennie Erickson of Lakeside entertained last evening at a bundle shower in honor of Miss Anna Anderson of 2314 West Eighth street, who will be a bride of this week. The color scheme of decorations was red and white cupids, hearts and red carnations being used about the rooms. The honor guest was the recipient of many beautiful gifts, presented to her in a red cart, drawn by little Miss Margaret Anderson. The evening was spent with games and music. Thirty-five guests participated.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. J. C. Buchanan, who is one of the delegation of club women from Minneapolis is at the Spalding and will also visit her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. R. Buchanan Morton at 2244 Woodland avenue. Mrs. Buchanan has many friends in Duluth as she is one of the pioneers and was recording secretary of the M. E. W. C., the last time it met in Duluth.

ter, to be a candidate, will throw its support to Mrs. Coe.

Mrs. Olesen's Position.

Mrs. Olesen, president of this district, made clear her position regarding Mrs. De Voist as president in the following statement which she gave last night:

"I stand first for the federation and the good of the federation, second for my district when it does not conflict with the welfare of the federation as a whole. When, however, a candidate is presented from my district whom I consider as worthy to be state president as any other woman whose name is presented, I am bound to stand by the candidate from my district."

As there are nine state offices and ten districts the honors are well divided. The rule that there shall be only one officer from a district was made to prevent a large proportion of officers being drawn from the Twin Cities, which by reason of their many clubs would be able to swing elections.

A delegate said this morning: "No personal feeling should enter into the consideration of the proposed change in the constitution as it is a matter not only of now, but for all time." A two-thirds vote is necessary to change the constitution.

Informal Balloting.

Informal balloting for the nomination of president, corresponding secretary, historian and general federation secretary will take place tomorrow morning. The formal balloting will take place Thursday. It is understood Mrs. Atwood will be named as general federation secretary, a position which it has been customary for former presidents to hold and which Mrs. E. H. Loyhed of Faribault, a former president, is now holding.

Mrs. C. E. Conant of Wells, president of the Second district, and Mrs. S. H. Johnson of Appleton, president of the Seventh district, are mentioned among those who may be nominated from the floor.

Two Candidates Qualify.

At the council meeting this morning the reading of last night's minutes showed that two of the candidates for president have resigned their offices. Mrs. Coe resigned as president of the Tenth district and Mrs. Sherman resigned as recording secretary.

Attention was called by Mrs. Atwood, the president, to the publicity which will be granted the Minnesota federation by the organ of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, which will devote four pages in each monthly issue of its magazine to club news and official communications of the federation. Mrs. J. M. Schwartz of St. Paul, vice president, will have charge of the Minnesota insert, and will have the co-operation of the officers, presidents of districts and chairmen of committees.

Clubs for Rural Districts.

At the council meeting, Mrs. Atwood called for a discussion of the way in which women of rural communities may be interested in clubs, as the social and educational life of women living on farms has become an important factor in the many interests of the 350 clubs belonging to the Minnesota federation.

Reports of Officers.

The reports of officers given at this afternoon's session were:

Vice president, Mrs. J. M. Schwartz, St. Paul; corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. G. Whitney, St. Cloud; recording secretary, Mrs. V. C. Sherman, Minneapolis; treasurer, Mrs. F. L. Barrows, Duluth; auditor, Mrs. W. D. Abbott, Winona; historian, Mrs. H. N. McCusick, Stillwater; custodian, Mrs. E. J. Lewis, Sauk Center; general federation secretary, Mrs. E. H. Loyhed, Faribault.

The report of Mrs. Barrows, who was unable to attend on account of illness, is given in another column of The Herald tonight.

The last part of the afternoon program consisted of the reports given by the presidents of the ten districts of the state.

In Eighth District.

Mrs. Peter Olesen of Cloquet, president of the Eighth district, which includes Duluth, said in her account of the club work that has been done since the last convention:

"There are twenty-five federated clubs in the Eighth district with a combined membership of 1,050 women. Five new clubs have been added during the year, carrying with them a combined membership of 200 women. Four of the new clubs added are community clubs, using the public schools as a meeting place, and are open to every woman in the community.

"One of the new clubs, the Community club of Bovey, with a membership of forty-five, is composed almost entirely of women born in foreign lands, only a few women in it being American born. This club is doing good work and it is an inspiration to visit it and see how devoted the women are to their club, and how earnestly they discuss the topics relating to child welfare.

"The Americanizing of the immigrant is one of Northern Minnesota's great problems. Club women of the Eighth district, are realizing the great opportunity that is theirs, and are in a patriotic way using the community club and its influence helping their foreign sisters to become good American mothers.

"The program sof each club in the district show that art music, literature and travel are important, and popular topics for study, the women finding in these subjects an inspiration for civic and community work. Hence every club in the Eighth district has done civic work during the past year. Charity work has been popular. The children have received much attention at the hands of the club women.

"One club helped to secure a municipal Christmas tree and donated their work in filling 1,500 bags of nuts for the children of their community at Christmas time.

"Another club hired a theater and gave two fine moving picture performances to 1,200 children at Christmas time.

"One club inaugurated successfully a village spring house cleaning.

"Another club raised $1,563 to do work among the tubercular poor of their city and during the year have given eight poor families a monthly allowance. At Christmas time they gave $155 to charity. The women of this club say that their aim is to work for those in need in the spirit of the Master, and they have lived up to their aim.

Red Cross Seals.

"A club in the Eighth district carried off the honor of having sold the greatest number of Red Cross Christmas seals and a great number have worked for the Belgium Relief association. One club was instrumental in forming a Belgium Relief association in their town, and gave $75 a month to this work for some time.

"One club gave $75 last year to the General Endowment fund and also helped to furnish a public school with gymnasium equipment.

"One club in the Eighth district cooked and served a community Thanksgiving dinner.

"To sum up, the clubs of the Eighth district have given hundreds of dollars to charity during the last year; sold Red Cross Christmas seals; used their influence in behalf of certain worthy bills before the legislature; did all kinds of civic work; helped foster a spirit of neighborliness and friendliness in the different communities; brought musical talent to their various cities; established Lyceum courses and brought lecturers to their communities. By the resolutions adopted, we may judge what the vital things are that a district stands for.

"In convention assembled, the Eighth district clubs expressed their loyalty to our beloved state president, Mrs. Atwood, and our gratitude to her for the excellent work she has done for our clubs and for the federation. They pledged themselves to work for the cause of peace; stood opposed to liquor traffic; pledged themselves to further work among the immigrant women. So, 1,000 women in the Eighth district are doing practical work for better homes and better communities."

First District Work.

Mrs. George J. Allen, Rochester, president of the First district, said in part:

"The federated clubs of the First District M. F. W. C. now number fifty-one and are situated in twenty-four towns. There are civic, literary, musical and art clubs. Civic work predominates for even literary clubs, where there are no civic leagues, have committees appointed to look after town improvement work. This work is not confined to the towns but extends into the country districts also where the country women are thoroughly alive to civic possibilities."

She sketched the work that has been done to beautify the towns of her district, to provide clubs for boys and girls, to start libraries, have birth registration laws enforced and improve the type of films shown at the motion picture houses.

Tenth District Work.

Mrs. W. T. Coe of Wayzata, president of the Tenth district, confined her talk to one phase of club work—the training of women for federation work. As the Tenth is the new district and has been represented at but one previous convention the introduction of federated activities has been an important part of its life.

"We have urged all clubs to send delegates and they responded well," she said. "We have worked with many organizations, especially with the Farm Women's congress and the state agricultural school and have had programs at the Mille Lacs, Anoka and Hennepin county fairs. We are going to make efforts to have women's buildings erected on fair grounds that do not have them."

Mrs. Coe made particular mention of the Bloomington Ferry Woman's club which has only fourteen members, all farmers' wives, but is sufficiently progressive to have its own community house.

In Ninth District.

Mrs. William Russell of Moorhead, president of the Ninth district, reported that five clubs have joined the federation of that district since the last convention, making a total of twenty-three clubs. The district had the largest convention in its history at Moorhead in the spring, with forty-seven delegates and an equal number of visitors in attendance. Suffrage was indorsed and Mrs. David F. Simpson, president of the Minneapolis suffrage organization, was one of the speakers.

The club women secured the employment of a police matron at Fergus Falls, sold more Red Cross seals than in any previous year, installed street drinking fountains, and carried on a "swat the fly" campaign in Moorhead. The next district meeting will be held at Thief River Falls next May.

Sixth District Work.

The Sixth district has added to its roll three new clubs in the past year," said Mrs. L. D. Brown, president of that district. "There is a total of twenty-two clubs.

"Several clubs are maintaining or helping to maintain rest rooms. One club of twenty members has built a community house. Drinking fountains have been donated to several towns by the club women and clean-up days and school gardens have been instituted and fostered.

"Many public libraries in the smaller towns have received generous and substantial aid from the club women.

"We of the Sixth district feel that we have especially distinguished in having given to the state such an efficient and admirable woman as Mrs. Atwood, our retiring president."

Seventh District Work.

Mrs. S. H. Johnson of Appleton said: "The Seventh district is happy to report a busy year.

"The president of the district has been very fond of quoting Mrs. Pennybacker, who said 'While we should ever cherish the culture side of self improvement, yet we are convinced that all study is futile that does not lead to action.'

"Two towns are fitting up clubrooms in their new public libraries, three are offering prizes for women's gardens planted on vacant lots and several have secured street waste boxes."

The next annual meeting will be held at Montevidio in May.

In Fourth District.

"Many of our clubs are organized as 'Cultural and Educational,'" reported Mrs. Albert R. Hall of the Fourth district. "Others have passed on to eleomosynary, to civic or to social service work. All, however, hold themselves in readiness to do 'district' work when need for it comes, as it does, continually, in a large city.

"The collection of data on birth registration for the United States department of labor brought information valuable not only to the nation, but to our city.

"The interest in our state government, aroused by the work for the amendments 1, 3 and 9 of the state Constitution was of worth not only because of what we did to help, but because we had opportunity to learn how very slight is our 'influence' without the all-powerful vote."

Fifth District Work.

Mrs. G. M. Ferguson reported that the Fifth district had helped to secure two street mothers, and has worked with them since their appointment; that the work of investigating the housekeeping of the public schools resulted in penny lunches, and that the legislative committee worked for many bills and helped secure the passage of the one for a state reformatory for women.

Secretary's Report.

The report of Mrs. V. C. Sherman of Minneapolis, who has resigned as recording secretary, was in part as follows:

"The Minnesota Federation of Women's clubs held its annual convention the past year at Rochester, Oct. 7 to 9 inclusive.

"The three-day convention consisted of two executive board meetings, one council, five day time sessions, and three evening meetings, also a visit to the Mayo brothers clinic, to the insane hospital where tea was served, and an automobile ride.

"Two hundred and twenty-seven delegates were reported present by the credentials committee. Some time was spent during the convention amending and remodeling the constitution in order to make it more adequately fit the growing needs of our organization.

Endowment Fund.

"An achievement which gave us much satisfaction, was the completion of the National Endowment fund. A telegram was sent to the national president, Mrs Pennybacker announcing that the Minnesota federation had met its pledge.

"The Minnesota federation indorsed those resolutions of the general federation, which favor the merit system of government, as opposed to the spoils system; the cause of political equality for men and women; promotion of dignified forms of dancing; opposition to the liquor traffic. Among the resolutions indorsed having local state application were, support of the enforcement of the red light and abatement law; reforestation of Northern Minnesota, and construction of good roads; the proper control of defectives and habitual criminals, and a national marriage and divorce law. The federation opposed any change in the existing laws whereby women would be subject to a twelve-hour work law. Women inspectors for the state dairy and food commission were urged, also increased appropriations for the state and city board of health. The federation earnestly requested that a definite proportion of the money accruing to the state for extension work through the Smith-Lever act be devoted to the advancement of home economics.

"One of the projects for which some of our most noted and able club women of the state have labored and planned is the construction of a woman's reformatory. Necessarily the first step to that end was to secure legislation, and an appropriation to carry on the work. Our president, Mrs. Atwood, worked untiringly, and Mrs. Higbee devoted her waning strength and ebbing last hours of her life in support of an institution that will mean much for the betterment of some of the women of the state.

"The federation is growing and expanding outwardly in numbers and influence, and inwardly its membership is striving for greater efficiency by painstaking analysis of conditions under which we live, and intensive work for the betterments we covet everywhere. We are appreciative of our material growth, and of the clarified and higher ideals before us, as well as mindful of our more complicated and strenuous duties, to attain that for which we are reaching as the years go by.

"The applications of a steady stream of new clubs joining with us, signifies that we are ever marching on."

EDUCATIONAL RESTRICTIONS

Mrs. Philip North Moore Does Not Favor Unrestricted Suffrage.

Unrestricted suffrage would not help the women of the United States. This is the opinion of Mrs. Philip North Moore, former president of the general federation of women's clubs, who is in the city to attend the meeing of the Minnesota federation.

"I think the men made a mistake in granting the franchise to those too ignorant to use it well," said Mrs. Moore, "and I would like to see an educational restriction so that the same mistake is not made when women are given the ballot, which is, of course, only a matter of time."

Mrs. Moore will speak on "The Normal Girl" this evening at the federation meeting. From Duluth Mrs. Moore will go to Fergus Falls and later to Akron, Ohio, where she will join her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Moore.

Sanomade Mattresses.

Few people in Duluth realize the extent of the De Witt-Seitz company's mattress plant. It is an institution that Duluth should be proud of.

They have a most sanitary factory and latest equipment, having machines for making their own cotton felt.

Having built up a large business from a small beginning in 1906, they are now making and marketing over 35,000 mattresses a year. Their business on their famous Sanomade mattress is increasing every day and their mattresses are carried in stock and sold by all the leading merchants in the Northwest.

This business has been built up on square dealings, and the DeWitt-Seitz company is known as the quality house over their territory.

This is the kind of institutions Duluth needs to make it grow, and every Duluthian who wants a mattress should make it a point to see that it is made in Duluth. Sanomade means first in grade. Made in Duluth by DeWitt-Seitz company.

Peruvian petroleum is said to rank next to that of Russia in its suitability for producing high grade lubricants.

A FORETASTE OF WHAT'S COMING.

It is the autumn of 1915. Nineteen sixteen is not far off, and that is a year in which this country elects a president. The presidential preference primaries are to be held in Minnesota next March, so the presidential campaign of 1916 is drawing near.

Already one not abnormally observant can detect signs of its coming—can, indeed, get a foretaste of the many amazing statements and arguments and distortions it is to bring.

For instance, here is our good friend the Mankato Free Press shooting off a few pre-campaign sizzers just to get its hand in, as it were, and to exercise its voice a little for next year's shouting.

"By maintaining a blockade," says the Free Press under the caption of "The Protective Principle," "Great Britain has compelled Germany to supply her own needs and has prevented her from spending money abroad. Now British statesmen are beginning to question the wisdom of that policy and argue that it would injure Germany more if she were permitted to spend money abroad, thus depleting her own monetary resources."

The student of political argument as it is ordinarily framed will find here an admirable example of its structure and method.

The idea, Herman—and Geraldine, too, for the girls are sitting up and taking notice of politics—is to show that, since the principle of protection is to shut out imports from foreign countries, and since the blockade is doing that very thing, the blockade has been a good thing for Germany—money right in its mitt, as it were; and hence that, manifestly, a protective tariff that shuts out imports is the only source of national prosperity.

That is why it is necessary to state that "British statesmen are beginning to question the wisdom of that policy and argue that it would injure Germany more if she were permitted to spend money abroad." Of course British statesmen are doing nothing of the kind; but then where would your argument be if you didn't say that they were? To bolster up a bad argument, you must deftly insert some such distortion as this, trusting that you will be able to get away with it.

If you told the truth, Herman—and Geraldine—you'd have no argument at all. You would have to admit that England hasn't the slightest notion of suspending its blockade, as it most assuredly would if it thought it was helping Germany. You would have to admit that British statesmen know that, while Germany can't spend money abroad, it is also impossible for it to SELL anything abroad; so that it isn't getting a dollar of outside money to keep it going, though in normal times it depends very largely upon its foreign trade. And, of course, Germany knows that it can't have foreign trade unless it buys as well as sells.

Yes, Herman, you are quite right when you say that if protection and the Free Press's blockade theory were correct, the proper thing for this country to do would be to close every port, mine every harbor, sink every ship, and see to it that no loophole remained through which a pound of foreign goods could come in.

But let us return to our lesson. "Shutting out foreign goods and keeping money at home to pay home labor, is the secret of national prosperity;" says the Free Press to clinch its argument.

How true that is! Herman—and Geraldine—never forget that sublime lesson in trade economics. Never forget that it is as true as the lesson your teacher in physics gave you the other day, which was: that the highest type of practical aviation is to lift yourself by your bootstraps.

THE EMANCIPATION PROCLAMATION.

Fifty-three years ago tomorrow President Abraham Lincoln affixed his signature to a document that, long discussed and prepared two months before as a military measure—the only pretext that could make it a legal act—had lain upon his desk awaiting news from the battle front that would make it possible to announce the act under brighter auspices.

This document was the Emancipation Proclamation, which declared that on the first day of January, 1863, "all persons held as slaves within any state, or designated part of a state, the people whereof shall then be in rebellion against the United States, shall be then, thenceforward and forever free." Thus by a stroke of the pen, as a military move, Lincoln struck the shackles from hundreds of thousands of slaves and made them free men; though there were years of bitter and bloody warfare to intervene before the consummation of this decree. The Proclamation applied only to the states in rebellion, and there was still slavery in two Union states until the Thirteenth amendment in 1865 abolished race serfdom forever in this country.

It is the habit of the negroes of Duluth to celebrate the anniversary of this great step forward in the progress of mankind, and they are to observe it again tomorrow night. In thought, at least, let their fellow-citizens be with them in their celebration of what meant so much to them, and which meant no less to the white race in this land.

There is a considerable negro population in Duluth. The type of negro Duluth knows is a high tribute to the wisdom and humanity that, behind the urging of military need which was the immediate occasion of the Emancipation Proclamation, dictated this great charter of human liberty. Self-supporting, self-respecting, industrious, often thrifty and well-to-do; averaging, indeed, pretty well along with the rest of us, they are good citizens and good neighbors. Their progress is self-made, is being gained at a rapidly increasing rate, and entitles them to the respect in which they are held.

On this eve of the fifty-third anniversary of the great act that gave these colored friends and fellow-citizens the chance they are making such good use of, The Herald has pleasure in congratulating them on the spirit that actuates this annual celebration, and in wishing them every possible aid and support in the commendable progress they are making.

DULUTH'S NEW ELECTION PLAN.

The charter commission is considering what to provide in place of the very satisfactory election system the supreme court says Duluth can't have any more.

Manifestly, the reasoning of the supreme court narrows the latitude allowed the commission, and leaves little room for experiment or improvement on the conventional system.

There should, of course, be a primary for elimination purposes, with a general election to decide finally. The customary way of doing this when the election is non-partisan—and apparently the supreme court has not yet commanded us to return to the party system—is to pass on to the general election ballot the two highest names in the primary returns on each office. Perhaps that will be sufficient.

We would, though, like to renew the suggestion made some time ago, that provision be made that if any candidate at the primary gets a majority of all the votes cast he shall be declared elected and not be compelled to go through the farce of a second campaign. The lawyers perhaps will tell us whether they think the supreme court would let us do that. It wouldn't accomplish a great deal except a simplification of the system, but we ought to be permitted whatever simplification the lawyers think the court would let us have.

CONSCRIPTION.

Great Britain, despite her purely ornamental kingship, is a democracy. It is not the habit of democracies to become "nations" at war, as Germany is, for instance. France, it is true, is a democracy and yet a "nation at war," but that is due to peculiar circumstances: remembrance of 1870, the long-nursed thirst for satisfaction for the humiliation Bismarck and von Moltke put upon her, and the dire peril that has confronted her ever since August of 1914.

The war found England with a very modest army. She had depended upon her navy, and had never dreamed of being called upon to play a large part in land service. Moreover, the stupid policy of the bureau of censors has kept the English largely deluded and unaware of their peril.

Now, if the war on land is to be won—the war on the sea is already won, apparently, and the fact lurks unnoticed behind the catastrophes of the land struggle—it is Great Britain that must win it. She has less than a million men in France and Belgium, and less than two millions more at home in training. She will need more—very likely many more—if the struggle is to be won by the allies.

So now, tentatively, timidly, England is talking conscription. Enlistments, though ready enough for a time, are not now what they should be. That is due, in large part, to the ostrich-like policy of the government, as represented by the activities of the bureau of censors. Perhaps fear may obviate the need of conscription. If it does there will be a hugely relieved set of statesmen in England.

The indications are that though England has enlisted nearly three millions of men, her equipment processes have lagged even behind the work of the enlisting officers. The three millions are not yet equipped. Equipment for those yet to be enlisted is not in sight. So talk of conscription is possibly premature as yet.

But if equipment once catches up with enlistments, and if enlistments continue to lag, conscription will follow as certainly as the night follows the day. Indeed, the manner in which British statesmen are approaching the subject shows that conscription is all but inevitable. Some of them are already converted to conscription; the others are more reluctant than opposed. The present discussion manifestly is contrived to prepare the British public for a disagreeable policy, one abhorrent to every democracy and yet apparently necessary for even a democracy when it is confronted by autocratic nations at war.

France is in to the last man. Belgium is all but annihilated. Russia, with all her millions, is virtually defeated, even though she still has a chance that winter will compel a halt in the offensive against her and give her a chance to recruit and equip for a gigantic attack upon the wearied and diminished Teuton forces in the spring. If the tide of battle is to be turned, obviously it must be by fresh British forces, and it is almost as obvious that conscription, both for the army and for the industries concerned in equipment of armies, will be necessary.

No Democratic Opposition

By Savoyard.

Washington, Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Kentucky was the first state whose Democracy formally indorsed Woodrow Wilson for re-election to the office of president of the United States, and we may be sure that every one of the other forty-seven states will do likewise, and, as did Kentucky, do it by acclaim without one dissenting voice. And do not forget that Kentucky favored Champ Clark in 1912. Never since Gen. Jackson's day has the Democratic party been as completely united as it is now and everything points to a glorious victory in 1916. There is no insubordination and there are no laggards. No party was ever in better shape.

Abraham Lincoln was not so fortunate as is Mr. Wilson. In the summer and autumn of 1863 there was open hostility to his renomination. The New York Herald delivered itself of a philippic scurrilous in the extreme against him, demanding the nomination of Gen. Grant, then fresh from the victory of Vicksburg, and thousands of Republicans indorsed all the Herald said. Nor was that all. A movement headed by Ben Wade, Henry Winter Davis and James A. Garfield culminated in a national convention held at Cleveland, Ohio, which nominated for president John C. Fremont and for vice president John Cochrane. It was insisted that the regular Republican convention should indorse this ticket; but when that body assembled, some months later, it was clear that the South was on the verge of collapse and Lincoln had no opposition in the convention, though at least 30 per cent of the party preferred Chase to him.

But Wilson is confronted with no such revolt in his own party. Mr. Cleveland was not so fortunate as Wilson. There was not a day of his career when his party was solid in its support of him. In 1884 Blaine polled tens of thousands of Democratic votes in the cities of New York and Brooklyn and the mugwump vote saved Cleveland's bacon. Ben Butler, ostensibly a Democrat at that time and a candidate for president before the convention that nominated Cleveland, ran as an independent and gave material aid to Blaine; but Cleveland was elected notwithstanding the treason in his own party.

And even in 1888 the Democracy was not solidly for Cleveland. The bosses, such as Hill, Croker and Gorman, hated him, and, though they could not defeat his renomination, they rejoiced over his defeat, which was compassed by a treaty between the grog-shop and the "party of Great Moral Ideas" when Warner Miller, anti-saloon Republican, was nominated for governor against David B. Hill and fell "outside the breastworks" as it was intended he should. That piece of work is what defeated David B. Hill's ambition to be president of the United States. It was that scurvy trade between the Republicans and the saloon that caused the Democratic party to resolve that Grover Cleveland should have his revenge in 1892, when he was triumphantly elected over Ben Harrison.

Cleveland, very great man, able statesman and pure patriot that he was, was not a capable politican. He had not tact. It was impossible for him to bend. He had strong prejudices and sometimes they mastered him. It was a great misfortune to his party and his country that he was defeated for re-election in 1888. Had he been successful the Mills tariff would have been enacted, and there is nothing more certain than that he would have settled the silver question without a split of his party. Had the gold standard been provided in 1889 there would have been no panic of 1893 and the Democracy's lease of power would have been greatly extended.

But Cleveland could not manage men except with a bludgeon, and so when he again became president in 1893 he made the fatal mistake of failure to convene congress and have repealed with little friction the purchasing clause of the Sherman silver law. When he set about that work the panic was already on the country and before his will was worked his party was hopelessly split. But he was a very great man.

Wilson is all Cleveland was and more. Equally powerful of will, he is an abler statesman and a profounder thinker. He is possessed of wonderful tact and a patience that rivals Lincoln's. He is always serene and never hasty. He can manage men. It is wonderful the amount of reform legislation he got out of congress without serious friction. It was left to him to give the country a sound banking system, something it had never before enjoyed. But his greatest exploit was steering the country safely from the whirlpool of participation in the great war in Europe, and if we escape that danger to the end that fact will stamp Woodrow Wilson as a man of destiny raised up by the Almighty to bless our country.

The Democratic convention will be a mere formality in 1916. It will convene, organize, and nominate Wilson. Of course, there will be a platform promulgated; but Wilson will be the real platform, and the platform and the ticket will be invincible the day of election.

When a Man Shaves.

Atlantic: He whistles or perhaps hums. He draws hot water from the faucet. He makes a rich, creamy lather either in a mug or (for the sake of literary directness) on his own with a shaving stick. He strops his razor, or perhaps selects a blade already sharpened for his convenience. He rubs in the lather. He shaves, and, as Dr. Johnson so shrewdly pointed out that night at Dr. Taylor's, 'Sir, of a thousand shavers, two do not shave so much alike as not to be distinguished.' Perhaps he cuts himself, for a clever man at self-mutilation can do it even with a safety; but who cares? Come, Little Alum, the shaver's friend, smartly to the rescue! And then, being shaved, he exercises the shaver's prerogative and powders his face. Fortunately the process does not always go so smoothly. There are times when the Local Brotherhood of Razors has gone on strike and refuses to be stropped. There are times at which the twelve interchangeable blabes are hardly better for shaving than twelve interchangeable postage stamps. There are times when the lather might have been fairly guaranteed to dry on the face. There are times when Little Alum, the shaver's friend, might well feel the sting of his own powerlessness. But these times are the blessed cause of genial satisfaction when all goes happily.

The Things Divine.

These are the things I hold divine:
A trusting child's hand laid in mine,
Rich brown earth and wind-tossed trees,
The taste of grapes and the drone of bees,
A rhythmic gallop, long June days,
A rose-hedged lane and lovers' lays,
The welcome smile on neighbors' faces,
Cool, wide hills and open places,
Breeze-blown fields of silver rye,
The wild sweet note of a plover's cry,
Fresh spring showers and scent of box,
The soft pale tint of the garden phlox,
Lilacs blooming, a drowsy noon,
A flight of geese and an autumn moon,
Rolling meadows and storm-washed heights,
A fountain's murmur on summer nights,
A dappled fawn in the forest hush,
Simple words and the song of a thrust,
Rose-red dawns and a mate to share
With comrade soul my gypsy fare,
A waiting fire when the twilight ends,
A gallant heart and the voice of friends.

Robbery By Prize Court

Editorial in the New York World.

It has taken the British prize court ten months to pass upon the case of four ships carrying American cargoes of provisions to Denmark which were seized last November. This in itself is an outrage, for every question involved could have been determined as easily in ten days as in the longer period. By ordering the confiscation of goods on the ground that, although consigned to a neutral port, they were presumably destined to the armed forces of Germany, a wrong second only to that involved in lawless submarine warfare has been committed.

There is no pretense that the court's judgment rests upon evidence. It is supported only by assumption. The ships were neutral. The cargoes were neutral. They were proceeding from one neutral country to another. No question of contraband was involved, unless it could be made to appear that the provisions and other articles were not in fact for Denmark but were to be immediately trans-shipped to Germany for the actual use of the army. As there was no proof that the consignment to Denmark was fraudulent or that if it was going to Germany it would reach the army, resort was had to inference and imagination. The learned court held that the goods must have had a German military destination, because no shipments in such quantities had ever before been made to Denmark in time of peace.

It must be noted that when these ships were seized there was not a legitimate pretense that their cargoes were contraband. The British orders in council which are now operative had not been issued. The German government had not commandeered the food supply of the empire. The submarine campaign against British and neutral commerce had not been inaugurated. With some uncertainty and irregularity, Great Britain was revising its contraband list almost daily, but it had not touched the subject of civilian food. It now appropriates as lawful prize American property which at the time it was seized, whatever its status might have been later, was clearly exempt. Making use of delay to the utmost, it rests its judgment at last not upon conditions existing when it asserted jurisdiction but upon conjecture like that which led the commander of a U boat to sink a great liner which he thought was trying to ram him.

The British prize court, therefore, does what it can in its own sphere to justify the impulses that rule in the conning towers of German submarines. Suspicion is enough to excuse robbery in Great Britain, as thus far it has been to glorify assassination in Germany.

Is there no neutral right to life, property, trade or travel that any belligerent is bound to respect?

Woman's Life Should Vary

London Daily Chronicle: Nowadays a great deal is heard on all sides of the discontent of the housewife. Work that used to be so important to our sex of the preceding generation in many cases holds little or no charm to the modern wife. Women have begun to realize that something more than the actual scrubbing of floors, dusting and general work necessary for the maintained cleanliness of the house is required to make their lives interesting and useful.

And this state of affairs is peculiar to girls who have given up an arduous office life for the hearth. They find their brains, which have been quickened and kept in good working order for many years, have little occupation in the homely tasks that fall to the lot of the wife, and they feel they are "dropping out of things" and losing much that made life so interesting.

Keeping a house clean for the sake of cleanliness is a duty, but cleaning a house for the effect it will have on the inhabitants is a pleasure.

And that is where most of us lose our grip. We go through our work because it has to be done and generally are of the opinion that the sooner finished the better. We do not trouble to make a variation in any of the little things pertaining to our daily duties. We stick to the ideas and methods that have been handed down to us and do not attempt to bring them up to modern requirements. We never care to change the furniture in our rooms—we probably don't even think of it nor of the pleasure such a change may be for the home people. In cooking, too, we pursue the same regular habits, serve up meals in the same old way—it never occurs to some of us to surprise our family by a change in the menu.

This indifference often follows us to the extent of affecting our personal appearance, and we cling to certain modes of hairdressing and clothing, just because we think they suit us. We never seem to wonder whether the "latest thing out" may not adapt itself to our style just as well or better.

By making the trivials of everyday existence a part of our life's interest, instead of regarding them as hindrances, we shall not only be home making in the truest sense of the word, but we shall be demonstrating to all with whom we come in contact the extent of our possibilities.

The Scare for a Boss.

Manitoba Free Press: The political boss is not usually a timid individual, nor is he likely to be wanting in resourcefulness. With the powerful weapon of corruption and intimidation he can go far. In the past, at any rate, the political boss has not feared the church because his henchmen have ordinarily held important positions in it. The political strength of temperance parties he has always believed to be negligible if not mythical. Of academic or purely economic movements he has had a whole-souled scorn. He figures that a considerable proportion of the electorate can be bribed crudely by $5 bills, money and cigars, and that another portion, passing as decent and respectable, can be bribed rather less crudely by class legislation, by charters, by contracts, and by the prospect of business or jobs.

But there are a few things which strike terror into the heart of the political boss. One such thing is to see the public begin to take a real and genuine interest in politics; and another is to see sincere men and women of oratorical gifts taking the public platform. Men and women of this type cannot be silenced by ridicule nor cowed by attempted assassination of character. The anger of the political boss in these circumstances is as futile as the rage of Caliban.

Shellbackism.

New York World: Conservatism if not shellbackism is carried too far when Mr. Taft tells the American Bankers' association that all of the radical reforms attempted of late have been failures. Mr. Taft and his friends will never know how successful have been the measures to take the graft out of the tariff, the panic out of our national banking system, the heartlessness out of our labor laws, the tyranny out of our rough-and-ready injunctions, and the brutality out of a code that condemned mothers to consign their dependent children to institutions or to the streets, until they try to repeal or modify some of them. These reforms are not failures. They are triumphs.

Why He Doubts.

Columbus State Journal: Probably Col. Roosevelt does not regard President Wilson as necessarily a man of low motives but simply mistrusts the ability of a man who refuses to take advantage of a ticklish international situation to advance his own personal fortunes.

Seems Plausible.

New York Times: During a recitation in natural history a teacher asked:

"Can anyone tell me where the home of the swallow is?"

There was a long silence. Finally one lad rose and offered this response:

"The home of the swallow is in the stummick."

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Scattered Comments Taken From Minnesota Papers.

Our Idea, Too.

Thief River Falls News-Press: "A number of exchanges are conducting subscription contests to get subscribers. It may or may not be a good plan, but we feel that we do not care to force the paper on anyone and we ask no one to subscribe unless they think the paper is worth the money."—Ulen Union.

The above is about the sentiment expressed by 98 per cent of the papers of the country.

Yea, Verily.

Grand Rapids Herald-Review: A little more of the academic, if you please, and a little more of the scholastic, if that is what has made President Wilson loom up as a great man in an emergency. Other public men might wear the mortar-board and gown, and not hurt their public careers whatever.

Reason Enough.

Sauk Center Herald: "The best way to keep women from entering into competition with men in the world of occupation is to marry them."—Sauk Center Herald.

"But why keep them from competing? Speak up, oh man, and answer."—Little Falls Transcript.

Because they don't play Kelly pool half the night and show up the next morning red-eyed and incompetent. Because they don't smoke and poison the atmosphere or chew tobacco and muss up the floor. Because they are cleaner, more capable, do their work better, work for less wages and are getting our jobs away from us. Darn 'em.

Darwin's Theory Illustrated.

Winona Leader: The Darwinian theory that man originates from the monkey is often given credence in some men by the monkey business they stoop to.

Dawson Enterprise Sold.

Mr. and Mrs. William Rund in the Dawson Sentinel: Last Wednesday a deal was made whereby the Dawson Enterprise was purchased by Theodore Christianson, editor of the Dawson Sentinel, and the two papers are now consolidated. Last Wednesday's issue, therefore, was our last one, and hereafter our subscription list will be taken care of by the Sentinel editor.

To you all we say, stand by your home paper. With your loyal support and cooperation it will be possible for the editor to give you the best local paper in the state.

We have no definite plans for the future as yet, and do not know just what our next move will be.

We Knew It Would Come to This.

Mahnomen Pioneer: The frost has come. Do your Christmas shopping early.

No Flies on Minnesota.

Montevideo Leader: Minnesota is one of the younger states and not half developed as yet. She produces many other things in great abundance but in these things she greatly excells.

Minnesota raises one-fifth of all the spring wheat grown in the United States. She raises one-sixth of all the barley and flax grown in this country. She raises one-eighth of all the rye and one-eleventh of all the oats grown in the country. She raises one-thirteenth of all the potatoes and one-twentieth of all the hay grown in the country. Averaging these up it appears that Minnesota raises one-eighth of all the spring wheat, oats, barley, rye, flax, potatoes and hay raised in the United States and her agricultural interests are only half developed as yet.

Minnesota has raised 50 per cent more oats this year than last. The figures are approximately 85,120,000 bushels last year and 127,000,000 bushels this year. Of wheat, mostly spring wheat, she raised 42,975,000 bushels last year and approximately 72,000,000 bushels this year, or 72 per cent increase. In fact on almost every crop except corn she has made a splendid gain and on that she will probably get a half crop or more. No wonder farmers from other states are looking this way.

Rules for Writing Official War Dispatches.

Simeon Strunsky in the Atlantic: Ever since official war reports have been written, I suppose, they have followed a literary technique of their own. Among the rules of bulletin writing that will never be changed are those which prescribe that little victories shall be described at much greater length than big victories, that small defeats shall be promptly acknowledged for the purpose of creating an atmosphere of absolute frankness, and that serious reverses shall at first be passed over in silence, then alluded to as a matter of course, and even after that characterized as a strategic retirement, a rectification of the front, a readjustment of the wings in closer co-operation with the center, a consolidation of position, a withdrawal from positions that had lost importance, and so forth. These are the classical methods and they have been liberally employed in the present war. If, for instance, one were to re-read the official dispatches from Petrograd during the Galician battles of May and June one would seldom find the word retreat or retirement. But on successive days or in successive weeks the dispatches calmly speak of the fighting before Tarnow, the fighting on the Wisloka, the fighting at Przemysl, our front west of Lemberg, our front east of Lemberg, each position being from ten to twenty miles in the rear of the position last mentioned. An army is never beaten, an army seldom retreats, and yet somehow an army is found a good deal farther behind where it was the week before.

Ma and the Motor Car.

Before we take a motor ride pa says to ma,
"My dear,
Now just remember I don't need assistance from the rear;
If you will just keep still back there and hold in check your fright
I'll take you where you want to go and get you back all right.
Remember that my hearin's good and also I'm not blind
And I can drive this car without suggestions from behind."

Ma promises that she'll keep still, then off we gayly start,
But soon she notices ahead a peddler and his cart.
"You'd better toot your horn," says she, "to let him know we're near,
He might turn out," and pa replies: "Just shriek at him, my dear."
And then he adds: "Some day some guy will make a lot of dough
By putting horns on tonneau seats for women folks to blow."

A little further on ma says: "He signaled for a turn."
And pa says: "Did he?" in a tone that's hot enough to burn.
"Oh, there's a boy on roller skates," ma cries, "now do go slow,
I'm sure he doesn't see our car." And pa says: "I dunno,
I think I don't need glasses yet, but really it may be
That I am blind an' cannot see what's right in front of me."

If pa should speed the car a bit some rigs to hurry past,
Ma says: "Now do be careful! You are driving much too fast."
An' all the time she's pointing out the dangers of the street
An' keeps him posted on the roads where street cars he will meet,
Last night when we got safely home, pa sighed an' said: "My dear,
I'm sure we've all enjoyed the drive you gave us from the rear."

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinlin, the Sunshine Man.

He leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake. —Ps. xxiii, 2, 3.

He leads me where the waters glide,
The waters soft and still,
And homeward He will gently guide
My wandering heart and will.
—J. Keble.

Out of obedience and devotion arises an habitual faith, which makes Him, though unseen, a part of all our life. He will guide us in a sure path, though it be a rough one: though shadows hang upon it, yet He will be with us. He will bring us home at last. Through much trial it may be, and weariness, in much fear and fainting of heart, in much sadness and loneliness, in griefs that the world never knows, and under burdens that the nearest never suspect. Yet He will suffice for all.

By His eye or by His voice He will guide us, if we be docile and gentle; by His staff and by His rod, if we wander or are wilful; any how, and by all means, He will bring us to His rest.—H. E. Manning in "Joy and Strength."

Dayton, Ohio.

The Sting in a Jest

The Irish World: Do you foster the habit of teasing in your family? If you do, begin today to stamp it out. It is a fruitful source of unhappiness in the home. Good natured jesting, given and taken in all kindness, is well in its place, but there are times when even the humorist must realize that a word of encouragement and sympathetic interest is much more needed. The practice of "picking" at a member of the family, known to be irritable, not infrequently results in lifelong dislike between brother and sister; yes, even between parent and child. The backward boy or girl is too often the butt of the quick witted. Even little children "guy" one another, and, having less control of their feelings than older folk, they often pass from funny moods to fits of rage.

The fault of the home and school is the fault constantly in evidence in office and shop and factory. Teasing, translated into slang, means "jollying," and now and again a dreadful tragedy is traced back to ill-natured jests and gibes that the victim has not the mental or physical endurance to stand. A word of sensible advice, of kindly sympathy and encouragement might have helped him to conquer the dangerous mood. It may be said that no well-balanced person will be affected by jest or joke, no matter how brutal or ill-timed it may be, yet how many intellectually brilliant men and women have shown their susceptibility to the shafts of ridicule?

No one knows just how heavy is the burden that another may be bearing—ill-health, silently endured, mental depression, home troubles, uncongenial employment, heart-breaking discouragements and disappointments—the list is endless. Do not add to it the heartless jest or the teasing act that may draw unwelcome attention. Even very good people err this way occasionally, through lack of tact and perception it may be. Perhaps you remember the prayer of the child who asked God to make all the bad people good, and then added in her artless way, "and make all the good people—all the good people nice."

Faith.

G. Lowes Dickinson: Is it men who attain? Or Man? Or not even he, but God? We do not know. We know only the impulse and the call. The gleam on the snow, the upward path, the urgent stress within—these are our certainty, the rest is doubt. But doubt is a horizon, and on it hangs the star of hope. By that we live; and that science blinds, that renunciation maims, that would shut off from us those silver rays. Our eyes must open as we march to every signal from the heights. And since the soul has indeed immortal longings in her, may we not believe them prophetic of their fruition? For her claims are august as those of man and appeal to the same witness. The witness of either is a dream, but such dreams come from the gate of horn. They are principles of life, and about them crystallizes the universe. For will is more than knowledge, since will creates what knowledge merely records. Science hangs in a void of nescience, a planet turning in the dark. But across that void, Faith builds the road which leads to Olympus and the Eternal Gods.

The Unofficial Truth.

Collier's: Every week we hear of the triumphs of German economy; horseflesh made palatable, nourishing meals furnished at 8 cents each, etc., closing always with the refrain: "Nothing is wasted in Germany—absolutely nothing." This is almost true. Nothing is wasted in Germany now—save human life, and that is poured out in floods to achieve the unknown ends of despotism.

POLICY OF DEFENSE THAT GAINS GROUND

To the Editor of The Herald:

Not only has the American system of national defense proved invariably successful, but its jurisdiction has been constantly enlarging.

The United States, in the Alabama case, enduring wrongs for a time, established in the end the principle for which our government contended.

In the Bering sea dispute, a few years later, it was the government of Great Britain which seemed to put up with an indignity yet chose the American system of defending its rights and its honor.

Canadians had been taking seals in Bering sea. There was no doubt if that was continued they would be exterminated and to stop it our government seized several Canadian vessels.

Legally we were in a bad way. We set up that Russia gave us title to Bering sea as an enclosed sea, but we could not find that anybody had ever admitted Russia's clear title, that Russia had a clear title to give. We set up that the seals belonged to us and we had the right to protect them wherever they strayed, but we could not make that stick.

Great Britain had proper cause for indignation. The seizure of vessels in the open sea, engaged in peaceable business, is a first class cause of offense. But England submitted to the affront rather than make a war over it and arbitration was agreed to.

The United States lost the case on points of law and gained the main ground for which we had contended. It was recognized that civilization had an interest in preserving the seals from extermination and that therefore fishing in the deep sea must be restricted.

There were good Americans then who wanted our government to be more stiff about it, to carry out our law of seizure whether England liked it or not. If we made a strong enough bluff about Bering sea being a closed sea we could get away with it. But the humbler wisdom prevailed, we submitted our case, we lost it and gained more than we lost.

The merits of the American system of defenses are that it is efficient as compared with any other, that it is successful as compared with any other, and that it is a ground gainer.

The American system of defense is not only enough to maintain our rights, our dignity and our honor, it is not only enough to disarm all enemies, but it is enough to conquer the world. If it is not equal now to the conquest of the world it is because it has not yet been sufficiently developed.

It is the only means that ever can conquer the world. And the conquest of the world is the least ambition that should content any American.

INNOCENT BYSTANDER.

Duluth, Sept. 20.

FOR THE COLONEL.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I understand that our grand and glorious statesman and soldier, and other patriots are alarmed at the sentiment expressed in that popular song, "I Did Not Raise My Boy to Be a Soldier." In order to counteract its harmful influence, which has been spread broadcast throughout our warlike nation; and to instill into the hearts of the rising generation a proper understanding of the aim and object of our earthly existence, I take the liberty of suggesting the following substitute for their consideration:

"Mothers, raise your boy to be a soldier,
Teach him that 'tis grand to slay and kill,
Put a little gun upon his shoulder,
Tell him that his blood was made to spill.

"Mothers, raise your girl to marry,
Tell her that her country needs more sons,
Teach her that 'tis babies she should carry,
Teach her that her sons should tote the guns.

For it is the plan divine,
Yes, it is, O gentle mother,
You give yours, and I'll give mine."

MUSCULAR BACKACHE

The muscles of the back do the heavy work of the body. When they are overworked or ill nourished they ache and people who are looking for trouble begin to worry about their kidneys.

Backache may be due to lumbago, which is rheumatism of the muscles of the back, but more backaches are caused by overstrain, overwork and muscle starvation due to thin blood than by anything else.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood and sufferers from backache would do well to try this treatment before giving way to worry over a fancied organic disease. Rest and the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will correct most forms of backache, even rheumatic.

For people who work too hard or dance too much and sleep too little, better habits and a course of treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are all that are needed to drive away the pains and aches that are warnings of a coming breakdown.

Two books, "Building Up the Blood" and "Nervous Disorders" will be sent free, if you are interested, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at the nearest drug store or by mail at 50 cents per box; six boxes, $2.50.

MAY HAVE NO ALTERNATIVE

Duluth May Not Be Permitted to Choose Voting System.

Some Attorneys Believe Non-Partisan Ballot Is Now Compulsory.

Will Duluth voters be required to use the non-partisan ballot, with a primary and a general election, or is the charter commission empowered to provide another system of voting to replace the preferential system, declared unconstitutional in a recent supreme court decision? The charter commission has already undertaken the latter work.

This question, put to lawyers, and jurists, as well as members of the charter commission, brought varied answers and varied interpretations of the state election laws.

"In my opinion there is nothing left to do but to fall back upon the primary system used in other cities of the first class, excepting St. Paul, where they have a home rule charter, and have not had the preferential system," declared Henry F. Greene, city attorney.

His position is disputed by members of the charter commission, who say that the commission can adopt a new voting system to be used, replacing the preferential ballot, under a provision of the statute.

Chapter 389 of the 1913 laws, amending the act covering state elections and providing for the non-partisan ballot, was amended before being passed by a paragraph exempting cities of the first class with a home rule charter.

Former Senator Harry Cheadle, then serving in the legislature, drafted the amendment so that Duluth's charter commission would have the power to decide upon the voting system for the city.

The paragraph reads:

"The provisions of this act shall not apply to general city elections in cities of the first class operating under a home rule charter, where, by terms of such charter, preferential system of voting is provided, with no primary election."

Since the supreme court ruling in the W. H. Smallwood vs. John Brown, Jr., case, brought in the interests of Judge W. H. Windom to compel the canvassing board of the city to turn over the judgeship to him on the ground that he received a plurality of first choice votes, Duluth's status is indefinite, say lawyers.

The supreme court, by knocking out the preferential system, left Duluth a home rule city without the preferential system, and therefore not exempted from the provisions of the 1913 non-partisan act, they say.

ARMORY WILL BE STOREHOUSE

Council Turns Down Request for Dance Hall License.

Duluth's old Armory building at Second avenue east will be used for storage purposes and not for a dance hall.

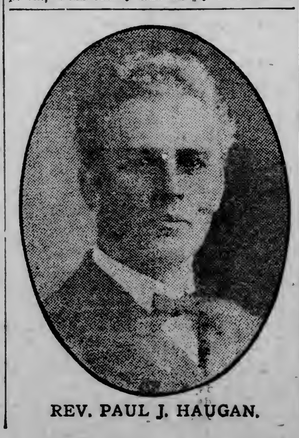

At the council meeting yesterday afternoon, the commissioners protested against the resolution granting John P. White a license to operate a dance hall in the Armory building and as a result Commissioner Silberstein withdrew the measure altogether.

"I introduced the resolution," he said, "to learn the sentiment of the council. I, myself, am opposed to a dance hall license in the Armory."

Commissioner Farrell was the first to protest, declaring that he wanted the building for storage purposes.

"It's either a dance hall or for storage," he declared, "and I am sure the city can save more by giving me the space, than by granting a license to Mr. White."

REV. PAUL J. HAUGAN.

The Germs on Your Hands

NO PERSON, says the sanitary code of the New York state department of health, than which none is than whicher, "no person who resides, boards or lodges in a household where he comes in contact with any persons affected with bacillary dysentery * * * or typhoid fever, shall handle food or food products intended for sale. No waitress—lamp this, little one—no waitress, cook or other employe of a boarding house, hotel, restaurant or other place where food is served, who lodges or visits in a household where he comes in contact with any person with bacillary dysentery * * * or typhoid fever, shall prepare, serve or handle food for others in any manner whatsoever."

The wherefore for which being that we are all fallible—sometimes the best of regulated families will suffer, because somebody has forgotten to wash his hands. Most epidemics of typhoid fever nowadays are ultimately traced to a single person, or it may be a married person, but anyway a careless person, who, either sick with the disease, sickening with it, convalescent from it, or acting as a chronic "carrier" of the germs, literally hands the infection to those who happen to be in contact with him.

But if typhoid and dysentery and cholera were the only diseases spread by unwashed hands we wouldn't say a word—we'd leave it to the health authorities. Unfortunately a lot of other diseases are peddled about in the same manner, such as diphtheria, pneumonia, sore throat, "cold" in the head—we always manage to ring in something about the "cold" microbes, don't we?—and with the exception of diphtheria these diseases do no interest the health authorities as yet.

There are families where children sit at table and say grace with unwashed hands. There are other families where parents take a squint at the children's hands, and, if they discover no microbes thereon, let the youngsters sit right down and shovel in whatever contamination may have been collected through the day. Is it any wonder grandma still has occasional seeming vindication of her delusion that "sugar makes worms"? Worms make worms, and children help the work along by transplanting the eggs from contaminated soil to food and from the food to their own innocent mouths.

Without holding any definite opinion about the dangers of the common drinking cup, we firmly advocate a law requiring every person dispensing lunches or meals to furnish suitable lavatories where customers may wash their hands before partaking. Not all who say "Lord! Lord!" shall be saved, but cleanliness is as near to godliness as any virtue which is universally practicable.

COULD NOT MEET COST

Fuller Protests Against Minnesota Avenue Paving Extension.

Council Orders Work Done Despite Traction Company's Plea.

Statements by Floid M. Fuller, manager of the Park Point Traction company, that $1,500 will have to be borrowed for the purpose of changing the tracks, should the Minnesota avenue pavement be extended from Thirty-eighth to Forty-third street, and that the company may be compelled to go into bankruptcy, if the west side of the entire thoroughfare is ordered paved next year, failed to change the council's stand at the meeting yesterday afternoon, and Commissioner Farrell was instructed to go ahead with the improvement.

Although turned down at a special conference of the commissioners yesterday morning, Mr. Fuller made another protest at the regular meeting in the afternoon, when ten Park Point property owners appeared and made a special plea for the extension of the pavement this fall.

"The pavement laid this year has cost us a large sum of money for raising and lowering the tracks and the purchase of 1,200 ties. If this extension is built, we will have to borrow about $1,500 for our end of the improvement.

"I might also say, although not officially, that, if property owners intend to pave the west side of Minnesota avenue next year, the expense to us, approximately $20,000, will throw the company into bankruptcy. Does the council plan such an improvement? If so, we should be told at this time, so that we can plan ahead.

"In addition, it will be impossible to place tracks on a new fill that is necessary beyond Thirty-eighth street. This fill should be allowed to settle over winter and the extension could be made without any difficulty in the spring. We have no intention of stopping our freight service and will continue our present program for the benefit of the residents beyond Thirty-eighth street."

R. B. Odell, secretary of the Park Point Improvement club, was the spokesman for the property owners present.

Mayor Prince and Commissioner Farrell contended that the improvement should be made this fall, as the material and equipment are on hand and ready for use. After a general discussion, the works head was instructed to go ahead with his plans and bids will be advertised for at once and active construction work started by the first of the month.

Lightning Kills Two.

Little Rock, Ark., Sept. 21.—Two boys were killed and two others badly injured late yesterday as the result of lightning striking a tree near Conway, Ark., under which they had sought shelter during a shower. The dead boys, aged 9 and 12, were the sons of Thomas Shirley, a farmer.

Hot Weather Bad for Women's Nerves

Season When They Most Need Their Strength to Withstand the Heat

Hot weather has a decidedly weakening effect on most women. They become too languid to exercise, and as a result have appetite only for light, tasty foods, like salads and other cold concoctions, which do not digest readily and increase the natural tendency to constipation.

At this season women should maintain the highest possible standard of health, to counteract the enervating effect of the weather. Good digestion and regularity of the bowels are essential. The combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is highly recommended as a laxative and digestant by many physicians, as well as by thousands of women who depend upon it as a remedy for many of those ills to which women seem more especially susceptible.

Get a fifty cent bottle of Dr. Caldwells Syrup Pepsin from your druggist and have it in the house. Take a dose of it tonight and by morning your constipation, indigestion and sick headache will vanish. It is far preferable to cathartics, purgatives, and salts, because it does not gripe or shock the system but acts gently, in an easy, natural manner, expelling the congestion of waste and restoring normal activity of the organs.

A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 453 Washington street, Monticello, Ill.

SEWER WORK IS ORDERED

Council Acts on Large Number of Minor Improvements.

Five sanitary sewers, a concrete bridge at the intersection of Columbus avenue and Hardy street and an iron stairway on the east side of the Lake avenue viaduct were ordered by the city council at the regular meeting yesterday afternoon.

In addition, the commissioners adopted the resolution requesting the charter commission to prepare amendments to the charter, postponed final action on the confirmation of Exeter street storm sewer assessments and heard first reading of Commissioner Silberstein's ordinance regulating fines and penalties in the municipal court.

The sanitary sewers were ordered in Fifty-first alley, between Ramsey and Polk streets, $3,171.03; in Eleventh street, between Seventh and Eighth avenues east, $574.59; in Water street, between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth avenues east; in Seventh street, between Seventeenth and Eighteenth avnues east, $450.34, and in Magellan street, between Forty-first and Forty-third avenues west.

Resolutions awarding the contracts for the paving of Fifty-eighth avenue west from Elinor to Eighth street to A. Hedenberg and for the paving of Third avenue east from Seventh to Eighth streets to J. D. O'Donnell were introduced by Commissioner Farrell. The measures will have to hold over until next Monday for final action, in view of the fact that the contracts are over $1,000 each.

Olson & Johnson were granted extension of time to Oct. 1 for completing the Exeter street and Twentieth avenue west pavements. Bad weather, Commissioner Farrell explained, has delayed the contractors in completing the work on time.

The Barber Asphalt company was awarded the contract for furnishing the city with fifty tons of asphalt on their bid of $21.30 a ton.

First reading was given the ordinance granting the Soo Line permission to erect overhead steam pipes across Nineteenth and Twentieth avenues west from the power house to the tracks for the purpose of heating coaches.

License renewals were granted to the following: Saloon, Max Clements, 413 West Michigan street; S. Goldberg, 431 West Michigan street; cigarettes, Alma Sanborn, 2502 West Third street, and plumbers, E. J. Sponheim, Proctor.

The Duluth-Edison company was ordered to install incandescent lights at Seventh avenue west, between Superior and First street, and at the intersection of Roslyn avenue and Ruthven court.

INSPECTION THOROUGH

personal inspection of the camps, going into the homes of the miners and asking them questions regarding their working and living conditions.

Early in the round of inspection, Mr. Rockefeller hunted up Dan Morelli, a coaldigger, who had been elected by the men of the Berwind camp to represent them in conferences with the officers of the company. Dan had just come from the mine and his face was grimed with black. The two sat down side by side on the steps of the mine office and talked earnestly for perhaps twenty minutes. Rockefeller questioned the miner closely on the practical working of the scheme recently inaugurated for conference between officers of the company and representatives of the miners.

After luncheon at the miners' boarding house at Berwind, the party went to Tabasco, where it was welcomed by Charles O'Neil, the superintendent. Later in the afternoon the party returned to Trinidad, where Mr. Rockefeller was entertained at a picture show and saw a filmed representation of a parade at the recent field and track meet given by employes of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company.

Ideas on Prosecution.

Mr. Rockefeller was asked as to his attitude toward strike prosecutions in Colorado, particularly the murder trial of John R. Lawson.

"I can give no better statement of my ideas on that subject than I made to the Federal commission on industrial relations in Washington last May," he replied.

"At that time I read a prepared statement in which I said justice should be so administered as to be above suspicion, and if in any material particular the trial of Mr. Lawson had been wanting in this respect, I, for one, should desire to see the supreme court of Colorado, to which the appeal has been taken, carefully consider every ground that may be urged, and grant a new trial should any material ground be sustained.

"That," continued Rockefeller, "is still my opinion. When the Lawson trial was about to begin, I took steps to assure myself that the Colorado Fuel & Iron company was not participating in any way in the prosecution. I feel that when private interests participate in criminal prosecutions, the proceedings tend to lose their impartial quality."

RUSSIAN ARMY ESCAPES FROM GERMAN COILS

east of the highway to Bethune.

"In front of Deuvraignes to the south of Roye, there has been spirited rifle firing, accompanied by artillery exchanges and fighting from trench to trench with bombs and hand grenades.

"Along the canal from the Aisne to the Marne we secured a footing on the right bank at a point near Sapigneul. The enemy counter-attacked in vain and was compelled to retire.

"In the Champagne district the German artillery yesterday directed violent artillery fire into the suburbs of Mourmelon. To this fire energetic reply was given. The night passed quietly in the Argonne.

"There was also effective artillery firing against the German positions at Bois Haut on the heights of the Meuse and along the front in Lorraine where at several points we dispersed groups of German pioneers as well as certain German provision convoys.

"From the Vosges there has been reported fighting with hand grenades in the trenches on Hartman's-Weilerkopf in which we made perceptible progress.

"A French dirigible last night bombarded the railroad junction at Amagne-Lucquy to the east of Rethel."

Russian Statement.

Petrograd, Sept. 21, via London.—The war office has made public the following official communication:

In the Riga region there have been further encounters at Ekau. The fire of the enemy's artillery has increased. The Russians blew up a bridge constructed by the Germans northwest of Mitau.

In the region of the railway southwest of Illukst, stubborn fighting occurred at Steidern. The Russians reoccupied trenches they formerly held and captured a quantity of rifles and cartridges and other booty found in them.

In the region of Dvinsk, on the road southwest of the city there have been violent engagements in the lake region. The enemy has been repulsed from Widsy, east of the Novo Svientsyany-Dvinsk railway.

"In the Vilna region, the Russians, after much fighting on the fords over the Viliya river, retired to the east.

"In the region northwest of the line of Vileika-Molodechno fighting at many places for possession of the fords over the Viliya continues. In their encounters with the Germans, the Russians continuously show their hig h military virtues, and maintain a demeanor of calm confidence in circumstances of extreme garvity.

"On the front of Biniakon-Lida and also on the eastern bank of the Stchara the situation is unchanged."

"In the Stokhold region on the Kovel-Sarny railway, the Russians dislodged the enemy from Czersk by a bayonet attack, killing a great number. In the region of Rowiscze, north of Lutsk our cavalry charged the Austrians and pursued them four versts, sabering many and taking 200 prisoners. Another Russian mounted column, having discovered the enemy retreating from Kivertsy Lutsk, also charged and put them to flight, taking five officers and 500 men prisoners, besides capturing a large supply column, ten field kitchens and a band of musicians.

"Having occupied the forest of Uaroslaglch, southeast of Lutsk, the Russians captured two machine guns, two officers and 100 men. In a bayonet fight at Ewania, on the Ikwa river, the Russians repulsed the enemy from the bridgeheads.

"In the region north of Kremenetz in the course of their operations the Russians occupied Saponow and Dubieff capturing a large number of prisoners. Enemy attacks were repulsed at Borschowka and Rostowka, northwest of Vishnivetz."

Austrian Statement.

Vienna, Sept. 21.—The following official communication was issued last night:

"Russian war theater—Our positions in the region east of Lutsk were again attacked yesterday by strong Russian forces. Our troops including the Egerland and West Bohemian landwehr, repulsed the enemy everywhere at many pointts in hand-to-hand fighting.

"Against our Ikwa front, the Russians also directed strong columns in the sector near Krzmievic. At some places, the enemy succeded in reaching the western bank of the Ikwa but our reserves, speedily intervening, repulsed him everywhere. The enemy suffered heavily, especially through our artillery fire. The prisoners brought in up to yesterday number 1,000. Infantry Regiment No. 69, especially distinguished itself.

"In Eastern Galicia calm prevails. The situation there is unchanged. The Austrian troops fighting in Lithuania have reached the eastern bank of the Buchozwa river.

"Italian theater: On the Tyrolean border, the Italians made unsuccessful local attacks in the mountainous regions in the district of Adenello and Dolomites. On the Carinthian front, the situation is unchanged.

"In the Flitsch basin the remaining enemy troops retired to their former positions out of the reach of our fire.

"One of our aviators dropped bombs on the railway station at Arslero.

"Southeastern war theater: Austro-Hungarians and German batteries bombarded yesterday Serbian positions on the southern bank of the Save and the Danube. The fortress of Belgrade also was subjected to our fire. Near the Estuary of the Drina, our troops surprised and destroyed Serbian advanced detachments."

Mayor of Vilna.

Berlin, Sept. 21, via London.—The appointment of Mayor Pohl of Tilsit as mayor of Vilna has been announced. This announcement, following so quickly on the capture of Vilna, is regarded here as showing the certainty with which the Germans counted on taking Vilna, and the German progress according to the schedule of Field Marshal von Hindenburg's campaign.

Count von Reventlow, the naval expert of the Tages Zeitung, in an article today on the comparative strength of the British and German fleets, says in part:

"No one cognizant of the circumstances doubted an instant at the beginning of the war, or before, that it would be impossible to dispute with success British mastery of the ocean. If the building program of the German fleet had been further advanced at the beginning of the war, and if, instead of a slackening in building in consequence of Viscount Haldane's negotiations, the building had been accelerated, and if it had been possible to continue this acceleration for a series of years, the situation unquestionably would have been better. But the British may thank their supremacy not alone because of their great numerical superiority, but because of their geographical position."

The British, Count Reventlow says, have as a base a long line of coast, with many harbors and supporting points, against which the Germans have only one point in the restricted Helgoland triangle, and the German fleet, therefore, will always be in a position of strategic inferiority until this condition is remedied. The writer backs the demand made by Albert Ballin, managing director of the Hamburg-American line, made some months ago, that Germany at the end of the war must have a more extended base line.

Members of the commission were guests today at a luncheon given by A. Barton Hepburn, chairman of the Chase National bank at the Bankers' club.

A report that there had been a hitch in the negotiations was authoritatively denied by bankers in touch with the negotiations.

No Part for Munitions.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 21.—All arrangements—except as to minor details—for the "billion dollar loan" to the British and French governments have been completed.

Not one dollar of the money will go for munitions of war.

No further meetings between the American bankers and the Anglo-French commission will be necessary.

The loan will be upward of $500,000,000.

These were the salient points covered in a statement made by James J. Hill upon his return yesterday from New York, where he proved to be the "man of the hour" in the negotiations for the huge American loan to be made to Great Britain and France to finance purchases of commodities in the United States.

"There has been a lot of rubbish in the newspapers," said Mr. Hill, "and this is especially true in the West. The loan and its purpose are completely misunderstood by some people.

Must Make Loan or Keep Wheat.

"This year the world's supply of wheat is 460,000,000 bushels greater than last year. England will import 250,000,000 bushels, France 90,000,000, and Italy 70,000,000 bushels. Unless we provide credit this wheat will be bought from Canada, Australia and other countries.

"If we don't sell our wheat, what are we going to do with it—feed it to the hogs?

"There is no sympathy about this loan. The loan will be upward of $500,000,000, and will not include one dollar for munitions of war. I contended against any part of this loan for munitions, and it will be made that way.

"It can be stated positively that the loan will be made.

No Question of Feeling.

"So far as any pro-German feeling is concerned, that is entirely aside from the question. Germans in New York thoroughly understood the situation before the conference closed, and I am satisfied that the people in the West will shortly understand how very important it is, and how much it means to us.

"I repeat, what are we going to do with our crop if England, France and Italy don't take it? That is the key to this loan and not feeling for one country any more than another."

Mr. Hill said there would be no further meetings between the American bankers and the Anglo-French commission. He said that the loan of upwards of $500,000,000 is a settled fact.

It is thought likely that about thirty days will be required to get the joint notes prepared and to have subscriptions to the loan made.

Means Much to West.

Mr. Hill decried the opposition in the West to the loan. He says that it means more to the West than any other section.

That the loan will be made speedily to England and France and that only the minor details are now being arranged Mr. Hill left no room to doubt.

The agreement between the commission and the American bankers was reached last Wednesday.

Mr. Hill repeated that he did not believe there would be any objection from German-Americans or from any other source when the actual facts and the true situation is understood.

"Not a Move to Help Allies."

"This is not a move to help the allies," said Mr. Hill, "not as far as I am concerned. I am only interested in helping the Northwest in obtaining money for our immense grain crops. The allies do not have to buy our wheat. It is all right to say that wheat is as good as gold, but that will not help the present situation. Our wheat must be sold to England, France and Italy, and there is no question of sympathy on one side or the other. I do not know of any German-American movement to oppose the loan, in fact, German-American bankers in New York who understand the economic conditions are in favor of it. There are many German farmers in the Northwest and they need to sell their wheat, the same as other farmers."

STATE AUDITOR PREUS DECLINES TO SEIZE ORE OR STOP MINING WORK

companies. That letter I have never received. I asked you by letter for a copy of the same, but you have failed to respond to my letter or send me a copy.

On Sept 16, I received an unsigned letter, relative to the cancellation of state mining leases, written on your letter head and which I presume was written by you.

"In the Hibbing Tribune of Sept. 16, in the Duluth News Tribune and the Duluth Herald, of about the same date, was published a statement to the effect that you had wired me to renew your demand of Aug. 7 that I proceed under Sections 2184, 2185 and 2183, General Statutes 1913:

"First, to restrain all mining companies operating within the village limits of Hibbing from removing any ore therefrom.

"Second, that all ore mined within the village be seized by the state and sold to satisfy taxes.

"You did not therein renew your demand which was contained in your telegram of Aug. 7, that I see the county attorney of St. Louis county with a view to having the officials of the mining companies prosecuted criminally.

No Communication Received.

"Notwithstanding these statements in the newspapers, no communication from you relating thereto has been received by me, whether in the nature of a telegram, letter, or otherwise.

"However, it seems proper for me to notice the fact that it is claimed you have demanded that I seize certain mined ore and enjoin certain mining companies from removing certain ore for non-payment of taxes because your local newspaper have given the impression to the people of Hibbing that such a demand has been made upon me and they have a right to expect that an answer shall be made by me.

"On Aug. 16 I wrote you and declined to take the action requested under the sections of the statute above cited on the ground that the purpose of the statutes referred to is to prevent the removal of any structures, timber or mineral from mines upon which a lien for taxes has attached, the result of which removal might be that the taxes thereafter cannot be collected. I stated further: 'This is the only purpose for which it has been invoked since it has been passed by the legislature. I find in no instance will the removal of ore from Hibbing mines result in that any taxes will be uncollectible.'

Cancellation of Leases.

"On Aug. 30, you directed a letter to me, which was supplemented on Sept. 3, in which you demanded that I cancel the state leases known as the Pool, Scranton, Philbin, Madeira and the Niagara for breach of covenant in that the lease-holders had not yet paid their taxes this year. Since that time the mining companies have paid these taxes, which, in accordance with the ruling of the attorney general of the state, they had the privilege of doing.

"Last winter the legislature, for the purpose of having me certify to the correctness thereof, directed to me a summary of the expenditures according to population, based on the last United States census, of all cities and villages in the state of Minnesota with a population of over 900, copy of which I shall forward.

City and Village Expenditures.

"This statement shows:

"That the city of Minneapolis, with a population of 301,408, had a tax levy of $3,772,450.65, or $12.52 per capita.

"That the city of St. Paul, with a population of 214,744, levied taxes in the sum of $2,404,464.31, or $11.20 per capita.

"That Duluth, with a population of 78,466, levied taxes in an amount of $863,851.42, or $11.01 per capita.

"That Virginia, with a population of 10,473, levied taxes in the sum of $388,-907.40, or $36.94 per capita.

"That Mankato, with a population of 10,365, levied $82,414.57, or $7.95 per capita.

"That Crookston, with a population of $7,559, levied taxes in the sum of $64,194.32, or $8.49 per capita.

"That Bemidji, with a population of 5,099, levied taxes in the sum of $31,-876.87, or $8.25 per capita.

"That Faribault, with a population of 5,001, levied taxes in the sum of $29,215.28, or $3.25 per capita.

"That Willmar, with a population of 4,135, levied taxes in the sum of $22,-575.90, or $5.46 per capita.

"That Fergus Falls, with a population of 6,887, levied taxes in the sum of $31,134.49, or $3.07 per capita.

"That Albert Lea, with a population of 6,192, levied taxes in the sum of $36,594.82, or a per capita tax of $5.91.

Hibbing's Figures.

"That, as contrasted with these figures, Hibbing with its accredited population of 8,832, levied a tax of $753,-800.46, or $5.35 per capita.

"In addition thereto the village of Hibbing issued village orders in approximately a like amount, which means that Hibbing expended not only $750,000, raised by taxes, but expended approximately $1,500,000, or $170 per capita. Of course, some allowance must be made for the natural increase in population of your village as well as the other cities mentioned.

"When I last called on you at Hibbing, you handed me a pamphlet entitled 'Facts and Figures Relating to the Village of Hibbing, St. Louis County, Minnesota.' This statement shows that you had, on July 1, 1915, $1,893,-000.00 outstanding in unpaid village orders.

"I have before me a certified copy of your levy for the year 1915, made last month, which reads as follows:

VILLAGE OF HIBBING.

For general corporation purposes	$1,500,000
For construction on work and maintenance of public library in the village of Hibbing	150,000
For operating the village water and light plant under the control and operated by the water and light building commission for supplying said village with the necessary water and fire protection and street sprinkling, and necessary electric current for lighting the streets and public parks of said village	250,000

Daled August 10, 1915.

VICTOR L. POWER,
President, Village of Hibbing, Minn.
Attest: D. D. HALEY,
Recorder, Village of Hibbing, Minn.
(Corporate Seal, Village of Hibbing.)

No Payment of Village Orders.

"While you had, on July 1 of this year, village orders unpaid in the sum of over one and a quarter million dollars, in the hands of a great many people who have had dealings with your village, you have made no provision for the payment of any of these obligations. Based on your population as of 1910, which has been used in all the former comparisons, the levy just made will amount to $215 per capita. It is contended by the tax-payers of your village that these large expenditures in the past and the large accumulation of village orders has been the result of extravagance and they are taking the usual and regular means of testing this matter in the courts, namely, by refusing to pay the taxes. The issue as to the alleged continued extravagance of the village is already in issue in your district court in injunction proceedings.

"In your demands upon us, you ask me to attempt to foreclose these tax-payers from having their day in court. No individual in the state has ever been foreclosed under this, or any other statute, where they have desired to test the validity of their taxes in court.

Controversy Solely Local.

"Furthermore, the enforcing of taxes in this state devolves upon the county officials. The whole controversy of the validity and the collection of your taxes is necessarily a local one, in which neither the state nor the state auditor is at this time involved.

"In your first telegram, asking me to act, you demanded that I take action to have the mining officials prosecuted criminally for failure to pay their taxes. It is not the duty of the state auditor to prosecute taxpayers for the non-payment of taxes. You doubtless realized the futility of this course in failing to present the matter yourself to your own grand jury.

"The seizing of mined ore as requested by you would have resulted in obtaining only a small amount of revenue entirely insufficient to satisfy your taxes, and both this course and the enjoining of mining would have resulted in closing the mines and throwing in the neighborhood of 1,500 laborers out of employment.

"I must again decline to take the action that you requested. Yours truly,

"J. A. O. PREUS,
"State Auditor."

JOINT PRIMARY IN MASSACHUSETTS

Strenuous Campaign of Republicans and Democrats Ends at the Polls.

Boston, Sept 21.—Heavy clouds presaged rain, which was considered likely to have considerable effect on the size of the vote in the joint primary in this state today. It was thought, however, that the interest aroused by the strenuous campaigns of candidates for Republican and Democratic nominations would bring a larger number of voters than usual to the polls. The Progressives were able to participate only to the extent of nominating a candidate for governor, because of a lack of sufficient signatures to nomination papers for other offices.

Under a new law going into effect today, the names of candidates of all parties appeared on a single ballot, but it was provided that split ballots should be thrown out.

It appeared probable that the closest contest would be for the Republican nomination for governor, for which the candidates were Former Congressman Samuel W. McCall, Grafton D. Cushing, former speaker of the house of representatives, and Former Governor E. N. Foss. Congressman F. S. Deitrick sought to head the Democratic ticket in place of Governor David I. Walsh, who asked renomination for a third term. Nelson B. Clark was unopposed as the Progressive candidate for governor.

WANT STATE CONTROL OF BIG WATER POWERS

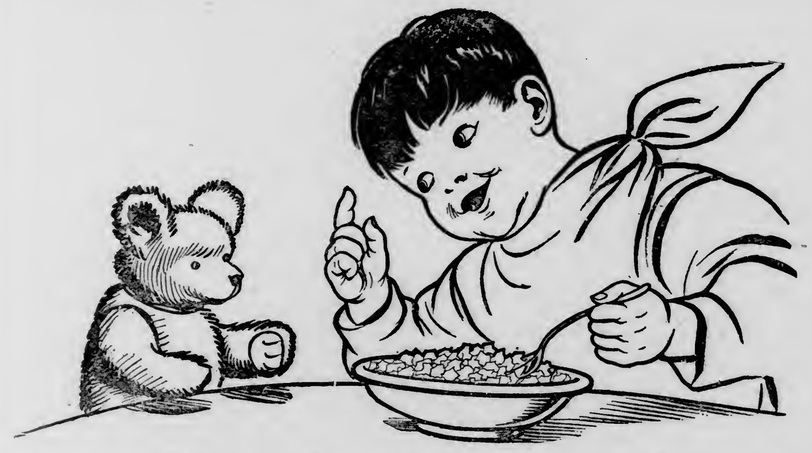

One of Main Issues at Western Conference Held at Portland, Or.

Portland, Or., Sept. 21.—State control of the water power resources of the West versus Federal control was in sharp relief as the main issue when the Western states water power conference met here today, attended by delegates from thirteen Western states besides representatives of the Federal government and officials of several power concerns.

Advocates of state control were marshaling their strength in support of a proposed vigorous memorial to congress in opposition to enactment of the Ferris bill, and all indications were that they would have a majority in the conference.

"We would rather have nothing at all than what the Ferris bill would give us in the way of water power legislation," declared Governor William Spry of Utah, who headed the delegation from that state.

The Idaho delegation, headed by ex-Governor James H. Hawley, the Washington delegation, headed by Governor Lister; the Colorado delegation headed by Governor Carlson and the Montana delegation, all of whom were on the ground early, reported themselves as unanimous for state control.

SUPERIOR

SELECT POLICE TO GUARD POWDER PLANT

Superior Men Chosen for Service at Dupont Factory.

Practically an entire police force, which will police the city of Barksdale, Wis., the site of the Dupont Powder company's plant, is being chosen today in Superior. Chief Johnson, head of the Barksdale force, is in the city this morning selecting the men on recommendations made by Chief of Police Vincent McKinnon.

Capt. A. T. Olson, who recently retired from the Superior police department has been employed and will become the assistant chief of the Barksdale force. It is proposed to put on thirty-two patrolmen, whose duties will be to patrol the city day and night.

Barksdale is two miles from Washburn, Wis. The powder company has now employed about 2,400 men of whom 1,800 are working on construction of additions and 600 on the manufacture of powder and explosives. Some time ago a large force of carpenters were secured by the company from the Head of the Lakes.

BIG DISPLAYS AT COUNTY FAIR

The fifth annual fair of the Douglas County Fair association opens this afternoon at the Superior Roller rink. Sheds have been built for the livestock. A big display of livestock has been entered as well as an abundance of vegetables and grains. A special display by the children of the Superior and rural schools will be one of the features. The fair will close Friday.

Unfair to Superior.

According to statistics given in a publication issued at the Waupun penitentiary, more than one-half of the prisoners at the penitentiary claim Superior as their home. This statement, say Superior officials, is unfair to the city in as much as most of the offenders sent from the city are transients. A small percentage of the prisoners are also sent from other parts of Douglas county.

PLAN TAG DAY FOR RELIEF OF JEWS

More Than 2,000,000 Made Penniless By European War.

Tags will be sold Saturday for the relief of Jewish war sufferers in Europe.

Final arrangements for the sale were made at a meeting of several representative Jewish organizations held last evening at the Hebrew institute.

It has been pointed out that more than 2,000,000 Jewish men, women and children are penniless and homeless in the present war zone, including Galicia, Courland and Poland. In these sections have been waged the heaviest battles and as a result, practically all the residents, the largest per cent being Jews, are now without food or shelter. A majority, according to reports, have been driven from the cities by the Russian soldiers and are now wandering about on country roads.

At the Yom Kippur services at Temple Emanuel last Friday evening, Dr. Maurice Lefkovits secured subscriptions from the members, totaling $1,100. In addition to this amount, Rabbi I. Teplitz of the Adas Israel synagogue has collected $300, while other workers have obtained $100.

MINING MEN WILL BE HEARD

Application for Injunction Against Hibbing Officials Up Wednesday.

Rebuttal Affidavits Will Be Presented By Companies.

Mining companies which are parties to the Hibbing paving injunctional suit, will have their inning in court tomorrow evening when hearing on the application for a temporary injunction against paving operations will be resumed before Judge Bert Fesler. The matter will be taken up at 7 o'clock, having been adjourned to that time Saturday.

At Saturday's hearing, the court's time was occupied in listening to voluminous affidavits presented by Mayor Power of Hibbing on behalf of the administration and in order to expedite matters it was decided to submit arguments on the legal questions involved at that time instead of waiting until the mining companies were able to prepare and present rebuttal affidavits. The usual order of procedure was waived and the arguments were heard.

At the session tomorrow evening, the mining companies will present their rebuttal affidavits which will answer Mayor Power's defense of the alleged extravagance of the village since he went into office two years ago last March.

How to Fight Tuberculosis

Dr. J. W. Carhart, of San Antonio, Tex., says: "Since lime salts constitute three-fourths of all the mineral substances of the human body, they must be supplied in the foods or supplemented in mineral preparations, or natural starvation ensues, with tuberculosis unchecked. The spread of tuberculosis and other preventable diseases is due largely to decalcified (lime lacking) conditions of multitudes throughout the civilized world."

Since lime is one of the ingredients of Eckman's Alterative, much of its success doubtless is due to its combination in such a way as to render it easily assimilable.

Eckman's Alterative has effected remarkable results in tuberculosis, which, in many instances, apparently has yielded to it, and since it contains no opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs, it is safe to try.

ROCKEFELLER ENTERS UNDERGROUND MINE

Gets First-Hand Information as to Actual Conditions.

Valdez, Colo., Sept. 21.—Dressed in overalls and jumper, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., entered the underground workings of the Frederick mine of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company here today.

The Rockefeller party in automobiles reached the Frederick mine about 10 o'clock, having made the fifteen-mile drive from Trinidad at leisurely speed.

The tour of the mine was made to give Mr. Rockefeller first-hand information of actual conditions under which the miners work, it was said.

SURVIVORS OF FAMOUS REGIMENT IN REUNION

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 21.—Surviving members of the Forty-seventh Illinois infantry, in which the late Robert J. ("Bob") Burdette served in the Civil war, met in annual reunion here today.

The Forty-seventh Illinois was a part of the famous "Eagle brigade," which carried the Eighth Wisconsin war eagle through the Civil war. Archbishop Ireland was chaplain of the brigade for three years and distinguished himself at Corinth, Miss., where he passed ammunition to the firing line under a hail of bullets. The regiment was organized by Col. John Bryner in Peoria in 1861 and was mustered out in 1866.

Just Try This When Hairy Growths Appear

(Modes of Today)

A smooth, hairless skin always follows the use of a paste made by mixing some water with plain powdered delatone. This paste is applied to the hair surface 2 or 3 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed, when every trace of hair will have vanished. No pain or discomfort attends the use of delatone paste, but caution should be exercised to be sure that you get real delatone.—Advertisement.

CHASING THE GLOOM AWAY FROM THE PATHS OF SPORTDOM

The Simple-Minded Gop and the Wise Horatio—Boston Is Proving, So Far at Least, an Illustrious Example of the Comeback—Ed Shave, St. Paul Sport Writer, Is Here.

BY BRUCE.

ONCE upon a time there was a geek who owned a few acres of land and labored zealously thereon. Back from the murky toil of the city would this frenzied soul hie himself, and doing a fireman change act into a pair of overalls and a blue cotton shirt, the back-to-the-soil gazabo would do a tango to the fertile soil and spar with a hoe.

"How simple minded is Fred," remarked the near neighbors and those who occasionally observed Frederick getting acquainted with the strip of land he had traded a bunch of gold-bound copper stocks for.

"The poor soul," said some, "what a monotonous existence he must lead. He will work himself to death."

Once upon a time there lived a geek who loved the bright and flashy life and cogitated upon a cross path to a bunch of easy kale.

Reading of the new interest that had come upon the gentry of the eastern portion of our country in regard to the ponies, and piping in the sporting section of the daily gloom dispeller of the goodly purses that were hung up for the bang tails, this youth exchanged his patrimony for a bunch of gallopers.

The colors of his stable were green, which were appropriate and fitting to the case.

"Horatio is a smart cuss," said the Pills and Georges over their after dinner cigars. "I see where one of his nags copped the Oakdale stake yesterday. That boy is as wise as they make them."

One fall potatoes hit the dollar-a-bushel mark with a thump. It just happened that simple-minded Fred had a slew of spuds that he hurried to the market. A special variety of celery, which is good for pale people who sit around and talk about their health, netted simple Fred enough to take wifey down to Palm Beach and take a room and bath in a regular hotel.

Horatio got so wise to the racing game that he started to bet on his own horses. The book makers saw him coming and declared themselves in on the joke.

After selling the last track hound he owned, Horace found that he had enough to pay all but 3,000 of his creditors. The doctors recommended Battle Creek, but Horatio begged the medical men for some place where he could get board and room and a caretaker for three figures per week.

After emerging from the sanatorium Horace fall athwart simple-minded Fred and became enamored of his line of chatter. Fred staked the shaky Horace to a pair of overalls and a lot of enthusiasm and started him reducing weeds in his corn patch.

At last accounts Horace was getting some local color, turned a handspring when he heard the breakfast bell, and sang "This is the Life," as he strolled out to Fred's fields.

While the way to the dollar may be a tortuous one, he who hath it laugheth even at the coal man, and that requires fortitude and steady nerves.

They Seldom Come Back.

THIS 1915 spurt of the Boston Red Sox recalls the ancient moss-covered adage about the infrequent comebacks in this riotous game of sports.

Back in 1912 the Red Sox copped because, as many said, there was too much auto riding and too much sitting in one place after dinner upon the part of the spry young men that made up the glittering team of the house of Mack.

The gonfalon was considered a pipe for the Athletics in 1912. Much to the consternation of those who make bets before the opening of the season, Boston led the race most of the season and won by a margin great enough to chase all doubts down croaking throats.

Philadelphia came back the following year and again last year. After failing to display the form of that illustrious campaign of 1912, the Red Sox are this year showing all the fight, all the gameness under fire, and the ability to go the route that a champion should possess.

If Boston wins this year—and today Boston has the call in the junior-major—it will be a notable example of a team composed of many of the players of three seasons back, that has slunk in the pits and gathered strength for a spurt when many of the followers of baseball thought the team had lost its punch.

WILLIAMS LOOKS OVER GOPHER FOOTBALL TEAM

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 21. — About 100 football candidates at the University of Minnesota gathered on Northrop Field late yesterday for the first official gridiron practice of the year. It was the first opportunity Coach Williams has had to see his squad in action, although the players have managed to get themselves into fair physical condition by individual training during the past weeks.

The first game here will be with North Dakota, Oct. 2.

Back to Speed Business.

New York, Sept. 21.—Harry S. Harness, president of the Sheepshead Bay Speedway corporation, and once noted as an amateur automobile driver, will re-enter the racing game as pilot of a car in the Astor cup race to be held at Sheepshead Bay on Oct. 2, it is announced. Twenty-eight entries had been obtained for the Astor cup race, including nine foreign-made cars.

THE GREAT MATTY BOWS TO THE OLD SCYTHE CARRIER

CHRISTY MATHEWSON.

They used to say, back in the pennant-winning days of the Giants, that it was the cunning brain and mighty arm of "Matty" that kept the McGrawites in the race. As each season started the followers of the game would predict the decline of Mathewson. This prediction, cast on the desert sands of failure for some ten years, has at last come true. Mathewson is gone. One of the greatest pitchers of all time, if not the greatest, has at last bowed to the old fellow wih the whiskers and scythe. The old whip has lost its cunning, and with the passing of Mathewson there has come a low ebb in the fortunes of the Giants.

Pittsburgh	4	7	0

Batteries—Krapp, Marshall and Allen; Rogge and Berry.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Braves Drop One to Reds.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 21.—Toney's masterly pitching enabled Cincinnati to win from Boston yesterday, 4 to 1. In the second inning Connolly doubled and after Maranville had been retired Gowdy was intentionally passed. Hughes singled, Connolly trying for the plate. Killifer's throw was good, but Clarke dropped the ball and Connolly scored. Hughes pitched fair ball with the exception of the third inning, when he hit Groh, who stole second and scored on Herzog's double. The latter scored on Griffith's single. Barnes, who relieved Hughes in the eighth, was hit for a triple by Killifer, who scored when Evers fumbled Herzog's drive. Herzog stole second and third and scored on Griffith's out. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Boston	1	3	3
Cincinnati	4	7	1

Batteries — Hughes, Barnes and Gowdy, Whaling; Toney and Clarke, Wingo.

Pirates Shut Out Superbas.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 21.—Pittsburgh shut out Brooklyn here yesterday, 1 to 0. Bob Harmon allowed the visitors only three hits and two bases on balls. The game was won in the seventh when Wagner doubled and scored on Baird's double. Score:

Brooklyn	0	3	1
Pittsburgh	1	8	0

Batteries—Pfeffer and McCarty, Miller; Harmon and Murphy.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

TIGERS TAMED BY RED SOX

Boston Now More Than Four Games in Lead in Race.

Enormous Crowds Attend Four Games Between League Leaders.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 21.—Turning the Detroit Tigers back for the third time yesterday, three runs to two, the Boston Red Sox went into a lead of more than four games in the American league race. Detroit's pennant prospects were thus dimmed before a crowd which brought the total paid attendance for the four-game series to 107,423, believed to be a record for any but world title contenders. Vice President Thomas R. Marshall was among the spectators.

Detroit played an aggressive game. The Tigers got men on bases, either on passes or hits, and forced them along by might of bat or bursts of speed, but except in the first inning found Boston's fielders barriers to cross beyond third base. In the opening inning, Ruth passed the first man and hit the next, and with Cobb's sacrifice and Veach's single the Tigers scored their only runs. They filled the bases in the ninth, Ruth developing another wild spot, which forced his retirement, but Foster struck out Baker and the side was out. At other times during the game it was Hooper's bullet-like throws, Barry's handling of hard-driven grounders or catches by Speaker that stopped Detroit runners.

After gaining a run in the first inning, Boston went scoreless against Dauss' pitching until the sixth. Then a pass to Speaker led to a run when Lewis' drive bounded off Burns' shin into right field for a triple. When Lewis came into the plate on Gardner's infield hit, he was called safe, although Catcher Stanage maintained that he had effectually blocked him from the plate. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Detroit	2	6	1
Boston	3	6	4

Batteries — Dauss and Stanage, Baker; Ruth, Foster and Thomas, Carrigan.

Break Even.

Philadelia, Sept. 21.—Cleveland got an even break yesterday, Philadelphia winning the first game 5 to 4, and the visitors the second 5 to 3. In the first game the Athletics won by mixing hits with fielding errors by the visitors In the second contest, Cleveland secured all its runs on battery and fielding errors, Davis giving twelve bases on balls, hitting a batsman and making two wild pitches. He was hit for only four singles. Scores:

First game—	R.	H.	E.
Cleveland	4	6	4
Philadelphia	5	8	1

Batteries—Collamore and Billings; Crowell, Eccles and Lapp.

Second game—	R.	H.	E.
Cleveland	5	4	2
Philadelphia	3	5	4

Batteries — Garrett and O'Neill; Davis and McAvoy.

Dumont Stars Again.

Washington, Sept. 21.—Dumont, the young pitcher from Fargo, N. D., who recently joined Washington, yesterday duplicated his showing in his first game against Cleveland last week, by shutting out St. Louis and allowing only two hits. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
St. Louis	0	2	3
Washington	6	6	1

Batteries—Sothern, Tillman, Hoff and Leary; Dumont and Henry.

Yankees Beat White Sox.

New York, Sept. 21.—Timely hitting by Donovan's pinch hitters enabled New York to win their last game of the season with Chicago 3 to 2. High drove in the tying run with his three-base hit in the seventh and Mullen won the game in the ninth with a single, scoring Hartzell. A great one-handed catch by Hartzell on Jackson featured. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Chicago	2	6	2
New York	3	11	3

Batteries — Cicotte and Schalk; Brown, Pich, Cole and Hendrix.

From Pittfeds to Cubs.

Chicago, Sept. 21.—Ed Holly, who played half of the present season as shortstop for the Pittsburgh Federals and was released, was yesterday signed for the Chicago National league team by Roger Bresnahan. Holly formerly was a member of the St. Louis Nationals. He was expected to be in the local lineup today.

BIG PURSES HUNG UP AT COLUMBUS

Two of Best Being Contested for at Grand Circuit Meet.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 21.—In addition to bringing about a completion of the 2:14 pace, unfinished on yesterday's card, the Grand Circuit races here today will give drivers a chance at two of the big stakes of the meeting—a $10,000 purse for 2:14 trotters and one worth $8,000 for 3-year-olds. Bessie R., an Indiana mare, has won two heats of the unfinished race.

Four events are on the card in addition to the finish of the 2:14 pace. They are the Horse Review futurity, purse $8,000, for 3-year-old trotters; the Hoster-Columbus $10,000 stake for 2:14 trotters; the 2:08 class pace and the 2:15 class trot.

Russell Boy, Illinois-owned pacer, and Volga, owned by the Pastime stable of Cleveland, were winning favorites at yesterday's opening races. Russell Boy, over a track that was not on edge, did three miles around 2:03, in taking the King stake, while Volga set a year's record for 2-year-old trotters with heats in 2:11¾ and 2:09¾, when she won her division of the Horse Review futurity. In her last heat, when she entered the 2:10 list, Volga finished easily four lengths ahead of Walnut Tree.

Nineteen starters in the 2:11 trot made the field the largest that the Grand Circuit has known for nine years. Duchess, the first choice, won the first heat, and was able to step away from everything but Vaster in the next two. The Winnipeg gelding took them by scant heads, but the final one was not so closely contested.

Bessie R., an Indiana half-miler, won the 2:14 pace. She took the first two heats, winning the first in 2:05¼ without being extended. Camelia, the first choice, got a flying start in the third heat, and managed to ward off Dwight Longan, beside her all through the stretch. Bessie R., cut off at the start, finished fourth. The race had to go over, and will be the first today.

AWARDS AND DRAFTS TO AND BY MAJOR TEAMS

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 21.—The national baseball commission has awarded Player Riley of the Wichita club to the St. Louis American league club. The St. Louis club claimed Riley under an agreement in which Player Clyde E. Wares was released to the Wichita club. Wares was later repurchased by the St. Louis club and Wichita claimed that this re-purchase made the claim on Riley null and void. The commission, however, ruled that the agreement held good regardless of the re-purchase of Wares.

Chicago Sept. 21.—Manager John J. McGraw of the New York National league team yesterday signed three recruits. They were Ben Dyer, a third baseman from St. Paul; Fred Herbert, a pitcher, and Bradley Kocher, a catcher from the Toronto team.

BIG NINE TEAMS START THE 1915 FOOTBALL GRIND

Northwestern Will Have Largest Football Squad in Years—Zuppke Is Confident That Illinois Will Have Another Great Team This Year.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 21.—The thud of the pigskin resounded in the football camps of the "big nine" universities today. It was the official opening of the practice season throughout the Western intercollegiate conference.

Hardened by weeks of preliminary training, the candidates for the elevens were ready to settle down to the grind of scrimmage work. The coaches, despite the expected hot weather, plan to send their charges through the hardest kind of work from the start as the first games of the season are to be played on Oct. 2, less than two weeks away. As a defeat by any member of the "big nine" by any other eleven of the conference generally throws the beaten team out of the championship races, coaches will strive to place as well-trained teams as possible for the first contests.

Games to be played on Oct. 2 will mark the close of the preliminary training season as the "big nine" teams will go into action against non-conference elevens. Chicago, however, will start its conference season without the experience of a single game, meeting Northwestern on Oct. 9.

Reports indicate that unusually large squads will turn out in all camps. Coach A. A. Stagg of the University of Chicago planned to devote the first few days of practice to the formation of a complete new back line.

To escape the mid-day heat, Coach Childs of Indiana had Jordan field strung with electric lights and plans to direct the workouts of his men in the cool of the evening. Fifty or more candidates are aspirants for the Indiana eleven.

Purple Has Heavy Line.

Seven veterans will form the backbone of the Ohio state eleven. The most important problem confronting Coach Wilce is to develop a quarterback. He has several men from last year's freshman squad to fill the gaps on the line.

The largest squad that has reported at Northwestern in years was ready for the preliminary grind mapped out by Coach Murphy. Hightower, who played sensational football last year, will be in charge of the backfield men. Figures show that the line will average close to 180 pounds with the backfield somewhat lighter.

Two practice periods daily will be enforced at Wisconsin, where more than fifty men responded to the first call.

Zuppke Optimistic.

Coach Hawley at Iowa believes his material is the most promising since 1900, when Iowa defeated both Chicago and Michigan. Thirty men were out for the initial work.

Seven members of last year's team will form the nucleus of the team in the first few days of practice at Purdue.

With Pogue and Clark, veterans of last year's championship eleven, in top condition, Illinois has hopes of building another winning eleven. Coach Zuppke is well pleased with his material, but it is probable that he will

LOOKS LIKE RED SOX VS. PHILLIES FOR WORLD'S SERIES

New York, Sept. 21.—Unless either or both teams now leading the two major leagues experience a decided clump in the last few days of the campaign, it seems very probable that the world's series this year will be played between the Boston Americans and Philadelphia Nationals.

The Boston Americans, by winning from the Detroit Tigers again yesterday, took three out of the four games of the series and are now four and one-half games ahead of the Tigers. The Red Sox now have sixteen games to play, while the Tigers have to play twelve. With the comfortable lead Carrigan's men have now, they can afford to lose five of the sixteen games and still win the pennant, even should the Tigers win every one of their twelve games. Both will play comparatively weak teams for the remainder of the season. Cleveland comes to Boston today for three double-headers in as many days, while Detroit goes to Philadelphia to play the tail-end Athletics until Saturday.

Although the Philadelphia Nationals were unable to play yesterday on account of rain, Boston and Brooklyn, who are now tied for second place, failed to embrace the opportunity to gain on the leaders. The Phillies are now five games ahead, and the only hope of the Braves and Superbas is that they will be able to prevent the Phillies from increasing this margin until the pacemakers come East to play a four-game series with Boston and Brooklyn.

EUGENE SANDOW

He could support with his body a heavy horse and rider, or 20 big men on a plank bridge, and could lift with a harness, 4,800 pounds.

Diet of Sandow Includes Beer

WORLD'S STRONGEST MAN GREAT EXAMPLE OF TEMPERANCE

Eugene Sandow is positive proof that the temperate use of pure beer builds the body. During the years he was touring the world performing feats of strength that astounded and stunned the senses of his audiences, beer formed part of his daily diet.

Respect must be paid to the efficacy of the diet that fed and built strength so colossal.

Note:—By analysis, one quart of beer contains from 46 to 124 grains of albumen, nutritious salts, including phosphate, and a large proportion of extract of malt. English physicians generally, accepting the formula of Anstie, make a moderate quantity of beer per diem about 4 glasses, or one quart.

THAT DELICIOUS TASTE OF BEER DRAWN FROM THE WOOD

Fitger Natural Beer, filtered by the Kieselguhr filter, has the wonderful natural taste and aroma of the finest beer as drawn from the wood.

The Fitger Kieselguhr Filter (first of its kind in America) takes the place of pasteurization, the process used by other brewers for "keeping" bottled beer.

Pasteurization does not preserve the natural taste of beer. Kieselguhr filtration is the only known way to "keep" beer in bottles and preserve its natural taste. For this reason all brewers will in time use Kieselguhr filtration.

Kieselguhr filtration makes Fitger Natural Beer the clearest, most brilliant beer in America.

WHITE MEETS MANDOT; WINNER FIGHTS RITCHIE.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 21.—Local fight promoters yesterday said they have contracts signed by Charley White of Chicago and Joe Mandot of this city, lightweights, for a ten-round bout here Nov. 1, and that Willie Ritchie has signed to meet the winner of the White-Mandot match Nov. 25.

HOCKEY LEAGUE BEING PLANNED

Promoters Said to Desire Duluth in International Line-up.

An effort is being made to line up Duluth, Chicago, the Twin Cities and Toronto in a hockey league.

E. R. Wellington, better known as the "Duke of Wellington," one of the greatest hockey players in Western Canada, left Duluth after broaching the scheme to several of the local powers of the puck game.

Whether anything more will come of the plan, which is said to be backed by the Whalens of Port Arthur, only future developments will disclose. It looks right at the present time as if Duluth is going to return to the city league plan for its hockey entertainment, with the big curling club rink thrown open to the teams of the league.

It is the idea of the Whalens to build a big rink in Chicago. With Toronto a night's ride from the Windy City, and Chicago a night's ride from the Twin Cities and Duluth in close proximity to them, it has been figured out that this circuit could be made to prosper.

The directors of the Duluth Curling club are to hold a meeting in the near future. It is believed that the problem of hockey will be taken up at this meeting and definite plans made for the coming season.

JOHNSON FAVORS IMMEDIATE PLAY

Would Have World's Series Begin on Day Following Season's End.

Chicago, Sept. 21.—The first game in the series for the baseball championship of the world, will be played on Friday, Oct. 8.

Ban Johnson, president of the American league, said that it was his opinion that the big series should begin on Friday, one day after the close of the respective seasons, although Garry Herrmann, president of the National league, is said to favor the day following.

The first two games will be played on the grounds of the club winning the toss-up.

WILL KEEP OPEN STYLE OF PLAY AT YALE

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 21.—Yale's football camp was moved from Madison, Conn., to this city yesterday, and the big squad of candidates had morning and afternoon workouts on Yale field. There are at present four organized elevens. The squad will increase by the middle of the week.

Indications are that Coach Hinkey will retain the open style attack that was started last season. Capt. Wilson, who has been at quarterback for two seasons, played halfback yesterday, and Lowry ran the team at quarter.

The first game will be played against University of Maine, next Saturday.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF THE GLOVEMEN

Eddie Kane Says Stanley Ketchel Was Game to the Point of Insanity; Joe Mandot Getting Matches; Eddie Reddy and Mark Shaughnessy.

BY BRUCE.

Prof. Edouard Kane was yesterday discussing between strokes of labor the ring qualities of the late Stanley Ketchel.

"Ketchel," began Kane, "carried gameness to the n'th power; he was game to the absolute point of insanity.

"It is a fact that most fighters have a streak. Jess Willard had one, while, though it sounds funny, Jimmy Flynn has waved the yellow flag aloft on several occasions.

"Stanley Ketchel was a sort of man of all work in a tough Butte saloon before he ever thought of fighting. One day two tough cowboys blew in and proceeded to surround a lot of red eye.

"In the course of a multitude of hoists the wild strangers from the plains became imaginative and started trying to discover what effect a 45-caliber bullet would have on the sides of the house, as well as playing such little tricks as requesting innocent bystanders to look down the yawning barrel of their Mary Anns.

"'See if you can get those fellows out of here,' tremblingly whispered the red-faced prop to the shaky bartender. The barkeep removed his apron and hastily told the prop that he knew where he could get another job—and quick.

"Here Ketchel, mopping around the place, got an air current of the conversation, though it was carried on in submerged whispers. 'Say,' he cried—and he was not careful to keep his voice low—'I'll put those four-flushers out.'

"The best part of it was that he did. He knocked them both keggy-eyed and then threw the two tough birds out into the street.

"It was right there and then that the fighting career of Steve Ketchel started. Right after that he started knocking them dead in Butte. Then came his first big fight with Joe Thomas—and the greatest card in the history of the fight game was made.

"You ask why was Ketchel shot—I come back with the statement that it was a mighty peculiar fact that he was not killed long before he was. Stanley Ketchel was the most reckless man that the boxing game ever produced.

"Ketchel carried a gun and would shoot with a bad man, a professional gunman or a yeggman, if need be. Possessing perhaps the greatest innate qualities of a pugilist of any modern fighter, Ketchel never took care of himself and yet in his short ring career made one of the greatest records of any modern fighter.

"In his last fight with Papke, Ketchel was through early in the go. Grabbing Papke in a clinch in the last round, Ketchel said to Billy:

"'What a great fighter you would be, Bill, if you had my heart.'

"All of which was true. Lion-hearted Steve—I claim he had the greatest personality of any man who ever fought."

Joe Mandot Is Busy.

Tommy Walsh, the industrious and loquacious pilot of little Joey Mandot is lining up a number of fruitful financial canters for his French glovemman.

Joey is to meet Johnny Dundee at Ebbett's field and has a pending match with Willie Ritchie. In addition to these two contests the New Orleans French Market boy may be led to a Freddy Welsh gallop and also a bout with Joe Shugrue, who is to return to the ring, is in sight.

O'Dowd and Monahan.

Mike O'Dowd, the stalwart St. Paul Turk, is expected here tomorrow. Michael will virtually complete his training in St. Paul. His last day here will merely be given over to a few light exercises.

Walter Monahan is also due to arrive at the Head of the Lakes tomorrow. Like O'Dowd, this bird will merely take enough exercise to loosen up his muscles and open up his breathing tubes. Dalton and Billings skipped the ropes, shadow boxed and then went a fast two rounds in Prof. Kanes' gymnasium yesterday afternoon.

Reddy and Shaughnessy.

Eddie Reddy, matchmaker of the Capitol City Athletic club of St. Paul, is a disciple of the modern school of boxing. Reddy learned what he knows of boxing from Mike Gibbons, who is to the boxing game in some respects what Vernon Castle is to the dance game.

Gibbons is modern if nothing else. During his career as manager of the Phantom, Reddy became acquainted with the modern school of sparring jumping jacks. It remains to be seen whether Edward will become wooed over to the battlers.

On the contrary, Shaughnessy was brought up in the rough school of several decades ago, when fighters were all that the term implied and knew nothing but fight when the opening gong clanged.

In the opening show of the Minneapolis club Matchmaker Shaughnessy put fighters on the bill and gave the Mill City fans the realest fighting they have witnessed in years.

Shaughnessy's show was a thriller and sent the fans home illustrating uppercuts and right crosses along the sidewalk.

A little touch of the old school now and then helps a lot.

FALL REGATTA TO BE CLASSY

Some Real Rowing Races Promised in Next Saturday's Meeting.

This promises to be a very busy week for Jimmy Ten Eyck. The green oarsmen of the boat club are out this week getting in shape for the annual fall regatta of the Duluth Boat club. There are something like twenty-two new candidates out, and Ten Eyck is teaching these men the rudiments of the game.

After hearing that members of the two new senior fours were getting very chesty, Horak, the two Moores and Rheinberger went down to the clubhouse and sneaked the old shell out for a little work-out. If the young fellows in the new fours want some real rowing Saturday, the members of the old machine will be hanging around the float, ready for the call to battle.

It looks as if the regatta of Saturday will be one of the best ever staged by the Duluth club. The sculling races will have the cream of the single men entered, and if the old senior four starts, it may be the last opportunity Duluth followers of rowing will have to see this crack crew in action.

FRED FULTON IS MATCHED WITH SMITH.

Rochester, Minn., Sept. 21.—Fred Fulton, the heavyweight of Rochester, has been signed to meet Gunboat Smith in New York city on Oct. 15, according to an announcement made by Fulton's manager, Mike Collins. This will be Fulton's first appearance in the East.

ARMISTICE TO BURY THE DEAD

Rendered Necessary By Frightful Slaughter on Gallipoli Peninsula.

Gen. Hamilton Tells of Fighting There in Spring and Early Summer.

London, Sept. 21.—How the British and French through the summer kept at grips with the Turks in Gallipoli, with terrible losses on both sides in the arid, congested area, where the gain or loss of a few yards of trenches measured the tide of battle and the dead lay so thick that a temporary armistice was imperative, is related by Gen. Sir Ian Hamilton, commander of the British forces, in a dispatch to Lord Kitchener, made public in London last evening.

Covering the fighting in the Dardanelles from May 5 to July 1, the account sheds little light on the general military situation, being mainly noteworthy as a soldier's description of what the contenders endured.

Indirectly it pays a tribute to the gallantry and fighting qualities of the Turks. Gen. Hamilton gives no support to the numerous newspaper reports that the morale of the Turks has been shaken.

Going back to May 5, soon after the allies obtained their first footing on the peninsula, Gen. Hamilton relates how the commanders, hard pressed for reinforcements, found it necessary to mix the French and British troops "to an extent even of the French on our right having a British battalion holding their own most extreme right."

Three Days of Terrible Fighting.

Followed then three days of terrible fighting with Krithia as the objective. The "net result of the three days' fighting had been a gain of 600 yards on the right of the British and 400 yards on the left, and in the center. The French captured all the ground in front of Farm Zjimmerman, as well as the redoubt.

The German leaders of the Turks were quick to realize the advantage the attackers had gained, Gen. Hamilton continues, and by counter-attack, after counter-attack, tried to wrest the trenches they had lost.

"Everywhere our assailants were repulsed," says the account, "and now for the first time I felt that we had planted a fairly firm foothold upon the point of Gallipoli peninsula."

Siege warfare was soon bound to supersede maneuver battles in the open, Gen. Hamilton continues, and in preparation for this he tells of how he divided the front into four sections, then describes the fighting up to May 16, when the Turks made a most violent assault on the British positions with forces estimated at 30,000 under command of the German field marshal, Liman von Sanders himself. But the British held firm, leaving upward of 3,000 Turks dead within open view of the trenches.

Armistice Arranged.

As the Turks were anxious to bury their dead, and as human sentiment and medical science were in favor of the removal of the dead and wounded, arrangements with a representative of Essad Pasha for an armistice were finally effected.

"The negotiations resulted in a suspension of arms from 7:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. May 24," continues the report. The burial was finished at 3 p. m. Some 3,000 Turkish dead were removed or buried in the area between the opposing lines. The whole of these were killed on or since May 18."

Gen. Hamilton fails to state how many British were buried, but says both sides observed the ethics of the situation to the letter.

Feverish intermittent fighting during the remainder of May is described, culminating in a general attack on the Turkish positions June 4, which netted a gain, but which was a costly affair.

DRY SCALY SKIN ALL OVER BODY

And Head of Child. Some Places Large As Quarter. In a Month Entirely Well.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"One of my children was affected with skin trouble for six months. It was all over her body and on her head. It started in the form of a little red spot. It would then dry and scale off and leave an angry red spot. Then it would scale off again and just keep on that way. Some of the places were as large as a quarter and they looked terrible.

"Finally I tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I bathed her every day, sometimes oftener, with the Cuticura Soap and then rubbed in the Ointment. I could see an improvement in a short time and in a month she was entirely well." (Signed) Mrs. L. S. Johnston, Box 102, Sedalia, Ohio, Jan. 1, 1915.

WILL DEVISE VOTE SYSTEM

Charter Commission Asks Public to Suggest New Plans.

Will Use The Herald as Medium for Exchange of Ideas.

How does Duluth want to vote?

Do the voters want to go back to the old system of primary and general election?

Before very long a special election will be called for the purpose of adopting a new voting system, in view of the fact that the state supreme court has declared the preferential ballot an illegal one.

Members of the charter commission are open to suggestions from the public.

Suggestions sent to The Herald will be published, so that the charter commission may learn the views of Duluth citizens.

"We want ideas from everyone," said T. T. Hudson, chairman of the charter commission, at the meeting of that body in the city hall last night. "This subject is of extreme importance and should not be decided in a hurry. The plan of calling for suggestions is a good one, and I hope that many take advantage of the opportunity of expressing their opinions."

Duluth has no legal voting system at the present time, according to the ruling of the supreme court. However, voters have the right to use the state ballot, which provides for primary elections in nominating candidates for the offices. But in Duluth the situation is complicated by the fact that either two or three commissioners are to be elected at every election. Objections are also raised against the heavy expense of two elections.

It was suggested by H. H. Phelps, a member of the commission, last night, that the circulation of petitions by the candidates be continued, but that each person must secure a certain percentage of the total ballot cast at the last general election. Should this be 10 per cent, then a candidate would have to obtain approximately 1,300 signatures to his nominating petition.

At any rate, Duluth wants a voting system, that will stand the test of the state supreme court. Mr. Hudson will appoint a committee within a day or two to draft an amendment to the charter.

TON FISH ARE IN SWEDISH WATERS

Driven in By Disturbance of Sea By Submarine Warfare.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Stockholm, Aug. 20.—During the past few months of the war, tremendous quantities of a species of fish unknown to Scandinavian waters, and driven in, it is supposed, by the disturbance of the sea caused by submarine warfare, have been caught off the Swedish coast near Gothenburg and appear as a novelty on the menus of the restaurants in Stockholm. Although these fish are said to be common in Southern seas where they are known as "ton" fish, they have never before been caught in this part of the world. A record catch was made a few days ago near Gothenburg by a man who brought in 950 fish, every one of them weighing more than 150 kilos. Since more of these fish are taken in daily than can possibly be used for food, oil has been made from them, but it is said to be of an inferior sort and hardly worth the cost of manufacture.

With the exception of this gratuitous offering, Sweden is by no means oversupplied with food. Prices offered for food abroad, particularly in Germany, have been so enticing, and exports have consequently been so large that Sweden now finds herself in the predicament of not having enough supplies for herself.

ECONOMIC VALUE OF ADVERTISING

Mammoth Campaign Is Planned By the Associated Advertising Clubs.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 21.—The executive committee of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, meeting here today, gave consideration to a mammoth campaign to advertise advertising—to show the public the economic value of advertising from the public's standpoint.

Oddly enough, advertising has never been advertised to the public, and one of the results is that at least a great many people have asked "Who pays for advertising?" and have even blamed advertising with increasing the cost of things.

The facts are, as business men who have studied the problem have learned, that advertising, by increasing the amount of business the advertiser is able to do, has decreased the proportion of fixed business charges to the sales, so that the advertiser, quality considered, is able to sell for less than would otherwise be possible—provided, of course, his advertising is done wisely.

The campaign, which will run in advertising mediums of all kinds, will undertake to show the public the facts in the case.

FEW FARMERS GO INTO BANKRUPTCY

Only Sixteen Appear in Report of Federal Court Clerk.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the government fiscal year which closed June 30 last, only sixteen farmers went into voluntary bankruptcy in Minnesota, according to a report issued by the United States district court clerk.

Petitions filed during the year totaled 441 and the cases disposed of were 399, the report shows. There were 173 wage earners filing petitions, 112 merchants, 23 manufacturers, 36 professional men and 23 of miscellaneous occupations.

Liabilities listed by voluntary bankrupts totaled $1,890,381, and assets realized amounted to $394,105.05. Dividends declared during the year aggregated $93,829.32. Money value of the exemptions allowed was $129,083.13.

There were no farmers involved in the cases started by petitions in involuntary bankruptcy. There were 43 merchants and two of miscellaneous occupations. The number of creditors' petitions filed during the year in this class was 52, with 72 cases disposed of during the year.

DULUTH AUTHOR ON HIS WAY HOME

Claude Washburn, author, will arrive in Duluth Saturday, accompanied by Mrs. Washburn, after a year's residence in Italy. They arrived in New York last week and will spend several months here with Mr. Washburn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Washburn of Hunter's Park.

Mr. Washburn has written many sketches and short stories, and since war was declared he has written a number of special articles for magazine and newspaper publication.

His best known work is his novel, "Gerald Northrup," which was pronounced one of last season's successes by literary critics. He was busy on another novel when the war broke out, but discontinued this work to take up Red Cross work in a Florence hospital when Italy joined arms with the allied forces.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

MAY GRILL THE LEGISLATURE

North Dakota W. C. T. U. to Discuss Failure of Suffrage Bill.

Carrington Convention This Week Expected to Be Interesting Affair.

Carrington, N. D., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Discusion of woman suffrage promises to be the feature of the state W. C. T. U. convention which is held here this week. This is the first convention held since the session of the legislature. W. C. T. U. officials who have been so vigorous in their denunciation of the action of the legislature will explain to the convention just what happened at Bismarck last winter, and stinging resolutions are anticipated, scoring the legislators responsible for the failure of the equal suffrage measure.

Two national W. C. T. U. workers will attend the gathering, being Mrs. Culla J. Vayhinger, president of the Indiana W. C. T. U., and Mrs. Ross Haynes Schroeder of St. Louis, Mo., secretary of the young people's branch. Both will deliver a series of addresses to the convention.

H. A. Bronson of Grand Forks, who championed the fight of the suffrage forces in the state senate last winter, will discuss the legislative question. F. L. Watkins of Bismarck, superintendent of the North Dakota Enforcement league, will deliver an address on "National Prohibition: An Asset of Prohibition in North Dakota."

Other convention speakers include Miss Mary M. Carey of Bottineau, Mrs. Callie E. Contes of Lisbon, Miss Inez Lee of Wheelock, Mrs. Lillie B. Bowers, Mrs. F. H. Wilder, Mrs. Bertha Brovles, Miss Ethel Halcrow, Edgar H. Gustafson, and the president, Mrs. Elizabeth Preston Anderson.

The annual address of Mrs. Anderson will be given on Friday evening. The annual street parade will be conducted Saturday evening, a gold medal contest will be held Saturday evening, Sunday will be given over to devotionals, and Monday morning will be occupied with the closing business, the election of officers and the selection of the next meeting place.

About 500 delegates are expected.

SEEK SOLUTION OF LOAFER PROBLEM

Conference of Charities and Corrections to Be Held at New Ulm.

New Ulm, Minn., Sept. 21.—The twenty-fourth Minnesota State Conference of Charities and Correction will be held here on Sept. 25, 26, 27 and 28. The program which has been prepared is one of unusual interest and indicates that those who attend this year's meeting will learn much relative to the best way of caring for criminals and dependents.

How to solve the problem presented by the "gang" and the "corner loafer" will be told by Charles F. Weller, field secretary of the National Playground and Recreation association. C. C. Carstens, secretary of the Massachusetts Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children, will present a complete "Community Plan for Children's Work." The proposed plan will be discussed by Judge Grier M. Orr, juvenile court, St. Paul; Judge Clarence B. Webster, Grand Rapids, and

SENATOR H. N. BENSON,
St. Peter Man on the Program.

Senator Henry N. Benson, St. Peter.

The State County Commissioners' association will hold its annual gathering in connection with the charities conference. The subjects to be discussed by them include "Good Roads," "County Tuberculosis Sanatoria," and the "Best Location for Almshouses."

Members of the conference will spend one day at the state hospital at St. Peter, where the problems presented by those suffering from insanity and mental deficiency will be studied.

An important feature of the conference will be a $5,000,000 exhibit of the work being done by wards of the state in the thirteen institutions under the board of control. The state board of health, the Minnesota Public Health association, and many private charities will also contribute exhibits illustrating the work they are doing.

LOSS OF $10,000 WORRIES WOOD

Militia Officer Says State Guard Let Federal Money Get Away.

New Ulm, Minn., Sept. 21.—The feature of the annual convention of the Minnesota National Guard association in New Ulm was an address by Adjt. Gen. F. E. Wood, in which he told commanding officers of the state organization that they were derelict in duties in several respects. The national guard of the state, he said, lost $10,000 of the Federal allotment last year by reason of the nonattendance of soldiers at Federal inspection. He cautioned the commanding officers to see that their men were present next year.

Congressman F. C. Ellsworth, of the second district was an honorary guest at the banquet. It was his opinion that this country should neither be an ultrapacifist nor a radical. He pointed out that the nation would be served best if a middle course was pursued. He favored preparedness but not militarism.

Brig.-Gen. A. W. Wright spoke upon preparedness. He favored increasing the army and navy. The army should be brought up to a strength of at least 100,000. He also favored a reserve and the placing of the national guard upon a basis where it received compensation for its services. He said this country was in no shape for war of any kind, not even with Mexico. He estimated that it would require 500,000 soldiers five years to conquer that country.

Governor W. S. Hammond was unable to be present, but his private secretary, C. M. Andrist, spoke upon "A Layman's Idea of the Guard." Capt. C. P. Cook of Austin spoke of the qualifications of "The Real Soldier." Col. Erle D. Luce of Minneapolis emphasized the fact that ample and rapid transportation in modern warfare often won decisive conflicts instead of the generals in command. Capt. C. C. Pullis, commander of the artillery camp at Sparta, Wis., explained to the guard members the efficiency of the artillery branch of the service.

Officers elected for the ensuing year were: President, Capt. W. H. Donahue of Minneapolis; vice president, Maj. Albert Pfaender of New Ulm; secretary, William S. Emery of Amboy; treasurer, Maj. W. H. Hart of St. Paul.

TRI-COUNTY FAIR ON AT CASS LAKE

Chippewa Indians Vie With Whites in Excellence of Exhibits.

Cass Lake, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Cass, Hubbard and Beltrami county fair in conjunction with the Chippewa Indian fair opened yesterday afternoon at Cass Lake. The display of handiwork and agricultural products is one that has astonished many visitors who had expected something much inferior. It is apparent that the white people as well as the Indians are realizing more and more the agricultural possibilities of this section of the state. Not only do the agricultural products attract the attention of the spectator at the fair, but the wonderful specimens of bead work, woven rugs, baskets made of sweet grass and useful and ornamental articles of birch bark have caught the interest of the visitors.

Almost every Indian in the vicinity has contributed his share to the display and the excellent work of the instructors at the Indian schools shows itself at every hand.

The races and the exhibit of horses will come off this afternoon.

"ACTORS" BURGLE; LAND IN PRISON

"Wild Woman" and Oriental Piper at Motley Carnival Rudely Unmasked.

Motley, Minn., Sept. 21.—James Murphy and Joseph Bushaw, alias Vincent, departed from their profession as carnival and county fair entertainers and for the time entered the more exciting pursuit of burglarizing during their engagement at the Morrison county fair here last week. They were arraigned before Judge Roeser yesterday and Murphy was sentenced to the reformatory and Bushaw to the Morrison county jail at Little Falls for three months.

Murphy played the pipes in the Oriental show that formed a part of the fair attractions and Bushaw thrilled the visitors as the wild woman who snatched the heads from live chickens and drank their blood.

REV. S. E. P. WHITE LEAVES BEMIDJI

Bemidji, Minn. Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. S. E. P. White, D. D., who for nearly eleven years has been pastor of the Presbyterian church of this city has resigned and accepted a call of Longmont, Col., his resignation to take effect Oct. 10. Dr. White states that it is the best for his two children, John and Eva, whose mother died this summer after a long illness of tuberculosis. During the many years he has spent in Bemidji he has been recognized as one of the most powerful church workers in the Northwest. He has done much missionary work aside from his church work in Bemidji and has instituted many churches in the territory surrounding Bemidji. He is an eloquent speaker and last year was moderator of the Presbytery of Minnesota.

FARMERS' CLUBS TO MEET AT BRAINERD

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Farmers clubs of the county will have their day at the Crow Wing county fair Thursday. The county federation directors will meet in the morning. In the afternoon W. H. Cloud, president of the county fair association, will deliver the address of welcome and the response will be made by D. C. Henderson, president of the County Federation of Farmers' clubs. A speaker from the extension division of the agricultural college at the state university will speak on "The Spirit of the Farmers Club Movement."

"Farmers Day" is also "Brainerd Day" and the largest gathering of the three days fair commencing Sept. 22 is expected. A special train will be run on the Minnesota & International railway Thursday to the fair.

SLEUTHS ON TRAIL OF BOOTLEGGERS

Fergus Falls, Minn., Sept. 21.—Government agents are after liquor law violators who are attempting to take intoxicants into the treaty territory to the northward. Notice was received here of the seizure of an automobile belonging to Anton Kauffman, of the town of Newton, this county, together with 140 quarts of beer and two gallons of whisky that were being brought from Wadena.

The seizure was by special officer L. W. Carson, and application has been made to the United States court for an order to dispose of the confiscated property.

James Bunker, who was coming up from Ponsford with three quarts of alcohol, was captured at about the same time and is now in the county jail here, awaiting the action of the coming term of the United States court.

The officers also discovered several bottles of whisky that were being shipped from Little Falls to a prominent Perham man. The bottles were wrapped in some baby clothing and stored in a trunk, but the government officers heard them click as the baggage man threw the trunk upon the platform.

NORWEGIAN EDITOR IS GIVEN TRIBUTE

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 21.—Tribute to Paul Hjelm Hansen, a Norwegian editor whose articles and lectures brought many settlers from his country to the Northwest, was paid by journalists and publishers at the annual meeting of the Norwegian-Danish Press association yesterday.

Hansen came to the Red river valley in 1869, and was so impressed with the section that he induced many of his countrymen to settle there. The delegates are urging the placing of a bronze tablet in the state capitol as a memorial to him.

PROMISING YEAR FOR FARGO COLLEGE

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—"I look for the largest attendance in the history of the institution," said President John H. Worst of the agricultural college today when speaking of the registration that began yesterday and will continue until tomorrow when the college year begins. "So far the total has not come quite up to the registration at the same time last year but the registratio nshows that most of those in now are from the villages and cities over the state, the farm boys not yet having put in their appearance in any great numbers. We must remember that North Dakota has one of the greatest crops in its history and as the threshing operations are still in full swing few of the farm boys and most of the farm girls cannot get away at this time."

BIG ENTRY LIST AT RAINY RIVER FAIR

Baudette, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fair at Rainy River opened today. Over 1,500 entries were made. One party from Emo shipped a carload of stock. The Fort Frances band will be at the fair on Wednesday and give a concert in the evening. Some of the garden stuff was touched by early frosts, but in spite of this the exhibits are good.

BRAINERD BOYS AND GIRLS WIN PRIZES

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.—John Gemmel of the Whittier won first prize for the best garden in the school childrens garden contest. Roy Carlson of the Harrison was second; Alice Johnstone of the Whittier, third; Gerald Anderson of the Lincoln, fourth; Myrtle Haake of the Lowell, fifth; Novia Oberg of the Harrison, sixth. In the vegetable exhibit the Lowell scored the most points, 65. The Harrison school was second with 31 points, the Whittier next with 14 points, and the Lincoln and Washington schools each recorded 9 points.

OLD INDIAN FIGHTER REVISITS BRAINERD

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.—To visit scenes after the lapse of half a century or more, to be able to distinguish ground on which his company camped near Crow Wing in 1862, to recognize Fort Ripley, near Brainerd, now a thriving village, and to walk over ground in Brainerd which in the years past was filled with Indians and cow ponies, was the experience of T. S. Higbee of Dodge Center, who is visiting his son and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Higbee. He was a member of Company H, Sixth Minnesota, having enlisted in Olmsted county. There were Indian troubles in Northern Minnesota, and the company of 100 men walked and rode the stretch from Fort Snelling to Fort Ripley and built the stockade there in 1862. There was no Brainerd at that time. There was but ten miles of railway in the whole state.

PLUMMER MAY GET ELECTRIC LIGHTS

Plummer, Minn., Sept. 21.—There has been considerable talk here during the last year concerning the advisability of installing electric lights in this village and also some means of financing same. The matter has been taken up with the Red River Power company of Red Lake Falls and within the next few days the proposition will be put up to the people. Mr. Wheeler of Red Lake Falls, J. J. Bennan and W. H. Brown of Grand Forks were here looking over the situation and were favorably impressed. Their plan is to transmit the power from Red Lake Falls, but they ask a guarantee that the village consume enough electricity to amount to $2,300 or $2,400 per year. Mr. Wheeler will be back here in a few days to make a canvass of the town to see what the sentiment is.

LUTHERANS MEET AT BORDER CITY

International Falls, Minn., Sept. 21.—The Duluth district of the Swedish Lutheran Minnesota conference will meet at International Falls, Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 28 and 29. Besides the pastor of the local church the following pastors will attend: Rev. J. A. Krantz, D. D., West Duluth; Rev. C. A. Eckstrom, Duluth; Rev. Hugo Thorene, Virginia, and Rev. J. P. [illegible] strom, Hibbing. Services will be held at the church Tuesday evening, Wednesday afternoon and Wednesday evening.

ASHLAND GIRL WEDS BAUDETTE MAN

Baudette, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thomas Gorman of Duluth and Miss Edna Firmenich, formerly of Ashland, Wis., will be married at the Sacred Heart church on Wednesday morning. Laura Doucet and Joe Thibault will be the attendants. Mass will be celebrated at 6, Rev. Father Bossus officiating. They will take a wedding trip to Wausau and Ashland, Wis., returning here to reside.

T. R.'S FOREMAN MAY SEEK GOVERNORSHIP

Dickinson, N. D., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dickinson is likely to put forward a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor in the person of Alfred White, mayor of Dickinson.

White is one of the most interesting figures in the southwestern section of the state. During the years that Theodore Roosevelt was at Medora, Mr. White was his ranch foreman, and in the Roosevelt presidential campaign in this state three years ago he was one of the most prominent exponents of the colonel's cause.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Breckenridge.—The family of Edward Darmody, who was shot by Patrolman J. A. Matheson a few weeks ago, have asked the council to pay $500 damages. The city attorney holds that the city is not liable. The policeman shot at a fleeing hobo and hit Darmody.

Fergus Falls.—L. L. Riley's fine herd of polled angus cattle got out of the big pasture in Carlisle some time ago, and about fifteen of them are still missing. The herd numbered seventy-five or eighty.

Holdinford.—The marriage of Thomas Vos of Holdingford, to Miss Rosa M. Schiller of St. Anthony, at the St. Anthony church, Rev. Father Tomazin officiating, took place last week.

St. Cloud.—Dr. Lester, who has been tried several times at Alexandria on the charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of a girl to whom he had given an X-ray treatment, is now free. Following the disagreement by the jury at the present term of court the county attorney moved that the case be dismissed.

St. Cloud.—The marriage of Peter F. Olson and Mrs. Sarah Celesta Martin, whose engagement was announced some time ago, was solemnized at the bride's home at 643 Stanton avenue.

Clear Lake.—Announcement has been made of the approaching marriage of Miss Mildred Goenner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Goenner of Clear Lake, to Robert DeGree of Stewart, Minn. The bride is the daughter of one of Clear Lake's oldest families.

Melrose.—At the home of the bride north of Melrose occurred the marriage of Alvin E. Lamb of Sauk Center, and Miss Mary Frisk, the ceremony being performed by Rev. F. Dieghton.

Deerwood.—The Fritz Hanford store at Cedar Lake was visited by yeggmen recently, who blew open the safe with nitro-glycerin and appropriated about $70 in cash and stamps.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Devils Lake, N. D.—Chief Littlefish of the Devils Lake reservation has shipped a carload of wheat, 1,100 bushels, grown on his farm. This is the first instance of an Indian growing and shipping a car load of wheat to a terminal market.

Grafton, N. D.—A new dwelling house and cow barn will be erected at the Feeble Minded institute at Grafton this fall. Two new dynamos will be added to the machinery equipment, all at a cost of about $17,000.

Park River, N. D. — The Farmers' Elevator company has recently added to their equipment a wild oats cleaner. The machine has a capacity of 400 to 600 bushels per hour.

Fessenden, N. D.—Fessenden looks like one of the towns in the war zone in Europe. The I. W. W. bunch undertook to run the place and when some of them were taken to jail they returned to sack the town. The authorities put armed watchmen on patrol duty.

Grafton, N. D.—The separator belonging to Radford & Holmes of Grafton was mysteriously destroyed by fire on the farm of James Hanson, about three miles northeast of that city.

Wahpeton, N. D. — At Immanuel's German Evangelical Lutheran church at Wahpeton occurred the marriage of Alfred J. Mueller, son of Mrs. John Tribke of that city, to Miss Laura Meyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Meyer, also of Wahpeton. Rev. E. Meier performed the ceremony.

Valley City, N. D.—William Reed and Miss Ismay Brubaker, a well known and popular young couple of Eckelson, were married in the parlor of the Kindred hotel here by Rev. Frank Atkinson of Sanborn.

Fargo, N. D.—A grip taxed to its capacity with whisky and beer was responsible for the arrest of Lucille Allen, colored, by an officer of the police department. She was about to enter her home at 314 First avenue north when the arrest was made.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Escanaba—Members of the Escanaba board of education formally appointed Dr A. J. Carlson the city's first full-time health commissioner, as commissioner of health for the public schools.

Laurium—The first Twin Counties fair, which promises to be one of the finest agricultural shows ever held in Northern Michigan and which will exceed, in many ways, the famous Marquette county fairs, will be staged this week at the Palestra rink and driving park in Laurium.

Calumet—Italians of the Calumet-Laurium district Monday evening observed with an appropriate program the forty-fifth anniversary of the unification of Italy. The entertainment was held in the Presbyterian church under the auspices of the Calumet Presbyterian Italian mission.

Hancock—When the next state convention of the Sons of St. George meets, which will be in Detroit a year hence, Lady Edgecomb lodge, Daughters of St. George, of Quincy will enter a degree team in the state contests. Mistletoe lodge has done likewise and the duo are going into the race wholehearted in an effort to land the prizes.

Houghton—Capt. T. S. Smith and the members of the Houghton Light Infantry rifle team left Sunday for Detroit to participate in the state shoot.

Baraga—A pretty church wedding took place at the Holy Nome church, Assinins, when Miss Elizabeth Catherine Greenleaf became the bride of Adolph Nicholas Gerard.

Baraga — The Seward Pomona grange will meet at the Grange hall Friday, Sept. 24, at which meeting the election of Pomona grange delegates to the county convention for electing subordinate grange delegates will take place.

Calumet—The funeral of the late Cyril Bryant, whose death occurred in Albion, Mich., was held Sunday at the Tamarack M. E. church, Rev. George W. Broome of the Calumet Baptist church officiated.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Burkhardt—The wheat acreage of St. Croix county is this year not only larger than usual but the wheat is of higher quality. There are exhibited samples of St. Croix county wheat that ran sixty-one pounds to the bushel and oats that tested forty-three pounds to the bushel.

Neenah—Ronald Rogers, son of Mrs. C. R. Smith of this city, has been chosen to lead the band of Columbia university.

Green Bay—Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Schroeder, pioneer residents of Green Bay, completed the fiftieth year of their married life on Sunday and quietly celebrated the anniversary with their friends and relatives at their home. They were married at Neenah, Wis., and less than two months later they came to Green Bay.

Janesville—Noyes Rassler of Rock county won sweepstake prizes on corn at the Wisconsin state fair, exhibiting the best sammies in the entire exhibit.

Madison—The Wisconsin supreme court on Saturday finished hearing arguments on the first assignment of cases on the August calendar and adjourned to 10 o'clock a. m., Oct. 5, when it will hand down decisions in cases heard.

Manitowoc—The Citizens' association will send representatives to the Great Lakes conference at Detroit the latter part of October to ask that organization's support in this city's demand for government aid in the upkeep of the inner harbor.

Wausau — The Marathon County Bankers' association has passed a resolution as being opposed to making of large loans to the foreign countries for war purposes, declaring that funds are needed at home.

Green Bay—Accusations that irregularities existed in the city health department are to be investigated by the common council. It is alleged that one of the health officers had worked in conjunction with a number of scavengers and said to have received money for favoring certain men on different jobs.

Resinol Soap clears bad complexions

If you want a clear, fresh, glowing complexion, use Resinol Soap at least once a day. Work a warm, creamy lather of it well into the pores, then rinse the face with plenty of cold water.

It does not take many days of such regular care with Resinol Soap to show an improvement, because the Resinol medication soothes and refreshes the skin, while the pure soap, free of alkali, is cleansing it.

When the skin is in a very neglected condition, with pimples, blackheads, redness or roughness, spread on just a little Resinol Ointment for ten or fifteen minutes before using Resinol Soap.

Resinol Soap is not artificially colored, its rich brown being entirely due to the Resinol medication it contains. Twenty-five cents at all druggists and dealers in toilet goods. For a trial size cake, write to Dept. 4-P, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

A FINE TREATMENT FOR CATARRH

EASY TO MAKE AND COSTS LITTLE.

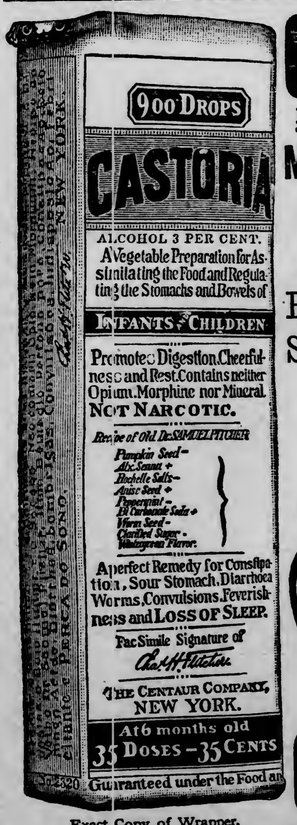

Catarrh is such an insidious disease and has become so prevalent during the past few years that its treatment should be understood by all.

Science has fully proved that Catarrh is a constitutional disease and therefore requires a constitutional treatment. Sprays, inhalers, salves and nose douches seldom if ever give lasting benefit and often drive the disease further down the air passages and into the lungs.

If you have catarrh or catarrhal deafness or head-noises, go to your druggist and get one ounce of Parmint (double strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and 4 ounces of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved, take one tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head-noises, clogged nostrils should open, breathing becomes easy and mucus stop dropping into the throat.

This treatment has a slight tonic action which makes it especially effective in cases where the blood has become thin and weak. It is easy to make, tastes pleasant and costs little. Every person who wishes to be free from this destructive disease should give this treatment a trial.—Advertisement.

ASSERTS FIRE HALL MENACE

State Official Condemns Two Harbors Structure as "Shack."

City Ordered to Tear Building Down in Thirty Days.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two Harbors' fire hall is a "shack" and a fire hazard of the "worst kind," according to State Fire Marshal Hagardine, in a notice received by Mayor Towl a few days ago and made public last night at the regular meeting of the city council. Not only does the state official order the structure torn down but he gives the city only thirty days in which to do it.

The order was the feature of last night's meeting but aside from giving rise to discussion no definite action was decided upon. The council laid the matter over for one week during which time they will investigate. The members are now considering moving the old fire hall up to Ninth avenue and using it as a tool shed. The question of obtaining a suitable place to house the fire apparatus during the construction of the new hall is a problem at the present time, and it may be that the city will have to construct a temporary building. No plans have been formulated but it seems to be the general desire of the officials to erect a two-story brick building about 25 by 50 feet.

City Clerk August Ontveit reported to the council that he had received no bids for the construction of the proposed retaining wall on Cedar street, and a resolution was adopted authorizing the construction of the retaining wall by the city. The job will be done by day labor, and under the supervision and direction of the city engineer, and the street commissioner. The work on its construction will commence at once.

George H. Spurbeck, owner of the Star theater building which was partly destroyed by fire about two weeks ago, was granted permission to repair the same. According to the findings of the council the building was damaged only 30 or 35 per cent. Mr. Spurbeck will commence work at once on its reconstruction.

Hearing was had on assessments for benefits to properties as a result of the improving of the alley between Eighth and Ninth avenues, and between Poplar and Maple streets, which was completed by the city a short time ago.

The bills for the freight on three cargoes of coal was passed by resolution and amounted to several hundred dollars.

POOR ROAD HALTS MAIL DELIVERY

District South of Grand Rapids Not Ready for Rural Carriers.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—S. P. Hegdahl and C. K. Mundy, who have taken an active part in laying out a road for the proposed free rural mail delivery which it is planned to start south of town, report that they have now gone about as far as they can with their work until such time as the unbuilt parts of the roads over which the route will go are completed. The route, which leads south out of town to the Ogema hotel at Pokegama lake, is open to that point. From there about three miles of road have to be built, part of it through Grand Rapids township, and part of it through the town of Harris. The road has been surveyed, and the town of Harris is making provision to cut out and grade its portion of this piece of road. Mr. Mundy and Mr. Hegdahl urge that the people of Grand Rapids encourage the town board of the town of Grand Rapids in building the Grand Rapids portion of the road if they wish to preserve the good will of the large number of farmers who will be served by this mail route.

The starting of an agitation for a mail route is a very discouraging process, and one that may take a couple of years to bring to a head, and the men who are at the head of this movement need all the commendation and encouragement which can be given them.

Hunters Get Licenses.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 21.—Virginia will be well represented in duck hunting this season. Licenses are being issued by City Clerk Albert E. Bickford, the Virginia Hardware company, Norton Hardware company and the Virginia Store company. Among those who have secured licenses from City Clerk Bickford are A. J. Rough, John Sederwick, Alderman George Harvey, T. J. Madden, H. R. Dowe, Edward F. Johnson, Edward Pohtela, B. F. Foley, Clarence A. Graham, L. D. De Barre, Jacob Jacobson, H. K. Maitland, Wilbur Fasteer, George Smith and R. W. Johnson. Among the out-of-town hunters who have secured licenses from the city clerk's office is William Gheen of Gheen.

RANGE SUNDAY SCHOOLS TO MEET

District Convention Takes Place at Hibbing on Thursday.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—A district Sunday school convention will be held in Hibbing at the Presbyterian church, Thursday of this week. Dr. R. W. Bowden of Duluth, Sunday school missionary for the Presbyterian church for Northern Minnesota, will be present. Representatives from Sunday schools of all denominations on this end of the range are expected to attend.

The following program has been arranged:

Afternoon: 2 o'clock, song and praise service; 2:15, "Training Our Leaders;" Mrs. Jean E. Hobart; 2:30, "The Value of a Statewide Sunday School Visitation Day," Dr. R. W. Bowden; 2:45, symposium, "What the School Standard Should Be For the Schools of This District;" "In Pushing the Cradle Roll," Mrs. R. N. Marble; "In Emphasizing Monthly Workers' Meetings," Dr. Bowden; "In Building Up the Home Department," Rev. A. W. Adair; "In Organizing Adult Classes," John Hooper; 3:35, business session including secretary's report of standing of schools as measured by the school standard, the treasurer's report, reports of department superintendents and appointment of nominating committees; 4:30, song and adjournment.

Evening, 7:45, praise and prayer service; report of nomination committee and election of officers; 8, address, "The Teacher as a Factor in Sunday School Evangelism," Mrs. Jean E. Hobart; 9:30, address, "The Value of Organized Sunday School Work to the Local School," Dr. R. W. Bowden.

RANGE FARMER'S FAME SPREADING

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. J. Stukkel, the Chisholm farmer who won the first prize for being the best all around agriculturist in this section at the county fair, has received orders for seed potatoes from four different states, one order coming from Georgia.

ELY NOTES.

Ely, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. William Hasselblad Sunday.

Jack Bedford arrived Sunday from Portland, Or., on business. Jack is a former resident of this city, having been in the livery business here for many years.

Mrs. P. Schaefer and Mrs. H. E. White left Monday noon for Duluth, where they go to attend the meeting of the federation of women's clubs, which meet in that city the last part of this week. They go as delegates of the Ely Mothers' club. The club has done some good work here, having helped many needy families.

The dance given at the Turf hall by the Young Men's Social club was attended by about fifty couples and a fine time was had by the crowd. Knutson's orchestra furnished the music.

On Trial for Larceny.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The case of the State of Minnesota vs. George Boyd and Ed Beaulieu, who are accused of grand larceny in the second degree, is on in district court here. Boyd and Beaulieu are accused of having, on June 24, last, secured the sum of $20.05 of Nels Lexen, a Deer River boy, on a check alleged to have been forged. The men were in the employ of the C. M. Erskine Timber company and the time check was made out on the Erskine company in the name of one Nick Cove. Beaulieu is alleged to have forged the indorsement of Cove's name on the check and there is another indictment out against him.

Seeks Recovery of $750.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 21.—Charging that the Island Farm Creamery company of Hibbing was favored by Kalias & Argeras, Hibbing merchants, who went into bankruptcy, W. H. Colvin, trustee, has filed suit in district court against the creamery company to recover $750. The creamery company secured a judgment against the merchants in the Hibbing municipal court and recovered $750, according to Trustee Colvin.

School Club Makes Plans.

Cohasset, Minn., Sept. 21.—Members of the Cohasset Parents-Teachers' club are preparing for their first meeting of the year, which will be held in the early part of October. At that time a program for the coming year will be elected. All the parents of children in the local schools have been invited to become members.

GILBERT WOMAN ON TRIAL FOR MURDER

Mrs. Filomena Telerico Claims She Killed Father-in-Law Because of Abuse.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Interest in district court here this week is confined to the trial of Mrs. Filomena Telerico, charged with the murder of her father-in-law. In outlining the prosecution, Attorney Boyle said he would show that the defendant admitted killing her father-in-law, Antonio Telerico, 70 years of age, and had at first believed she had ended the life of her husband after she had struck him over the head with a beer bottle. It is claimed that she crushed her father-in-law's skull with a beer bottle. He was fatally assaulted on the afternoon of Aug. 2 in a hayfield near the Telerico home at Gilbert and died the same night at the More hospital at Eveleth. Her husband was sleeping in the Telerico home when he was assaulted by his wife.

Judge A. R. Anderson of Gilbert, the first witness called, testified that through an interpreter, Mrs. Telerico informed him that she had killed two men. She was eager to be locked up he said, and was placed in the Gilbert jail. Judge Anderson, Village Marshal Ole Saline, Dr. Frederic Barrett and others then hurried to the Telerico home and found the elder Telerico lying in the hayfield. His skull had been crushed. Beer bottles were found near the scene of the assault. Telerico was treated by Dr. Barrett and then taken to the More hospital where he died.

Mrs. Telerico is an Italian, 36 years of age, and has been married six years. During the case she was eyed by many courtroom spectators, but avoided their glances. She followed the examination of prospective jurors with interest. She was little affected by the court proceedings.

Her case is the only one of murder on the calendar and is the first trial in which a woman has been tried on that charge on the range in several years. Her attorney is M. J. McMahon and he is trying to prove that she had been abused by her husband and father-in-law for years, and was goaded into her act by their treatment.

It will probably reach the jury today.

EVELETH CURLERS WILL BUILD HOME

Rink Costing About $4,000 to Be Ready for Winter's Games.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The committee appointed by the Curling club last week is preparing to go ahead with the construction of a new rink. The committee consists of W. R. Van Slyke, H. E. Loye, C. M. Norway, James A. Robb and William Murray.

The club went on record as preferring a five-sheet rink to a four-sheet rink if the cost of the larger building is within the means of the club. The committee was instructed to keep the cost within $4,000 in planning the new building. Mr. Loye has already prepared plans for a four and a five-sheet rink and bids will be called for from the local contractors. The lumber from the old curling rink at the lower end of Jones street will also be utilized and will cut the expense somewhat.

There will be more interest in curling the coming winter than ever before. Where the club had about sixty members last year over ninety are already signed for the coming season and this number will increase to over 100, making enough curlers for twenty-five or more rinks.

Eveleth's new rink will have a fine location. It will be on the car line and visiting rinks can unload their stones and leave the car at the very door of the building. It will be centrally located and with a good warm room there will be more spectators and more interest in the game than formerly.

LIBRARY TO HAVE SMOKING ROOM

Virginia Board Plans to Make Building Attractive for Men.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The plan suggested by L. H. Weir of the National Playgrounds and Recreation association for the use of a spare room in the public library basement for recreation purposes has been well received by the Virginia library board and a committee is now in charge of the matter. According to Ralph C. Pickering, secretary of the board, the room will be used for lounging purposes and smoking will be allowed.

Tables for games will be installed. The new room will not interfere with the clubroom's activities.

HIBBING MENACED BY SERIOUS FIRE

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—A fire that threatened to be serious, was promptly smothered by the fire department late yesterday afternoon at the Columbia Clothing company building, at the corner of Second avenue and Pine street.

The fire broke out in the floor of the building under the corner show window, although there is no basement under the building. It burned the sills and several joists of the building and was spreading rapidly when discovered. A high wind swept from the scene of the fire over the business portion of town, and had the fire secured any headway, the department would have had great difficulty in saving the town.

The fire began in a peculiarly inaccessible place and there is no theory as to how it could have started unless some customer dropped a lighted cigar inside the store close to the show window.

M. F. Osherman, proprietor of the store, suffered some loss from smoke and the building was damaged to the extent of about $150. The building is owned in the East.

EVELETH CHURCH PRACTICALLY NEW

Methodists Complete Improvements and Will Reopen Edifice This Week.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thursday evening at 8 o'clock the Methodist church will hold the formal reopening of its building. Last winter it was discovered that the church was unsafe. It was vacated and steps taken to rebuild. The old church was torn down to the floor, extensive alterations made in the foundation and a new structure reared. The building is on simple plain lines and is comfortable and pleasing. The steam system has been improved and semi-indirect lighting installed.

The cost of the improvements is about $3,000 and the building will be opened free from debt. The members of the congregation are much pleased with their church and invite the public to the reopening service.

DO YOU FEEL HEADACHY? LOOK TO YOUR STOMACH

It is an unusual thing for a druggist to sell medicine under a guarantee to refund the money if it does not cure. Yet this is the way that nearly every druggist in Duluth is selling Mi-o-na, the standard dyspepsia remedy.

Druggists say that never before have they had so large a number of customers tell them that a medicine has been successful as with Mi-o-na. People who a few months ago suffered continually with their stomachs today are ruddy and vigorous with perfect digestion and good health. They say Mi-o-na did it.

There no longer seems any need for anyone suffering or making their friends suffer on account of dyspepsia. Mi-o-na can always be relied upon. The percentage of success is so great that there is little risk in guaranteeing to return the money if the medicne does not relieve. And all the best druggists stand ready to do so without any questions.

Headaches, all forms of indigestions, specks before the eyes, dizzy feelings, poor sleep, ringing in the ears and all forms of liver trouble are helped by Mi-o-na. A few days' treatment should show considerable gain in health, while a complete cure often follows rapidly.

These days are the best in the whole year for the enjoyment of good health, and Mi-o-na will put you in such perfect condition that you can enjoy every minute of them. Sold and recommended by Boyce Drug store and other leading druggists.

FAIR

The marked change in the weather from yesterday's cold and cloudy, together with intermittent rain is more than welcome. The warmer air of today, the sunshine and the generally pleasant conditions give hope of next month producing its usual fine line of Indian summer days. It will be noticed that just as soon as the women of the state began to assemble in Duluth for the federation meeting, the sun shone again. Perhaps he is a suffragist—or maybe Mr. Richardson is.

A year ago was sultry. The sun rose this morning at 6:54 and will set this evening at 6:08, giving twelve hours and fourteen minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Much cooler weather prevails in the Lake region, Ohio, Mississippi and Missouri valleys and the Southwest. Frosts occurred last night in the Dakotas, Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Eastern Montana. During the last twenty-four hours precipitation occurred in Eastern Canada and in nearly all states from the Mississippi valley eastward. Heavy local rains fell over Tennessee, Arkansas and Louisiana. Fresh to strong westerly winds occurred last night over the greater portion of the Lake region."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Sept. 21.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Wednesday:

Minnesota—Fair tonight, followed by increasing cloudiness Wednesday; probably frost tonight; rising temperature Wednesday and in south and west portion tonight.

Wisconsin—Fair with frost tonight; Wednesday fair with rising temperature.

Iowa—Fair tonight, probably becoming unsettled Wednesday, slowly rising temperature; frost in east and central portions tonight.

North Dakota and South Dakota—Fair and warmer tonight; Wednesday partly cloudy and warmer.

Montana—Generally fair weather tonight and Wednesday; warmer tonight.

Lower Michigan—Fair tonight and Wednesday; probably frost tonight.

Upper Michigan—Fair tonight and Wednesday; frost tonight.

GRAND RAPIDS TO HAVE NEW PAVEMENT

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hogue & Mitchell, who got the contract for putting down three blocks of pavement on Third street, fronting the court house property, have already started the work, and have it well under way. The excavating is about completed, and the mixer will be installed early next week. The hydrant and the electric light poles, which were in the way, are being removed by Superintendent Leonard of the light and water commission and his crew.

The pavement and walk will run in line with the balance of the Third street pavement, the jog which the street formerly took being eliminated by the new plans. While this will take a little ground from the court house lawn, the improved appearance of the street will more than make up for the area taken up for the purpose of straightening the street.

The material for the job is already being hauled, and the prospects are that when they get started putting down "mud" the work will not take long. It is expected that the job will be completed within a month.

HIBBING TO ASK CLUB WOMEN THERE

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Ladies' Saturday club of Hibbing will make a determined attempt this week at Duluth to secure the 1917 meeting of the State Federation of Women's Clubs for Hibbing. Active preparations for this campaign are now under way.

Mrs. George F. Brooks, who is the Saturday club's delegate, and Mrs. R. W. Hitchcock, who is alternate, left today at noon for Duluth. Mrs. H. H. Faust, president of the club, will go down later in the week. Mrs. H. K. Read, Mrs. Robert Stratton and other members of the club will also attend the meetings of the federation and present Hibbing's invitation. Literature concerning Hibbing and the activities of the Saturday club will be distributed to the delegates at Duluth.

Inasmuch as Northern Minnesota has the federation this year it would be impossible for Hibbing to secure it next year, but the ladies of the Saturday club hope that the federation will be favorably inclined to Hibbing for 1917.

HIBBING SCHOOL GIRLS ARE LOYAL

Boosters' Club Organized for Benefit of the Football Eleven.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The girls of the Hibbing high school are determined that the football eleven shall not lack for support this year, and to make certain of it, they have organized, in a very informal way, a Boosters' club among the high school girls. There is one qualification only necessary for membership in this club—willingness to boost the eleven. The club has no officers or committees, but every girl is asked to see that every other girl is boosting the team and attending the games.

The Booster's club plans to send the largest delegation to Coleraine Saturday that Hibbing has ever sent anywhere for a high school game. Automobiles are now being requisitioned for the trip. For the Virginia game, the week following, the Booster girls are planning to take the whole high school. They are going at the matter with a great deal of enthusiasm, and are already getting results, for the attendance of girls at the opening game with the alumni last Saturday was much larger than the attendance of boys and they kept the side lines a riot of color and yelling ever minute throughout the game.

Following the good showing made Saturday the high school came out to practice last night with a renewed determination, and the liveliest kind of scrimmage resulted.

How to Keep Face Young and Attractive

The way to ward off old age is not to fear it, not to allow one's self to be oppressed by the dread of advancing years. Use only legitimate preventives and avoid trying experiments with preparations not indorsed by physicians. An entirely safe and very effective way to keep the complexion young-looking and beautiful is to apply ordinary mercolized wax at bedtime, using it like cold cream, washing it off in the morning. This gradually absorbs the withered, faded cuticle, which is replaced by the more youthful, pink-tinted underskin. One ounce of this wax, to be had at any drug store, is enough to completely rejuvenate a worn-out complexion.

Crow's feet and other wrinkles, the first signs of advancing age, may be removed by a simple, harmless preparation made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel. It is used as a face bath.—National Hygienic Review.

AURORA SHOW OF HIGH RANK

Annual Farmers' Day Exhibit the Most Successful Yet Held.

Aurora, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—In spite of a drizzling rain, which set in before daylight and lasted until the middle of the afternoon, the fourth annual farmers' day exhibit at Aurora yesterday was probably the most successful ever held. There were nearly 150 farmers here and most of them brought produce to enter for prizes and not only did they bring produce, but nearly every farmer brought from four to ten entries and the display was one of the largest ever seen on the range.

The farmers were given their dinner by the Aurora people, a free show at the Elco theater and H. G. Larson, the county agricultural agent, made a talk in the afternoon which was filled with suggestions and help.

Among the heavy prize winners were John Trygstad from south of Aurora, who won $41 in cash and merchandise, and Alex Palo of Embarrass, who won $11. In all, nearly $100 in cash and merchandise prizes was distributed. The prize winners follow: Best general display of farm produce, John Trygstad, first; Alex Palo, second, and John Kilpela, third; best bundle of wheat, August Helmatoja, first; Paul Rautsi, second, and John Kilpela, third; best bundle of oats, Jacob Saarl, first; Alex Palo, second, and Charles Nelson, third; best bundle of red clover, John Trygstad, first; Simon Lappi, second, and Olaf Halonen, third; best bundle of timothy, John Trygstad, first; Simon Lappi, second, and Alex Palo, third; best bundle of alfalfa, Mrs. Riesanen, first; John Trygstad, second, and Alex Palo, third; best bundle of barley, John Trygstad, first; Paul Rsutsi, second, and John Trygstad, third; best half bushel of potatoes, Ilmore Levander, first; Henry Lakela, second, and Isaac Palo, third; best bundle of alsike clover, Alex Palo, first, and John Trygstad, second; best beets, John Kilpela, first; Olaf Halonen, second; best carrots, B. A. Holst, first; Isaac Jutlla, second; best cabbage, John Trygstad, first; Paul Rautsi, second, and Erick Nieminen, third; best parsnips, Nestor Lindgren, first; John Trygstad, second; best rutabagas, Erick Niemlnen, first; Frank Kempanen, second; best onions, Paul Rautsi, first; Henry Lakela, second; best turnips, Lauri Ranto, first; John Kilpela, second; best tomatoes, August Helmatoja, first; John Trygstad, second; best cauliflower, John Trygstad, first; Olaf Halonen, second; best general display of potatoes, Isaac Palo, first; John Trygstad, second, and Olaf Halonen, third; best butter, Mrs. Michaelson, first; Ilmore Levander second, and W. M. Sembunn, third; best stock rutabagas, Nestor Lindgren; best sweet milk cheese, John Kilpela.

H. G. Larson, county agricultural agent; A. O. Stangel, agricultural instructor in the Virginia schools, and Dr. R. P. Pearsall acted as judges, and their decisions in awarding the prizes were after the most careful inspection of all exhibits and gave excellent satisfaction.

Chisholm Realty Up.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 21.—The sale of real property in this village has increased perceptibly during the last week. This is accounted for partly by the sale of houses and different buildings at Winston-Dear location near the Dunwoodie pit, and partly by the fact that notices have been given to squatters between the Monroe location and the Great Northern tracks to the north to vacate within thirty days. The price of lots in parts of the village has doubled during the last three years. Lots in the north end of town are about the only ones which can be bought at former prices, but these are a considerable distance from the mines.

Auto Speeder Fined.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Max Coback was arrested Saturday and fined Monday for recklessly driving an automobile on Lake street. The fine was $32.50. Coback, when near the O'Neil hotel corner, made a quick turn to avoid a pedestrian, but instead hit the man and sent him sprawling over the street, inflicting severe bruises and slight cuts. The hind wheel of the car struck the curbing and was smashed.

More Range Farmers.

Gilbert, Minn., Sept. 21.—The growth of the Gilbert district as an agricultural center has been rapid. The following men have purchased land in 57-17. Jack Modic, Jack Petrich, John Bagnik, Frank Rozinka, Frank Gazvoda, Bartelj Strumbelj and Andrew Kucler. The land will be cleared and improved for farming at once.

Hibbing Couple Marry.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Helen Louise Booth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Booth of this village, was married last evening at 7 o'clock to Thomas Burton Eldred at the Episcopal rectory by Rev. Dr. Coolbaugh. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. John L. Williams, brother-in-law and sister of the bride. Immediately following the wedding they left for the Morton location, where the groom is employed and where they will make their home. The bride is well known in Hibbing having grown to womanhood here. The groom has been employed at the Morton for the last six months.

DISPOSITION OF OGDEN MILLIONS A PROBLEM

Vexed Question Confronts the Probate Court at Houston, Tex.

Houston, Tex., Sept. 21.—How to dispose of the fortune of Francis A. Ogden, eccentric millionaire, who died in Houston June 6, 1914, was the question confronting probate court here today.

With one purported will already held invalid and its holder, Thomas S. Earl, a suicide, and with two others presented for probate, both contested by Ogden's relatives, an extended legal fight apparently was in prospect. The wills are held by Miss Maud Holt of Mebane, N. C., and Mrs. M. L. Sellers of Cairo, Ga.

Relatives of Ogden, some thirty in number, claim that neither will is genuine and that Ogden died intestate. Among them are a sister, Mrs. Flora H. Welch, aged 93, Madison, Wis., and two nieces, Mrs. Mary Monteith, Madison, and Mrs. Estella Gonzales, Milwaukee, Wis.

Ogden was born in Painted Post, Steuben county, N. Y., 1835. He is said to have been a nephew of William Ogden, first mayor of Chicago.

The estate, valued at $12,000,000, consists chiefly of land in a dozen states.

SEVERAL KILLED BY EXPLOSION IN MINE

Ten Bodies Recovered From Pit at Nuneaton, Eng.

Nuneaton, Eng., Sept. 21.—Several hundred miners were entombed in Exhall colliery as the result of a fire. The cage employed to bring workmen to the surface was destroyed by the flames. Rescuers have already sent up ten bodies.

Out of about 250 miners in the colliery at the time of the fire, 200 were rescued by means of an emergency shaft.

OVER 3,000,000 FROM THE UNITED KINGDOM

Colonies Not Included in Asquith's Estimate of Recruits.

London, Sept. 21, 3:27 p. m.—Premier Asquith informed the house of commons today that the figures he recently gave that nearly 3,000,000 recruits had joined the British army since the beginning of the war, did not include any forces raised outside the United Kingdom.

The British forces since the commencement of the European war have been swelled not only by the recruiting in the United Kingdom but by important detachments from Canada, Australia, New Zeland and India. No figures are available, however, showing the total contributions in men of these various British possessions.

OLD OFFENDERS DRAW SENTENCES

Police Round Up Six Saloon Habitues Too Strong to Work.

Six habitues of Bowery saloons, who have been in court so often that they know as much criminal law as the average justice of the peace, were arraigned before Judge Cutting in police court this morning and drew a collective sentence of 300 days at the county work farm. Four of the number, Fred Johnson, Gust Maki, Axel H. Burg and Alex Hill come under the head of fourth offenders, and they each received sixty days, while Mike Doyle and Oscar Johnson, third offenders, drew thirty days each.

All of these men are middle-aged and strong, and, the court believes, could have found employment if they wanted it, but they have fallen into the habit of hanging around the Bowery grog shops, where they wait for "live ones" who buy them drinks and give them a little money to eat on.

The records at police headquarters show that few "sleepers" are applying for berths in the station now, and the officers believe that since times have picked up, most of the men who were forced to accept charity in the way of a bed have gone to work and are renting regular rooms.

FAIR, COOL WEATHER, BUREAU'S FORECAST

Warmer Unsettled Weather Will Follow After That, Says Prediction.

Washington, Sept. 21.—Fair weather, cool and with frost impending, is predicted for the Upper Mississippi valley and the Great Lakes region in the weather bureau's forecast for the first part of the week beginning tomorrow. Warmer, unsettled weather will follow. The forecast says:

"Region of Great Lakes—Fair and cooler the first half of the week, probably heavy frosts Wednesday and Thursday. Latter half of the week warmer and unsettled, with probably occasional showers.

Upper Mississippi valley—Fair, moderate temperature the first half of the week, although frosts are probable Wednesday in the Upper Mississippi valley. Warmer and unsettled by the middle of the week, with scattered showers. The latter part of the week generally fair."

Yeggmen Rob Postoffice.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald)—The postoffice at Barker, N. D., was robbed Sunday night, the safe being blown. About seven hundred dollars' worth of stamps and $75 in money was obtained. Otto Anderson, the postmaster, didn't discover the robbery till the next morning. The robbers used nitro-glycerin. There are no clews.

What Every Mother Knows.

Every Mother knows that during the trying period before baby comes the use of Mother's Friend, a dependable external remedy obtained of druggists, is absolutely necessary so as to avoid the pains caused by undue tension upon the cords, ligaments and muscles resulting from muscular expansion. Under the surface is a network of fine nerve threads and by applying Mother's Friend all these are soothed and helped. Expansion is natural and pains are relieved. In many cases nausea, morning sickness and other distresses are avoided.

ADDITIONAL TAXATION PROPOSED BY McKENNA

London, Sept. 21.—Reginald McKenna, chancellor of the exchequer, in his budget speech today, estimated that the government's revenue for the current year would be £272,000,000 ($1,360,000,000); that the expenditures would reach £1,550,000,000 ($7,950,000,000), and that the dead weight of debt at the close of the financial year would be £2,200,000,000 $11,000,000,000).

Mr. McKenna proposed an addition of 40 per cent to the existing income tax and the taxation of all incomes of £130 ($650) or more. The present minimum is £160.

Dubuque Bankers Arrested.

Dubuque, Iowa, Sept. 21.—George J. Homan, cashier; John F. Harragan, vice president and teller, and Charles R. Seige, teller of the Dubuque National bank, were arrested today on warrants issued by the Federal authorities, charging embezzlement and misapplication of funds of the bank, totaling about $20,000.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

DARK HORSE IS GAINING

Wayzata Woman Now Regarded as Strong Contender for Presidency.

Mrs. W. T. Coe of Wayzata, the dark horse in the fight for presidency of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, gained strength today and now is regarded as a strong contender for the position.

In the fight between Mrs. P. L. De Voist of Duluth, former vice president of the state organization, and Mrs. V. C. Sherman of Minneapolis, recording secretary, the delegates are so evenly divided that a switch to Mrs. Coe's standard is not unexpected.

Mrs. Peter C. Oleson of Cloquet, president of the Eighth district, is leader in the fight for a constitutional amendment which will permit Mrs. De Voist to assume the office of president in case she is elected. At the present time no state district can have more than one state officer, and Mrs. F. L. Barrows of Duluth is treasurer.

The state is badly split over the three candidates. The Tenth district is for Mrs. Coe, while the Fifth is divided between Mrs. Coe and Mrs. Sherman. The Fourth district is expected to show a majority for Mrs. Sherman.

Suffrage is said to be one of the issues in the fight as Mrs. De Voist has been prominent for her work for the ballot, and Duluth delegates are divided on that account. Eighth district delegates, aside from those in Duluth, are solidly behind Mrs. De Voist.

All of the delegates came to the convention without instructions, as there was thought to be a possibility of Mrs. Clarence L. Atwood continuing as president.

ARTILLERY FIRE UNINTERRUPTED

German Report Tells of Continuous Fighting in Western War Zone.

Berlin, Sept. 21, via London, 3:30 p. m.—The following statement on war operations was issued today by German headquarters:

"Western theater of war: In the Souchez-Arras section the French artillery is keeping up a strong fire almost uninterruptedly.

"In the neighborhood of Neville hand grenade engagements developed.

"Blockhouses at Sapigneul, on the Aisne-Marne canal northwest of Reims, which we reduced to ruins yesterday were evacuated during the night in accordance with our plans, after the remaining parts had been blown up, without our coming into touch with the enemy.

"Several hand grenade attacks at Hartmans-Wellerkopf were repulsed.

"East of Perthes and in the Argonne mines were blown up in enemy positions.

"Eastern theater of war: Army group of Field Marshal von Hindenburg: The troops of Gen. von Eichhorn are progressing while attacking northeast and southwest of Oschmajana. The right wing of this army group has reached the region east of Lida, southeast of Novogrudok, fighting rear guard engagements all the way.

"Army group of Prince Leopold of Bavaria: A crossing over the Molcasz has been effected at and south of Dworzec. Further south our troops have penetrated south of the Molozadz-Nowajamys-Ostrow line, fighting the enemy during the pursuit.

"Army group of Field Marshal von Mackensen: The situation with this army group is unchanged.

"Southeastern theater of war: There is nothing to report regarding the German troops."

TWO JOBS OPEN FOR EVERY MAN

Thousands of Laborers Are Needed at Good Wages.

There are two jobs open to every man available for work in Duluth according to employment agents on West Michigan street. One thousand men at $3 to $3.50 a day are needed in the Dakotas it is said and one lumber company is after 120 men at 26 cents an hour for a winter's job in the woods.

Employment men are using every effort possible to get men, but none except a few floaters are available, they say. The cry for men is now going up from all parts of the country, and there has not been such a labor famine in years, it is said.

The bumper crops are taking thousands of laborers, and the general revival in business in all lines is creating a big demand for men. The fall season will undoubtedly be the best in years for all kinds of labor.

Woman Has Drivers in Automobile Races

MRS. JOAN CUNEO.

Mrs. Joan Cuneo is prepared to prove that the New York magistrate who declared women should not drive motor cars is all wrong. She has been driving racing cars for more than ten years and has taken part in several races. She races no longer because under the present rules women drivers are barred from racing tracks. This summer Mrs. Cuneo has been testing the fine roads of the Pacific coast.

Most Beautiful Woman Dancer Will Be Seen in America

THAMAR KARSARVINA.

America is to have next season its first glimpse of Thamar Karsarvina, said to be the most beautiful woman now dancing in public. She is a member of the Russian ballet which will be brought to the Metropolitan opera house for a season of four weeks. She is young and she is considered supreme in her special field which is that of mimetic dancing.

TWO REGIMENTS SENT TO EL PASO

One of Infantry and One of Field Artillery Ordered From Galveston.

Washington, Sept. 21.—A regiment of infantry and a regiment of field artillery have been ordered from Galveston to El Paso, Tex., according to an announcement from the war department late today.

Wounded Soldiers Massacred.

Douglas, Ariz., Sept. 21.—A massacre of thirty wounded Carranza troops by Yaqui Indians during fighting last Sunday which resulted in a complete rout of the Carranza army under Gen. Calles was reported here today by arrivals from the battlefield. Gen. Urbalejo, commander-in-chief of the Yaqui Villa army in Sonora, had his leg blown off by a piece of shell.

HEAVY ORDERS FOR FIRST OF YEAR

Steel Products Command Big Advance Over Current Market.

Evidently anticipating a heavy rush of orders for steel products following the first of the year, railroads and others are getting in their orders now, and paying heavy advances in prices in order to get their orders on the books. According to the Iron Trade Review, buying of heavier products for delivery after Jan. 1 is the order at present, and on this business, leading manufacturers are quoting 1.40c, Pittsburgh, for plates, shapes and bars, or an advance of $1 over the present market.

"Already," says the Iron Trade Review, "a number of good-sized contracts have been booked at the new figure, although producers are little inclined to add freely to their present tonnage obligations since the business on their books is being very actively specified. Railroads continue to negotiate for rails against their 1916 budgets and several Eastern trunk lines, notably the New York Central and the Pennsylvania systems now are included. An interesting angle of this situation is that several of the roads are asking for fall rolling on a part of their next year's requirements and certain mills have made arrangements to accommodate a fixed tonnage.

"The car and locomotive markets are becoming more active, though orders still are limited. There is no let-up in the enormous quantities of large steel rounds, blooms, billets, etc., being sought by manufacturers of munitions and the mills are more independent in naming prices. Pig iron is strong but the general buying activity has tapered off somewhat, as many consumers apparently have not yet been able to adjust themselves to the sharp advances quoted for forward deliveries."

STATEMENT ISSUED BY J. F. ARCHIBALD

Denies He in Any Way Connived to Break Neutrality Laws of U. S.

New York, Sept. 21.—James F. J. Archibald, the American correspondent, who carried a message from Dr. Constantin T. Dumba, Austro-Hungarian ambassador at Washington, addressed to Baron von Burlan, Austrian foreign minister, which led to a request from the United States for the ambassador's recall, issued a statement in which he denied that he had connived in any way to break the neutrality laws of the United States or was an official dispatch bearer.

"Dr. Dumba's letter," said Archibald, "was given to me most openly at the steamer's gangplank, just before sailing. Hundreds of persons were about, and there was not the slightest suggestion of secrecy. Of its contents I had absolutely no knowledge. I supposed, of course, that it simply referred to my work. I feel that the open manner in which the letter was given me, that Dr. Dumba had no intention of using me or my passport as a shield for the transmission of any improper letters.

"I did not consciously break either the spirit or letter of my passport or of any law, but merely did what every traveler crossing the ocean does, by carrying notes or small packages as an accommodation to friends, just as I did when I returned from Germany last year, when I carried several letters and official dispatches to our state department for Ambassador Gerard and packages for Mrs. Gerard and others. Of course, in doing this for Ambassador and Mrs. Gerard I did it merely as a matter of friendship, precisely as I carried the letters in this case."

Archibald stated that before leaving for belligerent territory "to do field work with armies engaged in the war," he sought letters of introduction and recommendation. These letters, most of which were written in German, he said were delivered to him at his hotel in New York.

"Feeling that there might be a strong anti-American sentiment in Germany," Archibald declared, "and not knowing to what extent that might inconvenience those traveling with me, I asked Prince Hatzfeldt to prepare me an open letter stating that I was friendly to their cause."

According to Archibald, he suggested, almost word for word, the letter Prince Hatzfeldt wrote, which he said he "intended to use only in the event we were subjected to any local hostile demonstration."

Archibald asserted he did not know the contents of the other letters. Ambassador Dumba's letter, he said, was delivered to him at the steamer by the ambassador's secretary, while the packages he carried for Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, and Capt. von Pappen, military attache at Washington from Germany, were delivered at his hotel.

MISS MEEKER WILL ATTEND.

Charity Official Will Go to State Meeting at New Ulm.

Miss Edna G. Meeker, secretary of the Associated Charties, will represent that organization at the twenty-fourth Minnesota State Conference of Charities and Corrections to be held Sept. 25-28 at New Ulm, Minn. The program for the conference has been issued and contains many interesting features Prominent speakers from all parts of state will make addresses on topics of special interest to social workers. Miss Meeker is one of the members of the executive committee. George A. Franklin of Deer River is president of the conference.

Portland Sits Up and Takes Notice

MISS FANNIE HARLEY.

All Portland, Or., sat up and took notice a few days ago when Fannie Harley, dress emancipator, walked down Broadway in what looked very much like a pair of trousers. Take Miss Harley's word for it, though; they are not trousers but "harleys" and she is the designer of what she considers the most rational dress ever proposed for woman since woman invented trousers and man took them away from her. Miss Harley's costume was of white yachting serge trimmed with marabou. The jacket was kimono-cut, with high waist line indicated by a sash of cerise. The "harleys" were shirred and had cuffs from ankle to knee trimmed with cerise silk and buttons. Miss Harley attended the theater in this costume and divided attention with the show on the stage.

Fetching Statuette of "Lady Betty"

MRS. FRANK C. HENDERSON STATUETTE.

Prince Paul Troubetskoy has been doing a series of statuettes of society women in New York and at Newport. His latest production is this figure of Mrs. Frank C. Henderson, who was Betty Chapman, known to the stage as "Lady Betty" before she married Frank Henderson, the wealthy oil man. It is considered one of his most effective efforts.

CITY COMMISSION STUCK.

Inspection of Park Point Paving Delayed When Auto Gets Stalled.

Duluth's entire city commission got stuck on Park Point this morning.

It all happened when Commissioner Farrell, works head, took his fellow members out in an auto to inspect the Minnesota avenue pavement, and he attempted to cross a small stretch of sand. The machine went about twenty feet, then dropped about one, and the commissioners had to abandon the ride.

They boarded one of the street cars and went to the end of the line, where they inspected the pavement for several blocks. On returning to the automobile, they met a laundry driver, who pulled the car out of the sand.

The new pavement will be opened to the public next Saturday morning, Commissioner Farrell announced today.

SITE FOR COMFORT STATION.

City Officials and U. S. Engineer Come to an Agreement.

City officials and Maj. Peek, government engineer, this morning agreed on the site for a proposed comfort station at the aerial bridge.

Following a short conference, Maj. Peek accepted the proposal of erecting a station underneath the bridge proper, and he will take the matter up at once with Washington officials, he said. The government will erect the building, while the city will bear all the maintenance costs.

NEW CHARGES AGAINST ROBLIN AND OTHERS

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 21.—It was announced today the crown had notified the defense that new charges were to be laid against Sir Rodmond Roblin and three other former cabinet ministers, in connection with the alleged conspiracy to defraud the province in erecting the parliament buildings. The new charges were said to be supplemental to the general charges now being heard in the preliminary trial.

William H. Baker Dead.

Winchester, Va., Sept. 21.—William H. Baker, chocolate manufacturer and banker, died at his home here today aged 65.

PACKING BOOKS AND FURNITURE

Kansas City Star: Few people know how to take care of their many books on moving day. For these the soap boxes one gets at the grocer's for a few cents each are the best. It is not wise to pack too many books in a single box, as books are heavy and awkward to handle. Wrap each book separately in newspaper, and lay carefully in the box, being sure that while the books are firmly packed they are not so tightly wedged in as to cause any breaking of the edges. Cover the books with a layer of the newspaper, then a folded cloth, and tie a rope around them to prevent them slipping out. The very fine editions de luxe should be carefully wrapped in tissue paper and packed in a box by themselves.

In sorting out the books for packing it will be found advisable to pack the books of like sizes in one box and not try, as many do, to put them in boxes hit and miss. When you unpack, too, it will be easier to put them back on the bookcase shelves if they are not separated as to sizes.

An old time mover of experience says it is not safe nor wise to conceal the glass doors of bookcases, cabinets, china closets, etc. If they are exposed the men know just what precautions to take in handling them. All movers carry screwdrivers in their pockets for the purpose of removing the mirrors, etc., from the dressers and other furniture.

Gilt furniture must be carefully wrapped in burlap or newspaper to prevent its being chipped, and upholstered furniture should have the seats covered with burlap and the legs carefully wrapped with either burlap or newspaper.

Roll your fine rugs, never fold them or let them be dragged about the pavement, and pack the curtains and portieres in boxes, the household linen and wearing apparel in the trunks. Above all label every box you pack, so that its contents are known directly you get it in the house.

Clean everything before you pack—wash curtains, shine up pictures, have the rugs and mattresses cleaned and beaten—in fact, take nothing into the new home soiled—in this way you may settle in one-half the time it would take otherwise.

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE FOR STATE AFFAIRS?

Where Public Interest Is "Everybody's Business," It Becomes "Nobody's"—A Game of Who Can Make the Most Unnecessary Laws.

Walker D. Hines in the Atlantic Monthly: The American people are practically unanimous in the belief that our state legislatures pass a great mass of unnecessary laws, and that many of the necessary laws are crudely drawn, inconsistent with one another, badly adapted to the ends in view and largely ineffective. There is a correspondingly unanimous conviction that the affairs of the state governments are managed in a thoroughly unbusinesslike way, and that there is a widespread disregard of state laws and a general laxity of enforcement.

Divided Responsibility.

The writer believes that to an important extent these unsatisfactory conditions are due to the fact that our scheme of state government carries the idea of divided responsibility to such an extreme that no public official is or can be held responsible in an effective sense for making the law or for enforcing the law; that this condition reacts upon the public and renders its supervision of those in public life less vigilant and intelligent; and that these things tend to produce public officers without training, talent or sustained purpose for efficient public service.

Not one of the members of the state legislatures is primarily charged with studying or protecting the general public interests. Each member has the same measure of duty in this respect as every other member.

It is a case where the protection of the public interest is "everybody's business," and therefore it generally becomes in practice "nobody's business."

Two Houses Make Things Worse.

In the rare cases where some member can be singled out as having a noticeable responsibility, that responsibility is exclusively to his local constituency and not to the state at large; his action may have been highly prejudicial to the state as a whole, but if he can satisfy his own constituency, perhaps through securing in another direction some local benefit, he suffers no embarrassment on account of his failure to discharge his duty to the general public.

It cannot fairly be said that the evils referred to are substantially cured by the fact that measures have to pass two houses rather than one.

On the contrary, these evils are frequently intensified thereby, because the mere splitting up of responsibility between the two houses makes each house even less attentive to the public interest than it would be if it had the sole responsibility. The house that passes a measure first has the feeling that its action is not final, and therefore need not be deliberate and thorough. The sanction thus given to the measure sometimes emboldens the second house to accept it without full and independent consideration.

Putting It Up to the Governor.

At other times, the second house resents "being put in a hole" by being forced to take the responsibility of rejecting a measure already passed by the first house, and lets the measure go through. But whatever the outcome, a member of either house can share his responsibility (in the rare instances where it can be located at all) with members of the other house, and any shred of responsibility that finally sticks to him is confined entirely to his own constituency, who will probably disregard the matter altogether, being more interested in some other subject of purely local concern.

Still another division of responsibility confronts us. This arises from the fact that the governor has (in many states) the power of veto, and the legislature is not responsible for what the governor does.

May not the carefree spirit with which a legislature passes doubtful measures be induced in many instances by the feeling that it is not taking final action, but is merely "putting things up to the governor?" And is not a natural sequence to this spirit that the governor shall decline to veto measures which the representatives of the people have "put up to him" in this manner?

No Part in Enforcing Laws.

Another condition of great importance is that the legislature has no part in enforcing the laws. Its task is finished when the law is passed. We all know how easy it is for one to frame a suggestion which he does not have to carry into effect; and how likely it is that suggestions so framed will prove ineffectual. Why should the average human being exercise himself to scrutinize closely the efficiency of a rule he formulates, when another department will have to worry if the rule does not work? If the occasion arises (and it rarely does) when the public tries to fix the blame for such a condition, the two departments can engage indefinitely in the pleasant pastime of tossing the ball of responsibility back and forth.

But an even more important consequence of this detachment of the legislature from any duty with regard to law enforcement is that this condition is largely responsible for the enormous multiplication of unnecessary laws.

When a man becomes a legislator he naturally wishes to make a showing. The only practicable way in which he can make a showing is by doing the only thing which his department has the power to do—that is, to make laws.

Hence we see the average legislator bent on getting a law through, not because the law is necessary, not because it will be workable, but because it will be another law and one of which he can claim to be the author.

The Business of Passing Laws.

We frequently hear the complaint that, when any public evil develops, the remedy provided is the unnecessary passage of another law instead of the more thorough enforcement of existing laws. This is the natural result of our system. The legislative department conceives the idea that the only way in which it can identify itself with the correction of the evil is to pass some new laws, hence it adopts this course. The enforcement of existing laws belongs to another department and affords no scope for the ambitions of the legislators.

Thus we have a system without constitutional leadership in either house; with responsibility split up until it reaches the vanishing point; with no member, even the most active, feeling any concern except for his own small body of constituents; with each house able to shift the responsibility to the other; with both houses able to shift the responsibility to the governor, and with the governor able to pass it back to the two houses. The legislature has no special concern as to whether its laws will be workable, and every member is anxious to pass a law because that is the only function which he has a chance to exercise.

Passed to the Country.

As to the executive, the usual constitutional provision that the governor "shall see that the laws shall be faithfully executed" is a mere passing counsel of perfection. Perhaps it is a survival of a time when the head of an executive department was the head in substance as well as in form. Ordinarily the governor has no power to enforce the laws and no substantial control over the officers who do have that power.

When we come to the all-important function of making the individuals and business concerns in the state comply with the laws of the state, we find that, with a few exceptions, no state officer representing the state as a whole has any definite function or power, because the enforcement of the laws ordinarily rests with the various county authorities. Law enforcement in a state is generally an exclusively local matter. A law of vital concern to the state as a whole is enforced or not in a particular community according to the degree of interest and efficiency manifested by the local authorities elected in that community.

Law enforcement is not an easy job. It requires vigilance, aggressiveness, and industry, in detecting and locating the offenders and in preparing cases so that prosecutions will be prompt and successful. Yet we rarely find any well considered scheme of county government whereby the responsibility for the conduct of these important functions is so centralized as to obtain effective results. The detection of offenses is largely accidental. The responsibility for instituting prosecutions is widely scattered. Frequently the local prosecuting attorney is in the comfortable position of being able to initiate such prosecutions as appeal to him, and to blame the grand jury, or some other functionaries, for not initiating prosecutions which do not appeal to him.

State Commissions.

The preparation and conduct of a prosecution when initiated are generally under the control of a prosecuting attorney without effective supervision by any department of the state government. Such methods may be adequate with respect to crimes of violence, which are obvious and arouse the community's instinct of self protection, but ordinarily they are inadequate with respect to much of the important legislation of the state. In these conditions we find some of the reasons why so little respect is commonly paid to state laws.

Another phenomenon which is widely observed is that frequently, when a law of special importance is passed, the legislature is likely to create some new board or commission to enforce that law. The result is that our state and local governments are plastered over with all sorts of expensive boards with anomalous and sometimes conflicting functions. * * *

It is the opinion of the writer that the American people have come to assume an attitude of indifference and hopelessness toward the state governments. Legislatures are expected to prove failures. Governors and other state officials are expected to be inefficient. The work of local officers is rarely taken very seriously, and is expected to be spasmodic and fragmentary.

The public rarely has any disposition to locate responsibility for inefficiency in affairs of general interest, because the inefficiency is so general and the search for responsibility is so hopeless.

Pie for the Bosses.

Is it not fair to say that our scheme of divided responsibility has been a school for the encouragement of political inefficiency and for the promotion of petty local interests at the expense of the general welfare, and has supplied an atmosphere devoid of stimulus to efficient work?

The political boss is an ever present menace in American politics. Could any system develop him more completely than our system of divided responsibility? Can there be any place where the "invisible" government of the boss can succeed to a greater extent than in a form of government where it is almost impossible to locate any visible signs of responsibility, and where the public officer can do the boss's bidding and yet be reasonably sure of escaping responsibility, or of passing it on to somebody else, or of making his peace with his constituents by securing some local benefit for them?

LOCAL THUNDERSTORMS

"Heat" Thunderstorms Difficult to Forecast; Caused By Atmospheric Conditions Over Small Territory.

One afternoon a short time ago a thunderstorm with quite a heavy downpour of rain occurred over a portion of a certain county in the West. The shower had not been forecast by the weather bureau, and a few days later a letter of complaint was received, the writer stating that the storm had ruined a considerable acreage of cut alfalfa that had been allowed to lie out to cure, as the weather forecast had said nothing about showers.

Be that as it may, the science and art of weather forecasting never have been and never will be reduced to the basis of absolute certainty. The very operation of the natural laws of the universe preclude this, and with no type of weather is this impossibility of exact forecasting more in evidence than in the case of thunderstorms.

The forecasting of general thunderstorms over large areas is not so difficult, as these generally occur when, after a heated period, a large area of high barometric pressure with a pronounced fall in temperature follows the heated period, bringing with it thunderstorms and later a cool and clear period of at least several days' duration.

But there are other thunderstorms, occurring during periods of abnormal heat, that are caused by excessive air convection—that is, by the upward movement of air masses that are unduly heated by contact with the warm earth. These are carried upward to such an elevation that they become cooled by expansion to an extent that lowers the temperature of the warm air masses below the temperature of condensation, and rain therefore occurs.

These "heat" thunderstorms are frequently very local in character, as certain portions of the earth's surface become hotter than others, and consequently a "heat" thunderstorm often occurs in one locality, whereas only a few miles, or even a shorter distance, away there will be none at all. It is not an infrequent occurrence to have a severe thunderstorm over one portion of a large city while over other portions there will be none. It should also be added that these "heat" thunderstorms are usually followed by a quick return to the same heated conditions that preceded them, indicating a merely temporary disturbed condition of the atmosphere without prospect of permanent relief until the appearance of such a cool, high-pressure area as has been mentioned above.

NOTHING TO THEM.

Judge: "William," said the good wife, looking up from her paper, "here I see an article that says a man out in Kansas is suing his wife for divorce simply because she went through his pockets after he was asleep. Goodness knows, William, probably the poor woman never got a cent from the brute of a husband in any other way?"

"Uh, huh," replied William.

"William," came from his better half, "don't you dare sit there and 'uh-huh' me in such a manner! What would you do if you woke up and found me going through your pockets?"

"Who—me?" asked the sleepy husband, who had already turned over his pay envelope to the boss of the house. "Why, I'd get up and help you search, of course, my dear."

WHEAT HAS SLIGHT DROP

Dull Day in Market With Receipts as Principal Factor.

Flax Gains on Lack of Offerings and Deferred Receipts.

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 21.—Wheat in general closed with a slight decline after a dull day. September being the exception, that option closing at 98c, ¾c off from yesterday's close, while December closed at 90½c, ¾c down, and May closed at 95½c, ⅜@½c down. Durum was exceptionally dull, September closed unchanged at $1; October lost ½c, closing at 97c; December lost ⅛c, closing at 92¾c; and May lost ⅝c, closing at 97⅝c.

The three earlier options of flax gained ½c each, closing—September, October and November—at $1.67 each. October closed at $1.66, ½c higher than yesterday.

Oats closed ¾c off at ⅝c up; and rye and barley closed unchanged.

Winnipeg oats closed at 35¾c, and Winnipeg flax closed at $1.45⅝.

St. Louis wheat close: September, $1.10; December, 95c.

Kansas City wheat close: September, $1.00¾; December, 90¾c.

New York wheat close: September, $1.16½.

Minneapolis puts, 88¾c; calls, 91¾c.

The general tone of the wheat market today has been one of unsettledness and the action of the market has been governed accordingly. The matter of receipts was the prevailing factor and controlled throughout the session. Heavy receipts have been expected daily, but they fail to materialize today, and it may be that they will be deferred for several days. The cars on track this morning numbered only 862, when many more were expected. Any bearish tendencies which the reputed heavy crop may possess have, so far, had no chance of operation.

On the opening this morning September wheat was unchanged, December was 1c up and May was unchanged to ¼c lower. The after-opening tendency was downward, but the light receipts quickly took effect with the result that a rise of about 1c followed. Trading was light throughout the session, however, and the day was one of the dullest and most featureless that the market has had in some time.

Toward the close of the session wheat softened, chiefly on reports of good weather and in resultant country receipts, with the promise of heavier ones if the present brand of weather continues. Of course heavy country receipts means heavier receipts in the matter of a few days at the terminals. Terminal receipts all over today are light.

Flax Strengthens Up.

Flax opened unchanged this morning and maintained a dullness for a considerable period before action began. Then the crushers went in for some purchases and the market advanced. When the wants of the buyers were satisfied and they pulled out the seed fell off again, but later on it advanced again as there were no offerings by holders, receipts were practically nil, shipments continue heavy and the new seed is not yet in sight. The bullish feeling seems to be growing.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Perfect Weather for Threshing Turns Wheat Prices Downward.

Chicago, Sept. 21.—Perfect weather for threshing today in the spring crop belt turned the wheat market here downgrade. Besides advices were at hand that country shipments to Minneapolis had grown in volume. At first, however, prices displayed a little firmness owing to a large decrease in the European visible supply, especially the British stock. The opening, which ranged from ⅛c off to ⅛@⅜c up, with December at 93⅜c to 93⅞c and May at 96⅝c to 97⅛c, was followed by a slight general advance and then a decided setback all around.

Foreign buying of futures led afterward to a rally which, however, was not well maintained. September was firmer than other options because of an official ruling that deliveries of No. 1 velvet chaff with dockage would not be acceptable on contracts here.

The close was unsettled, ⅜c net lower to ½c advance, with December at 93c and May 96¾c.

Corn weakened with wheat. Frost reports had but little effect on prices. After opening ⅜c lower to ⅛c advance the market steadied well under last night's level.

Later reports of freezing temperatures caused something of a recovery. The close was steady at a range of ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher than last night.

Oats held comparatively steady. There was no pressure to sell.

Some strength developed in provisions. The stimulus appeared to come from the scantiness of hog receipts throughout the West.

STOCKS ARE DULL AND FEATURELESS

Scarcely Any Trading—Prices Steady—Granby Declares Dividend.

The stock market here today was about as dull as any session in a long time has afforded. Trades were almost nothing and stocks in general were inactive, and, for the most part, sticking around yesterday's closing prices. The market contained no feature, and the only semblance of activity noticed was in Granby and Butte & Superior.

Granby declared a quarterly dividend today of $1.50, the same as the last dividend.

Paine, Webber & Co. have received a wire from Boston to the effect that one of the leading producers and selling agencies in copper, which has been making large sales to France and Italy, has realized between 18¼ and 18⅝ cents a pound for the metal on the present exchange basis. Sales to these countries have been quite large but no copper has been purchased by England from this country.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Further Extraordinary Gains Are Made By the Specialties.

Reactionary Trend to the Railway Shares—Closing Irregular.

New York, Sept. 21.—The familiar upward swing of the special stocks was repeated at the outset of today's trading. Motor shares again being the most conspicuous features. Willys-Overland rose 2 points to the new high price of 212, soon increased its gain to 219. Studebaker opened half a point down, but soon advanced 4¼ to the new high price of 144¼, and General Motors also broke all previous records with its advance of 3½ to 299½. Other so-called war shares were up 1 to 2 points but United States Steel opened a fraction lower. Railroads which recently gave promise of resuming their place among the leaders, were dull and fractionally lower. Changes elsewhere were nominal.

Automobile issues were the features of the stock market this morning. General Motors increased its gain to 310, or 47 points above the close of last Thursday, when the 50 per cent dividend was declared. Maxwell common rose 5⅜ to 55, the first preferred 1¾ to 93¾ and the second preferred 5 at 44¾. American Smelting was again strongest of the metal group, adding 1¾ to yesterday's advance at 85¼. Reactionary tendencies were shown by Bethlehem Steel, which broke 9 to 336, Crucible Steel, Colorado Fuel, United States Steel, Airbrake and some of the railways. Bonds were irregular.

Specialties completely dominated the afternoon market. General Motors, jumping 5 points between sales, rose to 350, broke abruptly to 337 and gradually fell to 320. Bethlehem Steel rose to the new high record of 357 and Crucible Steel gained 2 5-7 to 97¼, also a record.

Further extraordinary advances in specialties overshadowed all other features today's advance with a reactionary trend to the railways.

Electrical equipments, American Car and Bethlehem Steel preferred were taken up later, all at substantial advances. The closing was irregular.

NIGHT SCHOOL APPRECIATED

Attendance at Evening Sessions Expected to Show Big Increases.

Four Buildings Will Be Used; Four Courses on Program.

Night school attendance in Duluth this year will show a decided increase over that of any former year, according to W. H. Schilling, assistant superintendent of Duluth schools who is head of this department of education. Last year 300 Duluth schools availed themselves of the evening classes.

The night schools will open on Monday, Oct. 4 at 7:30 p. m., when there will be registration at the Central high, corner Lake avenue and Second street; the Monroe building, Twenty-sixth avenue west and First street; the Irving, Fifty-sixth avenue west and Nicollet street and at the Harriett Beecher Stowe school building, New Duluth.

The attendance at the latter school will be very large this year for the reason that many foreigners have moved into that territory during the summer who will be only too glad to get an opportunity of English education.

The courses that will be taught are as follows: English for foreigners, price, $1 for season; bookkeeping, stenography and typewriting, $2; manual training, cooking and sewing, $2 and seventh and eighth grade work for permit students and others. Large posters, advertising the night school and its courses are now being printed in the manual training department and will be posted up in conspicuous places about the city.

Course in English.

"Our English course for foreigners this year will be more nearly complete than ever," said Mr. Schilling this morning. "The foreign students will be divided into three classes so that those who can now speak fairly good English will not be retarded in their progress by those who are just beginning. The foreigners will first be taught how to speak English, then they will be taught how to spell and write words and then will come letter writing. Phases of civil government will also be taught and a number of occupational features will be taken up.

"I wish to impress upon the minds of all permit students (that is boys under 16 years who have not finished the eighth grade but who have been permitted to work) that they must attend the seventh and eighth grade night schools or I shall have their permits revoked. Then they will have to give up their jobs and return to the day classes. Last year a number of these boys played hookey; but this year they must not offend in that way. The truant officer has been especially instructed to watch for permit students who miss classes and he will bring them in."

BUSY SEARCHING FOR MISSING $138,000

Mayor of Winslow, Ill., Is Checking Over Books of Bank There.

Chicago, Sept. 21.—Mayor Walter Tyler of Winslow, Ill., who was appointed receiver for the private bank of J. N. Fuller & Son of Winslow, was busy today checking over the books in search of $138,000 said to be missing from the institution.

J. Bradley Fuller, who has been the head of the bank since the death of his father, nineteen years ago, has not been heard from since he left Winslow a week ago today. At that time he told his sisters, Josephine and Bessie, who are partners with him in the bank, that he was going to Manitowoc, Wis. to see a man who, he said, owed the bank $68,000.

No Knowledge of Fuller.

Manitowoc, Wis., Sept. 21.—A. L. Noel, promoter of a furniture concern in which J. B. Fuller, a Winslow, Ill., banker, is said to have invested most of his money, says he has no knowledge of the whereabouts of Mr. Fuller, or his movements since last Tuesday. He says Mr. Fuller took control of the company about six months ago, and since that time he has been manager. He refused to say how much the company was indebted to the bank, saying that was Mr. Fuller's concern. He closed the plant last night until further orders from the receivers or whoever takes charge, he said.

ESTATE "MORE THAN $38,000"

Allen D. Goodman, Prominent Duluth Miller, Died Intestate.

Allen D. Goodman, former vice president of the Duluth Universal Milling company of this city, whose death occurred at his home in this city on July 28 last, left an estate valued at "upwards of $38,000," according to papers filed today in probate court.

Mr. Goodman died intestate and today Mrs. Blanche S. Goodman, widow, residing at 1118 East First street, petitioned the court to issue letters of administration to A. Laird Goodman, son. Besides the widow and son, there are no other heirs.

The estate is represented to consist of real estate valued at $8,000 and personal property worth $30,000.

CONFIDENT THAT ERB WILL NOW RECOVER

New York, Sept. 21.—The condition of Newman Erb, wealthy railroad man, who swallowed two poison tablets by mistake a week ago today, was reported as satisfactory. If no new symptoms of the poison develop within the next few hours, Mr. Erb's physicians will consider him entirely out of danger.

Mr. Erb's two married daughters, who have been constantly with their father at his Deal, N. J., summer home during the last week, today told friends that they are confident the financier will soon be entirely recovered.

Indian Fair Next Week.

Cloquet, Minn., Sept. 21.—The second annual fair of the Fond du Lac Indians will be held in the Cloquet city baseball park Sept. 28 and 29. Agent G. W. Cross and Guy H. Hutchins, Indian farmers, are sparing no pains to make this fair a success. The Indian farmers are taking unusual interest in the undertaking. Prizes will be awarded on all vegetables, poultry, stock and Indian handicraft. More than $200 in premiums will be awarded.

TROUBLE FROM CONCEALMENT

Policy Adopted in Border Warfare One Cause of Disorders.

Many Object to Publication of Facts Regarding Killing of Bandits.

Brownsville, Tex., Sept. 21.—Legal records of towns in this section today showed that since the Mexican bandit outbreaks began in July, about 50 Mexicans have been arrested, nearly 30 released, 8 killed while prisoners of civil authorities, 15 still in jail and 1 out on bond.

These figures do not include possibly 100 Mexicans who have been reported "gotten," as expressive slang of the border describes the fate of a Mexican who is killed or disappears without the formality of being taken to jail after posses catch him. Neither do they include about fifty Mexicans killed in open battle. An accurate estimate of Mexicans "gotten" is impossible, owing to the secrecy maintained by many civil and state officers.

Policy of Concealment.

This policy of concealment, adopted primarily to protect peace officers from Mexican blacklists, now appears to have reacted and to be one of the causes of the stubborn continuance of Mexican disorders. It has caused exaggerated stories to be spread among Mexicans of the numbers killed and the manner of their death. Many persons object frankly to the newspapers getting hold of the facts about the handling of Mexicans. Such reports as the newspapers have secured, while probably often exaggerated, do not compare in harmful effects with the actual stories circulated in the Brownsville section, all largely traceable to the so-called censorship of safety.

Six Were Prisoners.

Of the Mexicans killed, six were prisoners in custody of peace officers after being arrested at San Benito which has been one of the storm centers of the bandit operations. Two others were killed near San Benito after they were reported to have broken jail. One of the six prisoners slain was hanged while en route from San Benito to Brownsville and common report said he was taken away from the authorities by a posse. Three others were shot last week while being taken to Harlingen for safekeeping and two others previously met death in the same manner, all being reported shot "while attempting to escape." A San Benito official who viewed several of the bodies told the Associated Press correspondent that they had been shot in front and not from behind.

Reluctance Shown.

Evidence of the reluctance with which city authorities discuss the bandit trouble was seen when inquiries were asked in Raymondville. "No Mexicans have been arrested from Raymondville," said S. D. Gill, city marshal. "There have been some arrested from other places, but I do not want to give out anything. Our people have not mixed up in the bandit business."

Of nineteen prisoners arrested near Brownsville, one has been held for trial on a charge of inciting rebellion against the United States and five released.

The bodies of several Mexicans have been found near Pharr, McAllen and other towns but they had not been in the custody of civil authorities.

No Mexicans' bodies have been found in any of the cities or towns mentioned. All have been found in rural communities where the bandit activities have been the worst. According to reports some authorities have allowed Mexicans' bodies to lie where they were shot so that their friends might find them and profit by this warning.

MANY HEIRLOOMS IN IRELAND ESTATE

Father of Duluthian Left Rare Statues and Curios.

James D. Ireland, general manager for the Duluth office of M. A. Hanna & Co., today filed in probate court the will of his father, the late John B. Ireland, who died at his home in New York city on Oct. 11, 1913, leaving a large estate. The testator left property in St. Louis county worth $700.

Besides a widow, Mr. Ireland was survived by three sons and three daughters, all of whom are liberally provided for in the will. The estate consists of realty in New York city and in New York and other states and several items of personal property.

The will provides that the family heirlooms shall be kept in the family line. Reference is made to certain statues and curios, among them being a "statue of Aurora (Crawford's last work and unique), head on Plynth brought from Palmyra, Roman Mosaic table with stones from all parts of the world, Florentine Mosaic table, foreign pictures, old portraits and an old organ (which has been in the family for more than 100 years)."

CHILDREN BAKE BREAD FOR ENTIRE VILLAGE

Paris, Sept. 20.—Daniau, the only baker in the village of Exodun, department of Deux-Sevros, being called to the colors, the village was without bread.

Then the baker's daughter, aged 14, lit the baking furnaces, and with the help of her brother of 10 tried to make bread. After several failures she succeeded to the satisfaction of the villagers and surrounding farm people and has been working now for many months from 4 a. m. until late in the day, baking bread for the population.

President Poincare has written letters to both the children. He compliments the girl upon her good humor, courage and industry and confers upon her the cross of Lorraine. He calls the boy his "Young Friend" and assures him he will grow up to be a valiant soldier.

POLYOCULARISM A NEW ART.

Chicago Herald: Now comes polyocular art.

Polyocular art, let it be known, differs from Cubism or Futurism.

To the ordinary mortals, the kind who say, "I don't know anything about art, but I know what I like," polyocular pictures are meaningless conglomerations of raw color.

Yet no less an authority than Carl N. Werntz, president of the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts, stepped to the edge of the platform one day recently and gave the following definition:

Polyocularism—Representing pictures as "seen by the soul of the mob."

"These pictures are based on a multiplicity of perspectives," continued Mr. Werntz. "Polyocularism shows a picture as it might appear to a man with many eyes. Polyocular art differs from Cubism and Futurism, although the general effect may appear the same to the layman."

Polyocular art is the novelty of the first independent artists' exhibit ever held in Chicago, which was opened to the public recently in the studios of the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts. The exhibit, which is under the management of Carl M. Newman, is unique in that exhibitors are not required to submit their productions to a jury for selection, but may hang what they wish.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—
Default has been made in the payment of the sum of One Hundred Twenty Dollars ($120.00), being the semi-annual installment of interest which became due on the 1st day of August, 1915, which default has continued to the date of this notice, upon a certain Mortgage duly made, executed and delivered by G. T. Eagling and Ethel R. Eagling, his wife, Mortgagors, to George W. Buck, Mortgagee, bearing date the 1st day of August, 1914, with a power of sale therein contained, which said mortgage is upon, and covers, certain real estate therein and hereinafter described; which said real estate, prior to the execution and delivery of said Mortgage, was, pursuant to the order and decree of the District Court of the Eleventh Judicial District of Minnesota, in and for the County of St. Louis, brought under the provisions of an Act concerning land titles, being Chapter 305 of the General Laws of the State of Minnesota for the year 1905, and all acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto, and the title to said real estate was duly confirmed and registered by the Registrar of Titles, as in and by said act provided, and said mortgage was duly filed and registered in the office of the Registrar of Titles in and for the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota on the 3rd day of August, 1914, at Ten o'clock in the forenoon, as Document No. 15754, and entered in Register of Titles No. 53, on Page 249, as a memorial upon the Certificate of Title No. 16301 covering the mortgaged premises hereinafter described.

Said above described mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was thereafter duly assigned by said George W. Buck, Mortgagee, to Ella M. McKay, by written assignment dated October 20th, 1914, and duly filed and registered in the office of said Registrar of Titles of St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 22nd day of October, 1914, at Two o'clock in the afternoon, as Document No. 16552, and entered in Register of Titles No. 53, on Page 249, as a memorial upon the Certificate of Title No. 16301, covering the mortgaged premises hereinafter described.

Thereafter and on July 12th, 1915, Certificate of Title No. 16301 was duly cancelled and Certificate of Title No. 22840 was issued in its place and stead, and said Mortgage and the assignment thereof, before described, were duly entered as memorials upon said Certificate of Title No. 22840.

The said Ella M. McKay, owner of said Mortgage and Assignee thereof, does hereby, under the terms of said Mortgage, declare the whole principal sum due, and there is, therefore, now actually due on said Mortgage, at the date of this notice, Four Thousand One Hundred Fifty-three and 30-100 Dollars ($4,153.30); and no action or proceeding has been instituted at law, or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by sale of the mortgaged premises, situate in St. Louis County, Minnesota, and described in said Mortgage as follows: Lot Thirty-four (34), in Block Three (3), Kenilworth Park Addition to Duluth, according to the plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the Registrar of Titles in and for said St. Louis County, Minnesota, subject to the restrictions contained in Torrens Certificate of Title No. 16301; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said County, at his office in the Court House, in the City of Duluth, in said County and State, on the 6th day of November, 1915, at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and Four Thousand One Hundred Fifty-three and 30-100 Dollars ($4,153.30) and interest, and Seventy-five Dollars ($75.00) attorney's fee, as stipulated in said Mortgage, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within One (1) year from the date of sale, as provided by law.

Dated at Duluth, Minnesota, September 20th, 1915.

ELLA M. McKAY,
Assignee of Mortgage.

WM. P. HARRISON,
Attorney for Assignee of Mortgage,
903-906 Torrey Building,
Duluth, Minnesota.

FARM AND FRUIT LANDS.

TWENTY-ACRE TRACTS.

Only eight 20-acre tracts left. Another week and your chance to get one of these at rock-bottom prices will be gone. Every tract is a beauty; absolutely stoneless, lies well, just a gentle slope, and can be cleared for $10 an acre. It is the best farming land at the Head of the Lakes. You can go on this land this fall, build a small house (we can help you get the lumber), and get your fall plowing done. You will then be ready in the spring. A few chickens, hogs and cows will easily and surely make you independent. You don't need then to worry about a job; you are your own boss. Every tract faces on a good road, and they are only six miles south of the new steel plant and new steel city. Consider the market you will have here. The tracts are only 14 miles from Duluth. You are buying right in town when you get a farm here. Excellent road right into the center of the city. Get a place where you can feel independent—something you can fall back on if hard times come. These tracts are only $650 for a 20-acre tract. Land just three miles from it is being sold at $200 to $500 a lot. Think of this. It won't be long before this land is selling for ten times the present price. Call on us and see photographs of this land and surrounding farms.

FOR SALE—REAL ESTATE

COLLECT PROFITS DUE ON THESE LOTS AT HUNTER'S PARK.

A 25 to 33 1-3 per cent increase in value is being sacrificed by the estate that is closing out this property.

Absolutely without question these lots are by far the best values in the city at the prices asked—$635 to $750, on terms of $25 down and balance monthly.

If you want a safe, sure, profitable investment, get one of these lots.

If you intend to own a home in Duluth, you could choose no better site than one of these lots.

A comparison of real estate values in this section of Hunter's Park will dispose of any doubt you may have as to the values offered.

Make appointment now to have us take you out to this property.

W. M. PRINDLE & CO. — Lonsdale Bldg.

FOR SALE REAL ESTATE.

(210-11)—Seventy-five by one hundred and forty feet on lower side of Superior street; very fine location. This is one of the best bargains in city. You'll be surprised at the price. See us at once.

One of the most beautiful London road lots in the city at a price about two-thirds of actual value. This is 100x300 feet; beautiful timber; nice level lot, surrounded by large handsome dwellings; fine lake shore; price $2,000.

THE HOME BEAUTIFUL!

If the surroundings of your home are not desirable (for instance, cheap houses, unkempt lawns and gardens and unsightly grounds), it tends greatly to decrease the artistic effect of your home, no matter how elegant or perfect in itself. A small house can be made beautiful and artistic if built in a desirable location, amidst attractive homes, lawns and gardens. We can sell you the location that contains absolutely everything necessary to make your proposed home beautiful—fine lake view, handsome homes, well-kept lawns, gardens and terraces. The lots themselves are the most beautiful and sightly in Duluth. They have paved streets, gas, water and sewer. Most important to you, however, is this: These lots are offered at 50 per cent less than they are actually worth. All we ask is a chance to show you these lots and their surroundings. They are all in Hunter's Park, the prettiest and most desirable suburb in Duluth. The lots vary in price from $750 to $1,700, according to size. Let us show them to you, so that you can compare them with anything else offered in Duluth.

McBEAN, NESBITT & CO., 218 Providence Bldg. Grand 486. Melrose 2958.

STRANGERS IN DULUTH

do not locate "Rooms for Rent" and "Boarders Wanted" signs by traversing the streets and looking for them in house windows. They seek to find these places through the Want columns of The Herald, because it requires no tiresome walking and because it requires very little time. You, who have rooms to rent or desire boarders, lose money in not advertising the fact and getting quick results. Your window signs are seen by the passerby only. Thousands of eyes see these ads every day.
